Rebel Warship Attacks Answered By Loyalists With Death Of Hostages

Insurgents Lined Up in Front of Firing Squads

REBELS SET FOR DRIVE ON FRONTS

Government Forces Prepare to Meet Anticipated Attacks From Land, Sea, Air

(Copyright by Associated Press) Madrid, Aug. 17.—(AP)—One of the bloodiest battles of Spain's month-old civil war was being fought late today in the ancient western province of Estremadura, with 20,000 government troops and militia men trying to break a rebel blockade along the Portuguese frontier.

The government reported fierce fighting with bayonets with no quarter shown on either side. Reports that rebels in taking Badajoz had executed 1,500 government adherents spurred the government forces into a merciless drive to "completely exterminate" the rebels in the west, authorities said.

(By Associated Press) Government soldiers answered rebel warships' shells thrown against Irun and San Sebastian today with swift deaths for hostages before firing squads, reports reaching the Franco-Spanish frontier stated.

About 1,700 hostages were held in Irun and 700 at San Sebastian. The number of dead was not known.

Government forces prepared to meet anticipated rebel attacks by land and air, in addition to bombardment from the sea along the coastal strip on the Bay of Biscay near the French border.

General Francisco Franco, leader of the rebellious fascist, instilled new enthusiasm into his followers in a quick trip from southern Spain to rebel headquarters in Burgos. In the northern part of the country, leaders apparently perfected plans for the long-awaited simultaneous attacks from north and south.

Smoke from funeral pyres of government dead rose over Badajoz, which lay in ruins, and rebels continued executions of defeated defenders of the city near the border of Portugal.

More than 1,500 persons were reported executed in Badajoz and countless others awaited their turn before a military tribunal.

Rebels announced an "important victory" over the government near Zaragoza, a rebel stronghold.

A government "victory march" against rebels on the island of Mallorca, reported from Madrid, was denied in rebel reports reaching London.

Union's President Agrees Cooperate With Gov. Futrell

Head of Southern Tenant Farmers Union Announces Willingness to Work With Executive

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Southern Tenant Farmers Union announced today its willingness to cooperate with Gov. Futrell of Arkansas in a suggested statewide conference on the share-cropper problem.

J. R. Butler of White county, Arkansas, farm laborer, president of the union, accepted the proposal through H. L. Mitchell, union secretary.

Butler said the union would cooperate regardless of its belief that "Futrell used every means at his command in an attempt to break the recent strike of share croppers."

The governor last week invited other southern chief executives to a conference at Hot Springs, Ark., to discuss the share cropper situation, particularly in the cotton fields.

His statement followed announcement from Washington that the Department of Justice was prepared to present "conflicting evidence" of peonage in Eastern Arkansas before a federal grand jury at Little Rock.

Typhoon Kills Eleven In Philippine Islands

Manila, P. I., Aug. 17.—(AP)—At least 11 persons were killed by a typhoon which today left homeless natives of northern Luzon island threatened with famine.

Pleas for government aid said many more were believed to have been killed in the storm which swept in from the Pacific Saturday.

As the storm struck and then passed on toward the China coast, three ships caught in its grip sent distress calls. One vessel has not been heard from since.

Sanitary Officer Serves Greenville Begins New Duties

J. P. Stowe Starts Task of Sanitary Inspector for City; New County Man Be Named

J. P. Stowe, who for the past year and a half has been connected with the Pitt County Health department, today took over the duties of sanitary inspector for the city, but will continue to work under the county health department, headed by Dr. N. Thomas Ennett.

A sanitary inspector was provided for Greenville when the city agreed to put up $500 annually, the sum to be matched by the state. The duties of the new inspector will be confined to Greenville and a radius of one mile. He will have charge of the milk and water sheds for the city, however, regardless of where they are located.

E. G. Lynch will continue his duties as a city health officer and inspector.

A successor to Mr. Stowe as county inspector is expected to be selected momentarily. Dr. Ennett said he had been negotiating with a possible successor, but was not ready to make any definite announcement at the present time.

