McDONALD TO LEAD OPPONENTS IN FIRST PRIMARY

Hoey To Beat Out A. H. Graham For Second Position

Final Tabulation of Straw Poll Conducted by Daily Reflector and Cooperating Afternoon Papers Reveals that Second Primary to Be Run Off by McDonald and Hoey

By C. A. PAUL (Copyright, 1936, by The Daily Reflector and 24 Cooperating Newspapers) Ralph W. McDonald and Clyde R. Hoey will spend their Independence Day holiday fishing for votes in a run-off primary for the Democratic governorship nomination.

A. H. (Sandy) Graham and John A. McRae can spend their just fishing.

These are facts clearly indicated by the poll concluded by The Daily Reflector and 24 cooperating newspapers. After taking all factors into consideration and allowing for reasonable deviations from the straw vote figures, McDonald should lead Hoey in Saturday's primary by a minimum of 35,000 votes, with a strong probability that his lead will be greater.

With approximately 20,000 votes tabulated in the final checkup, the division, by percentages, is: McDonald 47.8 Hoey 34.3 Graham 16.1 McRae 1.8

A revision of the total vote estimate in the first primary has been made because of the heavy new registration and because of the heat of the campaign, so that the total estimated vote now stands at 440,261. As shown in the "weighted vote" table accompanying this article the division of votes, if the poll percentages in each county prevail and the vote estimate holds true, will be as follows:

McDonald 211,652 Hoey 151,694 Graham 67,961 McRae 8,954

Accuracy Indicated After weighing the straw vote by allowing for variations in the ballots cast in each of the 100 counties slightly different percentages are obtained. However, the accuracy of the poll is clearly indicated by a comparison of the straw vote percentages and the weighted vote percentages. The comparisons:

Hoey Gr'm Mc'D McRae Poll Pts. 34.3 16.1 47.8 1.8 Weighted Pts 34.5 15.5 48.2 Because the election machinery is in the hands of the regular democratic organization some political prognosticators feel the organization candidates will receive higher percentages of the total vote than the poll indicates. Many claim that the Hoey percentages will be increased by five per cent and that the McDonald percentage will suffer by about that margin. The Hoey forces have declared that "having the organization means a minimum of 75,000 votes" and it is doubtless true that possession of the election machinery favors the organization's candidates. It is for this reason that the McDonald plurality is estimated from 35,000 upwards, although the poll indicates a plurality for McDonald of 59,958.

Vote May Be Heavy While the poll conductors have fixed the total vote estimate at about 440,000 the total may be nearer 500,000 because of the heat of the campaign, the most stirring democratic governorship primary

"Weighted" Vote By Counties

The tabulation below gives a breakdown of the "weighted" vote in the gubernatorial race by counties. It was estimated that approximately 440,000 votes will be cast on June 6 and this table, based on percentages arrived at in the statewide straw vote, shows the popular vote each candidate may expect in the first primary. The table follows:

Table with 4 columns: County, McDonald, Hoey, McRae. Lists 100 counties and their respective vote percentages for each candidate.

FRENCH CHIEF RESIGNS WITH FULL CABINET

Premier Sarraut Steps Down in Favor Of Socialist

ENTIRE COUNTRY HIT BY STRIKES

Leon Blum, Socialist Leader, Prepares to Assume Premiership Immediately

(Copyright by Associated Press) Paris, June 4.—(AP)—Premier Albert Sarraut and his coalition cabinet resigned today to permit socialists to assume the government of strike-ridden France.

As Sarraut and his ministers made their "funeral march" across the street to the Elysee Palace to tender their resignations to President LeBrun, a strike movement embracing about 400,000 workers stiffed industry.

The strike movement was met suddenly by a refusal on the part of leaders of metal industries to conduct any further negotiations with strikers until the latter evacuate more than 200 factories.

Even as Leon Blum, socialist leader, prepared to assume the premiership, reports in the chamber lobbies had it he might order communists to call off their strike as soon as he became head of the government.

Only two formalities intervened between the resignation of the Sarraut cabinet and the naming of Blum as premier.

President LeBrun had to consult former Premier Edouard Herriot, who was elected today as president of the new chamber of deputies, and Jules Jeanneney, President of the Senate.

Wild rumors concerning the strike and Blum's intentions flooded through Paris because of a complete cessation in the publishing of newspapers.

All employees of Paris newspapers went out on strike with the result that no afternoon newspaper appeared on the streets.

The action of the metal industry employers was in direct contrast to that of employers at the Central Market in Paris, who yielded to the demands of strikers for pay increase.

Threats of a food shortage in the capital apparently were averted, but the metal industry development brought up a new serious phase to the international situation.

Small Girl Injured When Hit by Vehicle

Doris Williams, nine-year-old girl, was struck by an automobile driven by H. M. Lewis of Henderson yesterday afternoon in front of her home about four miles from Greenville on the Washington highway.

Patrolman C. R. Williams, who investigated the wreck, said the girl darted across the road directly in front of the car and Mr. Lewis could not avoid striking her. The little girl is not critically injured, but her right leg was broken in two places. No arrests have been made, but Patrolman Williams said he was continuing his investigation of the accident.

The great-grandfather of Leo Carrillo of the movies was Carlos Antonio Carrillo, first provincial governor of California.

Heavy Showers Here Promise Help Crops

The first rain of any consequence since April started falling here about 2 o'clock this afternoon and promised to be heavy enough to help crops materially, and especially tobacco.

A shower fell last Friday but did little more than wet the top of the ground. Leading farmers said then, however, if it was followed by good rains this week it would help save the crops.

Prior to last Friday's rain, only 25 of an inch had fallen here during the entire month of May. State College extension officials today estimated that the drought had already resulted in more than $50,000,000 damage to crops in this state.

