SHOWERS FAIL BRING RELIEF TO DRY AREAS

Break in Portions of Drought Section Is Short-Lived

GENERALLY FAIR FORECAST TODAY

Fatalities From Lack of Rain and High Temperatures Figured Over 1450

Chicago, July 13.—(AP)—Rains and showers which broke the drought in portions of the north-west over the week-end have "fizzled out" and no new ones of consequence are in sight for 15 days, any other heat baked area of the country, government meteorologist J. R. Lloyd said today.

Generally fair weather with continued high temperature was forecast for today and tomorrow for drought areas in general, with cooler weather likely tomorrow in the eastern portion of the northwest.

Fatalities from drought and high temperature were counted today as more than 1,450.

Badly needed in such middle west states as Illinois, where 168 had died, and Michigan, where more than 250 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the withering sun, were rains or showers such as softened the effects of the drought yesterday in the Rocky Mountains, eastern plains, southern and middle Atlantic states.

Precipitation which was torrential in some districts turned the dusty pot-holes of the Wyoming-Montana-Dakota dry belt into mud puddles and residents looked for a quick restoration of parched cattle ranges.

Showers gave temporary relief in New York state, New England, Nebraska, Georgia, Virginia, South Carolina and Connecticut.

Rain drove temperatures down to the 60's in a belt extending from Sheridan, Wyoming to South Dakota and Montana.

Ranchers who suffered from aridity in that area for five of the six years, declared "it looks like the drought is broken at last."

Begin Improvement West Raleigh School

Raleigh, July 13.—An improvement program, calling for the expenditure of approximately $20,000 to be carried on this summer at North Carolina State College.

The 1911 dormitory, which is the largest on the campus, is being painted inside. The rooms, until this summer, were covered with wallpaper. The paper is being removed.

The entire college heating system is being improved and electric cables are being put in three new buildings—Ricks Hall, D. H. Hill Library, and the textile building.

Every college street is to be sealed to prevent rain from seeping in and destroying the streets. The roads were covered several years ago with tar and gravel.

Decrease Expected in Leaf Production

Richmond, July 13.—(AP)—Henry M. Taylor, federal-state agricultural statistician, estimated today that while the Virginia tobacco acreage was increased eight per cent this year as compared with 1935, production would fall approximately 14,402,000 pounds under last year's figure.

The total Virginia production this year, he said, was estimated at 90,352,000 pounds compared with 104,785,000 pounds last year when yields were "unusually heavy," he said. The production this year may be larger or smaller than the present estimate, depending upon whether weather conditions are more or less favorable than usual.

Camp Murphy will have six barracks and will house the Manila garrison of the new national army.

M. K. Blount, F. C. Harding, J. Con Lanier and W. J. Bundy "Willing" To Accept Appointment If Warren Resigns

With Lindsay C. Warren authoritatively reported to be in line for the post of Comptroller General of the United States, at least four Pitt county citizens were in the running today to succeed him as Congressman from the First district.

Despite the fact that numerous leaders are anxious for the county to center on one candidate in hopes of having a Pitt man named as the nominee, in the event Mr. Warren is offered and accepts the position, indications were a hot fight would be waged in this county for the position.

J. Con Lanier and F. C. Harding, each declared today they were out for the post. W. J. Bundy declared that he had been approached by county backers of Dr. R. W. McDonald in the recent gubernatorial primary, and said he would gladly accept the nomination if so honored, and Mayor M. K. Blount declared he would welcome the appointment if Mr. Warren resigns.

While the appointment of Mr. Warren as Comptroller general has not been confirmed officially, it is generally believed he will be offered the position and will accept it.

When asked for a statement on the report, he declared he had heard nothing of the prospective appointment.

Before leaving, Washington Saturday for a vacation on the North Carolina coast, he commented: "I have never heard of it. It is news to me. I am not a candidate for anything except representative in Congress from the First district."

