CLAIMS NEGRO WAS SLAIN BY BLACK LEGION

Victim Said to Have Been Shot "Just For Hell Of It"

STORY REVEALED BY PROSECUTOR

Slaying Said to Have Been Carried Out For Entertainment of Drinking Party

Detroit, July 21.—(AP)—Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea announced today that Dayton Dean, confessed black legion "trigger man" in the slaying May 12 of Charles A. Poole, had told of a new killing in which members of the terrorist organization shot a negro to death "just for the hell of it." May 25, 1935, near Pinckney, Mich.

The victim, Dean said, was Silas Coleman, 43, a world war veteran. He was lured to a desolate spot on the pretext he was to collect wages due him. Dean told McCrea, and shot down for the entertainment of a black legion drinking party.

McCrea said he would ask warrants today charging five men with kidnaping Coleman from his home here. Since Dean said the slaying occurred in Livingston county, McCrea said charges also would be ordered there.

The men accused of participating in the slaying are Harvey Davis, Jack Bannerman, and Ervin D. Lee, who are held for trial for the slaying; Charles Rouse, awaiting trial as an accessory after the fact in the Poole case, and James Roy Lawrence, who was released after questioning in the Poole slaying.

In a formal statement McCrea said Coleman was killed because one of Dean's superiors in the Black Legion said he wanted to "see what it feels like" to shoot a negro.

Negroes Sentenced In Case Resulting From Dance Riot

Two Men and Woman Given Terms of Eight Months Each; Judgment Continued for Injured Man

Two negro men were sentenced to the roads for terms of eight months each, judgment was continued in the case of another and a negro woman was ordered to work at the County home for eight months following their conviction in County court this morning of charges growing out of a riot at a dance two weeks ago.

Andrew Hopkins, tried along with the others, was acquitted. Charlie Gogg, Jr., who was shot through the abdomen by officers, was convicted, but judgment was continued in his case. John Thomas Joyner, alias Bo Boop, and Solomon Forbes were the two sentenced to the roads. Hattie Little was sent to the County home to work eight months.

The disturbance broke out at a tobacco warehouse two weeks ago when city officers attempted to arrest Hattie Little, whom they charged with starting a fight. The negro girl scratched and beat the officers as she was being taken from the dance hall floor. As they were removing her pop bottles and chairs began to fly at them. A riot call was sent in and other officers soon arrived on the scene. A fire alarm also was sounded and firemen answering the call aided in dispersing the crowd.

The five defendants were tried in Mayor's court yesterday and bound over to County court. The case consumed the entire morning session today.

Judge Armstrong succeeds the late John M. Oglesby of Concord. He was recommended for the place by the Fifteenth Judicial district Democratic executive committee. The governor's appointee serves until the November election and is the nominee chosen by the executive committee to seek the place in the voting. Wade Brunk, chairman of the committee, said.

No one besides Bob Burns has been able to play his home-made bass horn, the bazooka, though many musicians have tried.

Chinese Conserve Grand Canal

Tientsin, China, (AP)—A Grand Canal conservancy commission has been organized here to maintain the northern section of the ancient waterway. Built by Chinese emperors to facilitate the transportation of tribute rice to the Peking court, the Grand Canal still handles much freight, irrigates the North China plain and carries off flood waters.

Radio System For Patrol Regarded Almost Certain

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, July 21.—The eventual installation of a state-wide radio communications system for the State Highway Patrol, with five short wave broadcasting stations scattered over the state, is now regarded as assured since the plan has been approved by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

The plans must still be approved by the Advisory Budget Commission, which meets here August 3rd. But since the radio system already has the approval of Governor Ehringhaus and since there is plenty of money for the installation of the system, it is regarded as almost certain that the budget commission will authorize the expenditure of the $185,000 needed to build the five broadcasting stations, equip them and the radio patrol cars and motorcycles. It is estimated that it will cost about $35,000 a year to maintain and operate the radio patrol control system, including the cost of radio operators and other needed personnel. If the construction of the radio control system is authorized early in August, the stations should be built and all the equipment installed so that the entire system can be in operation within about 90 days. Capt. Charles D. Farmer of the Highway Patrol said today. The stations will remain in operation on a 24 hour a day basis and will be available to all sheriffs offices and police departments, also to private citizens day or night, for the broadcasting of emergency bulletins, Capt. Farmer said.