Speaker Byrns Succumbs To Attack

DEATH REMOVES HOUSE SPEAKER

Joseph Wellington Byrns, Speaker of the House, is shown seated at his desk conferring with Douglas Cornell, Associated Press staff chief in the House. The Speaker lay down his gavel yesterday afternoon expecting to return today to push through legislation in hopes of an early adjournment. A cerebral hemorrhage last night, however, removed the administration leader from his duties. He died at 12:15 o'clock this morning. (Associated Press Photo.)

SEN. BANKHEAD ADJOURNMENT TO TAKE CHAIR HOPES DIMMED

Democratic Floor Leader to Succeed Speaker Byrns

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Representative William B. Bankhead of Alabama today was elected speaker of the House to succeed the late Joseph Wellington Byrns of Tennessee.

The Democratic floor leader was elevated to the chair shortly after a sorrowing House members were called to order by the clerk, South Trimble.

Chairman O'Connor (D. N. Y.) of the rules committee submitted a resolution calling for Bankhead's election.

The resolution was adopted by a voice vote. The entire proceedings consumed less than five minutes.

Members of the House stood silently with bowed heads as Trimble told the House it was his "sad and painful duty" to announce the sudden and unexpected death of "the beloved speaker, Joseph W. Byrns."

After his election, Bankhead walked down the aisle. There was a scattering of applause, quickly hushed by "no's no's" from the chamber.

The oath of office was administered by Representative Sabbath (D. Ill.) Dean of the House.

Electrification Fund Granted Wilson Firm

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—The electrification administrator announced today a $161,000 loan to the Wilson County Electric Membership Corporation, Wilson, N. C., to construct 129 miles of power lines in Wilson county.

Power for the project will be furnished wholesale by the municipal plant at Wilson, which also will maintain the lines.

SHOWERS FALL DROUGHT AREA

Scattered Rains Over Southeast Slightly Encouraging

Atlanta, June 4.—(AP)—Scattered rainfall cooled the drought belt of the southeast today but gave little hope for reduction of farm losses.

Agricultural leaders said a heavy general rain was needed to break the dry spell menacing crops from east Alabama to the Potomac.

Meteorologists said no immediate relief was in sight.

Reports from Eastern North Carolina reported showers in various communities in the drought-ridden section. Wilson, Greenville, Goldsboro and other places said showers had broken the long dry spell in those areas.

Weather reporters added that the overnight showers generally did little more than crust the dusty top soil and reduce temperatures. Some east Tennessee towns, however, had crop benefitting showers.

Produce dealers of Atlanta, finding local supplies depleted, began importing vegetables from other parts of the country. Prices were boosted from 10 to 25 per cent above the seasonal average.

Harry Brown, agricultural services expert, said surveys indicated that "Georgia's loss will be in the neighborhood of $30,000,000."

Tennessee's cropland damage was estimated at $30,000,000 also by J. H. McLeod, chief of the University of Tennessee farm management section.

Ministers Arrange To Conduct School For City Children

Ministerial Association to Sponsor Daily Vacation Bible School for Boys and Girls

Officials of the Greenville Ministerial Association announced today that the Daily Vacation Bible school will be held this summer, with all boys and girls in the city invited to participate.

The first such school was held in the community two years ago. A statement issued by the Ministerial association said: "So gratifying was the response to this program that the association has voted to sponsor a similar movement this year."

This year's program will be operated in two units, one at the Third Street school and one at the High school. The new arrangement will enable a larger number of children to take advantage of the opportunities offered. Heretofore the program has been carried on at Third Street school only.

While the move is sponsored by the Ministerial association, it is supported financially by the community and is open to all boys and girls, regardless of whether they are affiliated with local churches.

Announcements will be made later giving courses to be offered, members of the faculty and other details of the Bible school.

Kidnaping Charged To Black Legion

Detroit, June 4.—(AP)—Fifteen men were charged with a new Black Legion kidnaping today in a warrant asked by Prosecutor Duncan C. McCreary, who said that three of the men had been taken in custody. He said one of the three had confessed that Robert Penland of Escorse was abducted, tied to a tree and lashed.

$50,000,000 Drought Experienced in State

Raleigh, June 4.—(AP)—Dry weather conditions have already damaged crops in North Carolina "upwards of $50,000,000 by reducing prospective yields," Dean L. O. Schaub, of the North Carolina State College extension service, said today, as he predicted "we won't exceed a half crop in tobacco."

"The loss is mounting by millions of dollars every day," Schaub said. "Figuring the loss in dollars is difficult as that would depend on prices, but I feel safe in saying it has passed $50,000,000."

"Times are bad and getting worse all over the state. Cotton is just about as bad as tobacco," Schaub said.

Death Ends Career For Administration Leader At 12:15 This Morning

Passing of Solon in Midst of Turbulent Hours of Hard Fighting Between New Deal and Its Foes Plunges Legislative Situation Into Further Uncertainty; Hopes For Adjourning Congress Before Opening of Republican Convention Next Tuesday All But Abandoned

Washington, June 4.—(AP)—Cut down at the height of his career by a swift and lethal illness, Speaker Joseph Wellington Byrns of the House of Representatives lay dead today in a room at a hushed hotel while leaders of all parties expressed shock and grief.

A totally unexpected heart attack, followed by a cerebral hemorrhage brought death at 12:15 a. m. (EST) today to the Tennessee farm boy who rose to wield the Speaker's gavel during a period in which much history

The passing of this tall and rangy pillar of his party in the turbulent hours of hard fighting between the new deal and its foes plunged the legislative situation into further uncertainty. Almost until the hour he was stricken, Speaker Byrns had labored at a tremendous pace to pass the program through Congress swiftly so the session could end on Saturday if possible.

Apparently in good health in mid afternoon yesterday when the House adjourned, Byrns returned to his hotel.

