JUDGE OPENS INVESTIGATION OF FLOGGINGS

Columbus County Grand Jury Given Instructions

M. V. BARNHILL ISSUES ORDER

Jurist Declares Nothing Can So Destroy Government as Continuation Incidents

Whiteville, N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Superior court judge M. V. Barnhill of Rocky Mount ordered the Columbus county grand jury today to investigate throughout a series of alleged floggings in the county.

The judge issued instructions in his charge to the jury—a new jury selected when court opened today. He said he had read in the newspapers that such conditions existed in the county, indicating some persons were "undertaking to take the law in their own hands and punish certain of Columbus people whom they thought guilty of transgressing the law."

"Nothing," Judge Barnhill said, "can so destroy the government upon which the people depend for protection than the continuation of such incidents."

Residents of the Clarendon section of the county claimed at the June term of court they had been taken from their homes and flogged in several occasions by a hooded band of vigilantes.

Martin Moore Paces Cell "Getting Set To Die"

SLATED TO DIE ON OCTOBER 2ND

Convicted Saturday Afternoon By Runcombe Jury of Slaying Helen Clevenger

Raleigh, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Nervously pacing his "death row" cell, Martin Moore, a negro, was "getting ready to die" today for the murder in Asheville July 16 of Helen Clevenger, of which he was reported to reporters and Warden H. H. Hovent he is innocent.

"I didn't do it," the six foot, three inches slaver of the 18-year-old New York university coed maintained. "But I don't hold nothing against anyone—not even the men who whipped me and made me tell the lies."

Dr. Reid Willis, technician at the prison, told Warden Hovent today the Asheville negro, convicted Saturday in Buncombe superior court, had confessed to the brutal crime shortly after he was admitted to central prison here.

"Dr. Willis asked me what they made me tell so I told him what they whipped out of me," he said. "But I didn't really do it."

He never admitted he was guilty to me," Warden Hovent said. Moore is scheduled to die by gas October 2.

Belated Reports Say Manuel Azana Prepared to Flee

(Copyright by Associated Press) Madrid, Aug. 17.—(Uncensored courier via Hendaye, France).—J. Aug. 24.—(AP)—Seemingly reliable reports today said President Manuel Azana had sent truckloads of baggage to the port of Valencia amid government fears concerning a southern rebel advance on Madrid.

Government leaders feared the rebels' from Badajoz in the west would reach Madrid via the Tagus river valley and Toledo.

At the same time officials were described as increasingly apprehensive lest anarchist militiamen may be ready for the Madrid fall line of some 2,000 rihstist.

The militiamen have been told the fascist rebels are slaughtering their comrades en masse in several cities and fears were expressed that savage reprisals might break out.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

SYNOPSIS: When Carol Torrance...

Chapter 27 PARTY TRICK

ON Sunday morning Margery telephoned.

"Some of the crowd are coming by this afternoon," she said.

"I'd love to," Carol said promptly.

The idea of spending her first Sunday alone had no charms.

"About five, Harry'll come over and get you."

She demurred faintly at that, but Margery was firm.

There was time, Carol decided, to try the Sherwood pool before lunch.

The pool was noisy and changing with children who made up in energy what they lacked in numbers.

Most of them were women, and Carol reflected humorously that she had never seen such a motley collection of fat thighs.

Hereafter, Carol resolved, she would take her swims at night, and let her own lovely tan go.

Harry was late, but that was to be expected; Harry was always late.

"Ready to go, sugar?" "For the last half hour."

"Well, nobody ever means it when they say a certain time; they mean some time after that."

"She laughed, 'usually go on that theory, but since you're the host I thought you might want me to be ready.'"

"I did, but I had a golf date and I got tied up." He eyed her critically.

"You look good enough to eat. Come on."

They stopped at a drug store for White Rock and lemons, and then drove madly home.

"Carol Torrance—Betty and Jerry McIlroy and His Nibs, the Honorable Porter Murray."

He had shouted the names at the top of his voice, and Carol was about to speak when he added in a low tone:

that this offer will be attractive to the utilities or that they would dream of accepting it under normal conditions.

