NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE HEARS F. D. R. LETTER

Executive Declares Reactionary Purposes Short-Lived

NOTE IS READ BY HEAD OF LEAGUE

President Recalls Wage Earners Not Among Those Who Cheered Invalidat'n

Washington, Aug. 10. (AP)—President Roosevelt told labor's non-partisan league today he was confident future history would show, as it had in the past, that a return to reactionary practices is ever short-lived.

In a letter which George L. Berry, president of the league, read at the league's first national convention, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"During the past three years we have endeavored to correct through legislation certain of the evils in our economic system. We have sought to put a stop to certain economic practices which did not promote the general welfare.

"Some of the laws which were enacted were declared invalid. "It is a notable fact that it was not the wage earners who cheered when those laws were declared invalid.

"I greet you in the faith that future history will show as past history has so repeatedly and so effectively shown. That a return to reactionary practices is ever short-lived.

"Having tested the benefits of liberation men and women do not for long forego those benefits. I have implicit faith that we shall find our way to progress through law. Your support is a contribution toward continued faith in that outcome."

City Makes Plans Stage Dollar Day Here On Thursday

Greenville Merchants Expect Biggest Day in Years as They Make Ready For Huge Event

With the beginning of the week local merchants started preparing for the semi-annual dollar day to be observed here Thursday of this week.

Greenville merchants expect to stage one of the biggest days in the history of their businesses. It was indicated from all sides today. Clerks are busy placing new merchandise, bought especially for the event, on display.

Each of the participating merchants say that thrifty shoppers will be able to get more for their money at this week's event than ever before.

Always a big day in Greenville Thursday's Dollar Day is expected to draw more crowds to the city than any similar event in years.

While only Thursday will be observed by the merchants participating in the affair, The Daily Reflector will observe the semi-annual event Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Firms in the city taking part in Dollar Day are: Pitt Drug Co., Brody's Firestone Auto Supply and Service station, J. A. Watson, Curtis Perkins Dept. Store, Bisette's drug store, Greenville News Leader, Gloria Shoppe, C. Heber Forbes, Young Mercantile Co., W. T. Grant Co., Blount-Harvey Co., White's Stores, Inc., Home Furniture Store, Batchelor clothing store, J. C. Peppery Co., Bloom's, Ooburn's shoe store, Daily Reflector, Charles Stores Co., Quinn-Miller and Co., VandDyke Furniture store, Meeks Hardware Co., and McLellan Stores Co.

MISSING CIGARETTE CASE ONCE WAS GRAND DUKE'S

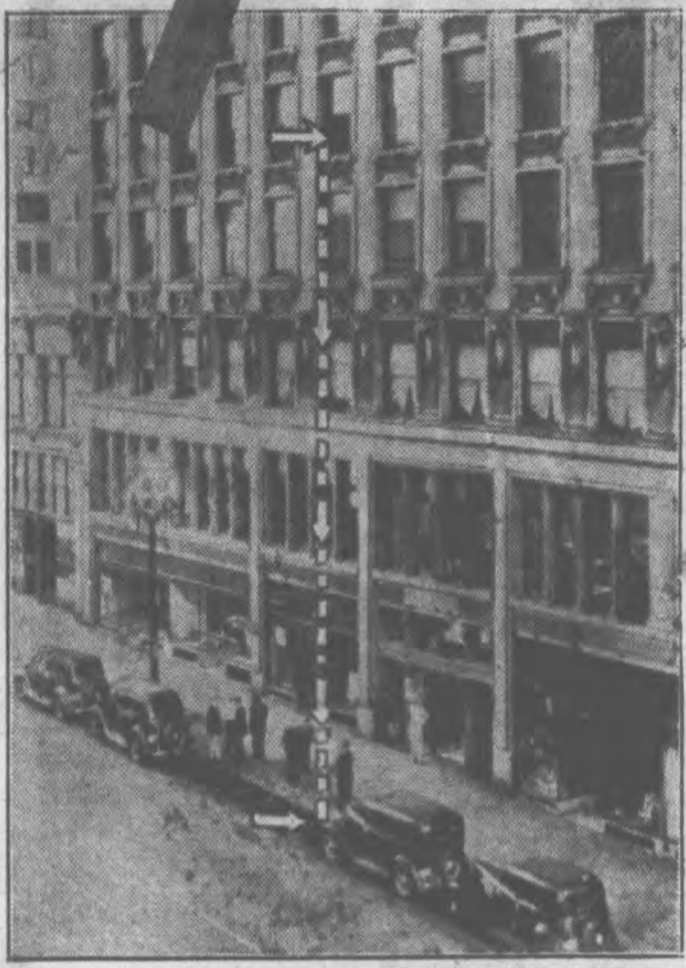

Warsaw, Poland (AP)—Burglars who broke into the villa of Bernard Monczelki here stole a jeweled cigarette case once owned by Grand Duke Michael, brother of the murdered Czar Nicholas of Russia.

The thieves scorned other jewelry and valuable in the villa hit the case might have been taken by a collector. The grand duke is reputed to have smoked his last cigarette from it before he was murdered.

Highroad Calls German Women Berlin (AP)—German women are increasingly affected by the "wanderlust," the women's bureau of the German labor front announced.

Among the more than five millions of Germans who so far participated in the labor front's "strength-through-joy" vacation trips, 43.95 per cent were women.

LEAF GROWERS SEEM HOPEFUL

Local Farmers Encouraged Over Weed Price in Georgia

Tobacco growers in Pitt and other counties in the Eastern Carolina belt, encouraged over prices paid on the Georgia market during the first week of operation, are hoping for good prices this fall.

Heavy receipts and good prices were the reports from the 15 market cities in Georgia last week. The official average price ranged from $25 up.

A private report to The Reflector from Hahira stated that market sold 1,063,210 pounds last week for $286,007.04, for an average price of $26.77 per hundred.

Despite the tremendous volume of receipts, demand was weak from the staple sales began last Tuesday until the first week of auctions ended.

Market centers reported farmers were pleased with the prices. The sales brought hundreds of thousands of dollars to cities throughout South Georgia and business hummed.

In the tobacco cities, hundreds found employment in warehouses. Throughout the belt, general business felt the stimulus of tobacco cash.

Unofficial reports from several of the market centers said sales were more than double the volume for the opening week last year. Although there were four selling days in the first week this year, and only two last year, poundage figures generally indicated heavier daily sales than in the opening week of 1935.

Official statistics on the first week's sales will not be available until next week, when the State Department of Agriculture makes its first report.

Waycross reported first week's sales of 1,092,368 pounds, for a total of $283,900, or an average of 26 cents.

Hahira reported weekly sales of 1,068,210 pounds, at an average of 26.77, against 364,466, and an average of 22.26 cents last year.