"In cases of accidents, robberies, disasters of any kind, severe storms, and so forth, the broadcasting stations will be most valuable in bringing help and in warning the people in other sections of the state," Captain Farmer said. "The broadcasting stations will be located in (Continued on page three)

Rebels In Control Spanish Provinces

Spanish Leftist Government Moves To Quell Revolting Rightists in Provinces; Casualties Are Estimated At 25,000

Copyright by The Associated Press. Vera, Spain, July 21.—(AP)—Two provinces in Northern Spain, including the city of San Sebastian, were reported tonight to have fallen into the hands of rebels.

(Ambassador Claude G. Bowers of the United States, and other American diplomats have been reported in summer residences at San Sebastian.) The rightist rebels swept into San Sebastian after many had been killed and wounded in bitter fighting outside the city.

Martial law was proclaimed by the victorious insurgents. The civil governors of the two provinces fled to France.

The popular front militia fought on an old fort on a mountain overlooking the city.

It was believed they planned to shell San Sebastian.

Washington, July 21.—(AP)—A British warship was standing by today at Nalaga, Spain, prepared to safeguard British and American citizens in that southeastern Spanish seaport.

Word of this precaution against harm in Spain's fierce civil war was received by the state department from Herbert O. Williams, the American consul at Gibraltar. Thus far the state department has received no report from any American lives were in jeopardy in the revolution.

Madrid, July 21.—(AP)—Spain rushed five columns of assault guards militiamen and army officers into the provinces today to smash four hot beds of Rightist army revolts.

The loyal forces left for Valladolid, Burgos, Zamora and Toledo to "attack the rebels," the official radio announced.

Madrid, swarming with militiamen, was peaceful as the Spanish government troops in a vast national army to stamp out revolutionists. Rightist and rebels fought stubbornly to oust the Leftist government.

(A British dispatch from Madrid said the government had announced reports of fighting from loyal civilian militiamen and soldiers and engineer near the center of Madrid. The soldiers and engineers were put to flight quickly, the announcement said.)

As the fighting entered the fifth day strike censored communication lines made impossible any definite (Continued on page four)

FARM LEADERS HOLD MEETING

Instructions Given Supervisors of Conservation Program

More than 150 Pitt county farm leaders held an all-day session in the court house yesterday at which time R. R. Bennett, farm agent, conducted a school of instruction for compliance supervisors of the Soil Conservation program.

Agent Bennett was aided in the work by B. C. Norris, district compliance supervisor, with headquarters in Wallace. The duties of the supervisors, as outlined by the instructors, will be to determine to what extent each farmer is to benefit from the Conservation program this year.

Two more meetings will be held to give further instructions, the first to be some time next week and the second the following week.

As soon as forms and other data are received from Washington the supervisors will begin measuring acres of crop land on each farm to determine to what extent each farmer will benefit from the Federal farm program.

A farmer may divert up to 35 per cent of his cotton acreage, 30 per cent of his tobacco land and 20 per cent of tobacco acreage and receive benefit payments for planting soil conserving crops.

Under regulations of the program a farmer will receive five cents a pound for cotton and tobacco he would have grown on land diverted to soil conserving crops. The payments will be based on the average yield per acre on the farm. He will be paid at the rate of one and one-half cents a pound for diverted peanut land.

A participant in the program may utilize the diverted land for any purpose he desires, provided he plants at least 20 per cent of his base acreage to soil conserving crops.

TWO KILLED IN SEVERE STORM

Junius M. Barnes of Red Banks and Negro Helper Victims

A severe electrical storm, which struck sections of Pitt county yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock, claimed the lives of Junius M. Barnes, 49-year-old farmer of the Red Banks community, and a Negro helper, Huey Boyd, 25, as the two were riding on a tobacco truck.

Lloyd Barnes, son of the farmer, was only about 10 feet from his father and the helper when they were killed by lightning. He had just gotten off the truck and was walking a short distance from the vehicle, but was not injured.