His backbone is the threat of building municipal distribution plants to compete with the private concerns on terms which the latter cannot possibly meet successfully.

The theory is that the private companies will concede anything to escape this ruinous competition.

He got up finally, with sattering reluctance. "How's about dinner and a movie with me next Thursday?"

"So do I. About half-past seven? Then we can catch a nine o'clock show."

"Fine, I'll see you then. And it's been a lovely evening."

She knew from the speculative look in his eyes that he was debating the possibility of kissing her good-night, so she smiled with twinkling finality.

"Goodnight." He shrugged and grinned. "Good-night, darra you!"

When he had gone she undressed slowly and almost happily. Even a single engagement ahead, with eyes a Porter Murray, kept the days from being quite empty.

THE city gasped and sweated in the clutch of August. The morning cars were merely tepid; the late afternoon cars were scrawling clank-interiors. Today, the evening passengers would announce with ecstatic glee, was the hottest teeth of August since 1892, and there had been two prostrations—a thing almost unknown in the South....

At Rockbrook Irma Thornton read of the heat wave with detached interest, as people read, uncomprehendingly, of a famine among millions in China. Blake went about his business like a machine, and noticed indifferently that his clothes were becoming too big for him.

Porter Murray was solicitous. He was a patent-leather man of forty or so, and obviously a squire of dames.

"Fix her a drink, Harry," he ordered at the top of his lungs, and Harry began opening liquor and White Rock. Carol subsided and smiled ravishingly at Porter Murray.

Two more couples arrived, both strangers to Carol, and the game went on under Harry's expert guidance. Porter exerted himself manfully, with occasional asides that convulsed her.

Tomorrow, Carol has an unexpected dinner guest.

between the Tennessee Valley Authority and private utilities operating in the Tennessee basin.

This contract has to some extent limited direct TVA competition with the private companies.

Word is that it will be renewed—if at all—in a form sharply modified to extend the TVA sphere of operations.

The most significant move will be an offer by the government to buy many of the privately owned facilities for generating and transmitting power at the government's own idea of a fair valuation.

Decided Decrease Of First Graders Seen For Session

Brought About by Change Made in Date When Children Will Be Regarded as School Age

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 22.—A decided decrease in the number of children entering the first grade in the public schools of the state this fall is expected as a result in the change made in the date when children will be regarded as of school age.

There are grounds for belief that the fight he put up then to compel deportation of some 2,800 deportable aliens may have to be fought all over in the coming session.

By means of a filibuster he prevented passage of a bill sponsored by the immigration bureau which would have permitted about 2,800 aliens with family connections to remain in this country although they were subject to deportation because of illegal entry.

The bureau described them as hardship cases, explaining that some of the aliens had lived in this country from 10 to 30 years, and had established themselves as good neighbors, but under the law were subject to immediate deportation.

The bureau argued, however, that relief for these 2,800 was only a small part of the bill; that its real merit lay in provisions under which an estimated 20,000 undesirable "criminal type" aliens could be deported.

Reynolds centered his fire on the 2,800. He brought some of their case histories before the senate and represented them to be anything but desirable citizens.

But inquiry at the bureau indicates that the wheels of deportation move slowly. There was no information whether many or any of the 2,800 had been deported although the deportation machinery had been ordered to roll.

It developed, one immigration official said, that some were entitled to re-investigation. Other routine cases also cause delays.

There is a basis for surmise that when congress convenes next January there will be quite a few of the deportables still in this country subject to relief by a new bill.

But Senator Reynolds hasn't indicated he would relent.

The "Great" Pyramid is believed by many students to be a record of prophecy, and not a coincidence.

Opposition To Waynick Appears To Be On Wane

Source of Antagonism Again Commission Revealed

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 24.—The opposition to the State Highway and Public Works Commission and incidentally to Chairman Capus M. Waynick which had been developing beneath the surface for many weeks, is now definitely diminishing, according to most of those who have been watching its course.

