NINE PERSONS DIE AS TRUCK RUNS INTO CAR

Party En Route To Pennsylvania from Michigan

SEDAN DRAGGED ABOUT 75 FEET

Victims' Bodies Fall 30 Feet from Bridge in Shallow Stream of Water

Dundee, Mich., July 18.—(AP)—Nine persons were killed when the automobile in which they were en route to their homes in Pennsylvania after a visit here, was struck by an Arbor railroad passenger locomotive and hurled into the Raisin river this morning.

The victims were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schuster of Farrell, Pa., and their three daughters, and four members of another Farrell family, whose names were not learned at once.

The car, a large four-door sedan, was struck at the crossing and dragged about 75 feet to a narrow trestle where it smashed into a girder and fell 30 feet from the bridge into shallow water of the stream.

Deaths Over State During Past Month Show Big Decline

Pneumonia Took Greatest Toll, With Influenza Ranking Second, Vital Statistics Show

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 18.—June deaths fell from 2,962 to 2,520 for the six months of 1935 and 1936, but the births dropped in the same period from 8,232 to 6,240, the death rate falling two tenths of one per cent and the birthrate dropping one and nine-tenths per cent.

Always the papers account it news when something happens to multiparous motherhood in North Carolina. There were 488 fewer babies born in June, 1936 than in June, 1935. The infant mortality rate fell from 83.2 to 62.5 over the same route, but the maternal mortality rate rose from 5.8 to 7.4 per cent. The infants deaths in June last were 368; for the preceding June 568.

The greatest killer was pneumonia which took 208 lives, 31 more than in June, 1935. Influenza rose from 20 to 33, but whooping cough came down from 48 to 3. Cancer dropped even 20, from the 166 in June, 1935. Suicides stood off at 22 each and homicides went from 27 to 32.

"Primary automobile accidents" which stood at 76 June a year ago moved up to 83. Preventable accidents as a whole, increased from 128 to 141. There are no epidemic killers reported. There were six deaths from measles June, 1935, but none in June, 1936. Smallpox and undulant fever were without fatalities in June of either year. Pulmonary tuberculosis went from 153 to 156. Cerebrospinal meningitis which killed one a year ago, took six in the June reports.

Pellagra, an ineredible disease, it seems, fell from 41 to 38, but is considered high mortality still for a sickness which has been diagnosed over such a long period.

Highway Patrolmen Hold Regular Meet

Lieut. Lester Jones, head of the eastern division of the State Highway Patrol, said today the district meeting in Wilmington yesterday was one of the best in some time.

The meeting was attended by 38 patrolmen, two inspectors, officials Miss Thelma Egan, secretary, and a number of guests, including Sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst of this city.

Sheriff Whitehurst made a brief talk at the meeting. Other speakers included Mayor Walter Blair of Wilmington, Judge Brown of Whiteville Recorder's court, Judge Lennox of Wilmington Recorder's court, Sheriff Jones of New Hanover county, and chiefs of police of Wilmington and Whiteville.

AAA Benefit Checks Received in County

Pitt county farmers have received $97,000.10 in the form of tobacco adjustment payments, for 1935 crop, which will be distributed beginning Tuesday, July 21.

Already $14,000 has been distributed in the last 30 days, making a total of $101,000.10 up to date.

This does not include tobacco rental payments which has already been distributed.

BLONDE CO-ED SLAIN IN HOTEL

Pretty blonde Helen Clevenger (above), 19-year-old New York University honor student, was found brutally slain in her hotel room at Asheville, N. C. She had been shot through the breast and her face had been slashed. Officers found few clues but they said they were hunting a "mystery man" who was seen dashing from the hotel. (Associated Press Photo).

Arrest Of White Suspect Expected In Hotel Slaying

Officer Declines Further Discuss Mysterious Slaying

Asheville, July 18.—(AP)—Chief of Detectives Fred Jones announced today he expected the immediate arrest of a white suspect in the mysterious assault-killing of blonde Helen Clevenger of New York.

He declined to discuss the forecast further pending developments. The announcement came as police questioned a negro bell boy who Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown said fitted the description of a man seen in the doorway of the darkened hotel room of the pretty New York University honor student, hours before her body was found.

The negro, 27-year-old Joe Veey, who went off duty at the fashionable Battery Park Hotel just before the time investigators believed the girl was shot and stabbed by an attempted ravisher, was lodged in jail by police last night with no charges preferred.

Sheriff Brown said the crime appeared of local spontaneous origin but that he wished to get all possible information from the girl's father as to connections of the co-ed which might have played a part in her death.

The body of the 18-year-old girl, whose assailant gashed her face before killing her with a pistol shot to her breast, was prepared for burial and will leave tonight for Piqua, Ohio.

Lois Of Pecans Left. San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—Texas expects the smallest pecan crop in years as result of floods, a spring freeze and corn borer activities. Growers expect, however, that the holdover from the 1935 bumper crop will prevent any great price increase.

Moore County Seeking Road. Push for Completion of Stretch from Sanford to Carthage. Raleigh, July 18.—Chairman C. M. Wayne of the State Highway and Public Works Commission receives hurry calls from Moore county constituents urging him to push the completion of the approximate 12 miles between Carthage and Sanford connect with U. S. Highway No. 1.

If this stretch isn't done by the opening of the tobacco markets growers will be forced or enticed to carry their hauls to other markets, the chairman is advised. And the work cannot be finished by that time. Mr. Wayne says the contractors are up with their contracts, that they are actually ahead rather than behind.