In discussing the change, Dr. Ennett praised the work of Mr. Stowe and declared he felt sure he would fill the position of city sanitary inspector in a capable manner.

JURIST ASKED ORDER ARREST OF TOWNSEND

Former Director Of Pension Movement Seeks Action

GILMOUR YOUNG ALSO INCLUDED

Doctor and Secretary Had Failed to Appear in Court for Disposition Hearing

Cleveland, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Ben Sacharow, attorney for the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, former director in the Townsend old age pension organization, asked Common Pleas Judge George W. Kerr today to order the arrest of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the pension plan, and Gilmour Young, national secretary, for failure to appear at a disposition hearing here.

Dr. Townsend and Young were scheduled to testify at the hearing in connection with Wright's receivership suit against the Townsend organization.

"I want a citation issued for Dr. Francis Townsend and I ask Your Honor to see that Dr. Townsend be not encouraged to make mockery of the court of justice," Sacharow said. He then asked for the arrest of Young.

Attorney Charles H. Hubbell received a telegram from Young, stating that Dr. Townsend would be unable to appear due to illness.

Johnson Declares Road Maintenance Would Be Provided

Treasurer Says Better County Roads Would Result From Proposed Highway Bond Issue

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—Better maintenance of all county roads and the surface treatment of more miles of these secondary roads would result if the next general assembly should decide to issue some $25,000,000 in new highway bonds for the purpose of modernizing and rebuilding old and worn out highways on the main state highway system, State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson said today.

"It was of these county roads I was thinking more than of the state highways when I made this suggestion for a new highway bond issue of about $25,000,000 to be used in reconstructing old and worn out main highways," Johnson said. "For as conditions now are, the State Highway Commission is forced to use such a large portion of its revenue in maintaining the state highway system that not enough is left to provide proper maintenance for the county roads. Indications are that an increasing amount of maintenance funds are going to have to be used in patching up weak links in the state highway system that less and less will be available for use on the county roads, especially on the old stretches of highway that were built for light traffic and which are now being forced to carry heavy traffic."

"But if these old, inadequate and worn out roads could be rebuilt entirely, as they should be, the maintenance cost would be greatly reduced and a much larger share of the maintenance appropriations could be spent on rebuilding and maintaining county roads and in the surface treating of many miles of these secondary roads."

House Catches Fire 2nd Time One Month

The damage done by Saturday's fire was estimated to be between five and six dollars.

10,000 SEE HANGING SUPERVISED BY WOMAN SHERIFF

A crowd estimated at 10,000 was attracted to Owensboro, Ky., to witness the execution of a negro supervised by a woman sheriff, Mrs. Florence Thompson. Mrs. Thompson directed preparations for the hanging but left the actual springing of the trap to Arthur Haas, former Louisville policeman. She did not appear publicly at the execution. This picture shows the crowd and just as the negro, Rainey Bethea, dropped through the trap door. (Associated Press Photo)

REV. COUGHLIN RETURNS HOME

Radio Priest Is Much Better Following Night of Rest

Cleveland, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, feeling much better after a night of rest left by train today for his home in Detroit. The priest's address to his national union of social justice was halted yesterday when he was overcome by illness during a denunciation of the Roosevelt administration.

A policeman on guard outside his hotel room, Father Coughlin slept comfortably after he was stricken by what Dr. George P. O'Malley, Cleveland physician, described as exhaustion and a nervous disorder super-induced by the intense work of planning and carrying out the first convention of his national union for social justice.

Preceding the radio priest in addressing the concluding meeting of the national union's convention, William Lenke, declared "Franklin D. Roosevelt is a bewildered Keresky who doesn't know where he is going. Alf M. Landon is the dying shadow of a past civilization and doesn't know it."

