RECORD CROWD HEARS SPEECH OF CANDIDATE

Court Room Packed at Clyde R. Hoey Rally Last Night

INTRODUCED BY DR. J. Y. JOYNER

Democratic Gubernatorial Candidate Advocates Preparing Leaf Legislation

A crowd conceded by all to have been one of the largest ever to assemble in the Pitt county court house and additional hundreds who listened from the court house lawn through amplifiers last night heard Clyde R. Hoey, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, in a bid for the votes cast for A. H. Graham in the first primary.

Prolonged applause punctuated Mr. Hoey's address as he outlined his stand on various issues and took his opponent, Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, to task as a "mail order" candidate.

Opening his address by relating that in at least one county the report had been circulated that he was 75 years old and too old to be governor, the candidate reviewed his record in the democratic party and asked his audience to compare it with that of his opponent. He said that in the Western part of the state Democrats had to fight season after season to carry their section to the Democratic ranks and added that he never misses going to the rescue in that sector where Democratic support is so badly needed.

Mr. Hoey pointed "with pride" to the fact that his opponent carried by two counties in the west, and received a loud applause when he declared that "he would carry only one on July 4." He said that his opponent stated in a speech Thursday night that the Republican counties went in the Hoey column. He denied this, saying he carried Meeklenburg, Buncombe, Guilford and any number of smaller Democratic counties in the West.

He said the reason he carried the West was because "up there they like a real candidate—one who stands for his party season after season." He added "you are not troubled with Republicans here in the East."

The candidate said that he had hoped to wage a campaign without any criticism, but added "I did, after this man named McDonald slandered me for six months, attempt to reveal to the people what the man seeking to be governor stood for." Even then, he added, I did not say anything personal.

"For years they stayed here and did not even vote x x x. In 1930 he did not even know what party he was for." He said he voted in 1932, and this is about the only thing he has said that I do believe. He was running for office himself then.

Saying that Dr. McDonald had tried to identify himself with President Roosevelt, the Shelby man asked "what has he ever done to help the administration. He has never done one thing," he answered, and said that he, himself, made 35 speeches in 1932 in support of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign and added that he again campaigned for the administration in 1934.

"McDonald reminds me very much more of Hoover than he does Mr. Roosevelt. Neither knew for a long time whether he was a Democrat or a Republican."

The speaker received another big applause when he said that Hoover was the greatest promoter until Ralph came along. He said that Hoover promised everything and when he was in the White House "we lost everything but our appetite and we could not get anything to satisfy it."

Mr. Hoey said that he had refused "to go down in the gutter with him (Dr. McDonald) because I am not a gutter man." There are two reasons for my decision, he said. First, because "I consider my reputation too good to do so, and second, I am going to be governor and have to exercise restraint in talking about any citizen of North Carolina."

The speaker likened the speeches being made by Dr. McDonald to those made by the late Huey Long against President Roosevelt. Referring to the recent radio address of his opponent, Mr. Hoey said the only "truth in recall was when he greeted his audience with 'ladies and gentlemen.'"

Reviewing his initial announcement, Mr. Hoey outlined some of the issues for which he stood—free textbooks for school children, improvement of conditions among the prison population "so a prisoner can be turned out better than he was when he entered."

In regard to the farming situation, Mr. Hoey said that he was (Continued on page four)

Pitt County Democrats To Stage Rally Tonight

Torchlight Parade Up Evans Street to The Court House to Precede Demonstration Celebrating Roosevelt's Renomination

Greenville and other Pitt county Democrats will join in a rally at 7 o'clock tonight in celebration of the renomination of President Franklin D. Delano Roosevelt and Vice President John Nance Garner.

The brief address of acceptance by the chief executive will be broadcast at 10 o'clock. Arrangements have been made for a clear reception for the local rally to be held in the court room.

The activities will start off with a torchlight parade up Evans street, led by the High School band and followed by Mayor M. K. Blount astride a "Democratic" donkey. The parade is scheduled to get underway at 9:30 o'clock.