Should Mr. Warren resign from Congress, the First Congressional Executive committee would select the nominee to come up in the November election. The committee is composed of Herbert Bonner of Beaufort, W. W. Jarvis of Currituck, M. R. Daniels of Dare, W. O. Crump of Gates, O. L. Williams of Hyde, L. L. Stevens of Camden, C. T. Griffin of Chowan, J. G. Station of Martin, N. P. Parker of Pasquotank, J. E. Morris of Perquimans, W. I. Bissett of Pitt, C. J. Coburn of Tyrrell, W. R. Hampton of Washington and A. J. Ely of Hertford.

Should Warren resign between now and the November election, the First Congressional district executive committee would nominate his successor to be voted on in November. Should he resign after the election, his successor would be elected at a special election called by the governor and nominated by the Congressional executive committee.

GIRL 'KILLER' BEING SOUGHT

Washington and New York Detectives Are Checking Story

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—Henna-haired Jean Bell's story that a "killer" mutilated her and left her to die after she "ran out" on a promise to help free Charles (Lucky) Luciano, vice overlord from Sing Sing prison, resulted today in a wide search in New York city for the man named.

Defectives said that a man answering the description of the torturer who carved the cryptic numerals 3-12 and the initial C. L. on her body and then tried to kill her by gas had left Washington on a New York bound plane at 4 a. m. Sunday.

They expressed confidence that he, as well as a cohort the girl described as the possible "finger man" in the plot, would be picked up soon in New York.

Washington and New York detectives were checking every detail of the girl's story that the killer entered her apartment early Sunday, felled her with a blow to the face, tore off her night gown, cut her with a razor-sharp instrument then bound her and stalked out. After turning on the gas.

LABOR CHIEFS TO DECIDE ON OUSTING LEWIS

Hasty Informal Conferences are Held in Preparation of Balloting Tomorrow

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—Organized labor's chiefs gathered for momentous conferences today on the eve of a vote to decide whether to push John L. Lewis and his industrial organization cohorts from the American Federation of Labor.

A high tide of activity was reached. Hasty informal conferences were held as preparations were made for a ballot tomorrow in the federation executive committee which will determine whether or not the great labor schism is to occur.

The question facing the executive committee, overwhelmingly opposed to the Lewis plan for industrial organization of workers, was whether disciplinary steps against the organization would react too harmfully against the federation.

A minority faction argued that organized labor would suffer terrifically if the C. I. O. (committee for industrial organization) and the 1,250,000 members claimed by its constituent unions were to be lost to the American Federation of Labor.

The showdown comes in the early stages of Lewis' drive to organize 500,000 steel workers into one large union.

Several members led by George M. Harrison, president of the railway clerks, were trying to win a stay of suspensions, but this was bitterly opposed by others.

William Hutchison, president of the big carpenters' union, who was floored by Lewis during a fist fight at the last American Federation of Labor convention at Atlantic City, was said to be ready to insist that the unions be suspended.

George B. Lay Speaks Tonight at Court House on Ways of Controlling Rats and Other Animals

George B. Lay, in charge of rat control work for the two Carolinas and three other states, for the U. S. Department of Agriculture will speak tonight at the court house in the court room at 7 o'clock on ways of controlling rats and other animals. The meeting, called by R. R. Bennett, county agent, will be more or less in the form of a forum; in other words, questions will be in order and Mr. Lay will do his best to answer them. Questions relative to any natural history subject will be in order.

By starting the meeting at 7:00 o'clock promptly, it is believed that the matters of interest can be disposed of by 8:00 o'clock, so as to allow those who wish to go to a movie or take a drive and cool off.

Mr. Lay has recently made several interesting trips and is a student of birds and wildlife conservation, besides his regular work on rat and mouse control. Both men and women are cordially invited to attend the meeting.

Mr. Lay and Mr. Bennett went to Winterville and held two meetings there this morning and one at Farmville this afternoon.

Green Assails Lewis For Failure Appear

Washington, July 13.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, assailed John L. Lewis and other industrial union leaders today for failing to appear at the federation executive council meeting.