Several Cases Aired In City Court Term

Four defendants, all negroes, were tried in City court today, only one less than the five given hearings in Saturday's session.

Preston Hebbis was taxed with the costs of court upon being convicted of drunkenness. William Hardy was bound over to County Court on charges of driving carelessly and recklessly, and Sherman Heath and Young Jenkins were bound over on charges of assault with a deadly weapon.

Saturday's cases were: Jacob Williams, negro, assault, $10 and costs; J. L. Draper and P. J. Robertson, disorderly conduct, $10 and one-half the costs each; James Tyson, negro, assault, 30 days on the roads; and Bill Barber, disturbing the peace by playing a radio excessively loud, $10 and costs.

Harold Goldman, playwright and screen writer, said his first short story immediately.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

STROKE: Premier Blum's Gallie Impulsiveness almost undid his remarkably successful efforts to establish closer ties with Washington during these troubled days abroad.

The French Premier would be blind if he didn't sense that most New Dealers' personal sympathies lie with France's radical government and against dictator-ruled nations. So he set out shrewdly to capitalize this remote affection. The French parliament delayed the vote on legalizing woman suffrage until Frances Perkins arrived in Paris. Officials Prepare Case Against Negro Charged With Hotel Room Death

Postpone Hearing On Grading Of Tobacco

No reason was advanced for offering the hearing.

TRIC HELD IN HOTEL MURDER

Young Matron Found Beaten to Death in Room

Chicago, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Three negroes, two women and a youth, were taken into custody today for questioning in connection with the killing of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell, who was found beaten to death in a hotel room on the near south side yesterday.

The crime was the fourth hotel room slaying of a woman here in recent months.

Those held were Myrtle Hynes, 55, a. L. Martin, 30; and Claude P. Davis, 18.

The two women were seized after telephone members found a note book, dropped in flight by a negro who was found prowling at the hotel a week ago, were traced to their addresses. From them the police hope to obtain identification of the prowler, who they believe, killed Mrs. Trammell.

Davis is day-boy at the hotel. The police said they intend to question him about his activities yesterday and Saturday.

The nude body of the 24-year-old victim, a former Knoxville, Tenn., stenographer, was found yesterday by her husband of a year and a half, Thomas Trammell, 49, in their third floor room at the State hotel.

She had been strangled and beaten and her skull had been fractured in two places—by either a hatchet or a sharp-edged brick in the opinion of Chief Deputy Coroner Victor Schaefer. Officials said she also had apparently been criminally assaulted.

CHARGE MURDER AND BURGLARY

Sheriff Brown Announces He Plans to Call Only Two Or Three Witnesses

Asheville, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A Buncombe county grand jury indicted Martin Moore today on murder and first degree burglary charges in the death of Helen Clevenger.

Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles announced the arraignment of the negro former hall boy, who Sheriff Laurence E. Brown said confessed to slaying the New York University co-ed who was held here this afternoon.

Both indictments charged capital offenses.

Nettles said seven witnesses were called in the grand jury's investigation.

Asheville, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles presented bills of indictment to the Buncombe county grand jury today charging Martin Moore with murder and first degree burglary in the death of Helen Clevenger.

The two indictments, both capital offenses, were received by Foreman Oscar Brown who immediately went into session with the jury.

At the same time Sheriff Laurence E. Brown announced that he planned to "call only two or three" of the more than 30 witnesses summoned for today in the investigation in the hotel room slaying July 14 of the New York university co-ed from Staten Island, N. Y., to which the sheriff said the negro former hall-boy of the Battery Park Hotel, had confessed.

He said he would present the signed confession of the negro to the grand jury, but that he would not call on Dr. David H. Hunt, head physician at the hotel to establish conditions of the girl's death. He said he planned to call Professor W. L. Clevenger, of N. C. State college, the uncle with whom Miss Clevenger was traveling at the time of her death and who found her shot and clubbed body in her room.