Immediately following the parade the Democrats will gather in the court room for the rally, which will be joined in by citizens from other Pitt county towns. Admission will be by tickets only. The proceeds of which will be turned over to the Democratic organization.

Water and Light department officials have agreed to have the lights along Evans street turned off during the parade and all indications point to an impressive demonstration of faith in President Roosevelt.

The rally will be presided over by Judge Dink James, in the absence of F. C. Harding, chairman of the County Democratic organization, who was called out of the city. The program is being arranged so that all preliminaries will be completed at 10 o'clock, at which time the president will begin his speech accepting the renomination as the party's standard bearer.

Torches have arrived here and sponsors of the rally said a large number of Boy Scouts from all sections of the county would be in the parade. Jake Skinner will have charge of the Scouts, Professor H. A. McDougal will direct the band, which is composed of 33 high school students.

Local Democrats point out that this section of the county has been helped materially through efforts of Mr. Roosevelt and declare that the rally here should be an enthusiastic as any over the country.

At the completion of Mr. Roosevelt's address the session will be adjourned.

United-States Senate still have no filed reports. They are R. T. Fountain and David L. Strain.

Clyde R. Hoey, gubernatorial candidate, reported having spent the most money $11,696.36. Sandy Graham, another gubernatorial aspirant, spent $11,534.04. Dr. Ralph W. McDonald spent $9,075 in the race. He led in contributions with $10,000.25.

The contributions the candidates received and their expenditures listed included; Lieut. Governor, Paul Grady, no contributions, $381 expenses.

Candidates For Offices Report $59,000 Expenses

The life saving course to be offered by the management of the City swimming pool will be started Monday, with lessons to be given each day, except Saturday and Sunday, from 5 to 6 p. m.

The course, to be furnished free of charge, will be under the direction of Vernon Ward. Ten hours are required to complete the course.

At the conclusion of the training period examinations will be held and Red Cross life saving emblems awarded to the successful candidates.

The training will be divided into two divisions. The Junior course will be for boys from 12 to 17 years old, and the Senior course for all persons 17 years and over.

In addition to the life saving course, the pool management has provided the services of Mr. Ward as swimming instructor and lessons are being given each morning. A small fee is charged for these lessons, not the life saving course is offered without cost to those wishing to take it.

Larry Moore Bound Over to County Court Under $200 Bond for Operating Slot Machine

The slot, or pin machine problem again was brought into the spotlight this morning when Larry Moore, who runs a news stand in the Proctor Hotel, was bound over to County court under $200 bond on a charge of operating a slot machine.

Mr. Moore was ordered held following a preliminary hearing in Mayor's court this morning.

Chief Clark said the warrant, as originally drawn, included the management of the McCormick vending machine company, but the company was eliminated when Mr. Moore said that the machine belonged to him, he having purchased it outright.

The defendant is scheduled to be given a hearing in County court next Tuesday. His was the first case to be brought to court since a campaign was waged some time ago to rid the city of the devices.

Green apples, the second crop of the year, were found growing in the orchard of Jim Beard near Dickson, Tenn., in December.

Democratic Leaders Map Campaign To Fight Foes

By RAY TUCKER

PHILADELPHIA: The Democrats' campaign strategy as disclosed here by key tacticians in private talks and public speeches contemplates sarcastic sidesteps at the Landon-Knox ticket, but a fierce, frontal onslaught against the array of political and industrial figures known or supposed to be in his camp.

The White House will picture Governor Landon and Colonel Knox as men without actual experience in national affairs, and therefore incapable of managing a government which has sprawled beyond old boundaries since March 4, 1933. It will be a studied attempt to disparage them, but executed more deftly than National Chairman Faley did in his "typical prairie state" outburst.

