DUCE EXPECTS ABANDONMENT OF SANCTIONS

Removal of Penalties Predicted Regardless of League

ITALY DECLARED STRONG AS EVER

Fascist Sources List Developments Made by Application of War Sanctions

Rome, June 15.—(AP)—Italy expects time to work in her favor in prospective sanctions discussions, high fascist sources said today. Premier Mussolini's nation which Thursday begins its eighth month under the war penalties, was declared by economists to be as strong now as before the league of nations condemned her aggression in East Africa.

Political circles expressed the belief the sanctionist ranks would gradually crumble regardless of what action the league council and assembly decide upon at Geneva late this month.

Time will bring not only an acceptance of the new empire, they declared, but also a break in the sanctionist walls until Italian commerce resumes its normal activities. Diplomatic and economic fascist sources listed seven developments which the application of war penalties has brought to Rome. They included: 1. Loss of some foreign markets which may or may not be regained later.

Supreme Court Upholds Use Tax On Automobiles

BUREAU MOVES HELP FARMERS

Provision Made To Increase Land Diverted from Lint

E. F. Arnold, executive secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Federation, announced today receipt of a telegram explaining that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had issued instructions that cotton producers may increase to 35 per cent land diverted from their cotton base in 1936, and producers with five acres or less may divert up to and not exceeding two acres.

The telegram came as an answer to one to Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau. Mr. Arnold wired the national president that drought conditions were serious and urged him to "contact Washington and Wallace. Advocate appropriations to increase soil conservation payments to farmers in drought areas."

McGowan Reports on Georgia Weed Crop

C. H. McGowan, operator of the Farmers Tobacco Warehouse, today wired from Metter, Ga., where he also has warehouse interests, that the Georgia and South Carolina crops are only about 60 per cent normal.

Mr. McGowan is in Georgia in the interest of his tobacco business and is making a thorough survey of the situation in that state as well as in South Carolina.

Bandits Rob Station Operator of $25.00

Raleigh, June 15.—(AP)—Four unidentified men held up Johnny Johnson, a filling station operator, here this morning and robbed him of $25. Officers said the robbers headed toward Fayetteville and commented there was close similarity between the holdup here and one at Wilson earlier this morning when four men robbed a filling station attendant of $35, some cigarettes and other goods and headed toward Raleigh.

Total of 44 Cases Decided on By State's Highest Bar

Raleigh, June 15.—(AP)—The North Carolina supreme court this afternoon upheld as valid and legal a "use tax" levied on automobile purchased outside North Carolina and used by a North Carolina resident in the state.

The court decided 44 cases including four in which defendants had been sentenced to be executed. Associate Justice Michael Schenk wrote the court opinion upholding the 1935 tax of up to $10 on automobiles bought in other states by North Carolinians.

"The levy," the opinion said, "is neither an ad valorem tax nor a sales tax upon extra territorial transactions, but is a use excise tax or use tax levied and collected for the privilege of operating automobiles on the streets and highway of North Carolina."

L. A. Powell of Rockingham county brought the suit in Wake county against A. J. Maxwell, revenue commissioner, after he was assessed in Danville, Va. He held the tax under protest and filed suit to test the law.

$500,000 Allowed As Lawyers' Fee By Forsyth Court

Sum Agreed Upon by Judge Clayton Moore for Representing Anne Cannon Reynolds in Litigations

Winston-Salem, June 15.—(AP)—A half million dollars attorneys' fee was allowed the law firms of Brooks, Parker and Holderness and Brooks, McLendon and Holden Holderness of Greensboro for their services in representing Anne Cannon Reynolds in litigation which has arisen since the death of the child's father, Smith Reynolds, in 1933.

Further Clemency For Bayboro Man Thought Doubtful

Raleigh, June 15.—(AP)—Edwin Gill, parole commissioner, said early this afternoon a statement would be issued late in the day in the W. J. Swan case but indications pointed to no further clemency for the former Bayboro banker. The parole commissioner said the matter would not be closed until issuance of a formal statement but that it appeared Swan would have to enter prison tonight. Swan was convicted of bank law violations in Pamlico county and was sentenced to four years in prison.

