NIGHT RIDERS GIVEN PRAISE BY PREACHER

Meanwhile Citizens Pledge Support To Law and Order

HOLDS FLOGGING RESULT OF FEUD

Solicitor Advances Theory Opposing Groups in Community Responsible

Whiteville, July 6.—(AP)—While a committee of Clarendon citizens pledged their support to rid the community of white robed night riders, a preacher gloried today in what he said was an implication that he was the leader of the nocturnal band.

The minister, the Rev. George R. Hunt, denied he was connected with the terrorists but said in his Sunday sermon that the accusation was "the most honorable thing that ever be bestowed upon me" amid many "amens." He exhorted his hearers to cleanse the community of "undesirables."

Prior to Hunt's sermon, Grover C. Hinson, a well-to-do farmer, reported to authorities that upwards of a hundred "leading citizens" held a mass meeting and pledged support to the forces of law and order. Solicitor John Burney of Wilmington, and Sheriff John W. Hall prepared to continue their quiet investigation into the activities of the terrorists accused of flogging four women and two men as they were "undesirables."

Hinson told authorities that if the matter is cleared up so he believed it would be found two factions were operating against each other and that none of the best citizens were members of the vigilante band.

Mr. Hunt told his congregation yesterday, "I don't believe any law is stronger than the sentiment of the community" when that sentiment says anything must go to the wall. God help it is stronger than the law."

Meanwhile at Wilmington, Solicitor Burney advanced the theory that the floggings resulted from enmity of two opposing groups in the community and were not the work of night riding vigilantes inspired by a zeal for reform.

Instructs Farmers On Cultivation Of 1936 Tobacco Crop

Agricultural Teacher of Winterville Declares Proper Plowing Will Improve Quality of Crop

J. H. Mobley, agricultural teacher of Winterville High School, today declared that farmers can greatly improve the quality of their tobacco crops by using the ridge method of cultivation.

Mr. Mobley, who has just completed a three weeks' course in tobacco at N. C. State college, said he had noticed some of the tobacco in the county was turning yellow due to excess rain. He declared that an improved root system can be developed by turning more soil to the plants when plowing.

His statement on the situation follows:

"Unlike cotton or corn, the feeding roots of tobacco grow from the base of the main stalk, and not from the old roots. Therefore it is best to use the ridge method of cultivation because: (1) It increases the root system. (2) Withstands drought better. (3) Makes the first cropping easier. (4) Increases leaf spread and (5) Prevents drowning by giving the root system more air. Excess water does not cause drowning but the water acts as a blanket and cuts off the much-needed oxygen supply, which causes tobacco to turn yellow and finally wilt."

"The best way to obtain the ridge method of cultivation is to use the one-horse turn plow with 12 to 14 inch sweep attached to the wing or moldboard, using a long bolt to hold the sweep in place. This will throw the soil well up around the stalk of the plant. Two to four furrows are necessary, depending on the size of the tobacco, to give the best results. Always keep the middle run out."

"The farmers in Pitt County should not use any nitrogen because it causes unusual growth and delays natural ripening of the leaves. This type of tobacco is not in demand on the local market. If the land is properly plowed, the tobacco will turn green again in a week's time without the application of nitrogen."

TRIPLETS CLAIMED BY TWO MEN

Two men claim the fatherhood of these nine-month-old triplets at West Palm Beach, Fla., and the courts must decide which is right. T. J. Miller, West Palm Beach barber, husband of the babies' mother, Mrs. Lois Miller who is shown holding them, asserts he is their father. Meanwhile, Louis D. Pierre, Miami auto mechanic, makes similar claims and has filed suit to obtain custody of the triplets. (Associated Press Photo)

LEAGUE VOTES TO RAISE BANS

July 15 Fixed as Date for Lifting Sanctions Against Italy

Geneva, July 6.—(AP)—The League of Nations' coordinating committee adopted a resolution today fixing July 15 as the date on which to suspend economic and financial sanctions against Italy.

The vote on the motion was unanimous. The recommendations there will be placed before the league assembly for final action.

Augusto Vasconcelos, of Portugal, president of the committee, opened the session to raise the penalties from the fascist nation with a lengthy review of the league's first attempt to apply "punitive" measures against an aggressor.

He said it was obvious from the outset sanctions "could not be complete" because important countries are still outside the league.

Members of the committee met to consider details for the formality of dropping the economic and financial penalties voted almost nine months ago.

As they deliberated, Emperor Haile Selassie sped toward London, heavyhearted and empty handed. League delegates, freed of the embarrassing presence of the Negus, looked toward fresh discussions of what they considered a more vital subject—reorganization of the league system of collective security.

Nation Suffers Largest Fatality List in Many Years

Charlotte, July 6.—(AP)—North Carolina today took stock of the 13 violent deaths that occurred in the state over the week-end. Motor accidents claimed only three of the victims.

