JAPS DECLARE NAVAL TREATY MEANINGLESS

Pact Is Rejected by Cabinet Following Delegation Lead

DECISION BASED ON PARITY CLAUSES

Admiral Osami Nagano Insists Japan Must Be Free to Build Ships Needed

Tokyo, June 24.—(AP)—Japan rejected as "practically meaningless" today the three power London Naval treaty.

The cabinet following the lead of the Japanese delegation which walked out of the treaty session last January refused a British invitation to join in the pact.

The Japanese objection to the "stop gap" agreement signed March 25 by the United States, Great Britain and France was based on absence of naval parity clauses which Japan had insisted on.

Because the new treaty does not provide restriction of total naval tonnage it is "practically meaningless," the cabinet statement said.

Admiral Osami Nagano, navy minister, was reported to have emphasized to the cabinet that Japan must be free to build whatever ships she needs for defense purposes.

This freedom could not be maintained, he was reported to have said, under the exchange clause.

Haywood Butler and Russell Butler were given terms of eight months each, while Allen Crawford and Fred Crawford, each of whom entered pleas of guilty, were given six months each, the sentence meted out to Fred Crawford to be suspended two years upon good behavior.

The Butler boys noted an appeal to Superior court and bond of $500 each was ordered for their appearance in the higher court.

Ed Wilkins, convicted of escaping from the County Home, was given a jail sentence of 60 days, to run concurrently with the sentence he was serving when he escaped.

Fred Hannah was charged with being drunk and disorderly, but was convicted only of simple assault and judgment was left open.

Josh Thigpen was given an eight-month sentence upon conviction of larceny.

W. C. McKinnon, convicted of disposing of mortgaged property, was sentenced to the roads for six months.

BRITISH JUBILEE COINS START COLLECTORS' RACE

London, (AP)—The royal mint sent collectors on their hottest and most expensive chase of recent years when 25 gold pieces of 50 pounds ($250) each were turned out in commemoration of King George's jubilee.

There were 1,329 applications for the coins which were distributed by lot.

Less than a month after the pieces were struck an offer of 2,000 pounds, or $10,000, was made thru a newspaper advertisement to any one of the lucky 25 who cared to part with his memento.

Century Old Two-Thirds Regulation Be Decided

Philadelphia, June 24.—(AP)—The Democratic convention rules committee agreed today to vote at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow on the question of abrogating the century old two-thirds rule.

Parliamentary discussion among committee members at an initial meeting today revealed a strong division of opinion, with indications of a determined fight by some southern states to retain the rule.

The committee voted to hear any delegate to the convention who wished to appear on the issue.

Tar Heel Delegation Finds Very Little Do

Philadelphia, June 24.—(AP)—North Carolina delegation to the Democratic convention settled down today to the routine of the conclave.

With the state record in favor of the proposal to quit the century old two-thirds rule, there was little for the delegates to do other than to listen to the addresses and join in the spasmodic demonstration.

Members of the various committees had tasks to perform, but most of the delegates were enjoying the social activities of the convention.

Declares Program Is Supported By Masses

New York, June 24.—(AP)—Withdrawing temporarily from the traditional full socialism policy of the communist party, Earl Browder, secretary general, struck the keynote of the ninth national convention today "with an immediate program which the masses are ready to support."

GERMAN STUDENT BODIES DWINDLE UNDER NAZISM

Berlin, June 24.—(AP)—Seekers of higher education in Germany have declined 38 per cent since the Nazis came to power.

Student bodies in universities are dwindling steadily, some as high as fifty per cent in several provincial schools. For the 1933 summer session 14,000 new students matriculated whereas for the winter semester of 1934-35 only 7,934 registered and but 7,000 for the 1935 summer term.

There were 116,000 students in all higher institutions of learning in the summer of 1933. The following winter the total was 89,000 and in the 1935 summer semester 77,000.

Universities at Kiel, Erlangen, Marburg and Leipzig were the biggest losers.

INTEREST LIES IN COMMITTEE

Dispute Of Platform Threatens Convention Harmony

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 24.—(AP)—An upsurge of platform dispute threatened the much talked of Democracy harmony today while business replaced tumult in a routine slimly-attended third session.

The interest all was in the committee and the crowd which assembled for the convention proceeding themselves was so small that the gates were thrown open to the public. Even so with no tickets required for admission the galleries were partially filled.

With the conservative wing of the party far outnumbered, demands for constitutional changes and endorsement of the Townsend old suspension plan gave the platform committee promise of trouble. But the Roosevelt leaders sat their faces against both proposals and predicted the campaign declarations would contain neither.

After the organization of committees the convention had nothing on hand until another rallying speech this evening — this time by Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas on assuming the permanent chairmanship.

Without waiting for the committee to be set up formally, the platform makers unanimously selected Senator Warner of New York to be chairman and proceeded to a quick fire of hearings in an upstairs room of the convention hall. Various farm leaders were among the first to appear.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, followed.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

By Ray Tucker
PHILADELPHIA: You won't discover it in the dreamy eyes of drowsing delegates, carnival cutups or precinct vote-pushers, but in the mental recesses of many a thoughtful Democrat here lurks the somber suspicion that this city of constitutional and brotherly love may be witnessing the last convention of our oldest major party.

The Democrats' 1936 convention has all the aspects of both a celebration and a wake. It's difficult to distinguish the tears from the cheers — and the jeers.

