McDonald Boasts Straw Vote Lead During Past Week

Hoey Slips Further, Graham Makes Gains and McRae Drops Slightly in Week's Voting Which Brought in 2,562 New Ballots From All Sections of State; Based on Voting, McDonald Only Small Per Cent Short of Clear Majority

By C. A. PAUL

(Copyright 1936, by Daily Reflector and 24 Cooperating Newspapers)
Ralph W. McDonald increased his commanding lead as 2,562 new votes were counted this week in the state-wide poll on the Democratic governorship being conducted by The Daily Reflector and 24 cooperating newspapers.

McDonald polled 48 per cent of the new votes, while his nearest competitor, Clyde R. Hoey, slipped further, getting but 33.25 per cent of the new votes. Sandy Graham in third place, accelerated his pace, polling 17 per cent of the new votes, while the low man, John A. McRae, slipped slightly, getting 1.75 per cent of the new votes. The actual division of the 2,562 new votes:

"Weighed" Vote By Counties
McDonald	1230
Hoey	852
Graham	435
McRae	45

The new votes brought the grand total cast so far to the imposing figure, 17,752, with the standings of the candidates in actual straw votes and percentages as follows:

Candidate	Votes	Pct.
McDonald	8493	47.84
Hoey	6081	34.26
Graham	2865	16.14
McRae	313	1.76

Based upon the comparative strength in each county, of each of the four candidates and an estimate of the total number of votes to be cast in the first primary McDonald lacks only 7,065 votes of receiving a clear majority and thus winning the nomination without a run-off.

Order of the Finish
As shown in one of the tables accompanying this article McDonald would, if the election should be held now, receive 48.2 per cent of the actual vote. The candidates would finish in the following order and with the following expected number of votes:

McDonald	192,595
Hoey	137,963
Graham	60,704
McRae	8,056
Total	399,318

Attention is particularly called today to the "weighted" vote table from which the figures above are taken. This table shows the present strength in actual votes of each candidate in each of the state's 100 counties.

Here is how "weighting" of straw vote figures is accomplished: The total number of votes expected to be cast in the first primary was arrived at by comparing election statistics for former years and assuming that a normal increase will be recorded this year. The expected vote is almost 400,000—actually, 399,318.

Four years ago in the first primary a total of 379,657 votes was cast for governor, the last race comparable with the present one. Taking the figures of the state board of elections in all cases, the relative voting strength of each county as it was related to the whole was calculated by a staff of competent business machine operators, using calculating machines. Wake county, for instance, in the first primary of 1932 cast 4.33 per cent of the total statewide vote for governor. On that basis Wake county will cast approximately 17,320 votes next June 8. The figure 17,320 was taken and divided among the four candidates, according to their strength, by percentage, in the straw voting. The four results thus predict the number of votes each candidate will get in Wake county in the first primary. The process was carried out, without variation, in each of the 100 counties. The results can be seen in the "weighted" table.

By weighting the newspaper poll figures an accurate picture, obtainable in no other way, is secured. Counties returning heavy percentages of straw ballots do not, in the weighted table, outweigh the counties returning smaller percentages of straw ballots. Weighting of the figures equalizes inconsistencies such as the Gaston and Richmond straw votes. Richmond county has returned 230 straw ballots and Gaston county but 210, although in actual elections Gaston records almost twice as many votes as Richmond. CHARGES ARMY SEEKING LAWS IN REBELLION COMBAT CULT

Rebels Said to Be Endeavoring Remove Nicaragua Head

Managua, Nicaragua, May 28.—(AP)—A rebellion on the Atlantic coast against President Juan B. Sacasa, former minister to Washington, with national army units taking part was disclosed today by a government spokesman.

The spokesman declared that the rebels were endeavoring to place General Anastasio Somoza, head of the U. S. marine-trained national army, at the presidential palace.

The spokesman declared: "It has been known for the past few days that a fictitious popular uprising was being prepared on the Atlantic coast tending to oust the civil authority in that section."

"Today it was learned that this movement was assisted by Major Alberto Baca, the Guardia Nacional (national army) chief in Bluefield."

"They are a part of a plan to overthrow President Sacasa, impede future presidential elections and induce into the presidency the chief of the national army, General Somoza, who is constitutionally unable to be a candidate."

Wife Requests Fish; Hubby Hooks Big One

Dr. F. W. Heslep arose early this morning to go fishing, with an admonition by his wife that unless he caught a fish for dinner, he would have to go to the market and purchase one as her menu for today called for fish.

Dr. Heslep, an ardent follower of the sport of small stream fishing, took to the Tar river and returned in time for work—with a nice, four-pound chub.

"Doc" said his friends had been kidding him about going fishing and never returning with any catch, so he decided it was time to do something to ward off any further jocular ridicule.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

DEAL: Despite his bitterness toward Alf Landon, Herbert Hoover's public pronouncement that he is not a presidential candidate may insure nomination of the Kansas governor on the second ballot at Cleveland.

Numerous minor bosses have held commitments to Mr. Landon because their subordinates and constituents had a sneaking admiration for the ex-President. They were sitting on the fence. But Mr. Hoover's statement has encouraged them to declare for the Kansan. Several minor New York leaders have climbed aboard the Landon bandwagon since Mr. Hoover spoke out and Washington headquarters reports that they had similar accessions from other sections.

The Landonites have grown so cocky that they figure a smart deal for a vice presidential candidate will put their man across as it did FDR in 1932. Though Rep. James W. Wadsworth is an ideal man in other respects, he is tarred by his charter membership of the American Liberty League. The Landon people's 1-2-3 choices are Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Senator Steiwer of Oregon (both potential (Continued on page four)

LEADERS SEEK EARLY VOTE ON RELIEF PLANS

Senate Begins Debate on Deficiency Appropriation Bill

QUICK ACTION IS EXPECTED

Measure Up For Debate Carries $1,425,000,000 for Relief Fund Next Year

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—With leaders pressing for a vote by tomorrow, the Senate today began debate on the deficiency appropriation bill carrying $1,425,000,000 for next year's relief fund.

Nothing apparently stood in the way of a quick action on the long-disputed $2,369,000,000 measure, with the possible exception of a move to add an amendment to authorize new surveys of the Florida ship canal and the Passamaquoddy tide harnessing project in Maine.

Democratic chieftains had not decided whether to offer this proposal as an amendment or press for separate action in view of republican threats that it would bring prolonged debate.

Commencement at Teachers' College Begins Tomorrow

Mrs. Christine Vick Joyner to Arrive Tomorrow to Complete Details For Alumnae Day

Tomorrow night the Commencement begins at the College at eight o'clock with the music recital by piano pupils, the glee club, and the violin ensemble.