Tifton, ranking volume market in 1935, reported sales this week of 3,396,576 pounds, at an average of 25.12. For a similar period last year, sales amounted to 3,106,728 pounds, at an average of 23.87.

Moultrie had first week sales of 2,650,066 pounds, at an average of 26.98 cents, the Tobacco Board of Trade reported. The first week of last year showed official sales of 1,110,988 pounds at a 22-cent average.

Valdosta's figures for last week were 2,656,734 pounds, at 26.12 cents average. The first week last year Valdosta sold 1,359,496 at 20.47 average.

Many markets had blocked sales throughout opening week. This means that receipts were greater than sales. Many warehouses were packed to capacity today, indicating heavy sales when markets reopen Monday.

DEATH CLAIMS NOTED WRITER

Lincoln Steffens Succumbs to Heart Attack at Age of 70

Carmel, Calif., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Lincoln Steffens, crusading leader in the so-called "muck-racking" era of American journalism, is dead.

A 70-year-old writer, lecturer and one-time newspaper and magazine editor, succumbed to a heart ailment at his Carmel home, pressing with his last feeble hand that of his divorced wife, Helen Ella Winter, radical author.

Educated in California and universities of Europe, Steffens, a native of San Francisco, entered the newspaper field in New York and in 1902 became managing editor of McClure's magazine. In this position, and later as associate editor of the American and Everybody's magazine, encouraged the school of journalism to which President Theodore Roosevelt applied the term "muckraker."

Steffens led the crusade aimed at fraud, graft and social injustice in both public and private affairs with a series of articles.

Orthopedic Clinic Reaping Benefits For Many Cripples

Fourteen Children Examined Last Week: One in Such Serious Condition Operated on Today

Calling attention to some of the defects discovered through the state orthopedic clinic conducted here each month, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer, said today the movement promised to reap great benefits.

The orthopedic, being conducted in the health offices, is financed jointly by the local Rotary club, Roosevelt birthday ball committee and the Social Security fund.

Dr. H. A. Thompson of Raleigh is conducting the clinic every first Friday in the month. No clinic will be held in September, however, the next one to be in October.

Fifteen children were examined at the clinic last week. Children from Beaufort, Hyde, Cartaret and Pamlico, as well as Pitt county, are entitled to the service. Leading physicians and welfare officers in the counties are urged to utilize the clinic.

At last week's clinic one child was found to be in such need of treatment he was operated on today. Among the defects discovered by the clinic were club-foot, serious curvature of the spine, paralysis of the leg and arm, need of artificial limb, stiff ankle and several cases of diseased bone.

Dr. Thompson expressed much pleasure, according to Dr. Ennett, at the response, in that all 14 cases Friday were new ones, not having had attention at any previous clinic.

Recent Rio de Janeiro statistics show that a family of seven lived there in 1929 in average comfort for 1,850 milreis (then worth $240) but today the same family must spend 2,030 milreis (now worth $113).

END OF STRIFE PREDICTED BY LOYAL FORCES

Government Claims Capture of Rebel-Dominated Areas

REBELS MASS FOR OFFENSIVE DRIVE

Death of British Subject Regarded as Holding Endangering Potentialities

(By Associated Press) Capture of 13 Spanish communities dominated by rebels was announced by Madrid's loyalist troops today, as insurgents moved in for March for an offensive against San Sebastian and Irun.

The government predicted a quick end to the civil war, now in its 23rd day.

The death of a British subject meanwhile, was looked upon in diplomatic circles as holding potentialities which might endanger a general European accord, sponsored by France, for non-intervention in Spain.

Captain Rupert Saville, retired British naval officer, was killed by a rebel shell aboard his yacht in Gijon harbor. His wife was wounded. Great Britain had warned both sides to the Spanish conflict "suitable steps" would be taken to protect British lives and property.

Reports from rebel lines near the Franco-Spanish border related forces of fascists were gathering for an attack on both San Sebastian and Irun. The Madrid ministry said insurgents at Burgos faced dangers of epidemics because the bodies of the dead were not being buried.

Fascists claimed victory in northwestern Spain in an engagement, costing the lives of 100 loyalist troops.

The Madrid-Paris-London correspondent of a Paris newspaper reported the disappearance of Miguel Gamao Maura, former Spanish minister of the interior. The newspaper said fears had arisen he had been taken prisoner and possibly executed by leftists.

TAX POLICIES ARE ATTACKED

Paul Leonard Scores System at State Labor Meeting

Winston-Salem, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Paul Leonard of Statesville, head of the North Carolina fair tax association, denounced North Carolina's tax policies today in an address before the annual convention of the state federation of labor.

"When a state goes so far in its debauchery from the one true Democratic principle of fair taxation—ability to pay—that it collects more than 50 per cent of its revenue in consumptive taxes it is time to call a halt and reverse the trend," he asserted.

Leonard said the recent reports of the state department of revenue for the fiscal year just ended showed over 10 million dollars had been collected in general sales taxes, and over 19 million in gasoline taxes, which along with other consumptive taxes, amounted to more than 50 per cent of the total collections.

Two negroes, Lige Small and Norris Barnes, were bound over to Superior court under $500 bond each at a preliminary hearing in City court this morning on charges of breaking and entering.

Small was discovered in the Eureka laundry Saturday night. His partner, Barnes, was taken by officers yesterday.

Willie Smith, also a negro, was sent to the roads for 30 days upon conviction of drunkenness.

Some Potatoes! Elmore, S. C. (AP)—W. B. Williams' farmer, has found a way to make big profits out of little ones. He says he planted 23 bushels of small-sized potatoes to grow sprouts for transplanting. The original potatoes, he declares, not only grew excellent sprouts for transplanting but developed into large No. 1 grade potatoes which he marketed at a good price.

SUPERVISORS PLAN TO MEET

Soil Conservation Measuring to Get Underway Soon

R. R. Bennett, county farm agent, today called an all-day meeting Friday for complete supervisors of the Soil Conservation program.

The meeting, tentatively set for the county agent's office, will be for the purpose of making preparations to begin field measuring of crops Saturday morning.

Crops of farmers who have signed work-sheets will be measured to determine to what extent they will share in benefits from the $500,000 Soil Conservation program.

The supervisors will determine how many acres of soil depleting crops were reduced and how many acres of soil conserving crops the farmers had planted.

In order to receive payment for diverting up to 35 per cent of his cotton, 30 per cent of tobacco and 20 per cent of peanut's base acres, a farmer must have 20 per cent as many acres of soil conserving crops as he has on soil depleting crops, such as corn, oats and vegetable crops.

It is possible for a farmer to earn up to $1 an acre for each acre of soil conserving crops. He may do this by carrying out approved soil conserving practices, such as seeding legumes, growing and turning under green manure crops, planting forest trees, improving land by use of ground limestone and super phosphate, and control of water erosion on crop land.