In the worst tragedy of the week-end three fliers were killed when their plane crashed Sunday morning on the coast near Mantoloking. Garrett H. Tompkins, 36-year-old Norfolk business man, the pilot, died instantly. His two companions, Melvin D. Sauer, 23, of East Lake, and Albert Murray Gard, 25, of Manns Harbor, died while they were being rushed to a hospital.

Albert Taylor, 51, died under the wheels of a train at Wilson early Sunday while sitting on the crosses, and Earl Lucas, 38, of Lucama, met death near there Saturday night when a bus struck his bicycle.

George Benn Dennis, 43, was killed in an automobile accident near Albemarle, and Herbert Saunders succumbed at Lenoir from burns he suffered a few days ago in a furniture factory explosion.

Alvin Whitaker, 30, of Biltmore, was drowned Saturday afternoon in a lake near Morganton, and Henry Reeves, 32-year-old Harnett county farmer, was found shot to death in his home near Dunn Saturday afternoon.

A tree bent over by the weight of another tree that had fallen on it sprang back and killed Oliver Johnson, 18-year-old Mount Airy boy, and a pitchfork accidentally stuck into his skull while he played on a wheat pile caused the death of Angus Burns, 10-year-old Indian near Fayetteville.

Charles Stines, 60, of Hot Springs was killed by a negro when he remonstrated with the man for insulting his daughter.

Billy Smith, 19, of Bayboro, died instantly Sunday afternoon when his car overturned near New Bern.

(By The Associated Press)

The nation today summed up its cost in life of celebrating the double holiday of the Fourth of July and found the staggering total of 441 persons had met violent deaths over the week-end.

It was the largest Independence celebration fatality list since 1931, when 483 died.

Leaders Of Rebellion Sentenced To Death

Tokyo, July 7.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—A special court martial today sentenced 17 leaders of the Feb. 28 rebellion to death and five others to life imprisonment.

The court also convicted 44 non-commissioned officers and eight civilians, ordering them imprisoned for terms ranging from 18 months to 15 years.

The charges against them included murder, rebellion and disobedience to the commands of the emperor himself.

It was in this rebellion that the premier's admiral, Keisuke Okada narrowly escaped assassination.

Three other statesmen were killed.

Warn That Industrial Warfare Threatens Government

SEEK ORGANIZE STEEL WORKERS

National Labor Relations Board Petitions Court in Effort to Enforce Act

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Warnings that industrial warfare threatened the government stepped into the steel picture today as the struggle over unionization in the $5,000,000,000 industry headed rapidly into its first crucial phases.

With John L. Lewis spurring the drive to organize all 500,000 steel workers into one big union in defiance of the bitter opposition of employers, the national labor relations board reopened a fight in the courts to force steel companies to accept the national labor relations act as a means of keeping peace.

The board announced it was petitioning the federal circuit court of appeals at New Orleans today in a new effort to enforce the act against the big Jones and Laughlin steel corporation.

The petition said "the need for remedial legislation such as this act, is now being amply illustrated by the threatened strike in the steel industry which will, by its nature, directly burden x x x interstate commerce."

The act guarantees the right of collective bargaining, seeks to outlaw employer dominated unions and lists "unfair practices" for which employers could be penalized. It is now the subject of court battles in which its constitutionality is being challenged and defended.

The labor board some time ago issued an order directing Jones and Laughlin to cease alleged interference with its employees' attempts at self organization and to take back 10 discharged employees.

Mr. Fleming had lived in the Texas city for the past 40 years.

Charlotte, July 6.—(AP)—A picturesque figure on the stump with flowing gray locks and a cutaway coat, Clyde R. Hoey, was nominated Governor in Saturday's Democratic primary.

Stragglings unofficial returns failed to change his 50,000 lead over 33-year-old Dr. Ralph McDonald, militant sales tax repealist today. Returns from 1,740 out of 1,858 precincts give Hoey 260,617 votes, McDonald 207,826.

Hot July Is Forecast By Weather Bureau

A hotter July than normal with periods of intense heat during the first and third weeks of the month, for the United States between the Atlantic seaboard on the east and the Rocky Mountain Region on the west, is forecast by Henry Helm Clayton of Canton, Massachusetts, veteran meteorologist of 50 years' experience, and recognized authority on long-range temperature forecasting based on changes in solar heat.

During the eight years 1928-1935, the month of July has been abnormally hot throughout most of the United States. In 1935, for instance, the average July temperature was in excess of normal by amounts ranging from 2 degrees inland from the water boundaries of the country, to 8 or 9 degrees in South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

Indications for July 1936 are that excess temperatures in the region including Maine, Michigan and Virginia will roughly duplicate those of July 1935, and that temperatures in other states east of the Rockies will correspond more closely to those of last July than to normal.

Collective farmers of Minsk province, U. S. S. R. have drained more than 225,000 acres of swamp to make farm land.

Candidates For Governor Lay Plans For Campaign

Hoey and Grissom to Wage Intensive Fight This Fall

Raleigh, July 6.—(AP)—Two veterans at the game of politics began to lay plans for an intensive fight this fall for the governorship of North Carolina, but the Democrat, Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, held the advantage.

