SUB MEASURE FOR COAL ACT IS COMPLETED

Substitute Drafted for Immediate Introduction

PRICE FIXING IS HEART OF BILL

Unconstitutional Labor Provisions Eliminated From Act Similar to Original

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—After hours of secret conferences a substitute for the invalidated Guffey coal act was drafted today for immediate introduction in Congress.

Price fixing constituted the heart of the new measure in the hands of Senator Guffey (D-Penn.) author of the original act. It would seek to regulate the coal industry through the commerce laws of the constitution, eliminating the labor provision on which the Supreme Court based its decision declaring the old law unconstitutional.

Whether White House support would be given the new bill and whether it would be pressed for passage this session was not known immediately.

Although the new bill is essentially the same as the original act, with the unconstitutional labor provisions eliminated, it contains one significant change.

Under its terms the National Bituminous Coal Commission consists of seven members instead of five. Officials said this change was made to provide direct representation of producers and users.

Three of the seven commissioners would have no interest or connection with the industry.

Mooreville Man Is New Grand Master Odd Fellows Order

Wilmington Selected as 1937 Convention City at Closing Session in Greensboro Today

Greensboro, May 20.—(AP)—Frank B. Freeze of Mooreville, was elected grand master of the North Carolina Grand Lodge Independent Order of Odd Fellows at the concluding session of the 93rd annual meeting of the organization here today.

Washington was selected for the meeting in 1937.

Other officers selected for the grand lodge include: Rev. D. G. Saunders of Bellhaven, grand warden, and R. B. Pate of Goldsboro, grand treasurer.

A. M. Lane of Greensboro, was reelected as chairman of the board of trustees for the orphanage home at Goldsboro for another five year term.

Mrs. Lennie O'Neal of Elizabeth City, was elected as president of the Reba Rebekah state assembly at the session of the organization held today.

Other officers elected for the assembly included Mrs. Sally Westmoreland of Goldsboro.

Winston-Salem May 20.—(AP)—Fifty-seventh District Rotarians closed their convention here today with several addresses and the adoption of resolutions.

Dr. Charles J. Smith, Rowan College president outlined objectives and responsibilities implied by Rotary, criticizing what he called a tendency to "let the government" do everything.

At a breakfast for club presidents and secretaries, incumbent and elect, five minute talks were made by Maynard O. Fletcher of Washington, and Hugh Waldrop of Goldsboro.

OLD BUILDING LOOKS SAME, BUT INSIDE GOES MODERN

Charleston, S. C. (AP)—Renovators of Vanderhorst row, one of the oldest apartment houses in the United States, have restored the exterior of the big brick structure on the waterfront here.

But the interior of the building, erected by General Arnoldus Vanderhorst in 1800, contains lights, radios, portable telephones and fan plugs in each room, electric heaters, showers, and other innovations that would have puzzled the original occupants.

London (AP)—For the first time a grand piano is being used at services in Westminster Abbey, as the organ is being dismantled to make way for a new one for next year's coronation.

County Secretary

ARNOLD NAMED NEW POSITION

County Agent Takes Over Duties Farm Bureau Secretary

E. F. Arnold, Pitt county farm agent for the past several years, today took over the duties of secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, succeeding Charles J. Brockway, who resigned to return to his duties as county agent in Mobile, Ala.

Mr. Arnold was given a leave of absence by the County Board of Commissioners and the State Extension Service. The county resolution specifically set forth that the ex-county agent could return to his duties any time he desired.

The new secretary announced that he would seek to have North Carolina take the lead in some farm program to be worked out by leading farmers of the state.

He added he intended to make efforts to secure a much larger membership in the state and called attention that three-fourths of the money derived from dues was retained in the state.

Mr. Arnold began his new duties by announcing his schedule for this week. During the next few days he will go to Burgaw, Raleigh and Bertie county in the interest of the organization.

Ex-Wilson Woman Is Divorced By Court

Paris, May 20.—(AP)—The divorce of Count Francois de Chasselout Laubat and his wife, the former Margaret Brown of Wilson, N. C. became known here today. The couple was married in Nash county, N. C., November 30, 1929.

Millionaire Dies As Airplane Crashes Near Baton Rouge

HARRY P. Williams and Veteran Pilot Ride to Death as Plane Falls in Wooded Area

Baton Rouge, La., May 20.—(AP)—Harry P. Williams, millionaire aviator and husband of Marguerite Clark, former screen star, fell to his death in a plane crash near here late last night.

Johnnie "Red" Worthen a veteran pilot, rode to death with the 47-year-old aviator enthusiast when their plane ripped into a wooded swampland shortly after taking off from the Baton Rouge port for Patterson, La.

Airport attendants said the plane took off shortly before 10 o'clock (EST) last night. It failed to gain altitude and after a few minutes slipped into a fatal nose dive.

Governor Plans To Attend Shriners Meet

Raleigh, May 20.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said today he planned to attend the ceremonial of Sudin Shrine Temple at Washington May 27-28. The governor is on the Divan of the Temple in line to become illustrious potentate three years hence.

Ehringhaus Appoints E. C. T. C. Trustees

Raleigh, May 20.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today reappointed four members of the board of trustees of East Carola Teachers College.

Named to succeed themselves for the term expiring June 30, 1942, as trustees were: F. C. Harding, E. G. Flaagan and Robert R. Taylor, all of Greenville.

Ferdinand Gottschalk, born in London, has been an actor in America 34 years.

ARID WEATHER IN SOUTHEAST SAID SERIOUS

Drought Is Menacing Tobacco, Cotton and Other Crops

THIS STATE IN NEED OF RAINS

Dry Land Provides Problem in Georgia, Carolinas, Alabama and Tennessee

Atlanta, Ga., May 20.—(AP)—Droughts menaced tobacco, cotton and general farm crops in the southeast today.

Serious conditions prevailed over large portions of Georgia, the Carolinas, Alabama and eastern Tennessee.

Damage was apparent in many places, but state farm officials were unwilling to risk any definite estimates on the loss. It was agreed that good rains in the next week or two probably would keep the damage from reaching disastrous proportions.

In Georgia the drought already has cut heavily into early truck crops and was threatening tobacco and cotton stands.

