REBEL ATTACK IS REPULSED BY LOYALISTS

Onslaught is Directed Against Iron On Bay of Biscay

HOSTAGES' FATE STILL UNKNOWN

International Complications Entered When Portuguese Fired On Loyalists

(By Associated Press) Government forces repulsed a savage rebel attack directed today against Iron, on the Bay of Biscay.

The five hour assault was the heaviest and most vicious yet thrown at government strongholds in the coastal section.

A grave warning was issued by the British foreign office that meddling in the Spanish civil war might bring "serious repercussions."

The fate of hostages held by the government and threatened with death should rebels advance against either Iron or San Sebastian was not known.

Rebel troops massed on a road leading into Iron under protection of an artillery barrage. They were met with a withering government fire. Casualties were heavy on both sides.

J. O. Ambler, an American held hostage in Huelva province by government forces, was reported rescued along with 37 British subjects.

International complications entered the Spanish civil war in reality today when Portuguese border guards fired on government troops near Campo Maior, Portugal.

The government at Lisbon also made public its note accepting the French neutrality proposal in which strong criticism was made of "communists and anarchists militias" which indulged in "mass killings and assassinations."

On the domestic fronts the Spanish government troops and rebels continued their fight which began almost a month ago with the start of the fascist efforts to overthrow the Madrid socialist administration.

Star Warehouse Is Well Equipped And Also Popular

Partnership Formed by Smith and Sugg in 1913 Has Been Operating Efficiently Since

Of the seventy-five or more tobacco warehouses located on the various markets of Eastern North Carolina, there is none better equipped or more modernly constructed for the convenience of farmers than the Star Warehouse owned and operated by Guy V. Smith and Bruce B. Sugg, two of the oldest warehousemen of Greenville from the standpoint of actual experience in the sale of leaf tobacco at auction.

Forming a partnership in 1913 Smith & Sugg have conducted one of the most popular warehouses of the local market and there is no firm of a larger acquaintance or business among the growers than they. The history of their activities show they have been most successful in the conduct of their business and in their efforts to please the thousands of farmer patrons who sell tobacco with them from more than 30 tobacco producing counties. Having been engaged in the warehouse business for 23 years Guy V. Smith & Sugg the distinction of being the oldest warehouse firm connected with the local market.

Much of the progress made by the Greenville market during the past several years when its growth has exceeded that of any other market of the state, is due to the efforts of Smith & Sugg individually and collectively.

There are numerous things connected with the operation of the Star Warehouse that is responsible for the firm retaining its place among the leaders of the new bright belt. The personal attention of the owners to every pile of tobacco sold on their floor and most efficient floor and office force has been large factors in the success the business has attained.

Few Swedes Jobless. Stockholm.—(AP)—Unemployment practically does not exist in Sweden, where, according to official figures, there were only 34,571 men and women out of work in May this year—the lowest in five years—as against 6,400 at the beginning of 1936. In May last year the unemployed numbered 61,177.

Serious Charges Set For Term Of Superior Court

OUTLINES USE SAFETY STUDY

Teachers to Aid in Instructions on Highway Safety

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Outlines to assist teachers in teaching highway safety in the schools are now being studied with a view to preparing outlines to be distributed to those teachers who desire these teaching helps. Director Arthur Fulk of the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue, said today.

Teaching material, including several booklets which can be used as textbooks, are also being studied in an effort to find a booklet which can be used to advantage in the elementary schools. These booklets and outlines will probably be supplied free to the safety division by various insurance companies or by the National Safety Council, which in turn will send them without charge to teachers who may want them. Fulk indicated.

"We are planning to confer with Superintendent Clyde A. Erwin this coming week, with a view to getting the cooperation of the State Department of Public Instruction for our highway safety program," Fulk said. "We are going to suggest that the department use its influence to get the teachers to give definite instructions in safe walking and safe driving in a least one elementary grade and a more advanced course in at least one high school grade, although we believe that some safety instructions should be given in every elementary grade from the first grade on up."

Director Fulk believes that the emphasis should be placed on safety in walking, roller skating and bicycle riding up to the sixth grade, and that in the seventh grade some additional instructions should be given in safe driving and in the mechanics of an automobile so that the children will have some definite knowledge of what makes an automobile run. He believes they should be taught the principle of the gasoline motor, how powerful they are, also about the brakes, transmission, steering and so forth.

"When the children get into high school, and become old enough to drive automobiles, which is now 16 years in this state, they should be given actual instruction in driving cars, as well as in practical automobile mechanics," Fulk said. "The successful completion of these courses would then entitle them to receive state drivers licenses."

Dr. Robert L. Humber Visiting Parents Here

Dr. Robert L. Humber, Jr. one of Greenville's most distinguished native citizens, who at present is located in Paris, France, arrived in the city last night to spend some time with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Humber.

His mother is ill, but is showing improvement. Mr. Humber spent several months in the States recently, during which time he and his family made a Western tour of the United States. He sailed the day his mother was taken seriously ill, but upon being advised of his mother's condition returned to the States.

War Is Denounced By Pres. Roosevelt

Chief Executive Pledges Powers of His Office to Keep This Nation at Peace; Turns to Domestic Problems

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 15.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, after denouncing war and pledging to use powers of his office to keep the nation at peace turned again today to the domestic problem of controlling ruinous flood waters.

En route from Chautauqua, N. Y., where he set forth last night the administration's course on international affairs, he passed through southern New York counties which have seen uncontrolled torrents strike death and destruction.

"I am more concerned and less cheerful about international world conditions than I am about our immediate domestic problems," Mr. Roosevelt said at Chautauqua. "A dark modern world faces us, between conflicting economic and political fanatics in which are entwined race hatreds."