Gilliam Grissom of Raleigh, the Republican nominee, at his state headquarters here smilingly declined to comment on the nomination of Hoey except to say "I had expected it based on past votes."

"We will make our campaign just as intensive as we can," Grissom commented. "Our state chairman, W. C. Meekins of Hendersonville, and our 100 county chairmen are my managers, which makes 101 managers in each county."

Hoey, chosen in Saturday's primary by some 50,000 majority, was at his home in Shelby. His campaign plans will take shape shortly when he selects the man he wants to be state Democratic chairman, J. W. Winborne of Marion is chairman now, the choice of Governor Ehringhaus.

Name A. D. Ennett To Head Agency Of Federal Bureau

Full Time Resettlement Officer for County Located in Guaranty Branch Bank Building

A. D. Ennett of Raleigh, has been transferred by the State Regional Resettlement office of Raleigh as full time resettlement representative for Pitt county, with headquarters in Greenville.

Mr. Ennett has had considerable experience in this type of government work having supervised an industrial and educational survey for the National Resources Board, and later was connected with the land utilization division of the Resettlement Administration.

He comes to Pitt county as supervisor of rural resettlement. The work of Mr. Ennett's office is to finance or make loans to the type of farmer who has so little security that he can obtain money through no other financial agency. Another function of the office is to arrange loans for co-operative enterprises.

Mr. Ennett's office will carry a secretary and a full time home supervisor. This set up, according to Mr. Ennett, will insure Pitt county full participation in all governmental benefits available under the Rural Resettlement Administration.

When asked his impression of Pitt county, Mr. Ennett replied "Your farms are among the very best and your citizens are progressive and courteous. I feel it a privilege to work in Pitt county."

Mr. Ennett's office is over the Dickinson avenue branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company—entrance, side door on Pitt street.

LEAVES COLLEGE IN '36 RECEIVES DEGREE IN '38

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—James L. Moss, 91, received a degree from the Citadel 70 years after he was a student of the college. Moss left the school at the age of 21 to enlist in the Confederate army and said he never had the opportunity to re-enter and finish work on his degree.

The Citadel awarded him the degree as an honorary citation at the last graduating exercises.

EDWARD FREED GIVES SELF UP

Man Linked to Murder of Play Girl Surrenders to Police

Chicago, July 6.—(AP)—Edward Freed believed to be "Eddie," for whose love murdered play girl Audrey Vallette sighed, and stormed in her diary, surrendered to police today, but refused to answer any questions asked in an effort to solve the mystery.

His wife, Ruth Carmelia Freed, who police believed fled from the North LaSalle street apartment building last Thursday after Miss Vallette had screamed "stop that woman, I've been shot," did not surrender and the authorities apparently had no knowledge of her whereabouts.

Freed, 33, manager of the "nut house," North Clark street night club, said he last saw his wife at 4 a. m. Thursday. He refused to discuss her further and refused to say anything about his relations with the murdered party girl.

Authorities were not definite as to whether they would hold Freed. After preliminary questions Freed was taken to the state attorney's office for further interrogation. The most plausible procedure seemed to be that he would be detained as a material witness.

Spy Given Sentence 15 Years In Prison

Los Angeles, July 6.—(AP)—America's first peace time spy, Harry Thomas Thompson, former United States navy yeoman was sentenced by Federal Judge Leon Yankwich today to 15 years in federal prison.

The judge, in sentencing Thompson, convicted of conspiracy to sell secret navy information to an agent of Japan said he took into consideration the youth of the defendant in failing to impose the maximum sentence of 20 years. Yankwich said also that Thompson was not of "the criminal type."

The court, however, severely denounced the convicted spy declaring "the highest quality of man is loyalty and we have the right to expect loyalty to all human associates."

HEAVY VOTING IN PITT COUNTY

Number of Votes Cast in Saturday's Run-off Contest Surpassed by June 6 Primary Only; Walter Cherry and Frank M. Kilpatrick, Both Incumbents, Renominated for Members of County Commissioners; Pitt Voters Cast Majorities for Grady and Eure for Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of State, Respectively

Dr. Ralph W. McDonald polled a 2,418 majority in Pitt county in the Democratic gubernatorial run-off primary, although the latter administration foe was defeated for the position by the party stalwart, Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby.

Unofficial returns for the county showed that Pitt voters favored Paul Grady, also defeated for lieutenant governor. Grady polled 5,101 Pitt votes as against 2,777 for Wilkins P. Horton, the successful candidate.

Thad Eure, who was nominated for secretary of state, was the only winning candidate on the state ticket for whom the county cast a majority of its ballots.

The incumbents, Walter Cherry and Frank M. Kilpatrick, won the only two positions of state county ticket, these for county commissioners.

Cherry defeated S. I. Dudley by a majority of 624 votes, according to unofficial complete returns. The winner in the first district polled 4,294 votes, as compared to 3,619 for Dudley.