Frank Parker, federal-state crop statistician for North Carolina, said truck growers, cotton, tobacco and potatoes all were badly in need of rain.

G. C. Merchant, Columbia meteorologist found "generally unsatisfactory" crop conditions in South Carolina.

Southern Alabama's cotton was in poor stand and from 10 days to two weeks behind normal because of rainfall deficiency.

Tobacco, cotton and corn planting in eastern Tennessee fell dangerously behind schedule because of too dry land.

Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and western Tennessee all enjoyed nearly normal rainfall and fair to good crop prospects. Texas also rained early during drought threat. Virginia officials found it "too early to determine" the effect of dry weather there.

Florida crops needs rain but so far were retarded rather than actually damaged officials said.

One Is Believed Dead from Maine Air Crash

Rockland, Maine, May 20.—(AP)—One man was believed killed today and five others slightly injured when an airplane owned by Stanley Boynton, youthful Rockland and Lexington, Mass., flyer crashed in Penobscot bay here.

Observers said the plane fell into the water just inside the Rockland breakwater.

GROUP FAVORS WINDFALL TAX

Senate Finance Committee Acts on New Revenue Bill

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—In its first decisive action on the tax bill the senate finance committee today approved in modified form an 80 per cent "windfall" tax on processors who escaped payment of the old AAA processing taxes.

The changes were designed largely to make the tax less stringent in its application. One would make the levy inapplicable if a processor showed a loss in the commodities to which the prices in taxes applied over an entire taxable year.

Today's decision partly cleared the way for the committee to tackle the heart of the bill—the corporation tax angle. It expected to reach this later in the day.

Committeemen indicated that as soon as technical amendments of a clarifying nature were prepared, they would approve provision for refunds of taxes on floor stock on hand when the AAA was invalidated.

One amendment to the windfall feature was aimed at major objections raised against it by open processors after another in open hearings. It would simplify computations by giving their "unjust enrichment" or lack of it on the basis of average income for an entire year on commodities to which the processing taxes applied rather than attempting to find out how much income was derived from individual transactions in the commodities.

HOOVER 'NOT A CANDIDATE'

Political speculation as to former President Herbert Hoover's ambitions for another term in the White House was set at rest by his statement in Chicago: "It should be evident by this time that I am not a candidate." LANDON LEADS POPPY DAY SET IN NEW JERSEY FOR SATURDAY

Secures Better Than Three to One Vote Over Borah

Newark, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon's lead over United States Senator William E. Borah in New Jersey's presidential preference primary jumped to better than three to one-half to one today with nearly one half of the vote counted.

In 1,556 out of 3,578 election districts in the state Landon received 155,519 votes and Borah 42,851.

Governor Landon, who had the support of the republican organization in the state, was assured of the votes of the four delegates at large to the Cleveland convention and at least 22 of the 28 district delegates.

Democratic voters ratified a slate of 56 district delegates, and they delegates at large pledged to President Roosevelt.

Coburn Henry Breckinridge, New York attorney, alone entered the democratic preferential primary. He polled 17,555 votes.

The returns also virtually assured the election of Governor Harold G. Hoffman as delegate at large to the Republican convention.

The Governor, one of four picked by the state committee to support Landon was opposed by former representative Franklin W. Fort, who charged the governor's action in the Hauptmann case had disgraced "Jersey justice."

"Therefore, I, Mayor of the City of Greenville, do hereby proclaim Saturday, May 23, to be Poppy Day in the city of Greenville, and I urge all citizens observe to day by wearing the memorial poppy in order that the inspiring memory of those who made the highest patriotic sacrifices during the war may be recalled to every mind."

Candidate Craig In Campaign Visit Here

Gilbert Craig of Hillsboro, candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, paid Greenville a visit today in the interest of his campaign.

Mr. Craig is seeking public office for the first time in his career. He has visited a large number of the counties during his campaign and said he was receiving encouraging reports.

DR. TOWNSEND TESTIFIES ON PENSION PLAN

Inform Committee About $1,000,000 Already Collected

QUESTIONED BY J. R. SULLIVAN

Doctor's Willingness to Engage in Give-and-Take Enlivens Committee Hearing

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Dr. F. E. Townsend told a house investigating committee today that "in the neighborhood of a million dollars" has been collected by the Townsend old age pension organization since its inception.

Asked what the contributors received in return, Dr. Townsend said they "got our organization which is exactly what they paid for."

"We have 8,000 clubs throughout the country and a live working organization," Dr. Townsend said.

James R. Sullivan, committee counsel brought out in questions that Walter Warmbold, who headed the "Townsend Caravan" when it left California for Washington, was relieved of his leadership in Oklahoma.

Sullivan asserted "bathing beauties" were on caravan cars when they left California and that Governor Smith, Oklahoma, Townsend director, spent $2,100 of Townsend funds for "fire water" for Indians in Oklahoma.

Dr. Townsend said he knew nothing of what happened to the caravan in Oklahoma except he understood there were "some difficulties."

Smith, Sullivan explained, is a Townsend candidate for the United States Senate from Oklahoma.

The elderly witness denied the caravan carrying petitions urging enactment of the Townsend plan for $200 monthly pensions to the aged was a "grandstand stunt."

James R. Sullivan, committee counsel, said there would be "startling testimony" today.

The doctor's willingness to engage in give-and-take with committee members enlivened yesterday's hearing.

Rising to his feet at one point the pension leader not only denounced the committee for its "unfriendly attitude," but asserted the administration was a "hostile force" behind the congressional inquiry.

He followed that shot with several more directed at the two old political parties and then announced he would form a third party after the November election.

Hindenburg Lands At Lakehurst, N. J. On Second Cruise

Giant German Dirigible Hindenburg Completes Second Commercial Trip in Slower Time

Lakehurst, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—The German dirigible Hindenburg was grounded at 6:03 a. m. (EST) today, completing its second commercial crossing of the north Atlantic in 78 hours, 27 minutes.

The landing was effected without incident.

The Hindenburg's crossing was nearly 17 hours slower than its record inaugural trip when it reached Lakehurst 61 hours 57 minutes after "sailing" its home port. It started its cruise from Frankfurt-on-the-Maine, Germany, at 11:35 p. m. Saturday.