This highway has been one of the costly experiments of the state in hard roads that were built for a lighter traffic than has been kept on it. It was constructed by the old commission, once facetiously denominated the "millionaires' club." At that time the money was getting low but the road demand was growing. It has cost upward of $100,000 to keep the stretch in order, but the interest on a $300,000 original bond outlay would have equalled the upkeep. The state has found out that some of these roads won't work. The soil under them is too soft.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington By IRA BENNETT. INTRENCHED: "Reorganization" of government is a continuing problem that has baffled many Presidents and Congresses. The triplication of bureaus and overlapping of functions are now worse than ever on account of the stress of recovery and relief exertions. A business concern operated on government methods would go broke within a year—but the government is not a business concern and is not intended to be one.

Nevertheless, grossly unnecessary waste sires the bile of business men in Congress and causes them to tackle the job of "reorganization." Three agencies are at this work now, the most notable being a committee headed by Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Hardly had the committee begun its inquiries before it ran into machinations by keen-witted and well-intrenched bureau chiefs, designed to block consolidations that would throw them and their cliques out of jobs. Washington bureaucracy is ready to fight for its life.

OPPOSITION: One of the consolidations most feared at present is the proposed unification of all investigating agencies. The Secret Service and the postal inspection service seem to be afraid that they will be gobbled up by J. Edgar Hoover's G-Men outfit. There isn't much danger of this, but it affords an opportunity for putting obstacles in the way of the reorganization committee. Hoover's advertising methods stir up the wrath of other investigating agencies.

The most deep-seated opposition to "consolidation" is in the Interior and Agriculture Departments—except when a merger would add to their powers and authority. Secretary Ickes wants all conservation agencies in his department. Secretary Wallace wants some of them to remain under him. Wallace won't (Continued on page two)

DENIES RUMOR REBELLION IN SPAIN ITSELF

Disturbance in Morocco Quelled In Short Order

REPUBLIC IS SAID BE IN COMMAND

Official Communique Declares It Will Not be Long Before Normalcy is Restored

(Copyright by The Associated Press) Madrid, July 18.—(AP)—A rebellion broke out today among the Spanish army forces in northern Morocco, but shortly afterwards the government announced that it had been quelled completely.

Previously there had been reports that the revolt had spread to Spain itself, but these were not confirmed and were denied by authorities. Madrid was quiet.

In an official communique the government said: "A new criminal attack on the republic has been frustrated. The government did not wish to address the country until it learned exactly what had happened and put into effect urgent inextorable measures to combat it.

"Part of the army representing Spain in Morocco has risen in arms against the republic, revolting against its own country, and performing a shameful, criminal act of rebellion against the legitimately constituted power x x x.

"The government of the republic dominates the situation and declares it will not be long in announcing to public opinion the reestablishment of normalcy.

Farmers' Field Day At Oxford Thursday

The 14th annual Farmers' Field Day will be observed at the Tobacco Branch Experiment Station near Oxford Thursday with an elaborate program of addresses, contests, field tours and exhibits. Dr. R. Y. Winters, director of the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station announced yesterday.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; W. A. Graham, State Commissioner of Agriculture; Congressman Frank W. Hancock; W. A. Shands of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; E. Y. Floyd of the State College extension service; and Dr. B. Y. Kilgore, president of the North Carolina Dairyman's Association.

The field day will be staged cooperatively by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station.

Provisions Made For Lessons In Swimming

A new set of swimming and life saving lessons will start Monday at the city swimming pool. The swimmers will meet at 12 o'clock, and the life savers will meet at 6:30 p. m. five days a week, Monday thru Friday, for two weeks.

The cost of the swimming course is small, and all non-swimmers should avail themselves of the opportunity at this time to learn to swim. The Junior and Senior Life Savers will pay a small fee to cover the cost of the emblem. Those registering for the Junior Life Saving course must be 12 years old or over; while the seniors must be at least 17. The swimming classes are open to all non-swimmers, there is no age-limit.

Dr. Gilbert R. Combs Speaks Sunday Night

Dr. Gilbert R. Combs, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, will deliver the sermon tomorrow night at the union, open-air service in the city park.

The services will begin at eight o'clock and in case of rain will be held across the street in the high school building.

Dr. Combs will preach on the topic "Religion and Prosperity."

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—His sympathetic fellow officers sent a squad car when George Terill, detective reported his rake and hoe stolen.

They found the implements cached under the porch. Red-faced, Terill explained he had hidden them there to get out of tending the family garden and had phoned the police to make the excuse more realistic.

GRISSOM SAYS HE CAN'T LOSE

Insists Non-Voting Democrats Will Elect Him

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 18.—Forty-one thousand Democratic voters who did not participate in the late primary will elect him Governor of North Carolina. Gilliam Grissom, Republican candidate, is saying in thousands of sheets going out to the voters of North Carolina.

Mr. Grissom starts with the 3,417,000 population with a potential voting strength of 1,139,000. He cites the 710,000 vote of 1932, the highest ever scored. He advertises to the 497,000 Democrats of 1932, the biggest showing. The poorest for the Democrats in modern years was 294,000. The largest Republican vote in this 1928-1934 period was 349,000. The smallest Republican for that period was 213,000.

Then he analyzes the late primary. In the first one 517,000 Democrats voted. Of these, 194,000 were for Hoey, 189,000 for McDonald, 127,000 for Graham and 7,000 for McRae. Against Hoey were 323,000. That made 245 per cent of the Democratic vote for Hoey and 75.5 against Hoey. In the senate race Bailey got 239,000, Fountain 181,000, Griffin 24,000, Strain 13,000, and 60,000 failed to vote. Mr. Grissom interprets that to mean that while 378,000 were voting against Bailey, only 239,000 were for him. Of all the votes cast for Governor Bailey received only 46 per cent.

Taking up the second primary Mr. Grissom sees Hoey taking 266,000, McDonald 214,000, a total of 480,000, but 37,000 fall-off in the second primary. In the lieutenant governorship race there were cast only 425,000, or 55,000 fewer than were cast in the governorship race.

