ORDER WOMAN HELD IN JAIL PENDING TRIAL

Mrs. Sudie Haynes Charged With Burning Half Brother

HEARING HELD THIS MORNING

Negro Woman, Chief Witness, Says She Was Told Not to Tell Anything

Wilson, July 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Sudie Haynes, charged with the fatal burning of her half brother, Howard Godwin, as he slept early yesterday in his home in a remote section of Wilson county, was bound over to the September term of superior court without bail following a hearing held here this morning before magistrate A. J. Hines.

Niece Sherrod, negro woman, and principal witness for the state at the hearing, testified that a quarrel had taken place between Mrs. Haynes and Godwin on Monday night and that Mrs. Haynes "had poured something out of a can" on the house and "had struck a match to it" after which it flared up. The officers found a kerosene cap empty nearby.

The negroes further testified that "two or three people told me not to tell nothing about what happened," but she declined to give the names at the hearing.

Dr. Herbert Stack To Make Talks on Safety Education

Columbia University Professor to Speak at East Carolina College Here Next Week

Dr. Herbert J. Stack from Columbia University, director of the Education Division of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, a man who is one of the most noted authorities on the subject of "Safety Education," will spend next week in North Carolina, talking at the different summer schools and meeting with various groups interested in the problem.

The first of these talks will be given at East Carolina Teachers College on Monday morning, July 13, at ten o'clock. All who are interested in the subject are invited to join the College audience at that time. Traffic officers, city and county officials, members of civic clubs, and other citizens interested in safety campaigns, will doubtless be especially interested in hearing what Dr. Stack has to say. His talk will probably be on such points as the place of safety education in the school, methods of teaching safety, how to organize safety activities in the school, and the place of safety in health and physical education, yet it will be of importance to others as well as to teachers.

During the last six years Dr. Stack has spoken on this subject in over 150 colleges, among which are Duke and Carolina.

Five Persons Die In Explosion Of Woolwich Arsenal

London, July 8.—(AP)—An explosion in the royal arsenal in Woolwich, killing five persons, was announced today by the war office.

The cause of the explosion and the extent of the damage was not immediately disclosed.

The announcement merely said: "The war office regrets to announce an explosion occurred in the research department of the royal arsenal at Woolwich this morning which caused the deaths of five persons."

Regular Court Term Ended Here Tuesday

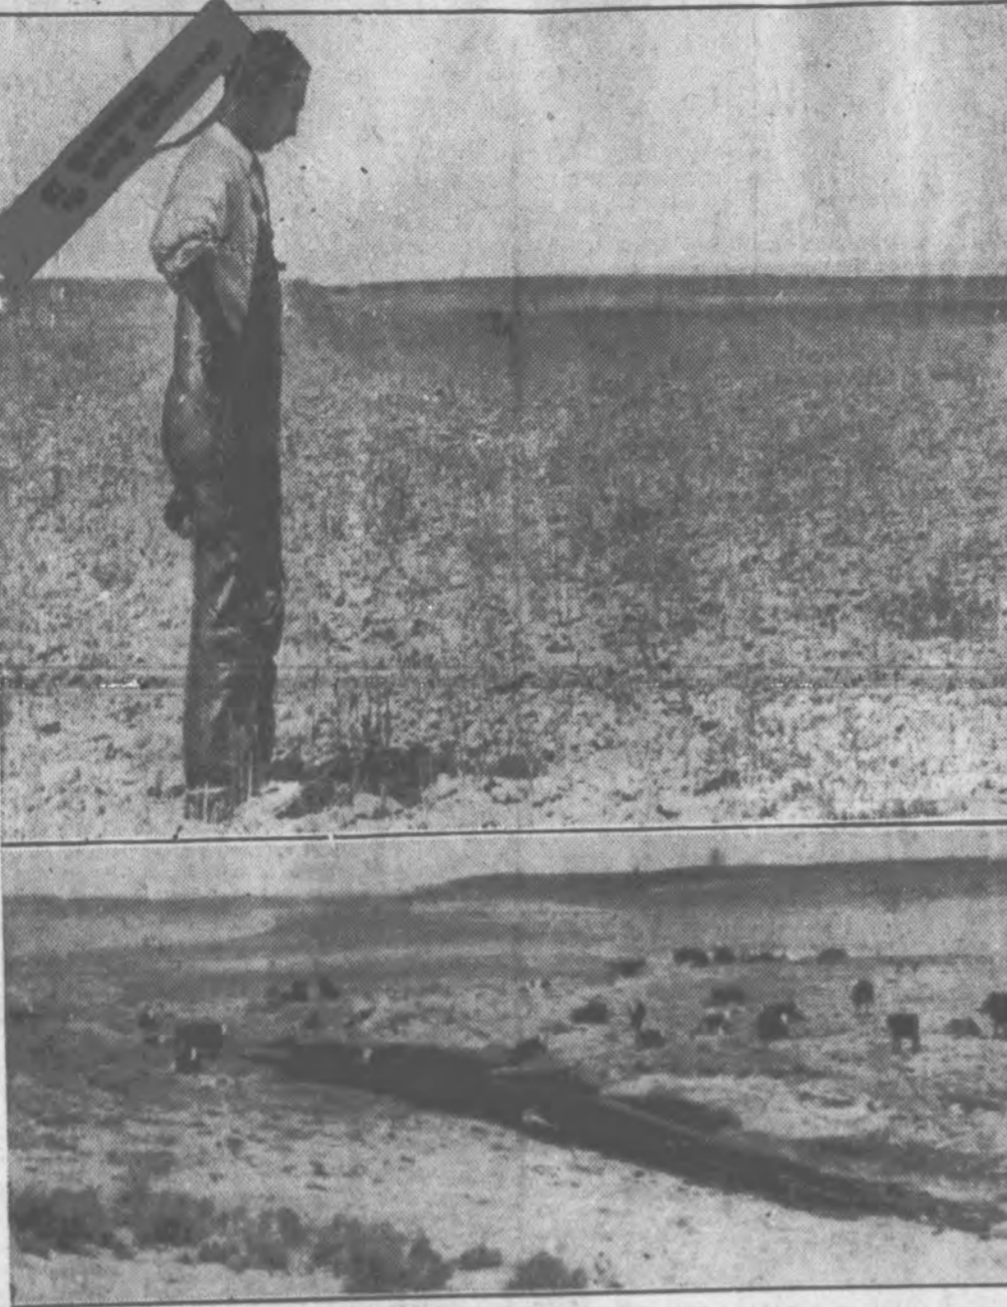

The weekly session of Pitt County court was completed yesterday afternoon, a large number of cases having been heard during the day.

