Sources Say Mussolini Prefers Leaving League To Discussing Conquest

Opposed to Talking Over Question in Presence Ethiopian

SEEKS REMOVAL GUILTY VERDICT

Il Duce Understood to Want League to Revoke Its Decision Branding Italy

(By Associated Press)

Geneva, May 11.—(AP)—Baron Pompeo Aloisi Italy's envoy to Geneva, walked out of the League of Nations council session late today when the council took the question of conquest of Ethiopia.

Il Duce's representative announced that Italy could not negotiate in the presence of the "so called delegate from Ethiopia."

His dramatic exit followed a bitter protest from Haile Selassie himself against Mussolini's annexation of the African kingdom and Italian hints that Italy would bolt the league rather than discuss Ethiopia in the presence of an agent of Selassie.

Members of the council said later they were facing a most delicate problem.

Several told the Associated Press the only practical course seemed to be to condemn Italy's attitude and to adjourn any detailed discussion until June, when a socialist government is expected to be in power in France.

Apparently they felt such a government would enable them to stiffen their attitude.

Baron Aloisi told the private session in a prepared speech:

"All discussion of the Italo-Ethiopian differences is futile."

Anthony Eden, Great Britain's foreign secretary, who presided at the session asked whether "under the circumstances the Italo-Ethiopian question should be kept on the agenda."

Dr. Peter Munch of Denmark and Salvador De Madariaga of Spain quietly moved for its retention and the motion was passed without a dissenting voice.

Baron Aloisi and his co-delegate then walked out. "This does not signify resignation from the league," the Italian envoy said.

Geneva, May 11.—(AP)—Haile Selassie bitterly protested Mussolini's annexation of Ethiopia to the League of Nations today, but Italian sources insisted Il Duce was prepared to bolt the League rather than discuss the matter in the presence of Selassie's envoy.

A direct communication from the exiled "emperor without a country" vehemently protesting Italy's Saturday night decrees of seizure and asking the league to stand firm, was announced by Geneva officials just as the league council gathered in session.

Italian sources immediately indicated the fascist dictator preferred to leave the league rather than to talk over the Ethiopian question in the council in the presence of a representative of the Negus.

It also was understood Italy wants the league to revoke its verdict of aggression guilt, pronounced because of her invasion of Ethiopia.

As the council members gathered the news prevailed that existing sanctions would be maintained.

The Italo-Ethiopian conflict was one of many items on the agenda, however, and an impression arose that neither this nor the Locarno problem would be given detailed examination at the present meeting of the league's executive body.

FASCIST ARMY BEING WEEDED

War Department Orders Partial Demobilization of Army

Rome, May 11.—(AP)—The Italian war department today ordered the partial demobilization of the military classes of 1911 and 1913—the principal classes called for the war against Ethiopia.

The demobilization was interpreted as meaning:

1. The war is definitely over in East Africa and no more men need be sent there.

2. Premier Mussolini does not believe any complications will arise in Europe as a result of his annexation of Ethiopia.

The new Roman empire moved its big political guns up to the European front with an admonition to the League of Nations council meeting in Geneva to keep "hands off" Ethiopia.

Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Premier Mussolini's Geneva spokesman was instructed to make it clear that Italy believed it had juridical as well as military right to its hold on the annexation of the East African empire.

HOUSE PASSES BIG MEASURE

Vote on Passage Announced by Speaker as 334 to 37

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—The $2,364,229,712 deficiency bill carrying the administration's $1,425,000,000 work-relief appropriation for 1937 was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

Speaker Byrnes announced the vote on passage as 334 to 37.

The final vote was a mere formality postponed by agreement after the House had approved provisions of the big measure last Friday.

Passage of the controversial measure by a heavy affirmative vote came after the House defeated by a vote, Speaker Byrnes announced as 286 to 90, a Republican attempt to substitute state grants for the works progress program.

The vote was on a motion by Representative Taber (R-N. Y.) to send the bill back to the appropriations committee with instructions to substitute his previously defeated amendment for state grants with local administrators by non-partisan boards and state contribution of at least 25 per cent.

POLICE ORDER PIN MACHINES CONFISCATED

Operators Given Until Tomorrow Night Remove Devices

CHIEF OF POLICE CITES STATUTES

Chief Clark Says All Gambling Devices Must Be Removed From Public Places

Chief George Clark of the Greenville police force declared that all slot machines, pin machines and any other such devices declared illegal by the last legislature, found in operation in the city after tomorrow night would be confiscated.