The possible vote in a general election in 210,000, the registration. Mr. Grissom concedes Mr. Hoey his 266,000, with an estimated 107,000 of the McDonald vote. That gives Hoey 373,000, all that he can hope to receive. The "assured G. O. P. vote for Governor (as before) is 269,000. The estimated independent vote is 107,000. The possible G. O. P. vote is 396,000," giving the Republicans a majority of 23,000. The 41,000 who did not attend the primary can decide the election," Mr. Grissom concludes.

He vows they have already "decided" it for him, because he is going to get them.

Rumored That Old Democrats At War With Young Voters

Stories Being Circulated That Old Party Members Dislike Some New Deal Legislation

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 18.—Rumors of an Old Democratic Voters' organization to buck the Young Democrats, are heard in Raleigh, but whether they are going to organize as the young, deponents do not say.

It was thought that during the sessions of the Young Democrats in Greensboro the Old Democrats might manifest themselves. One of the stories comes to the Raleigh newspaper men is that the Old Democrats dislike very much a great deal of New Deal legislation in Washington and that the Young Democrats literally eat that up.

Certainly there are many Democrats who are opposed to what goes on in Washington, but including these Democrats to array themselves on the side of age is something else. There are the Old Age Pensioners. They are moving strongly in the direction of the Young Democrats, for queerly enough old age pensions suit youth.

The Young Democrats stepped out a few years ago in Wilmington and demanded the repeal of the 18th amendment, but when the election was held even the young people seem to have voted dry. There is something arbitrary in the years. A man becomes an Old Democrat at 40 but he may be in favor of old age pensions when he is only 21.

Missionary to Africa Feature Speaker On Program

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Duties relating to the task of educating, evangelizing and christianizing the people in Belgium Congo, Africa, from a background of cannibalism were discussed by Rev. John G. Barden, missionary, at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club last night.

The program was presented by a committee headed by Judge Dink James. In addition to the address, James Dees rendered two vocal selections with the club members joining in on one of them. Mrs. R. A. Tyson provided music at the meeting.

A letter from the Wilmington club inviting local Kiwanians to Wrightsville Beach Friday, August 21, was read by Club Secretary Dave Moore. The Wilmington club is host each year to clubs in this district.

PEACE REIGNS IN CONVENTION AT CLEVELAND

Townsend Followers in Fourth Day of Sessions

NOT TO CENSURE ANY SPEAKERS

Norman Thomas to Address Townsendsites Today; Landon, Roosevelt Decline

Cleveland, July 18.—(AP)—The second Townsend national convention today swung into its fourth day with peace among its warring leaders seemingly secure until at least after adjournment Sunday.

A threat by Dr. F. E. Townsend, the movement founder, that he would not sit with the board of directors until the ouster of Gomer Smith of Oklahoma, a board member and national vice president, drew the following statement from the board early today:

"No action will be taken by Dr. Townsend or the national board to censure any of the speakers that have appeared."

The elderly pension chief issued a statement which read: "In view of the stress of other business of the convention no further action will be taken regarding Mr. Gomer Smith remaining upon the board of directors until after the convention."

Other developments were: A suit filed in common pleas court late yesterday by the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, of Cleveland, a deposed national director asking removal of Dr. Townsend and other officers and an accounting of $1,000,000 in Townsend club money which the suit charged has been "disipated."

A statement by Robert Clements, who recently resigned as Townsend's secretary and treasurer, that the plan was being "taken over by political opportunists."

Announcement that Norman Thomas, socialist candidate for president, would address the convention today after invitations extended to Gov. Alf. M. Landon of Kansas, the Republican nominee, and President Roosevelt were declined.

Advices On Crops To Replace Those Destroyed by Hail

County Agent Bennett Tells Farmers Field Peas and Other Legumes May Be Planted Now

R. R. Bennett, Pitt county farm agent, today advised farmers who lost their tobacco and other crops in the hail storm Wednesday night to plant the land in something else to prevent a complete loss.

He declared field peas will come nearer producing a hog crop than probably any other legume planted at this season. "Hay is scarce this year in the west and will be in great demand. You may earn one dollar per acre for each acre seeded to peas through your participation in the 1936 Soil Conservation Program," he continued.

"Sweet potatoes is another crop that should be considered to replace those crops already destroyed. Planting sweet potatoes this late will necessitate buying slips and getting them transplanted soon."

The storm struck sections of the county, particularly in Falkland and Beveler townships and parts of Greenville, doing much damage. Mr. Bennett said that in some sections the tobacco crop was 50 per cent destroyed.

Patrolman Williams Injured In Accident

Patrolman C. R. Williams of the Highway Patrol force was slightly injured yesterday when he was blinded by a sudden rain storm and crashed into another patrolman. Both were riding motorcycles.

Patrolman Williams and two other members of the force were returning from a district meeting in Wilmington when the storm suddenly came up. Before he could stop he was blinded by the heavy downpour and ran his motorcycle into that of another patrolman. Williams was the only one hurt. While his injuries were unimportant of bruises and lacerations, he is not seriously hurt. He is confined to his home, however.

HUGE: The Interior and Agriculture Departments are growing faster than any other branches of government. Ickes and Wallace have charge of the disbursement of enormous sums of money, aside from money for public works and farm relief.

Wallace opened up a new field of exploration in the new flood control law. While no direct appropriations were made, Congress authorized expenditures for surveys of watersheds all over the country, primarily for flood control but also to develop water supplies and power.

When the new agency for surveying the country's watersheds gets under way it will be a huge machine, and its projects will call for the expenditure of billions of dollars.

GRAVY: Miss Rosalie Jones, ex-senator Dill's former wife, has the go-getter spirit which is supposed to "endear" a Congressman to his constituents. In announcing her candidacy for Congress to succeed Sam Hill of Washington, Miss Jones praises Hill for "getting the money for Grand Coulee" and promises to get even more if permitted to become a statesman.