At the afternoon session James Jones was given a six-months sentence for assault. The sentence was suspended upon provision the defendant remain of good behavior and not in any way molest Lee Duncan.

A nol pro was taken in the case charging Bonnie B. Teel, Walter Bullock and Wallace Cowan with larceny.

Judgment was suspended in the case charging Luke Willoughby with reckless driving, hit-and-run driving and driving without proper lights.

GRASSHOPPERS ADD TO DROUGHT ZONE CALAMITY

Unprecedented heat, drought and a plague of grasshoppers have combined to bring calamity to middle western states. Typical of the devastation is the farm of Albert West near Hardin, Mont. He is shown (top) surveying what was a wheat field until drought and the grasshoppers came. Below, thirty cattle are seen hovering around a rapidly drying water hole on the plains near Hardin. ASK DELEGATE LEAVE PARLEY

Anglo-Russian Conference Nearing Bitter Climax

Montreux, Switzerland, July 8.—(AP)—The Soviet delegation announced today that Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff had been instructed by Moscow to leave the present Dardanelles conference unless he received considerable concessions from the British.

The conference assembled to study Turkey's demands for the right to fortify the famous straits connecting the Black Sea with the Mediterranean recently has been closed to a deadlock over rival Russian and British desires.

Great Britain demanded the right of unrestricted passage through the straits for her warships; Russia has contended that the eastward passage of non-Black Sea powers should be restricted.

At the same time Russia, herself a Black Sea power, has demanded the right to move her warships in either direction through the dardanelles in unrestricted numbers.

Litvinoff, it was stated, deemed insufficient Great Britain's offer to modify her demand for an unconditional entry into the Black Sea in case Britain was at war.

News Behind the News

Washington

KEYMEN: President Roosevelt and Chairman Parley have had several strategy conferences. They called in advisers on special matters. Donald Richberg furnished legal advice on constitutional policy. Charles Michelson, publicity director of the national committee, outlined his views on its specialty. Edward J. Flynn, New York's Secretary of State and Bronx leader, threw light on the New York situation—perhaps the crucial battleground of 1936.

Mr. Roosevelt always has the advice of Felix Frankfurter on matters relating to social reforms and the shaping of legislation to attain these objectives.

One of the sitters-in was Frank Murphy, brought back from the Philippines to run for Governor of Michigan.

WAITING: The principals in this continental struggle for control of the government are very wary. Gladstones entering upon a death struggle could not be more alert. Mr. Roosevelt seems to have decided, to

Returns Tabulated In Run-Off Primary

Charlotte, July 8.—(AP)—The complete tabulation of official and unofficial returns from last Saturday's primary in North Carolina gives:

For governor: Hoey, 266,813; McDonald, 212,879.

For lieutenant governor: Horton, 217,632; Grady, 296,773.

For secretary of state: Eure, 233,751; Wade, 192,882.

Violators Dog Law Fined $10 and Cost

On Tuesday morning in the Court of Justice of the Peace Heber L. Jenkins the following cases involving violation of the state rabies law were tried:

Vance Briley, case continued; O. W. Eakes, not guilty; Enoch Station, Preston Langley, Robert Allen, and Charley Cooper were found guilty and fined $10.00 and costs. Paul Fitzgerald, Jr. inspector for Greenville Township announced that there are a number of cases scheduled to come up for next Tuesday's session.

Police Nab Anti-Jewish Poles

Sosnowiec, Poland (AP)—Youthful anti-Semites in this town organized a vigilance committee which systematically prevented persons from entering Jewish stores until the police intervened. Each of the committee had the choice of being fined $18 or spending 10 days in jail.

Wait for the acceptance speech of his rival, Gov. London, before opening his real bombardment.

Representative Snell of New York Republican leader of the House, has written his speech notifying Gov. London of his nomination. Snell has returned to Potsdam for a rest after a grueling session that struck down several lawmakers. Snell's speech has been sent to London for information. It suggests topics which the presidential nominee will discuss.

No candidate in recent decades has had a broader field for developing his views. His attitude on many national questions is unknown, although his mental characteristics and mode of life furnish a clue to what he will say.

ATTACKS: The candidates are in sharp contrast. One of them is brilliant, intuitive, spectacular in smashing precedent on the dizzy height of success, known of all men. The other is "an ordinary, plain fellow" whose capacity has not been fully measured; a man who feels his way in each problem by applying.

HOLD LICENSE PENDING TRIAL

Drivers Denied Permits While Awaiting Hearing

Raleigh, July 8.—An increasing number of drivers' licenses are being suspended by the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue pending the trial of those arrested for drunken driving, reckless driving and other violations of the traffic laws. Director Arthur Fuik of the division said today: "This is already having an effect on reckless and careless driving as well as on drunken driving, since more and more drivers now realize that they are likely to have their licenses suspended as soon as they are arrested in addition to running the risk of losing their licenses for one year if they are convicted."

"In all cases of gross carelessness, recklessness, drunken driving, manslaughter, hit-and-run driving and other offenses, we are suspending the licenses of drivers immediately, without waiting for their trial and conviction." Director Fuik said.

"And in all cases where appeals are taken, we are now automatically suspending licenses. Before we started suspending on appeals, many drivers convicted of drunken driving, reckless driving, and other offenses for which revocation was mandatory, managed to stall off the revocation of their licenses by appealing to higher courts. In this manner they were frequently able to keep on driving their cars for several months more, especially in those counties which have only two or three terms of superior court a year.

"But we have put a crimp in that practice now by automatically suspending the licenses of all drivers who appeal to higher courts following conviction on charges which call for the revocation of their licenses.