Threatened with suspension from the A. F. of L. for alleged "dual unionism," the president of the United Mine Workers and seven other union chiefs, affiliated with the committee for industrial organization ignored a summons to answer the charges.

"We had hoped that out of our conference some settlement could have been reached," Green said.

Dr. McDonald Requests State Elections Board To Investigate Primary

HOEY REPORTS EXPENDITURES

Max Gardner Shown To Have Contributed $2,500

Raleigh, July 13.—(AP)—The State Board of Elections took under consideration this afternoon requests of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald and Paul D. Grady, defeated candidates in the July 4th run-off Democratic primary for a "summary investigation" of the vote.

Board members discussed the request at lunch and were to meet again late in the afternoon.

McDonald who trailed Clyde R. Hoey of Shelby, the gubernatorial nominee, by some 50,000 votes, presented a lengthy petition citing particular allegations of irregularities and illegals.

Grady, who was behind W. P. Horton of Pittsboro, by 8,000 votes in the contest for lieutenant governor, made a general request for an investigation based on the particular allegations presented.

"This board should investigate the irregularities as shown," Grady said. It should determine if the absentee vote from Murphy to Manteo was not painted. It should prove to the people of the state that a widespread, well designed and apparently well ground sentiment of suspicion is not true or it should bring out the facts.

To sustain the allegations in his petition McDonald presented several witnesses.

Dr. McDonald asked the State Board immediately to "direct and conduct a full investigation" of the voting "to the end that the nominees of the Democratic party may be declared on the basis of the majority of legal, honest and valid votes cast."

The board certified the results of the contest for secretary of state, declaring Thad A. Eure of Wintop the nominee over the incumbent Stacey W. Wade.

Paul D. Grady of Kenly who trailed W. P. Horton of Pittsboro by some 8,000 votes in the contest for Lieutenant Governor, objected to immediate certification of the nominee in that race and said he "wished to make a statement at the proper time."

McDonald presented a 14-page petition alleging irregularities, reading it personally to the board. He pointed out the power of the board to make summary investigations of primaries and elections.

Describing himself in the petition as "a Democrat, first, last and always, whose interest in the party and in the state is founded upon the desire to serve and strengthen the party and the state, rather than upon reward or expectation of reward," McDonald said the "irregularities, illegals and violations of the election law in connection with the record Democratic primary election" were "so numerous, so widespread and so fundamental as to endanger both the integrity of the Democratic party and the welfare of the state."

McDonald said the candidacies of Hoey and Horton "appear to have been the beneficiaries of the great majority" to the irregularities he cited.

In part some of McDonald's allegations were:

1. There was ballot box stuffing in Wake and a Madison county precinct on July 4, and in a Cleveland county precinct June 6, in the first primary.
2. Illegal ballot boxes were used in Clay and Yancey counties.
3. Illegal voting places were used in Cleveland, Yancey and Clay counties.
4. Voters were intimidated in Clay, Forsyth and Alamance counties.
5. Persons not citizens of the county were allowed to vote in Yancey.
6. Illegal activities were carried on at the polling places in Cleveland, Yancey, Rowan and Forsyth counties.
7. Voting by proxy was allowed in Clay county.
8. An election official in Surry tried to throw away ballots before they were counted.
9. The total vote was unreasonably large in Dare, Clay, Cleveland, Henderson and other counties, including Polk, Rutherford, Alexander, Buncombe, Burke, Madison and Swain.
10. Absentee ballots were not properly posted in Yancey and Rowan counties.
11. Absentee ballots in many counties were not supported by valid affidavits.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News

WASHINGTON BY ITS BENNETT

QUERIES: If the Lemke-O'Brien-Coughlin third party develop real strength, actually polling electoral votes, a surprising turn may follow the November election. Father Coughlin predicts that the election of President will be thrown into the House of Representatives. Such predictions are common, and are usually wrong—but what if the third party should deadlock the electoral college?