DR. McDONALD SAYS HOEY FOR STATE SYSTEM

Forsyth Man Advocates County Liquor Control Plan

NO COMMENT FROM OPPONENT

Liquor Looms As Big Issue in Run-off For Democratic Gubernatorial Nominee

Raleigh, June 15.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, opponent of Clyde R. Hoey for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, in a statement today advocating a county control system of liquor stores and accused his opponent of desiring state control.

"Hoey" he said "is looking forward to liquor revenues to add to the finances of the machine in North Carolina government."

Hubert E. Olive, campaign manager for Hoey, refused to make any statement on the question which was not mentioned in the Democratic party platform drawn in the state convention here last Friday.

"I'm for county action, county control and for letting the counties keep the money," McDonald said. "The only possible state function that I would advocate would be a state auditing board to keep the finances straight and that might not be necessary."

"The liquor issue is an issue in this campaign, but it is not the main issue. The main issue is whether or not North Carolina is to have four more years of Ehringhaus, of a Gardner - Ehringhaus - Hoey regime of political domination by the few."

"The liquor issue is related because all they need to build up a real Hoey - Long machine of dictatorship in North Carolina is the hundreds of thousands of dollars they would realize in revenues from state control of liquor."

THE STORY OF SOLDIER BONUS—IN PICTURES!

The story of Joseph Ashi, Washington, D. C., attorney, is told in these pictures because it is typical of thousands of other World War veterans who will begin receiving their bonus bonds the night of June 15. In 1917 Ashi went to war as a private (upper left) and was wounded critically in a battle similar to the fighting shown in the United States signal corps picture at upper right. On the eve of the bonus payments, Ashi meets his postman (lower left) and rehearses the happy scene that will be duplicated many times all over the country when the mailman brings the bonds. In the meantime, Ashi and his wife (lower right) inspect their home with a view to repairing it with some of the bonus money. (Associated Press Photos)

Millions Of Dollars Move Into Hands Of Ex-Soldiers

FIND WRECKED PATROL PLANE

Crew of Three Men Thought to Have Perished in Sea

Jacksonville, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—Coast guard division headquarters announced today that wreckage of the coast guard amphibian plane, 168, missing on storm patrol duty, had been located in Tampa Bay. The crew of three men were believed lost.

A radio message from Patrol boat 100 related it had part of the wreckage in grappling hooks. The coast guard craft, Nemenis, one of the boats sent to search for the plane, reported the wreckage was sighted by plane at 8:20 a. m. (EST.)

Officers aboard the Nemenis said the plane apparently dove into the bay about 3:15 a. m. "All hands believed lost," ended the terse message.

Veterans of World War Receiving Almost $1,650,000,000

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The bonus was paid today to veterans of the world war. One of the last chapters in the 17-years' struggle over various forms of adjusted compensation was written as "baby" bonds worth almost $1,650,000,000 moved over highways and rural routes toward the pockets of city men and farmers.

Shipments of the bonds to some 3,000,000 ex-service men from 12 federal reserve cities constituted one of the largest batches of mail in post office history. When the work is complete 38,000,000 bonds will have been sent out.

Government experts said that by the end of week millions of dollars in cash would be in the hands of those men who seek immediately to swap the bonds for government checks—and the cash then will flow into the trade channels.

No veteran will need to leave his home town to cash his bonds, officials said. Each local postmaster has made arrangements to identify veterans' certified bonds and forward them to paying officers where the checks will be written.

Business observers watched expectantly to see what effect the sudden burst of cash would have on general trade at a time when business normally hits a down swing.

HEAVY STORM HITS FLORIDA

Residents of Many Cities Marooned by High Waters

Fort Myers, Fla., June 15.—(AP)—Residents of many south Florida cities were marooned by high water resulting from a tropical storm which crossed the state and went out on the ocean today.

There was heavy rainfall through the night, but no material wind damage was reported. Sheriff Bob King said he was informed by residents of Bonita Springs, 20 miles south of here, that the waters there were the highest they had been in about 10 years.

Fred A. Flanders, government weather observer, at Moore Haven, reported rainfall in the 48 hour period prior to 8 a. m. today was 9.33 inches, the heaviest since the 1926 hurricane.

Flanders said 8.4 inches fell between 8:30 a. m. Sunday and 8 a. m. today.