The Democrats are reserving their direct fire for Herbert Hoover, William Randolph Hearst, the du Ponts and other American Liberty League chieftains. They will seek to create the impression that "selfish interests" constitute the bulk of Mr. Landon's supporters. In short, they will raise the ancient but still useful cry that Wall Street has set out to capture Washington.

Under present plans it is doubtful if Democratic orators will brand Mr. Landon as a willing or even a conscious representative of the so-called "interests"—financial power, industrial. They have hatched a tentative scheme of simply suggesting that for one reason or another they have rallied behind him, and that he has not shooed them away from his door.

The basic idea is to create the impression that these groups would control him if he entered the White House. Such old-fashioned epithets as "puppet," "tool," "instrument" fall from Parley's lips as glibly as at any time since 1896. Only redfire will be needed to make the 1936 contest a duplicate of the Bryan-McKinley fracas.

COUNTIES GET FIRE CONTROL

Forest Fire Protection Activities To Be Broadened

Reflector Bureau, Str. Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, June 27.—North Carolina woodlands under protection from forest fires, already covering the widest area in the history of the program, are expected to be materially enlarged after the beginning of the next fiscal year, W. C. McCormick, assistant state forester, said today.

Boards of Commissioners in several additional counties are considering the provision of funds for setting up an organization in cooperation with the Department of Conservation and Development for the control of forest fires, McCormick said.

Fifty-six counties are already actively engaged in forest fire protection and it is expected that the number will be increased to at least 60 during the fiscal year beginning July 1. Most of the new counties are expected to be in the extreme eastern and western parts of the State. Previous to the current, 44 counties were the maximum engaged in the work during a single year.

Some 15,000,000 acres of the 20 1-2 million acres of forest lands in North Carolina already have fire protection, according to Mr. McCormick, as compared with only about 6,000,000 acres in 1933.

Under the plan of cooperation now in effect, the county makes available a fund equal to that provided by the State for forestry work. Thus, Mr. McCormick explained, double the amount of funds provided by the county is available for expenditure in forest fire protection. The amount usually furnished by the county, he continued, is figured on the basis of one-half cent per acre for the forested lands within the county and when matched by the state represents one cent per acre.

The assistant state forester declared the value of forest fire protection was demonstrated forcefully during the recent severe fire season in which counties without a control organization suffered more severely than those equipped to suppress the flames. Huge timber values were saved the cooperating counties.

China Bans Chain Letters

Three Defendants Ordered Pay Cost Result Arguments

Local Business Men Convicted of Disorderly Conduct Resulting From Alterations Monday Night

The case charging R. L. Powell with disorderly conduct as a result of an altercation last Monday night was dismissed in Police court this morning, but three other Greenville business men were taxed with the costs as a result of the incidents.

J. W. Clark, Bryce Sigmon and Charles Stafford were the three convicted of disorderly conduct and two altercations allegedly grew out of arguments over political views.

Other cases tried at this morning's term of police court included one against John Stocks, charged with drunkenness. He was fined $10 and costs or ordered to the roads for a period of 30 days. Jarvis Parker, negro, was given a 30-day road sentence upon conviction of being drunk on the streets.

NAZI SPADE CORPS COSTLY

—CHIEFS SEE RECOMPENSE

Berlin, June 26.—(AP)—The Nazi labor service cost German taxpayers close to $80,000,000 last year but party officials say that land reclamation and improvements made by the spade corps will largely make up for the expenditure.

There are 182,370 men in the service. All fit young Germans are compelled to spend six months in the spade corps before serving a year in the army.

One-fourth of the cost went for food and keep, another fourth for clothing and the last half for utensils, administration and leader schools.

Compulsory labor service for girls has been postponed. The voluntary service for 1936 has been fixed at 10,000 girls, 40 in each camp. The Nazis aim at teaching leaders this year and making the service obligatory in 1937.

The girls help farmers with harvests, do first aid and kindergarten work.

Another Pitt Farmer Has Cotton Blossoms

Another Pitt county farmer, S. G. Worthington of Winterville, claims distinction of producing early cotton blossoms, along with several other cotton growers in this section.