Dr. S. M. Crisp was immediately summoned and rendered artificial respiration, but was unable to revive either Mr. Barnes or the Negro.

Funeral services for Mr. Barnes were held at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Red Banks Primitive Baptist church, with the pastor, Elder Luther Joyner, in charge. He was assisted by Elder G. B. Roberts, of Greenville. Burial followed in the Red Banks cemetery.

Mr. Barnes was reared in Pamlico county, moving to Pitt county 27 years ago. For the past thirteen years he has made his home in the Red Banks community. He is an active member of the Primitive Baptist church there.

The deceased is survived by his wife, the former Miss Vicky Williams of this county; two sons, Charlie L. and Lloyd C. Barnes of the home place; and one brother, Johnnie Barnes of Beaufort county.

Investigator Drops Hint Of Break In Hotel Death

Musician Being Held In Jail Without Benefit of Bond

Asheville, July 21.—(AP)—Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown today confirmed the reported detention of two more Battery Park hotel employees for questioning in connection with the Cleveenger murder case, but declined to reveal what, if anything, had been learned from them.

The two, Edward Fleming, bell-boy, and L. D. Roddy, elevator operator, both negroes, were taken into custody last night shortly after the Sheriff finished a session at which he questioned Daniel Gaddy, hotel watchman.

P. M. Branch, manager of the hotel in which Helen Cleveenger was found shot to death Thursday morning, said he did not know whether the two negroes were on duty at the time of the brutal crime.

Asheville, July 21.—(AP)—A hint that he may "crack" the baffling Cleveenger murder case soon came from the chief investigator today, meanwhile Mark Wolner, 35, internationally known concert violinist, was detained for a third day without benefit of bail or legal aid.

Sheriff Lawrence E. Brown, after a five-day investigation of the slaying of 18-year-old Helen Cleveenger, New York university student, announced enigmatically:

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, July 21.—North Carolina will probably go completely "dry" for several days or weeks during the 1937 general assembly as a result of the fight over liquor legislation which will probably be the biggest single issue in the forthcoming legislative session, most observers here believe.

But eventually some sort of a state-wide liquor law providing for some kind of state-wide control, even though the profits from the stores may be left in the counties, is expected to be enacted, although not until after a long and bitter fight between those favoring state control, those wanting county control and the "drys" who will want to keep the present state-wide bootlegging system which they call prohibition.

It is already being anticipated that the State Liquor Commission, just appointed by Governor J. C. B.

RECENT RAINS FAIL TO EASE PARCHED BELT

Rain Either Too Late or Insufficient In Sections

RELIEF PROGRAM PUT INTO EFFECT

Works Progress And Resettlement Administrations Move to Aid Farmers

Chicago, July 21.—(AP)—Reports that recent rains had failed to break the drought in a wide area of the corn and cattle belt centered attention of federal and state officials today on a long-range program for relieving the stricken dwellers.

Observers in such typical drought-ravaged states as Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Montana, Illinois and the Dakotas said that in much of their territories rainfall either came too late or was insufficient to counteract the effect of prolonged aridity.

At Washington the works progress administration announced authorization of 60,000 drought relief jobs in North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Wyoming, Minnesota and Colorado and 20,000 in the south.

WPA officials assured 350 water conservation projects in the western states already had put 24,100 men to work providing almost the sole source of employment for needy farmers. All approved projects, the announcement said, would be completed, requiring an average of six months.

The resettlement administration distributed $2,300,000 in direct subsidies grants to farmers, and explained its general plan called for the removal of hard hit families to fertile land as close as possible to their former home.

MURDER TONIGHT

Chapter 34 BITTER TRUTH

WHEN Hylton went into the room he saw Dale Shipley sunk comfortably in the best armchair smoking one of Nancy's cigarettes; the young man seemed surprised.

"It's not a daughter, Frances. Dale kept his glance away from Nancy now and the inspector noticed that he didn't look at her again for the rest of his story. The other day Frances—uh—tried to blackmail me."

"I never even saw old Burdett on Monday the eighteenth."

"I ran into a tramp-sort of fellow at the bottom of the lane, he came out of one of the Enderton fields actually."

"You were nowhere near Enderton Court that night, were you?"

"I didn't go to the Court on Monday or for a week before."