Veritable cloudbursts preceded the storm in this sector and Naples reported a fall of 16 inches in the past 72 hours. Southwest winds bringing high tides aggravated flood conditions at coastal points.

News Behind The News

Washington

By IRA BENNETT DUMB: Astonishing how all big and little New Dealers in the government service found it necessary to cluster around the radio during the G. O. P. convention—and astonishing to see so many radio sets suddenly appearing in government offices.

Government business was in suspense at times—even the signing of checks. Spontaneous huddles of political brigadiers and propaganda writers took place in all public buildings.

But the absence of the master strategist, President Roosevelt, cast a pall of hesitancy over all minor New Deal meetings. No one dared to outline a plan of campaign. That job awaits the man who is most concerned. The New Deal without Roosevelt was a dumb multitude. But its ears were sharp enough—listening in on the Cleveland convention.

LEADERS SEEK END CONGRESS LAST OF WEEK

Express Doubt, However, Task Can Be Accomplished

TAX MEASURE BIG OBSTACLE

Intensive Drive Is Launched to Adjourn Before Democratic Convention

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—Aid expressions of hope, but doubt, for Saturday night adjournment, congress assembled today after a week's respite to tackle anew its knotty legislative problems. Leaders of the house and senate launched an intensive drive to wind up the 74th congress before the democratic national convention next week but there were several barriers to be hurdled before they may reach their goal.

One of the most stubborn obstacles in the path of adjournment is the tax bill on which conference worked throughout last week with little material progress toward a compromise on controversial points.

Conferees on the $2,430,000,000 deficiency relief bill had no more last week and still have several problems to solve before they make their report.

In addition to the tax and relief bills congress has yet to act on conference reports on the treasury, post office, the interior department and district of Columbia appropriations bills as well as the Patman chain store regulatory measure, the anti-lobby bill and a number of minor bills.

The Vinson-Guffey coal bill, designed to replace the Guffey coal act, invalidated the supreme court, has not come up in either house or senate—and some members seemed determined to stay here until it is passed.

The possibility existed that if congress does not finish its work this week, it will be in session through the first of July, since it was understood a week's recess would be taken for the democratic national convention in the event adjournment can not be reached by Saturday night.

Pitt Agent Urges Farmers in County Sign Work Sheets

Final Opportunity For Participating in Soil Conservation Program Offered Pitt County Farmers

The Pitt county farm agent's office today issued a statement urging every farmer in the county who has not done so to see his local committee and make out his application in the Soil Conservation program. The statement follows: "We are extending this last opportunity for filing work sheets, for the new Soil Conservation program with the local committee."

"Every farmer in the county who has not already done so should see his local committee, or come to the county agent's office and make out his application. By filing out a work sheet you do not obligate yourself in any way, but will make yourself eligible to receive any payment which may be due you."

"You must make out a work sheet before you will be entitled to any benefit payments for your 1936 crops."

"If you have increased your soil depleting crops you may still be due some payment and should see your local committee or your county agent."

"The county agent has arranged to meet with the farmers and their committees according to the following schedule to receive applications: Greenville, Grand Jury Room of the court house, Monday, June 15. Pactolus, Davenport's Store, Monday, June 15. Belvoir, Reddick's Store, Tuesday, June 16. Bethel, E. L. Mayo's Store, Tuesday, June 16. Swift Creek, H. T. Stokes' Store, Wednesday, June 17. Ayden, F. C. X. Store, Wednesday, June 17. Chirod, Spencer's Store, Black Jack, Thursday, June 18. Carolina, Woolard's Store, Stokes, Thursday, June 18. Wirtville, R. L. Worthington's Store, Friday, June 19. Beaver Dam, Mack Smith's Store, Friday, June 19. Farmers in townships not listed, or any farmer who has not signed, do not miss this last opportunity but see your committee or county agent."

THE PROMISE IS MADE

(News and Observer)

As a Democratic newspaper which has opposed the general sales tax.

The News and Observer with the greatest satisfaction takes its stand now on that question squarely on the platform adopted by the Democrats of North Carolina in convention in Raleigh last week.

The declaration on that subject declares:

"Economic improvement will now permit the immediate elimination of the sales tax levy on all necessities of life and on meals at boarding houses and all public eating places and hotels."

The Democratic party pledges itself to accomplish this at the 1937 session of the General Assembly.