Mr. Bennett encouraged farmers to supply necessary help to enable the supervisors complete the measuring as quickly and efficiently as possible. He said if the compliance cost in the county exceeds the amount allotted the remaining expenditures would necessarily have to be obtained by reducing the amount of payment which the farmers otherwise would secure.

Year's Loss By Fire Incorrectly Reported

The loss by fire in Greenville for the year up to the first of this month, was only $2,204.50 and not $22,450, as incorrectly stated in Friday's Reflector.

George Gardner, chief of the fire department, expressed pleasure at the low loss and said he believed the citizens were "becoming fire conscious." He urged the people to continue to exert caution to keep down the damage and thereby provide a lower insurance rate.

The two men, M. A. McLean and Cuthrell Cooper, both constables, had been employed by the county school beverage control board as special officers to fight bootleggers in the county.

Plan Open Offices To Carry On Work For Security Act

Plenty of Work Facing National Board Between Now and January When Act Be Effective

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Aug. 10.—The two offices to be opened in the state soon by the National Security Board will have plenty of work to do between now and January 1, when the old age benefits section of the Social Security Act becomes effective without any cooperative state law, Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher pointed out today.

The two offices will have the big task of listing every employ and every employer in the state between now and January 1, in order that the Social Security Act may be collected on one per cent assessment or tax on all payrolls and on the ages of all employees.

One of these offices will probably be located in Raleigh and the other probably in Salisbury, although Charlotte is known to be making a very strong effort to get the second office, Commissioner Fletcher said. The first thing these offices will probably do will be to make up lists of all employers in the state, with the number of employees of each, the period of time each has been employed, and the total wages received to date. All of this data is required before the effective date of the old age benefits section of the law on January 1, although no benefits will be paid until January 1, 1937. For beginning Jan. 1, 1937, every employer and every employee must start making their payments of one per cent per year on the wages and salaries received, and on total payrolls, in order to build up the benefits or insurance fund, Fletcher pointed out.

The old age benefits plan is in reality nothing more than compulsory annuity insurance which becomes effective at age 65 and which will pay from $10 to a maximum of $45 a month, depending upon the earnings of the insured prior to his or her becoming 65 years of age. Thus an employee who earned $75 a month for 10 years prior to becoming 65 years old, will get a monthly benefit payment of $26 a month as long as he lives.

Commissioner Fletcher estimated that these two new offices to be set up in the state soon will have to set up records on between 400,000 and 500,000 employees in hundreds of different industries included under the act.

Department Report Declares Business Shows Improvement

Manufacturing Production at Highest Point Since Spring of 1935, Says Statement

Washington, Aug. 10.—(AP)—With manufacturing production placed at the highest point since the spring of 1935, the Commerce Department reported today that business activity was continuing without suffering from the usual summer slackening.

With the years 1923-25 taken as 100, the department seasonally adjusted index of manufacturing advanced 3 points in June to 104. A further rise, the department said, was indicated for July.

The steel industry was described as "unusually active" last month with electrical equipment machinery and building supply industries also gaining.

Fewer Arrests in Wet Counties Than "Bone-Dry" Areas

Continued From Report, However, 26 Per Cent of Total Drunken Drivers Arrested

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Cantyle Charles D. Farmer of the highway patrol, reported today arrest of drunken drivers in July numbered 376, a fall of about 20 per cent over the 306 in June, and attributed the increase to habit of vacationists.

"We always have an increase in drunken driving arrests at this time of year, largely due to vacationists," Farmer said. "It is interesting to note there were fewer drunken driving arrests in the Eastern patrol division where sale of whiskey is legalized than in the other districts."

Patrolmen arrested 2784 persons in July, compared with 2,601 in June.

PRIEST-SCIENTIST HONORED AS SECOND BEN FRANKLIN

Znojmo, Czechoslovakia.—(AP)—The memory of Father Prokop Divis, a priest-scientist, credited with independent invention of the lightning conductor in 1752, was worn after Benjamin Franklin is honored by a museum opened at Brno, near here.

Father Divis's first lightning rod is said, was destroyed by angry peasants who attributed a conflagration to the "strange machine." The priest put up on his vineyard. One of his models is on display in the museum.

GREENIES TAKE SUNDAY GAME FROM KINSTON

Holland Hurls 4-3 Victory for Locals; Snow Hill Noses Out Martins, 6-5; Goldsboro Trims Tarboro, 4-2; Ayden-New Bern Tilt Rained Out

The Greenies nosed out the Kinston Eagles here yesterday afternoon, 4-3.

Snow Hill pushed four runs across in the ninth inning to whip the league-leading Williamston Martins 6-5. Goldsboro trimmed the Tarboro Bunnies 4-2 to take the only other game played yesterday in the Coastal loop. Ayden and New Bern were rained out.

The visitors took the lead in the second inning when Morris stole home after he and Herbie Cheek had singled. Cheek was on first and Morris on third when Cheek stole second. Wagner, Greenville catcher attempted to throw Cheek out. During the play Morris ran for home. Amber, second-sacker, then threw to home plate, but the ump called Morris safe. It was a close play.

Greenville evened things up in the fourth when Ty Wagner walked and Brown and Latham singled. In the "ucky seventh", the locals pushed three runs across to win the old ball game. Parley singled, going to second on an infield out. Booser singled, scoring Parley and Amber got on base with a safety. Henry House walked, filling the bases. Wagner then singled, scoring Booser and Amber. Kinston had scored a run in the sixth on Charlie Keller's and Morris' singles, with Keller scoring on a fly to deep center by Cheek. In the seventh Michael's infield single scored Snowbreaker after the latter had recited second on So Far 1977's wild throw to first.

Kinston batted the Greenies 4-3. Kinston made one miscue while the locals had a pair to their credit.

Lefty Holland buried the route for the Greenies, and although in trouble at times, managed to get by safely. At one time while the bases were loaded with one out, he fanned Charley Keller on three straight pitches.

The locals were held hitless for the last three innings by Patmore, the Martin hurler. They finally broke him in the fourth, making two hits and scoring one run. From then on the Kinston pitcher found the going plenty tough, but managed to let the locals by with only eight hits.

There are only two games scheduled in the Coastal loop today. Greenville's journey over to Snow Hill to play off a rained out game, while Kinston is in Williamston to play off a rained-out game, also.

PLANNING - NAUTICAL WEDDING

Five years ago Merlin Andrews, a life guard, rescued Elsie Wagner from drowning. That started a friendship that ripened into love, and now they are planning to be married August 12. And just for the sake of sentiment regarding the beginning of their romance, they will stand in the waters of Lake Ponchartraine and take their marriage vows. (Associated-Press Photo)

TACKLES TONY

SPORT SLANTS

Lou Ambers mopped the perspiration from his brow, took a deep breath and told why he thought he would be wearing the lightweight crown after his bout with Tony Canzoneri.