At 5:30 p. m. he suffered a heart attack. At 11 p. m., said Dr. George W. Calver, congressional physician, the Speaker suffered a cerebral hemorrhage and died an hour and a quarter later without regaining consciousness.

The House was to assemble today and quickly recess after making arrangements for a state funeral. Complete details of the arrangements were not made known immediately.

More Counterfeit Bills Discovered By Guaranty Bank

Spurious $10 Bills Turn Up Despite Fact Three Suspects Being Held For Counterfeiting

J. H. Waldrop, cashier of the Guaranty Bank and Trust company, said today that more of the counterfeit $10 bills had been received at the institution, despite the apprehension of three suspects.

Three white men and a negro were given a preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner in Washington recently on charges of passing the spurious bills. The negro, said to be the owner of the car which the men used in traveling in this section, was released, but the three white men were ordered held under $5,000 bail. One of the trio has given bond, but the others are in jail.

Chief George Clark, who was instrumental in running down the alleged counterfeiters, said it was impossible to say whether one or more members of the gang still remained at large, or whether the bills which showed up at the bank recently were passed by the gang some time ago and had been held by the ones receiving them.

Chief Clark warned public places and especially filling stations to continue to keep a close watch on bills of $10 denomination given them in payment of goods.

Daughter 96-Year-old Man Getting on Fine

New Bern, June 4.—(AP)—Dr. Charles Duffy said at midday today Mary Gertrude Hughes, daughter born last night to Mrs. Libby Hill Hughes, 28, and George Isaac Hughes, 96, "is getting on fine."

"The baby, the mother and the father are getting along nicely," Dr. Duffy commented. "That is about all there is to say now. I still don't have weighed the baby but I estimate to weight about 6 1/2 pounds."

Work Progressing on City-County Armory

The foundation of the City-County armory has been completed and laying of brick is due to get underway next week. Practically all materials for the $25,000 structure have been purchased and the building is expected to progress at a more rapid pace in the future than it has in the past.

The armory, being erected on Evans street just beyond the Edwards building, will house the local unit of the National Guard, the title to the structure to be retained by the city and county.