Statesmen with even an ounce of practical political sense concede that they may praise Roosevelt here but finish up by chanting a requiem to the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson.

Little Giant Of The Pits Dies Suddenly In Chicago

Arthur W. Cuten Succumbs Today To Heart Attack

Chicago, June 24.—(AP)—Arthur W. Cuten, 66, who amassed a fortune measured in millions in 30 years of spectacular market trading, died suddenly early today.

"The little giant of the wheat pits" as he became known during the teeming '20's era — when he held title to more of that grain than any other man in the world — was stricken with a heart attack at 1:30 a. m. (EST).

Cuten had been in feeble health for several months — but pressed a successful fight by proxy against a grain futures commission order barring him from the nation's grain pits.

He was ordered out of the pits for two years but carried the case to the United States circuit court of appeals, to the United States supreme court. The high tribunal ruled in favor of Cuten last May, sustaining the appeals court decision that the words "in violation" in the grain futures act could not apply to transgressions that occurred more than two years previous.

The fortune of Cuten — during the litigation government counsel termed him "the greatest speculator the country ever had" — was variously estimated from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000.

ARREST NEGRO FOR MURDER

Accused Man Held in Jail For Bethel Slaying

Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst said today he was convinced Jesse Grimes who is being held in jail without bond, was the negro who slew James Short, another negro, in Bethel last Friday night.

The sheriff has been waiving an investigation since the slaying, but had declined to make any statement on the crime until today.

Grimes was arrested as a result of a statement Short is said to have made as he lay dying. The dead negro accused Grimes of shooting him. The accused man denies having had any part in the murder.

Sheriff Whitehurst said his investigation showed that Short was slain as he was returning home after having attempted to kill his former sweetheart. He added his investigation showed the dead negro was attacked from the rear and then shot with his own pistol. The girl in question lived at Grimes' home.

Democrats Plunge Into Convention Struggles After Hearing Keynote

ASKS FARMERS ATTEND MEETS

To Vote on Tobacco Grading and Select Committeemen

Meetings in the various townships in Pitt county have been called for the two-fold purpose of setting up a Soil Conservation association to administer the federal government's farm program and to poll farmers eligible to vote on whether or not they desire government inspection of all tobacco sold on auction warehouses.

The meetings will begin tomorrow and continue through next Tuesday.

Only farmers who have signed work sheets, or do so before the meeting, will be allowed to vote in the selection of committeemen to have charge of the Soil Conservation program and work as intermediaries between the farmers and the county farm agent's office.

The government tobacco grading system referendum will be voted on only by tobacco growers who sold some of their product on the Farmville, Goldsboro or Smithfield markets last year. These places are being used for testing grounds this year and if the plan proves workable and popular, it will probably be established at all markets.

Only a limited number of qualified graders are available and only the three places named will have the system this fall, provided, however, two-thirds of the farmers who sold tobacco on these markets last year favor such a plan.

R. R. Bennett, Pitt County farm agent, said, however, it may be found that more graders are available and added, in such cases, referendums would be held for other markets, possibly Greenville and Wilson, and the system installed if two-thirds of the patrons of these places vote for it.

The government grading plan was provided by Congressional action pending, however, on the approval of farmers. Referendums are being conducted by the various county agent offices.

Farmers who have filled out work sheets will be called on to select three men from each township to serve on the committee to have charge of the Soil Conservation program. Only those who have signed the sheets are eligible to vote. But Mr. Bennett said plans had been arranged to allow farmers who have not signed and wishing to participate in the program to enter into contracts do so at the various meetings.

Approximately 2,700 Pitt county farmers already have signed the work sheets, and Mr. Bennett predicted this morning a number more would do so before the time limit expires. He added that he expected at least 90 per cent of the county's farmers to participate in the program.

The meetings, by township, places and date follow:

Falkland, Falkland School, 1 P. M. June 25; Fountain, Fountain School, 4 P. M. June 25; Farmville, Farmville City Hall, 8 P. M. June 25; Beaver-Dam, Mack Smith's Store, 1 P. M. Delegates Roar Approval of Speech by Senator Barkley

PARTIAL RESPITE OBSERVED TODAY

Little Rest, However, For Those Charged With Constructing New Platform

Philadelphia, June 24.—(AP)—After roaring its approval of a keynote speech calling for a sweeping reversal of the supreme court invalidation of new deal policy, the Democratic convention plunged today into the thick of the struggle for harmony on the 1936 platform.

The delegates, with the convention hardly started were already hoarse and foot sore from shouting, parading and singing with which they greeted Senator Alben W. Barkley's speech taunting the Republican leadership and accusing the supreme court majority of "tormented interpretation" of the constitution.

Today they had something of a respite. After a brief routine session at noon (Eastern daylight time) they were "on their own" until evening when Senator Joseph F. Robinson of Arkansas, permanent chairman, will continue the assault on the new deal's foemen in a speech about 10 o'clock (Eastern daylight time).

But there was little rest for the select company of delegates on the rules and platform committees. The former group was called together to hear arguments on the new deal drive to abolish the two-thirds nominating rule.

Much of the opposition to the rule, requiring a two-thirds majority to nominate, had disappeared, but Virginia delegates were calling angrily on brethren from elsewhere to rally to save it.

The platform builders were summoned to meet at 10 a. m. to hear multitudinous and clashing suggestions from almost every conceivable source.