Some members of Congress make it a practice to insert in the Record a report to their constituents, showing how much they "got" out of the Treasury for their districts. The sum total of gray in some instances is very impressive — and goes far to relieve Mr. Roosevelt of the sole responsibility for increased deficits.

RUINERS: The farmers of California have appealed to the government to protect them against a threatened raid by a rapidly growing radical combination known as the "Federation of Agricultural, Cannery and Packing Workers." California produce about 40 per cent of the fruits and vegetables grown in this country, and these crops must be harvested within a few days after ripening or the year's work is lost.

Taking advantage of this opportunity to squeeze the workers' organization demands that farmers employ all hands that apply for work and pay them $3 a day. There is work for about 85,000 farm hands, but nearly 125,000 drought and dust bowl refugees have poured into California, and farmers are unable to employ or house them all. Yet they are faced with ruin unless they accede to the demands of the workers' organization.

The American Federation of Labor, after investigation, refused to recognize the farm workers' organization of California on the ground that it was engineered by communists.

CONCEDED: Speculation as to the political results flowing from the drought situation generally ends with the opinion that President Roosevelt will benefit. Senator Nye of North Dakota, Progressive, shares this opinion — but with a proviso. His idea is that if relief is prompt, without needless red tape, Roosevelt will be credited with it. But if there should be long delay, with a lot of inspectors holding up operations, Nye thinks the voters would take it out on the administration. Senator Nye withholds temporarily his support of any candidate, on the plea that relief duties take up all his time, but he concedes that the Progressive conference will swing behind Roosevelt.

New York By JAMES McMULLIN

ADJUSTMENT: Some of the latest New York observers of business and market trends are distinctly bullish about the long term prospects for both. Their pessimism is founded on a factor which has attracted very little attention to date.

These sources predict that no matter who wins the election some curtailment of federal expenditures is certain. London would obviously be in a position to take advantage of this situation. It is known that Roosevelt is also working on plans

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Nyton has been imprisoned in a room of Nancy Featherston's house because Nancy thinks the man she loves, Duke Shibley, has actually murdered old man Burdett, and has fled. Nyton thinks so too. Meanwhile Sergeant White, Nyton's helper, missing an appointment with the imprisoned inspector, is making through the wood to kill time. And there he sees his wife, in the midst of a rendezvous with a game-keeper. White walks back in a annoyed silence, and to the kitchen when he hears his wife of the door.

Chapter 32 START OF CATASTROPHE ALICE came in, as she usually did, with a little flurry of movement and life. It had been that eager vitality in her that had first so attracted him; now he hated it.

"Hello Jimmy!" Her voice was as apparently unaffected and sincere as ever, and he hated that, too. He did not turn round.

"What are you doing there?" she asked laughing. "Going to get the tea?"

He managed to speak, and was astonished that his voice was steady and calm. "I thought of it."

She crossed the room whistling a gay little tune. "Here, I'll see to it. I didn't think you'd be back so soon."

"I suppose not." Her quick hands were already busy amongst the crockery.

"Did you have a good afternoon?" she asked, "and find out what you wanted to?"

"Yes. You hair's very untidy," he couldn't help adding.

"Is it?" Alice laughed and put up her two hands for a moment to subdue that dark waywardness. She started to hum.

"Did you enjoy the pictures?" White asked.

"Yes, fairly well; I didn't stay for the full round, though."

"They're good lads, the man thought, watching her."

"The usual husband and wife stuff, I suppose?"

He saw the smile spread slowly over her face; he was waiting for it.

"Yes, the usual husband and wife stuff," she agreed. "Did you see your friend the inspector?" she asked reaching for the kettle.

"The inspector? No, I haven't seen him yet."

"Perhaps he's lost," she said with a laugh.

"He wouldn't be the only one," White said solemnly; she glanced up and for the first time since coming in looked at him fairly and squarely.

"You're a nice cheerful one to come back to, I don't think," she said.

White returned her look and actually smiled. He was learning defeat it seemed; hate is a good teacher. Something which he could no longer control moved in James White's brain, his smile actually deepened.

"I was out Nyton way this afternoon," he said pleasantly. He saw her hand tighten on the handle of the kettle and all he regretted was that it was not tightening from physical pain.

"Nyton way?" she asked coolly.

"Yes. Up in the Woods—the Big Wood."

The kettle lid clattered on the stone floor; she made to pick it up and then stopped, looking at him. He let her look, and thirty seconds of silence passed.

"What's the matter with picking up the kettle lid?" he suggested. Her eyes left his for a moment and almost instantly flickered back again; then she bent and retrieved the fallen lid.

"Must have been nice out there today," she said.

"Especially in the sun."

SHE didn't answer that but moved across the room to cut the bread and butter. An iron-strong hand perfectly cold (she shuddered a little at its accidental touch) closed on the handle of the long bread knife before hers could.

"I'll do that," her husband said affably, "you set the things out. Did you see any one you knew at the pictures?"

"No."

"That's awkward."

"What do you mean?"

He laughed. "Suppose I didn't believe you had been there, it might be difficult to prove you had."

She straightened up from the table and looked directly at him; but her eyes were different now from when she had first come in, there was fear in their dark depths now.

"I don't have to answer to you for what I do every minute of the day, do I?"

"You said you were going on the bus to Morechester."

to the same end. This would mean a corresponding curtailment in the national purchasing power. Theoretically private industry would take up the slack in re-employment.