Chief Clark in making the announcement cited sections of the North Carolina law prohibiting the operation of such machines and said that his force absolutely would enforce the law in the city proper.

A similar movement was started in Farmville last week under order of Mayor John B. Lewis and reports from that place today were to the effect that the city was completely rid of the machines.

Chief Clark said the boards are operated in open violation of the law in the city and that he had given owners and operators until tomorrow night to remove them from public places in the city. Any machines found in operation in Greenville after that time will be seized and warrants issued for the operators.

Chief Clark said the machines were illegal, provided a public nuisance and were demoralizing to the youths of the city.

The officer pointed to the following sections which prohibit the possession and operation of such devices:

"Section 4437 (a). OPERATION OR POSSESSION OF SLOT MACHINE; SEPARATE OFFENSES: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate, keep in his possession or in the possession of any other person, firm or corporation, for the purpose of being returned to or give to the person who places or coin or money, or the representative of either, the same return in market value each and every time such machine is operated by placing money or coin or the representative of either therein. Every time said machine is operated as aforesaid shall constitute a separate offense.

"Section 4437 (f). SLOT MACHINE OR DEVICE DEFINED: Any machine, apparatus or device is a slot machine or device within the provisions of this law if it is one that is adapted, or may be adapted, for use in such a way that, as a result of the insertion of any piece of money or coin or other object, such machine or device is caused to operate or may be operated, and by reason any element of chance or of other outcome of such operation unpredictable by him the user may receive or become entitled to receive any piece of money, credit, allowance, or thing of value, or any check, slug, token or memorandum, whether of value or otherwise, which may be exchanged for any money, credit, allowance or thing of value, or which may secure additional chances or rights to use such machine, apparatus or device; irrespective of whether it may apart from any element of chance or unpredictable outcome of such operation, also sell, deliver or present some merchandise, indication or weight, entertainment or other thing of value."

STRAW BALLOT IS CLASSIFIED

McDonald is Holding Lead; Graham Gaining on Hoy

The ballots cast in The Reflector five county poll of the gubernatorial race in co-operation with 24 other state newspapers taking the statewide poll, presents an interesting picture when viewed from the groups of voters and their preferences for the man who is to hold the reins of government in this state for the next four years. To date Dr. Ralph McDonald has a majority over the other three candidates, Clyde R. Hoy, Sandy Graham and John McRae, in The Reflector's five counties but there are those who feel that as the day of the primary draws near either Clyde Hoy or Sandy Graham will take the lead away from the Professor from Winston-Salem. This is just one of the questions that will be answered by the newspaper statewide poll now being taken.

The statewide tabulation of votes last Thursday showed McDonald to have 48.8 per cent of all the votes cast to date with Hoy in second place with 33.8 and Graham in third with 15.4 per cent and McRae far behind with only 2 per cent. McDonald supporters claim that because of the professor's early lead other voters are flocking to his camp and that instead of just being an element of chance or unpredictable outcome of such operation, also sell, deliver or present some merchandise, indication or weight, entertainment or other thing of value."

In conducting the statewide poll the newspapers believe that the data gained will be sufficient to predict the actual trend of political thought and the weekly tabulations from now until the primary are expected to present just such a picture.

OUTS: The presidential campaign has reached the acute alibi stage. On both sides there are cropping up word-wizards whose assignments is to twist primary facts and figures to suit their fancy and favorite.

FRAZIER-LEMKE DEBT MEASURE WINS VICTORY

House Action Is Assured Before End of This Week

BILL ORDERED OUT COMMITTEE

Farm Debt Refinancing Measure Accused by Opponents as Being Inflationary

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—Forces backing the $3,000,000 Frazier-Lemke farm debt refinancing bill scored two quick victories in the house today to assure action on that measure before the week is over.

By a 220 to 153 vote, the house agreed to discharge from the rules committee a resolution to allow consideration of the measure.

Then the rule was adopted by a voice vote. It provides that the bill be taken up tomorrow on six hours general debate prior to the consideration of amendments and a vote on actual passage.

(The bill, target of criticism on grounds it is inflationary, would authorize issuance of new currency to refinance existing farm debts. Farmers would pay the government back one and one-half per cent principal and one and one-half per cent interest annually.)

Speaker Byrnes told reporters earlier the bill had no chance for final house approval although conceding in advance that the rules committee might be discharged.

YOUTH HELD IN BRUTAL DEATH

Investigators Question 22-Year-Old Memphis, Tenn., Boy

Chicago, May 11.—(AP)—A young southerner, his right hand knuckles lacerated and some of his clothing flecked with blood, was questioned today by officers investigating the brutal slaying of Mrs. Lillian Guild, 50-year-old connoisseur of colonial antiques.

