REFUTE ALIBI OF SUSPECT IN HOTEL MURDER

Number Of Witnesses Contradict Story By Wollner

MUSICIAN HELD IN GIRL'S DEATH

German-born Concert Violinist is Detained for Investigation of Murder

Asheville, July 20.—(AP)—Four more witnesses have been obtained by Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown to contradict Mark Wollner's alibi for the night Helen Clevenger was slain in her hotel room, he said late today, as he deferred his announced plan to question the internationally known violinist further about the brutal slaying.

Brown said the four, whose names he did not disclose, had given him statements saying they had seen Wollner at various places outside his rooming house between 9:30 P. M. last Wednesday and 8:30 the next morning.

Brown said also he planned to question Daniel H. Gaddy, hotel night watchman, closely this afternoon regarding events of late Wednesday and early Thursday.

The sheriff said flatly he would not release Wollner, Mildred Ward, daughter of his landlady, who substantiated his alibi, or Gaddy, during the day.

Asheville, July 20.—(AP)—Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown said today he had at his fingertips a number of witnesses who would contradict the alibi of Mark Wollner, 35-year-old concert violinist, detained in the Clevenger case.

The stocky German-born musician was taken into custody Saturday night for questioning in connection with the brutal assault murder of 18-year-old Helen Clevenger, pretty New York university co-ed.

The sheriff quoted Wollner, whose studio is situated opposite the fashionable resort hotel (Battery Park) where the vacationing girl was shot to death in her room, as saying he was at home the night of the murder.

There is no charge against Wollner. He is merely "detained for investigation." Likewise there is no charge against a 19-year-old girl, tubercular Mildred Ward, a former waitress who was detained at the jail under a physician's care after she corroborated Wollner's alibi.

Through a grilling last night, the sheriff said, she clung to her previous story but added:

"Mark phoned me a little before he was arrested and asked me 'where was I last night.'"

The sheriff named some of his witnesses and some he did not. He declined to give the name of a person who, he said, told him a few days ago that he heard Wollner say Wednesday:

"I've got a date tonight with a girl at the Battery Park I met two days ago."

Negro Faces Charges Dealing in Whiskey

Dave Langley, negro, is being held in jail on a charge of illegal possession of illicit whiskey for the purpose of sale and is scheduled to be given a hearing in County court tomorrow.

The negro was arrested by members of the sheriff's office Saturday night. He is charged with selling liquor at his home across the river, near House station.

Rural Electric Lines OK'd in Edgecombe

Washington, July 21.—(AP)—The rural electrification administration announced today execution of a contract to lend $32,000 to the Edgecombe-Martin county electric membership corporation of Tarboro, N. C. to build approximately 35 miles of electric distribution lines to serve 163 farm customers in Edgecombe and Martin counties.

Odd Blouse Hits Spot

Paris (AP)—Lack of symmetry in an early linen blouse made it interesting. One collar corner was embroidered with a red anchor, the other with a blue sailor cap. The belt fastened with a blue anchor through a red ring, and of the four buttons down the front two were red and two were blue. A nautical style and pretty well balanced at that.

BRUTAL SLAYING OF CO-ED INVESTIGATED

The brutal slaying of pretty, blonde Helen Clevenger, New York University student, in her hotel room at Asheville, N. C. remained a mystery after numerous witnesses had testified at a coroner's inquest, a general view of which is shown below. The jury returned a verdict of "death at the hands of person or persons unknown." At upper left Prof. W. L. Clevenger, of North Carolina State College, uncle of the slain co-ed, is shown telling the jury how he found her body. At right E. B. Pittman, a hotel guest, is shown testifying that he heard "agonizing screams." A negro bellhop was detained for questioning after he inquest. (Associated Press Photos.)

SEEK TO ALIGN MILL WORKERS

Industrial Organization Courts Rayon Employees

Washington, July 20.—(AP)—Plans for a drive to bring 55,000 rayon mill employees into the United Textile Workers union were watched today to see if they would draw support from the committee for industrial organization, already backing organization efforts in the steel, automobile and rubber industries.

Francis J. Gorman, vice president of the textile union, announced yesterday that the effort to enlist rayon workers would begin August 1.

Labor observers generally expected some effort to get the united support of the united mine workers and 11 other American federation of labor unions which have joined in a campaign to bring all the workers in each large industry into one big union.

Leaders of this group, comprising the industrial organization committee, headed by John L. Lewis, president of the mine workers, are scheduled to meet tomorrow to discuss a summons calling upon them to stand trial before the American Federation of Labor executive council August 3 on charges of violating federation laws and being in rebellion.