The president of the Alumnae Association, Mrs. Christine Vick Joyner, of Rocky Mount, and an advance guard of the alumnae will arrive tomorrow to have details ready for the Alumnae Day.

The business meeting has been called by the president at ten-thirty o'clock in the morning and the luncheon is scheduled for one o'clock. The greetings and responses from representatives of the classes returning for their tenth, twentieth, and first reunion, and the message from President Meadows will be given at the luncheon. Amplifiers will be used so that those in both dining halls can follow the program.

The tea in the late afternoon given by the two-year graduating class is in honor of the parents of the members of the two classes. The alumnae are also invited to this.

The public is invited to all other exercises which will be held in the Robert H. Wright Building, formerly known as the Campus Building. Dr. B. W. Spilman will preach the commencement sermon at 11:07 o'clock on Sunday morning and at the vesper services at 7 o'clock in the evening. Hon. Josephus Daniels will deliver the baccalaureate address at 10:30 Monday morning.

The conferring of degrees and awarding of diplomas to the graduates will follow this. The announcement by President Meadows will bring the twenty-seventh commencement to a close.

ABC Board Tenders Aid To League

The Pitt County Alcoholic Control board, in called session yesterday, unanimously passed a resolution tendering its support and cooperation to the Pitt County Law and Order league, and in return "earnestly requested the league to cooperate with us."

The board discussed numerous problems including applications of several persons for law the job of enforcement officer, but took no final action on any of the matters. The board announced that it was seeking more information in regard to hiring such an officer, but expected to take some definite action along this line at a future date.

PENSION CHIEF ORDERED HELD FOR CONTEMPT

Citations Are Voted Against Townsend and Two Aides

TAKE ACTION ON STANDING BALL'T

Representatives Issue Order That Case Be Turned Over to District Attorney

Washington, May 28.—(AP)—A contempt citation against Dr. F. E. Townsend and two of his old-age pension aides was voted today by the House with instructions that the case be turned over to the United States district attorney for action.

A standing vote on the contempt resolution was 271 to 41.

Those named with Townsend were the Rev. Clinton Winder of New York, and J. B. Kiefer of Chicago. A score or more members supported Representative Monaghan (D-Mont.) in efforts to stop House approval of the resolution, submitted by Chairman Bell (D-Mo.) of the committee investigating old-age pension plans.

Amid considerable confusion before the vote Representative Blanton (D-Tex.) insisted against a contempt citation against the old age pension leader should be tried in the House instead of in a federal court. Leslie C. Garnett, the United States attorney, has said the Townsend case could not reach trial at this time of court and has set November for the hearing.

Mayor M.K. Blount Urges Attendance At Court Hearing

Order Restraining Officers From Confiscating Pin Machines to Be Aired Here Saturday

Mayor M. K. Blount today called upon the citizens Pitt county and especially of Greenville, to have a large representation at the court hearing here Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock of a temporary order restraining local officers from confiscating pin machines.

The city's First Citizen specially urged enrolling them in the Law and Order League to attend the hearing, which was transferred from Snow Hill to this county in order that more local people could attend. Judge J. Paul Frizzelle of Snow Hill will preside over the hearing.

The order was secured by owners of pin machines to restrain officers from taking up the machines after Chief George Clark had warned that all such devices would have to be moved from public places by a specified time of be confiscated. The order was signed by Judge Walter L. Small in Washington and made returnable before Judge Frizzelle in Snow Hill Saturday, May 30. The place was changed, however, after citizens became interested in the hearing and moved to have it heard here.

The Law and Order League was formed through the adoption of a resolution which called for the permanent banishment of all gambling devices from the city. The resolution was passed at a mass meeting here called in protest of operation of the machines in the city.

Quintuplets Plan Observe Birthday With Celebration

Dr. Allan D. Forrester Declares Favored in Best Health Ever as They Observe Second Birthday

Callander, Ont., May 28.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets came to their second birthday anniversary today with only a brief celebration to be held tonight, and that apparently without their parents.

Except for a half hour before the radio tonight (from 5:30 to 6:00 p. m. EST) during which the program directors hoped the five famous girls would coo and tap at the proper moment for an international hookup, there was no deviation from the routine of the Dafoe hospital.

It seemed very doubtful that the parents of the children would attend the celebration.

To Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the question of singing and dancing for a radio audience was an important one as the fact and figures that proved the continued good health of his charges. The physician said the children were healthier than ever today.

Mrs. James Evans Died This Afternoon

Mrs. James (Tobe) Evans, 73, native of this county, died at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon at her home on the Cox Mill road near Greenville. She had been critically ill for several weeks. Funeral services will be conducted at the home at four o'clock Friday afternoon followed by interment in the family burying ground near the home.

The services will be conducted by Elder J. B. Roberts.

Mrs. Evans was a native of this county and before her marriage was Miss Julia Manning. She was a beloved member of the Primitive Baptist Church and enjoyed a large circle of friends. She had been married 55 years.

Survivors include her husband, James (Tobe) Evans, and a number of nieces and nephews.

ABC Store and Banks Be Closed Saturday

The Spring meeting of the Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers College was held here this morning with all but three members present.

Those present were State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin, chairman; W. J. John G. Dawson of Kingston; W. J. Boyd of Ayden; Mrs. C. M. Johnston of Raleigh; A. R. Andrews of Raleigh; H. C. Bridgers of Tarboro; and Mrs. Charles S. Forb's R. R. Taylor, F. C. Harding and E. G. Flanagan of Greenville.

Mr. Bridgers, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Harding and Mr. Flanagan were recently appointed by Governor Ethingham to succeed themselves as members of the board for the next two years.

TROOPS CLASH WITH RIOTERS IN PALESTINE

British Forces Return Fire of Arabs in Palestine

Jerusalem, May 28.—(AP)—British troops returned the fire of rioters at Kubatia, North Palestine, today, killing two and wounding three.

Officers in command of the British forces reported they had suffered 48 casualties in the brick clash. The shooting brought the death list for the day to four. Earlier in the day a British policeman was wounded fatally in the old city of Jerusalem.

The policeman died soon after being removed to a hospital.

Arab newspapers decided to strike Friday, Saturday and Sunday and to send a memorandum to the British administration demanding its withdrawal from the Levant Fair, which started its fifth week today in the Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

An official casualty list numbering 48 dead was issued, but the exact number of victims was likely never to be known because of the Arab custom of carrying off their dead and wounded.

Rioters continued their attempts at sabotage on railway and communication lines, but thus far all charges of dynamite had been discovered before any damage was done.

The movement against marauding bands and snipers coupled with news that a fresh battalion of British troops was en route from Egypt, helped to revive confidence in Jewish quarters.