Sergeant James Coleman said he picked up the youth, Raymond Furr, 22, of Memphis, Tenn., Saturday morning at his room in the Y. W. C. A. hotel—a block from the Y. W. C. A. hotel where Mrs. Guild was beaten to death in a mysterious attack about 1 a. m. Saturday.

The sergeant reported Furr told him he scraped his hand in a saw and that injury accounted for the crimson stains on a shirt, trousers and a handkerchief in his room.

Isaac Roy Hess, 27, who gave his home as near Memphis, was also picked up at the Y. M. C. A. lodging. Both youths denied any knowledge of the slaying.

ORDERED HELD WITHOUT BOND

Ernest Whitehurst Is Given Hearing On Assault Charge

Ernest Whitehurst, Pitt county white man, was bound over to Superior court on a charge of criminally assaulting Vivian Muriel Brady, 10-year-old white girl, his former foster daughter, at a preliminary hearing in Farmville this morning.

The defendant, arrested by Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst and other officers early last Monday morning, was denied bond. He is being held in Pitt county jail awaiting trial in Superior court, the next term of which convenes in August.

According to the sheriff, the young girl lived with Whitehurst until some time ago when she returned to her father, Frank Brady, tenant farmer of near Farmville.

According to Sheriff Whitehurst, the defendant went to the Brady home Sunday, May 3, and as he often does, took the girl for a ride. Upon returning home the girl fell into a faint and after recovering told her father of the alleged attack. She said Whitehurst assaulted her in a woods off the road and later attacked her again. # Hoey And Graham Forces Fight For Second Place

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, May 5.—The campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor during the next four weeks is going to be a bitter fight between Clyde R. Hoey and Sandy Graham for second place in the first primary and to prevent Dr. Ralph W. McDonald from winning the nomination in the first primary by getting a majority over the field, according to most observers here today.

Neither Hoey nor Graham will openly admit this, of course — at least not for publication — and the Hoey managers are still issuing statements to the effect that he will be first in the first primary. But those known to be close to both Hoey and Graham are conceding "off the record" that unless the outlook changes very greatly this week, there is no chance for either to do better than run in second place in the first primary.

The Hoey managers appear to be confident that the Shelby orator will be able to hold his present pack over Graham and pull up on Dr. McDonald enough to get into first place, though many of the Hoey supporters are now convinced that he will do well if he can stay in second place and prevent McDonald from getting a clear majority.

The Graham supporters, confident that Hoey has already reached his maximum strength are going to concentrate on Hoey from now on rather than McDonald, in the belief that by so doing they can batter Hoey down to third place and boost Sandy into second place — the most they have been hoping for since the campaign started.

They are confident now, as they have been from the beginning, that if Graham can get into second place in the first primary, even though McDonald may have a good lead, Sandy can beat him the second primary. This reasoning, of course, is based on the assumption that 95 per cent of the Hoey supporters will vote for Graham rather than McDonald in the final runoff. This is also the reason why the Graham strategists are understood to have decided to center their drive against Hoey rather than McDonald from now on, in the belief that they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by so doing. Not that they are going to let up on McDonald entirely, since they realize that they must keep pinging away at him constantly in order to keep him from getting a majority in the first primary. But it is no secret that the Graham council of war has decided that for the time being, at least, more votes are to be obtained by attacking Hoey than by concentrating their fire on McDonald.

All of which is getting Mr. Hoey into rather a tight place and making his managers and strategists boiling mad, especially since there is not much they can do about it, most observers here agree. For the Hoey forces cannot afford to open up on Graham, since if Mr. Hoey gets into a second primary with Dr. McDonald, as they are confident he will, he will need the support and good will of as many of the Graham backers as he can get.

As a result, Mr. Hoey and his managers are being compelled so far to center their fire on Dr. McDonald, although it is no secret that they would like to take some hot pot shots at Graham. But they know that the Graham forces are claiming that "unless Sandy gets in the second primary with McDonald, most of the Graham supporters will vote for McDonald rather than Hoey" and they are afraid there may be some truth in the claim.

It is also a noticeable fact that Dr. McDonald, while still blazing away at Hoey in every speech, is dealing very greatly with Graham, in spite of the fire and brimstone which Sandy has been turning loose on "the good Professor" the last week or two. The reason for this, of course, is believed to be the conviction on the part of Dr. McDonald that if he does get into a second primary it is more likely to be with Mr. Hoey than with Mr. Graham, in which case he is hoping that more of the Graham voters will go to him rather than to Mr. Hoey, as the Graham strategists have been claiming.