But such a re-adjustment would be very delicate even if undertaken by experts, and it is bound to be bolted in the blundering hands of the politicians of either party who will have the responsibility. At best there would be a decided lag between the slackening and the pickup. Such a drop in purchasing power — even though temporary — would be bound to have a depressing effect on business activity. No accurate estimate is possible of the extent to which government spending

There are indications that he is not at all anxious to conduct open meetings at which he could be publicly questioned. One advantage of the radio is that it cannot answer back.

The Union party, being a political organization, will have to account for receipts and expenditures according to law. This may boomerang on the National Union for Social Justice—which is expected to be revealed as a substantial contributor. The question will then be pointedly asked by Democrats how come an outfit supposedly broke and in debt can afford the luxury of generous donations to another organization.

OUTSIDE: High financial circles forecast that Mussolini's skillful acquisition of a key position in European politics will result in redoubled efforts on the part of Great Britain to develop an economic and political understanding with the United States.

As banking experts see it, Britain has been completely subdued by Italy's victory in Africa. Everything she didn't want has been or is being forced on her. Mussolini holds all the trumps and will press his strategic advantage. Part of his picture is to revamp the continental setup so that England is on the outside looking up, not—as so often in the past—looking down and directing the pawns.

O. MAX ENJOYS SEEING BATTLE

Former Governor Is Vacationing at Morehead City

Raleigh, July 17.—Former Governor Max Gardner, over whom quite a fight was made in the late couple of primaries, dropped off a few hours in Raleigh yesterday afternoon and moved on to Morehead City to rusticate a few days.

Mr. Gardner who loves any sort of a fight and particularly a boxing match, football game or political contest, talked a bit about all the sports, applying the underlying philosophy which he thinks is always the same. He favors Washington for the American League pennant, would like to see State or Carolina coach the football championship this fall, thinks Max Schmeling put up a tremendous fight against Joe Louis, and of course leans to Clyde Hovey for the Governorship.

Governor Gardner thinks that in the Duke-Carolina football game last fall Duke made too many touchdowns for Carolina to win; that in the recent Schmeling-Louis fight the German landed too many socks on the jaw to make possible the winning by Louis, and that in the recently held primary Clyde Hovey got too many votes to nominate Dr. Ralph McDonald. The former governor is slightly fearful that the Yankees may make too many runs for Washington.

Mr. Gardner sees nearly all the fights of consequence. He saw Sharkey foul Schmeling and lose the championship; the ex-governor saw Young Stribling wear himself into a frazzle hitting the hard jaw of Schmeling and then get knocked out by him. His excellency saw Louis beat Carnera and Max Baer and reserved judgment until Louis met the real thing. The first genuine article was Schmeling whose fists were just as deadly as the papers said they were. Mr. Gardner no more thinks Louis was doped than his excellency thinks Dock McDonald was gyped. The same trouble was common to the losers. They just lacked the punch.

HALL OF ROMAN SENATE UNCOVERED BY FASCISTS

ROME—(AP)—Restoration of the ancient Roman curia or hall of the senate has been resumed under the impetus of fascist enthusiasm for revival of the his-pris empire.

De Vecchi di Val Cismon, minister of education, has ordered workmen to brace the old structure preparatory to demolition of a medieval building which has covered the original. The work has centered on the side which fronts the new Empire Way.

Fascist architects say they will be able to restore the original building entirely. The brick curia was built by Julius Caesar and first was restored in 303 by Diocletian. About 625 Pope Honorius I converted it into the Church of St. Hadrian. Modern tourists have visited the Church of Santa Martina, built into a hall of the curia which was used in ancient times for secret meetings.

'Soft' Game

HAVANA—(AP)—Cracked skulls and broken arms are not unusual among players of Jai Alai, the Spanish game. Players have to handle a ball half the size of a baseball and almost as hard as a golf ball at terrific speed. A "soft" game was needed for less reckless athletes. So American "soft ball" is being introduced.

Shortly after his 100th birthday, a farmer living near Agricola, Yugoslavia, married a 17-year-old girl. More than 1,000,000 United States cars enter Canada annually, and

SEEKS CHANGE CAPITAL LAWS

Walter D. Siler Favors Modification Of Death Judgment

Raleigh, July 17.—Representative-Nominate Walter D. Siler of Chatham county isn't going to attempt the abolition of the death penalty in North Carolina, if and when he comes to Raleigh to legislate next January, but Judge Siler will seek modification of the statutes providing death judgments so that the juries may fix the penalty.

Judge Siler may ask for abolition in burglary and arson offenses which seldom are punished by death. He was a solicitor many years and helps to send convicts to the electric chair. But he has come to believe that the death penalty misses oftener than it hits. Sentimentally, he is disposed to fight the whole business, but he won't do so. He does think the criminal law would be helped by the changes proposed.

Judge Siler got his "judgeship" as an occasional presiding jurist in the old days of the specially assigned lawyers. He made a good one, everybody said, and judging occasionally he came to have the greatest doubt as to the efficacy of the death punishments, a feeling shared right much by judges and solicitors in the state.

INDIANS ONCE SAILOERS. SAYS COAST SCIENTIST. Santa Barbara, Calif. (AP)—Dr. David B. Rogers, of the museum of natural history here, expresses the opinion that the Indians centuries ago conducted a coastwise ocean commerce among the island of southern California.

Fragments of their boats, he says, indicate they were remarkable craft—"great seagoing canoes" so large they could carry 20 men in smooth water.

"They carried passengers and freight," Dr. Rogers says. "It appears they even maintained a system of crude lighthouses."

TWO CLARENDON WOMEN TO BE GIVEN PROTECTION. Whiteville, July 17.—(AP)—Sheriff John W. Hall said tonight his office would offer "every protection we can" to two women victims of a band of night-riding floggers who said they had received another warning from the terrorists.

The women, Bertha Fowler, and Inez Fowler, her attractive 18-year-old daughter, said at Taber yesterday a friend had overheard two men say "The night riders are coming back next to get the Fowler women."