In the fifth district Kilpatrick won over Dr. G. H. Sumrell by 1,983 majority. The winner polled 4,272 votes as compared with 2,289 for Sumrell.

A review of the returns shows that Hoey carried only three of the county's 19 precincts. The Democratic nominee was supported by a majority in Chioch No. 3, Griffon and Swift Creek. All three Greenville precincts were found in the McDonald column.

Three Pitt precincts voted for the winner in the race for lieutenant governor. These were Chioch No. 3, Griffon and Pactolus. Thad Eure, successful candidate for secretary of state carried 15 of the county's 19 precincts. He was the only winning candidate on the state ticket who had a majority of the support of Pitt voters. One precinct, Pauland, gave Eure and Wade the same number of votes, 128, the remaining three going to the defeated incumbent.

In defeating Candidate Dudley, Commissioner Cherry carried 11 of the county's precincts for the office of county commissioner from the first district. Beaver Dam, Carolina, Chioch No. 2, Falkland, Fountain, Greenville No. 1, Pactolus and Winterville precincts voted for his losing candidate.

In winning the nomination for commissioner Kilpatrick polled a majority in Carolina, Chioch No. 1, Chioch No. 2, Chioch No. 3, Bethel, Fountain, Farmville, Greenville No. 1, Greenville No. 2, Greenville No. 3, Greenville No. 4, Pactolus, Winterville and Griffon, having only five precincts giving Sumrell a majority.

More Pitt voters cast their ballots in the gubernatorial race than for any other office. The total vote cast in this contest was 8,336, the largest number ever cast in the county with the exception of the primary on June 6.

MURDER TONIGHT
 BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton has not made much headway in finding the man who clubbed old Arthur Burdett to death—although he has found something suspicious about the door messenger of the deceased, who is to inherit all the property of his master. But the whole village of Hope Ederton is more or less implicated—even the vicar has dropped a compromising remark to Hylton. And Dale Shipley, half brother of Burdett, is one of the suspicious lot too. Hylton just is meeting Shipley in the bar of the Hoops.

Chapter 19
MARY'S DECEIT
 DALE nodded to Hylton and regarded him with an eye that lost nothing of its furtive wariness when the Inspector strolled up to the bar to join him in a drink.
 "Making any headway?" he asked casually.
 "Lots," Hylton cheerfully assured him. The young man seemed relieved. "That's good hearing," he said. "After anyone in particular?"
 "We're always after somebody, you know," the Inspector answered.
 "Um, I suppose you'll be too busy to come out for a day's hunting tomorrow—they're meeting at the Five Way Post just up the road, and Perry here would find you a back-

 Her groom, standing arms akimbo in the stable yard watching her departure, was mildly surprised. "Run way of going to the Five Way Post," he muttered; but he was a philosophical man, as grooms mostly are; in his experience women and horses were almost equally unpredictable.
 Nancy took the grey up Picher's Lane at the top of which she saw what she had hoped to see, a solitary horseman riding ahead of her. She put the grey on to the wide grass verge of the lane and went along it at a canter.
 "Hallo, Dale," she cried, reining in alongside him.
 Young Shipley turned to her in high good humor; he was immensely pleased with his new mount and as far as he could see all Banner Dawley's glowing prognostications might well be justified.
 "Hallo, Nancy. How'd you like the look of her?"
 With the morning sun gleaming on her chestnut coat and white stockings the mare looked a picture; and young Dale Shipley, always at his best on horseback, took the eye, too, in his rakish way. "She looks splendid, Dale."
 "She is right; keep as mustard. I should say, though I haven't gal-careful in their selection. Political considerations must be subordinate to provable high caliber. The G. O. P. cannot afford to lose the governorship virtually by default, as it did in 1934 and to some extent in 1932.

DECISIVE: Lenman's candidacy will help FDR in two specific directions. For one thing, political insiders estimate that it will increase Democratic registration in New York City by at least 100,000 above what might otherwise be expected. These added registrants will be mostly poor people who ordinarily take little interest in elections, but who idolize Lenman. They are the type who vote the straight ticket when they vote at all.
 This gain will go far to offset Tammany's ingenious plan to lose New York for the President by the simple expedient of not getting out the vote. The Tiger has decided to who are keeping in close touch with political operations all over the country find the workers of both parties concentrating chiefly on the classes of voters who normally follow their respective flags.

 This means that the Democrats are most active in the lower income levels and the Republicans in the upper levels. Keen observers prophesy that the G. O. P. is sunk unless it can learn how to appeal to the lower shelf. So many more voters live there.
 A number of high ranking Republicans are privately skeptical as to whether John Hamilton—despite his admitted skill as an organizer—can overcome in four short months the handicap imposed by seven years of party lethargy, including three long years of absence from the patronage banquet table. It's no cinch to make a rusty 1929 model behave like a new car.