The Zepplin had bucked headwinds during its trans-Atlantic cruise and was a day late as a result.

County Law And Order League Is Established At Mass Meeting Here

MORE RESULTS DUE THURSDAY

New State-Wide Tabulation To Be Announced Tomorrow

Interest was more keen in the statewide newspaper straw vote of the gubernatorial race today on the eve of the publication of another tabulation of the votes in the 100 counties of the state. A ready two such tabulations have been published by the 25 newspapers co-operating in the poll and other tabulations will follow on each Thursday between now and the primary.

The first tabulation published two weeks ago showed Dr. Ralph McDonald leading with a total of 48.8 per cent of all the votes cast up to that time. Clyde R. Hoey was in second place with 33.8 per cent of the votes; Lieut. Gov. Sandy Graham was third with 15.4 per cent, with McRae far behind having only 2 per cent of the votes cast. The first statewide tabulation included 8,260 votes.

Last week's tabulation which included 11,799 votes revealed that within the week McDonald's percentage had slipped back to 47.4 while Hoey had crept up to 34.9 per cent, and Graham up to 16 per cent. McRae's percentage in the meantime had slipped back to 1.7 per cent.

The publication of last week's tabulation showing slight gains for both Hoey and Graham caused supporters of those candidates to declare that this was just the beginning and that as other tabulations appeared these two would continue to show gains while McDonald would slip toward the cellar. McDonald supporters, however, declared that McDonald's slight slump was but a breathing spell to get ready for other gains and that as the primary approached he would continue to gain with the result that the voting in the primary June 6 would give him a clear majority and the nomination. While these supporters of the various candidates have carried on their battles and made their claims to the public, the publication of the 100 counties in the state and tomorrow's publication of the last tabulation will shed more light on the accuracies of the claims of the various candidates' supporters.

Watch for tomorrow's tabulation on the latest returns in the newspaper poll. In this immediate territory the tabulation will be published only in The Reflector.

He called attention to the restraining order secured by owners of the marble machines prohibiting officers from confiscating the devices. The temporary order is returnable before Judge J. Paul Frizzelle in Snow Hill Saturday, May 30, but efforts are being made to have the case removed to this city and be heard at an earlier date.

Mayor Blount declared "you can have the kind of government you want, the kind of town you want. If you get behind a thing you can get it."

He said Greenville always had been a clean city and added "we want to keep it that way."

In introducing Judge Barnhill he said the jurist had made quite a record and declared that he was a judge with the conviction and courage needed for the office he held.

In his introductory remarks Judge Barnhill said that he felt the meeting was for Greenville people, but expressed appreciation for being asked to take part on the program. He added that he was here as a private citizen interested in the welfare of the youth.

Judge Barnhill, in remarks on his activities in riding Raleigh of the gambling machines, said the spirit of indifference on the part of Raleigh citizens was not in evidence here and added that he could not make a talk here as he did in the Capital city because the conditions which provoked his remarks there were not to be found in this city and county. He also declared politics were far removed from the meeting and said "I am not speaking for the candidate of any man, nor with the primary in mind."

The jurist declared that the supreme law was one which was not found written on the statute books, one the violation of which provides no penalty—the law of public opinion. He said the law of public opinion controls the conduct of the people more than any found in law.

URGES VOTERS GET PREPARED

All Persons Must Be Registered in Order To Vote

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, May 20.—All those who desire to vote in the Democratic primary of June 6 must register by Saturday, May 23, if they are not already registered, and must declare themselves as Democrats, it was pointed out today by Raymond C. Maxwell, secretary of the State Board of Elections. In those counties which are requiring new registrations, every one must register again in order to be eligible to vote in the primary. In other counties and cities, only those who have moved from one precinct to another or from one county to another will be required to re-register.

The question that is worrying many of the Democratic leaders and some of the campaign managers, is the extent to which Republicans may or will register as Democrats and vote in the Democratic primary and then vote as Republicans in the general election in November. For while only Democrats can legally register and vote in the forthcoming primary, there is nothing to prevent any Republican from registering, declaring himself or herself as a Democrat and then vote in the June 6 primary, it is generally agreed. For the law specifies that any voter may change his or her party affiliation at any time.

News Behind The News

Washington By RAY TUCKER

UNIQUE: Good-natured "Jack" Garner wielded an influence second only to the President's at the Capitol these days. The early-to-bed Vice President has become FDR's adviser in such diverse fields as political, legislative and foreign affairs.

Mr. Garner is responsible for the President's campaign-year policy of dodging controversial subjects in public addresses and in press conferences. Farmer Garner recently shocked sensitive Cabinet ears by warning Mr. Roosevelt that "it's a wise cow which knows when not to give milk," but Farmer Roosevelt got the bucolic point. It was Mr. Garner who shaped the House strategy that repulsed the Fraxier-Lemke inflationists. To Speaker Byrns, who seeks his old friend's advice almost every morning, the Vice President suggested: "Get a letter against it from Bill Green."

More Spurious Bills Are Detected Here

Officials of the State Bank and Trust company and of the Dickinson Avenue branch of the Guaranty bank and Trust company today reported counterfeit $10 bills had been detected in their institutions.

Three of the spurious bills were presented by customers of the Guaranty branch and a number were discovered at the State bank.

Five such bills have been detected at the Guaranty's main bank.

Officials expressed the opinion the bills are being passed chiefly at filling stations and warned their customers to be on the watch out for them. The counterfeit money is said to be a good imitation, but can be detected by the quality of paper used.

Organization to Oppose All Forms Of Gambling

JUDGE BARNHILL CHIEF SPEAKER

Approximately 500 Citizens Attend Meeting Called In Protest of 'Pin Ball'

Here lies the wicked slot machine. Over it the marble ball careened. As it gathered nickels in the till, it was a game of chance and not of skill.

It robbed the innocent, the weak and the poor. It couldn't stay, it had to go. Praise God from whom all blessings flow.

Thus concluded Judge M. V. Barnhill last night in the principal speech at a mass meeting at which the marble machine was branded as gambling device and a menace to the community, and a Law and Order league for Pitt county was organized.

The permanent organization was formed through the adoption of a resolution prepared by a committee headed by Rev. W. A. Ryan, J. H. Rose was in charge of distribution of membership cards which pledged the signer to work against all forms of gambling in Greenville and Pitt county and to fight for good government.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by a standing vote upon motion of J. L. Little, second by Solicitor D. M. Clark.