Convict Is Killed Trying Flee From Caledonia Prison

Penal Division Reports No General Break Attempted and Normal Activities Resumed

Raleigh, May 28.—(AP)—Robert Cook, serving 25 to 30 years in prison for second degree murder, was killed in an escape attempt at Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county last night, the penal division was notified today.

C. M. Wayne, chairman of the Highway and Public Works Commission, said telephone wires from the farm had been severed during or before the escape attempt, but his understanding was that there had been no general break and things were quiet today.

Local Man Procures Ancient Brass Kettle

J. Sam Fleming, local dealer in scrap iron, is the possessor of an old, three-legged brass kettle he procured in Baulfoot county this week. The kettle was thought to have been used in ancient times for cooking in a fire place or in the open. Its diameter measures 12 inches and it has legs four inches long.

The kettle is being displayed in the front window of The Reflector office.

College Trustee In Regular Spring Meet

The Spring meeting of the Board of Trustees of East Carolina Teachers College was held here this morning with all but three members present.

Those present were State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin, chairman; W. J. John G. Dawson of Kingston; W. J. Boyd of Ayden; Mrs. C. M. Johnston of Raleigh; A. R. Andrews of Raleigh; H. C. Bridgers of Tarboro; and Mrs. Charles S. Forb's R. R. Taylor, F. C. Harding and E. G. Flanagan of Greenville.

Mr. Bridgers, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Harding and Mr. Flanagan were recently appointed by Governor Ethingham to succeed themselves as members of the board for the next two years.

Gypsy Weather

BY MARGARET BELL HOUSTON

SYNOPSIS: In an effort to help his sister-in-law, Hope, Dirk Joris has asked her father to come to her from El Paso. He arrives, makes cryptic remarks about Hope's having taken the wrong path, and finally consents to see her. There is a long delay in Hope's life, Dirk Joris, the circumstances of her first meeting with Dirk, her strange traits with someone named Pansy, and a speakeasy in New York all point to it.

Chapter 32 CURIOUS VISIT

DEVINE laid the hat and coat he had picked up on the table again. Dirk went upstairs, where he found Mary in the hall. Mary said that Mrs. Joris was awake.

Dirk assured her that Mrs. Joris must be prepared. "Say to her, 'Your father, the Rev. Devine, is here.' Just that. Then if she wants to see him, he may go in. Tell her that I telegraphed him. Not because she is terribly ill, but because I thought it would do her good to have him here. You see, if it won't do her good, if she doesn't want to see him, there'll be no sense in his going in."

Mary looked so mystified at Dirk's insistence on this tautology (Mrs. Joris wasn't so ill that she needed to be reminded who her father was!) that Dirk added:

"Perhaps I'd better tell her, myself." "Oh, no, sir!" said Mary. "Of course she wouldn't tell Mr. Dirk, but Mrs. Joris had asked that very afternoon that he be kept out of her room."

She repeated the words to Hope a moment later. Hope lay a passive atom in the great bed. The shadows beneath her drooping eyes were blue as bruises. The eyes flew open, dark, incredulous.

"Who?" "Your father, Ma'am. The Rev. Elias Devine." Hope sat up. "Dirk did this," she whispered. "He telegraphed."

"Mister Dirk wired him that you were ill." Hope, sitting up in bed, appeared to be thinking, thinking fast. "I'll see him," she said. "Please say to Mister Dirk that I'll be glad to see 'im. Glad. Do you understand?"

"I do, Ma'am." They seemed very careful about the message they sent each other. "My clothes," said Hope. "Get me my clothes."

She was out of bed, standing white, looking a little dizzy. Mary, who had not anticipated that sudden move, drew her back, pressed the covers about her.

"But Ma'am, your own father! He will come in here. He will come to you." "Alone!" breathed Hope. "He must come in quite alone, and remain in here, alone. No one else. No one. See that Dirk understands that. And that I'm glad, glad to see him. How does he seem? With a little catch of the breath. 'I mean... does he seem kind? Merciful?'"

"I haven't seen him, Ma'am. But I know that everything will be as you would like it. Otherwise, he would not have come. . . . And now . . . don't talk any more. Except to him. I will brush your hair, and we will put on the bed-jacket with the roses, and all the little lace pillows behind you."

There were dozens of these. Hope lay enthroned like a pale queen when Mary stole out to summon the Rev. Devine. Dirk was waiting in the hall.

"How was it?" he asked. "She's glad, sir. Glad to see him. Glad he's come—just as I knew she would be."

Dirk was relieved. Mary added: "She must see him alone, sir. Quite alone."

"Of course." "And he must be kind, sir. He must be forgiving. She's a little . . . nervous about that, sir."

"I've cautioned him," Dirk said. "But I'll speak of it again."

THE REV. DEVINE when cautioned again, repeated that he understood. He came with Dirk upstairs. Mary admitted him to the room, and withdrew.

She said to Dirk in the hall: "I'll fix up the south room, shall I, sir? Mr. Devine may wish to stay the night."

Dirk assented, and Mary prepared the room. She was sleeping in Rupert's room now, occupying a cot that had been placed in the passage between that room and Hope's. The door was closed tonight, but Mary, making ready for bed, could hear faintly the voices of Hope and the visitor. She would not address yet, she decided, because she must show the Rev. Devine to his room. She would do, however, what she could, like washing her face and saying her prayers. . . . Poor 'Mister Rupert. . . there was something sad in using his wash-bowl, and not knowing if he would ever come back to it any more!

Mary, having washed her face, had just sat down in Mister Rupert's leather-covered chair beside the lamp when she became aware that the blur of conversation in the next room had become clear, disturbingly clear.

Hope had said something—Mary could not tell what, because she had not been listening—and now the Rev. Devine was replying. His voice sounded as if he had risen, as if he stood beside the outer door which was not far from this door here.

He said: "I will not be party to any such thing. What wonder that you are ill? Your cure lies only with yourself."

McDonald remains the leader in all the populous counties, except one, Buncombe, where Hoye is the favorite.

McDonald is the leader in 57 counties. Last week he had 38 counties, Hoye 37, Graham four, McRae one. This week Hoye still has 37, Graham two, McRae one. Hoye and Graham are tied for the possession of one, Swain, a county formerly held by Graham. Graham's two counties are Orange, where he lives, and Beaufort. Henderson, in the Graham column last week, has slipped into the Hoye fold. Henderson, it should be noted, is a closely contested county, with Hoye, Graham, and McDonald literally neck and neck.

Tied in Two Counties
McDonald and Hoye are now tied in two counties, Hoke and Montgomery. Last week both were in the McDonald lineup.