Among them was a brand new threat to convention peace and concord.

The Washington state delegation had instructed Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach to carry to the platform committee — and to the convention floor — a fight for a "plan favoring the Townsend $200-a-month old age pension plan and production for use."

Observers drew from Senator Barkley's address the inference that the platform would contain no demand for a constitutional amendment.

But he did call for a new interpretation of interstate commerce embracing every product destined to move across state lines. This would give the federal government regulatory power over labor and economic problems which the high court says it now lacks.

$75,000 Addition Now In Sight For Federal Building

Congressmen Assured by Treasury Division That Sum Will Be Allocated During Next Fiscal Year

Washington, June 24.—(AP)—The Treasury Department today announced plans for federal building and improvements including: Greenville, N. C., postoffice extension and remodeling.

Word was received here today from Washington that members of the North Carolina congressional delegation had been assured by the Procurement division of the Treasury department that approximately $75,000 would be allocated during the next fiscal year for additions to the Federal building in this city.

It was pointed out that Greenville had been picked on the preferred list two years ago. It is expected, however, to be almost a year before a contract will be let as plans must be drawn.

T. T. Hollinsworth, local postmaster, said today three men had been sent here to look over the building to see what additions or repairs should be made, but that he had not received any details as to their findings and was unable to say exactly what the money would be used for if and when it is made available.

Winston-Salem, June 24.—The annual convention of the Southern Moravian Christian Endeavor Union opened last night at the Clemmons Moravian Church at Clemmons, near here, with approximately 150 out-of-town delegates present.

PLAN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Managers of Municipal Electric Plants to Meet

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, June 24—A state-wide organization of the operating managers of municipally owned electric plants will be formed here Thursday when the managers of these plants will meet here under the auspices of the North Carolina Municipal League. It was announced today by Patrick Healy, Jr., executive secretary of the league. The organization of this group into a separate body was authorized by the executive committee of the league when it met last month. Organization of other groups of municipal officials is planned later on.

There are 42 municipally owned and operated electric generating plants or distribution systems in North Carolina—something which the public generally does not realize," Healy said. "Very little attention has been given so far to this very important aspect of municipal administration from the standpoint of cooperation in the interchange of ideas and experience on the best methods of operation. This new organization is expected to act as a clearing house for the exchange of information and experience that will be helpful to the managers of these plants."

A total of 69 municipally owned electric plants are listed by the Federal Power Commission, while records of the league show 13 more than are municipally owned or operated, making a total of 82. Of this number, at least 20 generate some or all of their electricity, the others buying their current at wholesale from private utility companies and distributing it at retail over municipally owned distribution systems.

The meeting of the municipal electric plant managers will open at 11 o'clock Thursday morning in the Sir Walter Hotel and at least 20 cities and towns have indicated that their plant managers will attend. In addition to arranging the details of the permanent organization, a series of informal discussions will be held on subjects of interest.

Two-Day Convention Scheduled to Get Underway on July 9; Afternoon to Be Devoted to Field Trips

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Leiby, secretary-treasurer of the association announced today. Formal talks and business matters will be limited to two morning sessions beginning at nine o'clock. The afternoons will be given over to field trips to four of the largest plant nurseries in the east which are located in Avery county and sell only nursery-grown native plants.

Nurserymen from Eastern Tennessee and southwestern Virginia have been invited to attend the meeting.

Headquarters of the meeting will be at the Esceola Inn located at the foot of Grandfather Mountain at an altitude of 3,712 feet.

TELLS OF NEGRO CHILD'S TERRIFYING EXPERIENCE

Kinston, June 24—Ernest V. Web State Senator from the seventh district today described the "terrifying experience" of a negro child on his plantation south of here.

"The pickaninny was frolicking around a barn," he said. "He leaped through the barn door and landed on a rattlesnake. The theory that a snake has to be coiled to bite is entirely fallacious, but this one, which was stretched out, had no chance to bite because the child landed squarely on its head. The child lost no time tumbling out of reach of the thrashing reptile. The snake was killed and measured a full six feet.

"The farm is in a part of Jones county noted for large rattlers. A man killed six in a few hours recently."

CASH ASSURED FOR HIGHWAYS

Department to Have About $10,380,000 For New Work

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, June 24—The State Highway and Public Works Commission will have approximately $10,380,000 available after July 1 for new construction work of various sorts, but principally on Federal Aid roads and their extensions only, Chief Highway Engineer W. Vance Baise said today.

Of this amount, $5,880,000 is in Federal Aid funds of which the Federal government is providing half and the state half. The remaining $4,500,000 represents the unexpended portion of this year's Federal Aid allotment amounting to about $1,000,000 and about $3,500,000 in unexpended balances of allotments from the Federal Works Progress Highway Fund and Works Progress Grade Elimination fund, Baise said.

Virtually all of this unexpended balance of $4,500,000 is already committed, since projects have already been planned which will use up all this money, though the bids have not been called for nor the contracts let," Baise said. "However, most of the projects to be financed by this money should be under contract by fall."

Plans have already been made for the expenditure of a large part of the $5,880,000 Federal Aid money Baise said. All of this money must be spent on Federal Aid roads in the state, on extensions of these roads or on bridges on Federal Aid highways. None of it will be spent on grade crossing elimination work or in paving streets traversed by highways through cities and towns.