A bloom grown on Mr. Worthington's farm was brought to the city today as evidence of the fine crop on his place.

BOUNCER HELD MURDER COUNT

Football Player Slain in Beer Garden Brawl Today

Charleston, W. Va., June 27.—(AP)—A sudden volley of shots during a beer garden brawl ended the life today of Leo Nizer, 23-year-old West Virginia University football star, and wounded five other persons, including a girl. Two were clubbed in the head.

The disturbance happened so quickly in the downtown garden that Chief W. A. Tulley said: "I don't suppose we will ever know exactly what did happen."

He placed a charge of murder however against Okey Deboard, a former city patrolman and "bouncer" at the establishment.

Miss Opal Clark, one of the wounded slightly, told Tulley: "It was about midnight. Two boys were arguing in the entrance. Mizer got in between them and someone pushed or knocked him down. He got up firing his gun; one hand and swinging a blackjack in the other."

STUDY EFFECT COURT RULING

Checks to Aged Railway Workers Are Being Held Up

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—Checks addressed to approximately 1,000 aged railway workers were held up today as the railroad retirement board pondered the full effect of a decision of the United States District Court holding the pension act unconstitutional.

A spokesman for the board which went into an emergency session, said an immediate appeal would be carried to the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

In Cleveland delegates to the convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers voted last night to appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

Justice Jennings Bailey ruled yesterday that the retirement act and its accompanying tax measures violate the due process provisions of the constitution.

President Renominated Without a Dissenting Voice

MEETING TODAY TO NAME GARNER

Party Nominee To Deliver Acceptance Speech Tonight At Franklin Field

Conventio. Hall, Philadelphia, June 27.—(AP)—The Democratic renominated President Franklin Delano Roosevelt in the early hours today by acclamation that still echoed as they reassembled to name John N. Garner his running mate again and then adjourn.

While leaders studied weather reports, fearful lest the extraordinary acceptance ceremonies planned tonight would be rained out, the convention had difficulty at the start mustering a quorum for the final decisions.

Garner was holding himself ready to be by the President's side at the Franklin field fete, the first of its kind in political history, this evening. His speech would be brief and insisted.

Formally opening the New Deal campaign against Landon and Knox, the Roosevelt address was scheduled for 10 p. m. daylight time. Behind him was to be one of the most harmonious conventions in his party's history.

Not a "no" rose in the vast auditorium when the presidential vote was reached at 12:42 a. m. Eastern daylight time.

The convention quickly suspended the rules to choose Mr. Roosevelt by acclamation on motion of Gov. Tom Berry of South Dakota. This marked the first time in 20 years that no roll call ballot was required. It was also the first time in 104 years that a presidential nomination would have been possible by a simple majority rather than a two-thirds rule—but that has no difference in view of the unanimity.

All sides expected the selection of Garner to be unanimous also; a few hints of rivalry had withered before the decisions of the veteran Texan's supporters.

Democratic leaders arranged to make the day's session comparatively brief. They concentrated on making tonight's ceremonies the climax of the whole convention. One hundred thousand persons are expected to witness them.

THE POOR MAN PAYS

It has always been our opinion that the sales tax is wrong because it is a tax on consumption without regard to ability to pay.

Here are some figures on the sales tax that will show conclusively that as usual the little man, who because of his meagre means, is forced to make small purchases, pays a much higher rate of taxation than the man who is able to spend $1,000 or $1,500 for luxuries:

Table with columns: Purchase Price, Tax, Total. Lists items like Meat, Lard, Cloth, Thread, Needles, etc.

The poor man's rate of taxation is 7 1/2 per cent on his purchases of bare necessities.

A rich man may purchase a piano for $1,000 with a sales tax of $10, a rate of one per cent, or he may purchase a $5,000 automobile with a sales tax of $10, a rate of 1-5 of one per cent.