Many are now convinced that this opposition, which had as its chief objective the elimination of Waynick as chairman of the highway commission, is going to die a natural death. One reason for this is that the robe of secrecy has been torn from it, showing that this opposition is coming either from those seeking to punish the commission because it is credited with having supported Clyde R. Hoey for Governor instead of elder Ralph W. McDonald or Sandy Graham, or from contractors, road machinery men and road materials manufacturers who feel they have not been getting as much gravy as they were entitled to.

There is no doubt that a well organized and definite effort was under way to "get" both Waynick and the entire commission, those who have been keeping their ears to the ground are convinced, just as a similar effort was organized more than three years ago to put the skids under Chairman E. B. Jefferson during the first year of the Ehringhaus administration.

That effort was so quietly organized and so smoothly allied that it almost succeeded in ousting Jefferson as chairman in his place before Governor Ehringhaus, who was on his vacation, knew what was going on. And but for the efforts of some of Jefferson's friends, especially John C. Prunt Hill of Durham, the "butts" to oust Jefferson and put Pou in as chairman probably would have succeeded, according to those who know the inside story of what really happened.

But the fact that the light of publicity has been turned on the plot to "get" Waynick and the present highway commission so early in the plotting is regarded by many as indicating that this effort to put the skids under the highway department is going to die a-borning. The opposition had not become well enough organized to be really threatening and since many of those involved in it were compelled to remain anonymous, they must now remain quiet and inactive or no longer remain anonymous.

The two groups more responsible for this opposition than any others are those who had supported McDonald for Governor who believed his charges against the highway commission and who since the primary are peevish and sore and anxious to take political reprisals and the disgruntled highway contractors, machinery men and materials people. It is generally agreed these two groups had evidently sought to gain the support of local groups here and there over the state who had become peeved because they had not been able to get a new road here, or get an old one surfaced there, and so on.

But since it has become generally known that an effort was under way to upset the highway commission and its chairman, people in every session of the state who believe the commission has been and still is doing a good piece of work in North Carolina, are militantly coming to its defense. The very fact that some of the disgruntled McDonaldites and road contractors have been whetting their axes for Waynick and the other commissioners is regarded by many others as all the reason needed for the retention of Waynick and the present commission by Mr. Hoey when he becomes Governor.

These maintain that the opposition to the McDonaldites is based on political sour grapes, and that the road contractors dislike Waynick and the highway commission for purely selfish reasons, because they cannot dictate to them. So the friends of Waynick and the commission maintain that unless Hoey wants to be dictated to by the disgruntled McDonaldites and the road contractors, he can do no better than reappoint Waynick and the other members of the present commission.

The building is indeed a credit not only to the members of the Free Will Baptist Church of Micro, but also to the town itself.

The new church edifice stands as a monumental honor to the Free Will Baptist connection.

By estimation the cost of the building is $20,000. Rev. S. H. Styrton of Pine Level, has been pastor of the congregation for twenty years.—Reported.

Miss Dorothy Robertson and Miss Melba Nobles of Stokes, have returned from White Lake where they spent the past week.

The Young Tar Heel Farmers of the Stokes chapter have just returned from a week's camping at the Young Tar Heel Farmers White Lake camp. Sixteen boys of the Stokes chapter joined two hundred boys from twelve other chapters and spent the most enjoyable week of the summer, playing games, swimming, and having an enjoyable good time.

Little Harry Humphrey Albritton, cousin of the bride, acted as ring bearer, carrying the ring in the heart of a Madonna lily. He was dressed in a white tuxedo.

The bride entered the church with her father, J. Y. Monk, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, David Davenport of Rocky Mount. The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of imported white Chantilly lace. The dress was cut in the redingote style with Peter Pan collar and tailored bow at the neckline. The redingote was long-sleeved with a long, pointed train. Her veil was of net with a wed embroidered border, made cap style with a coronet of seed pearls in front, chin strap, and caught at the sides with orange blossoms from which fell a shoulder-length cape and a long train. White satin carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's mother, Mrs. J. Y. Monk, wore a Dubonnet triple-crepe with lace sleeves, and a black velvet hat. Her shoulder corsage was of gardenias.

Mrs. Watson is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Yancey Monk of Farmville and has a host of friends throughout the state. She was educated at East Carolina Teachers College in Greenville, and during the past year taught in the Stantonsburg graded schools.