"We are also revoking the licenses of all drivers found guilty of transporting stolen goods of value in excess of $50. For a while the courts did not seem to understand this provision of the law. But now they are sending us a list of all convictions for transporting stolen goods in excess of $50, which is a felony, so that we are revoking the driving licenses of all so convicted as the law directs."

Saves Boy's Life Twice

Beaver Falls, Pa. (AP)—Henry Doucet, 34-year-old railroad brakeman, saved the life of Harold Peters, 5, twice. Seeing the boy trapped on a railroad trestle, Doucet clung to the cowcatcher and pushed the boy into the river below. Then he dove from the cowcatcher and rescued the lad from the water.

Smoking Out The Hornets

Ravenna, Ohio, (AP)—Painters got rid of a hornets' nest at Mrs. W. W. Stevens' home, but nearly burned the house down. They applied a torch to the cornice to smoke out the hornets. A half hour later they had to summon the fire department. Then the firemen had two fights on their hands—fire and hornets.

HEAT RECORDS SHATTERED IN ARID SECTIONS

At Least 50 Deaths Counted in Mid-western States

CROP DAMAGES CONTINUE RISE

Western Planters Receive Good News as President Starts Governm't Program

Chicago, July 8.—(AP)—The nation counted at least 53 dead today as record-shattering heat engulfed the drought-damaged midwest for the sixth consecutive day.

Crop losses—already estimated at approximately $300,000,000—mounted rapidly under a sun that drove temperatures as high as 120 degrees.

No relief was sighted. Forecaster J. R. Lloyd predicted "abnormally warm weather, broken only by scattered and probably inconsequential showers in a few states, will continue over the northwest drought area today and tomorrow.

But desperate western planters received some good news. President Roosevelt swinging the government into action behind a program designed to carry 170,000 farm families and their harassed livestock through the crisis.

He announced at Washington yesterday they would receive aid through WPA work and subsistence land and grants while small cattle breeders would receive federal loans to save their foundation herds.

The president estimated 204,000 farm families—the bulk of them in the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wyoming and Montana—were in need of some form of immediate cash relief. He said 50,000 were being employed on WPA projects and "closed 2,800 men were being hired daily in South Dakota, 2,000 in North Dakota, 800 in Minnesota and between 300 and 400 in Montana.

Next month, the president said, he would visit the "death row," the Dakotas and possibly Minnesota to gauge the progress of the program.

John Rockefeller Observes Birthday Lakewood Home

Lakewood, N. J., July 8.—(AP)—Ninety-seven candles shone today on John D. Rockefeller's birthday cake with one slice reserved for the aged financier himself.

"Of course he will eat some," said a member of his household. "There is no reason why he won't eat cake because he eats everything he wants."

This declaration added emphatic though unofficial support to statement issued by the multi-millionaire for his birthday anniversary: "My good condition of health is simply a miracle to me."

With members of his family and a few friends gathered to join in quiet celebration of the event, Lakewood was another milestone in Mr. Rockefeller's march to his goal—a century of preparation, after which he once said he "shall begin to really live."

Mrs. Richard Mills Is Claimed By Death

Funeral services for Mrs. Richard Mills, 36, who died at her home on Greenville Route No. 5 yesterday at 5:45 p. m., were conducted from the home this afternoon at three o'clock. Rev. Warren Boyd, Free Will Holiness minister of Black Jack, had charge of the services. Burial followed in the Jodie Williams cemetery, near Black Jack.

Mrs. Mills had been critically ill for eleven days from a complication of diseases. The daughter of the late Claude and Georgia Nelson Cannon, she was reared in Chicod township.

She is survived by her husband; two sons, Claude and Heber Mills of Pitt county; four daughters, Misses Mattie, Doris Lucille and Lida Gray Mills, all of the home place; three sisters, Mrs. Willie Williams, Mrs. Adam Mills and Mrs. Jim Mills; one brother, C. R. Cannon, all of Pitt county.

Tobacco Company Head Returns From The Orient

C. W. Howard Discusses Situation in Japan and China

C. W. Howard, president of the Greenville Tobacco company, who returned yesterday from a trip to the Orient in the interest of his organization, said today he found little encouragement in China, but declared Japan was the most progressive nation on the globe.

Mr. Howard said China at present is undergoing a depression similar to one which this country just emerged from and added the results it would have on the tobacco industry could not be estimated at this time. He declared, however, that the use of American tobacco in that country had been greatly reduced.

Five years ago something over 150,000,000 pounds of American tobacco was consumed in China, the tobacco company president said. This amount has been reduced to less than 15,000,000 pounds, he added.

He declared the decrease was due to economic conditions and mon-

Farmers In Drought Area To Be Employed By WPA

Destitute Families to Be Taken Care Of Immediately

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, announced today that 55,000 destitute farmers in five mid-western drought-stricken states would be employed by the WPA within a "week or 10 days at the most."

Williams estimated that nearly half this number would be employed within 24 hours.

He said the WPA would employ 20,000 in North Dakota at the rate of 2,000 a day.

In South Dakota, he said, 17,000 would be employed at an average of 2,800 a day. Jobs for 6,000 are called for in Montana, he said, at the rate of 400 a day.

In Wyoming 2,000 men are to be employed at the rate of 700 a day and Minnesota's schedule calls for the employment of 7,500 at an average of 800 a day.

The Resettlement Administration which already has a complete organization in the field, has made allotments to six western states totaling $393,000 to cover a short period as a major step in a program designed to care for 154,500 families.

The 154,500 families are located in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Montana, Wyoming, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kentucky, North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina.

The total monthly cost to relief suffering in the drought areas over and above those families now receiving cash grants from the Resettlement Administration will be $1,690,000, officials estimated.

Cotton Cultivation Increases For Year

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Cotton in cultivation July 1 was estimated today by the crop reporting board at 30,621,000 acres, or 109.8 per cent of the 27,888,000 in cultivation a year ago.

In North Carolina 967,000 acres, or 103 per cent of the last year's acreage, were in cultivation on the date.