A scheme of taxation that will take taxes away from the poor man at a rate 35 times greater than from the rich man, certainly has no fairness about it.

MURDER TONIGHT BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Arthur Burdett has been murdered. Inspector Hylton is down from London investigation. And the only curious thing he has noticed are Captain Reeves' frequent admission that he saw Burdett just before he must have been slumped. And Dale Shipley's curious interest in overhearing Reeves' statement. Now Dale and Nancy Featherstone are chatting over tea at Dale's cottage—Nancy being comfortably off a little older than Dale, and very much in love with him.

Chapter 14 THRILL FOR NANCY

"CAPTAIN REEVES? Why?" "I've got an idea he went up to the court on Monday afternoon."

"I just do think it, that's all," Dale said, childishly pleased with the air of mystery he had succeeded in inducing into the conversation.

"I don't know," Dale answered slowly. "I wonder, but he came home early from hunting that afternoon if you remember—"

"I haven't paid for her—still I suppose that sort of thing doesn't worry you Nancy. I often wonder if you realize how lucky you are; you've got a couple of hunters and a nice place and everything you want."

"More tea Dale?" "Thanks; a bit stronger this time."

"I hope this frost won't hold till Friday," Dale said in his acrobatic conversational style. "I want to try that new mare."

"You have bought one then?" "I haven't paid for her—still I suppose that sort of thing doesn't worry you Nancy. I often wonder if you realize how lucky you are; you've got a couple of hunters and a nice place and everything you want."

ment and was astounded to see all the color suddenly drain from Dale's face. It was as though he had opened an unexpected telegram bearing the worst news in the world.

"Tell Mr. Lawson I'll see him in a minute," he said at last. Nancy jumped to her feet. "I must be going," she said. "Thank you so much, Dale, for—for tea, and—and everything."

"That's all right, Nancy. Very pleased you could come in. Good-bye."

"Good-bye, Dale. I—"

They stood facing one another for a moment on the front door step.

"What is it?" Dale asked almost harshly. Nancy wanted to tell him not for the world would she say anything to anybody about their meeting in the fields the other day and about what he had told her of his quarrel with his uncle; but for some reason or other she couldn't.

"Nothing, Dale," she said awkwardly. "I just wanted to say 'thank you,' that was all. Come on, Ranger Good-bye, Dale; see you out on Friday, I suppose?"

"Probably."

Dale waited until she had reached the wicket gate where she turned and waved shyly to him, and then shutting the door he went back to what awaited him in Fielden Cottage.

WHEN tea was over and done with in Fielden Cottage and Nancy Featherstone, attended by the still exuberant Ranger, was making her somewhat unhappy way home. Detective Inspector Hylton rapped eagerly on the door of the police cottage in Hope Ederton.

He had been for a long tramp during the afternoon as an aid to thought and was mentally and bodily stimulated in consequence. At that moment the Inspector's mind was filled, almost to the exclusion of everything else, with visions of a lightly boiled egg and large slices of thick white bread and butter.

The door was opened to him by a woman whom he had no difficulty in recognizing. He had seen her photograph once already, and attractive though it had been he had to confess that the reality was far more attractive still.

Alice White was a finely made woman of about thirty-six. She was broad-shouldered, generous breasted, broad-hipped; in coloring she was very dark, almost as though she had a touch of the barbaric beauty of the Romany about her, and when her full lips parted in laughter they showed magnificently white and even teeth.

"Friend White knows where to pick 'em, apparently," was the Inspector's unspoken comment.

"Did you want to see Mr. White?" the woman asked pleasantly.

Hylton introduced himself and was instantly made welcome.

"Oh, come in please, Mr. Hylton. I'm sorry I didn't know you. I've heard a lot about you already, of course. Jimmy's gone off on some job or other about this awful murder business. I expect."

"He's gone off on a wild goose chase, I'm afraid," Hylton said laughingly as he stepped into the house. "At least I think he has. It's his admirable devotion to duty which made him go, not me. Do you realize what a painstaking husband you have, Mrs. White?"