Johnston Operator Local Warehouse Here This Season

Change in Management of Johnston's Warehouse in Effect With Opening of 1936 Market

An important change in the operation of tobacco warehouses on the Greenville market the coming season, and one that will be well received by farmers is that J. M. Johnston will operate Johnston's warehouse.

Having been identified with the local market for several years Mr. Johnston is not only an experienced warehouseman, but being a practical farmer himself knows the problems of the grower and has always worked hard in the sale of their tobacco that their interest may be protected.

Associated with Mr. Johnston will be men who are experienced in their respective duties in the tobacco industry, and we predict that Johnston's warehouse will experience one of the best seasons since its construction several years ago.

Since the close of last season many important changes have been made to this popular house, all of which assures the farmers unexcelled conveniences and even better service.

GREENIES LOSE CONTEST, 10-0

Locals Shut Out For First Time This Season; Bugs-Bears Play Fifteen Scoreless Innings; Tarboro Scores Eight Runs in Ninth to Defeat Aces, 9-7; Kingston Trounces Snow Hill

Williamston, Aug. 17.—The Martins came out of their batting slump today, to regain the Coastal Plain League lead by defeating the Greenville Greenies, 10-0.

Cherry pitched the Martins to victory, allowing the Greenies but five singles, two of them off pitcher's bat. Only in the third and fifth frames was Cherry in trouble and the threats ended both times with Wagner pouring out white the bases were loaded.

It was Greenville's first shut-out this season and Cherry's thirteenth since his first three losses. Card started for the Greenies and was relieved by Shuman.

Cherry opened the Martins' half of the first inning with a double. Corbett singled and then scored on Shuman's single after Walters' out. Steve Douglas homered in the second frame. He also tripled and singled for a perfect day at bat. Shuman got three singles, Corbett two and Cherry a double and single.

Tarboro is scheduled to play the Greenville Club in Greenville at 4 o'clock in a play-off of a rained-out contest.

Scoreless Duel.
 New Bern, Aug. 17.—Goldboro's Kirkland and New Bern's Jacobs played 10 innings of scoreless ball here yesterday afternoon before darkness wrapped the game up for the night.

Known by sensational fielding that sent a boisterous crowd into hysterics, neither boy had shown signs of weakness when the contest Kirkland allowed two less hits than his opponent, but Jacobs walked only one and that gift came in the 10th frame. Bearing down on every pitch, the youngsters always had a little something left for tight spots—and there were several. Right-fielder Harrington of the Bruins almost broke up the game in the last half of the 11th, his drive to right field dropping down upon the fence. But the best he could get was a double.

In the early the best game of the season here. Speed in Thomas of the Philadelphia Athletics, was in to stand but had to leave in the seventh. Little did he know the game was then not half over.

Another Surprise Game.
 Ayden, Aug. 17.—Six runs behind as the ninth frame opened, Tarboro staged a rally here today to score eight runs and beat the Aces, 9-7.

Byrd, Ayden's starting hurler, had things well in hand until the ninth, the visitors having scored only one run. Tarboro's batters revived, however, and pored out five successive hits off Byrd as the ninth opened. Upchurch was sent in, but he was unable to stop the slaughter. Ayden's was unable to produce in his turn at bat.

Engler Beats Snow Hill.
 Snow Hill, Aug. 17.—Kingston's Engler defeated Snow Hill here today, 11-0, in a contest marred by many costly errors.

The thrills consisted eight of their runs as result of Snow Hill errors, while the locals got three unearned runs.

C. Keller, with two home runs and a double out of five trips to the plate, was Kingston's star at bat. He accounted for nine runs. Longset hit a double and two singles. Mullinax, with a double and two singles, and Ingram, with a double and a single, led Snow Hill. Robinson hit a homer in the ninth with two on for the locals.

USE VARYING COLORS FOR HOT WEATHER AID

You can help your family through the hot weather—and save yourself some work—by considering little details of color and selectivity. Use, for instance, an orange cloth table cover and paper napkins to match for breakfast. For lunch, the same thing in green, saving the linen for evening.