Week-End Accidents Take Toll Of At Least Eight

Slump In State Highway Deaths

Raleigh, July 20.—State Highway killings for June fell 11 under June 1935 and brought the total killings for the half year to 429, or 51 under the murderous record of 1935.

June of last year produced 83 deaths and 469 injuries. The injured of June 1935 ran to 627, very high for casualties, but not for the fatalities. There were 566 accidents in June 1935 against 469 for the same month a year ago. The motor vehicle division of the state revenue department thinks there was some progress in safety instruction.

Uncommonly good weather for traveling always carries hazards rather than safety. The best months were the snow-bound divisions of January, February and March of this year. The machines ran under wraps. There are now on the roads many thousands more vehicles than ever have been. The means of killing multiplies with the cars.

Six children and 18 pedestrians lost their lives in the month.

Able Men Named To Study Liquor Problem In State

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, July 20.—Governor Ehringhaus took a year, two months and 18 days to do it, but Saturday afternoon when he named his liquor commission to make a study of the situation in the state with a view to furnishing a basis for legislative action, observers agreed that his wait was justified.

First glance at the personnel will impress the glances that if the dries do no predominate in numbers they do in zeal, but a study of the group impresses these observers with the balance of the body. The commission is well represented in business and legal ability. The lawyers rate high, but do not overbalance in numbers.

Most prominent in the attorneys is Ex-Supreme Court Justice L. R. Varner who has been identified with the dry cause 30 years. Scarcely less eminent is Charles Hines of Greensboro, who once was city editor of one of the dailies of that city, then rose rapidly enough in the legal profession to get near the highest bench. Then Lawyer John M. Robinson of Charlotte, son of the famous Irish jurist, W. S. O. B. ## DROUGHT GRIP IS BROKEN IN ARID SECTIONS

Rains and Falling Temperatures Bring Needed Relief

TWO ARE KILLED BY RAIN STORM

North Winds Bringing Showers Sweep Over Eastern Nebraska and Western Iowa

Chicago, July 20.—(AP)—Rains and falling temperatures in the north of arid sections routed heat and shook the grip of drought on much of the nation's corn belt today.

A gale which struck northeastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri at 55 to 60 miles an hour killed two persons and injured at least eight last night, but brought rain to some parched sections.

Twisting north winds whipping up blinding clouds of dust swept across eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, damaging property and felling power lines. Badly needed showers followed.

A tree limb fell through the top of an automobile and caused the death of Forrest Powell, 29, at Independence, Mo. Mrs. McCoy H. Umstrop, 70, was electrocuted when she stepped on a power line blown down near Cameron, Mo. Four were injured when a revival meeting tent collapsed at Pattonsburg, Mo.

Townsend Backers Leave Convention With Endorsement

Weary Delegates Depart From National Coudave With Promise of Support by Lemke

Cleveland, July 20.—(AP)—Emotionally weary delegates to the Townsend national convention returned to their homes today with endorsement by presidential candidate William Lemke of "an old age revolving pension to give honest and fair compensation to old people."

The union party's picket leader did not directly endorse the Townsend plan in his address, which brought the five-day convence to a close.

"The details of such legislation must, of course, be worked out by your organization and congress," said the representative from North Dakota as he addressed the convention.

The question of how the Townsend family would vote in the November national election was officially undecided as 15,000 odd delegates returned to all sections of the United States to carry on their battle for Townsend endorsed senatorial and congressional candidates.

By resolution the convention decided not to endorse "at any time during the campaign directly or indirectly" any presidential or vice presidential candidate and that speeches delivered before the convence represented only views of its speakers.

Negro Being Held On Charges of Assault

Joe Roberts, Pitt negro, is being held in jail for trial in County court tomorrow on charges of assault. Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst said the Negro went on a rampage Saturday night at Venter's dining station in Chicod township, drew his knife on a white man and otherwise caused a disturbance.

The negro was subdued by a group of persons around the store and officers were called to take him in custody.

Another Pitt County Man Out For Post

The name of Jack Edwards today was added to the list of Pitt county citizens aspiring to fill the Congressional seat from the First district, if and when Congressman Lindsay Warren resigns the post.

Reports have been circulated that the present congressman would be offered the post of Comptroller General of the United States and that he would resign and accept the position.

Recent dispatches from Washington, however, place Harold Ickes in line for the post and a number of people feel that activities of Pitt county citizens from other counties in the district seeking to succeed Congressman Warren are somewhat premature. Nevertheless the list of aspirants continues to increase, this county already having offered M. K. Blount, J. Con Lanier, P. C. Harding, Arthur B. Corey and W. J. Bundy, in addition to today's entry.