Increased Supply Threat Causes Commodity Slump

By A. A. PATTON
(Associated Press Statistician)
New York, July 3.—(AP)—The hovering threat of increased supplies bore down on commodity prices in the first half of 1936.

When AAA was supreme-courted out of existence, removing a prop from farm prices, the logical market reaction was a drop in quotations. The inevitable tendency in that direction was postponed, however, by shortages in some staples resulting from transportation snarls throughout the snow-bound middle west, bringing sharply higher prices in mid-February.

The Associated Press weighted index of wholesale commodity prices reached a peak of 78.17 on February 14, more than 30 days after the AAA overturn. Largest gainers during the period were eggs, coffee, rubber, hogs, rye, steel scrap and lumber.

Curtailed production of the nation's major staples under federal control in 1935 stimulated prices. With the brakes released by the Supreme Court, the high levels then existing led producers to plan larger outputs for 1936.

ARRESTED FOR COLORING GAS

Charge Filling Station Operator "Doctored" Fluid

Raleigh, July 8.—A filling station operator here in Wake county who was found to be "doctored" gasoline matter to low-test gasoline and then selling it for "high test" gasoline at premium prices, was found, arrested and prosecuted here recently.

C. D. Baucum, director of the division of weights and measure of the State Department of Agriculture, said today:

"Not only was this filling station operator adding coloring matter to plain gas and selling it at three cents a gallon more than the prevailing price of regular gasoline, but analysis of the gasoline showed that it was of the lowest quality of the kind sold by the regular filling stations as 'third grade gas' and sold at from one to two cents a gallon less than the prevailing price for the better grades of gasoline," Baucum said.

The result was that by adding the coloring matter, this filling station operator was selling this low grade gasoline for at least 5 cents a gallon more than it sold for in the better filling stations run by honest operators."

Several years ago Baucum and his inspectors found a filling station with a delivery pump so adjusted that after it had delivered five or ten gallons into the gas tank of a car, the operator would turn a valve and then pump the gasoline out of the car tank and back up into the pump again. This manner of cheating the public has been made virtually impossible, however, by the new type of automatic pumps which have almost displaced the old hand pumps. Baucum said.

Due to the fact that Baucum and his department do not permit the sale or installation of any gasoline pumps in the state which have not been previously tested and approved.

LABOR CHIEFS ENRAGED OVER LEWIS' POLICY

A. F. of L. Leaders in Meet to Decide On Waging War

OPPOSING CAMPS HURL CHARGES

No Peace in Sight as William Green and John L. Lewis Flare at Each Other

Washington, July 8.—(AP)—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor gathered today to decide whether to wage war to the knife on John L. Lewis and fellow insurgents engaged in the gigantic struggle to organize 500,000 steel workers into a single industrial union.

Angry accusations from the opposing camps of industrial and craft unionists indicated no peace was in sight in their quarrel threatening to split the American Federation of Labor wide apart with profound consequences for the future history of organized labor.

William Green, president of the Federation, and spokesman for its dominant sections of craft unionists, said bitterly that Lewis' "unwise policy" had produced only "division, discord and confusion" in labor ranks and would benefit only the enemies of organized labor.

He said that if the American Federation of Labor executive council elected to join with the corporations composing the American Iron and Steel Institute in fighting the Lewis group, "the shame of such a dishonorable action will lie on the heads of Mr. Green and his irreconcilable associates."

The executive council faced a decision whether to remove Lewis' mine workers and eleven other unions from the Federation.

Italians Out For "Mass Reprisals"

Rome, July 8.—(AP)—Italian military airplanes were reported today sent out to make "mass reprisals" against an Ethiopian district in which at least four Italian flyers were slain June 26.

Among those killed was Major Antonio Locatelli, famous pilot and a member of the Balbo mass flight to the United States in 1933, and General Vincenzo Mbelocco, assistant chief of aviation in East Africa during the war.

The victims occupying the airplanes had been making an observation flight over the Walega. They landed in a district frequented by fierce and hostile tribesmen.

The natives attacked the group, destroyed the planes and killed at least four occupants.

A priest, the Rev. Father Barolli, a passenger escaped and carried the news of the massacre to Addis Ababa.

The official communique telling of the affair did not explain the fate of the others who may have been included in the party. It described the attackers as irregular Ethiopian soldiers.

The news did not reach Addis Ababa until July 5 and the order for mass reprisal followed.

MURDER TONIGHT
 BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton just has had the discouraging experience of having a perfectly good case evaporate on him. He has thought Lumsdale's mysterious parcels from the Post Office must have had something to do with the still more mysterious death of Arthur Burdett—and all the parcels contained were post cards. Dole Shipley is still under suspicion, and now Mrs. Reeves pretty and Irish, seems likewise under a cloud. Nevertheless, Lumsdale who was the murdered man's servant, is not entirely out of the woods.

Chapter 22
THE REEVES
EXCEPT as curiosities the photographs could hardly be said to interest him. In his time, in Paris, Port Said and the bad quarter of Marseilles, he had come across some pretty filthy representations, but he had never seen the equal of what he handled now in the old fashioned kitchen of Enderton Court. He felt slightly sick.
 "What's all this?" he asked.
 "Mister, those cards haven't anything to do with me," Lumsdale said so earnestly as to carry conviction. "I'll swear to that on oath. Those are what the old fool used to like to look at. I had to get them for him. When I first came here he told me that he had important parcels coming from abroad—Paris they came

A somewhat chastened Andrew Lumsdale nodded. "All right, Mister."
 Twenty minutes later Kingsley Hylton was being smiled at by the maid at Ferny House. Yes, Mrs. Reeves was in, and the Captain; would he please to come in.
 The inspector found Captain Reeves and his wife sitting in the drawing room with a copy of "Horse & Hound" open between them. Mrs. Reeves gave the inspector an affable welcome; the Captain looked at him and grunted.

Eylon refused the offer of tea.
 "No; no tea, thank you. I've come on business."
 "About old Burdett?" Reeves asked.
 "About the murder."
 "Then in that case my wife better leave us."
 "I'd rather she didn't. It's Mrs. Reeves that I want to see at the moment."
 "And what the devil do you suppose a woman can have to do with that business?"
 "Pat, please—" Nellie Reeves put in.