All the expense of maintaining the present roads, of betterments and of resurfacing existing roads must be borne from the new appropriation from state funds which becomes available July 1. Any new surfacing of state highways not a part of the Federal Aid system will also have to be done with state funds, Baise pointed out.

MORE THAN 800,000 NEW 1936 CHEVROLETS have been sold

America is giving overwhelming preference to Chevrolet because it's The only complete low-priced car

MORE than 800,000 new 1936 Chevrolets have been built and sold—more than four-fifths of a million since announcement day—the largest volume of business that Chevrolet has enjoyed in any comparable period in its entire history.

Record-breaking sales always indicate record-breaking value, and that is why we are printing these figures. They are important, not because they establish a record, but because they carry the following message to all people who have yet to buy their 1936 cars.

America is choosing Chevrolet because America is convinced that Chevrolet represents the most motor car for the least money.

"The most motor car," because it's the only low-priced car with such vitally important features as New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes and Solid Steel one-piece Turret Top for greatest safety; Improved Gliding Knee-Action Ride*, Shockproof Steering* and Genuine Fisher No Draft Ventilation for greatest comfort; and a powerful High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine for the most efficient all-round performance.

And "the least money," because Chevrolet's low purchase price, low operating costs and low maintenance costs make it the most economical of all cars to own.

America is saying these splendid things about Chevrolet with actual buying orders! Follow America's judgment. Place your order for a new 1936 Chevrolet—the only complete low-priced car!

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY IS LITTLE PATRONIZED

Camden, June 24.—Only two votes were cast in the Republican primary to nominate the Republican candidate for representative of this county in the 1937 General Assembly on June 6, it was discovered today. Those two votes were cast for F. R. Dodder, P. D. Burgess, the other candidate, didn't get a vote.

With interest centered in the Democratic contests, the fact that there was a Republican primary for this office on the same day as the Democratic primary was generally overlooked. An inquiring reporter looked up the record that Shilon and South Mills precincts cast one vote each for Dodder. In Courthouse one of the remaining precinct, not a Republican vote was cast for either candidate.

FORGED NAME ORDERING GOODS, GETS SENTENCE

Kinston, June 24.—Mr. H. Potter, Jr. of Snow Hill, who used the name of Taylor Furnishing Company in ordering merchandise from jobbers in large cities, today was given a suspended two-year sentence in Superior Court here. Blis went to a Taylor Furnishing Company at Raleigh. Officers said orders were sent from that city, while quantities of merchandise came here and were intercepted by detectives. Under the terms of the sentence Potter must not engage in business, for himself or as an agent, for five years.

Black Sea Fishermen Net Fruit

Constanta, Rumania (AP)—The fishing wasn't so good, but numerous fishermen of this Black Sea port came home recently with fine "catches" of oranges. To avert a break in the retail market, fruit brokers hired tugs to dump 30 carloads of oranges far out to sea. Fishermen managed to retrieve numerous crates.

Lambert Monocoupe, from Chicago to Endless Caverns, Va., in an attempt to capture the United States the woman's record for "distance in a straight line" and win a prize offered by the management of the caverns.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By CLIFF REID (Robin Coons, on vacation, asked the associate producer of "The Informer," "The Lost Patrol," "Annie Oakley" and other films to discuss the problems of his job.) Hollywood — To those outside the film industry, it might occasionally appear that the associate producer's principal function is to be the fellow about whom jokes are told. How simple, were such the case!

The scenarist, the director, the cameraman, the film editor and the art director each has his job which is his personal responsibility. The whole picture is the responsibility of the associate producer. His first problem is to find a story. He knows what type of picture he wants to produce. He comb the field of available material. He considers box-office values, screen adaptability and probable production costs. He may make mistakes, but he had better not make too many. It costs big money to make pictures. His next step is to engage a director particularly suited to get the most from the type of vehicle selected. He discusses and dissects the story with the director and engages screen writers. The problem of casting arises. In many cases, he has chosen his story for a definite star. (After "The Lost Patrol," John Ford and I knew we wanted Victor McLaglen for "The Informer.") There remains, however, the problem of filling every other role with players who can best interpret the characters. The producer works with his director and cast director on the selections. Then there are limitations and settings, and budget analysis evolved after careful analysis of potential returns—to be considered. Now the machinery of human creative talent has been mobilized and synchronized. The picture goes into production. But the associate producer's headaches are far from over. His manifold worries include such factors as the health of his players and the vagaries of outdoor location weather. He views the daily "rushes" and with the director decides whether this camera "take" or that is most effective. To his desk come daily reports from all the various departments. He is the human clearing house for all production activity. When the picture is off the sound stages, he follows through with the director and the cutters in editing it. With his heart in his throat, he attends previews and checks audience reactions. When the last change has been made and the negative has been shipped, he feels like taking half a dozen aspirins and going to bed for a week. But he knows he can't. He must start looking for another story.

Love Of Home Important Says Comely Mrs. Landon, Who Cooks Family Meals

Mrs. Alf M. Landon efficiently manages the Kansas gubernatorial mansion and attempts to see that her two children, Nancy Jo (left) and John Cobb, lead normal lives.

(By The Associated Press) Twelve years a widower, Alf M. Landon, wealthy Independence, Kas., oil man active in politics, set up offices in Topeka, state capital, to manage the gubernatorial campaign of Clyde M. Reed.