"I wish I could keep war from all nations; but that is beyond my power. I can at least make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war."

The Chief Executive, reviewing in blunt language the troubled world picture, pointed with satisfaction to his policy of the good neighbor as an instrument of peace in the Americas, but warned of old world "political fanatics" and the profiteers at home.

In his first major speech on foreign affairs since last October 4 at San Diego, Calif., Mr. Roosevelt set forth the philosophy of his peace policy and by inference held it up to the country as a political consideration of the first order.

The address, well sprinkled with Rooseveltian parables, hailed the forthcoming conference in Buenos Aires as "the hope of all chiefs of state of the Americas that this will result in measures which will banish wars forever from this vast portion of the earth." Then he added: "Peace, like charity, begins at home; that is why we have begun at home. But peace in the Western world is not all that we seek."

"It is our hope that knowledge of the practical application of the good neighbor policy in this hemisphere, will be borne home to our neighbors across the seas."

"For ourselves, we are on good terms in most cases of straightforward friendship, of peaceful understanding."

"But of necessity, we are deeply concerned about tendencies of recent years among many of the nations of other continents. It is a bitter experience to us when the spirit of agreement to which we are a party is not lived up to. It is an even more bitter experience for the whole company of nations to witness not only the spirit but the letter of international agreements violated with impunity and without regard to the simple principles of honor. Permanent friendships between nations as between men can be sustained only by scrupulous respect for the pledged word."

He reminded his audience that in spite of these violations the United States had sought to cooperate and assist in international movements to prevent war.

The President, slowly measuring his words, then promised that he would make certain that no act of the United States helps to produce or to promote war, and observed that:

"A dark old world was devastated by wars between conflicting religions. A dark modern world faces us between conflicting economic and political fanatics in which are entwined race hatreds. To bring it home, it is as if within the territorial limits of the United States, 48 nations with 48 forms of government, 48 customs barriers, 48 languages and 48 eternal and different varieties, were spending their time and their substance in a frenzy of effort to make themselves strong enough to conquer their neighbors or strong enough to defend themselves against their neighbors."

veit and his administration is expected to weld the various factions in the Democratic party here in the state together into a more solid mass than ever before and to wipe out the minor differences which existed between the various groups before the primaries.

For while the former supporters of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald were violently opposed to the nomination of Mr. Hoey for Governor, they have been and still are enthusiastic in their support for Roosevelt. He is also all Democrat, with the result that the great majority will support the party ticket all the way, especially since it along with Roosevelt will be subjected to bitter attack by the Republicans.

"While I am convinced we are going to have one of the most active campaigns in years, in that the Republican forces are going to carry on a more determined campaign and undoubtedly a better financial campaign than in a long, long time, I feel sure we are going to have another great Democratic victory in North Carolina," Mr. Hoey said. "However, we cannot rest on our oars or get overconfident. We must show even more activity in our campaign defending the record of the Democratic party in both the state and nation than the Republicans expend in attacking it. But knowing the Democrats of North Carolina as I do, I am not worried as to the ultimate outcome."

Because Al Smith and Bishop Cannon were able to carry the state for Mr. Hoover in 1923, many of the Republicans, especially those out of the state, still believe there is a chance to carry North Carolina for Mr. Landon, it is generally agreed. As a result, the state Republicans are applying and will continue to apply to Mr. Roosevelt and his administration is expected to weld the various factions in the Democratic party here in the state together into a more solid mass than ever before and to wipe out the minor differences which existed between the various groups before the primaries.

SUPERVISORS GIVEN CHANCE CHECK PRICES

Official Averages for Belt Range From 22 To 25 Cents

PRICES BETTER THAN LAST YEAR

Millions of Pounds of Tobacco Flooded Border Belt Markets First Two Days

Florence, S. C., Aug. 15.—(AP)—Saturday—a holiday on the tobacco markets—gave sales supervisors a chance to catch up with their figures after the crush of the first two days of auctions.

Official sales figures and price averages were still lacking from many of the 16 markets in the border belt, but available statistics indicated a level of between 20 and 25 cents.

Most of the markets reported the prices were running several cents a pound higher than last year with the better grades bringing exceptionally high prices. Millions of pounds flooded the markets Thursday and Friday—the first two days of the auction season.

Fairmont, N. C. 324,200 pounds at an average of 21.48; Conway, S. C. 144,000, 19.50; Lake City, S. C. 450,000 pounds, 21; Lumberton, N. C. 516,886 pounds, 22.72; Timmonsville, S. C. 332,456 pounds, 24.52.

SINGS PRAISE OF ROOSEVELT

Dr. A. D. Frank Addresses Kiwanians on President

Dr. A. D. Frank, director of the History department of East Carolina Teachers college, declared in an address at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club last night that we should pay more attention to the personality of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

The history instructor prefaced his remarks with the statement that he was by no means making a political talk. He said his aim was to compare the president with other great men.

He said his remarks were occasioned by the fact that "many here are looking at Roosevelt from the wrong angles. We should look more at his personality and immediate program," he added.

Dr. Frank said he had been an admirer of Mr. Roosevelt since the beginning of his career, and pointed to some characteristics of the President. He called attention to his courage, saying it took courage to conquer infantile paralysis. He recalled that President Roosevelt declared that he was experimenting on some legislation and was willing to drop the proposals if a better way was found out of the difficulty, or if a better plan was suggested.

He called attention to his frankness and optimism, saying both were distinct traits found in the chief executive.

Dr. Frank recalled the president's conservation programs, which included soil, forest and youth. He also praised the social security act, saying Roosevelt was the first one to come out for such a program.

The president's good neighbor policy and preparedness program also came in for praise by the college professor.