The McDonald counties are: Alamance, Alexander, Alleghany, Bertie, Bladen, Brunswick, Camden, Carteret, Caswell, Catawba, Chatham, Columbus, Cumberland, Currituck, Davidson, Duplin, Durham, Edgecombe, Forsyth, Franklin, Gates, Granville, Greene, Guilford, Halifax, Harnett, Hertford, Hyde, Iredell, Johnston, Jones Lee, Lenoir, Martin, Mecklenburg, Moore, Nassau, New Hanover, Northampton, Pamlico, Pender, Person, Pitt, Richmond, Rockingham, Rowan, Sampson, Stokes, Surry, Vance, Wake, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wilkes, Wilson and Yadkin.

The Hoye counties: Ashe, Avery, Buncombe, Burke, Cabarrus, Caldwell, Cherokee, Chowan, Clay, Cleveland, Craven, Dare, Davie, Gaston, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Lincoln, Macon, Madison, McDowell, Mitchell, Onslow, Pasquotank, Perquimans, Polk, Randolph, Robeson, Rutherford, Scotland, Stanly, Transylvania, Tyrrell, Union, Watauga, and Yancey.

The only county in the McRae column continues to be Anson the place of his birth.

RELIEF OFFERS HUGE PROBLEM

To Be Supreme Issue in Pre-Convention Wrangles

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

There is at least a hint of prophecy in the fact that the relief issue plays so prominent a part in the final noisy preludes to the national political conventions.

The new tax bill may be disturbing in some industrial quarters. The farm issue may dominate the campaign in certain states. Various groups of citizens have shown special concern about the constitution.

On the side of the Democrats, no other issue has produced such outspoken disagreement in the party ranks in congress. No other has resulted in such open public dispute among officials of the administration.

Among the Republicans, too, there are differences of view which it may be difficult to overcome completely. Some of the most influential, however, are talking of launching the Republican campaign on the keynote of a radically-revised relief program, letting all other issues take secondary place for the moment.

Relief is something every voter knows about. That is the kind of issue which inevitably pushes itself to the top.

Recently a visitor to a coal-mining section brought back word to Washington that the miners and their families were not talking about the Guffey act, nor about wages and hours or homestead projects, but about relief.

What about all of these charges of politics in the relief set-up, they asked, and would some other method of handling the problem be better?

If anyone doubts that relief has

BIG DIVIDEND DOG BUSINESS

Fewer Escapes at Prison Since Bloodhounds Bought

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, May 26.—The dog business is paying big dividends to the prison division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission in the form of greatly decreased escapes, according to Acting Director Oscar Pitts. For ever since the prison division has been increasing the number of bloodhounds under its control and supplied more prisoners with these dogs, the fewer have been the escapes.

Wayne said, pointing out that the prisoners have learned that while they may fool a guard now and then and manage to slip off unseen, that they cannot fool the sensitive noses of these dogs.

At least 20 well trained bloodhounds are now located at various camps over the state. Eight of these, including Joe and Dan, are the property of Superintendent W. R. Brooks of the Wilson camp. Joe and Dan are regarded as two of the best bloodhounds in the state while Supt. Brooks is regarded as one of the best trainers and handlers of bloodhounds in the south. He has reared and trained many of the dogs now located at the other camps.

Two bloodhounds are kept at the Harnett county camp, near Lillington, while two are also kept at the Scotland county camp near Lurlineburg, two at the Iredell county camp near Statesville, two at the McDowell county camp at Marion, two at the Cherokee county camp at Andrews and two at the Alexander county camp at Taylorville.

"By having these bloodhounds distributed as we now have them, we can get a pair to almost any point in the state where an escape may occur within two hours or so, while the trail is still fresh," Pitts said. "The prisoners know this, with the result that we are having fewer escapes than ever before. Not that the bloodhounds are the only factors in reducing escapes, since we are convinced that the biggest factor is the better morale throughout the prison system and the better guarding on the part of our guards. But the fact that we have 20 bloodhounds scattered over the state does serve as a definite deterrent."

In The Daily Reflector next Thursday the final tabulation, showing zero-hour standings of the four candidates, will appear. Will sentiment shift sharply during the week? Will one of the candidates secure a majority, thus eliminating a second primary on the gubernatorial race? The Daily Reflector will have the answer—next Thursday.

LAYING PLANS FOR HATCHERY

Operations Expected to Get Underway This Season

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, May 28.—Operation of the huge warm water fish hatchery being constructed as a feature of the Sandhill's Reclamation area in Richmond and adjoining counties, is expected to get underway to a limited degree during the current season, J. D. Chalk, State game and inland fisheries commissioner, said today.

The first two ponds have been filled with water and that some brood stock has been released in these bodies of water. Five additional ponds are nearing completion.

The State Commissioner, who is cooperating with federal officials in the development of the fish hatchery on behalf of the Department of Conservation and Development, said he has been informed by the Bureau of Fisheries that a fish culturist has been assigned to the new hatchery and is expected to begin his new duties shortly. A residence for the superintendent is under construction.

Part of the original stock for some of the ponds at the new federal hatchery are being furnished from the state fish hatchery near Fayetteville. Officials of the Bureau of Fisheries have informed the State game commissioner that they are eager to obtain an output of fish from the new hatchery this year.

According to information received by Mr. Chalk, the new Sandhill's hatchery near Hoffman is designed to be the largest hatchery for warm water fish in the southeastern part of the country. It is expected to produce chiefly largemouth black bass and bream, suited for stocking purposes in the Piedmont and eastern parts of this and adjoining states.

McDONALD BOOSTS STRAW VOTE LEAD DURING PAST WEEK

However, while inconsistencies may result in an advantage in actual straw votes for a particular candidate in a particular county, they result in an exactly opposite fashion in others, so that, as a whole, the actual straw vote totals are almost as accurate as the weighted totals. A comparison of actual votes above the line, per-the statewide percentages, both actual straw vote and weighted, reveal the accuracy of the poll:

	Hoye	Gr'm	McD'ld	M:Rae
Poll Pts	3426	1614	4784	176
Wtded Pts	34615	482	2

A comparison of the east-west vote reveals that during the last two weeks McDonald has slipped slightly in the east but more than counteracted the loss by gains in the west. Graham alone has gained in the east, but has not fared well in the west. Hoye retains his east strength, but has lost a little in the west. The comparison, with weighted totals, above the line, per-

West Greenville Annual Report.

The Parent-Teacher Association of West Greenville School held their initial meeting for this term on Wednesday, Sept. 25th. This was strictly a business meeting for the purpose of drawing up plans for our year's work. Since then our organization has met once each month with the exception of February when the weather was not permissible. Our meetings have been inspirational and interesting and we have been fortunate in having the opportunity to hear discussed at some of these meetings such subjects as "The Necessity of Parents Reading Literature Pertaining to the Lives of Their Children," by Rev. W. A. Ryan; "Building Character Through the Play Life," by Rev. J. A. McIver; "Being Alive to the Beauty Around Us," by Vester Mulholland; and "Home-Making," by Miss Jessie Schmopp.