Mr. Edwards, a local attorney, represented Pitt county in the General Assembly of 1933 and was former secretary to Congressman Hallet S. Ward when he represented the district.

He is an ex-convict man and has been active in politics since before he began the practice of law in the county in 1925. He is a native of the district, having come from the Albemarle section.

The former legislator indicated that he would probably become a candidate should a vacancy occur on account of the resignation of the present Congressman. He stated that he was interested foremost, however, in the selection of a Pitt county candidate for the post and would willingly forego any personal ambition to support this position.

"With approximately one-fourth of the voting strength of the district, our county has an excellent opportunity to achieve the honor provided all aspirants to the office in the county would be willing to cooperate to the extent of centering their support on one candidate. Such harmony is naturally difficult to attain among strong men with personally ambitious that formally exist in the lives of most of us."

News Behind The News

Washington

By IRA BENNETT
PRAISE: "Two things should be borne in mind in this drought situation," said a levelheaded relief executive to the writer. "The first is that too much attention is paid to federal relief and too little to the vastly greater self-relief of individuals and communities. All that the government is doing or can do is but a drop in the bucket compared with what the people are doing for themselves."

REPOPULATION:

Exaggerated predictions have been made, sometimes on high official "authority," that large sections of the Northwest would have to be abandoned. Droughts, dust storms and floods are cited as permanent barriers to further habitation of several hundred counties. The flight of several thousand farmers and their families is interpreted as first sign of wholesale exodus.

Against this opinion stands previous experience and the fact that individual and collective effort is moving toward execution of plans that will do much to ward off these strokes of nature. Increase of water supply by individual farmers is noted in many areas. Conservation

FIVE NEGROES ORDERED HELD

Four Men and One Woman Bound Over in Riot Case

Four Negro men and one woman were bound over to County court today following a preliminary hearing in Mayor's Court on charges growing out of a riot at a dance two weeks ago tonight.

John Thomas Joyner, alias Bo Peep, was bound over under $300 bond. Andrew Hopkins under $200; Solomon Forbes under $300. Charlie Sugg, Jr. under $300, and Hattie Little, under $200.

Joyner is charged with having struck Officer J. R. Mobley with a chair and Hopkins is alleged to have thrown pop bottles at officers. The others were charged with resist arrest, obstructing officers in line of duty or other counts.

Charlie Sugg, Jr. was shot through the abdomen by officers as he continued to advance on them after the negroes had been warned to remain where they were. The negro was admitted to the hospital and for a time lay in a critical condition. He has improved however, and was able to be in court this morning to stand trial with the others in the case.

Due to the fact that only one day of court was held last week a large number of cases were tried this morning, and even more were postponed.

Other cases tried this morning and their disposition follow:

James Dixon, Negro, assault with a knife, bound over under $300 bond; Mary Daniels, Shaw Negro, whiskey charges, bound over under $300 bond; R. I. Whitfield, assault with a deadly weapon, to wit, a pistol, bound over under $500 bond; E. L. Whitfield, carrying concealed weapon, bound over under $100 bond; Jim Allen, driving careless and reckless, bound over under $200 bond.

Ledrew Barrow and J. L. Speight, disorderly conduct, fined $10 and half the costs each; J. W. Carpenter, Negro, drunkenness, taxed with costs; Leslie Evans, drunkenness, fined $10 and costs; Herbert Rouse, drunkenness, fined $5 and costs; Otis Goodman, Negro, drunkenness, fined $10 or sentenced to roads for 30 days; and Bert Anderson, Negro, disorderly conduct and assault, fined $10 or sentenced to roads for 30 days.

City Playgrounds For All Children To Be Supervised

Greenville Centers Opened This Morning Under Sponsorship Of Several Organizations

The Greenville playgrounds opened this morning under the sponsorship of the Greenville City Schools, the City of Greenville, and the W. P. A. The city is furnishing the full-time director. The director is Mrs. E. T. Roberson. The Greenville City Schools are furnishing the buildings and playgrounds and other equipment. The WPA is furnishing the remaining personnel. For the present two centers will be operated, one at Third Street School and one using the City Park and High School site. The hours of the play ground are from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m. for constructive play and from 3:00 to 6:00 for free play.

The playgrounds are particularly in need of buckets and shovels for the use of small children in sand piles. If any merchants of the town wish to donate any of these or if any citizens of the town have anything of this kind in their home that they will give for this purpose, they are requested to call Mrs. E. T. Roberson, phone No. 814-W, and someone will call for them.