If this pledge is carried out the ugliest aspects of this tax on consumption will be removed.

Readers will note that the platform pledges the party to eliminate at the next session of the General Assembly the sales tax on "ALL the necessities of life."

And certainly "ALL the necessities of life," as the Winston-Salem Journal points out, "would include all foodstuffs, a certain amount of clothing, shoes and the implements with which men perform their necessary labors."

It might be taken to include also a certain amount of household furnishings. Undoubtedly "ALL the necessities of life" would include these. Under any sensible interpretation of the phrase "ALL necessities of life," it would in these times include a great deal more.

Certainly it would include all the moderate adjuncts of food, clothing and shelter. It would include further all those aspects of modern living which are not to be definitely classed as unnecessary and luxuries.

Upon this plank, written according to reports by friends, advocates and defenders of the sales tax, opponents of the general sales tax in North Carolina can only take their stand. The only question that remains is whether those who wrote the plank and made the promise will stand by it.

Written by an expert in writing, dictated by experts in politics, the people of North Carolina have a right to believe that the platform means what it says. If it does, and if the candidates who stand upon it mean to fulfill it, then there is no reason why North Carolina should be quickly freed from the discussion of a vexatious problem and from the burdens of an inequitable tax.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

that the Senate and House are in for a savage scrap.

Senate conferees who intend to fight for the Senate bill are convinced that American industry and business will fall upon the administration like a ton of bricks if the house proposition should win out.

These senators firmly believe they are saving the New Deal from disaster when they try to ward off excessively heavy taxes on corporation surpluses. They will consent to a small experimental tax, but will defy the President and the House to the end rather than invite retaliation from the country's business men in November.

It's up to the President. He has plainly stated his preference for a law that will impose a graduated tax upon corporation earnings up to 42-1-2 per cent. Soon he must decide whether to fish or cut bait on this vital political question.

FOOLED: Since FDR is gifted with keen intuition, some observers figure that he has taken note of the G. O. P. onslaught on "crushing taxation" and will find a way to modify his demand for the new plan to force corporations to distribute their surplus earnings.

These observers suggest that of the 400,000 or more corporations in the country at least 350,000 are struggling along with small or no reserves. The little companies are not to be taxed as heavily as the big fellows — but they are to be taxed, and it hurts.

Heretofore these prophets who have predicted that FDR would extend an city branch to industry

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Squira Burdett, miser of Hope Enderton in Sussex, is carrying home from the village because it suddenly has occurred to him that someone may break in and steal his money while he is away. He is a fat, middle-aged man with a mustache and a disheveled hair. He is wearing a blue suit, a white shirt, and a red tie. He is carrying a large bag of money. He is walking through a dark, narrow alleyway. He is looking back over his shoulder. He is sweating. He is breathing heavily. He is feeling nervous. He is feeling afraid. He is feeling alone. He is feeling vulnerable. He is feeling exposed. He is feeling unprotected. He is feeling helpless. He is feeling hopeless. He is feeling despair. He is feeling death. He is feeling murder. He is feeling tonight.

Chapter Three THE SERGEANT

THE gypsy's eyes flickered but he said nothing, so Dale drained his tankard and set it ostentatiously down on the sill of a window. "Nice day," he said, "if the rain holds off. Well, I'll be getting along."

The gypsy was with him in two strides, and a swarthy hand was laid on his arm. "Come, Mr. Dale, you want that mare—at sixty pounds."

"Sixty?" Dale swung round. "To a gentleman like you, as I know can ride her properly."

"Damn you," Dale cried explosively, "but I do want her and that's a fact. I haven't had a decent horse of my own for two years. I'll give you sixty for her Dawley, but I'll have to be thirty down and the rest in a month's time."

ARTHUR BURDETT reached home at last puffing and apprehensive. He stumped his way up

"There's old Mr. Burdett," he said half aloud, and his wife, who was by his side, clutched his arm and said, "John, couldn't you go and speak to him about it, now?"

Fenton shrugged his shoulders in despair. "What's the good?" he said. "He'll do it if he's a mind to; and if it means money, he will have a mind to; and that's all there is to it."

"Can't we stop him somehow?" "How?"

Devastating moneylender, which Mary Fenton did not attempt to answer; instead she said, "Doesn't it seem wicked that people should have power like that to hurt others?"