Alice White laughed and showed her even gleaming teeth. "I expect he's very much the same as any other husband," she said, "when he isn't at home you miss him, and when he is he's a nuisance."

The Inspector smiled in response and sat down doing his best to look like a man who is in sore need of a cup of tea. He succeeded; the very next thing Alice White said was, "Would you like a cup of tea, Mr. Hylton?"

Kingsley beamed. "I should not only like it," he said, "I should probably die without it, and, Mrs. White—"

"Yes?"

"—catch a hen and shake it until an egg appears and then boil same lightly, would you?"

Alice White gave a peal of cheerful laughter. "Boil you an egg for tea? Of course, if you make yourself comfortable here I'll run into the kitchen and get it done in no time."

"Can't I have my tea in the kitchen," he begged, "and watch you deal with the egg?"

Sergeant White's wife, disappearing through the door, stopped and looked over her shoulder. "Of course you can," she said, "if you really want to. I'd like it," and she treated Hylton to a slow, appraising smile which he found slightly disconcerting.

The two men have a caller from the legal profession, Monday.

James A. Farley.

obstreperous a Democratic Representative may have been, he will have help from Chairman Farley unless there is a mere amenable Democrat running.

CAROLINA IN PARADE—WOMEN'S DEAN CELEBRATES

North Carolina delegates join the noise makers at the Democratic convention, bearing placards urging the renomination of Roosevelt and Garner, at left. Taking an active part in the hilarious celebration is Miss Harriet Elliott (right) dean of the North Carolina College for Women at Greensboro, who is a delegate to the convention at Philadelphia. Honors Bride.

Bethel, N. C., June 27.—On Thursday afternoon from four until six o'clock, Mrs. Henry Staton entertained at a lovely tea at her home on honor of her daughter, Mrs. Murray Hodges, formerly Miss Margaret Staton. Sharing honors with Mrs. Hodges were Mrs. Bill Pollard of Greenville; Mrs. Coley Tankard of Washington, recent bride.

The lower floor of the home was thrown en suite and was beautiful in its decorations of colorful garden flowers, enhanced by lighted tapers in crystal candelabras.

Greeting guests at the front door were Mrs. J. B. Bunting and Mrs. W. H. Manning. In the east parlor, Miss Daisy Lee Carson introduced the guests to the receiving line which consisted of Mrs. H. V. Staton, mother of the bride; Mrs. Murray Hodges, Mrs. Sam Hodges, mother of the groom; Mrs. Bill Pollard of Greenville; Mrs. Coley Tankard of Washington; Miss Eleanor Ward Staton and Miss Lela Brown Barnhill of Williamston.

At the entrance to the dining room, Mrs. D. C. Carson and Miss Hazel Whitehurst received. The dining room was beautifully decorated with the color scheme of green and white. The table was covered with an imported lace cloth and had as its centerpiece a bowl of white lilies, carnations and roses, flanked by crystal candelabras holding tall white tapers. Serving ices, mints, cakes, and nuts were Mrs. J. T. Carson, Mrs. W. W. Taylor, Mrs. W. J. Carson, and Mrs. Della Whitehurst, assisted by Mrs. J. C. Wynne, Jr., Miss Rosa Lee Bullock and Mrs. Thad Pilley and Miss Margaret Hodges of Washington.

Directing the guests from the dining room to the gift room were Mrs. C. G. Morris and Mrs. Heber Hodges of Washington. Receiving in the gift room were Mrs. Frank Taylor, Miss Mildred Whitehurst and Mrs. J. C. Smith. The register was presided over by Mrs. J. L. Brown. Serving punch in the west parlor were Mrs. W. J. Smith and Mrs. Alton Carson, assisted by Mrs. Harold Manning and Miss Alma Hammond.

About one hundred and fifty guests called during the afternoon.

Seeing Through My Windshield

By ETHEL NICE, H. D. A.