The House, in electing a President must ballot by states, each state having one vote, and a majority of states is required. The choice must be made from the three candidates receiving the highest electoral vote. The House itself will have been newly elected. Presumably its membership would roughly represent the strength of the three parties.

Could a candidate who failed to get an electoral majority expect to capture 25 states in the House? Would Landonites vote for House?

METHOD: The House would be forced to act in a hurry. It meets January 5 next, and inauguration day is January 20. The two houses meet January 6 to count the electoral vote. Thus the House would have not more than 14 days in which to elect a President. This takes no account of the time necessary to organize the House by electing a Speaker. Division of House membership into three parties might cause a deadlock over the speakership and delay a vote for President.

New York is supposed to be a pivotal state this year. But if the election should be thrown into the House, New York's vote would be no more important than Nevada's. A candidate might have carried New York and Pennsylvania and yet be beaten in the House.

PITT COUNTY'S TURN NOW

With Congressman Lindsay C. Warren slated for a high government post which will leave his present office of Congressman from the First District vacant, Pitt Countyans should get busy now to lay their plans for having one of their citizens named as the party nominee for the post in the coming November election.

For the past 38 years Pitt county has unreservedly given its support to the candidates from the other counties without putting a candidate of its own in the field and now it is time for Pitt County to come into its own, and certainly the Pitt candidate should have the support of other counties. For 38 years the Congressman from this district has come from Beaufort County. At present Beaufort County has the United States Marshall and other appointive state and federal officers. Martin County has a Superior Court Judge. Other Eastern counties have federal appointees. On the north side of the sound the counties have a governor, a federal judge, a superior court judge and other appointive officers, so certainly it is plain that in case of Congressman Warren's retirement leaving his post vacant it should be filled by a Pitt County man.

Pitt County, of course, has several prominent citizens well qualified to fill this position but in this opportunity to come into our own let us center our support behind just one candidate and present a solid front in seeking the support of the other counties in the district.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Democratic, the Senate would elect a Democrat—and if the House should fall to elect by January 23 a Democratic Vice President would act as President until a President should have qualified.

DEADLOCK: In recent years the vetting procedure has seemed inevitable to and from, giving Hoover Republican, all but 14 states and four years later giving Roosevelt Democrat all but 14 states and three years later giving Hoover Republican. The character of any candidate's performance may vary in detail but would be reduced.

If the November vote should result in a tie, the election would be decided by the national election, depending upon the counties were decided by Congress, a violent struggle could be expected, similar to the Hayes-Tilden group in 1877, when Congress was used in a makeshift way just before March 4. In that Congress the Senate was Republican and the Democratic.

Both houses are Democratic now. Nothing but a landslide will make the House Republican next year. With a Congress Democratic in both branches, it's safe to say that electoral vote contests would be decided to the advantage of the pro-ty in power. If House Democrats could not elect their candidate they would almost certainly deadlock the House, so that the Democratic Senate could elect a Vice President who would become acting President.

SCRIMMAGE: Voters almost universally assume that either Landon or Roosevelt will be elected by an "overwhelming" vote. But the situation doesn't indicate a landslide, as expert observers see it. A neck-and-neck race seems to be more probable—and the closer the race the greater the importance of the third party electoral vote.

In 1916 Wilson received 277 electoral votes and Hughes 254. If California's 13 electoral votes had gone for Hughes he would have been elected. La Follette carried Wisconsin's 13 votes in 1924. Many observers expect Lemke to carry several states—and those states may tell the tale of election of a President by the House, probably a Democratic House.

If Landon should lead Roosevelt in the electoral vote, but lack a majority, look out for a grand and vociferous scrimmage when the House tries to elect Roosevelt!

EMPLOYMENT: Enthusiasts who are working on development of power alcohol believe that 20,000-30,000 acres could be utilized for production of raw material for alcohol preferably from the Jerusalem artichoke. A Kansas factory with 10,000 gallon daily capacity is about to turn out alcohol to be mixed with gasoline for motor car use. Corn is used in this case, but artichokes yield ten tons an acre out of which 25 gallons per ton of ethyl alcohol can be made. Motorists, particularly farmers, are strong for the cheap alcohol-gasoline mixture.