The resolution called for the discontinuance of all gambling devices in this community, particularly those operated in public places and recommended all Pitt county candidates for the legislature put themselves on record as to their respective stands on the question. It also commended local officers who have shown their willingness to rid the community of the gambling devices and pledged to them the continued support of the citizens.

The program was preceded by several musical numbers by the High School band, which led a parade from the school to the court house prior to the meeting.

Approximately 500 persons attended the meeting.

Mayor M. K. Blount presided over the session, which was opened with the singing of "America."

Mayor Blount reviewed recent activities seeking to rid the community of slot machines and explained the purpose of the meeting was to rid the city of the devices.

He said Chief George Clark of the police department announced a drive on the machines with his sanction and approval and added he held "no fear of criticism now or hereafter."

He called attention to the restraining order secured by owners of the marble machines prohibiting officers from confiscating the devices. The temporary order is returnable before Judge J. Paul Frizzelle in Snow Hill Saturday, May 30, but efforts are being made to have the case removed to this city and be heard at an earlier date.

Mayor Blount declared "you can have the kind of government you want, the kind of town you want. If you get behind a thing you can get it."

He said Greenville always had been a clean city and added "we want to keep it that way."

In introducing Judge Barnhill he said the jurist had made quite a record and declared that he was a judge with the conviction and courage needed for the office he held.

He also declared politics were far removed from the meeting and said "I am not speaking for the candidate of any man, nor with the primary in mind."

For ages... the world has wanted dry beer

And the world has had it, too. Why? Because people who really know beer know that a sweet syrupy brew soon loses its charm. So, they insist upon a dry flavor—the Budweiser flavor, for example. No other beer tastes like Budweiser, with its zest and snap of costly imported Saazer hops. That's why Budweiser became the biggest-selling bottled beer in history. How about another bottle?

MAKE THIS TEST! DRINK Budweiser FOR FIVE DAYS

Humorous and Dramatic Story.

The story of "Post Road" is humorous and dramatic, moving at a brisk rate to a surprise climax which left New York theatre-goers harghing to the edge of their seats.

According to the press reports, the seven months run on Broadway has ended so recently that it is still dramatic news even in New York.

The Federal Theatre Touring unit that will give the performance in the Austin Auditorium on next Saturday night played it to capacity houses for five nights before moving to this state to begin their first tour. The cast here is made up almost entirely of actors and actresses of New York experience, and all are professionals.

On the Boston Post Road, an elderly spinster, mysteriously becomes the mother of a kidnapped baby, to the confusion and ultimate arrest of the abductors. The seventeen characters in the play are: a hypocritical minister, an unemployed husband with a radio mania, a sharp-tongued wife, and the gangster guests, all played by actors who succeed in turning their parts into amusing and exciting characterization.

Attention: $5, $3, $2 Prizes.

To be given away at amateur contest Friday, May 22, Stokes School. Admission 10c and 15c. Entrants see Verda Wilson, Stokes.—(Adv.)

Sans Souci Club.

The Sans Souci Club enjoyed a particularly delightful meeting on Tuesday morning, with Mrs. J. H. Blount as hostess. It was an especial joy to meet with this gracious member for the first time in her lovely new home.

It was an especial privilege to have Mrs. James T. Little as a guest of the club and to present the program for the day. Mrs. Little recounted in a very vivid and graphic style some of her experiences as Head Economist for the Kelvinator Company. She also told many interesting things about her contacts with women outstanding in this field of work. She revealed how these professionals labor to make labor easier for the housewife.

The club feels much indebted to Mrs. Little for her most unique and instructive talk.

After a discussion of timely topics, the guests were invited to the dining room where with Mrs. B. B. Sugg and Mrs. W. E. Hooker seated at the table, a delicious barbecue luncheon was served. The visitors, choosing as their fancy prompted, whether it should be consumed in the formality of the handsome dining room or the informality of the delightful veranda or shaded lawn.

COUNTY LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE ESTABLISHED A MASS MEETING

Interest in the welfare of your community," he added.

The noted jurist named three necessary steps to protect the welfare of the community:

1. See to it that honest men, men who have the courage to do the right thing are elected to office.

2. Take a vital interest in the laws enacted by the legislature.

3. Backing up officers in their duties of carrying out the laws.

Judge Barnhill said there were three types of people he had no patience with: those who refuse to participate in politics because they claim they are too rotten; officers who keep an ear to the ground for the purpose of remaining in office; and candidates who promise everything to put themselves in office.

He explained that paid lobbyists were responsible for some of the lax laws placed on the statute books, and declared emphatically "we have enough laws to prohibit slot machines." He called attention to a statute passed by the last legislature specifically aimed at the devices.

He said the bill was re-written to reduce the punishment of the owner of the machines to a fine and was passed as a "joker."

He said gambling was already a law in North Carolina and declared "pin wheels are nothing but slot machines" regardless of name. He said they were in the same class as the "one-armed bandit."

He said the next legislature should "call a spade a spade and a pin machine a gambling device."

The superior court judge said the officers needed the cooperation of the citizens to properly discharge their duties, saying the officers were dependent to a certain extent on information furnished by private citizens. He said law violators would cover up their activities in the presence of officers, while they would remain in the open in the presence of private citizens.

"All people in whose places of business the machines are located are not bad," he said, declaring the slot machines have "grown on us." He said the owner of the machines would go to the owner of a public place and promise him a fancy return for allowing the machine to remain in his place of business.

The jurist also deplored the fact the state licenses the machines, and added "the state could do without the money derived from the licenses in order to be on the right side."

"The greatest evil of gambling on the part of young boys comes in the contact with evil elements," he declared, adding that the good boys are soon involved in crime. "Gambling is not the worst result of playing the pin machines," he said, "but what gambling leads to."

B. B. Sugg made a few remarks following Judge Barnhill and declared that the jurist had covered the subject. "We know the menace afforded by the slot machines and feel it will be outlawed," he declared. Mr. Sugg also deplored the fact the state grants licenses for the operation of these devices.

J. H. Rose declared the idea of "something for nothing" provided by the machines prays on the minds of young boys and led them into criminal careers.

