WET COUNTIES IN FAVOR OF PRESENT LAWS

Resolution 17 Unanimously Presented To Commission

WILSON SITE OF HEARING

Thomas H. Woodard, Chairman of Association, Presents Views Of Reforms Made

Wilson, N. C., Aug. 28.—(AP)—North Carolina's 17 legally wet counties today they desired to be "left strictly alone" in the adoption of any new control legislation.

"We hold that we have bettered our counties and we think we should be permitted to control our counties according to the provision of the Pasquotank and New Hanover act," said a resolution read by Thomas H. Woodard, chairman of the county commissioners association of the legal liquor counties.

Woodard said the resolution had been adopted by the advisory committee of the association at a meeting last night.

Woodard also presented a lengthy brief prepared by B. J. Williams, chairman of the Wilson county alcoholic beverages control board citing statistics to support a contention that bootlegging had decreased at least 75 per cent and that the county had been benefited financially and otherwise.

The commissioners association opposed a proposal advanced in behalf of municipalities that cities and towns be given a share of the profits from the legal sale of whiskey.

"We think we have improved law enforcement, morality and our financial condition," the resolution stated.

Woodard said revenues from the county stores had cut the tax rates about 50 cents on the $100 valuation and that a large part of the county's bonds falling due this year would be retired from profits.

Roy T. Cox, chairman of the Pitt county Board of commissioners, made one of the most inspiring speeches heard by the commission today. He urged that the control of liquor be left with the various county boards.

ROOSEVELT SEES WESTERN DROUGHT TRAGEDY

The plight of farmers in the drought belt of the west was observed at first hand by President Roosevelt in his tour of numerous parched states preliminary to a conference with governors at Des Moines to consider relief measures. ICKES SPEECH ATTRACTS IRE

Attacked For Linking Names of Landon and Hearst

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes campaign speech in which he linked the names of Gov. Alf M. Landon and William Randolph Hearst's publishers brought quick reaction today from Republican quarters.

The cabinet member in a broadcast address last night described Hearst as the "New Republican boss" who had cautioned Landon "against talking too much."

Evidence he said was given in court last July by George F. Harding, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, was used by Ickes in discussing what he called "the relationship existing between Gov. Landon and Mr. Hearst."

Harding declared at Chicago that he did not recall the conversation with Hearst, but said:

"However, I do not care to dignify the charges with an answer. It seems that this is the only way they can attack Gov. Landon."

Speaking under the auspices of the Republican national committee, William Harding said in a radio address from the capital last night it was "odd that Ickes should not know of the Hearst activities of the son of the gentleman who he is supporting for the presidency."

Hearst's name also was mentioned last night by Senator McAdoo, California Democrat in an address to a dinner which launched Mr. Roosevelt's campaign in the coast state.

McAdoo described the publisher as the "fascist."

Local ABC Chairman Attends Wilson Meet

Charles O'H. Horns, chairman of the Pitt County Alcoholic Beverage Control board, and probably other officials from here attended the hearing of the liquor commission in Wilson today.

The commission met in Raleigh yesterday and will move on from Wilson to Wilmington to resume the hearings.

BAR MEMBERS FACE DISPUTE

Report on Administration Causes Friction at Meet

Boston, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The American bar association faced a dispute today over a committee's report criticizing the Roosevelt administration for "detouring the constitution."

The committee split four to three over the report, while the convention still was stirred by its 233 to 109 vote to continue another year a special committee to oppose ratification of the federal child labor amendment.

In the report of the committee to study legislation affecting the right of citizens, four members asserted:

"There is no indication that the administration recognized any obligation whatever to protect the individual citizen in his constitutional right."

They three minority members recommended that the committee be discharged. They said further consideration served "no useful purpose in giving citizens any helpful light on constitutional questions in addition to that already supplied by the opinions of the supreme court."

LIBERALS FOR PARTY TICKET

To Support Democratic Candidates in Elections

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—The Liberal Democrats of North Carolina will support the straight Democratic ticket from top to bottom in the November election and will vote for all the Democratic nominees from President to constable. Dr. W. C. House, of Tarboro, president of the Liberal Democrats, announced in a statement made today. Most of the statement consists of a bitter attack on and denunciation of Senator Josiah W. Bailey as a result of Senator Bailey's speech in Wrightsville Beach last week in which he denounced "liberals" and "independents."