NEW ENGLAND: A recent survey of the New England political situation by a New York expert indicates that there isn't much thought of anything but the G. O. P. in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

But Massachusetts is a different kettle of fish. In that state Governor James M. Curley holds the key (much as Lenman does in New York). If Curley can be wangled away from Roosevelt—and optimists say that this is in the cards—the Bay State is a cinch to go Republican. Otherwise it will probably remain in the "probably Roosevelt" column right down to the finish.
 A hidden factor is operating in Roosevelt's favor all through New England—his social security pro-

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

support him. But Tammany and Lehman are good friends, and it's mighty desirable on Tammany's part to get the spoils of war—the Greater New York spoils. So the G. O. P. will have its work cut out for it.
 The national G. O. P. plan is to hammer away on the national issues. New York State is the biggest taxpayer of the whole 48. It will feel the effects of the new tax law more keenly than any other part of the country. Therefore G. O. P. strategy aims at making New Yorkers conscious of the big spending and big taxing features of the New Deal program. "New York is taxed for farmers, grasshoppers, western drought, veterans and relief workers in all other states, and gets only a pittance from Uncle Sam"—that's the battle cry that is going out.

DISCRETION: Miss Perkins, Secretary of Labor, has until September 28 to complete the rules and regulations under which American industry must operate if it wants to sell goods to the United States government—and the government is the biggest buyer.

General opinion is that the manner in which these rules will be administered will determine the success or failure of the Walsh-Healey act. On its face the act is fair. It provides for the 40-hour week and 8-hour day, authorizes fixing of wages at the minimum paid in the open industrial market for similar work in similar places, prohibits employment of children, and outlaws sweatshops.

Requirements for sanitary and other good working conditions are practically left to the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. It is in this respect that business concerns will be eager to learn what Secretary Perkins has in mind.

STRIKE: There is speculation as to what effect this new law will have in connection with the struggle now developing in the steel industry. It's known that labor leaders set great store on the new law as a lever to force all industry into line—not so much on working hours as on wages and "working conditions."

"Collective bargaining" is a principle accepted by everybody now, but it's construed differently. How Miss Perkins will construe the phrase becomes important, because she can apply her interpretation to thousands of concerns.
 In view of another court decision denying the power of the Labor Relations Board to give orders to concerns not engaged in interstate commerce it is believed that the threatened steel strike cannot be stopped by the Board. Gigantic as it is, steel production is legally not interstate commerce.

SPENDING: Chairman Buchanan of the House Committee on Appropriations is an authority on federal expenditures. He figures that the sum available for relief for the year beginning July 1 will be "not more than $3,000,000,000." The big news are:
 New relief item, $1,425,000,000; net over from last year, $1,000,000,000; CCC, $300,000,000; public works, $200,000,000; PWA revolving fund, $200,000,000; rural electrification, $50,000,000.

In addition to these, the Resettlement Administration and Youth Administration will divide about $125,000,000 mostly for relief. The public works revolving fund will draw out many additional millions from local communities able to bond public works with federal aid.

CRIM: Indications are that large slices of relief money will go immediately to the West, for relief of drought stricken regions. A terrible danger hangs over those people. If nature doesn't relent, many hundred thousand people will go on relief, with crops and cattle gone, mortgages due, and no assets.
 A dozen government agencies are gathering facts upon which to base quick action. There's no lack of money—the difficulty is in putting it to mark and effective use. Farm families can't be easily transported. Useful relief works in those regions are scarce. Artificial water supplies can't be furnished in time.

"You haven't said anything to anyone about it?"

Kingsley Hylton considered this semi-invitation. True there were things he wanted to do; but true also that he had a great theory about observing people in their unguarded moments.
 "I might have a day out," he said. "I'll think it over."

"I don't understand about Monday evening, Mary, you told me you had been to church as usual."
 "John—I—"
 Ping . . .
 John Fenton stared after his wife as she automatically obeyed the summons of the shop door bell. Even if their world was tumbling about their ears it would not have entered John or Mary Fenton's head to let that bell ring unheeded; it, and what it stood for, had become the major part of their lives.

John and Mary Fenton were feeling the pressure of big business. The fact was that old Burdett, who was the Fentons' landlord, was renting the premises next door to the Coastal Cooperative Society, which first had tried to buy out the Fentons, and then had determined to run them out of business.
 And the further truth was that after John Fenton had failed to persuade old Burdett to stand by local enterprise and forsake his plan to rent to the Cooperative, Mary Fenton had dressed in her Sunday black, taken her prayer book under her arm, and gone to see Burdett herself.
 When Mary came back into the room from attending to her customer, her husband said slowly, "I don't understand about Monday evening, Mary, you told me you had been to church as usual."
 Mary hesitated and looked at him, and he was frightened by something in her eyes.
 She tried to tell him something, but could only cry "John—I—I—I—" then rushing across the room she fell on her knees at his side, and with her head on his lap burst into a fit of uncontrollable sobbing.