Food coloring can be made attractive, too. Two kinds of melon—honey dew and cantaloupe—scraped into tiny balls and served in a glass garnished with mint leaves comprise a bright dessert.

ONLY HARMONY IN COMMITTEE

No Traces of Pre-Primary Differences Evidenced

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 17.—No traces of the factional differences and bitterness which prevailed in the ranks of the Democratic party prior to the primaries, were seen in the meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee here last night. Party harmony fairly oozed from both the atmosphere and the members of the committee before and after the meeting, indicating that most of the things that had been said and charged before the primary have now been forgotten and that all factions are going to work together in the campaign this fall to give the Republican organization another thorough drubbing.

The extent of the harmony which prevailed was evidenced by the grace with which the committee approved the wishes of Clyde R. Hoey, the Democratic nominee for Governor and elected J. Wallace Winborne of Marion chairman of the committee, Mrs. J. B. Spilman of Greenville as vice chairman and Outlar Moore as secretary, despite the fact that until the last day or two there has been a strong demand throughout the east for the election of an eastern Democrat as chairman. Mr. Winborne has been chairman of the committee for the past four years and was the choice of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus for that post four years ago. But the fact that Winborne was the choice of Mr. Hoey, coupled with the fact that he has been one of the most popular and successful chairmen the committee has ever had and that his ability both as an organizer and money raiser is recognized by everyone, made him acceptable to all. Neither was there a note of opposition to the election of Mrs. Spilman as vice chairman nor to Outlar Moore as secretary. Moore had been secretary of the committee for several years but resigned early in the gubernatorial campaign to become one of Hoey's assistant managers. The fact that the Republicans are expected to wage a more determined campaign this time than in years helped to bring about the prevailing harmony, since it accentuated the need for close cooperation and teamwork.

The St. Louis Browns played a double-header in 1927 before no paid admissions—a record.

LOUIS SHARKEY MEET TUESDAY

Brown Bomber Has Chance to 'Redeem' Himself

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Right on the spot. That's where Joe Louis finds himself this week.

The young Detroit negro heavyweight, lost of the fist world, only a few short months ago, can either make or break himself in his ten-round bout with Boston's Jack Sharkey at the Yankee stadium tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

By decisively turning back the two-fisted threat of the Sailor Man, Joe can partially atone for the walloping Max Schmeling gave him two months ago and once more place himself in the running for world championship honors.

Falling, he will be unceremoniously tossed into the boxing bonnyard in the wake of the hulks of Primo Carnese, Marie Beer and others who hit the come-back trail and flopped.

In more way than one, the fight will be the big test of Louis' short but spectacular ring career.

Hailed as a super-fighter after 27 straight conquests, all but four of them decided by vicious knock-out punches, Joe found himself against a fighter who wasn't afraid to throw a few right-hand blows, and faded out of the picture, the victim of the most startling upset since James J. Braddock toppled the heavyweight crown from the curly head of Max Baer a year ago.

Joe believes the Schmeling bout taught him a lesson and he's going in against Sharkey to show the fans he still packs a load of dynamite in each brown fist. He promises he'll not be caught napping by right-hand punches again.

For one thing, he no longer believes he's invincible. He's stopped believing, all he reads about himself and he's training seriously for the first time since he halted old Camera back among the has-beens. He no longer regards the next fight as just another work-out.

For another thing, he's been sending him to school over at Pompton Lakes, N. J., where he's training Jack Blackburn, his trainer, and Paul Salvatore, one of the best boxers among the heavies, have been showing him how to dodge such rights as those with which Schmeling blasted him. These boxing lessons are getting results.

But Louis isn't the only one for whom Tuesday night's fight means victory or else. Sharkey is by way of being on the spot, too.

The Beantown squire is doing a comeback just for the fun of the thing, he says. Like Max Schmeling, he's keen to be the first man to win the heavyweight title twice.