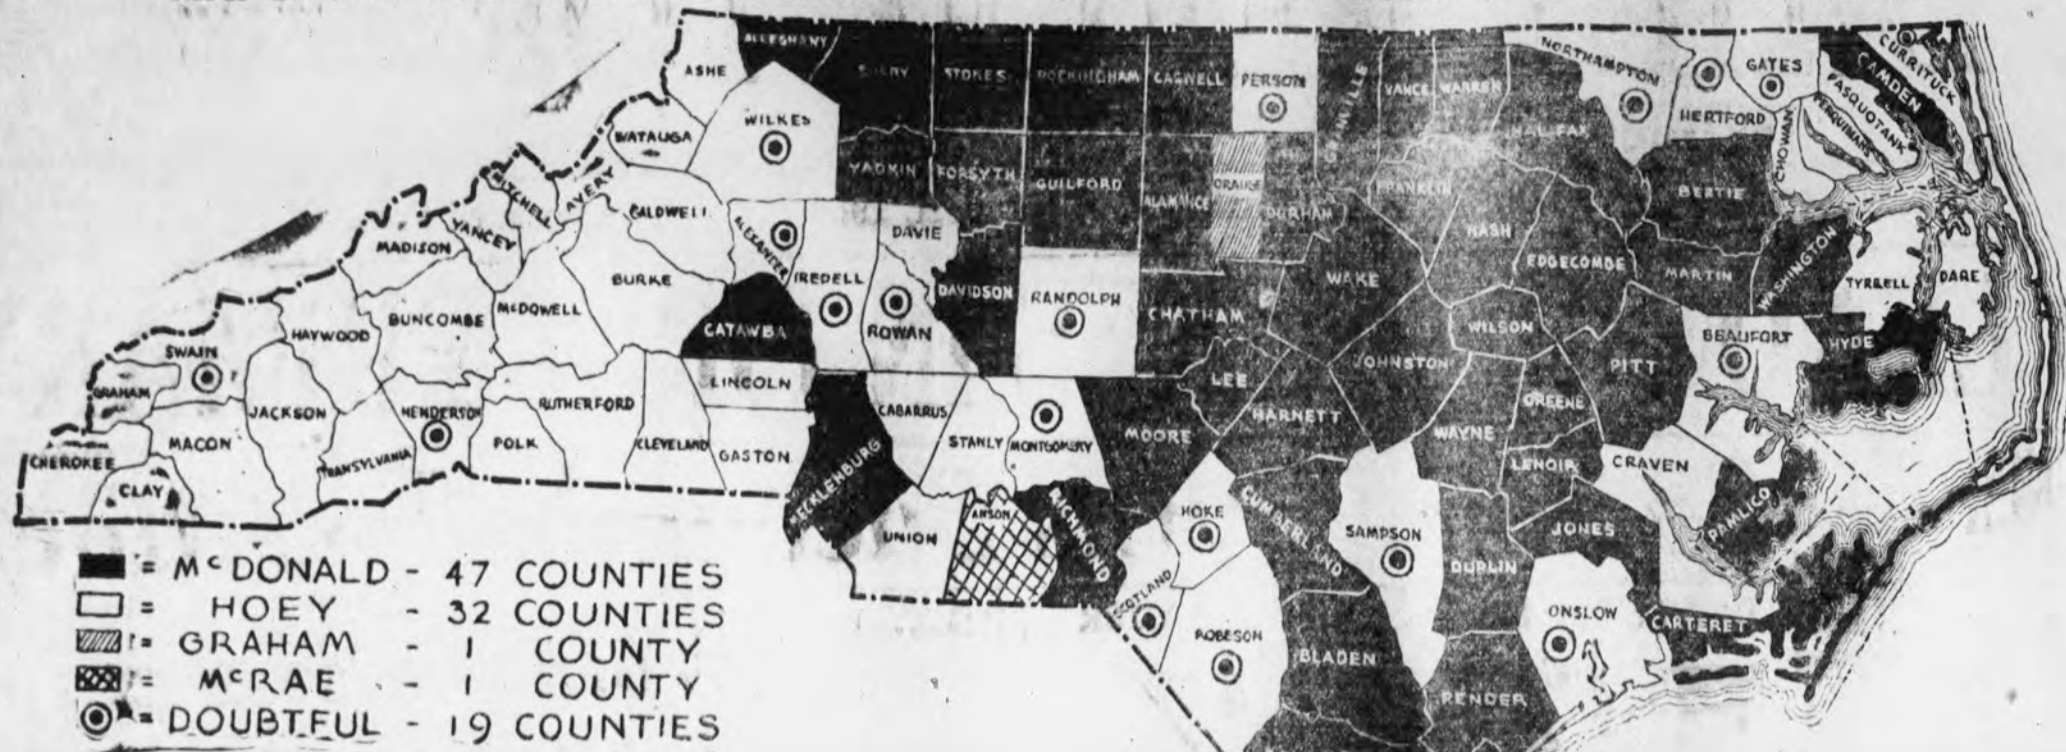

County Offices First Take Half Holiday

The various county departments began the usual custom of closing on Wednesday afternoons yesterday, but offices and stores will not adopt the custom before next Wednesday.

It was explained the county has to dispense with the half day holiday a week earlier than other business places and the practice was started earlier to make up the time to be lost.

EFFORTS MADE UNITE CHINESE

Union of North and South Governments Proposed

(Copyright by Associated Press) Shanghai, June 4.—(AP)—Emis-

saries of the Chinese Canton government sped northward today, official sources declared, to discuss with Nanking government officials proposals for a united Chinese war against "Japanese aggression."

The proposals for a union of the two Chinese governments, reported by Japanese sources yesterday from Canton, riveted the nation's attention.

Contradictory statements from various sources continued to perplex Chinese and foreigners, particularly assertions 250,000 southwest troops had marched into Hunan province.

Foreign diplomatic officials in Tientsin, Shanghai and Peiping reviewing the grave situation were reported conferring with military authorities in view of a possible emergency.

Declarations in a semi-official Japanese paper held the situation "more menacing" than at the time of the Boxer rebellion due to the known determination of Japanese military officers to obtain an early and decisive solution of problems in North China.

McDONALD TO LEAD OPONENTS IN FIRST PRIMARY

campaign ever waged in North Carolina. If it is true, however, that the total vote in past elections has never equaled estimates made by election officials and politicians (The total governorship vote in the first primary of 1932 was 379,657).

The poll figures are essentially and mathematically correct, but it must be remembered that the final figures published today necessarily cannot completely and fully reflect down-to-the-minute sentiment because the polls closed just one week ago tonight.

Nor does the poll take into consideration absentee ballots, always a large factor in North Carolina, especially in the west, where interested candidates see to it that such ballots are cast in great quantities. Because Hoey's strength, as shown by the poll, lies principally in the west, it is believed that the Hoey vote in that section at least will be greatly augmented.

Many Other Factors

There are many other factors which, because of their non-mathematical nature, could not be taken into consideration. Among them are the unprecedented campaign with its many artificial features, the fact that the candidates are from the populous Piedmont and west instead of from the relatively sparsely-populated east, the deplorable condition of the registration books in many counties, the weather on election day, and the fact that only within the past ten days have industrialists aroused themselves to make war upon McDonald.

The campaign has been marked by its failure to develop a war over issues. Graham has an issue, liquor control, and so has McRae. But both agree except on the most minor details. No battle there. And while Hoey has said he is willing to hold a liquor referendum, he has said no more, and McDonald merely inserted in copies of his Winston-Salem speech that he is ready for a referendum. Both Hoey and McDonald ignored the Graham challenge to state their liquor views in precise words. Only one candidate, McDonald, has had the sales tax as an issue. While talking against bearing it in no uncertain terms, he failed to get his opponents to enter a discussion concerning it. No candidate has defended the sales tax, yet only one has denounced it. The nearest any other candidate came to voicing actual opposition to the tax was when Graham offered his state liquor control plan, with the suggestion that the accruing revenue be used to reduce the sales tax to two per cent, more if possible. Hoey has devoted considerable of his time to criticizing McDonald and has not definitely committed himself on most controversial questions. Good schools, good government, a "safe democratic" government or a "safe democratic" government are the vote-getters he has held out. The only serious and actual issue before the voters is the sharp line between Hoey and McDonald.

West Votes Heavily

While the east is vociferous and runs the state legislature after whatever fashion pleases it, it is voters in actual elections. The west has the preponderance of votes and industrialization of the Piedmont has increased vastly its voting strength. This time the east as a whole is for McDonald, with the poll giving him a clear majority. The west, while returning a McDonald plurality, reveals Hoey strength of great proportions. A heavy western vote is seen because the candidates hail from that section. This is a factor which should normally favor Hoey over McDonald and which may bring the Hoey vote up sharply.

While every twelfth democratic name was chosen from every registration book in the state for the purpose of canvassing voter-sentiment the condition of registration books in many counties made the task difficult. So difficult indeed that many republicans undoubtedly received ballots.

Whether or not those republicans merely tossed their ballots away or whether they voted them remains to be seen.