Again Fenton shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know that it's wicked exactly," he said, "it's the way of the world. But if he does it, it means the end of Fenton's Stores, that's certain." For a minute or two he was silent, then he said in a curiously quiet voice, "Pop round to the back, Mary, and see if that boy has got his bicycle ready yet. Time we made a start with the orders."

Mary Fenton obediently ran about her business and left her husband staring after the disappearing figure in the disreputable coat.

THE SEC is said to have had intimations that it should not be over-strict in its interpretation of the laws forbidding market manipulation. The law should be enforced, of course, but not in a manner to scare off "legitimate traders."

Also the Commission should be careful about promulgating new market restrictions. A backside "go easy" policy is clearly indicated. It looks like one more New Deal bid for conservative support, but insiders don't take it that way. They figure the real move is rather to avoid any move that might retard recovery or knock the stock market for a loop.

Recovery remains FDR's most effective campaign weapon and he can reasonably be expected to keep as keen an edge on it as possible.

KEY: Our government's recent monetary agreement with China is beginning to bear fruit. Several sizable silver shipments have already been made to this country from Shanghai. The money our Treasury pays for the metal is being used by China to buy foreign exchange with which to manage her currency.

A branch of the Bank of China is to be opened in New York about the first of July to facilitate the Chinese government's operations. The result will be to break up British domination of Chinese monetary affairs. There will be an increasingly close tie-up between the yuan and the dollar. This relationship in turn will greatly strengthen our position in future stabilization negotiations with England.

Britain's financial stake in China is much larger than ours. She cannot afford to jeopardize it by refusing to play ball on our terms if China takes her monetary guidance from us. This is the real key to our deal with China — which superficially didn't seem to have much point.

NULLIFY: Another significant angle of the Chinese agreement has escaped public attention. It smashes the dream of Congressional silverites about lifting the price of the metal to the magic figure of $12.9. Our Treasury will no longer be an active purchaser in the world silver markets. It will get virtually all the metal it wants from domestic production or Chinese stocks. This dries up the only large scale demand that could force world prices up.

Secretary Morgenthau never did care privately for the price-raising objective of the silverite program. He has now found a neat way to nullify it without disobeying the mandate of Congress.

UNHAPPY: New York banking circles learn that their British brethren are extremely nervous about Leon Blum. The new French premier's radical program for labor and finance could easily make a lot of trouble for the English government. What's more, Blum's sword is double-edged so far as Britain is concerned.

ADVANTAGE: Another week in the story in all probability — although Minority Leader Snell thinks "Congress won't adjourn before the middle of July." FDR enjoys a peculiar advantage at this juncture. He is the only candidate for President who is President, with a sub-servient House and somewhat less subservient Senate to help him in his campaign.

GREENIES TRIM NEW BERN, 6-2

Local Club Wins 8th in Row; Tied with Ace for Top

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD

The Greensies gave their elated fans an interesting baseball game at the Third Street stadium here yesterday afternoon by putting the nightcap on the New Bern Bears as result of a 6-2 score.

Although the metaphorical rays of a sunny Sunday afternoon blasted down from the heavens, a very jubilant crowd witnessed the event.

Yesterday's combat kept the Ayden Aces and the Greensies tied for first place position in Coastal Plain League standings as both teams won their engagements. The Aces licked the Kinston Eagles by a score of 5-3.

Clement did the mound work for the locals and pitched air-tight ball throughout the game, achieving the eighth consecutive win of the season for the locals and allowed the visitors only five hits from which nothing tangible could be produced.

New Bern's first bombardment started in the first frame when she scored her first run caused by an infield hit pounded out by Mewborn, and two infield outs and a single by Mueller. The second run of the day for the visitors was brought about in the eighth when Lefty Kennel went to the plate to pitch hit for Huskamp and was walked by Clement, local tosser. He then advanced to second on an error by Bo Farley, Greeneie manager, and advanced to home and scored a run on Brogden's single.

This afternoon the Greensies are playing off a game with the Bears which was showered out at that place last Saturday. This afternoon's game is being played at New Bern. Tomorrow afternoon the locals clash with the Tarboro

A "twin" squash, grown by Mrs. Fernando Whichard at her home near Bethel, was being exhibited here today.