The Hoey strategists believe that if all those opposed to Dr. McDonald would center on Hoey, he could easily be defeated, probably in the first primary. The Graham managers, however, are equally convinced that Dr. McDonald cannot be defeated except in a second primary and that only Mr. Graham can beat him, so that the Hoey forces should get behind Graham. The McDonald forces are hoping that the fight between Hoey and Graham will become so hot and so bitter that McDonald will win in the first primary.

PEACE ACTION

"It makes me indignant to think that a man, just because he happens to be holding an official station, may order me out to be shot and killed without consulting me," said the Hon. Louis Ludlow of Indiana.

And so he formulated a bill to be presented to the present Congress, asking for an amendment to the Constitution by which all wars except those of defense in case of actual invasion of the country would have to be determined upon by a majority vote of the people in a referendum.

Under its provisions, young men and women (for it is predicted that both will be used in future wars) would not be called to wage a war outside of the United States unless war had been voted by the people themselves. They could not then be sent to a foreign war by vote of Congress, a comparatively small group, as they now may be; and yet they could be called just as usual to defend their own borders.

Such a referendum could not have been used even a few years ago; but with the mass of people now able to be reached almost immediately by radio, it would present no great obstacles.

It would, of course, delay matters somewhat, as its opponents argue; but its sponsors answer that this would really be an advantage, as it would give some time for the nations involved to cool off and arrange a peaceable adjustment. Such a "cooling off period" has been praised as one of the best points of our treaties that arrange for settlement of disputes by arbitration.

ANOTHER SHOT AT KERR BILL

Governor Lists Nine Points on His Tobacco Stand

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, May 5.—In another lengthy rejoinder to the last blast of Congressman John H. Kerr of the Second Congressional District in their controversy of a week or more over the tobacco compact act passed by Congress and the attitude of the Governor towards a special session of the general assembly, Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus points out nine facts which he says remain "unquestioned" after the smoke of controversy has cleared away.

The Governor further reiterates that he has not opposed the compact idea, as Congressman Kerr has charged, but that he does oppose this or any other compact which does not control and which leaves the North Carolina tobacco growers a prey to the growers in other states.

"I have no sympathy for this compact without these clauses which alone can make it effective," Governor Ehringhaus said. "I have done and will continue to do what I can to prevent such discrimination being put over on North Carolina growers and to prevent this legislation from being enacted without this protection which we have asked of Congress. With such protection, I do and will favor a compact. But without it, I shall oppose this legislation, since I believe it will be destructive to the interests of the North Carolina tobacco growers."

The clauses of which Governor Ehringhaus referred were those which would have protected competing states against competition from non-compacting states, in the shipment of non-compact tobacco across state lines, which were in the model bill advocated by the Department of Agriculture. But these clauses were eliminated from the bill before it was enacted by Congress.

The nine facts which Governor Ehringhaus listed as remaining "unquestioned" in his controversy with Congressman Kerr, are as follows:

1. That he urged Congress not only to give permission for states to make compacts, but additional legislation as well to make their enforcement possible.
2. At the conference of February 26, attended by the Governor, the necessity for such additional legislation was urged by him and others and a clause requesting this legislation appears in the model Congressional bill and in the Virginia compacts act.
3. The Congressional resolution approved by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was not proposed by the department until March 19, nearly three weeks after the conference.
4. As proposed and prepared, this resolution contained clauses designed to protect the compacting states against across-the-line competition from non-compacting states.
5. The necessity for and constitutionality of these sections was urged by the Department of Agriculture and by Congressman Kerr.
6. These clauses, at first championed by Congressman Kerr, were later abandoned and the act as passed does not contain them.
7. Congressman Kerr does not deny that without these clauses any tobacco grower may grow and market, tax free, any quantity of tobacco he pleases, by mere ship-

Annual "C-D" Party Held.
The annual "C-D" party, when all the two-year normal school people in the college were being entertained or entertaining, was held on Saturday night and it was a festive occasion, with the mardi-gras, of carnival note in the gay decorations.

The hall of the Robert H. Wright building was beautifully and gayly decorated with balloons of all colors outlining the design of a six-pointed star which formed the ceiling. Caps of bright colors worn by the guests added to the gay effect. At the end of the evening, when the balloons were cut down, the colors spread all over the hall increased the carnival effect.

The Paul Jones orchestra from Rocky Mount furnished the music. They were seated on the stage which was attractively decorated with vines and baskets of iris. Tables for bridge were placed on the north side of the hall, and a number of games were played during the evening.