On Wednesday night a recreation and health program was held for 4-H boys and girls of the county. The early part of the evening was spent in playing games and the latter part in a coronation program.

Miss Janie Reid Phillips was crowned queen of health and Hal Thomas Ervin of Bell Arthur was made the health king of Pitt county. Dr. N. Thomas Emmet, county health officer, delivered an address on health and crowned the king and queen. These honors came as a climax to the 4-H Club work done the past school year. In April club health examinations were made. The winners in the various clubs then competed in a county contest, where Janie Reid and Hal Thomas were victorious. Another party will be held for the 4-H members in about a month. At that time a joint county council will be formed. The girls' council has existed for several years—but now that the boys are working there will be a joint council.

District Contest.

Miss Janie Reid Phillips and Hal Thomas Ervin went to Washington, N. C., Friday to compete in the district health contest. Twenty boys and girls competed for district honors. Miss Johnson of Johnston county received the high score made by girls, and a Nash county youth was the highest scoring boy. Hal Thomas tied for second place. Dr. Ford, health officer of Beaufort county, who has made the examination for several years, said these boys and girls were the healthiest group he had ever had. The lowest grade this year was the highest two years ago. This was the tenth district examination to be held in this district. In July there will be a state contest at the 4-H Short Course.

Home Demonstration Meetings.

The Farmville Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Arthur Forbes. An interesting paper on "The Good Citizen in Her Home" was read by Mrs. Ben Caraway. Tuesday afternoon the Winterville club met with Mrs. D. T. Cox. Mrs. B. T. Cox gave a report of the Washington trip. The Falkland club also met Societies.

Funeral Rites Held For Accident Victim

Goldensboro, June 26.—Funeral services for Joe Harrison, 53, of Warsaw, who was instantly killed when struck by an automobile Tuesday morning, were conducted from his home Wednesday afternoon by Rev. R. C. Foster, pastor of the Warsaw Baptist church. Interment was in Pinecrest cemetery, Warsaw.

The accident, which resulted in Mr. Harrison's instant death, occurred on the Goldensboro highway a few miles north of Warsaw when he got out of a car into the path of an approaching car driven by Frank Kelly of Faison.

GREENIES WIN OVER EAGLES

Ayden, Martins Winners; Bunnies-Bugs Split Twin Bill

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD

The Kingston Eagles suffered defeat in the hands of the Greenies at Third street stadium here yesterday afternoon by a 7-3 score before one of the largest crowds of the season.

Clement went for 8 2-3 innings for the locals and during that time allowed eight hits and fanned two.

When Clement was relieved from the mound in the latter part of the eighth, he was sent to the showers and Mattson, pitched only two balls to finish the game.

The first run of the game was scored in the first half of the second inning by the Eagles.

The score remained 1-0 no longer than the Greenies could start at bat. Hitchcock tripled and came home on Brown's fly ball to right field, tying the score.

In the seventh inning it looked as if the Greenies were to have another run. Ace Parker was safe on an infield hit through Pitcher Dave Smith's hands, and went to second on Wagner's sacrifice, and then to third base on a fly to right field by Hitchcock.

The latter part of the eighth was dynamic for the Eagles, for it was in this frame that their tatter, "blue up." In the first part of the eighth, however, it looked as if the visitors would score.

Stonebraker walked and went to second on a hit to centerfield by Harold Wagner. Keller, the next hitter got out at first, but sent Wagner to second, and Stonebraker to third.

McLeod grounded out pitcher to first, killing the Kingstonian's chances of scoring.

In the last half of the eighth frame the locals scored six runs. Sanford stepped up to face Smith, and was walked and went to second when Booser walked. Clement singled and sent Sanford to third and Booser to second.

Skinner pitched to the local trio, manager of the local trio, was issued a free pass, forcing Sanford in for a run. Wayne Ambler then singled to centerfield scoring Booser.