"Senator Josiah William Bailey has again demonstrated his ability to open his mouth and put his foot in it," Dr. House said. "His speech in Wilmington Saturday night was an arrogant, almost insulting and uncalled for effort to split the Democratic party on the eve of an election. The last man in North Carolina to deliver a certain speech on party loyalty is Senator Bailey. Elected as a Democratic Senator, he opposed the President in practically every one of the major policies of the New Deal. Bailey killed Roosevelt's farm program in the back by offering amendments to destroy it and then pretended he supported it."

"Now, Bailey jumps on the newspapermen because they truthfully printed his presumptions and supercilious attack. He says there are no election reforms needed in North Carolina and implies that the newspaper critics are just dreaming. The Liberal Democrats are led by the newspapermen who print the truth whether Senator Bailey likes it or not or whether it sounds good to us or not."

"We Liberal Democrats are Democrats in principle. We are not interested in patronage, pork or gravy. We are out to serve the party not to have the party serve us."

Scheme Is Offered By Soviet Russia Provide Sanctions

Proposed Plans Would Force Almost Immediate Military Bans Against Nation Making War

Geneva, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Soviet Russia tonight proposed a bold scheme of league of nations reform which would force almost immediate military sanctions against any nation making war.

Russia, in making the proposal, opposed amendment of the league covenant as impractical, but recommended adoption by the assembly of a special protocol by which, in the event of war, the league council would be summoned immediately and would be summoned within three days.

Within another three days the council, by three quarters vote, would decide whether circumstances existed calling for the application of punitive measures.

The salient feature of the Russian scheme was a provision under which military sanctions could be taken automatically and immediately by states having a mutual assistance agreement—even if the league council failed to agree on who was responsible for the war.

Local Officers Plan Attend District Meet

A number of local officers are expected to attend the district training school for law enforcement officers to be held in the courthouse at Tarboro Monday.

The instruction staff will include G. N. Lowden, agent in charge of Federal Bureau of Investigation offices for the Carolinas, Judges, solicitors and Institute of Government officials.

Questions to be discussed include: guidebook for law enforcing officers; crime detection laboratory for North Carolina; floating criminals and enforcing street and highway safety laws.

Fewer Convictions Under New Laws In 'Wet' Counties

Data Revealed in Report Made to Office of Attorney General and Reported to Commission

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—The percentage of convictions for violation of the prohibition laws was considerably less in the 17 counties which now have legal liquor stores this year than in the 83 counties which are still under the state-wide prohibition law, according to the reports made to the office of the Attorney General and reported to the state liquor fact-finding commission in its first public hearing here, Thursday by Assistant Attorney General S. Wade Bruton.

The figures for these same counties, however, for the five year period from 1930 to 1935, before any county liquor stores were opened, also show that the number of liquor law convictions in these 17 counties was less, on a percentage basis, than in the other counties. No comparison of the figures were made by Mr. Bruton and no conclusion drawn. He merely submitted the figures from all the counties and left the commission to draw its own conclusions.

During the five years from 1930 to 1935, 21.8 per cent of all the convictions in the superior courts and 43.3 per cent of all the convictions in the recorder's courts in the 83 counties which are still nominally "dry" were for violation of the state prohibition laws, the figures presented by Mr. Bruton show. During this same period, in the 17 counties which were then supposedly "dry" but which are now legally wet, 16.9 per cent of the superior court conviction were for violation of the prohibition laws and 34.9 per cent of the recorder's court convictions were for the same offenses.

For the year 1935-36, according to the records, 20.4 per cent of the superior court convictions in the 83 "dry" counties were for violation of the prohibition laws and 43.5 per cent of the convictions in the recorder's courts were for the same offenses.

In the 17 legally "wet" counties, however, for this same year of 1935-36, (Continued on page eight)

ROOSEVELT ON INSPECTION OF DROUGHT AREA

Conference With Gov. Alf M. Landon Postponed

PLANS ATTEND DERN FUNERAL

Chief Executive Expresses Confidence "We Are Going to Win This Problem"

Bismark, N. D., Aug. 28.—(AP)—President Roosevelt set out today on another tour of inspection of the sun-scorched farms of North and South Dakota after turning a voluminous report of his special drought committee recommending a 15-point program to transform the whole economic scheme in the great arid area.

His special train was to take him first to Jamestown, N. D., then to Aberdeen, S. D., for personal surveys of crops in stricken areas.

The chief executive had his first close-up view of the drought havoc late yesterday on a 50-mile motor trip around Bismark and Mandan—a tour which prompted him to say later in a rear platform talk at the North Dakota capital:

"What I have seen confirms me in the belief that I have had for a long time—the belief that we are going to win on this problem."