Refreshments were served during the intermission. The punch bowl was attractively arranged in one corner, and balancing this on the other side, was an attractive corner for the chaperones.

Immediately after the intermission, the grand march was formed and the caps distributed among the guests. The grand march was led by the two class presidents, Misses Lillian Warren and Roberta Brantley and their partners.

The young men in the college, those holding courtesy cards, and quite a number of others from out of town, guests of "D's" were invited.

Chaperones and faculty guests were Misses Mack, Cassidy, Norton, Dr. and Mrs. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Deal, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Pickelsimer, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cummings, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Slay, Miss Elizabeth Smith, and the two advisers, Misses Patchell and McKay.

The committees are as follows: Entertainment: Misses Jane Vessey, chairman; Bessie Sheppard, Patty Harris, Esther Leake and Nancy Olive; Decoration: Irene Williamson, chairman, Mattie Belle Stovall, Mary Belle Edmondson, Ruth Taylor, Doris Sutton, Ethel Byrd, Gordon Wright, and Grace Williamson; Refreshments: (Nell Perry, chairman, June Hemphill, Annie Laura Hodges, Edna Earle Kirby and Margaret Tice.

The officers of the first-year normal class of the "O's" are: Misses Lillian Warren, president; Nell Perry, vice-president; Helen Hard-Tice, secretary; Irene Williamson, treasurer; Nancy Olive, Tecoan reporter; Lucille Lewis, Tecoan representative; and Martha Hamilton, council representative.

This is the last "C-D" party because this is the last year there will be a "C" class, as the two-year class will be discontinued after next year. This closes a chapter in the history of the college. The annual entertainment of the "D's" by the "C's" has been one of the chief social features of the year from the beginning, and for the fifteen years when the school was East Carolina Teachers Training School, this was the "Junior-Senior" party.

Gypsy Weather
BY MARGARET BELL HONSTON

SYNOPSIS: Rupert Joris has married Hope Deising on the rebound from Eleanor Fleming, who has killed him because of his drink-up. There seems to be some hope that the marriage may even succeed. Dirk is attracted to the mysterious Hope, and loyal to his brother, and a little puzzled as to his feelings toward each of them. Rupert and Hope have gone to a play, and Dirk has been there, but in another party. Now, nearing home, he sees a woman's figure standing in the shadow of the big gates.

Chapter 17.

NIGHT CHASE

Dirk glanced at the watch on his wrist. It was exactly two o'clock. He was curious, and did not turn out of the intersecting street which ended opposite his gates, but dimming his lights, drew up to the curb, and waited. Perhaps the woman would see him. Perhaps not. At any rate, it was not in his direction she had signaled.

She appeared not to see him. A car came presently past the gates, and halted some twenty feet below. The figure emerged from the shadow and went swiftly toward it. In the light of the car-lamps Dirk saw Hope's face, and as the cape fell back, her snow-white satin gown. She stepped into the car, and was gone.

Dirk, too, was gone. He could not stop her, perhaps, but he could follow. Whatever her errand, she should not go alone. The car in which she rode—a black-and-green taxi, a private taxi—was flying toward the south. Dirk flew silently after it, through the empty streets.

The green taxi entered Broadway, flew through Yonkers into Manhattan. There, at Dyckman Street, it turned into Riverside Drive where all traffic signals were suspended at this hour. At Seventy-second Street it mounted the speedway, racing like mad to Fifty-seventh, and there serpentine eastward, avoiding pauses for red lights.

In the west Forties, near Sixth Avenue, it drew to the curb before a brownstone dwelling that still housed a fashionable speak-easy. For the fraction of a second it paused while a man who had been waiting in the shadow of the basement steps came out and stepped aboard.

Dirk saw him as he came, slim and dapper and quick. The door of the taxi closed behind him, and the driver turned with the traffic into Fifth Avenue. There he was forced to pause, and Dirk, pausing too, drew his car abreast of the taxi.

It had been his intention, if such a situation occurred, to speak to Hope, to take her aboard his own car, and accompany her wherever she might be bound. Since the new passenger had come aboard, however, he had abandoned such an idea. He had even a feeling that he should cease following her. Her errand was no more than a rendezvous, perhaps, and he, himself, merely a spy.

He could see her now where a light from the Avenue fell across her face and that of the man beside her. The man was dark, youthful, rather handsome. He was talking rapidly, inaudibly, with Hope, making quick foreign gestures with his hands. She sat staring before her, catching the cloak together at her throat, her eyes wide and thoughtful, her face pale.