The year was 1928. Reed was successful. So was Landon, shortly after, in another pursuit. During the campaign he met Miss Theo Cobb, daughter of a Topeka banker. Brown-eyed, dimpled, slender and erect, she captured his heart. His courtship of two years was enlivened by frequent expeditions into the Kansas countryside in an unceasing search for American antiques, glassware and lustreware.

Miss Cobb was an ardent collector, an accomplished pianist and harpist, she had studied music abroad, and in Belgium and Holland had begun to gather objects and had outlived their usefulness but not their beauty. On January 15, 1930, they were married and went to live in Independence in a big, "porch house". Two years later he brought her back with him to the governor's mansion at Topeka.

An Eventful Week. Mrs. Landon probably will always remember that last week of July, 1932. Her husband brought in a 500-barrel oil well and received the Republican nomination for governor. She became the mother of a baby girl who was named Nancy Josephine. Nancy Jo will be four July 29.

On December 28, 1933, another child was born to the Landons. John Cobb, who also is called Jack. As soon as he was able to walk, Nancy Jo appointed herself guardian and custodian of her younger brother.

Alf Landon may be the governor

Landon something of the governor's first wife, who died in 1918. Peggy a daughter of that first marriage, is now a co-ed at the University of Kansas. This is how Governor Landon's father, John M., described Theo Cobb: "Alf's new wife is his first one all over again. Just two sizes smaller." Peggy, now 19 years old, started out calling her new mother "Theo". Mrs. Landon looks more like her sister than her parent.

May We Take This Method Of Explaining What an Ambulance is To avoid confusion, it is a vehicle made exclusively and for no other purpose than transporting the sick and wounded, NOT a hearse and NOT for the dead. An ambulance should be so constructed inside that it can be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected between each and every trip with an invalid suffering with a contagious or infectious disease. The floor covering should be of linoleum and the upholstery and top of genuine leather. This permits easy washing and thoroughly disinfecting. Any other material such as plush or mohair should be a veritable nest for all disease germs. In Cities, Public Health Authorities require and demand that even Taxicabs have leather upholstery to prevent the spread of diseases with the well. Ambulance patients should demand as much. Don't expose your sick to more disease germs than they already have, call an AMBULANCE that has every requirement and approval of the American Red Cross, one that is sanitary, one that is used for nothing but an AMBULANCE. We have such an AMBULANCE ready 24 hours every day to serve you. "The only exclusive AMBULANCE in Greenville" TELEPHONE 127 Williams Funeral Home

WHY THE DIFFERENCE?

Our people in this state are whooping it up for President Roosevelt and in the November elections we will vote overwhelmingly for him. We agree heartily with this approval of our President but it seems somewhat queer to us that while our people are so overwhelmingly behind the President, the ring leaders in the Democratic party in this state are turning Heaven and earth trying to defeat Ralph McDonald for Governor, who is running on almost the same platform as that Mr. Roosevelt has been standing on during his "New Deal" administration.

Mr. Roosevelt in his tax policies has advocated getting the tax money from the sources most able to pay; so has Dr. McDonald.

Mr. Roosevelt has stood for farm legislation that would place the farmers of our country on a par with other industries; Dr. McDonald advocates the same program for the farmers of this state.

Mr. Roosevelt sought and secured passage by Congress of social security legislation which included old age pensions; Dr. McDonald advocated a special session of the North Carolina General Assembly this year in order that the state might enact laws that would permit it to participate in the federal social security funds. He promises immediate attention to this subject if he is elected Governor of North Carolina.

In view of the similarity of platforms of these two outstanding leaders we are unable to see why the politicians of our state are declaring that Dr. McDonald is an opportunist and that his plans for the state government are unworkable. Mr. Roosevelt has made them work for the country as a whole and will continue to make them work and Dr. McDonald, if given the opportunity, can do the same for North Carolina.

While we are yelling for the continuation of the New Deal in our national affairs let's not forget that our state government likewise needs some "New Dealing."

RUMORS OF NEW PAPER

Even before the first primary was over there were rumors that a new daily newspaper would be started in Greenville because The Reflector would not line up with the political ring in this county. From time to time such rumors get into circulation started by some disgruntled persons who find themselves unable to dictate the editorial policies of this newspaper. The present rumor seems to have some foundation in view of the following editorial from the Twin-City Herald, published at Morehead City by H. B. Utley, former news-editor of The Reflector. Mr. Utley stated yesterday that his editorial was based upon an authentic report from one of the news-gathering agencies that the publisher of the local semi-weekly was making inquiries of the agency as to the furnishing of news dispatches for the proposed new daily paper:

It is reported that Greenville, N. C. is going to have a new daily paper. The News, semi-weekly paper operated the last several years by W. E. HOODS, Ayden postmaster and chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, is going to be converted into a daily, according to reports reaching Morehead City. Greenville has only one daily at this time. The Reflector, operated by D. J. Whicard, Jr. Greenville is growing rapidly and there is every indication it might support another daily. However, entering the daily field at this time is rather ticklish business. However, the backing of powerful financial interests in the Pitt capital and probably will make the venture go through.

It isn't that the platform will embody the Hamiltonian theory of government rather than Jefferson's. Parties have swapped labels in the past.

It isn't that convention strategists are shaping a platform which will again enlist a nondescript band of Progressives, Farmer - Laborites and Left-wingers - without which Mr. Roosevelt might easily be defeated. That's an old game with both parties.