The Fowler women indicated they intended to move from their home in the remote Clarendon section of the county, where six floggings in recent months attributed to the night riders.

Sheriff Hall said "We will try to be sure to keep anything from happening." The sheriff's force consists of himself and one deputy.

He said he had been investigating the floggings but had made "slow headway."

One hundred years ago there were the heresy hunts and even later. In 1843 there was a disruption in Scotland. That breach has now happily been healed, and a notable solution found for the controversies that then rent the Church.

One hundred years ago, it is said, there were only eight communicants in St. Paul's Cathedral, London on Easter Day. Whatever may be said about the Anglo-Catholic movement it has brought new life to the Anglican Church, and all Churches and all sections of that Church are in debt to it.

There is an air of life about Churches in Great Britain, though in many places they have had to face enormous difficulties, economic and other. Churches are no longer satisfied with, nor are they attended by, perfunctory Christians. People no longer come for mere custom. They are trying to find out what living the Christian creed means and are trying to be centers of good influence in their several communities.

Clergy Praised. As regards the clergy, one would say that they are all in a very worthy and painstaking race of men. They are battling manfully with the intellectual and other problems confronting them and the power of the Church is a power to be reckoned with and to be welcomed in the rebuilding of the world. When one looks out of the world one sees on all hands great Churchmen, lay and cleric, and women too, bearing their part in the affairs of the Church of their several countries. God does not leave Himself without a witness. Not only in the great cities but in lonely country and island parishes. They and their loyal followers are keeping the banner of the Cross flying with no little distinction; and it is the same in many another country of the world.

The Church today has a magnificent opportunity, similar to and even greater than the time when the Palestinian sect marched in little groups into the strongholds of the ancient Roman Empire. We, like them, have the message, long hid but now again by the mercy of God revealed, by which alone the world can be saved.

"AS RELIGION SEES IT"

By The Rev. Alexander Sparks Glasgow, Scotland (Secretary, Presbyterian Inter-Fellowship Party, Now Visiting the U. S. and Canada)

Revival of the Church Now in Progress, Scotch Preacher Says—Finds New Spirit is Dominating Religions and Pushing It Forward

We are living in a time of the revival of the Church. The opposite is the popular opinion. "Everybody" thinks that the Church is declining in numbers and everything. It depends which church and what country. I cannot speak for the whole world but I can speak for my own part of it, and in Great Britain, certainly in Scotland, there has been enormous progress in the Church within the last twenty-five, fifty and one hundred years. In nearly every aspect of church life that I can think of not only definite but enormous progress has been made.

Religious Emphasis Changing. Formerly, religion was too exclusively related to otherworldism, and the whole of the New Testament was made to bear this emphasis. A proper reading of the New Testament, however, showed that this false emphasis could not be fathered on Jesus. He believed in the other world, as did His contemporaries, but while they looked before and after and despised and neglected the present, He made much of today. "God is here, near to you," He said. "His kingdom is in your midst, even within you. Open your heart and receive it in all its richness and power. You do not need to drive the Romans out. You need no warlike Messiah to lead you to such a mad task. Do your present duty toward God and man and everything needful will be added. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

At the same time there took place, and is still taking place, a revolt against the orthodox categories in which for long Jesus and the gospel had been explained and against the philosophical and theological language in which the gospel had been presented. People said and say "Why should we put and answer these questions at all? Are there not others equally valid even from the point of view of thought?" And so they put their own questions, which had often been forgotten by the Church. They asked even whether they were bound to use the terms St. Paul and even Jesus Himself used in the New Testament narrative and epistles. Dean Inge, for instance says that St. Paul was lost in Paulinism and has been rediscovered as a man. The point is that the mind was free again to study the New Testament and Christian origins afresh.

Attitude Toward Catholicism. There grew up simultaneously a new Catholicism, from Anglo-Catholicism to Free Catholicism, movements which have affected and are affecting every Church in Christendom. The old negative Protestantism was dead or revitalized. Protestant churches claimed anew to be Catholic if reformed. They were not above learning from Mother Church. They regarded her with more tolerance and more understanding and even love. They went back to recover valuable elements which had been dropped in the heat of controversy. Historic statements of theology were valued for what they were worth and valued as contributions of their own place and time.

Catholic worship came to be studied and respected. Christian unity came to be sought after. Art and music came again into the service of the Church. More beautiful buildings were erected for the glory of God. Extreme Sabbatarianism and the gloom and suspicion so often associated with Puritanism gave place to the Christian Sunday, and joy was rediscovered. We are still struggling to find ourselves in this new day.

MANY OUT FOR JUDGE'S POST

Governor to Appoint Successor to Late John M. Oglesby

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 18.—Many names have been sent to Raleigh for the fifteenth judicial district as suitable attorneys from whom to pick the successor of Judge John M. Oglesby of Concord, who died Tuesday morning in a Charlotte hospital.

Luther T. Hartsell, junior and senior, have been proposed and this is one of the rare instances in which a father and son have been suggested for a major appointment. The elder Hartsell, a practitioner of 40 years, is still a youth in looks and his boy who has served finely in the state senate is regarded as plenty big for the place.

There are the names also of Hayden Clement, ex-solicitor; Charles Coggin, present solicitor; Stable Linn, Walter H. Woodson and Pritchard S. Carlton of Rowan, a county in that district which has not had the judgeship in many years. Iredell furnished the jurist for a double decade and in the old array of counties the late Congressman William Cicero Hammer was the solicitor. Mr. Coggin defeated Zeb Vance Long of Iredell for the solicitorship in the last election when the office was an issue. Iredell for a season had both judge and solicitor.