He called attention to placards displayed in the court room setting forth: "The Bible says gambling is wrong; 'We love our city and county; 'We intend to obey our laws; 'We expect our officers to protect us; 'Greenville High School is against gambling."

He said the cards were prepared by the school and represented the true feeling of the students.

Taking a cue from the keynote sounded by Judge Barnhill, the meeting was closed with the song "Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

The resolution establishing the Law and Order league and expressing opposition to the slot machines follows:

Preamble.

1. Having viewed with deep concern the grave conditions growing out of the operation of various gambling devices in our community, and believing that the operation of such devices is contrary to the moral, social and spiritual welfare of our people, we, citizens of Greenville community, in mass meeting assembled, on this 19th day of May, 1936, do hereby declare without equivocation our full and unqualified condemnation of the use of all gambling devices of whatever nature in this community.

2. Believing that the time has come when the citizens of this community must publicly express their indignation at the continued operation of gambling devices of various kinds to the debasement of our community life, and that they should take such steps as shall insure the abolishing of all such games of chance, we hereby take the following action:

I—Discontinuance of all Gambling Devices.

1. We demand the discontinuance of the operation of all gambling devices in this community, particularly those operated in public places, such as stores, hotels, bars, bars, filling stations, etc. etc. and operating under such names as slot machines, pin machines, ball machines and under various other type and trade names.

2. Believing that the operation of such machines is demoralizing, not only to the adults and children who play them, but to the general life of the community, we call upon the officials of our city and county, the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen the Chief of Police and his deputies, as well as the courts, finally and without delay so to discharge the duties of their respective offices as to rid the community of all gambling devices of whatever nature, to the end that the disgraceful conditions prevailing at various times in the past may no longer exist.

3. Believing that the law enforcement officers of our community should be assured the fullest cooperation and support of such citizens as deplore the presence of all such gambling devices, we hereby pledge to them our unqualified support in the proper discharge of their duties in the effort to eradicate this evil.

II—A Permanent Organization.

1. Realizing the futility of seeking to cope with this, and other violations of law and order, as may from time to time arise, by waiting until public opinion has been sufficiently aroused to demand action, we recommend the organization of a permanent Law and Order League which shall at all times concern itself with the abolition of such conditions as may threaten the moral, social and spiritual welfare of the community. To the end that such an organization may be effected, we recommend:

2. That there be elected at this meeting an Executive Committee consisting of one representative from each of the following organizations: The Parent-Teachers Association of the Training School, West Greenville School, Third Street School, High School, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, the American Legion, Woman's Club, Junior Woman's Club, Ministerial Association and the Board of Aldermen; also the Editor of the Daily Reflector; and the Superintendent of Schools; together with such others as this group shall determine, except that the number shall not exceed 15.

The following names of such representatives are as follows:

Training School P.T.A.—John G. Clark; West Greenville P.T.A.—Mrs. H. H. Duncan; Third Street P.T.A.—Mrs. E. W. Harvey; High School P.T.A.—Robert R. Taylor; Rotary Club—Dr. Herbert ReBarker; Kiwanis Club—James Galloway; American Legion—Dr. K. B. Pace; Woman's Club—Mrs. J. H. B. Moore; Junior Woman's Club—Miss Laura

III—Legislation

1. Having noted the confusion resulting from statutes now in force and dealing with the matter of the operation of gambling devices, so that legal opinion as to the intent of such laws is often conflicting, thus allowing opportunity for evasion, we recommend that all persons who have announced themselves as candidates from this County for offices in the State Legislature, shall immediately be asked to put themselves on record as to their respective stands on this question. Further, that if elected, they pledge themselves to use their efforts to have enacted such laws governing the operation of gambling devices of whatever nature that the use of such devices shall unequivocally be declared illegal, the language of such enactment being so worded as to reduce to a minimum the possibility of evasion through conflicting interpretation of the purpose and intent of the law.

2. It is recommended that the community be duly informed concerning the attitudes and actions of such individuals.

IV—Appreciation of Work of Officers.

We hereby express our commendation of those officers and officials who have shown their willingness to rid the community of the gambling devices previously mentioned, and pledge to them our continued support in the proper discharge of their duties.

4. It shall be expressly understood that the Law and Order League shall be in every respect an organization concerned with aiding the duly constituted authorities in the proper discharge of their duties; that the League shall in no sense be understood as a law enforcing organization, except through the formation and consolidation and expression of public sentiment in the interest of law and order.

5. Membership in the Law and Order League shall be open to any citizen willing to give his support and lend his influence to the preservation of law and order.

6. The action of the League shall at all times be openly taken and all discussions openly carried on. That is, that it shall in no sense become a secret organization of any nature or type.

GOOD GOVERNMENT IF WE WANT IT

Our citizens are to be congratulated upon their interest shown in the mass meeting last night and upon their action in forming a Law and Order League for Greenville and Pitt County. If this Law and Order League will follow the three main points set forth by Judge Barnhill in his address to the gathering, there will be no doubt as to accomplishing much good for this community in the way of getting rid of evil influences and having better law enforcement.

Judge Barnhill declared that the three following steps are necessary to protect the welfare of a community:

- 1. See to it that honest men, men who have the courage to do the right thing, are elected to office. 2. Take a vital interest in the laws enacted by the legislature. 3. Back up officers in their duties of carrying out the laws.

If the citizens of this or any other community will follow this plan set forth by Judge Barnhill there need be no fears that crime might get the upper hand in the community.

Our citizens have started something that means a much better city and county if we are willing to continue our fight for good government. Let us hope that there will be no let-up in the present determination to carry on.

INFLATION: The shrewder Democratic politicians are not patting themselves on the back too vigorously over temporary blocking of the Frazier-Lemke farm-refinancing measure. The vote which the inflation bloc rolled up—142—requires only 76 more "ayes" to flash the signal for starting the printing presses. And the bosses know the extraordinary pressure they adopted to hold down the vote. Farm Credit Chief Myer upset tradition by circulating the membership — and unwonted piece of executive interference. Speaker Byrns took the flood in a desperate and theatrical gesture. Seeking to scare the wobbly. Rules Chairman O'Connor bet $40 that the bill was sure to pass. Every ounce of patronage gold was thrown onto the legislative scales.