THE lights went green and they darted forward, flew swiftly southward, then at a red light, eastward again. They had reached Second Avenue in the upper Twenties, a dismal neighborhood. Beneath the elevated tracks a traffic light blazed suddenly, permitting the green taxi by a hair's breadth to fly ahead.

Dirk would have followed, but an officer beside the red signal had an eye on him. When he was released to follow, the green taxi, having turned east again, had disappeared.

Dirk flew along First Avenue, almost deserted now, and along the water-front. There was no sign of the green taxi.

His half-formed resolve to give up following had been accomplished for him. There was nothing to do now but return home. It had been hardly decent anyhow trailing her like this, when her errand was patently a secret one.

His intentions in the beginning had been honorable enough. Something, he supposed, had called her out—something she could not tell Rupert, and he, himself, had not seen there to tell. Wearing Rupert's jewels, she was not safe without a protector, a body-guard of some sort.

Now that she had chosen her protector, having come forth no doubt for the sole purpose of meeting him, let any uninvited guardian accept

SLOT MACHINES TO GO

Despite recent failures to get rid of the slot machines in this community, Chief of Police George Clark announced this morning that he was going after them again, and it is to be hoped that his efforts will be crowned with success. In a recent case heard in Pitt County Superior Court a decision was rendered that the pin ball machines were games of skill and therefore not a violation of the law, but during this week-end Farmville, through action by its mayor, has rid itself of the machines and Chief Clark, armed with provisions of the law that he believes outlaws the machines now operating in this city, is again going after them.

There is a provision in the slot machine law that prohibits the operation of any machine that does not give a fixed and the same value each time it is operated, and Chief Clark declares that under this section, "call them games of skill or what you like, but everyone knows that they do not give the same value every time they are played, and we are going to take them in if they are here on Wednesday morning."

In his order issued today, Chief Clark set tomorrow night as the deadline for the machines to be removed from business houses and other public places in this city. Beginning Wednesday morning all machines in evidence will be seized by the city officers.

Citizens generally in this city are with Chief Clark in his efforts to rid the city of the slot machine evil and if he is successful he will deserve the thanks of this community.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Senator Borah's glad-handers are positively cheerful over his defeat by Landon in South Dakota. The Landomites spent oodles of money and smothered the state with literature, whereas the Idahoan simply squatted in his Senate office. Moreover, South Dakota is linked geographically, agriculturally, ancestrally and sentimentally with Kansas - Iowa - Nebraska (Landon territory) rather than the liberal (Borah) Northwest.

ERROR: Physically a gray, gnarled figure, mentally Herman Oliphant is a legal and intellectual giant. As the Treasury's general counsel, he is the inspirational and driving force behind the smash-the-surplus tax measure.

But he may be driving Secretary Morgenthau a mite too hard. Behind the scenes the Treasury here is bitterness over the billion-dollar difference in dividend-and-revenue estimates which were submitted to the Senate Finance Committee by Mr. Morgenthau and Internal Revenue Commissioner Helvering. The inside information is that Mr. Helvering—a politician but an able administrator—depended on his own staff rather than on Mr. Oliphant for his financial data.

What irks Mr. Morgenthau's aides is that the incident pictured him as "fixing" figures to gain a political end. It's a charge frequently hurled at Treasury statisticians but one he personally resents. Counsel Oliphant has many enemies in the government and they blame him for the error. They also decry his advice that the Secretary magnify it into a major blunder by replying so formally and indignantly. George May, who detected the discrepancy, has a high reputation in financial and Congressional circles.

WATCHFUL: Gentle Cordell Hull winced when headlines confronted him with raucous cries of a "Roman peace" and "Ethiopia is Italian." The conquest assured another severe test for his policy of peace-on-earth-and-good-will-to-men.

He stalled off all diplomatic questioners who rushed in to learn whether the United States would recognize Italy's right to territory seized by force of arms. He would not say whether the non-recognition attitude applied to Japanese penetration of Manchukuo and embedded in the Montevideo pact—his proudest achievement—would prevail in East Africa. He dodged with the explanation that this government must first learn the "nature of the occupation"—as if he were not aware of Il Duce's flaming intentions.

To outsiders it appeared as if the normally shrewd Mr. Hull was flustered. But privately he is deliberately stalling to see what Geneva, Paris and London—Mussolini's big baiters—will do next. Whether we lift our embargo on loans, credits, and arms may depend on whether they continue or discontinue their sanctions. He recalls that Great Britain "took a walk" when the Hoover-Stimson's aggressiveness toward Japan almost promoted a war between ourselves and Nippon. For all his ideals, Mr.