NANCY FEATHERSTONE gentled her big grey, who had a shrewd idea of what was afoot and was excited with anticipation of it, and was swamped by Coolidge. In 1921 Hoover took New York's electoral vote away from Smith but Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected governor. Republican chiefs earnestly hope that history will repeat and intend to help it along by going after Roosevelt much more strenuously than Lehman instead of making a combined attack on both of them as two peas in a pod.
 The governor's re-entry puts the Republicans on a spot in the matter of their own nominee for governor. Hitherto they haven't worried much because they felt that whoever they named would start on even terms with his Democratic opponent. Now they must be very Tomorrow, one huntsman doubles back to Shipley's cottage.

 Cattle can be saved to a great extent, but the farms must simply burn up while the farm families are being fed.

SPOT: Herbert Lehman's reversal of his earlier decision not to run again for governor of New York spread far more consternation among anti-New Deal leaders than they care to admit for publication. They are trying to console themselves with the thought that New York voters have shown a strong tendency to split tickets in the past. In 1924 Al Smith won the governorship while John W. Davis

Dinner At College.
A delightful informal dinner was given the sixty-five members of the East Carolina Teachers College travel-study party which has just returned from a field trip to New England and Canada, on Thursday evening, July 2, in the new dining room at the college.

Patronized colors were used throughout the dining room as decorations.

During the dinner Dr. Meadows, president of the college, welcomed the travelers home. Immediately following dinner a short program was presented by members of this traveling study group. V. M. Mulholland, English critic teacher in the local high school and instructor in American literature on the field trip, presided over the program. After a few remarks as to the nature of the trip by Mr. Mulholland, Paul T. Ricks, tour conductor, spoke on "The Strong and Weak Points of the Party." Helen Vinarsky of Asheville, then read a clever letter which she had composed in which were included the many songs on the buses during the trip. "Why I Believe in Travel for Credit," was briefly discussed by Miss Mittle Phelps of Windsor. Miss Frances Monk of Goldsboro, added a touch of humor to the program by advising "What Not to Carry on Such a Trip." The next item on the program was a short talk by Mrs. R. L. Jones of Henderson, on "The Most Interesting Experience of the Trip." Following this three brief toasts were given: to the faculty, to the conductor, and to the drivers, by Misses Mary Davis Westcott, Josie Pigot and Doris Couch, respectively. The theme song of the party, composed by Misses Mildred Lyon of Windsor, and sung to the tune of "Goody Goody" was sung by the entire group. The singing of "America" by the entire group concluded the program.

Bible Story Books In Library.
During the Vacation Bible School teachers and pupils may find good Bible story books and reference material at Sheppard Memorial Library. The Smith Memorial Shelf offers excellent study material. The Bible is offered in the Scofield reference edition and the Moffett and King James translations. Some easy Bible story books are:

The Standard Bible Story Reader, Happy Sundays with the Bible, The Shepherd, An Old, Old Storybook, The Master and His Friends, Bible Stories, The Illustrated Bible Story Book, The Children's Bible, The Christ Child and the Children's Book of Religious Pictures.

These books and others have been placed on the reference table in the children's reading room.

Dr. ReBarker Speaks.
Dr. Herbert ReBarker gave a most illuminating and interesting talk to the Y.W.C.A. of the college at their last service showing how one could read the Bible more intelligently and enjoyably. He took the Jewish sects, explaining what each stood for, their beliefs, and the customs. He took as his examples the Pharisees, the Scribes, the Samaritans, the Publicans, and the Elders.

At the close of his talk, he gave those present the opportunity to ask any questions. Some of these brought out interesting discussions.

Miss Essie Mae Batten had charge of the service.

Miss House Bridge Hostess.
Miss Kemp House delightfully entertained at a bridge party last Friday afternoon at her home on East Tenth street, honoring her house guest, Miss Bertha Woodard of Selma. ONLY ONE CHILD IN TEN RATED HEALTHY IN CHINA

Nanking, (AP)—That more than 90 per cent of China's school-age children have physical defects, more than 80 per cent are undernourished and many are diseased, is the startling finding of the nationalist government.

Such elementary practices as bathing and brushing teeth scarcely are known in millions of Chinese homes.

In view of this serious situation, the government has ordered health education and physical training instituted with special training courses here for doctors, nurses and health technicians.

Community School Work Is Reviewed; First Session Ends

Organization hopes to erect new building in which to carry on its work in the near future.

The Community Daily Vacation Bible School operated in two divisions, one at the Third Street School building, and the other at the High School building, by the churches of the city through the leadership of the Ministerial Association, has now completed half of its term. It is the desire of those in charge of the work to give the community a picture of the work at this point.

Ten teachers, under the direction of Miss Louise Galphin, are caring for the children in four general groups; beginners, primary, junior and intermediate. This grouping offers the opportunity for this training to all children from four years of age through their 15th year. For three hours each morning, five days per week, these children are led in the pathway of happy experience, and are taught those eternal values which will build into their characters the moral stamina that shall stand them well in the future.