James F. Carr and Dal Cox were officially accepted as new members of the club.

Rev. J. A. McIver informed the members it would be his last meeting as he was preparing to leave shortly for Texas to make his home. President J. C. Galloway expressed regrets felt by the club at losing Rev. Mr. McIver as a member and also as a citizen of the city.

Secretary Dave Moore called attention to the meeting in Wilmington next Friday night and urged as many to attend as were able to do so. He also recalled that the district convention would be held in Greensboro October 15-17.

Rev. McIver Leaves City Next Month

Greenville will lose one of its most valuable citizens on September 2 when Rev. J. A. McIver, for the past three years pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church, moves to San Antonio, Texas.

Rev. Mr. McIver resigned his pastorate about two months ago, but so far it has not been accepted by his church.

The minister has been in North Carolina 14 years, the last three having been spent here. He is a native of Texas, and while he expressed great love for North Carolina, it is evident he still considers his native state his first love.

The high regard with which Rev. Mr. McIver was held here is evidenced by the many expressions of regret at his decision to leave the city. He has been active in civic organizations since he first came here. He is a member of the Kiwanis club, past president of the High School Parent-Teacher association and otherwise has taken an important part in the upbuilding of the community.

His family will leave here with him on September 2, Mr. and Mrs. McIver have two daughters who attended school here last season. They are Mary Jane, 14, and Ray, nine.

Rev. Mr. McIver will go to Angier, in Wake county, the week of August 24 to aid Dr. L. E. Freeman, Bible teacher, at Meredith college, conduct a revival. He expects to return here on August 31 and leave for San Antonio the following Wednesday.

He will remain in San Antonio until he becomes located as pastor in Texas.

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 15.—Glen C. Leach, chief of the division of fish culture of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, will confer soon with a special committee of the Board of Conservation and Development and department officials to consider plans for future activities towards replenishing the steadily diminishing supply of North Carolina's most valuable food fish—the shad.

Information that Mr. Leach would be sent to North Carolina to meet with the special committee to study shad conditions and possible remedies, was received today by R. Bruce Etheridge, director of the conservation department, from Chas. E. Jackson, acting commissioner of the fisheries bureau.

Mr. Etheridge said the first meeting of the committee will probably be held the middle of next week in Morehead City. The group will consist of J. L. Horne, Jr., Rocky Mount; E. S. Ashby, Elizabeth City; Jas. L. McNeil, Laurinburg; Mr. Leach, Mr. Etheridge, and Capt. A. Nelson, State fisheries commissioner.

The conservation director hopes that a constructive program for preserving the productivity of the shad industry of the State may be worked out at the meeting, and carried out through a cooperative arrangement between the Bureau of Fisheries and the Department of Conservation and Development.

News Behind The News

Washington. By RAY TUCKER. TRICKLE: A head-on collision has developed behind the scenes between the G. O. P. publicists and "brain trusters" at Chicago headquarters. It is the second chapter of a feud which seethed at Washington only a few weeks ago.

Professor O. G. Saxon heads the academics who have been marshaling an array of economic facts for use against the administration. He was recruited for this service by William B. Bell, chairman of the Republican Finance Committee, and he is an extremely able researcher.

er. But he complains regularly that the party's publicists don't seem able to dramatize his material so it will appeal to the voters.

The Saxon-Bell attitude resulted in a shakeup of the Washington force, the discharge of several key writers and the setup of an entirely new staff at Chicago. But now the professor has again informed his political sponsors that the writing boys are falling down on the attack. He may explain why the flow of G. O. P. publicity from the Windy City has been only a trickle since Alf Landon's nomination.

Men and Boys Crushed to Death Under Locomotive

DOZEN OR MORE SERIOUSLY HURT

Party of 40 Drove Directly in Path of Train at Grade Crossing

Louisville, Quebec, Aug. 15.—(AP)—Twenty-two men and boys were crushed to death early today when a fast Canadian-Pacific train struck and splintered their truck.

Returning from a political rally, a party of some 40 persons drove directly into the path of the locomotive at a grade crossing as it hurried toward them at high speed.

A dozen or more were injured. Four men who sensed danger a split second before the locomotive struck, jumped to safety.

Witnesses said the truck passenger cars which had halted at the crossing for the train.

Seventeen men apparently were killed outright and within a few hours five others succumbed to their injuries.

The accident occurred at a level crossing one mile west of this village.

The truck was struck squarely. As the locomotive crushed it the men spilled out, some of them rolling under the wheels of the train.

Many of the truck's occupants were mere boys from 14 to 16 years of age.

INVERSION: A canny midwestern editor has forwarded a bird's-eye prediction of the 1936 presidential outcome which gladdens the hearts of G. O. P.-ers in the political trenches. On the basis of his eminently logical figuring it appears almost impossible for President Roosevelt to be re-elected. He makes the point, first, that thousands of Republicans voted against Herbert Hoover out of disgust with his attitude toward prohibition and the Wisconsin burlesque. There are no accurate figures on the number of these deserters, but it is estimated that the total range from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000. With Wisconsin no longer an issue, it is presumed that they will return to the G. O. P. So, should other unnumbered thousands who were repulsed by Mr. Hoover's apparent inability to meet depression problems.

The farmers, according to this theory, were against Mr. Hoover almost en masse, but it is argued that returning prosperity will lift them back to ancient political moorings. In 1932 Mr. Roosevelt found a disorganized party of men and women who distrusted their leader, whereas next fall he may be up against a revived and re-united G. O. P. Moreover, like a heavyweight champion who has grown fat, the New Dealers have obviously lost the zeal and fervor which transformed their 1932 campaign into a crusade.