Two other large screege demands may develop from chemical application of raw materials: One which utilizes the paper making, and the other which uses cotton membrane for road making. Seven paper factories are under construction in the southern pine belt, and one in Washington is making paper from hemlock.

Half of the paper made in the U. S. uses imported pulpwood, and less than half of the 3.7 consumed by American newspapers—2,000,000 tons a year—of domestic make. Many mind are busy about to get that pulpwood into this country.

Canada, although the British government of course knew that Canada doesn't begin to have the inand the United States. London financial and industrial leaders privately regard such cooperation as the only hope of assuring world peace.

It is also part of the British program that each of the three nations should specialize in the fields for which it is best equipped. Thus it is argued that the United States is expert at manufacturing, but not so hot at foreign trade and finance. So American and Canadian businessmen should be encouraged to develop their North and South American markets to the limit—but should designate John Bull as the honest broker to handle their export business in Europe and Asia. As an inducement, England's own purchases would help keep North American factories busy.
If Britain achieves the clearing house position outlined in this plan, John Bull would be the middleman for vast international commerce. In that case ultimate stabilization of world currencies would naturally be based on the pound sterling. This is the deepest-rooted British objective, as it would enable London to dominate world finance and trade to an unprecedented degree.
British leaders are firmly convinced that consummation of this tremendous bid for economic supremacy hinges largely on the replacement of Mr. Roosevelt by a more sympathetic Republican administration.

RESENTMENT: New York political sharps prophesy an unusually fall as a result of the pro-labor position taken by Governor George Earle and Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy in connection with John Lewis' move to unionize the steel industry.
Republicans will capitalize to the limit their pledge to take care of strikers with state relief funds. All non-union voters will be urged to protest at the polls against the "misuse" of taxpayers' money to finance one class of citizens in their private squabble with another class and to encourage destructive industrial warfare. This argument is expected to appeal especially to Pennsylvania farmers—and their vote, if properly aroused, could go a long way towards offsetting the solid labor support for Roosevelt in that state.
The terms of Earle and Kennedy have two more years to run so their own jobs are not at stake. But resentment worked up against them will presumably be taken out on their fellow Democrats in the presidential, congressional and state legislature elections.
EXCEPTION: Governor Landon's advocacy of social security legislation in Kansas—so that his state can share in the benefits of the federal social security program—puts New York Republicans on something of a spot.

SEEKS REDUCE TEACHER LOAD

Allotment Made Is Equal Total for Entire Last Session

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, July 13.—The same number of teachers has already been allotted to the public schools of the state for the 1936-37 school year before it has yet started as was allotted to the schools last year, including some 250 additional teachers who were allotted after the school term started. Lloyd E. Griffin, executive secretary of the State School Commission, pointed out today. So in reality, the school this year will start off with some 250 more teachers than were authorized at the beginning of the session last year.
While some few additional teachers may be needed in addition to the 2,581 teachers already authorized, it is not believed that more than 50 or 100 more teachers will be needed after the schools actually open and the enrollment is determined. Last year only 23,322 teachers were authorized before the schools opened and 250 more teachers were allowed later because of larger enrollments than had been indicated. Teachers are allotted on the basis of the average daily attendance for the preceding year.

"We have tried to anticipate the teacher needs in the various counties and school units, in the hope that we could supply enough teachers right at the outset and not have to allow so many additional ones later on," Griffin said. "Indications are that the enrollment and the average daily attendance the first month will not greatly change our present allotment and that while a few additional teachers may be needed in some schools, there will be others where we have allotted more teachers than will be needed. These can be transferred to other schools where the attendance justifies additional teachers."