Shortly before entering a conference last night with acting governors Walter Weford of North Dakota and Elmer E. Holt of Montana—at which the drought committee reports proposing land and water conservation received minute examination—presidential aides announced Mr. Roosevelt itinerary for next week would be interrupted to permit him to attend the funeral of secretary of war Dem at Salt Lake City Tuesday.

This was the date the drought conference with Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and four other governors was to have been held at Des Moines. The latter meeting now is tentatively set for next Thursday on the return from Salt Lake.

Rebels Plan Dictatorship To Be Followed By Voting On Restoration Of Alfonso

HIGHWAY BODY HEARS CLAIMS

Rules Of Procedure Set And Dates Decided For Hearing Various Delegations

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—As the total claims continued to mount, the state commission investigating county highway debts met here today to decide on rules of procedure and set a hearing here for eastern counties and in Asheville for hearing western claims.

Claims from 79 counties aggregating $61,100,000 were on file with the commission and Chairman Carl L. Bailey said others postmarked prior to the deadline midnight Tuesday night might be at his law offices in Plymouth.

The claims of five counties were added to the total previously announced.

Bailey said each claim would be considered separately at public hearings and Charles R. Ros, general counsel for the state highway and public works commission, will be given opportunity to give the commission's attitude on each.

Twelve western counties will be given an opportunity to present their cases to the commission in Asheville Sept. 23 and representatives of 12 other western counties will appear before the commission in Asheville the following day.

The remaining 55 counties presenting claims will be given hearings in Raleigh October 8, 9 and 10 and November 12, 13 and 14.

Among county attorneys who appeared before the body today were F. C. Harding of Pitt, and J. D. Grimes of Beaufort.

Bidding For Throne

BOURBONS MAY GAIN THRONE

Fascist Italy Completes Adherence to International Neutrality Pact by Declaring Formal Embargo on Shipments To Either Side in Spanish War

(By Associated Press)

The rebel of Spain who would rule Spain disclosed today they planned a military dictatorship—should then if the people want restoration of the monarchy.

Trenching themselves about their Burgos stronghold against a sudden thrust by forces of the so-called government the fascist leaders let it be known their intended military dictatorship would be followed by a plebiscite on the return of the Bourbon throne.

Broadside from two rebel radio stations picked up in French Morocco declared the situation in Madrid was desperate and that hundreds of persons were being killed there by government extremists.

Two thousand government militiamen comprise the forces reported only 25 miles from Burgos. The swift march on the rebel center followed by one day an important insurgent advance which dominated the Lugo valley, some 20 miles north of Madrid.

Outside of Spain, fascist Italy completed her adherence to the international neutrality pact declaring a formal embargo on arm shipments to either side. The Spanish government has accused Italy of helping the rebels and said it does will continue to do so, along with Germany and Portugal despite the pact.

The Burgos rebels in today's pronouncement declared they would closely collaborate with the "friendly powers of Germany and Italy."

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

Washington

By RAY TUCKER

SUFFICIENT: European nations arming for war are breaking through the American neutrality barrier in thorough-going fashion. The effect has been just what opponents of the legislation forecast.

The experts' charts reveal almost no increase in shipment of actual war material's abroad since Europe began to stock up for the next explosion. The Ethiopian, Sino-Japanese, Franco-German and Spanish crises brought no boom in export of guns, ammunition, airplanes—goods liable to presidential ban in time of war. But the prospective enemies have loaded up with industrial machinery and raw materials that should enable them to fill their own war-time needs without American aid.

Europe and the Orient have bought from us millions of dollars worth of machine tools, electrical equipment and heavy machinery. They have raised our supplies of cotton, scrap metal and chemicals. They have the making for a first-class francs now within their own borders. The neutrality law may keep the U. S. out of the next war—and it may not—but it has helped to make Europe self-sufficient for slaughter.

SIDESWIPE: FDR's aides are making political capital out of the threat of war in Europe and the Orient. They are copying the tactics of "the chiefs," whose determination to headline foreign problems has been disclosed in Whirligig.

Treasury aides say confidentially that they can't use the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to reduce the public debt "because you can't tell what will happen in Europe." State Departmenters confide that an extra shift labor till midnight to locate the whereabouts of Americans abroad. Army and Navy intelligence admit lugubriously that "things look bad." An unwary warfare around Washington scans the horizon for hostile bombing planes after a few such experiences. War seems no further away than Baltimore.

New Dealers think that this sort of fear campaign is having its effect. (Continued on page four)

Ayden's Aces took the lead in their division of the semifinals yesterday by blasting out a 12-3 win over the Greenies. The score was tied 3-3 in the seventh, when the Aces came to bat in their last at-bat. They didn't stop working until they hung nine tallies on the score board, clinching the game.