AGAINST: This possible realignment of voters shows that, from a broad viewpoint, the odds ought to be with the Republicans. Moreover, it is automatic that the people turn to the Democrats in years of depression but prefer to gamble on a Republican administration when good times return. There are numerous other factors, including such thorny issues as high taxes and New Deal spending, but these are the thoughts uppermost in the politicians' minds. They realize that it takes only a shift of 3,000,000-vote voters (more than half FDR's 1932 plurality) to elect Governor Landon. It requires only a reallocation of about 1,000,000 1932 voters in certain states to insure President Roosevelt's defeat, and G. O. P. strategists are concentrating on this area.

Recent presidential elections suggest that the total of fairly non-partisan, independent voters in the U. S. is 4,000,000. They acknowledge "agains" rather than "for." And it needs no imaginative exercise on the part of wise politicians to visualize about half of this mob deciding that their best bet is Mr. Landon rather than Mr. Roosevelt.

PERSONALITY: The key men who arrange the President's railroad itineraries are poring over time tables of trains which run through the "heart of Dixie." Apparently FDR wants to learn for himself if it's true what they say about the chance of G. O. P. victory in several southern states. The President's vote-seeking tour has not been definitely planned, depending on drought developments, but he will probably show up below the Mason and Dixon line during the first two weeks of September. Fairly elaborate visits will be made at Memphis, Charlotte and Atlanta, but there will be others as the occasion arises. Mr. Roosevelt will deliver formal speeches at Charlotte and Atlanta.

Identical politicians and editors from the South have been frequent visitors at the White House recently. They have assured the President that he need lose no sleep over the 1936 outcome in their territory. But Mr. Roosevelt, who has impressed upon his aides that he's running his reelection campaign, wants to see and hear for himself.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance thought teaching school at Ashboro would be a simple and relatively pleasant springboard for her budding career. The sister has brought her few meager emotional capacities, however, and she is already looking forward eagerly to the class of school. Miss Ben Tyler, bachelor and lover of strategy to Carol, tells her that Blake Thornton, who runs an advertising agency in Atlanta, is to be guest of honor at a dinner Ben is giving. Perhaps, Carol thinks, she may impress Blake enough for him to give her a job.

Chapter 20 BESieGING BLAKE THERE were eight people at Ben's dinner party: Alice and Tom, Janet, Malone, Mildred Harbin and Carol; Blake Thornton and Ben and Andy Tyler. They had cocktails at the Tyler's, then drove to the country club for dinner.

Carol found herself remembering the September dance, and Denis, September was dim and unreal now, and Denis was a man she'd known once. She hadn't heard from him in two months, and the rift had been so inevitable that its existence scarcely mattered. (She had made the break herself, in January.

"This has been too good to kill by inches, Denis," she wrote. "So I'm not going to write again. I could make you all pretty, terrified valet-dictory, but it was too good for that, too. Carry on, my darling. . . ."

The letter had evoked a swift, vehement protest, because the prospect of farewell was an artificial stimulus to a fading affair, but she had kept her word. And Denis hadn't written again because he knew she was right.

Blake Thornton was saying: "You don't live here, do you, Miss Torrance?" She left Denis and came back to the party. "No, Meredith. I'm teaching history and French in the high school."

She rather liked Blake Thornton, but he was hardly the type to "wangle" a job from: if he gave you a job it would be because he thought you could do it. He was thirty-three or four, she decided; thin and blond and not very tall, and there were deep lines on either side of his mouth. His eyes were as cold and gray as slate, and his speech was crispier than that of most Southern men.

"I didn't think I'd ever met you—or heard of you—and I've been here several times." He smiled, and his eyes warmed a little. "Teaching must call for infinite tact."

"And patience. More of both than I possess, I'm afraid. I'm clearing out after this year; I've tempted Providence long enough."

"That's rather a pity, isn't it? After all, somebody has to pioneer." She shook her head. "It takes sterner stuff than I'm made of. I've had one narrow escape already; next year I wouldn't be so lucky."

a small amount but it is expected to furnish a talking point for Democratic stumpers that the deficit is being reduced.

INITIATIVE: The Democratic campaign plans have been revised. Insiders say that it was all set to allow Gov. Landon to start the fight. The idea was to keep President Roosevelt in the background until the latter part of September. By that time the G. O. P. would have shot its bolt and FDR could have answered. But now the plans are otherwise.

The President was forced to make an early trip through the drought section. Of course it was to have been non-political. "But how can it be even though Landon will be present?" And so President Roosevelt will take the initiative in the national battle. It is hoped that it won't hurt the Democratic cause.

ESTIMATES: Railroad circles say that class I railroads of the country will show profitable operations for the full year. For the first seven months the estimated loss did not run higher than $20,000,000. It is said that should revenues run for the balance of the year, only as they did for the corresponding months of 1935, it carries will show an aggregate net of $38,000,000 for 1936.

But the picture painted is brighter. If operating revenue betters 1935 at the rate of the estimated 20 per cent then the net after fixed charges will be about $133,000,000. Deducting the first seven months' deficit of $23,000,000 the 1936 net will be about $110,000,000. It is because of these private estimates that carrier securities have been added to investment portfolios accounts.