"You took over three quarters of an hour to walk a mile."

"You didn't go to see the girl?"

"You might also have been at the bottom of the side lane leading up to Enderton Court where you lost this."

"I had to go and see her and find out the worst, so I threw a few things in a suitcase and caught the evening train to Town. It's nonsense to say I was running away from anything; why, I wrote a note that evening to Miss Featherstone here telling her about it."

"You were at Enderton Court on January the twelfth, Shipley, and on that day you quarrelled with your uncle over something, to such an extent that he cut you out of his will."

"I went down to the address she wrote from, in this ghastly Battersea place and there she was with her sister. I will say her sister acted like a brick; between us we settled the matter without trouble."

"Dale—"

"I haven't the slightest idea whether you're lying or not," he said at length. "I can check up on your story, of course, to a certain extent—what's the address in Battersea you went to?"

"There's nothing to tell really—"

"I mean it's nothing to do with the murder," Dale amended.

"I'll be judge of that," the inspector assured him, "what's the yarn?"

"I mean it's nothing to do with the murder," Dale amended.

asking—thereby taking all the wind out of one of their major complaints against the New Deal. But alas, it appears that their ulterior hope is not to be realized.

Meanwhile George Peek—Republican ambassador-at-large to agriculture—is doing what he can to appease farm advocates of managed money. His statement that the gold standard is outmoded and will never be restored internationally was made immediately after he had had an interview with Landon.

While they were never effective enough to impair Italy's military efficiency, they did serve to spotlight the nation's weakness in raw materials at a time when it could do most harm. The result was to spur the invention of many substitutes which will come in very handy in the event of a serious war-for instance, lulls made of milk fibre and motor fuel made of coal dust.

CLANCHER: New York scouts returned from the drought area report that stricken farmers are completely confident that the federal government will take care of them and are prepared in advance to be grateful. The scouts further prophesy that, unless the New Deal falls down badly on the relief job, the drought will clinch at least half a dozen doubtful states for Roosevelt.

TEAMWORK: There's an ironic twist to the Federal Reserve Board's action in lifting reserve requirements to cut down excess reserves. Winthrop Aldrich of the Chase National and other conservative bankers have been urging such a move for months in order to forestall inflation. In the back of their minds the idea undoubtedly lurked that a curtailed credit base would approve bank earnings. With a smaller volume of credit available to meet rising demand it would be reasonable to expect money rates to stiffen.

Now the Reserve Board has done exactly what the bankers have been Musical Humors At College. In spite of the rain, Charles Ross Taggart, musical humorist entertained a college audience last night with a program of "acrobatic kidding," humorous impersonations, and ventriloquism.

Mr. Taggart began his evening's entertainment by a series of violin numbers played with the instrument in various unusual positions—over his head, behind his back, with violin and bow exchanged, even with the bow in his mouth, managing in spite of the position to draw full and true tones from the violin.

One of the most popular numbers was the imitation of an organ playing the Doroxy, for which he separated the stick and the hair of the bow, drawing the stick under the instrument and the hair over the strings in such a way as to play on all four strings at once.

Another number that appealed to the audience was an imitation of bird calls—the bob white, the wood pecker, and others.

Also amusing were the dialogues and "duel" between the dialist and an imaginary "John" in the piano, in which John persisted in singing his "tra la la" at the wrong time; and the impersonation of the country fiddler who spent the night at a New York hotel, and not only signed his name in what he thought was an autograph album at the hotel desk, but wrote a two-line verse to go along with his signature.

"Speaking pieces" in the old time country school was represented by a faithful reproduction on the violin of a little boy in "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star," and a little girl in "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Mr. Taggart advertised as the "man for Vermont," was for a number of years on Redpath and Chateaugay circuits, and has played his versatile "fiddle" in nearly every state and on more than four thousand occasions.

BEST YEAR EVER CAMP CHARLES

Camp closes with 311 Campers having enjoyed their stay there; Scout Executive Sigwald loud in praise of Camp Staff; Appreciation is expressed Greenville Scouters.