A re-elected Roosevelt would not exert the pressure that he did this time. Home folks may break vengeance on the 76 anti-inflationists, especially if the Coughlinites and Townsendites carry out an undercover scheme for pooling their forces. That's why experienced legislators predict that next season's stormy struggle will rage around balloon inflation.

CZAR: Washington has just about concluded that Harry Hopkins has cast some sort of a spell on Franklin D. Roosevelt. The President's favoritism for the Boss Reflector furnishes the politicians with

Gypsy Weather

BY MARGARET BELL HOUSTON

SYNOPSIS: When Elmer Fleming killed Rupert Joris, Rupert moved home—and left her for his northern hunting lodge the night Elmer married the other man. Rupert lost himself in the woods, and when he was found he developed pneumonia. Dirk, Rupert's younger brother, has been called home to find that Hope's chauffeur Martin tells a story of having heard a man's voice in her room, and of having seen both the man, and of having seen Hope say that there had been no one.

Chapter 25

GHOST STORY

"I COULDN'T say anything for a minute," Martin continued, "and then I begged her pardon, and told her I had thought it was a burglar. But she wouldn't let me go away. She said, 'Come back. I want you to make sure. Please search the room.'"

"As soon as I went inside I looked at the door that led to Mister Rupert's room to see if anybody could have gone out that way. It was still locked, and that's a big bolt, and hard to push. I went out that way myself, just to see. Then I began to search... everywhere, her standing over by the bed, hugging her kimono around her, and the cold night air coming in the open window."

"I looked under the bed, and in the wardrobe, and in the bath and been to them earlier, wanting one of them to stay in the house. All that sounded jittery. But I heard the noise, Mister Dirk. And that's all there is to say."

"And Mrs. Joris is ill," said Dirk. "Yes, sir. Mary says she's not in bed. Just nervous and upset, what with Mister Rupert being sick, and all this other."

"The servants know about this other?" "They know, because Mrs. Joris told Mary. She asked Mary if Timothy had heard anything that night. He hadn't. Timothy and the maids went out and found tracks around the tower, but I explained they were my tracks... mine and the cop's I called in. I didn't tell them about Logan, of course. I let them think I'd imagined it all, and laugh if they wanted to. They didn't laugh, because Nora told them it was likely the ghost."

"THE ghost?" repeated Dirk, though he remembered the legend. The ghost was supposed to have been laid when the old wing was burned.

"The ghost," explained Martin, "that used to haunt the place. Nora says likely, with the depression and all, it's come back. Timothy said, 'Yes. The general unrest.'"

Martin managed a nervous smile.

The ghost was supposed to have been exorcised.

dressing-room, and behind curtains. The door to the hall was open, and if anybody had gone into Mister Rupert's room they'd have had to pass it to get to the stair. I watched it all the time, and I went out through that room, like I say."

"There was only one other way they could have gone, and that was through the window."

"A drop of thirty feet," commented Dirk.

"I know, sir. And there were no tracks in the snow. It was a fresh snow, had just stopped a few hours before. Any one dropping from the window..."

"Would have been dead on the ground," said Dirk.

"Yes. Or if he'd managed to stymie down the tower the ivy would have been torn, and there would have been tracks. There was nothing. I went around with Logan, with flashes."

"What did Logan say?" "He didn't say anything at first, just told the other fellow to stay in the car, and came with me. There were no tracks anywhere except those I'd made myself. After Logan had looked, he wanted to go up and talk to Mrs. Joris, and when I told him I had already spoken with Mrs. Joris and that she had heard nothing—What she really said was, 'There's no one here'—why he gave me the laugh. Said I must be crazy, hearing a burglar in her room that she hadn't heard herself, and that I couldn't find, and that hadn't left any tracks. I let him laugh. But I hadn't said it was a burglar."

"AND you didn't think it was a burglar?" "Not after Mrs. Joris said, 'There is no one here.' I simply knew I had heard somebody, and that you didn't pay me to think. You paid me to protect Mrs. Joris, and to watch, not to... not to work up suspicion about her."

"You didn't mention your suspicions to him?" "No, I didn't. Anyhow, he decided to think I was crazy. You see I'd Dirk said, "You don't believe in ghosts, Martin?" "The eyes of the two boys met. Martin said, 'I think, sir, it's the only explanation.'"

"Good," said Dirk. "And whatever Logan may say, you did right in every particular, especially in keeping things to yourself."

"Thank you, sir. You don't know how good... how different... that makes me feel."

Dirk looked at his watch. It was six o'clock. Logan would not be at his post till eight.

"Tell Nora to see me in my room," he said to Martin, and went downstairs.

He was thinking of the revolver Nora had mentioned to Martin. Nora, Dirk decided, could at least tell him when she had first seen the pistol.

Nora was beaming when she came, a bony Irishwoman, with big reliable hands, and a blob of red in each cheek.

"Oh, but Mister Dirk, I'm that glad you've come home! Mrs. Joris will rest now, the poor lady..."

"But yes, I know about the revolver. It was me took it to Mister Rupert, in the foorst place. Big it was, with a foine pearl handle, a number forty-five. Mister Rupert said so. Little I liked carrying it in me hand. But I didn't want to have it where Mrs. Joris might come across it, and frighten herself to death. Or so I thought, sir."

"You found it, I gather," said Dirk. "Where?"

"But in the tower-room, sir. Mrs. Joris' room. It was in the wall pocket there... the safe; that is, where your grandfather... God rest his soul... used to keep his nip o' brandy, sir. It was him showed me how to open it once when he was that ill he couldn't walk to it. I very once in a while I open it now, and dust it out, for it's a great place for rats since he died."

The fantastic mystery, tomorrow, takes a new turn.

France. He spent many hours in framing his verbal and written memorandum. He supplemented his own first-hand information with data relayed to the State Department since he left Vienna. He was prepared to give the real lowdown on "orphan Austria."

But on the morning he was to confer with Mr. Roosevelt, Austria blew up. The newspapers described the coup d'etat under which Prince Starbember (a Mussolini supporter) had been forced out of the government by Chancellor Schuschnigg, who leans toward Hitler. The upshot was a complete surprise to Mr. Messersmith, although he has been scussing the Austrian scene for years. It necessitated a last-minute revision of his report. It also convinced the administration that the wisest policy is to "let Europe stew in its own juice."