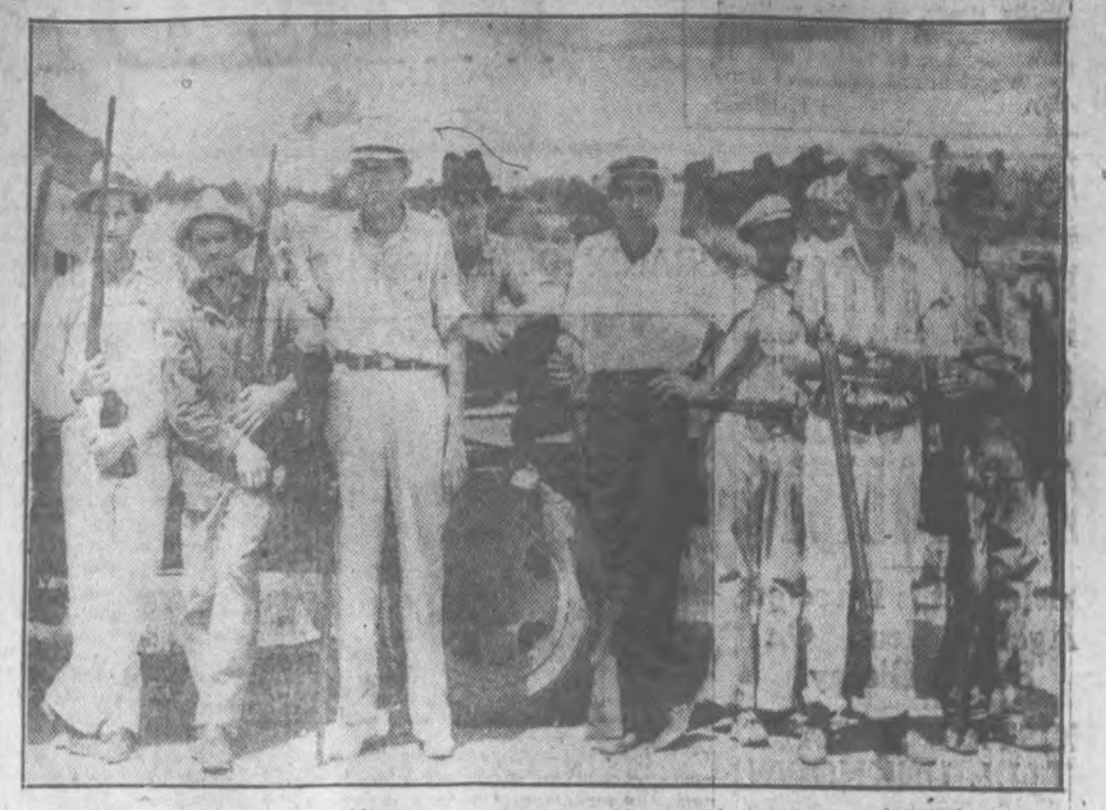

PAYMENT: Internationalists insist it is silly to believe that foreign countries can't afford to pay their war debts to the United States. It is pointed out that foreign investments in American securities would just about take care of the obligations and that it would not necessitate the transferring of funds.

Here is the scheme suggested: All foreign governments would order citizens to turn over their American securities in exchange for the various governments would pay in their own hands. The foreign governments would then turn over the securities — in payment of war debts — to the United States Treasury.

IMPRATICABLE: Your correspondent submitted the suggested scheme to an internationally known banker for his views. He couldn't see it at all. Said it would make the Treasury Department a holding company and a constant seller of securities in our open market. Said that that would depress security prices and that in the end the war debts would average about ten cents on the dollar and not full payment. He thought the idea just a pleasant dream but most impracticable.

HIGHER: Rainfall has ended the drought. A liberal amount of moisture has been received during the past few weeks. But it hasn't checked the advance of food prices. This because speculative interests have taken a hand in the situation. Crop estimates are small and distributors find themselves with shelves carrying small inventories. Thus far the public hasn't felt the market's strong position. But according to the trade they will feel it during the fall and winter months. This will be especially true

RACE FEELING FLARES AFTER POSSEMEN SHOOTING

Race feeling flared when three white possemen were shot while searching for a negro accused of trying to kidnap a white baby at Anniston, Ala. This posse, seeking the alleged kidnaper and those responsible for the outburst of firing, was dispersed by state highway patrolmen. Guns were returned to members of the group later upon their promise to disperse. (Associated Press Photo) length" on these while he inter-speres them with broadside attacks on the New Deal. and not very successfully, to his way of thinking.

Washington. — Out in Salt Lake City, John D. M. Hamilton, the Republican chairman, told interviewers that Governor Landon's monetary views did not indicate "a return necessarily to the old gold standard."

That statement, made almost within purview of distance of Senator Borah's strongholds, had some appearance of a renewed invitation to the Idahoan to come actively into the campaign for Governor Landon.

That view was emphasized in certain pro-silver quarters when Hamilton added that the Landon position did not preclude "some arrangement in regard to silver."

In his famous telegram to the Cleveland convention, Landon expressed his belief in ultimate return to a currency convertible in gold. The mention of gold in connection with the Republican monetary plank disturbed Borah, for it was at his insistence that the platform avoided all reference to gold.

When he returned to Idaho to enter the senatorial primaries, he put it squarely before the state party leadership that his own views on currency might be at odds with the party's presidential candidate.

A month ago, in response to questions, Borah asserted he was not bolting the ticket and had been supporting the platform from the beginning. He did not say he had been supporting the platform as "amended" by Governor Landon. Governor Landon, however, immediately responded that he was glad to have the cooperation of Senator Borah. Yet about the only Borah cooperation publicly evident in the month since was his continued attack on many phases of the New Deal during his primary campaign. He was cooperating to that extent before the Cleveland convention. If Hamilton's remark in Salt Lake City was a forerunner of a clarification statement by Mr. Landon, certainly the Kansas governor has left himself ample opening in his early campaign speeches to cover such a subject. He offered in advance only the vaguest hints of what he intended to say. It seemed possible that neither Mr. Hamilton nor Mr. Landon wanted to bid too strongly at this time for Borah support until they knew the outcome of the Idaho primary in which the senator had a Townsend candidate as opponent.