These things, of course, testify to the lack of cohesiveness among the forces behind the President. But in the last analysis, the evidence of decay - or change - lies within the Democratic party itself. It shows in the fact that a score of key men with no common social, economic or political bond are uniting behind Mr. Roosevelt solely out of personal loyalty to him. Behind this White House guard stand thousands - millions - whose fealty to the New Deal springs only from their desire for profitable political preferment.

From morning to night illustrious Democrats scrap fiercely over planks on money, relief and spending. In committee and under the palms of hotel lobbies they fly into tantrums of disagreement. But on the last day they will wind up in the same corner - Roosevelt - and whoop it up for the nominee.

Trivial incidents reveal that the split reaches down into the rank and file. You search out a New England delegation, seeking a minute's reunion with a home town boy whom you see every four years at a Democratic convention. But you are informed in acidulous Yankee tones that "he isn't with us any more because he was an Al Smith man." They couldn't be more final if he were actually dead. The same explanation is offered again and again for absentees in delegations from Maine to California.

This is Franklin D. Roosevelt - festival. He is the boss, the brain, and the fair haired boy. He is the platform and its prayer and its philosophy. He is, in short, the Democratic party. And yet 20 per cent of the foremost leaders here - and many illustrious walkovers - do not regard him as a "true Democrat." Even the G. O. P. will direct its onslaught against him, not as a Democrat, but as a "New Dealer."

Several other factors at Philadelphia forecast the disintegration of the traditional Democratic party. Though the rebels - a vast majority of them - will back FDR this year they have served riotous notice in committee and at informal conferences that they expect him to "cut out the funny business" if he is reelected. They hint darkly that 1940 will see them in full flight from the household of their father, unless he reforms in their direction. In short, they are giving Mr. Roosevelt's reorganized party "one last chance."

On the other hand the Progressives enlisted under the Roosevelt banner demand that he side with them in the campaign and in the event of a second term. Without the support of both factions - such is the state of the Democratic party at the moment - he may win this year, and it would be hopeless for the Democrats in 1940. That's the dilemma which confronts FDR - and the Democrats. And they see the relentless handwriting!

New York
By JAMES McMULLIN
COMEBACK: New York insiders know that Donald Richberg - who faded out of his job as "Assistant President" a year ago - is again one of the most important members of the White House inner circle. Although Richberg has no official status in the administration and remains completely out of the limelight, word is that the President constantly seeks his counsel on a wide variety of problems. Moreover, FDR uses him as his number one "trouble shooter." Cases of crossed wire within the administration and key questions of policy - especially those affecting business - are frequently referred to Richberg for analysis and his suggestions as to the proper course to pursue are usually adopted. Richberg's influence is essentially conservative. Keen financial observers figure this as one of the main reasons why - no matter how much leftist talk comes out of Washington - it is rarely followed up by leftist action. Richberg is known to favor allowing business to work out its destinies as free from government interference as possible at this stage of the game. A number of business leaders are privately quite cheered up by his comeback.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton from Scotland Yard and Sergeant White of Hope Enderton just have completed an inspection of Spurge Burdett's deserted and forbidding old mansion. Burdett has been murdered, and most of the village is secretly rather pleased that the old miser has been done in. Lumsdale, the only man Hylton yet has examined, apparently has an air-tight alibi - although he is a curiously truculent individual. Lumsdale is Burdett's only servant.

Chapter 11 NEW THEORY

THERE was, of course, a good deal of regret over the murder expressed superficially, and whenever men or women met the worn out phrases automatically rose to their lips: "shocking... awful... dreadful... bad business up at the Court..." and so on; but no one was really sorry.

Arthur Burdett had no friends in Hope Enderton, nor indeed any where else; and he had quite a number of potential enemies, for a good score of the cottages in the village belonged to him, and he was the absolute landlord and exemplar of all that a landlord, even in his own interests, should not be.

There was a school of thought, regarded almost as disloyal by the vast majority of the villagers, that the crime was committed by someone outside Enderton altogether, a stranger who had nothing to do with the place.

This possibility was urged by Sergeant White when he called round, by order, to see the Inspector at the Hoops the morning after their first visit to Enderton Court.

Kingsley Hylton had just polished off two eggs and an outside rasher of Wiltshire bacon and was sipping his extremely hot, though far from excellent, coffee. He lit one of his long thin cigars and pushed his case towards the Sergeant.

White smiled. "No thanks sir. That one yesterday nearly did for me."

"You find them a bit strong? Well, I suppose they are. They help you to think, you know, especially if you've got a slow brain like mine. What makes you imagine that it's somebody outside the village?"

"I only say it may be sir."
"It's a possibility, but somehow -"
"And the last few days I've seen a couple of rough characters on the roads that didn't belong here."
"Tramps?"
"That class sir."
"Um. Your theory is then: a tramp comes up the door to beg, forces his way in, kills the old man, grabs a handful out of the safe and disappears."
"It's possible sir."
"All things are possible."
"And, of course, as like as not anyone begging on the roads would have heard some talk about Mr. Burdett being a miser and having something worth while up there."
"Um. Let's go and see what sort of a night friend Lumsdale had."

HOWEVER sweet the quality of friend Lumsdale's slumber it had not served to soften in any way the pawiness of his humor and the hardly short of truculence of his bearing. He uttered a short, derisive laugh when he heard the Sergeant's theory.