These playgrounds will not be temporary, but will be carried on even after school opens. Several contests will be staged in the near future: such as baseball for boys, horse shoe pitching, bird house building, doll carriage parades, and numbers of others.

Children may register at any time at either one of the two designated centers.

Funeral services for Henry T. Nelson, little four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Nelson of Washington street, were held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from Needy Branch church with Rev. Walter Noble of Winterville in charge. Burial followed in the church cemetery.

The little boy died at the local hospital last night at 8:30 o'clock. Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Betsy, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Nelson.

of waters by a multitude of small dams and reservoirs has been provided for by Congress. This work will be vastly expanded as it gets fully under way.

Whirligig's informants firmly believe that the regions now described as "doomed to depopulation" will be anything but depopulated.

WATER: The big flood control act paving the way to innumerable storage and retention dams made no appropriation, but the money will be forthcoming next winter.

In the meantime the flood sufferers of eastern states are clamoring for protection against another disaster. They can be helped at once under the regular Army appropriation act, which allocates $6,000,000 for flood control during the next year.

This is in addition to the great sums allowed for control of the Mississippi.

SELECTIVE: In some quarters it is believed that Congress turned thumbs down on "rural rehabilitation" when it passed the $1,425,000,000 relief appropriation in June.

Rural rehabilitation as relating to drought relief is very different from the fanciful ideas tried out two years ago. Wholesale transport of families to new farms, equipped with new buildings and the latest wrinkle in electrical conveniences, is now taboo.

Farmers in many cases are enabled to shift to better farms, but now the initiative comes from the individual capable of helping himself to a large extent.

AVIATION: The size and efficiency of the air defenses of the United States take a spurt forward as a result of recent legislation.

The President is authorized to call into active duty (with their consent) not to exceed 1350 air reserve officers for a term of five years.

Work on principal air bases is going forward. These bases are strategically located so that air forces may be quickly assembled in any part of the country.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton is imprisoned in Nancy Featherstone's house. Sergeant White takes a walk. Nancy thinks Hylton is about to arrest Dale Shipley, the man she loves. He has more when he sees his wife in the arms of another man, deep in Newton wood. Now White has told his wife what he saw; she has hinted that perhaps White knows something about the Burdett case he has not told.

Chapter 33 HYLTON

"FOR God's sake, Jimmy," the woman shouted, "act sensibly. It's got to be give and take between us now. If you forget about this I'll forget anything I know about Monday night and—"

The man stopped her with a snarl. "Do you think I'd let you interfere with my life now?" he said. He stood up and the scraping of his chair legs on the stone floor was the only sound in that small room until the woman broke the silence with a little sob of fear and called out.

"Put that knife down. If you come a step towards me I'll scream. I swear I will." James White's hand closed more tightly round the knife handle, "You won't scream for long," he assured her and he began to move.

He was stopped by an urgent knocking on the back door and a cheerful voice calling out, "Hallo, I say—anybody there?"

White stopped and was amazed to find himself trembling suddenly; then after a long reluctant look at the terrified woman, he very carefully placed the bread knife on the table—and crossing the room opened the door.

"Good evening, Inspector," he said woodenly. NANCY FEATHERSTONE did not leave her house all day long. No tradesmen called (she had put them all off by telephone); her groom would not be back until six, and Annie not until after eight; she was completely alone with her thoughts—and her prisoner in the old strong room upstairs.

Her thoughts were not particularly pleasant ones. She was a million miles from regretting her amazing action of the morning, but more sober reflection was making her realize that she could not keep the game up for many more hours.

At four o'clock she walked into the kitchen to set about making herself some tea, and she had hardly put the kettle on when she was startled by the ringing of the front door bell. A caller? It was possible, though she could not think of anyone, except the Rector, who would be at all likely to call.

She thought at first of simply lying down and of letting whoever it might be get tired of ringing and go away; but on second thoughts she decided it might be unwise to do that.

The bell sounded again, somewhat impatiently, and she left the kitchen and made her way to the front door turning over in her mind various methods of getting rid of the Rev. Mr. Steeble.

She opened the front door and stood in amazement. Dale Shipley, aggressively cheerful, stood on the doorstep.

"Hallo Nancy," he cried breathily. "I just looked round to say I can manage tonight after all, if it still suits you."

Complete silence followed, and even to Dale's egocentric eye it became evident that something was amiss.