Home Beautification Report

The Home Beautification report from the Farmville No. 1 Club is: "The beautification program thus far has been very helpful to our members. Their interest has kindled and we are really doing things under the capable leadership of our efficient leaders, Mrs. J. R. Lewis and Mrs. B. N. Carraway. They have inspired their club members and are doing an immense amount of work on their own premises. Mrs. J. R. Lewis has transformed her woodpile and back lot into a well planned garden, planting shrubs and flowers of all kinds. She has also made a pool out of an old flower pit. She has a bird bath and is planning an outdoor living room. Along with this, Mrs. Lewis helped to organize our Baby Club Farmville No. 2. There were nine members to begin with and now they have fourteen. This club seems to be alert and wide awake and are working on this program. Much credit is due Mrs. Lewis for the organization of Farmville No. 2. Besides this she is our vegetable garden leader and makes a report at each club meeting. She is offering a prize to the member that has the best garden. She has attended every leader school as well as Mr. Hunt's lecture in Greenville, the district meeting, and went to Washington, D. C.

Mrs. B. N. Carraway has given several plants to members of our club members, set 300 plants, 6 doz. bulbs, 50 dahlias, 100 chrysanthemums, 70 iris, 18 verbena plants, unknown varieties 55, 12 daisies, 20 phlox, 12 golden glow, etc. She has improved her lawn by planting shrubs, planning outdoor living room, home grounds improved by cleaning up discarded articles. Mrs. Carraway attended the poultry meeting in Rocky Mount and has been a help to the club members. Other members have also planted many flowers.

What our club members are doing. The things of most interest in our club is our club house. Mr. S. T. Lewis gave us a site, Mr. B. F. Lewis gave us the silos. Mr. Bob Davis donated the top, Mr. A. C. Monk donated $10 and the club has made a silk comfort and sold chances for benefit of our club house. We made $25 on this project. Here is a list of what we have done: Interesting programs; Birds by Miss Tabitha DeVisonoil. Programs on government as outlined in year book. Club house programs. Made silk comfort, sold chances and made $25. Each member making a scrapbook. Organized a new club. Three new members. Leaders attended the leader school. Report made by vegetable garden leader each month. Members attended Mr. Hunt's lecture sponsored by Garden Club in Greenville. Poultry meeting at Goldsboro and at Rocky Mount. Representative at each council meeting. Delegates went to Washington, D. C. and to district meeting. Seven members have repaired and screened houses. Four homes have been electrified. One funeral design made. Plants exchanged with Farmville Garden Club.

—Mrs. J. R. Lewis. —Mrs. B. N. Carraway.

Our Accomplishments Show:

The Farmville No. 1 Club's ac-

compliments are: 16 women and 3 girls enrolled with 2 leaders. Six houses painted. 19 woodpiles stacked. 9 sheds made for machinery. 8 fences repaired, and 3 service areas used as laundry. Two houses under-planned, five tied to ground with foundation plantings, four having service area screened by plantings, nine lawns improved, and four having permanent walks and drives correctly laid out. Four outdoor living rooms in progress. One bird bath, 1 pool, 5 seats, 1 swing (chaise longue) and porch boxes built and painted. Thirteen native trees set out, 25 evergreen, 21 deciduous and 15 flowering trees set out. Three fruit trees used on accent or specimen trees around grounds; 411 shrubs planted, 150 bulbs bought cooperatively, and 8 members rooted own shrubs. There were two exchanges of plants in the local club. Six home grounds improved, one church grounds improved by club. Thirteen dump heaps removed. One mail box fixed individually. One-fourth mile of highway was improved by planting roses and perennials. Nineteen made scrapbooks.

"AS RELIGION SEES IT"

By DR. ADOLF KELLER (Executive Secretary, Central Bureau For Inter-Church Aid, Geneva, Switzerland)

Reich Church Men's Protest To Hitler Called 'Audacious Statement'—Memorial Strikes At Center Of Nazi Doctrine

The Evangelical Synod in Germany, represented by its provisional council, recently sent a protestation to Adolf Hitler which contains a recapitulation of all the complaints which the Evangelical Church has against the state policy. The church assures the Fuehrer that she is praying for him, for people, state and government, but that in obedience to the word of God she has to tell him the truth without fear. The statement, taking its point of departure in the declaration of 1933, says that the struggle against the Church of Christ is at present so lively and effective as never since 1918. It accuses leaders of the present government of having attacked publicly the Christian faith. The danger exists, therefore, that the Evangelical youth will be prevented from accepting the spiritual leadership of Jesus as the Saviour or German boys and girls.

De-Christianization Charged

The aggressive policy of Mr. Rosenberg aims at a full de-Christianization of the German people by suppressing public discussion and Christian education. The statement quotes Hitler himself who said that the party is not attacking Christianity, but trying to create a big national church without confessional shades, but then declares that this promise has not been kept and that since July, 1933, one attack after the other has been made against the church.

WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

After the church and the school, the free public library is the most effective influence for good in America. The moral, mental and material benefits to be derived from a carefully selected collection of good books, free for the use of all the people, cannot be over estimated. No community can afford to be without a library.—Theodore Roosevelt.

SCOUTS READY TO GO TO CAMP

Old Transient Camp at Nags Head Chosen For Site

Camp Charles, near Wilson, the popular Scout Council camp, closed with a new high record of 311 different boys enjoying its privileges, and it is these boys and others who are urging a beach camp with its different type of adventure. Leo Johnson, camping chairman of the East Carolina Council, has advised W. H. Taft, the local district camping chairman, this morning that the beach camp will be held at Nags Head at the old transient campsite for ten days, beginning August 23 and closing September 2, at a cost of $12 which includes transportation to and from Tarboro.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—"Characters in this picture are entirely fictional and any chance resemblance to living characters is pure coincidence. Announcements of the sort are appearing more frequently on pictures taken from the headlines, but previews of "Sing, Baby, Sing," chuckled at the new length to which the long arm has grown. This hilarious musical concerns the hectic romance of an unknown singer and a Hollywood movie actor who meet in a New York hospital, are headed as "Romeo" and "Juliet" and cause further excitement when the actor is hurried home by his manager only to be pursued by his "Juliet."