Indications point to a slight decrease rather than to an increase in the first grade enrollment this year, Griffin said. One of the principal reasons for this is the fact that the birthrate in the state declined heavily during the depression and that these "depression babies" are just now reaching school age this year. Accordingly, no great increase in first grade enrollment is expected for two or three years now.

prevented. He gave a seasonal list that shows in what months different types should be emphasized. At the opening of school highway safety training is begun and carried throughout the year. Fire prevention, both in the home and elsewhere, should be taken up in October. In the colder regions, ice-skating, coasting, and snow safety should be stressed. In the hunting season, the use of firearms should receive attention. In the spring, water safety, such as learning to swim and how to manage a boat, is taught. In the summer, camping problems, such as avoiding poison ivy and care about drinking water, are taught.
Dr. Stack placed the responsibility upon the schools and teachers for taking the lead in safety education. He pointed out the faults in the old methods of teaching it through other subjects and negatively and gave suggestions for positive teaching through practical work and demonstration.

Scout News

The following letter will be of interest to all scouts:
Mr. John J. Sigwald, Box 1197, Wilson, North Carolina.
Dear Mr. Sigwald:
It was my good fortune to have the pleasure of visiting your camp twice recently, going over to carry my boy Sunday the 21st and returning Sunday the 28th to bring him back. The Sunday dinner while at your camp was enjoyed very much indeed and I was well pleased with the food and the way in which it was cooked and served.
Mr. Sigwald, this being a scout camp, I took it upon myself to do a little scouting around while there and I made it a point to ask numerous boys how they liked it and if they were pleased with the food and camp activities and it was indeed gratifying to find every one I talked with thoroughly satisfied and praised everything so highly I felt like I should pass this information along to you.
I most heartily recommend Camp Charles to any Boy Scout wishing to attend some summer camp. Again thanking you for the courtesies extended me while there and I hope that Camp Charles will have a most successful season.
Very truly yours,
Vernon Parrish.

Livestock Big Help Preventing Erosion

Raleigh, July 13.—Livestock help conserve soil and prevent erosion, says L. I. Case, livestock specialist of the State College Extension Service.
Cattle tend to enrich and conserve the soil by returning manure to the land, and by stimulating the use of more land for hay and pasture crops rather than row crops.
This is especially important, said Case, in controlling erosion in the Piedmont and mountain counties.
A test made by the Soil Conservation Service on the Brown Creek watershed near Wadesboro to determine the amount of soil loss on areas in close-growing vegetation such as pastures, as compared to row-cropped land, showed that on a red Cecil clay loam with a 10 per cent slope the yearly loss per acre when planted to cotton and corn ranged from 19 to 60 tons, while areas in sod lost less than 40 pounds of soil to the acre.
As soil loss from erosion is correspondingly low when it is growing small grain, legumes or grass, Case said, farms in the more hilly sections, such as Anson and counties west and north, would profit greatly by raising more cattle and other stock.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood (AP)—The way things are going in filmland's romantic circles, the big problem soon will be:
"How can we preserve our divorce?"
In fact, from surface indications of the day, the time will come when brides and bridegrooms no longer will talk about ways and means to make their marriages last.
These hopeful innocents will yield the spotlight to fractious couples who want to fight and can't — because Hollywood makes reconciliation so easy, interesting and profitable!
It's that old devil-angel propinquity at work again.
It is an admitted possibility that Adrienne Ames and Bruce Cabot, who called it a marital day last year and are legally set to get a decree of divorce, may forget to call for the final papers and celebrate the occasion instead by a second marriage.
There's was one of those popular "friendly divorces" — so friendly that ever since the interlocutory decree was entered they have been going to parties, night clubs and previews together.
In most places the sight of an ex-husband escorting his ex-wife causes talk, and Hollywood is like most places. Only in Hollywood it's different because here there are photographers taking pictures.
In the big cities the ex-married can go their separate ways and never see each other again. But Hollywood is a small town. The same crowd goes to the same parties, and it is no uncommon thing for an "ex" to be seated at dinner beside his former bride.