A peek into the beginners room at either school would reveal a happy group of little folk learning to play together, and to work in harmony and to gather from the stories drawn from the book of conduct for little feet to walk therein. A visitor would be thrilled and delighted to see the development of these little tots, some of whom have not had the advantages of many others, into bright, happy expressive youngsters. A transformation is wrought before your eyes.

A glimpse into any one of the other departments would likewise convince the visitor that the investment in the lives of these boys and girls brought together in these schools is of greater value and produces larger returns from funds placed in many another form of investment will ever bring. Their intense child-interest in the things of the Kingdom as they dawn upon them from day to day would gladden every heart who watches them.

These children are also taught to make useful things, and to work together in producing things that will bring happiness and cheer to others. A small daily gift is presented by them to make it possible for others to share in the fine things they enjoy. The boys are using scrap lumber, donated to the school by the Garris-Evans Lumber Co. to make book ends, book covers, what-nots, etc. Other children are putting together scrap children that will be presented to the local hospital and other children's institutions for the blessing of those who are confined for a time. Some of the girls are making handkerchief bags, dresses, tray covers, pillows, center-pieces, and dolls. So by the occupation of heart, hand and mind, these children are led in happy hours of experience every day.

The total enrollment of the school to date is 233, and the average attendance has been 173. Children from every denomination in the community in the city are to be found among those enrolled, and some who are not affiliated with any of the churches.

To date $190.25 has been received toward the expense of this work. It is to be hoped that our citizens will see the value of this work and will provide for its maintenance through their generosity. Any gifts forwarded to The Daily Reflector, or to any of the ministers will be acknowledged, and gratefully received for this constructive effort for the spiritual and moral welfare of our children.

Red Banks H. D. Club
A called meeting of the Red Banks Club was held with Mrs. Oscar Tucker Friday afternoon. Farm and Home Convention
The annual State Farm and Home convention will convene in Raleigh July 27-Aug. 1. All farmers and their wives will find a program that will prove beneficial in many ways. The only cost of this meeting is the transportation and meals. The best way to go is to fill five passenger cars and divide expenses. For the benefit of any who do not care to drive cars we shall have a bus especially for Thursday (Home County Day). Please let the home agent know if you are interested in the bus trip.

Simpson Meeting Postponed.
The Simpson H. D. Club meeting announced for Wednesday, July 8, has been postponed until the following Wednesday. The club will meet with Mrs. L. S. Edwards.

Stokes Club To Meet.
The Stokes H. D. Club will meet Thursday afternoon at the school building. You are invited from 3 until 5 o'clock.

Canning
Canning season is here again in a big way. Each year canning and tobacco work make their appearance about the same time. Any groups desiring canning demonstrations may have them by making arrangements with the home agent. The regular club subjects will be used on the regular dates and canning meetings will be arranged for other times. Some new announcements from the U. S. Department of Agriculture concerning the canning of corn is pleasing many. If you cut corn as near the cob as possible without setting any of the cob and don of scrape the cob you may can it in quart jars 70 minutes at ten pounds pressure. This will prevent its turning dark as it will with 15 pounds pressure. Corn, of course should never be canned without the pressure cooker except in soup mixture, as vegetables without acid are subject to spoilage organisms that are not killed with boiling temperatures. The poison that is formed can neither be seen nor tasted. In canning whole grained corn use only very young and tender corn and no pot pack your jars tight. Leave an inch of space at the top of the jar, as corn expands and the heat must get to every part.

Greenville Corps of Salvation Army Elects New Board

Opportunity Offered to All Children in City is Through Daily Bible Vacation School

The Greenville Corps of the Salvation Army at a meeting held Thursday night re-organized its Advisory Board under a new constitution recently adopted for Salvation Army Boards in the Southern territory.

There are still a few names to be added to the list of members but those elected and accepting membership on the new board are: Mayor M. K. Blount, R. V. Keel, J. C. Gaskins, Dr. K. B. Pace, Dr. A. M. Schult, R. C. Powell, T. Y. Walker, J. H. Waldrop, S. M. Woolfolk, J. C. Galloway, R. M. Garrett, G. V. Smith, A. A. Ellwanger, J. Hicks Corey.

Officers nominated and elected unanimously are: Chairman, J. C. Galloway; Vice Chairman, G. V. Smith; Secretary, J. Hicks Corey; Treasurer, A. A. Ellwanger.

Tentative dates for the annual Home Service campaign were set for the week of October 12 to 17.

The next meeting of the board will be held on August 27th at which time the personnel of the various committees will be announced by the chairman. Plans will also be completed for the annual financial appeal. The army is much in need of a permanent building in which to carry on its work. A building lot is owned by the Army and Captain Bates announced that gifts of money and material had already been promised by a number of friends of the organization. It is hoped that the Army's dream of a permanent home in which to conduct its services and carry on its character building activities may soon be realized.