From time to time our meetings have been made more interesting by friends and former students who have so kindly furnished vocal and instrumental music. At other times, entertainment was furnished by our own student body. As is the yearly custom, the pupils of the primary grades under the supervision of Misses Agnes Fullilove, Alma Lee, Jane Hadley and Mrs. Vance Perkins presented to friends and patrons a Christmas program entitled "Christmas in Other Lands." On the first Friday evening in May, the pupils of the grammar grades presented their program on "American Songs." This program was presented under the direction of Misses Laura Foley, Lillian Purvis and Evelyn Hart, accompanied by Miss Ona Shindler.

Although our chief objective for this term was playground equipment, which we have partially realized, we have also improved our library by adding a set of encyclopedias for the primary students. We have also donated to the Red Cross, local welfare and welfare in our room school vicinity.

At the beginning of this term our treasury contained a balance from last year of $15.85. Our first step to increase this amount was conducting a booth at the County Fair, which proved quite successful. We have also raised funds by selling garden seeds, sponsoring a magician show and through free-will offerings.

Although we feel that we have slowly but surely accomplished some of the fundamentals that are necessary in the making of a good school, there is yet another great necessity. At our March meeting a committee was named to draw up and present a petition to the Board of Aldermen asking for additional playground for West End. Although this has not as yet been definitely realized, we are confident that our park and playground committee, as well as our interested citizens, will use their influence, and when the opening of another school term rolls around, our new and larger playground will be in waiting, thereby supplying a much needed demand in the school lives of West End children.—Reported.

Joyner, Edna Moore, Frances Spilman, Marjorie Sugg, Carolyn Hamric and Harvey Deal. The public is invited.

Students Installed In College Fraternity

The ceremony for the installation of eleven men students in the College into the national Phi Sigma Pi fraternity will be held tonight, These men will form the charter membership of the Tau chapter of the organization.

The president of the national fraternity, Dr. S. S. Shearer, of the State Teachers College of Shippensburg, Pennsylvania, will arrive this afternoon and have charge of the ceremony. He expects to bring with him ten other members to assist him in bringing in the new chapter into the brotherhood.

Dr. Beecher Flanagan, a member of the Epsilon chapter, at Peabody College, is the faculty sponsor. Professor E. C. Hollar, a member of the parent chapter at Warrensburg, Missouri, will be the other adviser of the Tau chapter.

The Phi Sigma Pi is a professional fraternity in Teachers Colleges that must be met by those admitted to membership. Campus leadership is also taken into consideration.

Only teachers colleges of Class A standard are allowed to form chapters. Nothing could speak better for the record the men students are making at E. C. T. C. than the fact that they have a group of students who have passed the tests and are admitted into this fraternity.

Barber Behind Bars

Dallas (AP)—Barber R. E. Barber, for barbering under a borrowed barber's license has been incarcerated in the county's bastille. Barber's father, also a barber, died in 1934 and young Barber began barbering on his father's license. Barber inspectors barred the deception and bore the younger Barber to the bar of justice where he pleaded guilty.

Unable to pay a fine of $25 and costs, the borrowing barber bargained to serve out the time at three bolivars a day.

Garbage Men Speed Up

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Superintendent Harry J. 'REPENTANCE' ROAD PROGRAM IS NECESSARY TO BE DIVIDED

Dr. Ham Declares Repentance is Required to Be Saved

"The New Testament bulks large in the doctrine of repentance" said Dr. John W. Ham, as he began his sermon on 'New Testament Repentance' based on the words of the Lord Jesus, "I tell you, Nay; but except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish." (Luke 13:3).

Jesus was approached on one occasion with the question as to the guilt of Pilate who had mingled the blood of Galilean peasants with the sacrifices. Immediately he turned their thoughts from those who were supposed to be sinners above others, to themselves. He called them to repent or perish. Jesus dealt with sin as a universal fact of experience. His interrogators were disposed to interpret sin in the light of extreme brutality or accident. Jesus shifted their thought to a universal manly, and declared repentance to be the first step towards salvation.

Before considering the elements of repentance, it is necessary to consider the one thing that makes it a necessity. One short, ugly word comprises the whole story. In it is the very hiss of the serpent as it is pronounced, namely: "S-I-N!" It is the greatest separating force in the universe. It is the most destructive force known to man. Sin separates families, and it separates one from society. Every day experience affirms this fact.

The New Testament opens with the call of the forerunner of the Lord Jesus, John the Baptist, to all men to Repent. Up and down the Judean wilderness he cried out this message, "Repent!" Paul minced no words about the fact of sin. Read the first three chapters of his letter to the Romans, and note his inclusion of all men within the grip of the dread fact of Sin. Immoral, moral, Jew and Gentile, all are brought within the confines of the condemning indictment.

When one experiences true repentance there must be the following: The sinner will never make progress in spiritual experience unless it is preceded by a sense of sinfulness and a need of salvation. Second, sorrow must be exhibited. The prodigal, upon meeting his father, fell down, simultaneously with that act, involving humility and sorrow, came the confession of his sense of unworthiness and sorrow over his misdoings. Third, prayer is another mark of repentance. The sinner is encouraged to pray concerning the need of his soul. Fourth, confession in an important element in this act of repentance. This confession is in reality self-judgment. The penitent one takes sides with God against the Sin in his life, and judges it, determining to abandon it in view of having recognized the claims of God upon the life.

Having repented forgiveness thrills the souls of the sinners who take this most important step in the way of life. Joy predominates in the very courts of heaven over one repentant sinner.

Continued, earnest prayer is being made for rain, which we so much need. All believers in prayer are invited to join with us in this petition to God to relieve the present drought.

Friday evening will mark the closing service of this week. Rev. L. R. Ennis, who is leading the music, will present the Farmville Baptist church choir in special music at this service. We cordially invite our friends to enjoy this musical treat as a portion of this service.

This morning hour Dr. Ham discussed the "Signs of the Times" as related to the closing years of this age of grace in which we live. The message was of intense interest to all who heard it.

Improvement Work Outlined for State Highway System

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, May 28.—The highway improvement work now in progress in the state, on which some $5,000,000 will be spent from April 1 to July 1, is divided into three divisions as follows: (1) Improvement of county roads (2) Reconditioning of surface treated roads and (3) Resurfacing or new surfacing of surface treated roads, according to W. Vance Baise, chief highway engineer.