Much Depends On

The weather is, of course, something that not even a candidate can promise to do anything about. If heavy rains should fall in the pro-McDonald or pro-Hoey counties Saturday the results might be seriously altered. The poll, for example, reveals that farmers favor McDonald over Hoey by about 10 to 7. If it should rain heavily in the rural areas the McDonald vote would be reduced—reduced more sharply than in the cities and towns for two reasons: transportation is more of a problem in rural than in urban areas and farmers are usually accompanied by their wives when they go to the polls. When a farmer does not vote it almost invariably means that his wife and other members of his family do not. In cities and towns, however, men and their wives and families usually vote individually, with the men dropping into the polling places on the way to or from the shop, store, or office. The McDonald forces would do well to pray for no rain until after Saturday. Another weather factor might also be mentioned, because it affects crops and the condition of mind. Good crops, good humor—poor crops, dissatisfaction. There are those who declare that the farmers are plumb disgusted with everything and are ready to vote against something and that McDonald is the sole candidate to offer that opportunity.

Industrialists Get In

Almost simultaneously with the closing of the polls in the newspaper poll came the awakening of the industrialists, who are, it is reported, spending large sums in an effort to defeat McDonald. Speakers have been employed by anti-McDonald groups here and there throughout the state. Just what effect, if any, these speakers are having is not known and cannot be known until primary day because the anti-McDonald war started after the straw voting ended.

At any rate, McDonald will lead in the first primary when the votes are counted Saturday night. Hoey will run second, Graham third, McRae fourth. That much is certain.

As soon after the primary as possible a comparative tabulation of the straw vote presentations and the unofficial actual election returns will be published showing conclusively the accuracy or inaccuracy of the poll. Whether North Carolina votes alike on straw ballot postcards and in actual elections, a contention denied by many, will shortly be seen.

Final standings of the four candidates for the democratic nomination for governor in the statewide straw vote are shown in the tabulation below. The figures represent the percentages of the straw vote each candidate received in the individual counties. The percentage table follows:

In those counties which have had recent registrations and where the registrars have required the voters to indicate whether they are Democrats or Republicans, it will not be difficult to see that only the Democrats vote in the Democratic primary, Maxwell said, since the name of each voter must be checked when he applies for his ballot. But in many of the counties and precincts no effort has been made to differentiate between the Democrats and Republicans, Maxwell agrees.

Postoffice at Atlantic Beach.
Atlantic Beach, June 4.—Atlantic Beach, North Carolina is now a United States postoffice and is unique in the fact that it is located nearer the ocean than any other postoffice in America. Representative Graham A. Barden of the Third district secured the postoffice for residents of Atlantic Beach in less than two weeks after his aid was asked. J. Newman Willis Jr., all-year around caretaker of Atlantic Beach and assistant to Mr. Shackell, has been appointed postmaster and the department in Washington late Tuesday approved the appointment.

The postoffice will be located in the main office building of Atlantic Beach, directly on the boardwalk and within a pebble's throw of the surf. It is equal distance from the summer colonists' residences on the west and east side of Atlantic Beach buildings proper. Efforts had been made in previous years to have Atlantic Beach designated as a U. S. postoffice but to no avail until Representative Barden gave his assistance in the matter.

Atlantic Beach postoffice will not be a sub-postoffice to Morehead City, to which town the mail for persons here was formerly addressed. Atlantic Beach which is conceded to be the fastest growing resort along the Carolina coast now offers in addition to postal service just enacted, telephone, telegraph lights, water service and paved streets.

Camp Charles Being Prepared.
The camp staff is now preparing to receive the first group of campers at Camp Charles next week. The lake has been cleaned and refilled and is ready for the two daily swims which are included in the program planned by John J. Sigwald who is now serving his 11th year as camp director. Assisting Mr. Sigwald is a camp staff which includes Ralph Mozo, assistant director; Needham Bryan, dietitian; "Duck" Latrell, expert swimming instructor; Loyd Bryan, bugler; five councilors, and Sam and Minnie camp cooks.

Anyone wishing to register for camp or who wishes further information about the camp, see Bill Taft at the Taft Furniture Company, Greenville, or write John J. Sigwald, Camp Charles, Route 2, Bailey, N. C.

GREENVILLE FOLKS SEE HOW CHEVROLETS ARE MADE
And Also Receive Door Prizes Through the Courtesy of Their Local Dealer, White Chevrolet Co.

(By B. B. Bailey)
A large crowd attended the free talking pictures at White Chevrolet Co. last night and from all reports they enjoyed themselves very much. One of the pictures shown was called Steeplechasing, showing four race horses taking the jumps over a steeplechase course and a Chevrolet with knee action taking the same jumps. Believe it or not the Chevrolet took every jump the same as the race horses and also finished first in the race. Before the steeplechase film they had a very interesting news reel, showing the different sport events and uses that Chevrolets were used for. At the everglades in Florida they were aquaplaning on the beach behind a new Chevrolet. In the mountains it showed 6 men carrying a big outboard motor boat to their mountain lake on Chevrolet's all steel turret top. Another part of the news reel showed was a little village way up in the mountains of Kentucky that had never been reached by a motor car, so the village had a contest open to all motor cars and the town was to be named after the first car reaching the top. Of course Chevrolet won and so "Believe it or not" there is a village in Kentucky called Chevrolet, Ky. Next we had a film on the making of Chevrolet cars from the beginning as they pour the hot steel until the finished car comes from the assembly line. After the performance was over Mr. Stafford, manager of White Chevrolet Co., gave prizes to the holders of the lucky numbers. About $25.00 in merchandise and service was given away. The performance lasted about two hours and was held in the used car lot next to our showrooms. Chevrolet had special operators from Michigan in charge of the show. Due to Chevrolet's continued popularity in 1936, White Chevrolet Co. is trading in some of the best values in used cars. We have on hand 50 used Chevrolets, Fords and Plymouths in 1936's, 35's, 34's and 33's in practically all body styles and don't forget they carry our famous guaranteed OK'd tag for your protection. Come down and select your car today. Low prices and reasonable terms, together with courteous service makes White Chevrolet Co. the safe place to buy your used car.—(Adv.)