Mr. Watson is the son of the late John Beatty Watson and the late Mrs. Fannie Smith Watson of Clifton, S. C. He attended Wofford College in Spartanburg, S. C., and the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity. At present he is located in Raleigh, being connected with General Motors Acceptance Corporation.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a motor trip to the New England states. For traveling, Mrs. Watson wore a Schiaparelli model in beige wool crepe with a short swagger coat trimmed in blue fox fur. Her accessories were of brown velvet. She wore a shoulder corsage of orchids. After September 8, Mr. and Mrs. Watson will be at home in Hayes Barton, Raleigh.

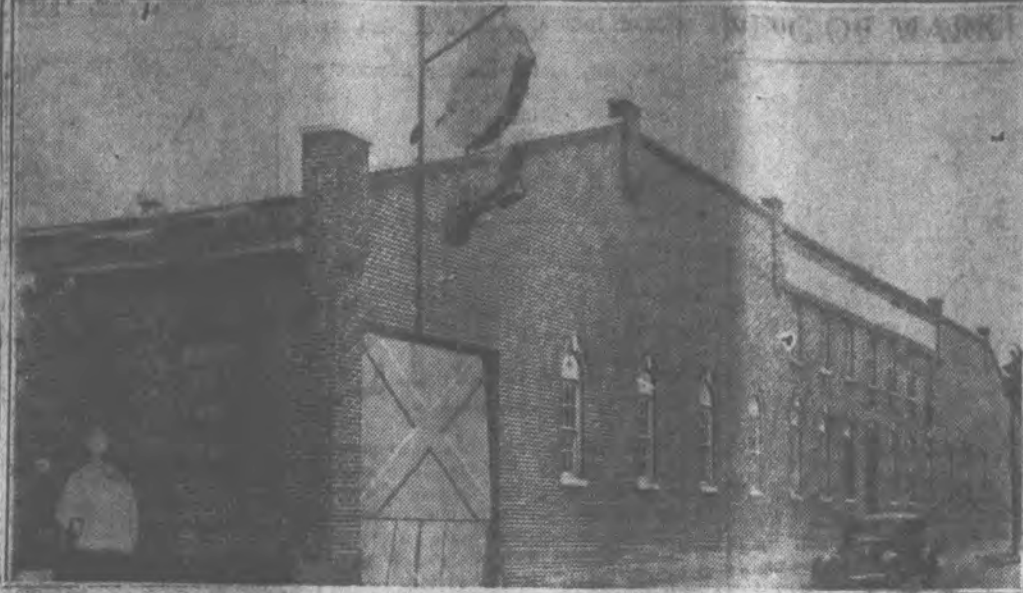

Irish Cheer O'Mahoney. Cork, (AP)—Ten brass bands and the jubilant roar of 30,000 lusty-voiced Irishmen greeted Dan O'Mahoney, wrestling "champion," on his return here from the United States.

Crowds lined the city streets as a huge procession escorted the husky, wide-grinning Dan to the city's biggest public hall where a banquet and dance was given in his honor.

The Lord Mayor drove with Dan, and all traffic in the city center was held up while Dan rode in style through his native town.

In two years in America, O'Mahoney won 178 contests and lost only one.

President Wields Much Power Over Munition Makers

Although Without Any Authority, Roosevelt Holds "Big Stick" to Curb Sale of Arms

Washington—President Roosevelt has not a shred of authority to enforce his request that American munition makers or others refrain from shipping war supplies to nations at war—i.e., to the Spanish revolt area. But he carries a big stick.

For a dozen years congress and successive administrations have indicated a disposition to curb shipments of munitions from the United States to rebel areas. In 1922, under President Harding, a covenant was drawn up at Havana in which the United States and a few Latin American republics agreed to prohibit their own nations from shipping arms to rebel groups within any of the nations signing the treaty.

Only a half dozen nations signed it, but subsequently it was written into a law in this country prohibiting shipments of arms to rebel groups in any Latin American country or to rebel groups in any country in which the United States exercises extra territorial jurisdiction such as China.