Montgomery's Latest

"Piccadilly Jim" stars Robert Montgomery in one of his more likeable smart-boy impersonations. A caricaturist in London, he plays hard and supports his father, Frank Morgan, who plays lawyer. Morgan falls in love with Billie Burke, sister of Cora Witherspoon, a newly rich American, who frowns on the romance. Montgomery meanwhile meets Madge Evans, and falls hard for her. He loses his job he turns to cartooning, creating a strip based on the Burke-Witherspoon family—not knowing that Madge Evans is his niece—and the plot becomes increasingly complicated.

BIG DEMOCRATIC VICTORY PREDICTED FOR NOVEMBER

public organization is reported to have already obtained a much larger slice of campaign funds from the National Republican Committee than it has ever obtained in the past, which means that the Republicans will spend more in their campaign here than in past years. Reports are that the State Republican Executive Committee plan to spend some money in almost every county in the state. But the spending of this money is not expected to do anything more than help keep more of the Republican workers less dissatisfied than they have been during these "three lean years" under Roosevelt. "I told Chairman Farley this week in New York that North Carolina would cast more Democratic votes this fall than ever before, in spite of greatly increased Republican efforts to carry the state."

CONFLICTS WITH THE WORD OF GOD

which stands not primarily for principles of usefulness—but for the truth and sincerity. Therefore, also the oath of allegiance which is imposed upon thousands of men leads to a falsification of fundamental conceptions of Christian truth. The church cannot admit that the advantage of the people is superior to the truth. God is the protector of right and law. It is therefore a defection from the law, when law is governed by arbitrary measures. The Council of the Evangelical Synod reminds Adolf Hitler that he receives a veneration in a form which belongs to God alone. They remind him that some years ago he disapproved of his portrait being placed on evangelical altars. Today his personal decisions become more and more not only the norm of political decisions but also of morality and law in the German people, and he is invested with a religious dignity of a high priest, even of a mediator between God and people. The church government demands the liberty for the German people to continue its way under the sign of the cross lest the children will condemn their fathers because they built a state on earth but lost the Kingdom of God.

THE HEALTH, SAFETY AND HAPPINESS OF THE SCOUTS

will be uppermost in the minds of the camp director and his associates. Mr. Sigwald will have only adult members as his staff at this second camp, as an added safety precaution. A quota of ten Scouts has been set for each district, and it is expected Greenville district will quickly register that many and will ask for a few additional.

Local Scoutmasters have already been advised by the camp director of the many details of the camp, and Camp Charles campers received the following message through the mail last week:

Dear Camp Charles Alumnus: Good news and how! Our beach camp at Nags Head will open Sunday, Aug. 23 and close Wednesday, Sept. 2—ten days of visits to Fort Raleigh, Wright Memorial, studying stars, seashells, sea birds, fishing, rowing, surf bathing, visits to coast guard stations, etc. The first ten boys who send me $2.00 reservation fee (balance $10 paid in Tarboro—free) will be accepted. Your scoutmaster will soon have more details, but don't wait—mail in that $2 today!

Dear Scout:

We missed you at Camp Charles. A council beach camp will operate for 10 days (Aug. 23-Sept. 2) at the old transient camp (buildings screened) on Roanoke Island, with an entire staff of adults. Trips to Fort Raleigh, Wright Memorial, Old Mount Vineyard, and other historical points. We'll study seashells. Reports are that the State Republican Executive Committee plan to spend some money in almost every county in the state. But the spending of this money is not expected to do anything more than help keep more of the Republican workers less dissatisfied than they have been during these "three lean years" under Roosevelt. "I told Chairman Farley this week in New York that North Carolina would cast more Democratic votes this fall than ever before, in spite of greatly increased Republican efforts to carry the state."

Miss Beatrice Cobb of Morganton, National Committeewoman, said:

"For I am convinced that any increased activity by the Republicans will be offset by even greater activity by the Democrats, especially since the Republicans are directing so much of their fire at President Roosevelt."

RINSE OUT YOUR SUIT AFTER SEA BATHING

Rinse out your bathing suit in fresh water after you have been on the beach. It helps prevent the salt water from rotting the material. The most effective way to wash underthings that have been used by the exercising members of the family is to soak the garments in tepid water for half an hour before putting them in the scapy water.

EIGHT TYPHOID CASES FOUND IN EDGECOMBE

Tarboro, Aug. 14.—The Edgecombe County health office announced yesterday eight cases of typhoid fever had been reported in the county since June 1—two of them this month.

Two deaths from typhoid have occurred in the county since the beginning of the current outbreak. All of the other six victims have recovered or are thought to be on the way to recovery except Worthington, who was described as in a critical condition.

BILLETT HURLS TWO-HIT GAME FOR GREENIES

Locals Make Triple Play to Defeat Snow Hill; Within Half Game of Martins; Ayden, Kinston and New Bern Win Tilts

The Greenies defeated Snow Hill at that place yesterday, 3-1, in a game featured by a triple play and by a double play which was a double play.

The Greenville club is now one-half game from Williamston, who lost yesterday to Kinston, 2-1, and who have been leading the league for the past few weeks.