CAPTAIN REEVES. Hylton said, "I daresay you pride yourself on being a loyal, law-abiding citizen, don't you?"

rasberry. Now Hamilton's task is to counteract this abortive development by persuading the League to keep quiet and at the same time to pay them enough lip service to assure that their fountains of funds will flow freely—and unobtrusively—on Landon's behalf.
 It's quite a problem in diplomacy to shush a group who have tasted the heady wine of the front page. A New York G. O. P.-er cracks that Hamilton wins every time the Liberty League issues a statement—but he plainly can't risk being too impolite to its backers.

SKILL: New York political sharps are keeping a watchful eye on Ohio. This state's 26 electoral votes will be a valuable prize in November.

They figure that Democratic Governor Martin L. Davey will be a key factor in the outcome. His heated run-in with the administration—and especially Harry Hopkins—in the early days of the New Deal is well remembered. Sources who know Davey well say that privately he is far more conservative than Myron Taylor or Alfred Sloan. His viewpoint is characteristic of business men who personally own or control medium-sized companies. He rules his own concern with a rod of iron and would betide any misguided unionist who might be so rash as to try to organize his employees. At heart, Davey is as opposed to New Deal principles as the du Ponts could possibly be.

But Mr. Davey is running for reelection this fall. He needs Roosevelt and Roosevelt needs him. He and Washington have kissed and made up and he sincerely plans to go down the line for the national ticket. Here's an angle the G. O. P. cannot afford to ignore. Davey is not highly regarded as an executive. He is unpopular with men like Newton Baker and Jim Cox and with many Ohio newspapers. Yet even his enemies concede he has chance of carrying the state.

FRIST: New York scouts in the farm belt report to date a disappointing response—from the anti-New Deal standpoint—to Bill Lemke and his Union party. Nowhere—not even in Minnesota or the Dakotas—is there any indication of a rush to follow their flag.
 Meanwhile Dr. Townsend carily refrains from committing his followers to Lemke's support. If the doctor continues to hold out—which he probably will unless he gets satisfactory assurance that he will have as much to say as Father Coughlin behind the scenes—Astute New Yorkers prophesy that Lemke won't corral enough votes to paper a fair-sized barn.

Coughlin's lack of a definite campaign policy isn't helping his candidate either. The radio priest doesn't go in for careful executive planning. He might fairly be described as a "day-to-day-er." He maneuvers always to be free to reverse himself if need be, which means that he can never map a specific program for the future.

RIPE TOMATOES DOUBLE FOR FIRE EXTINGUISHER

Mission, Tex.—(AP)—If you need a fire extinguisher in a hurry, there's nothing quite like a few ripe tomatoes.
 Local firemen responded to an alarm which reported an automobile ablaze on a highway near here. When they reached the car, they found the fire out and the motor splattered liberally with the dripping remains of a number of ripe tomatoes.
 The driver explained that a farmer drove by, saw his predicament and offered the tomatoes as fire extinguishers. The men stood off and bybarded the blazing engine, putting out the fire in a few moments.

ing "horse sense" rather than relying upon intuition. He must go far before he can be accurately weighed by his countrymen.
 This is a situation that invites the charge that Landon, untried and untested, is too big a risk for the presidency; that he has not proved that he will be his own boss; that other men, more experienced than he, will "run" him and "run" the country if he should be elected.
 Already there are signs that one army of the New Deal, at least, will attack Landon on this flank. Voters will be asked to believe that behind Landon are vast interests and powerful men who are using him as a means of destroying Roosevelt and who will then dominate the government.

SCRIMMAGE: When Roosevelt ran against Hoover he directed his shots exclusively at Hoover. He ignored lesser men. Landon has been advised to attack Roosevelt only, as the personification of the New Deal—to hold Roosevelt personally responsible for all that has happened.

How Landon can do this and maintain debate on a plane of dignity and courtesy is for him to work out. Roosevelt hit Hoover many hard blows. His critics said some of these blows were a trifle below the belt. In the scrimmage to come, if he should picture Landon as a puppet of powerful hidden forces the mettle of the G. O. P. gladiator will be sharply tested.
 No wonder everybody, including President Roosevelt, awaits with eagerness the acceptance speech of Gov. Landon.

REGULATION: It is a part of administration planning to sound out the country on the proposition of amending the Constitution. While bitter experience with New Deal laws demolished by the court has convinced some of Mr. Roosevelt's closest advisers that the Constitution must be amended if desired reforms are to be achieved, no direct move in behalf of a change will be made unless the country's favorable response to the suggestion should be unmistakable.
 A study of Donald Richberg's recent writings, the Democratic platform, and Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance speech gives clear indication of this approach to public sentiment. Another straw in the wind was the introduction by Senator Ashurst (Dem. Ariz.) of a proposed amendment giving the federal government power to regulate agriculture, industry, mining and commerce. Ashurst is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.
 If the people want greater regulation of their affairs from one central powerhouse they need only to say so. "Barkis is willin'."

NULLIFIED: Sources close to Al Smith say the erstwhile "happy warrior" is personally very unhappy about Governor Herbert Lehman's decision to run for reelection.

Several months ago, when it was taken for granted that Lehman would be a candidate to succeed himself, some of his friends urged him privately to make his campaign strictly on state issues and to disassociate himself as far as possible from Roosevelt. At no time was Lehman responsive to this idea, but it would have suited Smith fine. He could then have basked his old friend and political protégé in the state while rapping the stuffing out of the New Deal. But now it is clear that Lehman will identify his cause as closely as he can with Roosevelt's, which means that Smith cannot well attack the President without also attacking the Governor.

The point is that the personal relationship between Smith and Lehman complicates matters for Al. Although their former warm friendship has cooled a lot in recent months, Smith cannot easily force that Lehman contributed some half a million dollars to his presidential campaign in 1928. Smith's need of loyalty to those who have stood by him in a pinch—a dominant factor in his personality—will probably restrain him from from—and he wanted me to give the name of Langley at the Post Office and collect anything as came.