Itself born of a revolution, this country left itself an "out" under the Havana treaty. It wrote in a provision that in case this country or any of the other signers chooses to recognize the belligerency of rebel groups (in a sense, to recognize that their cause is righteous) it can permit shipment of arms to them. That same leeway was continued in the law.

The big stick in the hands of the president is simply the continued disposition of congress to curb arms shipments. This made itself even more evident in the last congress.

At that time the neutrality act was passed prohibiting munitions shipments to warring nations. Another act required manufacturers of arms and munitions, including war planes, to register with the State Department and obtain permits for all exports of munitions.

Although permits are required, the State Department must grant them on request to licensed manufacturers desiring to ship to any place in the world except to rebel centers in Latin America and in "extra-territorial" countries.

Early in the Spanish revolt the administration expressed a hope that American arms makers would not attempt to supply arms to the fighting factions.

Permits to ship arms and ammunition, including planes, continued to issue from the State Department at the rate of about 100 a week, ranging in amount from a few dollars up to thousands.

But not a solitary request has come from an American munition maker to ship war supplies to Spain.

Japan Plans To Send Football Team to U.S.

Tokyo, (AP)—The Japanese brand of football, American intercollegiate style, will be displayed on the Pacific coast of the United States this winter. The Tokyo intercollegiate football league announces that an all-star squad chosen from the five universities composing the league will sail for San Francisco after the conclusion of the regular schedule.

Just what opposition will be arranged for the invaders has not been disclosed, but it probably will not come from the big teams of the Pacific coast. Football is still in its infancy in Japan, having first been played here in 1934, and even if the Japanese players knew all the tricks and technique of the gridiron their lack of size still would hopelessly handicap them in competition with the giants of California, Washington and Oregon universities.

Most of the Japanese university stars average less than 160 pounds. A few of the players, California or Hawaii born, have had some high school experience on American soil, but most knew nothing of the game until a year or two ago. Nevertheless they have developed considerable skill in kicking, passing, and handling the ball, and have perfected decent on ice attack.

The Tokyo league is made up of five of the biggest private universities in the capital, Waseda, Keio, Hosei, Meiji and Rikkyo. A couple of big colleges in western Japan also are playing the game. The Tokyo league this year will play a round robin schedule extending from October 24 to November 23, and ending with a game between an all-star team and an eleven made up of American residents of Tokyo and Yokohama on Thanksgiving Day.

Al Maloney, long connected with football at the University of Southern California, is handling American arrangements for the proposed Japanese gridiron invasion.

GREENIES LOSE FINAL GAME TO AYDEN, 9 TO 4

Post-Season Starts Today with Ayden at Greenville and Kinston at Williamston; Winners of Best Three Out of Five Tilts to Play Each Other for Pennant

Ayden defeated the Greenies 9-4 here yesterday in the final game of the season. The Aces and Greenville play here tomorrow in an opening game of the post-season semi-finals. The winner of the best three out of five games will play the winner of a similar series between Kinston and Williamston for the Coastal Plain league pennant.

Reynolds May will probably hurl the opening game of the semi-finals here today against the Aces. Singles by Bouska, Tabor and Knowles; a triple by Wall, and a double by Whatley gave the Aces four runs in the fifth. Ayden scored three more in the ninth when Tabor was safe on first on a fielder's choice. Knowles walked, and Wall and Mason hit safely. In the seventh inning, the locals scored a pair of runs on several hits and an error. They had previously scored in the fifth and sixth. The Greenies tried hard to score in both the eighth and ninth, but Teague, Ayden hurler, held them scoreless.

Shuman started for Greenville and pitched four and one-third innings, yielding nine hits and five runs. Clement, his successor, gave up five hits and four runs. Teague went the route for Ayden.

Billet, Greenville pitcher, playing in left field, starred yesterday with several fine catches. Wall, Aces' centerfielder, started ahead for the Aydenites. He "robbed" the Greenies of two hits.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Ayden 100 041 003-9 14 1 Greenville 000 011 200-4 11 2 Teague and Tatum; Shuman, Clement and House, Wag. er.