GADDY RETURNS HOME FROM JAIL

After being held for questioning three weeks, Daniel H. Gaddy, night watchman at the hotel in which Helen Cleveland was slain, was released from jail at Asheville, N. C. He was freed after Sheriff Lawrence Brown announced that a negro hall boy had confessed the killing. Here Gaddy is shown with Mrs. Gaddy and the couple's son, Dan, Jr., after he returned home. Kentucky Truck Is Cut 20 PER CENT BY DROUGHT

Lexington, Ky.—(AP)—The yield of the average spring garden in Kentucky this year is less than 20 per cent of normal, home demonstration agents in Kentucky estimate.

The prospect for fall gardens is only fair, the agents reported to the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, and only about 10 per cent of the usual amount of canning had been done up to August 1.

Decatur, Ill.—(AP)—Clayde Berger, 44-year-old wanderer, went to jail quietly "for investigation" but insisted his "valuable" collection of cigar and cigarette butts be guarded diligently by police.

He said his only occupation was collecting the "snips"—contained in two ten-pound sacks—and that many had special stories behind them. He also collects matches as a hobby, he said, and had a bottle full to prove it.

Police put his specimens in a lock-box.

CHANGED: The notoriously friendly relationship between Mr. Roosevelt and Washington correspondents is chilling in the face of political gusts.

The New Dealers are definitely and unmistakably on the press. They figure that 75 to 85 per cent of the nation's newspapers are owned by the administration.

STUBS: Somebody once dubbed Mr. Roosevelt a "smartful dodger" in handling the press. He was so proud of his adroitness at repartee that he used to invite visitors (politicians, cabinetiers, financiers, his family) to attend the show.

But the prize presidential snub was his mysterious try to Summer Welles' Maryland estate to pat Congress politicians on the back and drive away their "blues."

SUPERMEN: The army recently staged a match between horse-and-buggy forces and a modern, streamlined array of troops. Nobody has yet informed the White House or Supreme Court of the outcome, but the before-Roosevelt army won.

Army experts engaged in writing their reports confide that directing large, mobile, motorized units in a major engagement will require a score of Poches or Pershings instead of a single, supreme commander.

ISSUE: The President is capitalizing his aides' suggestion that he headline foreign affairs. Behind Washington's vocal concentration on this problem lies the idea that Mr. Landon may lose votes because

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

SYNOPSIS: Carole's year of teaching school at Ashboro is finished. It meant, actually, success as a teacher, and failure in the two acute situations which engaged her emotions. Now she is determined to try a fling, and that in spite of the fact that the nearest she has to a "contact" likely to produce a job is Blake Thornton. Blake was her partner at a dinner in Ashboro, and he was impressed with her. Whatever happens, Carol has determined to teach no longer.

Chapter 21 FIRST EFFORT

CAROL said: "2250 Elmwood Road," to the taxi driver, and sat back against the worn leather seat. The taxi lurched noisily ahead.

The address belonged, temporarily at least, to Margery Craig, who had been Carol's roommate at college. Margery's husband was in the real estate business, so she never lived anywhere very long.

"Carol! I'm so glad to see you. Let me carry that..." Carol kissed her. "It's not heavy. Margery, it's well to see you."

"You look like a million dollars," Carol smiled back, and took off her hat. "So do you."

That was painfully untrue. Margery Howell had been tiny and blonde, with peach-blossom coloring and cameo features.

"Where are the children? I've never even seen the baby." Margery's face came alive. "Little Harry's out with the maid, and the baby's having her nap. It's almost time for her to wake up. Tell me about what you've been doing and what you're going to do."

"Tell me about the rest of the girls. I haven't heard from any of 'em in ages. How's Louise?" Margery's eyes clouded. "She's getting a divorce. Kenneth drinks like a fish, but I think it's as much her fault as his. And Cornelia's got a grand job (she's not married, you know) with Millbanks. She's a buyer in the ready-to-wear department."