The squash is joined together at the stem and both parts of the plant are practically identical. Mrs. Whichard said she has also grown "triple" squash plants.

The result will be to break up British domination of Chinese monetary affairs. There will be an increasingly close tie-up between the yuan and the dollar. This relationship in turn will greatly strengthen our position in future stabilization negotiations with England.

Britain's financial stake in China is much larger than ours. She cannot afford to jeopardize it by refusing to play ball on our terms if China takes her monetary guidance from us. This is the real key to our deal with China — which superficially didn't seem to have much point.

NULLIFY: Another significant angle of the Chinese agreement has escaped public attention. It smashes the dream of Congressional silverites about lifting the price of the metal to the magic figure of $12.9. Our Treasury will no longer be an active purchaser in the world silver markets. It will get virtually all the metal it wants from domestic production or Chinese stocks. This dries up the only large scale demand that could force world prices up.

Secretary Morgenthau never did care privately for the price-raising objective of the silverite program. He has now found a neat way to nullify it without disobeying the mandate of Congress.

UNHAPPY: New York banking circles learn that their British brethren are extremely nervous about Leon Blum. The new French premier's radical program for labor and finance could easily make a lot of trouble for the English government. What's more, Blum's sword is double-edged so far as Britain is concerned.

ADVANTAGE: Another week in the story in all probability — although Minority Leader Snell thinks "Congress won't adjourn before the middle of July." FDR enjoys a peculiar advantage at this juncture. He is the only candidate for President who is President, with a sub-servient House and somewhat less subservient Senate to help him in his campaign.

FOOLED: Since FDR is gifted with keen intuition, some observers figure that he has taken note of the G. O. P. onslaught on "crushing taxation" and will find a way to modify his demand for the new plan to force corporations to distribute their surplus earnings.

These observers suggest that of the 400,000 or more corporations in the country at least 350,000 are struggling along with small or no reserves. The little companies are not to be taxed as heavily as the big fellows — but they are to be taxed, and it hurts.

Heretofore these prophets who have predicted that FDR would extend an city branch to industry