"What's up?" he asked. "You look scared out of your wits." Nancy found her tongue. "In God's name what have you come back for?" she said in a whisper. "They're after you."

Shipley looked at her as though he thought she was mad. "Who's after me?" he asked at last.

"The police—the Inspector." "The Inspector chap, what on earth for?" "For Arthur Burdett. For murdering him."

Dale Shipley stared at her in comic astonishment, then he put back his head and laughed loud and long; he was feeling in high good humor and this totally unexpected jest was a rare titbit to end up the day with.

"Well he's making a damn fool of himself," he said, still laughing. "Because I didn't murder Arthur Burdett any more than you did."

"I—" she took a deep breath, "I thought you might have."

It could not have been so managed with the huge reserves now in existence. 6. It minimizes the effect of the drought on commodity prices. This was undoubtedly an important factor in the decision to act now. 7. It was perfectly timed. There were signs that credit inflation might have snowballed soon. When commercial banks start financing installment sales it indicates the stage is set for mushroom expansion. Therefore it was wise to take precautions. Life is more precious than pennies

Shocked by the death of so many people—bewildered by the scores stricken—America awoke two years ago to the realization that a new menace threatened the health of our Nation.

Here, in a land where modern science has wrought so many wonders—where citizens boasted of a higher standard of living comfort than any other nation—men, women and children were suffering intense agony and dying of amebic dysentery caused by faulty plumbing.

Doctors, nurses and hospital attendants worked ceaselessly to relieve the suffering, to save lives and to prevent the spread of this insidious malady. But their work means little today and those precious lives were lost in vain, if we neglect our solemn duty to remove forever the real cause of such a tragedy.

Health Authorities agree that the immediate cause of this epidemic and the contributing cause of much sickness can be traced to faulty, improperly installed plumbing. They are waging a vigorous campaign to warn the public of the danger that may result from trusting the important matter of plumbing installations and repairs to the uncertain hands of a "handyman."

Millions of dollars are spent by municipalities to insure fresh, pure, filtered water delivered in mains right in front of your home. What happens to this pure water inside your home depends upon your plumbing. Improperly installed fixtures, faulty piping and cross-connections can contaminate or pollute water which may cause sickness and even death. And life is more precious than the pennies you might save using untrained men.

Health Authorities will tell you that it is unwise to trust the plumbing in your home to incompetent hands. Guard against danger by insisting that your plumbing must be inspected, installed or repaired only by the men best qualified by training and experience to protect your health—the Master Plumbers. Their work is so important that states and cities have laws not only regulating the installation of plumbing, but setting a standard for the plumber himself.

In many states, Master Plumbers are examined as to their qualifications, licensed and registered. Most of the sanitary laws protecting public health and insuring the highest standard of professional skill have been passed through the insistence of the Master Plumbers themselves. More than ever, "the Plumber protects the health of the Nation."

GIRL CLINGS TO 'BRANDING' STORY

Angrily defiant in the face of policemen who tried to make her admit she had engaged in a hoax, Jean Bell (left) clung to her story that a vice ring "killer" branded her with letters and numerals and left her to die in a gas-filled apartment at Washington. Milton Reeves (right), a bar tender who escorted the girl to a night club, was questioned in hopes he might identify the "killer." (Associated Press Photos)

STATE SEEKING STATES STAND CHEAPER FUEL FOR CAMPAIGN

Gasoline Fight Continued With Naming of Commission

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, July 20.—North Carolina will continue its fight for better gasoline prices and a commission named Saturday afternoon to determine the wisdom of a state-owned gasoline terminal will lead the campaign.

Governor Ehringhaus Saturday appointed Representative Oscar Barker of Durham, chairman of the commission, created by a piece of legislation offered by Mr. Barker. The representatives tied up the general assembly with some tax measures designed to get at the companies said to be engaged in sharp practices toward North Carolina. Eventually, Mr. Barker had to accept a commission as a compromise. The entire personnel is made up of legislators.

The three House members are Mr. Barker, Representative D. L. Ward of Craven county, Thomas L. Royster of Granville, Senators E. V. Webb of Lenoir and Harris Newman of New Hanover. Both New Bern and Wilmington could operate terminals if they should be regarded as a necessity in this war against the oil companies.

Governor Ehringhaus held several conferences on this subject during the earlier days of his administration. Frankly, they never produced as he had hoped they would. There were all sorts of discriminations alleged and it was shown that North Carolina paid tariffs on oil and gas far in excess of other states no better situated. Out of this commission may come recommendations which will be important to the 1937 general assembly in which the commission will sit as members.