Carol made a mental note to look up Cornelia. It sounded as if she and Cornelia might succeed in resuming the intimacy of six years ago.

"By the way, do you know a man named Thornton? Blake Thornton?" Margery nodded. "Yes. At least I know who he is. Harry knows him, and I've seen his wife at parties. Why?"

"I met him in Ashboro, and when he found I was hunting a job he suggested that I look him up. Not that that means anything." She succumbed to curiosity and asked: "What's his wife like?"

Margery hesitated, and Carol wanted to smile. Margery, in college, had been famous for her tact. "She seemed very nice," Margery conceded. "I think she's a lot older than Blake, and she doesn't look

It is estimated that about thirty days will be required to make the "gold movement" a case of history. Some 428,572 bricks worth $14,000 each and weighing 25 pounds a piece are being shifted. The total weight, being moved is 10,171,300 pounds.

LABOR: The C. I. O. has until September 5 to decide whether or not it will follow the ruling of the A. F. of L. to disband. Since John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., has taken legal opinion that the A. F. of L. action was unlawful it is certain that the council's order will not be followed.

ON TOP: It is further stated that not only will Lewis go after the unionization of steel workers but also that of the tire, textile and numerous other industries where the American Federation of Labor isn't active these days.

PREPARE: When a war is in the making financial and banking interests know about it. But these quarters say that "nothing is on the fire" and there need be no worry. Reason? Most all countries lack self-confidence. That is, the citizens will refuse to fight to defend anything except their homes and then only against invasion.

These bankers point out that the hate between nations isn't sincere.

LEWIS FACTION TIGHTENS GRIP

Pushed to Action by Labor's Non-Partisan League

By FRETTON GROVER
Washington, Aug. 17.—The enthusiasm with which Labor's Non-Partisan League delegates greeted the prediction that they were on the way toward formation of a liberal party quite evidently caused John L. Lewis to draw a tighter rein upon the movement.

The League was formed for the most part of followers of the United Mine Workers chief in his break with the American Federation of Labor. Their immediate purpose is to swing as much as possible of the labor movement behind President Roosevelt.

George L. Steery, head of the League and New Deal coordinator for industrial cooperation, assured delegates at their recent convention that they would "have a share in the establishment of a liberal party in 1940."

That was a longer step than had been taken by any leader of the League. There has been talk of the League acting as the nucleus of a new party alignment, but never before had it been committed to it.

Indeed, it seemed a step longer than Lewis wished to take. When it came his turn to speak, he calmly explained in his deliberate, phrase-making style that the first step was to re-elect President Roosevelt. Then would be time enough to consider what part in the politics of 1940 would be taken by the League. It appeared to be a part of his strategy to prevent the movement taking on the appearance of a one-man band.

There are those in the League who already talk freely of Lewis as a presidential candidate in 1940 at the head of a liberal party movement that would include farmers, labor and what they term "liberalists" arranged against the "big corporations" and the "Wall Street bankers."

They argue that Lewis is a powerful figure in the labor movement whose "vision" they well know throughout the country, and whose association with President Roosevelt might give him at least the appearance of an "their apparent."

What thought has been given to such a prospect by Lewis can only be surmised. He has announced as his main one aim the improving of conditions of labor. Through politics he hopes to progress faster than in the past.

Considering that he may have let his mind dwell on the presidential idea, has he measured the obstacles he would confront? Is it possible the American voter would be as disturbed by a candidate so obviously drawn from factional labor ranks as by a candidate drawn directly from what Lewis terms the "Wall Street bankers?"

Regardless of what the League may mean in 1940, its leaders and the labor groups in general are planning to press the next congress for wage and hour legislation that will replace that upset already by the supreme court, and to bolster other labor measures now under attack in the courts.

VETERAN'S BONUS MONEY GOES TO FRAISE F. D. R.