Hull is no Alice in Britain's blunderland.

TOUGH: Diplomatic insiders forecast that the United States and Great Britain will adopt a similar policy toward Mussolini—a nameless, a silent snubbing of his feelers for recognition and, even more important, financial support.

Dictator Mussolini—and Hitler, too—need vast funds at the present moment. Il Duce will require billions to colonize and develop Ethiopia, provided it is found to be worth development at all. Their

Mr. Roosevelt hasn't said so in so many words, but the setup makes it clear that he intends to use the Committee's findings as a basis for new legislation to restore the benefits labor received from NRA while Headache: New York Republican backstagers have a brand new worry—the ladies. They have reason to suspect that the feminine contingent may snarl up their well laid plans to keep the New York convention delegation on the fence until they see how the tide is running and then hop in on the winning side.

Mrs. Robert L. Bacon—wife of the Congressman—has made a statewide canvass of the G. O. P. women who serve as country vice chairmen. She finds them practically unanimous for Landon and irritated at the idea of stalling along instead of coming right out for their favorite candidate.

A feminine effort to stampede the New York delegation into the Landon camp might easily develop. And, what a headache that would be to the masculine leaders who want to play safe at Cleveland!

HIGHS NEARING SEASON'S END

Greenies Have Only Three More Games On Schedule

Tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday of this week will mark the closing of the baseball season for the Greenville high school.

J. H. Rose said today that he had been informed in a long-distance telephone conversation this morning that the Fayetteville high school class "A" conference baseballers would play their last game of the season with the nine of the Greenville high school on Thursday afternoon of this week.

Everyone is urged to attend this triple amount of real baseball enjoyment and boost the team on its fifteenth consecutive victory.

Dairying Interest Is Stimulated By Conservation Plan

Dairy Cows Valuable Asset to Family - Living On Own Land and Producing Enough Feed

Raleigh, May 11.—The soil improvement program, encouraging the production of soil-conserving feed crops, is expected to stimulate interest in dairying.

In many cases cream can be shipped to a creamery at a reasonable profit, he explained, with the skim milk being fed to calves, pigs, and poultry.

In addition, the family will have plenty of butter and whole milk to supply its own needs.

Kimrey suggested that many farmers will find it advantageous to raise feed on land taken out of cotton and tobacco under the soil-improvement program.

And soil-conserving feed crops may be considered a source of cash income when it is fed to dairy cattle, he pointed out.

On average farms, he recommended that at least five good dairy cows be kept. They will provide enough milk and butter for home use, with a surplus of cream to market.

There should also be not less than five acres of good pasture and sufficient legume hay and grain for winter feeding.

A cream separator and three or four five-gallon cream shipping cans will be needed by those who plan to sell cream.

Scott Expecting Aid From War Veterans

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, May 11.—Thousands of members of the American Legion in North Carolina are expected to support W. Kerr Scott for Commissioner of Agriculture, although the Alliance county candidate has no definite organization among the World War Veterans. It was stated at his headquarters here today.

Scott, an honor graduate of North Carolina State College in the class of 1917 — the year the United States joined forces with the Allies — volunteered for service during 1918, and was assigned to the Field Artillery at Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky. Before he had opportunity to finish his period of training, the Armistice was signed, and Scott was denied the privilege of going overseas.

During the last sixteen years, Scott has taken an active part in the activities of the Walter B. Ellis Post of the American Legion, in Burlington. Although the Legion does not allow its posts or state organizations to grant political endorsements, it is believed that hundreds of Legionnaires throughout the state will flock to the Scott banner in his fight for the position of Commissioner of Agriculture.

The game farm, like the fish hatchery, is doing its bit to help the sportsman. Incubators have returned the grouse to wooded areas where his drumming was only a memory, and they've taken bob-white back to his ancestral home by the old fence.

Game breeding has made great strides in 25 years. Much credit is due the men who pioneered in this effort to restore birds to sections of the country in which they formerly were numerous.

never live in the field," eh explains. Jay Williams, federal forest examiner and member of the Admiralty Island bear patrol, says last season's expedition on the island "disproved the fears and contentions of a small group of extremists that the Alaskan brown bear was rapidly heading for extinction."

His resume explains the forest service, biological survey and territorial game commission have worked out "a plan for the management of the bear, in relation to the other resources of Admiralty Island," holding the bears to be as important to the recreational area as the timber, mineral, fish and other natural resources.