"And 'ow would this tramp of yours get in, Sergeant?" he asked.
"Mr. Burdett would think it was you knocking at the door and go and open it."
"And when he saw it was someone he didn't know, he'd ask him to supper I suppose?"
"A tramp might have forced his way in."

"Against the chain?" Lumsdale shook his head. "No, Sergeant. That's just exactly what the old skin-flint had the door put on the chain for each time."

Hylton was inclined to agree with this. Sergeant White, however, was not entirely convinced, and he begged leave to prosecute a few enquiries on his own account.

"My dear fellow," Hylton urged him in a humorous outburst, "prosecute all the enquiries you like. Don't think I mind overzealous subordinates. I love 'em."
White smiled unabashed, and disappeared about his business, and the Inspector devoted himself to an even more thorough examination of the room of the tragedy. It seemed clear that entrance had been gained by the door, for all the windows were securely fastened and bolted on the inside and had been so, according to both Lumsdale and the Sergeant, on the night of the murder.

The noise of a car on the drive outside told the Inspector that the man he was waiting for had arrived; and presently the Chief Constable of the County was shown into the room by Lumsdale.

North Carolina for the leadership behind the scenes. One reason is that they are privately not very fond of O'Connor. He has been often independent of Wigwam opinions. Another is that Doughton's promotion would automatically elevate Thomas H. Cullen to the chairmanship of the powerful Ways and Means Committee. Cullen is the dean of the Tammany delegation in the House - and he is really "one of the boys."

It isn't likely that New York City's Democratic representatives will back the southerner Doughton openly. That technique would be a trifle crude. Instead they will probably push Congressman James M. Mead of Buffalo as a stalking horse to kill off O'Connor. Thus they would avoid being charged with disloyalty to their own state and at the same time they could be reasonably sure that Mead will not be elected.

PRICE: There's an ironic converse to the situation outlined above. O'Connor - almost sure to be deserted by his most logical supporters - is slated to have vigorous backing from the Illinois Democrats in the House in his battle for the floor leadership.

The point here is that the Illinois veteran - Adolph J. Sabath - would inherit O'Connor's mantle of power as chairman of the Rules Committee if the New Yorker moved up, and that's a prize worth corraling.

IDEALS: Stanley High - recent ex-G. O. P. addition to the President's inner circle - is on his way to becoming the most prolific New Deal propagandist of them all.

Mr. High directs the "Roosevelt Record" - official New Deal magazine to be published for duration of the campaign. Through the "Record" office he likewise distributes two publications called "The Case against FDR" and "Boondoggling," which satirize Mr. Roosevelt's critics.

He is also feeding out a series of pamphlets through his Good Neighbor League. These stress the humanitarian ideals of the New Deal and seek to identify them with the objectives of the Christian church.

es. It is too early to appraise the public reactions to his efforts, but a lot more will be heard of and from Mr. High before the campaign is over. His "Revolt of Youth" backgrounded him well a dozen years ago.

PREFERRED: A number of corporations are planning to get rid of accumulated arrears of preferred stock dividends by paying them off with new issues of preferred stock. These accumulations in many cases have piled too high to be made good out of earnings. Also they represent a most discouraging barrier to the hope of ever paying common dividends as long as they remain on the books.

The time is ripe for refunding operations of this type. With bond yields so low, most preferred stockholders will be glad to accept new stock carrying a lower dividend rate than the 6.7 and 8 per cent prevailing before the depression - especially if it contains some provision for conversion into common and if the company's earnings prospects are good.

Financial sharps prophesy that American Woolen will take this step to clear its decks of dividend arrears in the near future. Another big corporation giving thought to such a move in U. S. Steel - which in its present financial condition offers a perfect example of how current earnings on common can be completely tied up by the dead hand of past deficits on the preferred.

BOXING BOUTS ARE ARRANGED

Attractive Card At Atlantic Beach for Friday Night

Atlantic Beach, June 24.—Normant Quarles, 134-pound light-weight contender and protégé of Jack Dempsey will meet Pete Nobe, 135 pounder, "The Seminole Indian" in a 10-round match here Friday night when Promoter Add Warren, Duke boxing coach raises the curtain on the first boxing show of the season. Each Friday night, Warren will promote fights in The Casino and he hopes to make this fast growing ocean resort the summertime boxing capitol of the South.

Thirty-two rounds of boxing will be presented on Friday night and the Casino will become an arena for the occasion. As this is the first boxing show of the season and as Add Warren has gotten together an interesting card for fans, the back management believes that the 1,500 seats will be sold out early. Others on the card, their home address and weight classes follow: Light heavyweight, Red Lewis, 168 pounds, Richmond vs. Glenn Morgan, 170, Portsmouth, Va.—8 rounds; Middleweight, Bob Allison, 160, Charlotte vs. Joe Spangler, 160, Richmond—8 rounds; Heavyweight, Jimmy Johnson, 185, Greenville vs. Boots Johnson, 182, Richmond; Welterweight, Tommy McGovern, 145, Charlotte vs. Doc Kennedy, 145, Durham.

Much interest, especially among fight fans of Eastern Carolina, is centered round the heavyweight bout featuring Jimmy Johnson, a student at E. C. T. C. and national guard champion. Best known among the fighters appearing Friday night will be Normant Quarles, who has been favorably considered as boxing coach for Carolina during coming season.