 "At first I thought it was all right, but after a bit I saw one or two of these lying about and I soon tumbled to it. Well, if the old fool wanted the things, I wasn't going to lose my job by refusing to get them from the Post Office; but when the business happened on Monday and I had to give a timetable like of what I was doing, I left out my visit to the Post Office. It didn't have anything to do with the murder, and I thought if you found out about it I'd get into trouble."
 Hylton thought for a moment. "What are these filthy things doing in a drawer in the kitchen?" he asked suddenly.

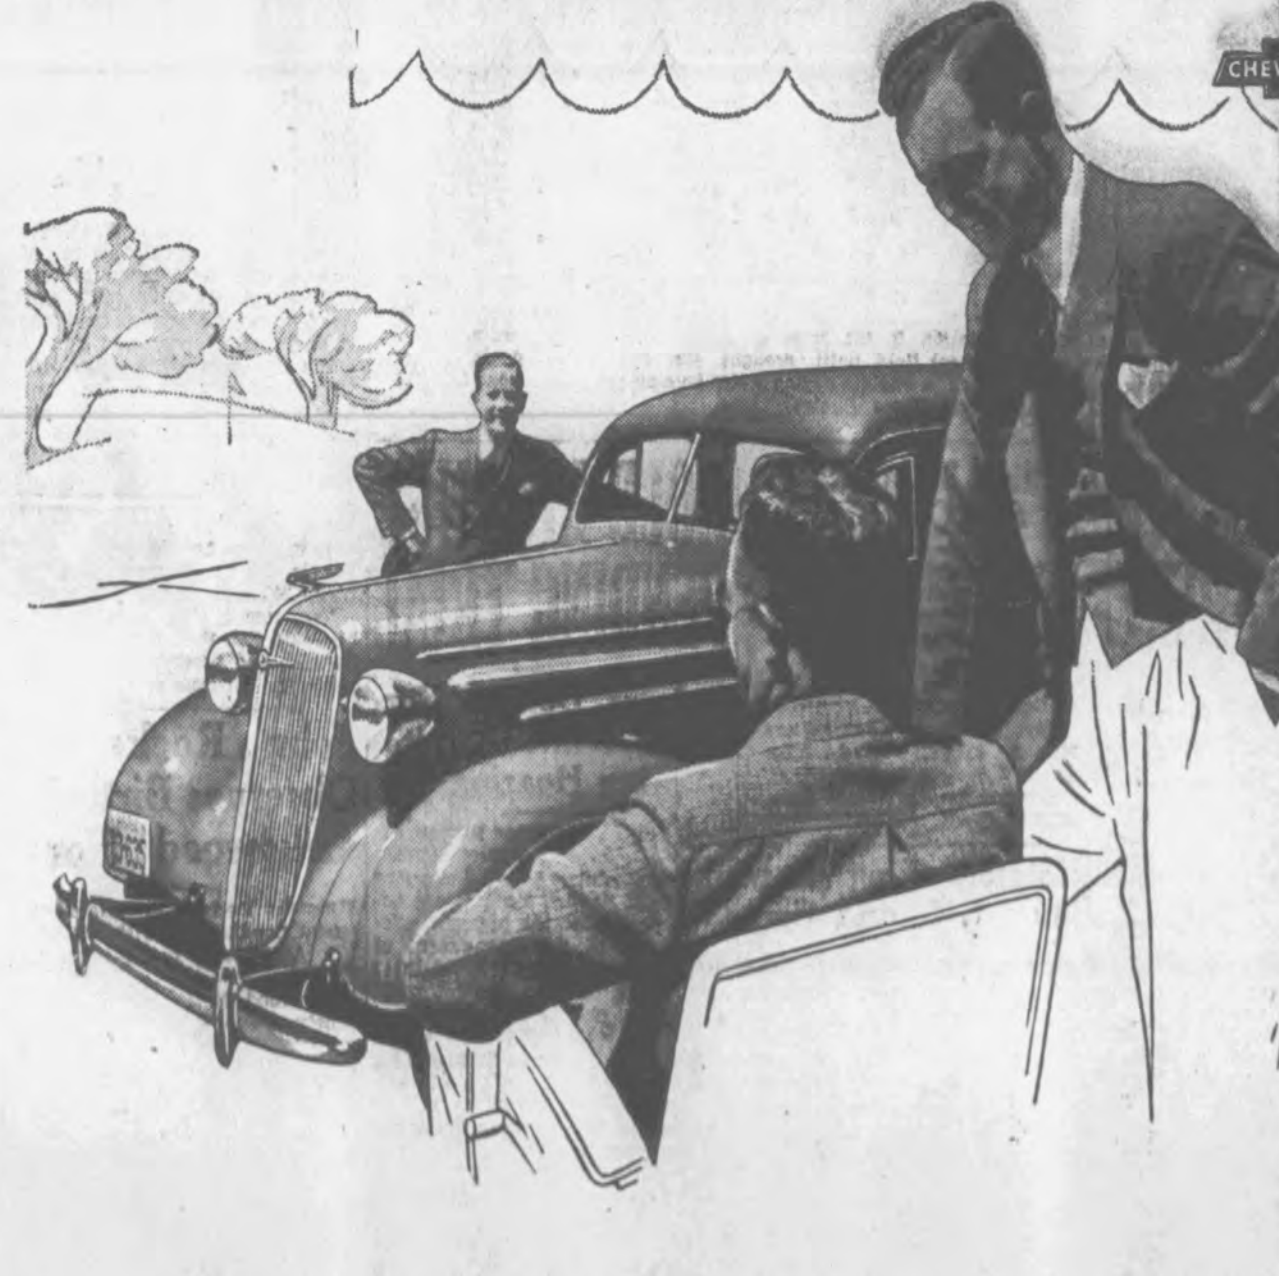

"WELL, ah don't suppose you'll believe about that, Mister, but this is how it is. When I came back on Monday and found the old boy dead almost the first thing I thought about was these here photographs. I thought 'Police'll search everything in this room, bound to, and then it'll get out about the old fool having these.' Somehow I didn't like to think of it so before ever I went down to fetch the Sergeant. I cleared the drawer out and brought them here."
 "Why didn't you burn 'em?"
 "I'm going to, Mister, but I hadn't seen 'em all, and I suppose a man's human like everybody else."
 "Pitch 'em on the fire now," Hylton ordered curtly. "It makes me almost ashamed to be human when I see stuff like that."
 Lumsdale obediently gathered the mass of pornography together and fed the flames with it. Hylton watched the process in silence and when it was over asked abruptly: "Did Mrs. Reeves ever come here?"
 "Once or twice she did."
 "And her husband?"
 "I've never known him come."
 "Um." The Inspector got up and made for the door, but before he reached it he turned round.
 "Now look here, Lumsdale," he said, "you're still in a nasty position, and if you want to keep out of trouble just go on telling the truth. Do you get that?"