Now comes the story of an experienced fisherman about the intelligence of steelhead — he was twice outsmarted by the tricky trout. Both fish he lost used exactly the same method of dislodging the hook. After being played to the river bank the fish gave a sudden twist, rolled over, and threw their tails against the line. Each time the flip pulled the hook out of the mouth, according to the angler.

ROYAL COIFFURE SETS NEW MODE WITH LONDONERS

London, (AP)—The Duchess of Kent, by appearing at her first public function of King Edward's reign with her curls arranged in a different way, has set a new style in coiffure.

When the Duchess opened the stockings she had her hair arranged at the sides in two rows of curls which curved upwards from the cheek, exposing the ears, and meeting four rows of curls at the back. She wore pearl stud earrings.

WISCONSIN TWIRLING TWINS HARBOR BIG LEAGUE HOPES

George and Walter Zuehlis—or vice versa, maybe.

Madison, Wis., May 11.—(AP)—Another "Me 'n Paul" itching combination—counterpart of the famed Deans of major league baseball—is in the making at the University of Wisconsin.

The campus "Dizzy" and "Daffy" are twins, George and Walter Zuehlis, from Markesan, Wis. They are sophomores at the university, majoring in physical education, and would just as soon play ball as eat.

All their lives they've agreed that way. They look alike, talk alike, dress alike. For 18 years they've been doing almost everything alike.

In high school the Zuehlis were the stars of the baseball and basketball teams. Now their entire interest athletically is in baseball. That's why they have been called "Dizzy" and "Daffy", interchangeably, because of their close resemblance to one another.

Both George and Walter hurl for the varsity team, although George has tried playing first base also. In high school George alternated with his twin at pitching and catching.

As a freshman Walter pitched a one-hit game against the university extension squad of Milwaukee, striking out 15 batters.

George was credited with one win and no losses in his first five games this season. He gave eight hits and struck out fourteen batters. Walter in his first four games, won one and lost none. He whiffed eleven men and allowed thirteen hits. Incidentally, Wisconsin has been using two pitchers in every game.

Walter is the better athlete—George said so. But George asserted more modestly a claim to better scholarship. Actually there is little difference in their ability.

"We quarrel a bit now and then, but never fight," George confessed. "We both weigh 155 pounds," Walter added as if by explanation.

The pair would like to try out for varsity basketball, but school work leaves them time only for concentration on baseball.

After all, the "Dizzy" and "Daffy" of the campus have hopes of breaking into the big leagues some day.

Japanese production of electric machinery has attained record proportions in the last year. Generators, which formerly were imported largely from the United States and Germany, are now commonly made in Japan.

REVIVAL MEET IS COMPLETED

Dr. J. J. Murray Ends Services at Presbyterian Church

The week of special services at the First Presbyterian church came to a close yesterday with two sermons by the Rev. J. J. Murray, D. D., of Lexington, Virginia. The evening worship service, entered into by the different congregations of the community, brought to a happy conclusion this week of successful meetings.

Dr. Murray spoke in the morning on the subject of "Kept in Times of Temptation." He asserted that in at least three ways—the first two of which were very common ways found in every-day life—did God keep individuals true in such times: "by the pull of our best, by the inspiration and expectations of our fellows, and by the fellowship of Christ Himself who sums up in highest form the aspirations of the human heart. For Christ, being not only our Ideal and Example, but also Savior, does adequately meet the needs of human struggle."

Pressing in the evening on the subject of "God's Problem and God's Yearning," and drawing his message from the Book of Hosea, the visiting minister pointed out how the paradox of God's yearning love over man and God's bafflement over man's failure was resolved in the deepest meanings of God's speaking through Christ, as appeared in the latter's life and death. He made a plea that a realistic view of life and its sins—national and personal—be had, and urged that individuals give themselves to Christ and His way of life—as the way out from tragic failure to mastery and victory.

Secretary Fitzgerald pointed out that if a person did not register after the primary and before the general elections last Fall, he is required to register now in order to participate in the coming primary and elections.

The city was divided into the four precincts after the 1935 primary and before the election and a large number of citizens failed to register before the election. Those who did are the only persons who are not required to register now.

equally true of shoes..coats..hats foods..cigarettes...almost everything

If a thing does not SATISFY it costs too much

On the other hand... if it DOES satisfy it is worth all it costs...and more

That's how it is with Chesterfields... they are made to satisfy. Chesterfields are different from other cigarettes in that they have not only different kinds of tobacco, but the paper from the Champagne Paper Mills in France is different... the tobacco from Turkey is different... the way the cigarette is made is different.

Chesterfields are made to satisfy... that's their business; that's their reputation... they live up to it.