Fifteen Blind People Have Sight Restored

Raleigh, N. C., June 24.—Fifteen people who were blind last November have had their sight restored and 45 others are expected to enjoy the same good fortune as the results of eye clinics at State School for the Blind infirmary conducted by the State Commission for the Blind in cooperation with Drs. V. M. Hicks and F. P. Powers, it was reported by Dr. Roma S. Cheek, executive secretary of the Commission, today.

Dr. Cheek said the majority of these 60 cases, which have been admitted to the clinics, were for cataract operations; 45 of these cases have had their vision improved by the first operation but are still under the care of the ophthalmologist and are scheduled to return later in the summer to have their second operation or to have proper glasses fitted.

Nazis Hit 'Poor Taste'
Berlin (AP)—What Nazi papers call the "peak of poor taste" was listed among transgressions against the law for protecting national symbols—a leaflet with printed pictures of an Englishman, a Frenchman, an Italian, and a Russian which, when folded over, showed a picture of Adolf Hitler.

SPORT SLANTS

by PAP

When the Pittsburgh Pirates gave up Larry French and Freddie Lindstrom to the Chicago Cubs after the close of the 1932 season, they got Guy Bush and Babe Herman, and, "for good measure," Big Jim Weaver was tossed in. Bush was the man the Pirates were really after.

As so often happens in baseball deals, the big name in the transaction failed to live up to expectations while the athlete who was merely "thrown in" proved very valuable.

Last season, 1932, Bush scored only eight victories while being charged with nine defeats. Weaver's record was decidedly better, for he was able to boast 14 wins against eight losses. Still, the big star of the Pirates' mound staff was Cy Blanton. The sensational freshman hurler turned in 18 victories while being charged with 13 trimmings. Bill Swift was second to Blanton in 1932, having a record of 15 and eight.

When the Pirates gathered at training camp this spring Manager Pie Traynor planned to use Big Jim as a relief hurler. Blanton, Swift, Hoyt and Bush were slated to start. But it hardly worked out that way.

Blanton failed to flash the form this made him the outstanding freshman pitcher in the National League last season. Swift was slow in rounding into shape and Waite Hoyt was lost when forced to submit to a major operation. Bush failed to regain the prowess he showed when with the Cubs. He was relegated to the relief corps and to coaching the young pitchers.

Traynor was forced to gamble on Weaver and the big fellow came through. Where would the Pirates be without his string of victories? It was Weaver who kept the team in the thick of the fight until Blanton and Swift rounded into form.

Weaver's sudden winning streak was a mystery until the big hurler himself disclosed that his new found success on the mound was in no small measure due to the fact that he had finally mastered the art of fielding bunts. His huge 6-foot-6-inch, 235-pound frame was no asset when it came to protecting his territory against a bunt attack.

Bush, one of the best fielding pitchers in history, deserves much of the credit for teaching Weaver how to field his position.

Weaver has been knocking around for some time and is nearly 30 years old. The New York Yankees picked him up from Baltimore, where his offerings had puzzled International League slugger. His immense size made him look formidable but the Yankees decided that he was not ready for the big show and sent him to Newark. In 1933 the St. Louis Browns bought him, but the following year he was back in the International League. Early in 1934 the Cubs picked him up and used him the remainder of the season. Then came his transfer to the Pirates.

PARKWAY ROAD NOW PROMISED

Future of Development Assured by New Legislation

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, June 24.—The future of the Blue Ridge Parkway as a permanent Federal project has been assured as a result of the enactment of the bill introduced by Representative R. L. Doughton and passed by Congress the last day of the session, definitely placing the construction of the parkway under the National Park Service, according to opinion in informed circles here.

Heretofore, the parkway, which eventually is expected to link the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park in western North Carolina and east Tennessee, has been a Public Works Administration project under the immediate supervision of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, and hence a more or less temporary project.

But now that it has been transferred to the National Park Service and become a part of the permanent program of the Park Service and Department of the Interior, its eventual completion is regarded as assured, regardless of what may become of the PWA and other temporary agencies. Accordingly, Congressman Doughton is credited with having outsmarted the opponents of the parkway and of the part of the permanent improvement program of the National Park Service. This means that the parkway will no longer be dependent upon grants of funds made by the Public Works Administration, as it has been in the past, but that it will hereafter be financed by direct appropriations made to the National Park Service. If this bill had not been passed, there was a possibility that the work on the parkway might have been halted when the present allotment of $4,500,000 was used up.

The park service will now be compelled to include in its regular budget sufficient funds to carry out the completion of the parkway as a part of its permanent program, it is maintained.

Maybe he can give you a tip

The bellhop sees a lot of people... hears what they have to say... knows what they like to do. Ask him three questions about beer.—Which beer does everybody from everywhere know?—Which beer has an exquisite bouquet and delightful flavor all its own?—Which beer is most called for in the best hotel dining rooms? He'll answer your three questions with one word—Budweiser.

Across the deserts... over mountains... down to the sea in ships! Wherever people have gone for three generations, they have taken along pleasant memories of Budweiser—and they have sent back their demand for it... from Europe, Asia and even Africa. If the waters of different places do not agree with you, you can depend upon Budweiser—always delicious, healthful and uniform.

Order a carton for your home—NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED—Be prepared to entertain your guests.

Budweiser

Biggest-selling bottled beer in history

Famous? Yes indeed! Look at Page 349 of Webster's New International Dictionary. But, your palate will tell you—better than a dictionary—why America prefers Budweiser.