"What's that got to do with anything?"
 "Just this, that at present you are behaving either like a criminal, and not a clever one at that; or a sulky schoolboy."
 "I've already told you that I went to the Court on Monday afternoon."
 "And refused to say why you went there."
 "That's my business."
 "And the law's. However, at present all I ask is for you to be quiet whilst I ask your wife a few questions."
 "Pat, for heaven's sake don't make things more awkward than they are," his wife begged. "Go on, Mr. Hylton, we may as well get this over, what is it you want?"
 "Have you ever been to Enderton Court, Mrs. Reeves?"
 Nellie Reeves darted a distressed look across the room at her husband before answering. "Yes—I have—twice."
 "Were you there on Monday the 18th?"
 "Last Monday? No."
 Hylton let that pass for the moment. "Tell me," he said, "were these visits of yours to the Court just in the ordinary way of social calls?"
 Again that troubled look shot across the room.
 "I really don't see that you can pry into private business like that," Reeves broke in angrily, and almost as sharply his wife answered, "Oh, Pat, for goodness sake let's get the wretched thing cleared up and done with."
 "Not a bad idea," Hylton concurred. "Do you mind if I smoke?"
 "Sorry—where are the cigarets, Pat?"
 "No thanks, I'll have one of these." Carefully he selected and lit one of his thin cigarets. "Now let's have it, Mrs. Reeves," he urged.
 "Well, it's a beastly story, though of course, in a way, it had nothing to do with me. I'm secretary of the poultry and damage fund in the hunt; and of course a good deal of the land we hunt over belongs to old Burdett."

picking on the Governor. And if he can't do that, much of his usefulness to the anti-New Deal forces will be nullified in the state where he was counted on to help the cause most.

WINNER: F. O. P. insiders predict that the American Liberty League will give John Hamilton much a headache before the campaign is over. His background and motives constantly clash behind the scenes with the picture he is trying to develop.
 Until this year, big business and financial leaders—grasping whatever was in name to hand in comparison with the New Deal—rated the G. O.

P. a blunder and ineffective sword. Under Chairman Fletcher the national party setup reached new depths of futility. For a while the industrial opposition concentrated on a legal barrage to batter down the Roosevelt program—with considerable success. But then it became apparent to them that they needed political artillery too. The Liberty League was primarily a powerful eastern effort to revitalize the Republican party.
 The trouble was that a gutting bunch of westerners came along and took the rejuvenation play right out of their hands. Also, the League was an obviously "economic royalty" that the public gave it the Coffer-Miller Players.

"The Dumb Wife," one of the comedies to be presented by the Coffer-Miller Players at East Carolina Teachers College on Friday of this week, is a happy choice for a summer night.

The play is known under different titles as "The Dumb Wife," "The Man Who Married a Dumb Wife," "The Silent Woman," but no matter how the translator words the title of the play, which is from the French, the idea always gets across and never fails to please.

As the story progresses the fun is fast and furious. A wealthy merchant, who wishes to marry but refuses to take the step until he finds a wife that is dumb, for he cannot bear talkative women. Finally he finds a woman who is not only dumb but very beautiful. He marries her at once. Just the thing, he tells his friends. For a few weeks everything goes well but he finds that since he has to do all the talking, married life grows boring.

The situation gets on his nerves. In desperation he seeks a learned physician to whom he tells his troubles. The physician suggests that there is only one way out. The wife must be made to talk. But how can this be accomplished? The physician's specialty is loosening tongues. The operation is performed and the wife speaks! The husband is happy. But alas, for only a short time, as the wife not only speaks but she speaks incessantly. The husband again seeks out the physician and begs him to make his wife dumb again. The physician cannot perform this operation but he says that he can make the husband deaf. The husband at first refuses to be deaf. Then the wife appears and after an hour of her chatter the husband begs the doctor to make him deaf.

"She Stoops to Conquer" will be presented at the matinee.

INCREASED SUPPLY THREAT CAUSES COMMODITY SLUMP

one-third during the half. Underlying the setback was cheap corn for food in 1935 and the resultant large crop of good quality beef that has moved to market this year.

Wheat quotations were slashed during the period. Larger plantings and a better winter wheat yield outlook foreshadowed a crop considerably above normal requirements this year. The serious moisture shortage in the Dakotas—largest spring wheat states—has acted to turn wheat prices up in the past 30 days, although this crop normally accounts for less than 20 per cent of total wheat harvest.

Other percentage declines included: Turpentine down 22, hides 17, flour 20, butter 16, eggs 15, silk 18 and lard 11.

Cotton cloth slipped back 16 per cent, with large mill stocks and no apparent let-up in production schedules responsible.

Steel scrap prices rose to the highest levels in six years during March, with steel mills booming. Quotations have been giving ground steadily for three months, however.

Also in the losing column were tin, oats, cotton, cement, bituminous coal, linsed oil and burlap.

Five of the seven commodities registering largest advances for the period are imported—cocoa, sugar, rubber, antimony and coffee. The practical reason in each instance is that the producing countries have taken a firmer grip on output than previously.

Other commodities showing improvement were petroleum, lumber, rayon, wool, eggs, lamb, rye and corn.

HEAD OF TOBACCO COMPANY RETURNS FROM THE ORIENT

etary disturbance, which have forced the use of native leaf, much inferior to that grown in this country.