"Tony is a grand little fighter, one of the best of his weight to show in recent years, but even Tony can't go on forever. The record book says that Tony was born in 1905. . . . That makes me exactly eight years younger than he. I have improved in the last year while the wear and tear of all of his fights must have taken something from him, something the added experience at this stage of his career cannot offset.

"Sure, he gave me a boxing lesson when we fought for the title a little over a year ago. But he won't do it again. I learned a lot from Tony that evening in May, and plenty about him, too. I don't being the short-order in this fight. . . . not after the way favorites have been taking it on the chin this year."

'Buck Fever' Beat Him

Ambers has been preparing himself for his shot at Canzoneri's title at Dr. Bier's camp in Pompton Lakes, N. J., and makes it clear that he intends to out-hustle the champion when they meet. He has won a dozen fights since he was decisively beaten by Canzoneri. His victory over Frankie Kliek put him back in the running for the championship.

HEATROTOWN HERALD RETURNS TO AIR OVER STATIONS WLW AND WGN

"Family Magazine" Opens Third Season August 6th

The Heatrotown Herald, popular "Magazine of the Air," is back for its third big year. Starting August 6th—8:00 to 9:00 P. M., Eastern Standard Time—it will be heard every Thursday evening at the same hour, over stations WLW and WGN.

The Heatrotown Herald, sponsored by The Estate Stove Company, has for two years been one of the outstanding broadcasts originating from powerful station WLW. The program is "different," novel, unique. It "leads through" a complete magazine, page after page. Listeners will again hear their favorite features—Musical Cover, First Nights of Yesterday and Today, Tunes They're Whistling, Things We Do and Why We Do Them—in addition to many sparkling new features.

William Stoen, who has directed Heatrotown Herald orchestras in the past, has been signed to direct this nationally famous group of musicians, providing the musical contents of the new Magazine of the Air. In addition, a cast of singing and dramatic stars—all in all, 25 headliners—will be heard on each broadcast.

KELLER LEADS LOOP HITTERS

Kinston Outfielder Is Sporting Percentage Mark of .438

Charlie Keller, slugging Kinston outfielder, has added to his batting average and bolstered his position at the top of Coastal Plain League hitters.

Keller sports the unusually fine mark of .438, in latest official averages, including games of July 31, announced by J. Gaskill McDaniel, of New Bern, league statistician.

The statistics show that Keller hit safely on 74 of 169 times at bat. Included among his 74 hits were 19 doubles, three triples and eight homers. He scored 55 runs and batted in 47.

Next to Keller in the league's "First Ten" of batting is Roger Garner, Kinston pitcher-outfielder, with a mark of .389.

Greenville placed two in the "Big Ten." Walter Latham, catcher-outfielder-first baseman, with an average of .348 and Ty Wagner with an average of .240 hold fifth and sixth places respectively in the leading hitters' column.

Between scenes, Gary Cooper spends most of his time bicycling around the Paramount lot. He likes the exercise.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Hollywood — Hollywood thinks one studio has found the answer to the cry for new feminine stardom in Simone Simon.

As intriguing a personality as the films have known since the "Gambler" or "The Sign of the Cross" days, Simone made her Hollywood debut the other night in a preview of "Cinderella," a story of European school life in which the nominal stars are Herbert Marshall and Joan Chandler. It was no gimmick to their work that the talk show was all of Simone Simon (pronounced See-mo-nee-See-mo-nee).

Simone is French, 22, and a product of French films. Winifred Shannon signed her for Fox when she departed that studio with its Twentieth Century merger.

Simone's successors, Joseph E. Brown and Barry Zanuck, were able to espouse the one girl, in the long procession of Fox's imported stars, who seems likely to shake the grade with American attractions.

"Trained For Temperament"

Simone knew little English when she arrived a year ago, and before long stories of her "temperament" were rife. She was cast in "Under Two Flags," but after a week she pleaded illness and was replaced by Claudette Colbert. Some said that was "temperament," too, but Simone actually spent a month in the hospital. Then little more was heard of her — except for "temperament" — until the preview.

In person Simone is as interesting as on the screen, a strange appealing combination of gamin and grown-up that defies cut-and-dried cataloging. Her principal charm lies in custom-made beauty, which she lacks, but in expression, quick-changing from twinkling gaiety to moodiness and then to innocent coquettishness. She has a fetching little scowl, for good measure. With all her many-faceted display she seems, contradictorily, as unassuming as a child, honey-haired and freckle-faced.

Hollywood Loves It

She was between tennis sets when I tried to drive into those corners of "temperament" and hoisted on a slight display of it. Eyes blazing, she posted, retreated into a chair of reserve, saying: "I want to be friends with you and I know you don't like me already. There have said so many and things of me I don't care what they say."

CINDERELLA WEDS HER 'PRINCE'

The news has finally leaked out from the covers of the Tennessee mountains that Fuller Potter, artist son of a Wall street broker, was married last July 3 to Cinderella Williamson, a blue-eyed girl of the hills who never has been more than a few miles from home. Mrs. Rebecca Callahan, village store-keeper at Hartford, Tenn., identified this picture as one of the newlyweds. The romance began in 1924 when Potter came to the community to paint mountain scenery and Cinderella posed for him. (Associated-Press Photo)

GOOD FARM MANAGEMENT includes the home!

On millions of well-managed farms, horse power has been supplanted with motor power. A million farms own Maytag washers, yet too many washings are still being done by back and elbow power. It is an encouraging sign that Maytag farm washers are selling in ever-increasing numbers. It means better managed farm homes — an investment in health and happiness for the farm wife that pays dividends for years and years.

SERBIAN BELLS STARTS BATTLE BY ELOPEMENT

Naboj, Yugoslavia. (AP)—Forty-three peasants of this little south Serbian community are serving prison sentences totaling 50 years as a result of a girl's plans for marriage.

Despite her parents' orders, the beautiful 13-year-old girl named Derwischa determined to marry a poor youth from the neighboring village Potreba and planned that he should carry her off when Naboj men were at church.

This happened, and the angered Nabojers armed and stormed Potreba. A battle ensued in which two men were killed and several wounded before Derwischa was captured and returned to Naboj. Forty-five men were subsequently tried, but two were acquitted as acting in self-defense.

BON MONARCH OF SIAM TO VISIT HIS SUBJECTS

Singapore. (AP)—For the first time since he was proclaimed sovereign in March, 1935, King Ananda Mahidol, boy ruler of Siam, will take the throne in the Royal Palace at Bangkok next November.

His visit to Siam has been delayed for several months by the Italo-Ethiopian conflict. The council of regency, ruler-in-uncle, ex-King Prapadhipok, feared to let him travel from his school in Lausanne, Switzerland, to Siam while the Mediterranean situation was unsettled.