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN. FORTWRIGHT: Here's the story as New York insiders get it—of the House vote that defeated the Frazier-Lemke bill. Timorous Congressmen were anxious to avoid going on record one way or the other. They wanted the anonymity of a viva voce vote and pressure was brought to bear on House leaders to give them this protection.

But Father Coughlin—chief proponent of the measure outside of Congress—insisted upon a roll call and his emissaries in the House made it clear that they would raise a lot of Cain if they didn't get one. Administration chiefs were uncertain what tactics to pursue and sought White House advice. Promptly the word came back that Mr. Roosevelt also favored a show-down — with every House member compelled to show his colors publicly. That ended all chances for a viva voce vote.

The President indicated plainly that he did not wish his Congressional lieutenants to temporize with Coughlin's followers nor to convey any impression that they were afraid of the radio priest. This forthright attitude is reported to have assured the defeat of the bill by emboldening many waverers to defy the hurler of microphone thunderbolts.

LOCALIZED: It was a serious blow to Coughlin's political prestige. His followers had rallied to the cause with a deluge of wires to Congressmen—the familiar Coughlin technique. Most of these telegrams started with the vigorous phrase "we demand" — just like the placards in a communist parade.

The results showed that the National Union for Social Justice isn't nearly as potent politically as its sponsors had hoped to demonstrate. That will mean a stiffening of Congressional resistance to Coughlin pressure in future.

Outwardly it might appear that the Frazier-Lemke defeat was largely offset by the success of Coughlin candidates in the Ohio primaries. Well posted New York observers minimize the significance of these triumphs. They point out that both major party machines in Ohio are somewhat disrupted by internal squabbles, which greatly simplified the task of Coughlin promoters. The National Union is still very much alive as a political factor — but informed sources predict that its influence will be localized in comparatively few states.

ADVERTISING: When Charles R. Gay became the New York Stock Exchange's "new deal" president last year it was generally expected he would insist upon sweeping changes in the membership of governing committees. When he did not do so most observers figured he probably wanted to familiarize himself with the governing machinery before he indulged in a house-cleaning, but that he would surely make some drastic alterations in his second term.

Now his second term has begun and still nothing happens. The three most important groups in the Exchange management are the Stock List, Law and Business Conduct committees. The personnel of the first two remains exactly the same as last year. In the third, one old member has been dropped and two new ones have been added. So in effect Stock Exchange veterans are still in the saddle all along the line and the much publicized "internal reform" of Wall Street turns out to have been mostly advertising. But nobody appears to be worried about it—not even the Securities Exchange Commission.

MOTIVE: Railroad leaders have never been exactly fond of Senator Burton Wheeler and their opinion of him has currently hit a new low. They vigorously resent his statement that their support for the Pettengill bill to abolish the long-and-shor-haul clause of the interstate-commerce law is "cheap propaganda."

What rail executives think may be unimportant politically, but the same cannot be said of the railway labor unions. The latter have been working for the bill just as hard as the managements in the sincere expectation that its enactment will stimulate railway employment. They didn't care for Mr. Wheeler's cut comment either and they have long memories — which doesn't augur well for the Senator's future political aspirations.

It is impossible to prove what a legislator's motives really are. But Wheeler's stubborn opposition to the Pettengill measure is imputed by New Yorkers who know him well to a private apprehension that the bill really would improve the condition of the railroads enough to postpone indefinitely that government ownership which the Senator so strongly favors.

N. C. Newbold Speaks To College Students

The objectives of the division for cooperation in the education of negroes and race relation and the general co-operative plan that is being carried out by the State Department of Public Instruction, Duke University, and the University of North Carolina, were explained by N. C. Newbold, director of the division, to the students of the college, at their assembly hour yesterday morning.

He emphasized the work that is being done at the two universities in collecting everything written by or about negroes; the opportunities that will be offered to negro ministers for training, offered as a result of a survey study showing their dire need for education; and the courses that will be given to negro doctors.

The personnel of the various committees, advisory boards, and directors of the bi-racial project for the welfare of the negro, was to the students one of the most interesting features of his talk. He gave illuminating illustrations of what is being done and extended the students an invitation to furnish committees for taking part in the co-operative plan. Clifton Crawford, student chairman of the Chapel Committee, in introducing Dr. Newbold, referred to the great work he had been doing for the past quarter of a century, first in the state then reaching out until he has become one of the national authorities on interracial problems. Clifton Crawford is one of the E. C. T. C. student members of the committee, which is headed by Miss Davis, that is assisting in one of the projects sponsored by the co-operative groups in this state.

DOLLFUSS' PLANE SOLD TO CUT OFFICIAL COSTS

Vienna (AP) — The $120,000 airplane that the late Chancellor Dollfuss ordered for the use of government officials has been sold as being too expensive to keep up.

When Vice Chancellor Starbemberg planned a quick trip to Rome he ordered the craft held ready for him, but before he started the subject of expenses came before the cabinet — and it was learned the flight would cost $1,800 because insurance, upkeep and so on for a quarter year would be included.

First Chinese Broadcast on Radio Hankow, China (AP) — Christianity has gone on the air over a government radio station here.

And missionaries recall that it was only nine years ago that the government here was proclaiming "the end of the Chinese teaching" in this country.

Dr. Ralph Mortenson of Minneapolis, Minn., is largely responsible for making it possible for the church to carry its message to China's radio audience for the first time. He made arrangements for bi-weekly broadcasts over the new and powerful Hankow station. The programs are under the auspices of the Hupel Christian Council, composed of representatives of all the Protestant missions in central China.

BIG SURPRISES FOR SOMEBODY

Political Whispers Promise Cleveland Mystery Drama

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Politics is a perplexing business under any circumstances, but seldom does it bring together so many bewildering elements as now are heading for the Republican convention at Cleveland. If half that is being whispered comes true, the party's June show will deserve high rank among the mystery dramas of all time.

This can be said without reflecting in the least on the claims and predictions of any candidate or his managers. Whatever the final outcome, a surprising array of submerged elements exist, and only the convention can clear the situation.