Plans for the Fall program will be discussed, which includes the organization of study groups which will provide for intensive study of world conditions as they affect international relations. The people of Greenville will find the plans of the Council most interesting and informing. You will find a welcome whether or not you desire to affiliate with the council.

Greenville Citizens To Sail for Bermuda
Winston-Salem, N. C., June 4.—Arrangements have been completed for the cooperative cruise of the North Carolina Bankers Association and more than 300 bankers, their wives and families, are expected to sail from Norfolk on the afternoon of June 7, according to a statement made here today by Clarence T. Leinbach, president of the Association.

The bankers will sail to Bermuda on the S. S. Reliance and convention sessions will be held on board ship and from the Island.

Among the speakers who will address the convention are Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, president of Salem College; Willis Smith, prominent attorney of Raleigh, and former speaker of the House of Representatives in the State Legislature. Mr. Leinbach stated that a number of member bankers would participate in informal discussions, and that considerable time would be given to the study of current banking problems.

The party will arrive in Bermuda on the morning of June 9, and sail for the return trip to Norfolk after a two-day stay at Bermuda.

The passenger list includes the following persons from Greenville: Mrs. Raymond F. Nicholson, P. L. Goodson, I. B. Garris, B. F. Patrick and W. H. W. Ward.

June Travis keeps three white mice as pets in her studio dressing room.

He and his co-workers are conducting research to ascertain inheritance factors of the plant with the aim ultimately of developing a melon on combining the best features of various brands.

WELL WORTH WHILE

It is gratifying to know that Greenville will have a Daily Vacation Bible School for the children of this city again this summer. Our experience with these vacation schools has proved that they are well worth while and this summer's program will be on an even more elaborate scale and include greater recreational features. The Daily Vacation Bible School deserves the moral and financial support of every citizen in Greenville.

BE SURE TO VOTE

Saturday is primary day and the Democrats of this county will have the opportunity to go to the polls and express their choices for the men who are to represent the party in the coming November elections. It is not only a privilege but it is also a duty of a citizen to have a part in the naming of the nominees and persons who refrain from having a voice in the selection of the public officials should not later criticize how the offices are conducted. Be sure that you vote next Saturday and above all be sure that you make an honest effort to vote for the men best qualified to fill the positions.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

(Continued from Page One) pecially the Landonites. They realize that a critical silence and sukkiness on his part would damage their chances, especially as the western vote may decide the November outcome. All except ultra-conservatives are willing to let him frame the planks on monopolies and foreign problems. Chief concern now is that the convention may witness a Borah-Hoover clash smashing hope of reconciliation. The Democrats are equally eager to win the Idahoan's favor. Some advocate a deal under which Idaho Governor Ben Ross would run again for his present office, thus insuring Borah's return to the Senate next fall. That strategy failing, Postmaster General Farley has passed out quiet word that Mr. Borah would be eligible - under certain conditions, of course - for almost any New Deal job he wants.

SUBTLE: Democratic politicians will deny it, but AAA Administrator Chester Davis' current speaking tour in the West forecasts the administration's strategy in lacking the agricultural and constitutional issues. It also amounts to a confession that the new soil conservation program is only a temporary remedy.

On the basis of a two-month-European trip, Mr. Davis will warn the American farmer that the foreign market for his crops has vanished. That will be the Democrats' answer to any Republican demand for export of subsidies and intensive development of agricultural trade - as proposed by ex-AAA-er George N. Peek. The AAA spokesman insists that home production must be geared to home consumption. He will also say a few kind words for the Hull reciprocal tariff agreements.

Mr. Davis will predict another "economic tailspin for the farmer" unless Washington can devise - inside or outside the constitution - some means for national control of production. He will point out that European countries fix quo-

SYNOPSIS: Dirk Rann has found Hope, wife of his older brother Rupert, in a Chelsea boarding house. She has two ways, Dirk, who loves her, asks that she return to the Java estate on the Hudson river because Rupert, recovering from a terrible illness, is asking for her. In spite of suspicious and mysterious things in Hope's background, Dirk knows he never will be happy out of her sight. And she has promised that, although she will not stay of the Java place long, she will tell him before she leaves.

Chapter 27

SUDDEN TRAGEDY

HOPE and Dirk went together to the gray stone house in Twenty-second street. At its door she hesitated, then asked, "Could you let me have some money?"

He took $20 from his bill-fold, offered to write a check if she needed more.

"No," she said, and thanked him. "This will do."

She took the money and went inside, asking him to wait on the step. After about twenty minutes she came out.

"I'm ready," she said. She was taking nothing back with her but the guitar.

SNOW. Snow falling infinitely, steadily, without hurry. Dirk stood at his bedroom-window in his dressing gown, and watched the snow. He had tried to read, but made no headway. Rupert had been home a week. He was recovering certainly, though he still looked shaken and pale. He had gone this morning, thoroughly bundled in rugs, for a ride with Hope, Martin driving them. The nurses had been discharged.

What Rupert's sudden turning to his wife might signify, Dirk could only conjecture. Whether it was, as he had suggested to Hope, the mere vagary of a sick man, or whether the new mood involved a definite change of heart, Dirk saw too little of either Hope or Rupert to determine. Husband and wife had their meals together upstairs, and on those occasions when Dirk had visited Rupert in his room, Hope had withdrawn.

Dirk knew of course that Hope was only marking time, only waiting till Rann came at once, Rupert, he said, had died instantly. Dirk telephoned to Connolly, Rupert's friend, and chief-of-police. Connolly, he knew, would bring the coroner. They must come, of course, but they would learn nothing from Hope tonight. Rann, who was with her now, had said at once that she must not be questioned.

RUPERT lay just within the room, close to the old kas. A small dark stain was spreading on his back, dyeing the familiar brown dressing-gown. The bullet had gone through. The pistol lying there had sent its bullet clear through. Something like a wound went through Dirk's own breast. My God,

Rupert lay at Hope's feet.