The boy monarch is expected to return to school in Switzerland again next year.

Refreshments were next served and his birthday cake was greatly admired. Pink and green motif was carried out in the decorations. Each guest was given a pink and green favor. After refreshments, all were entertained at a matinee program at the Bethel Theatre. The guests departed expressing their enjoyment of the party and wishing many happy returns of the day.

Political Talk Stirred By New Road Bond Issue

Reflector Bureau, 1515 Walker Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—The suggestion made by State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson that the time has come for the state to issue some more road bonds with which to build needed links in the state highway system and rebuild worn out and obsolete roads built 12 or 15 years ago which are no longer adequate for present day traffic, has stirred up plenty of talk in political circles here.

Some commentators think that Johnson has stepped into a veritable hornet's nest in advocating the issuance of any more bonds, even if they can be issued and retired without in any way increasing the state's debt service requirements as Johnson maintains. Most of those here who have studied Treasurer Johnson's suggestion, however, are inclined to approve it and think that he is advocating a move which in the long run is economical and entirely sound.

The proposal made by State Treasurer Johnson in a speech before the North Carolina Automobile Dealers Association in Asheville Saturday, was that the only way the state can rebuild and modernize its main highway system, is by issuing some new bonds in sufficient amount to do the job properly since it will be impossible to get enough funds for new construction from current highway revenue to do more than patch the roads or put temporary surface treatment on them. Johnson pointed out that the present highway surplus will be almost entirely expended by the end of this fiscal year and that most of this has had to be used in patching and repairing old or inadequate roads which have gone to pieces from heavy traffic and bad weather. He pointed out that the state could now issue about $25,000,000 in bonds to be used in new construction and in reconstructing old roads, and pay these off in 15 years without increasing the debt service requirements above their present figure thus making it unnecessary to levy new taxes or increase any road taxes. This move would make it impossible to decrease either the gasoline or motor vehicle taxes, he pointed out, however.

Johnson further contended that it would be good economy to issue these bonds since the building of more adequate main highways would make more money available for better maintenance and more surfacing of the secondary roads, many of which are now being neglected because of the heavy cost of trying to maintain so many miles of old, worn out and inadequate main highways.

While Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission could not be reached for a statement today, the belief is that he will be heartily in favor of the Johnson proposal. No one knows better than Chairman Waynick how strong the demand for new road construction is becoming and how delegations pour in from every corner of the state at each meeting of the commission asking and even demanding new roads. Within the last two years the highway commission has received requests for more than $200,000,000 worth of new road construction, yet has had no state money available for it. In fact, it has been almost ten years since any state money has been appropriated for highway construction, except that appropriated to match federal funds.

When the federal government starts its road building program in the state, there will be no roads built unless coming general assemblies authorize some new bond issues for this purpose, since all of the present highway revenue is needed for maintenance, betterments and debt service, highway officials point out. So the highway commission is expected to give whole-hearted approval to the suggestion by Mr. Johnson.

It was expected by some that the school forces of the state would oppose any new bond issue for highway, partly because such a move might tend to reduce the chances for diverting more money from the highway fund to the general fund to be used for school purposes and partly because it was believed the school forces would oppose any increase for roads without a corresponding increase for schools. But Julie B. Warren, secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, today said he thought the Johnson proposal was "worthy of serious consideration" and intimated that he did not think the school forces would oppose the new road bond issue plan. He indicated that this move would greatly aid the rural schools, especially if it would release more road funds for the better maintenance of the secondary schools, most traveled by school buses. State Supt. Clyde A. Erwin also indicated that the move would meet no opposition from him but that he was inclined to favor it. Those wanting a reduction in the gasoline and motor vehicle licenses are about the only ones opposed to the proposal, it seems.

Two Provisions In Security Act For Aiding Old Folks

Both Old Age Assistance and Old Age Benefits (Provided for in Social Security Act)

Reflector Bureau, 1515 Walker Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 10.—There are two separate and distinct provisions in the National Social Security Act for aiding old people, and these two provisions are still generally confused in the minds of most people. Commissioner A. L. Fletcher of the State Department of Labor pointed out today. These are different provisions are: 1. Old Age Assistance, which provides for state cooperation in the payment of immediate sums to persons in excess of 65 or 70 years of age, not to exceed $30 a month, of which the state and Federal government put up half each. Up to March 31, 1936 there 27 states which had old age assistance plans approved by the Social Security Board and through June 30, 1936 the sum of $24,660,000 had been made available for allotment to states whose plans for cooperation had been approved. 2. Old Age Benefits, which is nothing more than a compulsory annuity insurance system under which both the employers and employees pay a premium or tax of one per cent on payrolls and wages, beginning Jan. 1, 1937, but in which no one will benefit until January 1, 1942, when those who then become 65 years of age will receive monthly payments based on his total previous earnings. *Before the old age assistance or pension plan can go into effect in North Carolina, the general assembly will have to enact legislation in line with the Federal law and also provide an appropriation with which to match Federal grants. Commissioner Fletcher said, "It is estimated that an appropriation of from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 a year will be needed to provide a pension of $30 a month for all these in the state 65 years old or older who will be able to qualify for it. "The Old Age Benefit plan will go into effect January 1, 1937, without any legislative action by the state and employers will have to pay a tax of one per cent a year on their payrolls and employees a tax of one per cent a year on their wages, up to $3,000 a year, although no benefits will be paid under this plan until after January 1, 1942."

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Two men disturb Carol Torrance, who had intended taking her school teaching job in her stride. One is Denis Ford, who is a dangerously charming newspaper man with the wanderlust in his blood.

Chapter 15

TORTURED PARTING

DENIS left Wednesday night. On Tuesday Anna Ford telephoned. "Carol! I'm expecting you for dinner tomorrow night. Then you can drive over to Erskine with Denis and Bill to catch the Washington train."

One of the worst things about not marrying Denis, Carol thought, was losing Anna as a mother-in-law. She said quickly: "You're an angel; of course I'll come."

In a town where eating was a necessary evil Anna Ford succeeded in imparting grace to her meals. She had dinner instead of supper at night, and wore soft, informal dresses, many of them shabby.

The drive to Erskine was almost silent. Denis sat with his arm around Carol, holding her as tight as he could, and Bill kept his eyes on the road.

Denis said huskily: "Don't come with me. If you do I'll never get on the damned train."

MUZZLED: A couple of weeks ago Vice President Garner returned from a fishing trip. He was stopped by newspaper men and asked what he thought of political and rational affairs.

It is confidentially whispered that the Republican Party is all set to point out to the voting public that even the Vice President admits a dictatorship exists in this country.