Claims and Counter-Claims.
There is the candidacy of Governor Alf Landon, which he himself never has conceded to be a candidacy at all, but for which great strength is claimed among delegates who publicly are saying nothing.

There are the counter-claims of the managers of Colonel Knox, who predict a sudden emergence of Knox sentiment among these same noncommittal delegates.

There is the case of Senator Borah, whose supporters see him as the spokesman of the masses of Republican voters and whose real intentions with respect to the convention have been a subject of wide-spread and earnest conjecture.

There is the problem of former President Hoover, talked of mysteriously by his friends as having a silent following in many state delegations, ready to carry out his wishes, whatever they may turn out to be.

There is the extraordinarily mystifying string of dark horses, ranging from one or two who have been heard of outside their own states and still others who friends claim no delegates at all.

Few Delegates Instructed.
Finally, there is the encompassing fact that, so far as recorded orders from the voters are concerned, the convention will be free to end the show any way it likes.

Most of the delegates have now been chosen. Not only is the overwhelming majority uninstructed, but a warm dispute is in progress as to what they really are thinking about and intending to do.

In most previous convention years it has been possible for disinterested observers to make up a fairly dependable table showing the relative standing of the contestants. This year the rival managers are making the tables, but they are leaving out many details, and the results are highly contradictory.

Two great blocs of delegates, in particular, are variously claimed, and all sorts of rumors are in circulation as to who, if anybody, controls them, and what will be done with them.

One is an eastern bloc, including such important states as New York and Pennsylvania. The other comprises virtually all of the south. Together, these two groups easily could control the nomination. But can they get together? Is it more than accident that they both go uninstructed, and if so who pulled the strings?

Somebody is Wrong.
Obviously all of the conjectures and all of the predictions cannot be right.

Somebody is riding to a big surprise. Some of the things which now appear large and important in the public eye will fade out inevitably into phantoms.

The mere knowledge that this is true adds to the atmosphere of unreality which begins to envelop the Republican picture as convention time nears. It is like watching a regiment march into a battle from which many are certain never to return alive.

Hoover, Borah, Knox, Landon,

Vandenberg — many names with which the public has lived on intimate terms are sure to be far bigger or far smaller names after the mists have lifted and the myths have been exploded at Cleveland.

time by making the required declaration when registering. It is true, of course, that a precinct registrar may challenge the right of a Republican to register as a Democrat or that any other voter may issue a challenge. But it is conceded most registrars register those who apply without any question or questioning. Accordingly, virtually any Republican who so desires may now register by making the declaration that he is changing his party affiliation and then vote as a Democrat in the primary.

It is agreed that the situation has been somewhat tightened up as a result of the ruling recently issued by Attorney General A. A. F. Sowell, to the effect that no one may be permitted to vote who is not registered as a Democrat, since this ruling will prevent Republicans from attempting to change their party affiliations between the close of registration and the day of the primary. Prior to this ruling it was regarded as legal for any person to go to the polls in a Democratic primary and if not registered, say that he or she had changed his or her party affiliation since the close of registration, and be permitted to vote as a Democrat. But this cannot now be done, Maxwell says.

"In order to vote as a Democrat in the Democratic primary, it is now absolutely necessary to be registered as a Democrat," Maxwell said.

But there is nothing to prevent as many persons as may desire to register as Democrats and vote in the primary and then to change their minds between July and November and vote the Republican ticket in the general election, Maxwell admitted. For the law permits any one to change his or her party affiliation between any election. Likewise, in the general election, a voter may demand both Democratic and Republican tickets and then vote either one, so that the election officials would have no way of knowing which ticket he voted.

ENGLISH TOWN LOOKOUT WATCHES FRENCH FLEET

Winchelsea, England (AP) — Chummy Barden, veteran resident of this old Sussex village, has been selected to the most unusual municipal job in England.

For 22 shillings and six pence a year, or $5.55, he serves as official "looker-out," watching the English channel to sound a warning against "approach" of the French fleet.

The job dates back to the fourteenth century when Winchelsea, then a thriving port, thrice was sacked by French men of war.

Barden has nothing to do, for years ago the sea receded two miles and left the port high and dry.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The stock market today loafed in moderately higher territory.
The listed, however, still paid little heed to favorable business news and the buying that appeared was attributed largely to the floor traders.
Transactions approximately 750,000 shares.

British Rebuild Smallest Harbor
St. Peter Port, Guernsey, Channel Islands (AP)—Sark, one of the smaller channel islands, British possessions off the coast of Brittany, is to have a new harbor costing $225,000. This will enable larger vessels to call at the island, the present port, Le Creux, being the smallest commercial harbor in the world. Only 500 people live on the island and no automobiles are allowed.

Poland Begins To Count Surplus
Warsaw (AP)—Monthly budgets of the Polish government have shown a surplus since March of this year for the first time since November, 1930. Economies introduced by Eugene Kwiatkowski, minister of finance and vice-premier, are credited with reversing the usual monthly deficits.

'Wrong Season'
Berlin (AP)—England will not enter Olympic hockey competitions because, the British say, August is not hockey season.
The International Olympic Committee recently refused to allow the postponement of the hockey battles until the regular season which occurs after the Olympics.
"Nobody plays hockey during July or August in Britain," the Englishmen declare, and so they won't come.
The native team from India is favored to triumph in the sport.

Sam Parks Jr., U. S. open champion, back from his second run around the winter golf courses, is satisfied despite the fact he failed to win many titles. "The average pro," Sam says, "usually makes three trips around the course before he starts breaking into the big money, so that gives me another season."

The sale of gasoline to an intoxicated person in North Carolina is forbidden by law.

BLACK-DROUGHT A Laxative That Thousands Prefer
Black-Draught has helped so many men and women that others, needing a purely vegetable laxative, should have no hesitancy in trying it. Black-Draught relieves constipation in an easy, natural way. "We have found Black-Draught so satisfactory, I do not see any need to change," writes Mr. Ralph Burch, of Black, Ala. "I take Black-Draught for biliousness and constipation which makes me feel sluggish, tired and no account. Black-Draught surely will relieve me."
The proper use of this old, reliable laxative tends to leave the bowels acting regularly.
Be sure to try it! Sold everywhere in 25-cent packages.