Governor Ehringhaus has indicated that he will not wait long to pick Judge Oglesby's successor as the work of the courts is heavy and all the members of the judiciary are kept busy. The fifteenth district has a very able bar and the selection will not be easy. Free trials have dropped the hint that the Governor could make two friends by promoting Solicitor Coggin to the judgeship and appointing a new solicitor. But the executive seldom kills the proverbial two birds with one stone; he generally is kept busy dodging the two hurled at him when he had hoped to escape any pounding at all.

So far as his political alliance, the Governor has no trouble. All the names forwarded here belong to men who were stout supporters of the executive.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK. By FRESTON GROVER. Washington—One of the problems confronting campaign strategists of both parties is to preserve—or increase—their representation in congress.

All of the 435 house seats are to be filled. At present there are 314 Democrats, 100 Republicans, three Farmer-Laborites, seven Progressives and 11 vacancies.

Terms of only 32 senators expire, but included are some of the outstanding figures both on the majority and minority sides. There are 12 Democratic seats, 13 Republican, and one Farmer-Labor. The Republican list is the largest to come up for at least another six years, as the period of Roosevelt ascendancy trimmed down their representation markedly.

Only five Republican seats in the senate become vacant in 1936, the survivors of 1932; six Republican terms, one Farmer-Labor and one Progressive expire in 1940.

Some southern senators, such as Glass of Virginia, Bailey of North Carolina and Bankhead of Alabama, already have come through the primary and expect little opposition in November.

Southern or border state senators still facing either primary tests or possible opposition in the general election are Bachman of Tennessee, Byrnes of South Carolina, Harrison of Mississippi (he is scuffling with Bilbo factions), Logan of Kentucky (few Kentucky senators ever get second terms), Nixey of West Virginia (he survived Holt's primary attack), Russell of Georgia (Governor Talmadge may run for the senate), Gore of Oklahoma, Robinson of Arkansas and Sheppard of Texas.

Northern and western Democratic terms expiring, and where contests are expected, include Senators Bulow of South Dakota, Coolidge of Massachusetts (defeated in the primary by James M. Curley), Hatch of New Mexico, Lewis of Illinois and Murray of Oklahoma.

A three-sided race has developed in Colorado for the Democratic nomination to succeed Senator Costigan, who is retiring. A contest is expected to develop for every Republican vacancy with the possible exception of that of Senator Norris of Nebraska who, however, has not indicated whether he will run independently.

The Republican list includes Barbour of New Jersey, Cousins of Michigan, Hastings of Delaware (he is retiring), Keyes of New Hampshire (Gov. H. Styles, Bridges, Republican, is after the seat), Metcalf of Rhode Island, White of Maine (Gov. Louis J. Brann, Democrat, outlasting), Borah of Idaho, Capper of Kansas, Carey of Wyoming, Dickinson of Iowa, and McNary of Oregon.

Senator Benson of Minnesota, Farmer-Labor, is retiring to run for governor, releasing his place on the ticket to Gov. Floyd B. Olson.

liquid and hence could not restore his color sense.

"Anyway, it gave us an idea. We had been working in our three-dimensional film experiments, on a scheme to duplicate the human optical system mechanically. That, in fact, is what our process for color attempts to do.

"The camera is our human skull, the lens is the eyeball, communicating what it sees to the film, which may be compared to our braincells. Binocular Camera. "The human skull contains two eyes, which accounts for natural vision. Why not give the camera equal benefits through use of two lenses?"

"And that," says Hoyt, "is what we did. Two eyes, or lenses, each specially built with liquids in a vacuum, like the human eyeball, give us our color." One lens is red, the other green, and through their light combinations, the inventors claim, all colors are obtained.

"It is the only process," Hoyt declares, "that photographs color. The others get color in the printing."

Main advantage of the new process, as the inventors see it, is their claim that it uses ordinary black-and-white film and ordinary cameras, the only special attachment required being the two-eyed lenses.

GOVERNOR NOT WORK IN BANK

Ehringhaus Probably Return to Elizabeth City in January

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 18.—Governor Ehringhaus could not deny anything during the campaign, but now that it is over and he is unhurt by its outcome, it may be said for him that he is not going to work for the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Raleigh.

The Governor determined to make no statement during the fight and when he read in the papers that the reason for his refusal to call the legislature together for a special session lay in his greater obligation to the big bank, he had to grin and like it. The bank negotiations had long taken place. His excellency had his opportunity to make the connection, but chose not to accept the work. The bank went ahead with its big extension in Raleigh and with plans to serve that portion of Eastern North Carolina which relies largely now on Norfolk and Richmond.

Every time any anti-Ehringhaus man wished to make a crack at (3) the Wachovia suggestion was recalled. The campaign has come and gone. The Governor is not to be hurt by anything he says. At present he is not quite certain what he will do. He is quite definite about some things that he won't do. And he has said as much.

He won't be a candidate for any office. He did not wish any party honors which generally may be had for the asking by the outgoing governor. The executive has had all the politics that he wished, and more. He has had full satisfaction, he says. He probably will enjoy going back to the small town and doing the same sort of work that he did prior to the elevation to the governorship.

Should Congressman Lindsay C. Warren get the $15,000 admirer's general's place now advertised throughout the state, no first district Democrat would need to worry about Governor Ehringhaus and a congressional campaign. The Governor just doesn't choose to run for congress.

Walk a lot and eat what you want when you want it, is Margot Grahame's receipt for health. The English actress follows this advice and enjoys perfect health.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS. Hollywood—The case of a color-blind man, oddly enough, is responsible for the screen's latest color or photography invention.

Two young inventors, Robert Hoyt and Leon Ungar, are almost ready for commercial use of their process for photographing motion pictures in color—a method they claim is far simpler than any now in use.

Originally, Hoyt explains, the pair was interested in experiments toward presenting three-dimensional pictures.