Large advertisement for Plymouth cars. Text: USED CAR PRICES. PROVE THIS FACT. PLYMOUTH STANDS UP BEST... IN VALUE, PERFORMANCE, LOOKS. Of "All Three" Plymouth Commands Highest Prices for Year-old Models - is Most in Demand! WHEN NEW, "All Three" low-priced cars cost about the same. But it's different after they've been driven a year or more... and are offered as used cars: Plymouth models command top prices, are most in demand. Dealers everywhere confirm this... declare it costs less to recondition year-old Plymouths. The reason is, Plymouth is built and engineered to take it... to give long, trouble-free performance. Great engineering gives Plymouth an uncommonly quiet, simple, 6-cylinder "L-head" engine...with the tremendous power of high compression (6.7 to 1) using ordinary gas...the economy of calibrated ignition full-length water jackets and direct circulation. Plymouth owners report 18 24 miles per gallon...lowest oil and upkeep costs of any low-priced car. Most important of all...safety! Plymouth is still the only one of "All Three" with a Safety-Steel Body and double-action hydraulic brakes. This is not a used car ad. But these facts about used cars prove: Plymouth stands best. WHEN PUBLICITY GOES OUT DOOR LOVE FLIES OUT THE WINDOW

Constant companions are Eric Linden and Cecelia Parker, trying their luck at a beach concession.

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Off-stage romance in Hollywood is a year-round phenomenon, requiring no vernal equinox to stir up thoughts of love.

Here where the stage is broader by far than those barn-like buildings equipped with sound devices and cameras, the natural urge is fostered by propinquity, press agency and gossip.

One actress the other day picked up the morning paper and turned to the gossip column eagerly. "I've got to see who my sweetheart is today—and meet him," she said flippantly.

A comparatively rare culmination to filmland romance occurred the other day when Allan Jones and Irene Hervey were married. Anywhere else marriage can be fairly reliably expected as the sequel to romance, but in Hollywood young love frequently lasts only as long as the gossips are interested.

Of course young love, here as everywhere else, is not a thing to catalog and dismiss as either "the real thing" or "just publicity." Sometimes it is one, sometimes the other, and quite often it is both.

But it takes a statistician even for the simpler task of keeping straight on "who's going with whom."

Until Allan Jones came along, it was Robert Taylor who squired Irene Hervey places. Now it is Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck, and the Allan Joneses are honeymooning. The Taylor-Stanwyck romance was well along before the two were cast in the same picture—a teasing regarded as a "natural."

Jackie Coogan and Betty Grable are officially engaged, the wedding not so distant now. They say it's the "real thing" between Anne Shirley and Owen Davis, Jr., but Anne has been "rushed" by countless swains.

Eric Linden and Cecelia Parker are constant companions—especially when they're making a film together. Martha Raye was engaged—twice—before she finished her first picture. The second engagement lasted only two days.

Hollywood expects Joan Blondell and Dick Powell to be married soon, but it only guesses about Jean Harlow and William Powell, and about Cary Grant and Mary Brian, who have begun together frequently. James Stewart has been "seen with" Eleanor Powell, Ginger Rogers and Virginia Bruce—which may be safety in numbers for one of the town's eligible bachelors.

SAYS RALEIGH IS BEST SITE

Capital City Regarded as Best Place For Medical School

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walker Hotel.