Mr. Barker was there today discussing the procedure with Governor Ehringhaus who leaves during the week for his 30 days vacation.

Reports Shows Total Relief Money Granted

Durham, N. C., July 20.—Information released by the Treasury Department, through the office of Robert M. Ganit, State Director for the National Emergency Council, showing the status as of June 30, 1936 of funds provided by the Emergency Relief Appropriation Act of 1935, reveals that North Carolina as a whole has been allotted $24,844,939.88 out of the total $1,698,150,583 appropriation made by Congress to the entire country.

On a basis of checks issued as of June 30, 1936, a total amount of $47,425,697.75 has been spent in North Carolina, leaving an unexpended balance of $17,419,242.13. However, obligations have been incurred by the major Federal organizations to the extent of $58,553,467.08, which actually leaves an unobligated balance of $6,291,537.90.

The distribution of these funds, on a basis of checks issued, to the major Federal organizations has been as follows: Agriculture, exclusive of Public Roads, $1,333,369.86; Roads and Grade Crossing Elimination, $2,908,157.46; Emergency Conservation Work, $13,994,241.64; Federal Emergency Relief Appropriation, $16,621,826.00; Public Works Administration, $1,708,380.47; Settlement Administration, $3,848,829.91; Works Progress Administration, $11,199,929.90; All others, $1,794,742.51.

It is noted from the statement that North Carolina ranks twenty-second in the total allotments to the various states, New York ranking first with a total allotment of $577,313,188.77, and Delaware ranking lowest with a total allotment of $7,431,054.11.

Out of the total $4,068,159,883 appropriated by Congress to the various states, there is an unobligated balance of $77,723,066.19.

Gary Cooper is believed to have the fastest automobile in town. It is capable of a speed of nearly 200 miles an hour.

FURS PROVIDE MORE REVENUE

Enlargement of Annual Crop Offers Income in State

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
Raleigh, July 20.—Enlargement of the annual crop of furs offers an opportunity for North Carolinians to add hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to their income. J. D. Chalk, State game and inland fisheries commissioner, said today.

Mr. Chalk pointed out that estimates place the value of pelts of animals taken annually in North Carolina as high as $2,000,000, and he expressed the opinion that this yield could easily be doubled with full public cooperation in conservation practices.

The commissioner said that the trapping industry contributes substantially to the income of around 1,000 or more North Carolina families and that returns from furs provide a welcome supplement to the cash of thousands of others.

According to latest estimates, covering a season several years ago the largest income from a single fur-bearing animal came from the lowly opossum, pelts from almost half a million of which were marked during a single season in North Carolina. Next highest yield came from the raccoon, mink, muskrat, fox, otter, and skunk.

One of the most valuable fur-bearers, the beaver, is virtually if not quite extinct in North Carolina. Mr. Chalk said. The supply of otter, a prize fur-bearer, has also been sadly reduced. The game commissioner hopes to work out means for reestablishing the beaver which was once plentiful in the state and of replenishing the supply of otter. A few beavers have been stocked on state game refuges but it is said to be too early to determine the success of these efforts toward restocking.

Resolutions recommending shorter open seasons for taking wild fur animals and a five-year closed season on some of the more valuable and rarer species were adopted at the North American Wildlife Conference in Washington, D. C., last February. The game commissioner believes North Carolina is one of the best adapted of all states for the production of fur-bearing animals and that through reasonable protection the crop of furs should increase annually.

Three Organizers Seeking To Set Up Farm Federations

Secretary Arnold of Bureau Joins Howard Gray and Otis Kercher in Organization Efforts
E. F. Arnold, secretary of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, left today for Charlotte and surrounding points for the purpose of holding organization meetings in a number of counties to establish county bureaus of the federation.

The state organization at the present has bureaus in 45 counties and in addition to Secretary Arnold, two organizers are at work in sections of the state setting up county bureaus. The two, loaned to the state organization by the national bureau, are Howard Gray, who is working in the Southeastern part of the state, and Otis Krycher, who is located in Piedmont counties.

J. E. Winslow, president of the state bureau, and W. H. Dill, Jr., addressed a meeting of farmers in Onslow county today. A drive will be put on in that section to secure members of the organization.

Before leaving here this morning Mr. Arnold said he, himself, expected to visit at least 16 counties and hoped to either set up bureaus or lay plans to do so later at each of the places.

Boasting a membership of more than 5,000 at the present time, efforts are being made to triple this number by the end of the year. Secretary Arnold said with crops bringing fair prices he expected to reach the goal.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood — mechanization of the film industry goes on apace. Latest relic of the old days to fall before the march of progress and motors is the scarred old property wagon.