New York, (AP)—An ardent supporter of President Roosevelt, and an active one, is J. H. Lee of Jamaica, L. I.

Lee is a colored war veteran. When he received his bonus, he rigged up a small truck with signs, one of which reads: "When President Roosevelt says, 'My Friends,' he means, 'My Friends.'"

Under it Lee explains that his bonus money financed the venture. Now he spends his time riding around in the truck.

BOUGHT MAY REDUCE POULTRY'S ADVANCES

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—Because of the drought, the expected increase in poultry production may not materialize, says the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Prospects of higher priced feeds are causing increased marketings of pullets intended for layers, and broilers also. Eggs have been exceptionally high-priced for the season, and both eggs and poultry may bring good prices through the late summer, fall and winter, according to present prospects.

Cowboys Go Slazy

Ottawa, Okla.—(AP)—At Miami grizzled cook who handled a chuck wagon in the Oklahoma Panhandle when it was known as "No Man's Land," believes the cowhands of this hardy area are growing effete. "I used to feed the boys on jerked beef, beans and sourdough," said Mians. "But now, I'd be darned if they don't have to have potatoes, steak, corn, stewed tomatoes and even pie."

Mush Or Moved

Fairbanks, Alaska (AP)—A herd of 27 musk ox formerly kept at the University of Alaska farm has been transferred to Nunivak Island in Bering sea on orders of the U. S. biological survey. Officials of the Alaska Game commission protested the action, urging that the animals—which were brought from Cleveland—be allowed to propagate on the mainland, where large herds formerly roved.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The stock market found the going a bit rough today although selected specialties managed to hurdle profit-taking barriers without much difficulty.

Buying timidity in most departments was attributed partly to nervousness over the Spanish civil war and the belief by some that prices generally may be due for further adjustment in the light of the lengthy recovery.

While the late tone was a trifle soft, transfers approximated only about 1,000,000 shares.

PARTY LEADER SATISFACTORY

Selection of Stanley Winborne Generally Approved

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 17.—The election of J. Wallace Winborne of Marion as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee is being almost universally approved here as a wise move, especially since it is believed that the Republican state organization is preparing to conduct a more vigorous campaign and spend more money than it has in years.

Because of this fact it is more essential than ever to have a Democratic state chairman who has had wide experience in handling past campaigns and in obtaining campaign contributions. It is agreed. For while Governor-nominatee Clyde R. Hoey undoubtedly could have selected a candidate for chairman from any one of a number of eastern counties who could have filled the position with zeal and ability, it is doubted if he could have found any one with the experience and knowledge of conditions in the various counties such as is already possessed by Winborne, or with his ability in collecting campaign funds.

In past campaigns the amount of money which the Democratic Executive Committee has been able to collect and disburse has not been so very important, since it was known that the Republicans always had less. But this has not been the case since 1928, when the state, with the help of Al Smith, Senator Simmons and Bishop Cannon, went for Herbert Hoover and as much to the surprise of the Republicans as the Democrats. But ever since, the National Republican Executive Committee has hoped and half-way believed that it might be possible to turn North Carolina into the Republican column again. This hope and belief has been encouraged by the Republican leadership here in the state more in the hope of getting larger slices of national campaign funds than in the actual belief that they really had a chance to carry the state republican, most observers agree.

It is now apparent that the Republicans are going to have more campaign money to spend this year than ever before, which means that the State Democratic committee and its chairman, must raise more campaign funds for the Democratic cause than ever before. Since Winborne had already showed his ability as a getter of campaign funds, and since this ability is needed now as never before, many agree that his selection, as chairman was most timely.

84-YEAR-OLD WOMAN COOKS FOR 80 MEN

McGregor, Iowa.—(AP)—If 84 men, instead of 80, had joined in raising a new barn on Mrs. Elizabeth Walters' farm near Garber, Ia., she would have had a dinner for every year of her life. She did all the cooking.