Mr. Howard insisted, however, that the desire in China for American-grown tobacco is as great as ever and predicted the use of it would be increased as the Chinese buying power returns to normal. In the meantime, however, he said, China has formed a monopoly on the Chinese leaf. All tobacco will be grown and sold in the country under governmental regulation.

Although declaring that there was considerable internal disturbance in China, Mr. Howard said he didn't think this would have much effect on the tobacco industry in the country.

Mr. Howard expressed much more encouragement over the situation in Japan and outlying provinces than that in China. He pointed to the rapid industrial growth Japan is undergoing at present, declaring the country "is the busiest nation on the earth."

"Within the last 10 years—particularly in the last five—Japan has made greater strides in all lines of industry than any other nation. There is less unemployment in Japan than anywhere else. The wage scale is low, but every-day commodities are low in proportion and, on the whole, I found the nation happy and satisfied."

"The use of American-grown tobacco in the country will be governed entirely by the price," he continued. "The industry is operated on a budget and if the price is low more tobacco will be purchased than if it is bringing a high price," he added, pointing out that the country spent until its budget was depleted and then quit. The tobaccoist said he looked for a slight increase in export of American grown tobacco to the country this year, however.

Japan is the third largest tobacco producing country in the world, and at present is growing more leaf than is consumed at home, according to Mr. Howard. The excess, he added, is being sold to European countries.

Japan always will continue to purchase American leaf, he added, "due to the fact that their soil and climate do not produce the tobacco that has the flavor and aroma that is found in American tobacco." They use our leaf to mix with that grown in their country to give it taste and color.

Mr. Howard said the situation in outlying provinces was similar to that found in Japan. He particularly referred to the rapid progress being made in Mukden, chief Manchoukuo city. He said that in the last few years the city has evolved from an ordinary Oriental town to a modern city. Within recent years, he said, 15,000 new modern dwellings have been erected in the city and, he added, business houses of all sorts have been built in proportion.

On his trip, Mr. Howard was accompanied by Mrs. Howard and Charles Howard, Jr. They visited Japan, China, Korea, Manchoukuo and

GREENIES TAKE VICTORY FROM TARBORO, 3-1

Reynolds May Hurls 2-Hit Ball Game; Snow Hill, Ayden and Kinston Win in Other Coastal Plain Contests; Greenville Holds Good Lead

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD
The Greenies outfit, outpitched and outplayed Tarboro yesterday to win 3-1 from the Bunnies.

Reynolds May gave the spectators attending the game from here a feeling of old times—last year a smile always came across the faces of baseball fans when they learned Reynolds was to do the hurling. May, evidently in his old form, let the Bunnies down with only two hits. These were made in the 4th inning by Bare and Bassin. May not only pitched his team to victory, but also helped bat in some of the runs.

Thompson, Tarboro's ace, did mound duty yesterday for the Bunnies, but could not hold the locals to less than eleven hits and three runs.

The locals got a run in the second on Booser's walk and May's and Sanford's hits. Another run came in the fourth inning when Sanford singled and Booser followed up with another single. Humphries became excited and threw wild to the plate and Booser trotted down to third, then May stepped up and smashed out a single, bringing in the second run of that inning.

Brown, Parker, Sanford and May lead with the stick for the locals by getting two hits each.

This afternoon the local are entertaining the Bunnies here in the city at Third street stadium and it's a pretty safe bet that by the time you read this the Greenies will probably have added another win to their percentage column.

LOCAL LEGION BESTS BEAUFORT

Win From Beaufort in 13-inning Affair to Take Series

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD
Greenville defeated Beaufort, 3-2, here yesterday in an elimination game of the American Legion junior baseball competition.

The game went for 13 innings. The 13th frame proved to be unlucky for the Beaufort nine. McDonald Edwards reached first on an error in the 13th, stole second, and scored on George Lautares' single.

Greenville's other runs were made in the eighth inning. Beaufort came back in the ninth to tie the score.

Wayland Tucker, local pitcher, fanned nine opposing batsmen, while Wade, Beaufort hurler struck out five. The locals outhit their opponents 10 to 9.

Edwards and Carson with two hits each were leaders for the local nine, while Potter with three hits paced Beaufort. Every man on the local team collected at least one hit except Pittman, rightfielder, who went hitless for six trips to the platter.

A FILM JOB FOR HER, TOO!

Mary Brogell, 18, of Detroit went to Hollywood with her 10-year-old sister, Joan, who had won a film contract. But when the directors saw Mary, they gave her a job, too. And here we find her rehearsing for a dance. (Associated Press Photo.)

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 8.—(AP)—The stock market seemed a bit more cheerful today although drought and steel labor developments continued to act as a break on recovery.

New York Cotton

New York, July 8.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two to five points higher on trade and commission house buying and evening up over the government's acreage report.

July sold up to 12.70 and October to 11.97 or 10 to 11 points net higher, while after new crop positions showed net gains of six to nine points at the end of the first half hour.

The government report placing acreage under cultivation at 30,621,000 was under expectations and stimulated active buying with the market reopening at advances of about 30 to 35 points on the active months.

Futures closed firm 54 to 61 higher, spot steady, middling 13.21.

124 BIG CASH PRIZES

4 UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIPS

Everyone Has a Chance in this Easy Contest

Go to Your Esso Dealer for Details

Here is your opportunity to win a free scholarship covering the tuition fee for four years at a leading university for your son or daughter. Or you can have the value of the scholarship ($2,000) in cash if you prefer it, or if you have no children. Any member of the family can enter—all can help.

You have four opportunities of winning the scholarship or a big cash prize, and there are 124 other prizes, of $1,000 or less, for other winning contestants. All you have to do is write a winning title for the above picture, and three other pictures, and write a statement, 100 words or less, about Essolene, the regular priced motor fuel made by Esso Marketers, world's leading oil organization.

Your Esso Dealer will give you an Official Entry Blank with rules of the contest and complete information. You have nothing to buy to enter the contest—nor is there an entry fee. See your Esso Dealer today—get your Official Entry Blank, and try for one of these big prizes. Remember, anyone can win!