Larger than a trunk, if not so large as a hall bedroom, the old wagon yielded from its dark recesses a jumble of materials dear and indispensable to the prop man's heart and work.

Things, just things, were heaped there in apparent disorder and confusion, so that only the prop man knew where to find anything. But he, the miracle man, could reach in and extract a needle or a haystack with the nonchalance of a Hindu fakir.

Modernism Wins
Now that is gone, or going. In its place is a huge motor vehicle, painted bright blue. It is as ordered as Mrs. Grundy's life, neat with labeled shelves, a place for everything and everything in its place. It has an ice box for food and drink, it has cabinets and drawers and files and hanging berths to sleep two men. It is the necessities of life and involve making on wheels. The crowning touch is a card index system by means of which anybody, just anybody, can find anything any time without half trying.

Not Sick—Just Dieting
Victor Moore, who inclines toward portliness, was talking about the new steak - chops - tomatoes scheme for reducing. It reminded him:

When he was out here first, in the silent pictures, he decided to reduce. By fasting and exercise he lost 22 pounds in one month between pictures. When he reported for work again, Cecil B. DeMille inquired if he had been sick, Moore explained.

"Well," said DeMille, "you used to be a comedian. Now you look like a juvenile. Better start eating." Victor Moore did — and has not dieted since.

Brendel Prefers Swede
Moore, after "Swing Time" is going into Lew Brown's musical, "Around the Town," something similar to the DeSylva - Brown-Henderson early talkie, "Sunny Side Up" which made money records in its day.

Janet Gaynor and Charlie Farrell were starred, and two of the comedians were El Brendel, the Philadelphian who always plays a Swede, and Frank Richardson.

Brendel is still in pictures, still playing Swedes, and can be found currently on the "God's Country and the Woman" set. The other day dressed in a lumberjack's outfit and tentatively tasting the crumbled chocolate that would serve for snuff in his role of Olsen, Brendel awaited his cue.

"I think I'll play Olsen as a Swede," he commented.

GREENIES TRIM ACES, 5-4; SIX HOMERS MADE

Brown, Local Fielder, Hits Pair of Circuit Clouts as Greenville Downs Aydenites; Williamston, Snow Hill and Kinston are Victorious Sunday

If you failed to see the game between a pair of nines yesterday afternoon, you won't believe me when I say that the Greenies defeated the Aces at Ayden by a 5-4 score.

And what's more—that fellow Upchurch who has been poison to the locals in nearly every game played with the Aces was retired after a few innings of tossing, and was succeeded by Brownlee, who pitched the rest of the route. Upchurch and Brownlee let the locals by with a total of 11 hits, while Billiet came through after allowing the Aces a total of ten hits.

The Greenies halves of the first and second innings gave them a run in each frame. In the third inning, Ayden evened the score 2-2. Brown and Parker broke the ice, however, by producing two circuit drives in the fourth and fifth innings to gain a lead which the Aces could not overcome. Brown's homer came in the fourth and Parker's in the fifth.

Odd, yet true—with four homers to their credit in this game, the Greenies were able to get only five runs.

Brown was king bee at bat for the locals yesterday with two circuit drives and a single. Parker and Ansley with a round-tripper each, and Laibam with two singles followed the leader.

You can't play Ayden at Ayden without seeing them get a couple of circuit drives. Yesterday, Upchurch and Mann were accredited as having gotten the base-cleaners. Nelson also got a couple of singles. Saturday, however, the Aces defeated the Greenies here by a 3-1 score. Holland did the tossing for the locals, while Byrd featured for the Aces.

This afternoon the Greenies are engaging the Williamston Martins at Greenville. The score: Greenville 110 110 010—5 11 1 Ayden 002 001—4 10 1 Eddie and Wagner; Upchurch, Brownlee and Tatum.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER
Washington, July 20.—A half year of uncomfortable squirming was dealt out for government department heads by the President's order that they set aside a "kitty" from their appropriations—not to be spent unless "good cause" can be shown next January.

The President agrees there is nothing a department head likes better than to arrive at the middle of the fiscal year with a savings—and then to design some way of spending it before the year runs out, so as to show congress didn't give him too much.

Take the army, for instance. Will it slow down the pace of recruiting up to its newly allowed strength, or purchase fewer planes than congress allowed in that record peacetime $72,000,000 appropriation? It may require some such trimming to arrive at the midway point January 1 with a "kitty" satisfactory to the President.