Nearly a half million boys will enjoy camping experiences in Boy Scout Camps this summer, according to the National Camping Service of the Boy Scouts of America. For most Scouts it will be training for the first National Jamboree to be held in Washington, D. C., late in June and early in July of 1937. Sunday night Camp Charles closed with 311 campers having enjoyed one or more weeks.

Camping has been one of the principal year-round activities of the Boy Scouts of America since its inception in 1910. There are some 545 permanent summer camps maintained by local Boy Scout Councils. These camps occupy a total area of more than 54,000 acres that Scouts may truly call their own—an area larger than Rocky Mountain National Park. There are 68 acres in the East Carolina camp—Camp Charles.

In addition there are hundreds of temporary camp sites offered through the generosity of private owners or on permits from state, county and national park officials.

Swimming is conducted under the supervision of experts at Scout camps throughout the nation. Non-swimmers are taught in shallow water and usually they have become proficient in swimming before they leave camp. Last summer 16,290 Scouts were taught to swim in Council camps alone, bringing the total in the past twelve years to 216,038 taught in Council Summer Camps. Bob Littrel, watercraft director at Camp Charles reports nearly 100 boys taught to swim at Camp Charles this year.

Scout camp leaders are men selected from colleges and universities who have had previous Scout experience and have shown their ability to lead boys. The Camp Charles staff this year was, according to Camp Director Sigwald, "the best ever."

Since Health and Safety are two subjects uppermost in the minds of those giving leadership to Scout camps, periodic surveys are made of the camps, their sanitary facilities, their kitchens and their programs. Daily inspections are made not only of the Scouts personal health but of diets, food preparations, cleanliness and sanitation.

Summer camps afford abundant opportunities for Scouts to become more proficient in Scoutcraft and Progress to higher Scout ranks. Each Saturday morning at sun-up Camp Charles Scouts were given a bird hike.

All Boy Scout Camps arrange for a boy's fulfillment of his religious duties. The Twelfth point of the Scout Law says, "A Scout is Reverent" and goes on to explain that he is "Reverent to God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion." A different Wilson minister took charge each Sunday morning of this service at Camp Charles.

Boy Scouts from Greenville, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Kinston, Washington, Tarboro, Farmville, Stokes, Robersonville, Bath, Deep Run, Durham, Spring Hope, Scotland, Neck, Fountain, Hookerton, Middlesex, Ayden, Wanchese, Seaboard, Enfield, and a number of towns outside of the East Carolina territory, other than Durham, enjoyed the Camp Charles program.

Leo Johnson, of Wilson, Camp Chairman of the East Carolina Council, said this morning: "We have had our best year and now have a standard to uphold. Each year our camp becomes more popular. Perhaps next year we'll stay open for a longer number of weeks. For the remainder of the summer Scoutmasters will use the camp facilities for Troop camping."

LEGISLATIVE FIGHT LOOMS OVER CONTROL OF LIQUOR

(Continued from page one) which want the county control system continued, are also expected to oppose the state-wide control bill and if necessary to join forces with the "drys" in order to defeat it. It is already conceded that the county control forces and the dries by combining their strength can defeat the state control group in the preliminary skirmishes and maneuverings.

This will be only the beginning of the real fight, however, since if the county control forces attempt to get through other laws giving other counties the right to have liquor stores, the state control forces are expected to line up with the "drys" and prevent any such extension. The next step is expected to be a coalition between the state control and "dry" forces to repeal completely the Pasquotank and New Hanover county laws, under which the 17 counties now have liquor stores, and thus make the entire state "dry" again, at least theoretically. The purpose of this move will be to put the county control advocates in a position in which they will be compelled to talk turkey with the state control group and to decide whether they will have no liquor stores at all or reach a compromise on liquor stores under state rather than county control.

If the state control forces are able to get the upper hand, with the assistance of the "drys," they will be in a position to force the county control forces to consider a compromise, it is generally agreed. When a compromise bill has finally been agreed upon as acceptable to the former county control forces, it is conceded that the two "wet" groups will have more than enough votes to override the "drys."

The prevailing opinion in most circles here is that the general assembly will eventually enact a state-wide, uniform liquor control law, under which the counties will decide by local option if they want liquor stores, but with the liquor stores under the general supervision of a single state board, even though the counties may be given the right to select the personnel for the local stores and keep part or all of the profits.