Both teams did their scoring in two innings. Ayden counted a trio of runs in the first inning. Johnson singled, Bouksa reached first on Wayne Ambler's error, Tabor sacrificed and Johnson and Bouksa tallied on Knowles' single. Wall then drove through short, Rabb erred, and Knowles scored the third run. The Greenies hung up a run in the fourth when Ty Warner homered. The score was tied in the seventh on Young Booser's single, followed by doubles by Ambler and House.

Ayden scored nine times in the eighth on six hits, six walks and an error. Fifteen men faced the Greenie hurlers in this inning. Card and Billett were driven to the showers. Clement relieved Billett who had gone in for Card.

The teams meet in Ayden Friday for the fourth game of the series. The Aces need one victory to win the series, while the locals must win two games to play in the loop's finals.

Greynolds may win probably take over the hurling job for the locals today in Ayden. May pitched the Greenies to a 5-4 in the first game of the series.

Require Teachers Band Instruments To Instruct Classes

Superintendent of Raleigh Schools Declares It Is Duty of Teachers Teach, Not Toot

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 27.—City Superintendent Claude F. Baddy of Raleigh's schools says his recent remarks on the high school band and the necessity for greater emphasis on some of the ancient accents of education, reading, writing and arithmetic have been very widely misunderstood.

And he has had a lot of trouble about it. Old friends from towns in which he has taught have been shocked. They think that in his dropping a sour note. He does not think so. He has not dropped the band and he favors music teaching. He has teachers, several of them instructing in music. But they are teachers, regularly certificated. Any man or woman who can teach band music would be welcomed as instructor to the Raleigh high school aggregation.

Mr. Gaddy says that is just the difficulty. S. A. Braxton, who has been directing the Raleigh high school band isn't a member of the school faculty. "He is a band promoter," Mr. Gaddy says, and a good one, but there is no provision in the Raleigh school appropriation for this instructor. There is probability of getting such a teacher, one who has regular classes in other subjects. If so, he will teach. As to athletics, Mr. Gaddy says

In the dressing room, after the Brown Scumber had blasted Jack Sharkey out of the picture in less than three rounds, Joe Louis and his retinue were plainly elated. His victory over the aged sailorman from Boston was fashioned in the manner which was typical of Louis before he ran into Max Schmeling.

On the opening gong Joe walked right out to face his opponent and started blazing away with both fists. If the Schmeling defeat left him even slightly gun-shy he managed to mask his inner feelings perfectly. He waded right in, without the slightest apparent regard for what Sharkey might do with his punch. Louis hurt Sharkey before he was hurt himself.

The one regret, and Louis' camp followers all voice the same opinion, was that Max Schmeling was not in there against the Bomber instead of Sharkey. To a man, they agree that Joe would have turned the tables on the German fighter.

It was evident from their conversation that Max Schmeling is the man Joe wants to meet. He will not rest easily until he gets a chance to erase the lone defeat of his professional career.

Getting a return bout with Everman is not going to be easy. Ever since he started his successful comeback climb Schmeling has insisted that his sole objective is to regain the world heavyweight crown something no other former titleholder has been able to do. Big purses, if they jeopardize his chances for a shot at the title, do not interest him. He won his chance to meet Braddock for the world championship by punching out a sensational victory over the high-rising Bomber and he does not intend to risk losing his claim to the big bout for any price.

The Bomber's boxing future, for the present at least, is in Schmeling's hands. And the German fighter, who reduced Louis to the stature of a human fighter with weaknesses in his arrior the same as in other humans, is not likely to risk his own chances for greater fame and fortune to build up the idol he destroyed.

By LARRY BAUER
Baby talk to his dogs gets results for a husky, 6-foot sportsman we have known for years.

He has trained a number of setters and spaniels all of them have been good hunting companions, while some might be termed outstanding field dogs. Never does he raise his voice, yet his charges obey his every command.

He says there is nothing new about his method, but contends that yelling and shouting at a high-strung bird dog is harmful. He talks to them something like this: "Well, well, poor little fellow—didn't do so good that time. Guess he's about tuckered. No more work today for you and old man."

When displeased with their work he lets the dogs know in a quiet, soft tone. Somehow they realize all is not well, drop their tails and assume that dejected attitude peculiar to the strain. But his dogs never cringe. They take it standing up. Good going is rewarded by a pat or a scratch. Patience and kindness work wonders. How different from some methods!