Before either an old or new road can be surface treated, it must be properly reconditioned, since it would be a complete waste of money to try to pour down a new surface on an old road without properly reconditioning the base," Baise said. "So we have divided the work up in order that those roads which are to be resurfaced can be properly prepared for the new surfacing. At the present time, we have reconditioning outfits at work on some 25 different projects in 17 counties in Division C. These outfits are now preparing roads for resurfacing in Wake, Franklin, Vance, Warren, Durham, Orange, Granville, Person, Alamance, Chatham, Randolph, Rockingham, Caswell, Guilford, Davidson, Stokes and Forsyth counties. When these roads have been properly prepared the surface treatment gangs will then follow up the present gang and put down the surface treatment."

The surface treatment gangs are now working in nine counties, as follows: Durham, Orange, Chatham, Randolph, Rockingham, Caswell, Guilford, Davidson and Forsyth. Most of this is reconditioning work.

though some of it is new surfacing. Betterment work is also proceeding rapidly on the county roads in 17 counties in this division. This work consists largely in grading and shaping the roads with tractors and road machines, in putting down sand clay or topsoil surfacing and in cleaning ditches, providing additional and better drainage, with new culverts and drain pipe. Much of this work is being done with prison labor, especially the ditching and drainage work. Much field stone is also being crushed and piled up for use on the county roads, especially in Warren, Durham, Granville and Orange counties. In Vance county, the reconditioning of the Dabney road has been started.

FLESH-EATING WATER PLANT SOUGHT IN AUSTRALIAN FEN

Sydney, Australia (AP)—In quest of a rare water plant feeding on insects, Prof. F. E. Lloyd of McGill University, Montreal, expects to spend at least a year in Queensland swamps.

The plant—utriculata tubulata—a botanist—is among the rarest of the 475 plants known to feed on flesh. It feeds on minute insects which it entraps in its waving tendrils. Since its discovery in 1875, no other specimen has been found in any other part of the world.

OUR OWN SKIRTS SHOULD BE CLEAN

The slot machine question will be aired here again Saturday morning when Judge J. Paul Frizzelle hears the restraining order that was recently issued by Judge Small preventing local officers from molesting the operation of the machines. Everyone knows that this paper opposes the slot machines and in this column we have from time to time urged that they be removed from our city and county. We still maintain that position, but one thing has come to our attention today that makes the position of the present city administration look just a little off color to us, in view of their recent action against the machines.

On Monday morning, May 11, an order was issued by Chief of Police George Clark that all machines be removed from operation by six P. M., of the following afternoon, which order, of course suited us because we wanted to see the machines go. But in fairness to those concerned, what we would like to know is why the city tax department accepted payment Friday afternoon, May 8, of $70 to cover licenses on 14 of the machines to be operated in Greenville when within less than 48 hours after the licenses were issued the order went out to prohibit operation of all such machines here.

According to the information, the city tax collector on Friday solicited payment for the licenses for operating the machines, accepted the money with the statement that the licenses would be mailed by his department the next day. The licenses were mailed apparently Saturday afternoon and were received by the owner of the machines in Monday morning's mail, at the same time that the chief of police was issuing orders to the business houses where the machines were being operated to cease operation of the machines.

Of course we know that the law provides that whenever the license had been paid on a machine and the operation is later prohibited the payee cannot recover his money, but it does place the city administration in a bad light when it issues 14 licenses for the operation of the machines and within less than 48 hours issues an order prohibiting the operation of the machines.

We reiterate that we are opposed to the slot machines but we likewise believe in fair play in everything, and this situation has the appearance of the city's having gone out and solicited its license fees in order to get money and as soon as the money is in hand it turns around and prohibits the operation of the machines knowing that the payee has no comeback to recover his money.

If the city believed the machines to be illegal to the extent that the chief of police could issue an order to bar their operation here, certainly the city should not have issued the licenses. It will be hard to make a lot of people believe that the city acted in good faith in opposite directions within a period of 48 hours.

If we expect to make a good job of cleaning up our city and county we must certainly first see to it that we keep our own skirts clean by refraining from doing those things that might have even a semblance of dishonesty in them.

rivals) and ex-Governor Alvin T. Fuller of Massachusetts.

RATINGS: G-Man J. Edgar Hoover will soon discover that he bit off more than he can chew when he assailed Jim Farley's postal inspectors for not cooperating in catching a gangster.

On June 1 the Postmaster General is expected to issue an order providing that Dept. of Justice agents can obtain helpful information only from postal inspectors. In the past local postmasters and local policemen have turned in most of the tips on thugs that showered favorable headlines on the G-men. But hereafter J. Edgar's boys must go through "channels" so as to avoid clashes and misunderstandings.

Nobody knows whether it was accident or co-incidence, but Mr. Hoover's sideswipe at the extremely efficient but non-spectacular post office detectives came only a few weeks after Mr. Farley declared at an employees' dinner that "The best government detectives are the postal inspectors, and the Treasury agents come next. Together with many folks at Washington, he ranked the G-men at the foot of the sleuthing class.

MUST: Wags on Capitol Hill refer to the $384,000,000 flood control bill as a "vote control measure". It would have been buried deeper than Hartford, Binghamton and Springfield were by the raging waters if this were not reelection year. Mr. Roosevelt originally favored development of a long-time program along the lines of TVA, and wanted immediate legislation restricted to emergency patchwork. But flood sufferers from New England to Ohio bombarded the White House with messages—one day they totaled 25,000. All demanded enactment of the measure hurriedly whipped into shape on the crest of the floods.

Smart politicians pointed out that 200 electoral votes were involved in the area clamoring for prompt safeguards against flood damage, including the pivotal commonwealths of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. Failure to rush through a comprehensive measure, it was felt in political circles, would hand the G. O. P. a ready-made issue. That's why the bill is an untried and unadvertised "must" proposition.

CONFUSING: An editorial in the Kansas City Star entitled "Peek versus Hughes" has stimulated the politicians' curiosity on the position of the Presidential Nominee Alf Landon will take with respect to that hoary issue—the high tariff.

The G. O. P. is badly split by Secretary Hull's reciprocal agreements for a mutual lowering of tariff walls. Messrs. Stimson, Mills and Tariff Commission Chairman O'Brien have endorsed them highly. Messrs. Hoover, Dickinson, Lowden and lesser lights have condemned them roundly as swamping agriculture with foreign imports of competing products. Question: Where will the G. O. P.—and Candidate Landon—stand in the November campaign?

Now the Star is Mr. Landon's chief journalistic promoter. Managing Editor Roy Roberts, a former Washington correspondent, is supposed to be the Governor's opinion brain trust. And in the aforementioned editorial the Star eulogized Mr. Hull's reciprocal tariff agreements, criticized Mr. Peek's home-market attitude and recalled that Charles Evans Hughes, as Secretary of State, was a Hull pioneer with respect to most favored nation clauses. But it's all very very confusing to a dyed-in-the-wool (Schedule K) Republican.