Martins Win in Ninth. Williamston, Aug. 24.—The Williamston Martins took a spectacular contest from Tarboro here yesterday, 4-3, after Larry Wade homered for the winning run in the ninth.

In their half of the ninth, Tarboro sent Alexander in to pitch. He connected for a homer with two on to tie the score. The side was then retired. Wade hit his homer a few moments later.

Manager Bunn Hearn pitched for three innings for the Bunnies, but the Martins were too much for old Bunn, who yielded two hits—a homer by Ferrell and a single by Skipper Peaback Walker.

Douglas yielded two hits in six innings; Sudduth, six for three. Wade is the probable starter in the semi-finals series opener here today.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Tarboro 000 000 003-3 8 0 Williamston 010 001 011-4 8 2 Hearn, LeVan, Shupe and Short; Douglas, Sudduth and Roys.

Beats Loss to Eagles. Kinston, Aug. 24.—The Eagles defeated New Bern, 10-9, in a hectic contest here yesterday.

A field-day program preceded the game. Third Baseman Humphrey of Kinston won the 60-yard dash; Second Baseman Stonebraker of Kinston, the distance-throwing event; Pitcher Dave Smith of Kinston, the distance-hitting; and five players tied in the accurate-throwing event.

In the game, each team used a trio of pitchers. Score by innings: R. H. E. New Bern 032 211 000-9 15 4 Kinston 100 201 501-10 18 2 Parker, Fuller, Jacobs and Smith; Longest, Fathree, Rambert and A. Keller.

Gold Bugs Win From Snow Hill. Snow Hill, Aug. 24.—The visiting Gold Bugs from Goldsboro, slugged out an 8-3 victory over Snow Hill here yesterday in the final game of the season for both clubs.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Goldsboro 200 420 000-8 14 0 Snow Hill 002 010 020-5 12 1 Webb and Williams; Bumgarner, Kennell and Robertson, Parrish.

M'DONALD MEN LIKE AID HOEY

Some Appear Peevish Because Not Asked to Fight Battle

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 21.—Some of the former supporters of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald for the Democratic nomination for Governor, who accepted the decision of the people at the polls July 4, are beginning to get somewhat peeved and miffed because no one from the faction which supported Clyde R. Hoey for Governor has asked them to assist in the campaign this fall, according to reports reaching here from various sections.

These reports that they are willing to let by-gones be by-gones and that they are willing to go out this fall to whoop it up for Hoey and help beat Grissom if some of the Hoey high command will only give them an invitation. There are also intimations that unless they are invited to participate in the Democratic campaign this fall, they may decide to help William Grissom, the Republican candidate.

This attitude on the part of some of the former McDonald leaders is giving rise to varied reactions among the Hoey supporters. One group of Hoeyites feel that the olive branch should be held out to the former McDonald supporters and that they should be welcomed back into the Democratic family, just as the father welcomed back his prodigal son. They maintain that at heart most of the McDonald supporters were and still are good Democrats, but that they were misled and misinformed and that now they should be welcomed back into the party as if nothing had happened, especially since the Republicans are becoming more threatening than in a good many years.

Another group, however, which believes in the adage of "to the victor belong the spoils" take the view that the former McDonalds deserve no consideration whatever from the Hoey faction and that if they are not good enough Democrats to get out and work for the Democratic ticket from top to bottom that they are not good Democrats at all and might just as well go ahead and vote for Grissom anyway, since at heart they are really Republicans. The members of this group further maintain that McDonald and his followers preached Republicanism all through the primary campaign and gave aid and succor to the Republicans, that the Hoey forces beat them in the primary and that they can beat them again in the general election even if they do join forces with the Republicans.

Odd-Looking Object Causes Speculation

Resident of Greenville who viewed a triangular shaped object here today were divided as to whether it was an old Indian arrow head or the tooth of some prehistoric animal. The object is about an inch long at its base, its sides being a little longer. Its sides are made like a saw, with the teeth being very small. It was found in a canal near Greenville by Mercer Simmons and William McBrown. It was reported that a number of Indian relics have been found in the vicinity. Some who examined the object were reasonable certain it was a tooth from some animal, however.