Fathree relieved Smith. Parker singled to left field scoring Farley and Ambler. Hitchcock singled to eighthfield scoring Parker, bringing the score to a 7-1 stand.

In the first part of the ninth Cheek singled and went to second on an infield hit by Humphries. Morris walked filling the bases. Stonebraker singled, bringing in the locals.

The locals are playing the Aces in Ayden today and will return here Sunday for a game with the Aces at Third Street Stadium at 3:30 o'clock.

born and reared on a farm and knew the hardships encountered by the farmers.

"Only in recent years have we undertaken a farm program," he said, adding that the industry had found a friend in President Roosevelt. "Under Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "the farmer began to come into his own for the first time." He gave his unqualified endorsement to the North Carolina Farm Bureau, which was organized in this county, and headquarters of which are located here.

"If elected governor, I shall not wait for the legislature to meet. I shall call on the farmers to select committeemen to meet with federal and state officials, to work out a farm program to serve the agricultural interests of this state. I do not know it all, but I am willing to work with the farmers and do what I can."

Calling attention to the fact that this state was the greatest producer of fine cured tobacco, the candidate said "North Carolina should take the lead in determining a program for tobacco." He said he would seek to have compact legislation prepared for introduction when the legislature meets so there would be no delay in getting such a program, well worked out, enacted into law.

He advocated diversification of crops and added the state should plant more food and feed crops. He said that if we adopted a satisfactory program it would leave sufficient land to produce such things.

Referring to charges of "lobbying" made against him, he said he had been practicing law 35 years and during that time had had many clients—some rich and countless hundreds of poor ones. "They paid me and that was the end of it, or either they did not pay me and it still was the end of it." He said he challenged anyone to show where he had mentioned his employers to anyone except in legislative committee rooms. He added that he was employed and not retained, saying that when his duties were completed his connections with his employers were completed.

He added that charges that he was retained by the Duke Power Company at the present time were "unqualified falsehoods, saying that 'if I were not a gentleman I would call him what he is.'"

He said he had been employed by the Duke Power company only on two occasions during his career as lawyer and added that he had appeared against the company 19 times during that time, many of which have been since he was last employed by the company.

Disclaiming any connection with any administration, he said no state official had requested him to run for governor, but declared the people themselves had requested him to seek the office. He said the day after Rep. R. L. Doughton announced that he would not run, he received 100 telegrams urging him to enter the race. He explained that he advised Mr. Doughton the night before he announced he would not oppose him if the representative sought the office.

The candidate said he had not promised a single person a job if he is elected and has not promised to discharge anybody. "Mr. McDonald says he is going to kick out everybody, what I want to know is who he is going to kick in. This is very important."

Perhaps the most prolonged applause came when Mr. Hoey said that Mr. McDonald was seeking to have the people of the state quit ordering goods from mail order houses to avoid the sales tax. "I, too, am against ordering every necessity. I believe in patronizing home interests. And I am opposed to ordering a new governor from Sears, Roebuck company."

The rally was opened by D. M. Williford, who introduced J. B. Kittrell, who supported Mr. Graham in the first primary. Mr. Kittrell said his second choice always had been Mr. Hoey.

Dr. J. J. Joyner of Lagrange was introduced by Mr. Kittrell. Mr. Joyner said he was an active supporter of Mr. Graham in the first primary and "I find it easy and logical to support Mr. Hoey in the second." Their stand on the issues are practically the same. Each favored the retention of the sales tax, with basic commodities exempted and the two received a vote of 325,000—a vote of confidence for the levy and repudiation of Dr. McDonald.

He recalled that the state convention adopted a platform including the sales tax and added Dr. McDonald "uttered not his voice against it."

"What is there left for McDonald to stand on? In desperation now he is reaching after a straw—accusing Hoey of buying votes and of being 'machine' controlled."

In concluding his introduction of the main speaker, Dr. Joyner declared: "If I know North Carolina, and I think I do, Mr. Hoey will get the biggest vote any man ever received in a primary in North Carolina."