The triple play, made by the Greenies, came in the seventh. With the bases filled, Mullinax hit a liner which first baseman Sleepy Sanford speared with his mitt. He tagged first to make it two outs and then threw to Ambler to second to complete the triple play.

The disputed double play came in the Greenies' half of the fourth. With one out, Farley and Rabb singled. Billett hit to Chappel, who threw to second baseman Ralph Williams, who threw to Ingram at first. The Snow Hill players then jogged off the field. Farley and Rabb kept on around the bases and crossed the plate. There was much arguing, but the umpire insisted that Rabb was safe at second and Billett out at first. Hits by Booser, Ambler, House and Brown, plus a hit-batsman ticket, rounded out a five-run spurge in that inning.

While hit mates were collecting 15 hits, Billett was holding Snow Hill to two—a double by Parrish in the third, and a single by Chappel in the fifth. Mason Bugz hurriedly in for the Snow Hill outfit, allowing three hits and no runs.

The Greenies meet Williamston here this afternoon at four o'clock in Third Street Stadium. If they win this game, they will be holding the league lead. With only a few more days of the season left, the Greenies seem to have found their stride and are marching on to another pennant this year.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
 Greenville ... 102 800 000-8 15 5
 Snow Hill ... 001 000 001-2 2 0
 Billett and Wagner; Bumgarner, Bugz and Parrish.

Other Results
 Little Dave Smith, former hurler for the Greenies, booted Dean of the Martins in a mound duel which was won by Kinston, 2-1.

Ayden and Goldsboro had a slugfest party yesterday. There were 29 hits and 26 runs made in the game. The Aces came out on top after the smoke had cleared, the score being 15-13. Five pitchers were used.

The Basement Boys—the New Bern Bears to you—pulled another surprise yesterday when they defeated Bunn Hearn's Tarboro Bunnies, 2-0. Doc Smith's club seems to have found new life and is winning a lot oftener than they have in the earlier part of the season. If they had a little more time they might climb out of the cellar into second place.

APPOINTMENT WINS PRAISES

Naming of Phillips to U. N. C. Faculty Is Significant

Raleigh, Aug. 14.—The appointment of Guy B. Phillips, superintendent of the Greensboro city schools, to the faculty of the school of education in the Chapel Hill College of the University of North Carolina, as announced yesterday, is regarded here as being significant and as an unusually good move on the part of the university.

In his new post as public relations officer of the university, it is expected that Phillips will prove very valuable to the university and the school of education in maintaining contacts both with high school students and teachers over the state as well as with the general assembly. The belief in many circles here is that Phillips should be able to inject some much needed new vitality into the UNC School of Education and help materially to bring it out of the comparative regression it has occupied for several years.

While the formal announcement of Mr. Phillips' appointment stressed the fact that he would spend much of his time contacting high school students and teachers, evidently in an effort to get more of the students to attend the University and more of the teachers to do work in the school of education or in the summer school, those who know some of the background of his appointment are convinced that one of his most important duties is going to be that of contact with the legislature while it is in session, or a sort of invisible lobbyist for the university and school forces of the state. For the past several years Mr. Phillips has been one of the outstanding superintendents in the state and unusually active in the North Carolina Education Association of which he is a past president. He was chairman of its legislative committee, which directs all of the school lobbying activities, for several years and is well acquainted with the ins and outs of the general assembly.

The appointment of Phillips to this new post of public relations officer is also expected to mean greater cooperation between the university and the public schools, whereas in the past these two groups for the most part have gone their own ways and fought their own battles separately.

Herbert Marshall, Ruth Chatterton and the exciting new personality Simone Simon, featured in "Girls' Dormitory" opening at the Pitt Theatre Monday.

get "stiff." Try and keep it from being stiff. ... So that's Frank McHugh. He looks like a good guy. ... I wish I was back in the furniture business. That was a good business, only I couldn't make any money at it. I wish I had never gone on the stage. I wish 'Parlor, Bedroom and Bath' had never been written. Vaudeville is easier than this. Once in a while the audience laughs. Here you don't hear anyone laughing and the lights are all around you and that's all you can see. ... "Why did I ever leave New York?" "I'm supposed to say something. What am I supposed to say? I remember now. I'm supposed to talk about horses. Horses, horses, horses. Crazy over horses, horses, horses. That doesn't make sense. Allen Jenkins says he'll take a beer. No beer today, no beer today, you can't get beer on Sunday. That isn't the way it goes. Now I remember. Parlor, one beer. That's my line. I've got it. I remember now. ... "Maybe I won't go back in the furniture business after all. It seemed like a good idea to go in the furniture business when I'd saved enough from the stage but I sunk my savings in it. And now I'm in pictures. ... "All right. ... Harry, one beer."

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
 Hollywood — Teddy Hart, five-foot-two comedian, thinks out loud on his first day before camera and microphone:
 "These lights are terrible. Can't see anything. What is that thing hanging over my head? I guess it's the microphone. Wonder why the guy keeps jiggling it up and down. Makes me nervous. Maybe he could hold it still for a while. He drops it down by my head and then he picks it up by Allen Jenkins' head.
 "I didn't know cameras looked like that. Where's the guy who's supposed to turn the crank or who's they have cranks any more? There is a little man in a beret who keeps staring at me through a thing on the side. Then he tells another man to make a mark there. There are chalk marks all over the floor and I'm supposed to remember which one belongs to me.
 "I can't remember anything. Can't remember one line of dialog. After a year and a half in this play ("Three Men on a Horse") on Broadway I've forgotten every line of it. What's that first speech? How does it go? This Mervyn LeRoy is a pretty good fellow. I guess, or he'd be bawling me out. I thought dire 'ors always bawled actors out. All he says is, "Take it easy, kid, and don't let your next