Rupert was well again, when she would leave. But he would know this time when she went. She had promised to tell him and she would keep her word. He, too, would keep his word. He would not stop her, or try to stop her.

He would merely go with her. Nothing could prevent him.

He started, thinking he heard a cry. A woman's cry. And now, almost instantly, a shot—a stammering shot, like backfire from an engine. Yet it had been too close for backfire, and from the wrong direction.

He was in the hall. He listened. There was no sound anywhere. . . It should not be so still behind Hope's door. He tried that door. It was locked. He tried Rupert's door. It opened. The light was on, but the room was empty.

Hope's light burned, too. The door stood open. Dirk was in Hope's room before he knew.

Hope stood in her nightgown, leaning against the column of the bed. Her eyes were dazed as if she were walking in her sleep. Rupert lay face down at her feet.

The pearl-handled revolver was on the floor between them. Dirk rose from kneeling beside his brother, and confronted Hope. Close to him now, her dazed eyes stared back, seeming not to see him. Suddenly she crumpled, was in his arms. He lifted her, carried her toward the door.

Timothy, pale, half-dressed, hurried before him, turning back for directions.

"The south bedroom," Dirk said. Distinctly he remembered that the south bedroom had been made ready for the Rev. Devine. Somehow, Mary, too, was in the room, turning down the bed. Dirk laid Hope within it. Her eyes were half-shut, her lips parted. She seemed not to breathe. Timothy had gone out. Dirk met him coming from the tower-room. Timothy's voice was almost inaudible.

"Shall I call . . ." "Call Dr. Rann across the street," Dirk said. "That's the quickest."

las on crops and set prices, tax vexed spindles out of existence and regulate agriculture from the ground up. He will not urge a constitutional amendment, but he will subtly leave it to the farmer to draw his own conclusions.

TRANSATLANTIC: Several prominent Americans who recently interviewed Benito Mussolini off the record found him extremely hopeful of staving off a major European war. But the decision, he admitted may depend on the League's handling of the Ethiopian problem when it reassembles on June 16. Highest Italian authorities link that at any time since July-August

New York By JAMES McMULLIN BARGAIN: The quiet shift to London by the leaders of the New York Republican delegation in the past week was no unexpected, even though inner party circles had been opposing the Kansan all along.

There have been significant signs that many delegates - especially the women - are close to rebellion against the chiefs' plan to keep them on the fence until it is unmistakably clear how the Cleveland winds are blowing. So the big shots are confronted with the possibility that they may have to swing to London early in the convention game or find their leadership virtually repudiated.

Frank Lowden and other potential compromise candidates are being talked up a lot - but there is reason to suspect that this is strategic camouflage. The object is no longer actually to stop Landon - but rather to create the impression that the New York and other "big state" leaders hold his fate in their hands. They hope to worry Landon's managers enough by these tactics to drive an advantageous bargain - even though they will probably have to do so anyway or risk being left completely out in the cold.

AMBITIOUS: The eastern chiefs are shooting for posts of power in the national party setup after Landon is nominated. They would hate to be shunted aside again by the nominee's private organization as many of them were in the Hoover campaign of 1928.

They are especially keen that a man of their choosing be named national chairman rather than John Hamilton - who has not always shown them the respect to which they feel entitled. Comment runs that they are nothing if not ambitious, considering that Hamilton has been slated for the job ever since Landon became an active candidate.

TO THE EDITOR: "When the righteous are in authority the people rejoice; but when the wicked beareth rule the people mourn." As the day of the primary approaches the words quoted above come to me over and over. Perhaps they have come to others just as full of meaning as they have come to me. As we cast our votes let us cast them prayerfully. Citizenship is a sacred trust, we who enjoy its privileges must give a good account of ourselves as citizens.

Do not be indifferent—indifference in a time like this is unpardonable. There is in this primary more at stake than many are aware of—vital issues—why not settle them now? Do not be misled by specious reasoning. Use your own judgment, weigh these matters for yourself or seek wiser counsel, keep in touch with what goes on in our political world, county, state and national—vote for truth, honor and statesmanship. Vote For Arthur B. Corey For STATE SENATE

As Senator from Pitt County in the 1933 and 1935 sessions of the General Assembly, Mr. Corey made one of the best representatives this county has ever had in Raleigh.

He has the reputation among his colleagues for his integrity and his determination to get all the facts pertaining to each and every piece of legislation and then voting his convictions for the best interest of his people.

His legislative record shows that he:

- 1. Sponsored and labored for the drivers' license law and was one of the great factors in getting this piece of legislation enacted.
2. He was co-author of the Senate bill that sought the repayment by the state highway commission to counties, sums expended by counties for highways taken over by the state. The General Assembly ordered the appointment of a commission to study the claims of the various counties.
3. As a member of the Senate appropriations committee he labored for maximum appropriations for the public schools and institutions of higher learning and was one of the main factors in procuring greater appropriations for vocational training in the rural schools of the state.
4. During his two terms in the Senate he consistently fought the general sales tax and voted against it on each and every reading.
5. He sought legislation that would increase the pay of highway workers in the lower brackets.
6. He labored for abolition of the absentee ballot law on a state-wide basis and when this legislation failed he succeeded in procuring a law that abolished absentee voting in Pitt County as it pertained to county offices.

A careful study of his record during his two terms in the Senate reveals that Arthur B. Corey voted consistently for good government and in the interest of his people. He was not always on the popular side in so far as the so-called leaders were concerned because he preferred to vote his convictions rather than curry favor for his own popularity but this gained for him great respect among his colleagues.

Aydenites Top Greenies Again, 9-2

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD

With Woody Upchurch doing the hurling for Ayden, the Aces topped the Greenies yesterday afternoon by a score of 9-2.