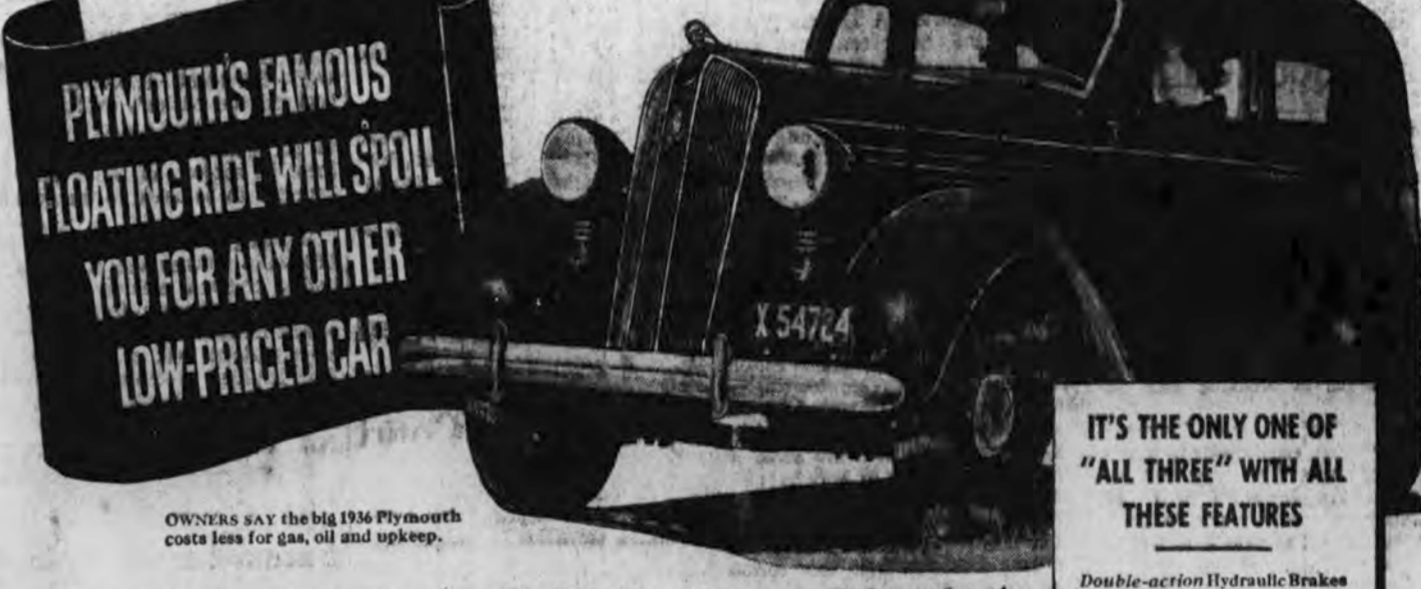

If this pledge is carried out the ugliest aspects of this tax on consumption will be removed. Readers will note that the platform pledges the party to eliminate at the next session of the General Assembly the sales tax on "ALL the necessities of life."

And certainly "ALL the necessities of life," as the Winston-Salem Journal points out, "would include all foodstuffs, a certain amount of clothing, shoes and the implements with which men perform their necessary labors."

Upon this plank, written according to reports by friends, advocates and defenders of the sales tax, opponents of the general sales tax in North Carolina can only take their stand. The only question that remains is whether those who wrote the plank and made the promise will stand by it.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. "Good the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all churches and societies of Christ Scientist, on Sunday, June 14.

The golden text was from Isaiah 41:10. "Fear thou not; for I am with thee; be not dismayed; for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee; yea, I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness."

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "They that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Zion, which cannot be removed, but abideth forever. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever." (Ps. 125:1-2).

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In divine Science, man is sustained by God, the divine Principle of being. The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink'—presuming not on the providence of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies."

Bob Jones, Jr. At College. Bob Jones, Jr., a popular radio entertainer, who has achieved fame also as director of the Classic Players, the only college group in America having a repertoire composed exclusively of Shakespearean plays, will present at the college on Wednesday night of this week, a selected group of his most popular Shakespearean characterizations, with appropriate scenic and lighting effects. He calls his program "Curtain Calls."

An outstanding authority on Shakespeare, Bob Jones, Jr., is admirably equipped as to physique, voice, and training for presenting interpretations of Shakespeare's characters and his radio experience has also given him good training.

He presents in popular form that appeals to the eye and ear the most beloved and human of the Shakespearean characters, at the same time bringing the characters close together in quick succession and with sharp contrast in music and costume, which gives the program a modern touch. He uses music whenever it is needed and has with him a soloist with a lovely soprano voice. This is the first of the series of entertainments to be given at the college during the summer, all of which will be in the Austin auditorium.

Visiting Relatives in City. Lieutenant and Mrs. Daniel R. Taylor arrived Saturday from Manila, Philippine Islands, where they have been for the past several years. They will spend some time here with Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Winslow, before going to Fort Benning, Ga., where Lieutenant Taylor will be stationed.

Bride-Elect Honored. Fountain, N. C., June 15.—Mrs. Leslie Yelverton and Miss Koma Lee Owens honored Miss Mary King Fountain, bride-elect, when they entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. Yelverton from four until six on Tuesday afternoon.

At the front door Mrs. R. A. Fountain, Jr., greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line, composed of the hostesses, Miss Fountain, Mrs. B. A. Fountain, Sr., of Fountain; Mrs. Horace Eagles of Wesleyville, Penn., and Miss Betty Carswell of Murfreesboro, N. C.

Receiving at the dining room door were Mrs. Bruce Eagles and Mrs. John Fountain. Lime ice and individual cakes were served by Mrs. Bruce Beasley and Mrs. Lynwood Owens. Assisting these in serving in the dining room were Misses Elizabeth Smith, Hazel and Lurline Bass.

In the sun parlor were Mrs. Hardy Johnson and Mrs. M. D. Yelverton who directed the guests to the desk where Mrs. M. E. Smith filed the favorite recipes for the bride-elect. The house was lovely in its arrangement of mixed flowers. About sixty-five guests called.