The Salvation Army is a community organization. It ministers wherever there is need. It does so without reference to creed or race. Its program is a religious one with a social aim, and a social program with a religious aim, and the two are so intermingled that they are one. Its aim is to build a better citizenship in the best sense of the word.

Million Home Owners In State Receive Aid

More than $3,000,000,000 has been loaned to more than a million distressed home owners in the United States since June, 1933 by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation. Of that amount $31,394,471.12 has been loaned in North Carolina to approximately 12,500 home owners. Of the total amount loaned in North Carolina $394,717.64 has been loaned to 169 distressed home owners in Pitt County.

Under the Home Loan Act a fifteen year loan at five percent was granted distressed home owners while the holders of their defaulted mortgages received HOLC bonds backed by the Federal Treasury.

The work of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation has shifted from "lending" to "collecting" and the job is far from being completed, but the State Manager of this Agency reports that there has been no foreclosure out of the 169 loans made in Pitt County.

There have been some defaults by home owners in every part of the country and foreclosures have been started. However, officials state that collections have been unusually good over the entire country and that the percentage of delinquent accounts is relatively small. The defaults, they added, are comparatively few and chiefly by "misguided" persons. Only 111 foreclosures have been made on HOLC mortgages in North Carolina as of June 30, 1936.

TWO NOMINEES FACE CHARGES

Insincerity Hurlled at Both Democrats, Republicans

By PRESTON GROVER
Washington, — Many delegates thought Senators Barkley and Robinson in their convention addresses adopted identical methods of defense against Republican charges that the Democrats failed to live up to their 1932 platform.

The method of defense in both instances, that at Philadelphia indicated, was to launch a counter-attack. Barkley quoted a Republican platform charge that the New Deal "has dishonored our country by repudiating its most solemn obligations." Without denying that statement at once, he said:

"On that platform they (the Republicans) nominated a candidate who, three years ago, urged the payment of public and private debts in money of the printing press redeemable in neither silver or gold.

"In 1920, 1924, 1928 and 1932 the hollow and hackneyed promise was made by Republican platforms and candidates to restore agriculture to economic equality with industry. The promise was never fulfilled, intended for fulfillment."

Said Robinson: "The Democrats 'faithfully complied with the spirit' of the 1932 platform. But if there has been a 'partial failure' in respect to economy and balancing the budget, that failure, he said, was due to changing conditions and necessities and—

"To the guerrilla warfare of the Republican army."

Robinson went even one better. He dug out of the Republican platform this statement:

"The acceptance of this nomination tendered by this convention carries with it as a matter of private honor and public faith an undertaking by every candidate to be true to the principles and program herein set forth."

The average listener may have interpreted that as another side swipe by Republicans at Roosevelt for the quality of his platform performance. But not Robinson. Again he was using the method of counter-attack.

That statement, he said, was meant as a sort of oath imposed upon Governor Landon by Republican platform makers who suspected he might dodge fulfillment.

To many Democrats that latter interpretation appeared a neat job. It was not unlike the childhood game of calling names in which one lad shouts derisively at another: "You are double anything you can talk me."

ROBINS AND BLUEBIRDS FEED ON INSECT PESTS

Raleigh, N. C. (AP)—Experiments conducted by the federal bureau of biological survey indicate the robin and bluebird are the farmer's friends—not enemies.

Survey workers examined the contents of stomachs of robins. They found 42 per cent of the robin's food is animal matter; 16 per cent beetles; 5 per cent grasshoppers; 9 per cent caterpillars and 11 per cent various insects.

Contents of 244 stomachs of bluebirds consisted of 58.51 per cent animal matter and 41.49 per cent vegetable matter. S. Z. Pollock, Junior biologist, says this proves the bird is of economic as well as aesthetic value.

OYSTERS ONCE MEASURED 30 INCHES IN DIAMETER

Dallas, Tex.—(AP)—Prehistoric man in the Big Bend section of Texas apparently had no food problem.

Dr. Charles N. Gould, regional geologist of the National Park service, reports finding petrified oysters 30 inches in diameter near Boquillas, in the district that would be included in the proposed Big Bend International park.

James Dunn sold lunch-wagon and made $10,000 profit in ten months at one time before becoming an actor.

GREENIES TAKE TWO OF THREE HOLIDAY TILTS

Locals Defeat Bears Friday, 5-0; Ayden Won From Greenies Saturday, 6-3; Snow Hill Takes 8-7 Licking Sunday.

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD The Greenies took two of three games played since Thursday of last week by whitewashing the New Bern Bears 5-0; dropping a game to the Ayden Aces Saturday by a 6-3 score; and noosing out the Snow Hill nine yesterday with an 8-7 score.

Bill Holland did the tossing for the locals against the Bears, and held the Braves to four scattered hits for seven innings—rain came after the first half of the seventh. Lefty Kennel started as the day's hurler for the New Bernians, but was relieved in the second, when Brown, local centerfielder hit for circuit. Williams succeeded Kennel.