"Then one day," says Hoyt, at 31 a former talent agent and director-producer of western pictures, "I read in the papers about a fellow who, shot in the head, had had his eyesight saved by surgeons. He could see perfectly, except that he was now totally color-blind. I started reading up on the subject, and learned of the importance to color vision of the liquid in the eyeball.

Copy Human Eye. "What happened, I think—although I can't pretend to have any exact scientific knowledge on the subject—was that the surgeons could repair the man's optic nerves but were unable to restore that

GREENIES GRAB SLUGFEST FROM KINSTONIAN

Hitchcock Homers 3 Times as Locals Win 14-13; Ayden, Tarboro and Williamson Get Wing in Yesterday's Games

By JAMES L. WHITFIELD The Greenies added another victory to their credit at Kinston yesterday afternoon by conquering the Eagles with a 14-13 score.

The locals were evidently making up the time which was lost when they failed to engage Kinston here on Thursday afternoon because of rain.

"Bill" and "Ty" were the regular guys for better half in yesterday's tilt. Hitchcock got three homers and a single and Ty Wagner managed to scratch a couple of round-trippers and a bite or two off the Eagles.

May, Clement and Mattson shared mound duties for the locals, allowing 13 hits while Garner and Ramberg, Eagles hurlers, were tossed for 18 hits and 14 runs.

Scoring was done in every inning yesterday with the exception of the fifth and ninth. When the sixth was ended, the Eagles had a four-run lead on the locals. However, this didn't last long, because Ty Wagner and Bill Hitchcock pounded out circuit drives, which were later followed by a pair of singles and a double to tie the score.

Bill and Ty did likewise in the eighth frame in hitting for the circuit and running the score of the locals ahead of that of the Eagles. Charlie Keller, the league-leading swatter on the Kinstonian outfit, hit a homer on the inside of the park in the eighth to put his team-mates on a one run short of a tie with the locals.

Those other than Hitchcock and Wagner who did well with the willow yesterday for the locals were Brown and Parker who grabbed a safety each. Tilton was the outstanding hitter for the Eagles with three for four.

This afternoon the Ayden Aces will attempt to whip the Greenies here and tomorrow the locals visit the Aces at their party in Ayden.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Greenville 3 04 10 420-14 18 4 Kinston 1 32 203 010-13 13 0 light and have it more abundantly. He declared that the natives in the section were reared in a background of cannibalism and that they were just beginning to get acquainted with civilization. He added that there were about 250,000 natives in the immediate section in which he was working.

He related that it was the custom of the country for the women to do the work and stated that one of the greatest problems was the high rate of infant mortality, due to insanitary conditions.

The speaker declared that missionaries were emphasizing the importance of motherhood. "No nation can be stronger than its mothers," he said.

LEGION'S TEAM TAKES SERIES

Team to Contest Next For Inter-District Championship

Yesterday afternoon the Greenville American Legion baseball team handed the second defeat to the Manteo Legion team in the district series and gave the local team the Eastern district championship.

White, the Manteo hurler, allowed the locals 14 hits for which they converted into 8 runs. Howard Greengrove, Greenville hurler, allowed 5 scattered hits while he struck out 14 Manteo batters and held them scoreless for the entire game.

The Greenville club looked like real contenders for both state and national honors. The district championship was won by defeating the Beaufort Legion team 3 out of 4 games and defeating Manteo two straight tilts. The next team the local club will meet will be the winner of the Durham-Asheboro series. The winner of this next series will be the inter-district champions.

New York Cotton

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, two points lower to three higher on steady Liverpool cables which were partially offset by liquidation and hedge selling.

Active months generally showed net losses of about two to six points near the end of the first hour. Futures closed barely steady, 7 1/2 to 11 lower, spot quiet, middling 13.12.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Showers in the corn belt together with continued favorable industrial news helped to keep the stock market on a fairly even keel today, but recovery vigor was lacking except in the specialties.

A number of issues at their post were at new highs for the past five years. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 500,000 shares.

Romancing Together

Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald are starred together for the first time in the new screen romance "San Francisco" opening at the Pitt Monday. The story is laid in the colorful days of 1905-16, with all its gaiety, songs and thrills.

TAR HEEL NEGRO REQUESTS TALMADGE DROP RACE ISSUE

(Continued from page one) much "the industrious, the intelligent and the law-abiding members of my race must do to win your friendship to the extent that you will use your great office to guarantee them their rights, what prices must they pay to have peace, a rest from ceaseless agitation against them, the right to participate in the affairs of this country into which they were brought against their will, and freedom from exploitation in our politics? If there is a negro in Georgia making himself obnoxious over any powers bestowed by his Government, I have not heard of him. But a reading of your speeches would lead an uninformed man to believe that the negroes, even as Sherman, are marching on Georgia." Dr. Shepard then refers to the National Democratic Convention episode in which Senator E. D. Smith of Georgia, "rudely and irreverently walked out, leaving a trail of radical rancor behind him." It so happened that the paving minister, Rev. Marshall Shepard, was a North Carolina man and is a first cousin of the Durham educator. The college president does not allude to the relationship.

Referring to Governor Talmadge's oath to stand in the way of all movements towards "social equality," Dr. Shepard says: "I have never understood how any intelligent Southern white man can fear 'social equality' at the hands of a people 'most universally denied political, educational, economic and judicial equality. No other people ever gained social standing when denied every other 'equality.' The negro does desire social justice, and he meets every day and in every forum the barriers to that justice. The white man who makes all the laws sets all the standards of education, even all the social customs, and holds a monopoly on all the means of promoting the general welfare, refusing to live by his own enactments, but by written commitments, and he's the denial to the negro of the benefits of the white man's own laws to be in the interest of that general welfare." The Durham man says he cannot comprehend a race issue in 1936.