This was the second scheduled game between the Greenville and Ayden teams, and the second consecutive victory for the Aydenites against the locals.

Upchurch was recently fanned out by Connie Mack, and picked up yesterday in his twirling possibly where he left off last year. The skillful tosser was with Ayden last

The box score follows:

Greenville	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.

SPORT SLANTS

Guinea pigs of the sports world! This somewhat dubious, if sacrifice-indicating, title seems to have been inherited by those hardy athletes of the "roaring road" who crash onto the sports pages behind the wheels of racing cars in somewhat the same manner as jockeys clutching the reins of fast-stepping runners or trotters.

Just what contribution to the world fast track men, or star open field runners, or exhilarating hockey players make is somewhat in doubt. Of course, they entertain thousands. Beyond that point, however, all of their exertion seems for naught.

Automobile race drivers, just as truly athletes as many of their contemporaries, however, take pride in believing that not only do they thrill crowds, but that through their strides are made in determining how long a man's judgment in driving a motor car at high speed remains accurate, and what improvements in automotive design are necessary.

The Contest Board of the A.A.A. a sort of Judge Landis in the automobile sports whirl, believes that the hard-trained young men behind the power plants of racing machines not only rate a place in the sun for their sports feats but also manager to register something of value to the public while turning in their performances.

Harry Miller, who has just opened up his own laboratory of the sports-automobile world in Long Island City, across the river from New York concurs with the A.A.A. His contributions to the sports world include marine racing engines and airplane motors, as well as race car power plants.

by the locals against the Aces. With the exception of Farley and Wagner, the team failed to show the hitting power exhibited on Tuesday of this week in the opening tilt.

Knowles was the outstanding player for Ayden. He got four hits in as many trips to bat, with two of these being home runs. The Ayden team collected a total of 17 hits off the Greenville hurler.

The local club apparently has plenty of power at the bat, and when the pitching staff is strengthened to a certain extent, the local baseballers should climb to the top of standings in the Coastal Plain League, and produce some winning ball as they did last year.

This afternoon the Greenies are engaging the Kinston Eagles at the Third Street Stadium here.

The Williamston Martins gained an 8-5 victory over Tarboro; Snow Hill trimmed Goldsboro 12-7, and the Kinston Eagles grabbed a 8-5 win from the Bears of New Bern in the other games of the Coastal Plain League.

Voters of Pitt County

It was my purpose at the outset of this campaign to see each one of you and ask you personally to vote for me for County Solicitor in the Primary Saturday, June 6. But I see now that, due to the size of the county and lack of time, this is impossible.

I am taking this means of soliciting the vote of those of you whom I have been unable to see. Please accept the will for the deed and know that I want you to vote for me just as much as if I had asked you in person.

Since, as some of you recall, I was a candidate for the same office four years ago and was defeated, it will be doubly gratifying to me to be the recipient of your confidence in the Saturday Primary. I will deeply appreciate your vote and active support.

VOTE FOR DINK JAMES
—FOR—
Judge of County Court

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

"There is no more honorable or conscientious man in Pitt County than Dink James who as judge presides over Pitt County's court. Judicial in temperament and fair in his decisions, Judge James is making a name for himself all over the county and other neighboring counties. He gives much thought to his duties before him. He always makes an effort to decide the issues that confront him with an eye single to the best interest of the county and the ones parties to the suit being tried. Such a man is a great asset to the county."—Greenville News-Leader, October 5, 1934.

"Dink James has both the courage and determination to 'hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may.' At the same time he is not radical but tempers justice with common sense. Judge James has made a splendid record since he has been on the bench. He is a man of fine judicial temperament. We need just such men as Judge James in the public life of today and this newspaper will gladly support him for any position he might ask."—Greenville News-Leader, October 18, 1935.

"There is one way to prevent automobile wrecks and that is to remove as many reckless and irresponsible drivers as possible. At least that is the way Judge Dink James apparently feels about it, judging by the number of licenses revoked by him in county court—keeping them off the road is the best way to keep them from causing accidents and we congratulate Judge James for the start he has made. If more judges and more of the courts would make a determined effort to keep reckless drivers off the roads, we would have fewer accidents."—Daily Reflector, October 8, 1934.

SANDY GRAHAM STATES VIEWS

Candidate Outlines Major Issues in Gubernatorial Race

A crowd which filled the courtroom and overflowed into the doors and corridors heard A. H. (Sandy) Graham outline his stand on major issues in the gubernatorial race and attack the position of his opponents, as the candidate brought his campaign to this city last night with a public address.

Opening his address, Mr. Graham ascribed the high interest in the current campaign to the fact that government has been brought closer to the people in the past four years and wide divergence in views between the four candidates for the governorship.

He pointed out that taxation is one of the dominant issues because the days are past when the state can operate on the proceeds of bond issues or by piling up large deficits. Such expenditures as are made must come from taxation, he said.

He declared that there is untold wealth in North Carolina which escapes taxation and challenged his opponents to find it. "It's not here," he said. "Two sessions of the legislature longer than any others in the state's history, have been spent in trying to find some untapped sources of taxation. The legislatures couldn't find them."

Specifically, Mr. Graham said he favored: (1) Immediate enactment of social security legislation which would put North Carolina in accord with federal measures on old age pensions and unemployment insurance.

in the teacher load and a ten-day sick leave with pay for every teacher. These increases, he said, should be reasonable ones within the state's revenue, but such as will compensate teachers for the increased cost of living.

He termed Mr. Hoey the "administration candidate" and said the Shelby man would not be free to deal with the vital issues if elected. Mr. Graham called himself the "middle of the road" candidate and appealed for support as "one who is not ultra conservative on the one hand, nor ultra radical on the other, but one who promises sane and stable, liberal and progressive, but not radical government in North Carolina."