It is believed that most of the "liberal dries" are already inclined to some form of state control rather than county control because they believe there is less likelihood of the liquor stores becoming involved in politics if they are under state control. Many of the "drys" now frankly admit they regard county control of liquor stores as a failure and as the worse of two evils and that they preferred county stores to state stores in 1935 because they believed they would become so bad that the laws would be repealed in the 1937 session.

WILL PARTICIPATE IN FOOD SAFETY CHECK-UP

Smith Electric company, dealers here for the products of Frigidaire, have received notification from Frank R. Pierce, manager of the household division of Frigidaire Corporation, that members of this organization are to have an active part in the national food safety check-up sponsored by Frigidaire in July and August.

More than 1,500,000 homes will receive from Frigidaire cold gauges that will be supplied free of charge to determine whether or not the refrigeration facilities in the homes surveyed are up to standard.

"A preliminary check-up in several communities shows that a vast number of housewives do not realize the dangers to health and life of foods which have become tainted or spoiled because of storage under temperatures above the 50 degree danger line," Mr. Smith said.

"Frigidaire's national organization of more than 20,000 dealers and salesmen has been recruited to carry on this national check-up out of which much interesting data is expected to come.

"The local participation in the national check-up will be launched by our organization on July 22nd. In addition, our showroom will have interesting information on display relative to the proper handling of perishable foodstuffs and all residents of Pitt County interested are invited to come in and see for themselves what a vital part proper refrigeration plays in home operation. All adult visitors who desire them will be given cold gauges for installation in their present refrigerators and members of our organization will follow through to determine the findings and whether or not proper protection is being given.

LUCAS VICTIM FAST POLITICS

Young Democrats Convention Dominated by Bailey Faction

Raleigh, July 21.—By means of smooth trading and "fast" politics, the Phoenix-Gulley-Bailey faction was able to control the state convention of Young Democratic clubs in Greensboro this past week-end and bring about the defeat of Wade H. Lucas of Raleigh for National Committeeman, even though this faction had to sacrifice its candidate for president, according to the "inside dope" brought back from Greensboro by many of those who attended the convention.

It is generally agreed that by deserting George L. Hundley of Thomasville, regarded as the favorite candidate of the Phoenix-Gulley-Bailey faction for state president, and trading votes for J. Ed Butler of Morganton for votes against Lucas, the Phoenix-Gulley-Bailey faction was responsible for the election of Butler as president and for the defeat of Lucas by J. T. Gresham, Jr., of Warsaw, for the post of national committeeman.

The first and hardest blow at Lucas taken during the convention was when the Wake county delegation, admittedly controlled by Mrs. Bessie Phoenix, former state president, and Herbert Gulley, chief political lieutenant of Senator Josiah W. Bailey in Raleigh and Wake county, adopted the unit rule and decided to vote against Lucas. Lucas, a Raleigh newspaper man, is regarded as never having been in sympathy with the Phoenix-Gulley-Bailey domination of both the Wake County Young Democratic Club and the state organization. It is also known that Lucas has at times written articles not especially complimentary to President Phoenix, Mr. Gulley and Senator Bailey.

It is reported here that the anti-Lucas workers cut him down by circulating the report that he voted for Herbert Hoover in 1928. He was also unpopular with the Wake county group because he had opposed Dr. Ralph W. McDonald for governor.

More than 1,500,000 homes will receive from Frigidaire cold gauges that will be supplied free of charge to determine whether or not the refrigeration facilities in the homes surveyed are up to standard.

GREENIES DROP LEAGUE LEAD TO MARTINS

Williamston Wins by Score of 3-1 From Locals; Kinston and Goldsboro Take Victories Yesterday

Greenville was knocked off the top rung of the Coastal Plain Loop standings by a 3-1 loss to the Williamston Martins here yesterday in a play-off game. Each team made three hits.

The triumph gave the Martins a one-game advantage over the locals. What proved to be the winning run in today's game resulted from Gaylord's steal of home for the Martins' second run in the fifth inning. House walked to start this inning. He advanced on an error and scored on Gaylord's double, which was erred by Centerfielder May. The error caused Gaylord to reach third. A bit later, he stole home. The double by Gaylord was the first hit of the game.