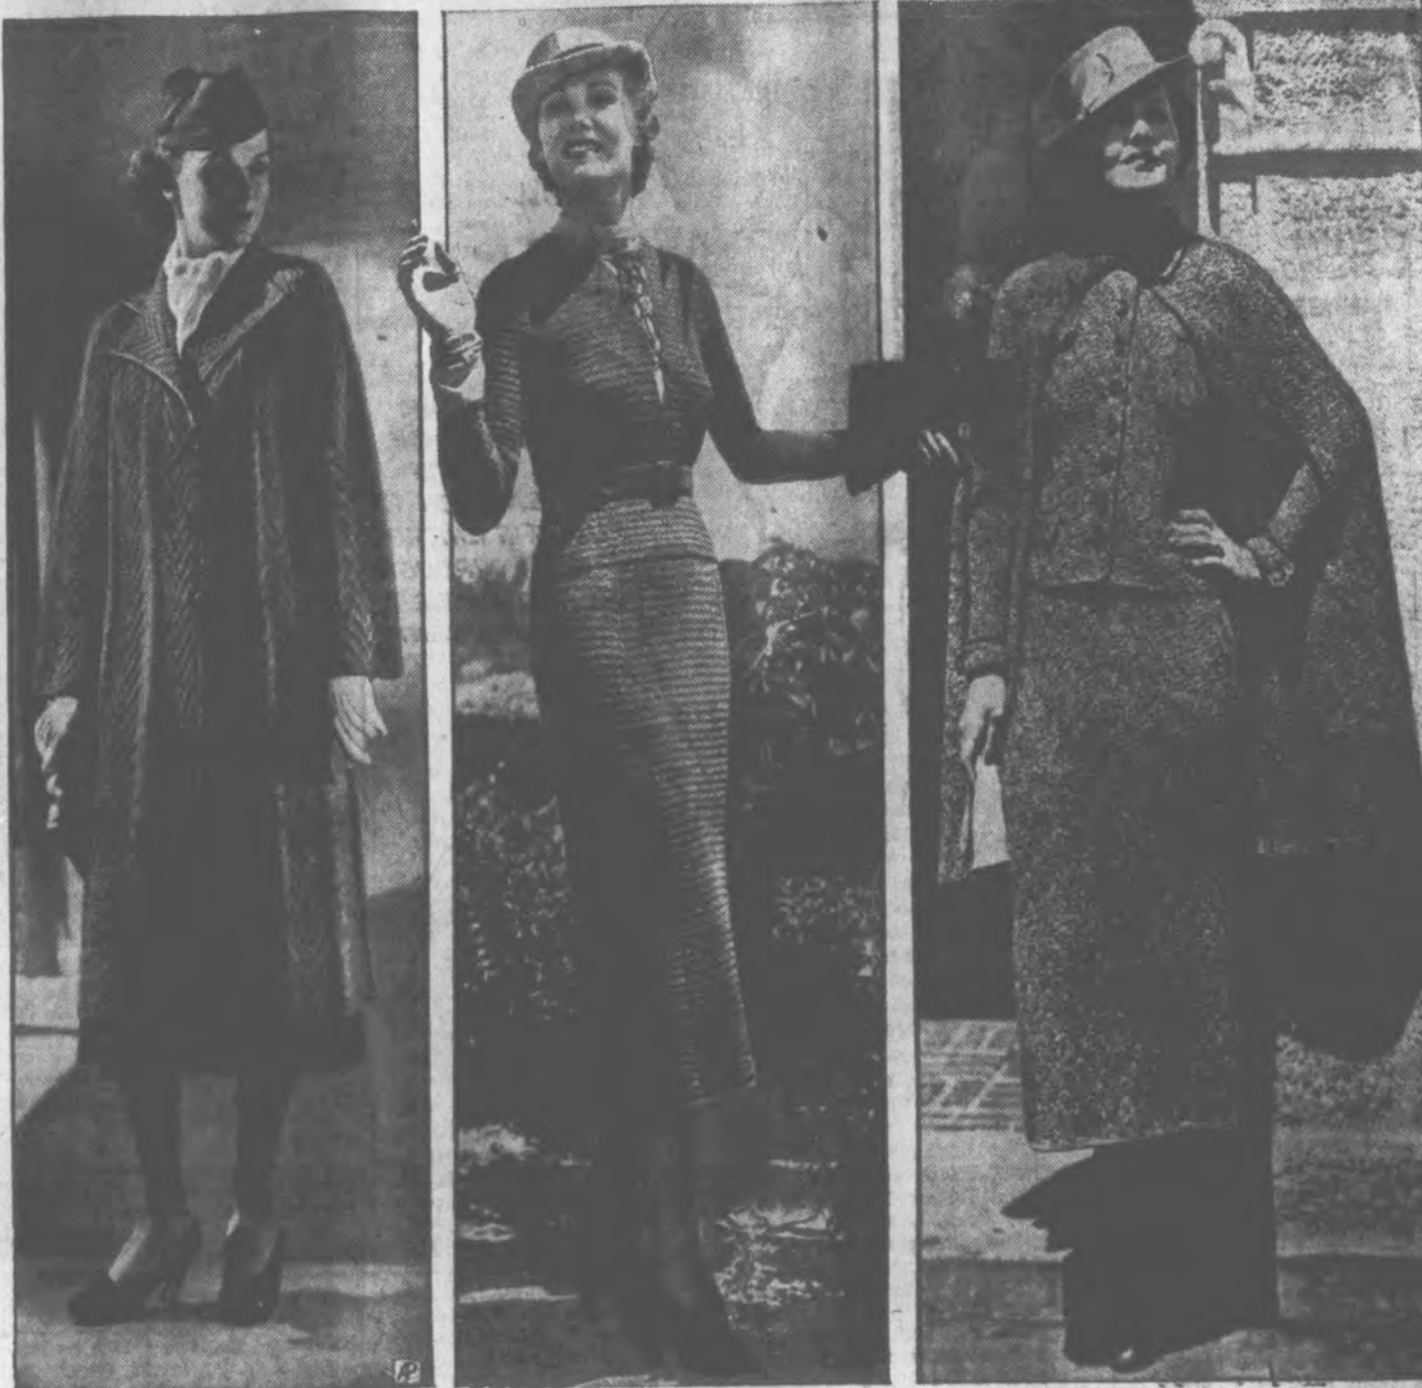

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—Men of business who are interested in having a four year medical school established in the State, probably as a part of the University of North Carolina, think that part of the school embracing the final two years in medicine, should be located in Raleigh.

It has been known for some time that a determined effort will be made by alumni of the University of North Carolina and Wake Forest medical schools, which so far have offered only a two-year pre-med course, together with many other doctors in the state, will make a determined effort to get the 1937 general assembly to establish a four year medical school in the state in order to prevent the closing of the Carolina and Wake Forest schools by the American Medical Association. One of the leaders in this movement is Dr. Ben J. Lawrence of Raleigh, who was a candidate for the house of the 1937 general assembly but was defeated.

If the general assembly would establish the last two years of the medical school here in Raleigh, both the Chapel Hill and Wake Forest medical schools could continue as they now are, with the students taking their first two years of medicine in them, and then coming to the school in Raleigh for the last two years. It is maintained. The nearness of Raleigh to both Wake Forest and Chapel Hill would make it possible for some of the professors in the school here to keep in close contact with the professors and students in both of the undergraduate branches, while the State Hospital for the Insane and the State Prison hospital here would offer valuable clinical facilities for the advanced students. It is pointed out.

About all the legislature would have to do to set up a four year medical school here, it is maintained, would be to provide an appropriation for one or two medical buildings and a clinical hospital to which typical cases from all sections of the state can be brought, it is maintained. It is estimated that all of this can be provided by the state for about $1,000,000 or even less to begin with, and that it can later be enlarged as necessity may require. Indications are, however, that all the other cities in the state are going to want the medical school and an inter-city and inter-sectional fight develop over the location.

Knit Clothes Win Spotlight For Early Fall

Knitted clothes, in a wide variety of design, go to town as well as country this fall. The sports coat at left is hand knitted in herringbone-ribbed effect of cashmere wool yarn in a soft light caramel brown shade. It is fastened with big brown buttons and worn with accessories of the same color. The two-piece knitted frock in the center of soft green yarn has a slender gored skirt and a simple top laced with a knitted cord over an evru-colored knitted vestee. An accompanying fedora of beige wool shadow-checked in green, and beige, and beige suede gloves make it ready for wear on many casual occasions. Suit and swaggar cape are combined in the three-piece costume at right, knitted of a study grey tweed yarn. The collarless cape is equipped with armholes and the high-necked jacket is finished with black buttons. A grey felt hat completes the outfit.

Harrison-Bilbo Feud Divides Mississippi

They haven't always been political enemies as these smiles of Senators Pat Harrison (left) and Theodore G. Bilbo indicate.

By SAM FARRINGTON
Jackson, Miss., Aug. 10.—(AP)—The "four horsemen" of Mississippi politics are engaged in a bitter struggle over a United States senate seat.

The fight proper, to be settled at the August 23 primary, is between Senator Pat Harrison, seeking a fourth term, and former Gov. Bennett Conner, making his initial bid for a senatorial post. However, much more than the senatorship swings in the balance.

The other "horsemen," Senator Theodore G. Bilbo and Gov. Hugh L. White, have staked their prestige and possibly their political futures on the outcome of the Harrison-Conner conflict.

The impending battle is meat and drink for Mississippi voters. Long schooled in the art of bitter political warfare, they have settled back to witness a campaign loaded with explosive issues and personalities.

Championing the senatorial aspirations of Conner is self-styled "The Man Bilbo." His guns are trained on his colleague, whose defeat would elevate Bilbo to the senator generalship and, in Bilbo's eyes, square his defeat in the recent fight on the appointment of Harrison's close friend, Edwin Holmes, to the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Governor White is supporting Harrison. To do so it was necessary for him to break politically with Bilbo, who went "down the line" for him last year in his nipand-tuck" battle for the governorship.

The political camps present a confusing scene for the voters. In the Harrison ranks are many Bilbo lieutenants and in the trunk and file of the Conner forces are found White backers and some not so long ago aligned with the senior senator.