Cardui Helps When Nerves Seem On Edge Every Month

Women who find themselves in a painful, nervous fix, suffering every month, may have some functional trouble which Cardui should benefit. "At times, I felt like I must scream if a door slammed or there was an unusual noise," writes Mrs. P. A. Odum, of Haines City, Fla. "I did not feel like doing my housework, and as I had other work besides, I felt more like lying down. A friend of mine asked me to try Cardui which I did. After my first bottle, I felt much better. I continued taking it until I had taken six or seven bottles. By this time I was so much improved I was able to leave it off."

Ohio County Finds Stone Ironton, O. (AP)—An almost inexhaustible supply of limestone discovered on a nearby farm is slowly but surely lifting this part of Ohio out of the mud. Since the stone was discovered two years ago a quarry has been established by the county, of which Ironton is the county seat, and from 200 to 250 cubic yards of crushed stone are being produced daily. There are 40 acres of the stone and although it is being hauled away daily to provide country roads with a hard surface, less than a quarter of an acre of the tract has been worked.

To All Democratic Voters

Why Does Not Dr. McDonald Answer Publicly The Following Questions:

- 1. Is it true that he included an occupation tax in the McDonald-Lumpkin Tax Plan submitted to the last Legislature, taxing all persons earning an average of $19.23 per week for the privilege of working?
2. Is it true that he included in the same Tax Plan a 1 cent tax on bottled soft drinks (the kind the poor man buys) and exempted soda fountain drinks (the kind purchased by people better able to pay)?
3. Is it true that he actually voted for a sales tax on cafe and hotel meals?
4. Is it true that he is politically afraid to make public his views, if any, on the liquor question?
5. Is it true that he became a resident of Forsyth County in 1928 but did not list any taxes until 1931, and that even in the year 1935 (the year he served in the Legislature) he failed to list his taxes?
6. Notwithstanding his failure to list his own taxes, is it true that in this campaign he has charged a respected citizen of Forsyth county (now dead) with failure to list and pay taxes, whereas the records show that this citizen had fully complied with all the tax laws of the State and County?
7. Is it true that the Court Records of Cumberland County show that he was enjoined by order of Hon. Garland E. Midgett, Superior Court Judge from making changes in a public school building, when Dr. McDonald was only a school principal, and that in the same proceedings he was able to retain his position by means of legal technicalities?
8. Is it true that he was denied his diploma by Hendrix College (a Methodist college in Arkansas) for two years after his graduation, and if so why?
9. Is it true that although he poses as a good Democrat and citizen he lived in North Carolina for eight years before he ever registered or voted and that his only political activity has been in his own behalf?
10. Why has he not explained specifically how he expects to avoid putting taxes back on our farms and homes; and how does he expect to avoid putting the cost of supporting the schools back on the counties if they are taken back from the State?
11. Why has he not explained how he expects to avoid enormous unemployment under his program?
12. Since he charged in speeches all over the State that public offices are filled by men of inexperience, why has he not told the people what executive experience he has had to qualify him as the Chief Executive of North Carolina.
13. Why has he not expressed himself with regard to White supremacy? or his great activity in trying to register negroes?

DANGER

Why should any Democrat vote for a candidate like Dr. McDonald who openly threatens that he will disrupt and destroy the Democratic party and whose platform is destructive of the progress made by North Carolina in 36 years of progressive leadership? Our beloved State has grown and prospered in Agriculture, Industry and Education and fulfilled the prophecy of Aycock that when we educate our people they will use their intelligence to create wealth and give employment to thousands. Now McDonald, a selfish seeker after notoriety, unacquainted with the State and totally without any business experience, pitches his whole campaign upon a base and vile slander of thousands of honest and patriotic men and women who have composed the General Assemblies and filled numerous public offices and have made North Carolina the most progressive and peaceful State in the South. He even insinuates that public officials, including the people's representatives in several sessions of the Legislature are corrupt! No State in the American Union has a cleaner record of public service than North Carolina. SHAME ON THIS ADOPTED SON. Every self respecting citizen should resent his ingratitude. If you want the highest office in the State filled by a mere opportunist without one iota of practical executive experience, then vote for McDonald. If you want a real Democrat, a lifelong citizen of North Carolina, who is proud of his heritage and believes in peace and prosperity, then vote for Hoey.

This advertisement is published by a group of citizens of Pitt County who are not in politics but believe that the election of Dr. McDonald would be a dangerous thing for the state. The election of Hoey, a man of long and creditable experience will mean progress and stability.