Greenville tallied in the seventh when Wagner doubled and Hitchcock tripled.

Jack Card, Utah youngster, made his debut for the Greenies and pitched eight innings. He was pulled for a pinch-hitter. He gave up two hits, seven walks, and two runs. He struck out four.

Mattson pitched the ninth and was needed for one run and one hit. Ferrell walked, advanced on Birch Douglas's sacrifice, and scored on Bryan's double.

Dick Cherry, Williamston south-paw, limited Greenville to one hit outside the seventh. He fanned six and walked only one. Ty Wagner accounted for two of the three hits—both doubles—that the Greenies got off Cherry's chunking. Hitchcock's triple was the other hit the locals got.

The only Martin hit other than those figuring in the scoring was a single by Corbitt.

It was reported here this morning that Shortstop Billy Hitchcock left for his home in Alabama. This leaves the locals almost crippled. He Farley, manager and third-sacker, has been laid-up with a "charleyhorse," which made the infield short. Parker has been holding down third for the past few days. Jack Sanford, first-sacker, is suffering from a bruised finger. The Greenies are indeed crippled. But continue to win games and play good ball despite these handicaps.

It is also reported that Ace Parker, Duke football player and athlete, will have to leave the local club before the season is out to start football practice.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Williamston ... 000 020 001-3 3 0 Greenville ... 000 000 100-1 3 2 Cherry and Walters; Card, Mattson and Wagner.

Eagles Win On Flag Day Kinston, July 21.—Kinston raised its 1936 Coastal Plain League pennant today and then stepped out and defeated the Tarboro Bunnies, 8-9 in a game terminated by rain after 6 1-3 innings.

Lloyd Joyce, hefty Eagle hurler found a cool day to his liking and pitched no-hit ball until a single bounced through the pitcher's box in the visitors' sixth.

In the pre-game ceremonies, the pennant was raised to a flagpole near third base, close to the seat invariably occupied by the late Eliza B. Lewis. The pennant was given in honor of Mr. Lewis by his children.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Tarboro ... 000 000-0 1 0 Kinston ... 004 01x-8 9 1 Alexander, Shupe and Strayhorn; Joyce and Wagner.

Goldsboro Wins, 10-4 New Bern, July 21.—Goldsboro combined 10 hits with five New Bern errors to gain a 10-4 victory over the locals today.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Goldsboro ... 004 000 051-10 10 0 New Bern ... 100 000 030-4 5 5 Webb and Williams, Ellis; Kelly and Branch.

REBELS IN CONTROL SPANISH PROVINCES (Continued From Page One) ... (The highest estimate of casualties—25,000 persons killed—was made by police officials at Hendaye, France, from refugees' reports.)

The government announced that thousands of workers armed from military arsenals were marching on Seville, held by tight-knit rebels, in an attempt to capture the city.

Misleading aviation loyal to the Lefist government were bombing the barracks at Seville.

Despite these government announcements of victories, forces outside the country, notably at Gibraltar and Rabat, French Morocco, said rebel forces under the command of General Francisco Franco were pushing northward from the southern coast of Spain. They were said to be in possession not only of Seville, but of various other cities near Gibraltar.

The sheriff, however, would not elaborate or amplify his terse statement beyond the hint he had an "ace in the hole."

"I can't," he said, announce anything further about it now.

The blonde musician, whose violin studio is across the street from the fashionable hotel where the girl was killed is being "detained" for "investigation."

A $10,000 reward was offered for the capture of the killer—$500 each by the city, county, state, Asheville hotel men's association and the North Carolina Man's association.

The sheriff said he would probably question Wollner extensively some time today.

"SATISFIES ME BETTER THAN ANY OF THE 26 CARS I HAVE OWNED"
SAYS J. W. OF KANSAS CITY and remember, he is describing General Motors' lowest-priced eight—the smoothest eight in the world!
The more you know about cars, the more you will appreciate the value built into the Pontiac Eight. Money cannot buy a smoother, smarter eight; and in addition, it is as economical as the thriftest sixes. Get everything motoring provides, at the lowest possible cost—buy a Pontiac Eight.