DANGER: While preparing for a recent group picture, photographers stationed at the White House engaged in banter with the President. A cameraman gave Mr. Roosevelt his heartiest laugh of the week with the following anecdote:

A certain Democratic Congressman, learning that he would face an opponent in the primary, rushed home to distribute cigars, pat babies' heads and talk crops with the fathers. The disrespected member first encountered an old friend. "How're the crops?" asked the statesman, and discovered that they were "fine", too. Hearing that an increase in his family had brought the number of children to seventeen, the Congressman beamed and said: "A1 good Democrats, I hope!"

A worried expression swept over the farmer's face. "No," he replied slowly and solemnly, as befitted the heretical occasion. "I'm not so sure of little Homer. He's learning to read!"

NEW YORK

By James McMullin
G. O. P.: New York Republican backstagers privately figure that Landon's chances for the nomination now depend primarily on Borah's strength or weakness as revealed at Cleveland. Leaders of the uncommitted big state delegations—notably New York—are still not enthusiastic about the Kansan. But they are on the point of conceding that they might as well be ready to swing to him. The "stop Landon" movement is evaporating rapidly.

Borah is the one rock who refuses to crumble before the advancing Landon tide. Insiders understand that he has lately repulsed fresh overtures from the governor's back for a rapprochement. Party chiefs are anxiously trying to appraise the extent of his influence in the farm belt and the prospect of his bolting if Landon is named.

If they become convinced that the Idaho lone wolf is strong enough to mean the difference between the G. O. P. victory and defeat they will probably find some way to checkmate Landon even at this late date. If not, the Kansan is as good as in.

MONETARY: The "big five" farm organizations have formed a special committee to bring pressure on both major parties to incorporate monetary planks in their platforms which will reflect the sentiments of organized agriculture.

The farm groups really want platform declarations in favor of a managed currency, but privately realize that neither party can afford to go that far. So although they will start their negotiations on this basis, they are prepared to be satisfied with milder planks simply calling for a flexible monetary policy which will leave the door open for future adjustments. They will even count it an achievement if they can prevent any platform references to a fixed gold standard. They do have high hopes of at least that much success with both Republicans and Democrats. They are confident they can demonstrate the power of the farm vote and the importance to farmers of the monetary issue. And they feel that neither party can afford to let the other get ahead of it in playing up to agriculture.

BENEFIT: Charles W. Kellogg, soon to become president of the Edison Electric Institute, will be quite a contrast to his predecessor Tom Carter.

McCarter is hard-boiled. Kellogg is easy to get along with. McCarter is bluntly outspoken. Kellogg is a diplomat. McCarter relishes battles. Kellogg prefers to avoid them when possible. The Institute's history is likely to be more pacific under its new chief.

Mr. Kellogg is associated with the Engineers' Public Service, which heads up to Stone & Webster, is an engineering firm and an investment house in addition to being a utility holding company. It therefore performs services for other utility groups which they cannot perform as well for themselves and Mr. Kellogg's new job will enable him to cultivate contacts thru out the industry of the mutual benefit of other companies and his own.

CAUTION: Informed New Yorkers are taking a lot of interest in real estate these days. A group of financial leaders formed a corporation some months ago for the purpose of buying property. They hired an expert on the subject from one of the banks to take full charge of their venture and he has been busy picking up bargains ever since.

But well posted sources warn against undue enthusiasm for real estate as a hedge against inflation. The cite the case of a wealthy Frenchman who foresaw the inflation of 1924 and invested all his funds in property before the storm broke. It was a swell idea in principle. But in practice the government jacked up taxes tremendously to compensate for its devaluation of the franc and on top of that enacted laws limiting rents. So the foresighted gentleman wound up in bankruptcy.

Of course this was an extreme case and there is nothing in the outlook to indicate that it must be paralleled here. But just the same its rated smart to be discriminating.

DEBATE: A lot of talk is going the rounds about Congressman Jim Wadsworth for governor of New York since Herbert Lehman announced his retirement. Wadsworth's friends are spreading the gospel that a candidate of his established national reputation is needed to clinch the Republican victory that is now in sight. But G. O. P. insiders laugh this off.

They point out that Wadsworth is in vogue with a lot of his former supporters because of the way he left them flat two years ago. Also his son—Assemblyman Jerry Wadsworth—didn't do the family prestige much good when he ittacked Governor Lehman's social security bill so ineptly a couple of weeks ago.

And on top of these adverse factors, a great many women voters still remember Mr. Wadsworth's vigorous opposition to the suffrage amendment when he was a U. S. Senator. So the Wadsworth boom can be largely discounted.

HOSTILITY: New Yorkers close to the Republican picture in Washington report that Borah is distinctly less friendly than he was to the idea of Vandenberg as the G. O. P. presidential nominee. The reason for this coolness—according to well posted sources—is because Vandenberg hasn't shown as much interest in stopping Landon as Borah thinks he should have. Insiders interpret this development as indicating the depth of Borah's hostility to the Kansan.

CHAMPION OF EDUCATION

"... Maybe Dr. McDonald is "a psychological agitator" for education, whatever that phrase of Mr. Bryant's may mean. If he is, then what this State needs is more such "psychological agitators." There was a time when the State had such agitators. Their names were Ayeock and Melver, and Alderman and Joyner. They went up and down the State agitating against ignorance and for education. But today the "agitators" are too few. They have been so few and so weak that men who were in no sense agitators for education were able to pile the burdens of the depression upon the backs of the school teachers and the school children of the State. ... Those who are interested in an educated State may take heart that there are an "agitator" for education, "psychological" or anything else, with the courage and wisdom to stand on the floor of the House and demand that the State go forward in its provision for schools and the education of its children. ..."

Wolf To Show Tar Heels Many New Grid 'Tricks'

By WILLIAM BORING
Chapel Hill, N. C., May 25.—(AP)—University of North Carolina footballers are looking forward to hearing Raymond (Bear) Wolf's "sachet of jokes" and studying his bag of football tricks.

Carl Snavey's successor is famed for both.

The 205-pound Wolf gained a reputation as one of the nation's outstanding line coaches at Texas Christian University. At the same time he came to be known as perhaps the country's most prolific joke-telling grid mentor.

His ready wit is so recognized that Wolf finds it almost impossible to fill after-dinner speaking engagements.

His coming will lift the veil of gloom that Snavey liked to keep intact. Like "Gloomy Gil" Dobie, whom he succeeded at Cornell, Snavey is a confirmed pessimist.

Wolf probably is most famous as a handler of football material. He likes to get right down with the those who embrace the political philosophy of the New Deal.

But all the time the fire has been burning. It would be very strange if the heat of it did not reach the Philadelphia convention.