Harrison and Bilbo shared political friendship until the Holmes incident. White and Bilbo were on good terms until the latter joined Conner. Harrison and White have always been friendly. White and Conner never got along and Harrison and Conner have been at odds for more than four years.

They first crossed words at the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1932, when Conner led a futile movement to swing the Mississippi delegation away from Roosevelt to Newton D. Baker. Harrison succeeded in keeping the Mississippians in the Roosevelt column.

Later they differed over federal expenditures in Mississippi and the complete break came when Conner made it known he would seek Harrison's seat.

Harrison supporters point cheerfully to the close tie between President Roosevelt and their candidate. Conner pursued a lukewarm policy toward the Roosevelt administration during his term as governor and expects no help from that quarter. However, he has a well-organized camp, is a sharp campaigner and has at his disposal Bilbo's keen political strategy.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

Washington — The day after the Interstate Commerce commission ordered the two-cent railroad fares into effect, commission employees went to their offices expecting a storm of protest from the bus companies. None came.

Now two months have passed, and still no complaints. Instead, the bus companies set about systematically cutting their own rates about as far below the new railroad rates as they had been below the old ones, roughly averaging about a half cent.

Why didn't the bus companies kick? Didn't the lower rates on the railroads promise to take part of the bus traffic? Commission staff members solved it ultimately to their own satisfaction. They recalled that many of the major bus companies are owned or controlled by the railroads with which they are in competition, so there was not much sense in objecting.

Bills Silent, Too

To a degree the same situation prevailed when the bus companies began reducing their rates to meet the lower railroad rates. Protests that commission staff members expected from the railroads did not come. Even those railroads which did not own the competing bus lines advised the commission they had no objection.

The present rates, compared with previous rates, are reported by the commission about as follows, in cents per mile:
Old rates, rail, 3.6 cents, bus 2 1-2 to 3; new rates, rail, 2 cents, bus 1 1-8 to 1 3-4.

Of course the old 3.6 cent railroad fare applies to parlor car and Pullman travel. The new order requiring two-cent chair car rates applied primarily east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio, for railroads in other sections already had applied the lower rates, the southern lines going down to 1 1-2 cents.

Expect Court Appeal

Members of the commission expect that before long the railroads will ask the supreme court to decide whether they can be ordered to grant rates which they contend are below compensatory levels.

There is another factor in the lowered rates that commission staff members suspect may interest automobile manufacturers and dealers. The commission computes that about seven per cent of the nation's travel is by rail and three to four per cent by bus, leaving about 90 per cent principally to automobiles.

How deeply will the low rates cut into the automobile travel, and so.

Politicians as Interested in Business as in Polls

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Many politicians are almost as deeply interested in business charts these days as in polls and political war maps.

Even in ordinary times, economic trends have their undeniable relationship to politics. After nearly 7 years of upset and uncertainty, any material business change is bound to bring the politically-minded instantly on the alert.

About the facts of the present case there is little dispute. Not only have various recognized business indices shown a decided upswing recently, but optimism about the immediate future is widespread. In other words, business and politics in general sees at least a possibility that the election will be held this year in the midst of something resembling a business boom.

What will be the result politically? Many things are involved in the answer. For in this respect, as in almost every other, 1936 presents peculiarities of its own.

The general rule in past years has been that prosperity, in whatever measure it abounds, helps the party in power.

The Republicans made a great deal of that in the McKinley days and in the Coolidge days. Everywhere among political philosophers "the full dinner pail" has been recognized as one of the most effective political emblems ever devised.

The theory is that when times are good or getting better, the voter hesitates to make a change; that he listens willingly to admonitions about changing horses in the middle of the stream, and is not impressed by arguments that someone else could do a better job at Washington.

That is the theory and the experience of the past, and many of the supporters of President Roosevelt rely heavily on its applicability this year. In effect, they believe their strongest practical ground is to reiterate on every possible occasion Mr. Roosevelt's own question to the voters of 1934: "Are you, individually, better off today than you were before the advent of the New Deal?"

No one denied at the time, and no one has denied since, that this slogan was a powerful influence in the overwhelming Democratic victories of two years ago.

As usual, however, there are two sides to the argument. Those who doubt whether the old rule will work out so well in 1936 note the following exceptions:

In most past instances, the party benefiting by a "prosperity" issue has had the support of business. That was not entirely true of the Democrats in 1934, although it is a matter of record that some business groups which were friendly or lukewarm toward the New Deal two years ago, are openly against it at present.

Secondly, there is the Republican counter-argument that recovery really began in the summer of 1932 and that Mr. Roosevelt's election and his subsequent policies have retarded rather than helped, a natural return toward normal.

Finally, the genuineness of the present upward trend is denied by some administration critics, who suggest that continued unemployment, an unbalanced budget and high taxes cannot be reconciled with any theory of a true recovery.

PHILIPPINE FARMER FORCED TO ACCEPT NEW DEAL CHECK

Manila, P. I. (AP)—Don Maximo Corbinogio of Guagua, Pampanga, must take $7,500 in sugar processing tax money whether he wants it or not.

The aged don was dead set against accepting the money, because he maintains, it was offered in violation of the laws of God.

The don is a land owner, and upon his lands grew sugar cane. The sun shone, the rains fell, all nature smiled and the don's crop was something to boast about.

Then came the New Deal's crop control plan. The don's cane was destroyed by fire. The Pampanga sugar mill was authorized to pay him $7,500 out of processing tax funds.

The don, heirs to the don's fortune, insisted that he accept it, and when he continued to refuse, the heirs went into court. The court ordered that the money be paid to the heirs.

His idealism shattered, the aged don just shook his head, as the check was handed to his sons. He told friends that he would not be responsible for any set of divine providence that may befall his sons.

New York Cotton

New York, Aug. 10. (AP)—Cotton future opened barely steady 27 to 31 lower on Saturday's bearish government crop report and lower Liverpool cables which were partly offset by active trade buying. Orders were pretty evenly divided at the initial decline. After showing net losses of 31 to 33 points with December selling down to 11.69, or 109 points below the high price touched early in July the market held fairly steady. After the declines to 11.69 December rose to 11.78, with active months generally showing net losses of about 22 to 25 points at midday. Futures closed steady 26 to 31 lower, spots quiet, middling 12.32.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 10. (AP)—Coppers put on a burst of peed in the stock market today, some of them twirling up to new highs, while the rest of the market recovered somewhat from early irregularities. Demand for the metal share was said in Wall Street to have been whipped up by rising copper prices aboard as the result of buying much of it for armament purposes. The market got away with a steady start, clipped and then recovered to show upturns of a fraction to a point or so. Cotton canceled part of its early losses of about $1.50 a bale. Grains were lower. Foreign currencies were mixed. The late stock tone was steady. Transactions approximately 1,500,000 shares.