Time was when movieland hostesses went to great lengths to prevent such "situations." When the divorcee was invited, the one-time bridegroom was overlooked or at least was placed at the opposite end of the table.
That sort of thing is regarded as a bit silly now. Or maybe the hostesses couldn't give parties at all if they tried to keep those delicate problems in mind.
Toodies couldn't be asked, for instance, because her former husband, once removed, would be bringing his bride who two mar ages past was the wife of Toodies' current affianced.
Things like that would be too involved. So the modern Hollywood hostess asks them all.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER
Washington — Democratic leaders are thinly masking their apprehension over the warnings of a possible labor war growing out of John L. Lewis' drive to organize steel workers.
Lewis has allied himself with the Roosevelt administration, carrying with him the support of the United Mine Workers and other labor groups.
Indorsement of the Roosevelt administration by Lewis and his followers last winter was welcomed at the time. But if their organizing drive in the steel industry should bring on a strike, that might present a different situation.
Lewis has explained that he is proceeding under terms of the Wagner labor act which gives labor the right to organize.
But what if a strike on a wide front should grow out of the organization movement? Many New Deal leaders are questioning whether then the support of Mr. Lewis' organization would be a blessing.

GREENIES LOSE TWO TILTS AND LEAGUE LEAD

Gold Bugs Take Pair of Games From Locals; Martins, Aces and Bunnies Gain Victories Yesterday

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD

The Greenies are no longer leaders in the Coastal Plain League. A 5-1 loss to the Goldsboro Gold Bugs Saturday and a 11-3 defeat in the hands of the Bugs on Sunday sent the locals down a peg in Coastal Plain League standings when the Williamston Martins took the New Bern Bears for a 5-4 ride.

There are two factors that indicate why the Greenies took the unexpected let-down—too much good playing by the opposing teams or they, themselves, are not playing the type of baseball that reaches the expectations of the local baseball fans in a team.

Wayne Ambler and Ty Wagner, two Greenville regulars who have been out of the line-up for the past several days, will return to the Greenies Tuesday. This will help the local nine considerably.

Mattson and Clement did the tossing in Saturday's tilt for the locals, while Hugh Bediant, University of Alabama athlete, featured on the mound for the Bugs. Yesterday, however, Culler went the route for the Bugs, and Weldon and Clement shared the hurling burden for the locals.

In Saturday's game Mattson pitched for five innings and let the Goldsboro nine by with a total of seven hits. His successor pitched for five innings and allowed only two scattered hits. In yesterday's clash, Cooon Weldon hurled for five innings, and during that time permitted the Bugs to get five runs and six hits.

In Saturday's game Bradford got a circuit drive with two men on to make his hitting outstanding for the Bugs in the third frame when the Bugs took the locals for a four run ride.

In the Sunday affair, Caldwell and Bradford got two singles and a double each to lead with the willow for the Bugs. Latham with a triple and single, and Hitchcock, Brown and Parker with two singles to their credit stood out for the Greenies.

The next game of the season for the locals will be played at Third street stadium here Tuesday afternoon when the locals attempt to overthrow the league-leaders, the Williamston Martins.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 13.—(AP)—The stock market today took a brief profit taking breathing spell, then resumed its climb toward another five year peak.
Agriculture machinery issues were given an early play as rainfall appeared in parts of the drought area. Then rails and specialties jumped to the fore. The utilities, motors and steels were narrow. Trading was rather active near the fourth hour.
The late tone was firm. Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

in hot weather WASHINGS ARE BIGGER

MAYTAG

In summer you wear daintier clothes and change them more frequently. Children play outdoors and soil their clothes more quickly. Therefore the Maytag's saving of time and money is greater in summer. You don't need a large wardrobe. Wash as often as you like, and always have the frequent, necessary changes without piling up excessive laundry costs.

The one-piece, cast aluminum tub and the Grattator washing action wash dainty summer garments carefully, badly soiled play clothes thoroughly. Then you sun and aerate them on the line and know that your clothes are clean, fresh and cool.

Now is the time to get a Maytag. Pay a little each week, if you wish. See the latest and finest in ironing—the New Maytag Ironer. See Maytag may be had with genuine Multi-Flow.