Some Roosevelt men would like to see the party propose directly a constitutional amendment broadening the powers of the federal government over such matters as wages, hours of labor, prices, and agricultural production.

Others suggest that unanimous action should be required to invalidate a law by a Supreme Court decision. Some would be content if the party merely reaffirmed its faith in the validity of the measures which the highest court has overthrown, and then threw in a few pungent references to current judicial practices and tendencies. Of course it still is possible that these divergent views may be compromised in private, and little heard of them on the floor of the convention.

Few politicians believe a constitutional amendment will be embodied in the platform, but few are able to see how the convention can remain entirely silent on the subject.

"My New Dodge Has Plenty On The Ball"

Says CARL HUBBELL, Famous New York Giants Pitcher

I have owned several makes of cars, but my new 1936 Dodge has plenty on the ball when it comes to saving gas and oil.

I'm getting 20 miles to the gallon of gas—which is 4 more miles per gallon than I used to get with my old, smaller car.

In addition, it's easy to see why this new Dodge is called the "Beauty Winner" of 1936. I have never had a car that has given me such complete all-around satisfaction.

COURTS OFFER NEW WORRIES

New Judicial Deal May Be Taken Up at Convention

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Most of its proceedings already have been prearranged, but the Democratic national convention may find one question still wide open: How far should the party platform go in criticism of the courts, and in asking for a new judicial deal?

Under-the-surface discussion of that subject has developed a wide range of opinion without pointing the way to a solution. It seems certain that many conflicting viewpoints will be presented to the platform-builders.

No one professes to know just what course will be favored by Mr. Roosevelt, in whose hands control of the convention is expected to rest.

In one respect, at least, the Supreme Court's invalidation of the Guffey coal control act strikes deeper into New Deal philosophy than did the NRA decision.

The court now has held that neither the interstate commerce clause of the constitution nor the taxing power may be used to do what the administration wants to do about wages and hours.

What is left? Is it possible to find some other means which the courts will accept? Some administration attorneys think so, but no one has suggested exactly what it is.

A year has elapsed since the President suggested that the NRA decision, in all of its implications, meant a turning back to the horse and buggy days.

Several months have passed since Secretary Wallace referred to one feature of the AAA decision as constituting a "legalized steal."

During the interim most administration leaders have been saying little but thinking much. Only sporadic public criticisms of the courts have disclosed how deep was the feeling of disappointment among

SEEKING LAWS COMBAT CULT

(Continued from page one) riders in more than a dozen states justified intervention by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. In Detroit, the Wayne County Circuit Bench planned to decide today whether to order the grand jury investigation asked by Michigan's attorney general David H. Crowley, of violent deaths, fogging and firing of buildings in the metropolitan area. In Cleveland police reopened their investigation of two unsolved deaths after an anonymous telephone caller had blamed the Black Legion. In Columbus, Ohio, records of a legislative investigation a year ago disclosed an allegation that the night riders were responsible for threats to kidnap Governor Martin L. Davey's daughter, Evangeline, among other acts of intimidation and violence.

FULL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR HIGH SCHOOL FINALS

(Continued from page one) College. At this time Dr. M. R. Trabue, Director of the Division of Education at the University of Carolina, Chapel Hill, will deliver the address. Special music for all the occasions will be furnished by the high school Glee Clubs and the high school band.

The graduating class this year is not as large as that of last year. Last year there were ninety graduates. This year there will be approximately seventy-five. This reduction in number of graduates was brought about by reason of the fact that some of the students are changing their school program from the eleven year plan to the twelve year plan.

The Senior play, "So We'll Just Pretend," will be given on Monday night instead of Friday night, as the custom has been heretofore. Dr. Trabue, from the University, who will deliver the address, is nationally known. He is a member of the American Council of Education and spends about half of his time in Washington City, working with the American Council. At this time he is also directing studies of Education in several different centers throughout America, with approximately a thousand men and women working under him. He has very definite ideas on some of the things the schools are now failing to do, which they should do.

Duke Power Compa'y 1935 Income Higher

Raleigh, May 28.—(AP)—The Duke Power Company reported to the Utilities Commission today its net income in 1935 was $4,254,233 on North and South Carolina operations compared with $3,376,903 in 1934. Gross revenue in 1935 was $26,360,765, as compared with $28,984,817 in 1934. Rate reductions caused the drop in gross revenue and reductions in operating expenses largely accounted for the bigger profits, the report showed.

Requisition Papers Are Sent to Florida

Raleigh, May 28.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus today sent requisition papers to the Governor of Florida asking that Marvin Teachey, reported under arrest in Miami, be allowed to be returned to Wayne county to face charges of assault with a deadly weapon on his wife and also a charge of abandonment and non-support.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER Washington—Trade followers see in the new tariff against Japanese cotton goods a means of delivering to New England millers a cargo of business they complained they had lost through the reciprocal treaty with France.

The curb on Japan and the agreement with France, however, was not exactly a case of robbing Peter to pay Paul. The Japanese cloth against which the tariff was directed consisted mainly of "shirts" and similar articles. New England millers producing such cotton goods expressed jubilation at the tariff.

It was the lace makers who complained about the French treaty. They protested it lowered sharply the tariff on types of lace which American mills had supplied for 25 years.

Departmental officials who noted that Japan is the largest foreign purchaser of American raw cotton watched closely for any "kick back" that might disturb sothern cotton growers.

Critical political minds sought to interpret the new tariff proclamation as an effort to mollify New England millers who have protested the Administration's cotton price boosting. Southern states, they argued, are rather solidly Democratic anyway.

The United States also had a "gentleman's agreement" with Japan about cotton shipments to the Philippines, but there the situation may not be so readily dealt with. Technically this country does not control the Philippines any more.

NEW BEAUTY FOR MODERN LIVING

America's SMARTEST CHROME FURNITURE

See our new display of "Posture Line" chrome furniture!

The "Posture Line" is just as comfortable as it is smart. Through natural posture design, it gives complete relaxation. Harsh angles are eliminated. Severe lines are changed to soft modulations. It has a classic simplicity and grace seldom found in chrome furniture.

Textures range from tapestry to leather. Smart new materials are styled individually for sun room, living room, lounge, den, and game room. Striking colors are delicately blended to harmonize with any color scheme. Sturdy steel frames are made permanently beautiful with fine chromium plating.

"Posture Line" designers have composed line, color, texture and finish into a perfect symphony. See this modern furniture today—relax in it—and realize how smart and restful it can make your home.

Illustrated Above:

- "Posture-Line" Sofa. Modern as tomorrow—yet its graceful lines permit it to fit smoothly with conventional furniture.
- "Posture-Line" Settee. Newest version of the two-passenger love seat. Smart.
- "Posture-Line" Chair. Makes an attractive group with either or both of the other two pieces—or stunning by itself.