How To Economize?
Will the navy department slow down its building schedule or its recruiting, or perhaps eliminate a practice cruise by which its officers maintain efficiency?

Will the justice department trim the size to which G-man Hoover was authorized to expand his bureau of investigation?
Will the department of agriculture chip a little off here and there from its soil erosion payments, its experiment station activities, its game protective work, its food and drug inspection service?

One Hope Is Left
What Mr. Roosevelt discovered as governor of New York and more recently as President was that department heads allow themselves plenty of leeway in their request for funds, and can stand a bit of compulsory economy without greatly hampering the performance of their duties.

He left them a little hope, too. In announcing the plan he said any department head who could "show good cause" why the kitty should be spent during the final six months of the year might be permitted to spend it.

SPORT SLANTS

SPORT SLANTS
One of these days, Adolph Kiefer says, he's going to see just how fast he can swim on his back. So far, 17-year-old "Sonny Boy" has been so busy breaking world records that he hasn't had time to take stock of himself. But Stan Brauning, his coach at the Lake Shore Athletic club, Chicago, has, and he's eager for the backstroke sensation to have his first taste of Olympic competition in Berlin this summer.
Kiefer is a Weissmuller on his back, says Brauning, who predicts that Adolph will develop into the greatest swimmer of all time. Adolph established his first record a year and a half ago. Since then he hasn't lost a race and has defeated the best in competition. He holds just about every world and American backstroke mark. His record list reads like a time-table and he apparently hasn't exerted himself in establishing any of his marks.
"I just tell him to break a record and he does it," Brauning explains.
On a tour of Europe last fall with the Lake Shore championship medley relay team, Kiefer swam 22 times in 39 days and made 15 world marks. He got his first record two hours and 15 minutes after the ship docked at Hamburg.
Wad Three Him In
There are two other younger Kieifers coming up at Chicago's Roosevelt high but "Sonny Boy" is going out for the Olympics not to bring glory to the family name, but to honor the memory of his father—dead five years.
"I've been swimming ever since

Dad threw me into the lake when I was just a kid," Kiefer says. "He always wanted me to amount to something as a swimmer and now I'm going to."

He doesn't add that his father might have been satisfied with what he has done so far.
"This Kiefer lad is just a kid and maybe I expect too much of him," moans the coach. "If I can ever get him down to serious business there's no telling what he'll do. He breaks records now and doesn't know it."

From Tank to Typewriter
Pity Katherine Rawls, whose aquatic feats are the stuff of which headlines are made, for the great little swimmer's ambition is to write—not make—the 8-column streamers.
Eighteen-year-old Katherine, one of Uncle Sam's Olympic hopefuls, left high school in June and is thinking seriously about turning her back on competitive swimming next fall to embark on a college journalism course.
She wrote for the high school publication: "Real good articles," vouchsafes Mrs. Rawls, "make no mistake about that—Katherine has talent. And if writing is what she wants to do, why it is all right with us."

SAFETY-STEEL BODY

Built like a modern railroad coach, the big, beautiful Plymouth body is steel...Safety-Steel...reinforced with steel. It's bolted to the car frame both horizontally and vertically, virtually forming a single unit...safest and quietest motor-car body construction today...in any price field!

DOUBLE-ACTION HYDRAULIC BRAKES

Plymouth's double-action Hydraulic Brakes do not depend upon jerky, "wrapping" action of the wheels (as in left-hand picture)...but exert equal braking pressure through each brake shoe (in the right-hand picture).

OF "ALL THREE" ONLY PLYMOUTH HAS THEM BOTH!

See why you get More for your Money!

YOU'RE NATURALLY GOING to make safety a big point in your new car. So note this fact: Plymouth gives you both a Safety-Steel Body...and double-action Hydraulic Brakes. And it's the only one of "All Three" low-priced cars that does!

When you compare them on economy, remember Plymouth owners report 18 to 24 miles per gallon of gas! Notice the simple, quiet, 6-cylinder "L-head" engine...fuel-saving calibrated ignition...full-length water jackets and directional water circulation that save oil and lengthen engine life. Check the adjoining list.

On room...riding comfort...smartness inside and out...and ease of handling...you'll find Plymouth has just as big a lead over other low-priced cars.

Compare "All Three" before you buy. Get the most for your money in safety...economy...comfort...reliability. And drive this beautiful, big Plymouth! See your Chrysler, De Soto or Dodge dealer. PLYMOUTH DIVISION OF CHRYSLER CORP.

EASY TO BUY—$25 a month buys a Plymouth, Chrysler, De Soto and Dodge dealers have lowest terms.