Advice To Rocky Anglers
Recruits joining the ranks of fly fishermen should keep clear in their minds that game fish shy from the unnatural. One fish and let the fly fall to the surface like an insect, especially when fishing still water. From a we fly should not be cast with a "wicket." All this takes practice. Study insects, how they fly and where, how they touch the water, what they do after they're on it, etc. Then make the fly imitate their characteristics. Do this and you may skip all the words ever written about the artificial fly and still take fish.

There are enough expert archers in this country today to have made a sizable and formidable army in the days when English longbowmen were famed for their dexterity with the "cloth yard arrow." Some of these men could have made the old soldiers at the battle of Crecy turn green with envy.

about pitching, McCarthy reasoned—if Hadley was in shape to get out there and use that knowledge for just two innings at a time it might mean ball games to the Yankees.

Hadley's bow in a Yankee uniform gave little promise of future usefulness. The Yankees were engaging the Athletics in a free-hitting game on April 20 when Bump was called into action. When the smoke cleared Hadley's record showed one loss and no victories. But from that time on until the middle of August Hadley did not suffer a defeat. He boasted a string of 11 consecutive victories—the best in the American league this season—on August 15.

Many of his victories were scored in the relief role, but that matters little for lately he has been starting as well as finishing his share of games. Half a dozen of his string were complete games. He has scored over every team on the circuit except the Browns. The Red Sox and the White Sox each have suffered three defeats at his hands.

In 1932 Hadley earned the dubious honor of losing more games than any other pitcher in the American league. Telling for Chicago and St. Louis, he was charged with 21 defeats. And if that were not bad enough the records added insult to injury when they showed that Bump topped all other hurlers in matter of losing games—171 was the figure. The following year he suffered 20 defeats and again was the most generous hurler in the league when he gave 141 bases on balls.

There is little likelihood that Paul Dean will return to service on the mound for the Cardinals this season. But Paul hasn't given up all hope of doing his bit toward winning the pennant. He takes night workouts every day. When the Cards are traveling, Paul works with the Browns.

His efforts mainly are confined to keeping in good physical condition. He shags flies in the outfield, but makes no attempt to show until his workout in the field is over. Then he tosses for about 10 minutes to anyone who happens to be handy—just easy, straight balls. His trouble is not a new one. He had the same difficulty two seasons ago and rest restored his arm. He is confident that rest will do the trick again.

He goes under treatments daily for the muscular trouble, which seems to have lodged in his shoulder. He will not listen to any advice that he forget baseball for the rest of the season. Paul insists that his arm is coming around and even talks of getting in there again before the season ends.

He laughs at any suggestion that the Cardinals cannot win the pennant without him. Of course, he is certain that it would be a breeze for Frankie Frisch's Gas House Gang were he ready to step back and let his regular turn on the mound. They still have Dizzy—and that means the pennant, as he sees it.

Paul has no fear that his big brother is likely to suffer from overwork. They can't overwork old Dix, according to Paul. Dizzy will take them in his stride and win the pennant for St. Louis, just like that, he warns all other contenders.

CORONATION YEAR BALL

TO RESEMBLE GEORGE'S
London.—(AP)—One of the most brilliant social events of the period will be the Coronation Year Ball at Grosvenor House next June.

It will be organized on similar lines to the Shakespeare Ball which took place during the year of King George's coronation, and which attended as it was by many members of the royal family, was one of the highlights of the time.

Accommodation at the ball is being arranged for 2,500 guests. The proceeds will be divided between the many hospitals and institutions assisted by the League of Mercy who are sponsoring the event. King Edward is patron of the league and Sovereign of the Order.

When Bump Hadley was toiling to get in shape last spring most observers would watch his efforts, shake their heads and walk away mumbling something or other. A few spoke right up with the opinion that Manager Joe McCarthy was loading a lot of dead wood on the Yankees. How could Hadley be of any possible help to New York after Washington had given him up? They asked. He had been with the White Sox and the Browns and about the best that could be said of Bump was that he was a most willing worker.

McCarthy had o'er ideas. He felt certain that the veteran, if he would work hard enough to get in shape, would come in mighty handy as a relief pitcher. Most old-timers know all there is to know

FRIDAY
7:00 p. m.—The Kiwanis Club will meet in the Woman's Club.

8:15 p. m.—Mrs. George F. Hadley and Miss Jesse Moyer will entertain at bridge at the home of Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, honoring Mrs. L. M. Buchanan.

Tea For Mrs. Bostic. Mrs. Berry Bostic and Miss Margaret Bostic were gracious hostesses at a lovely tea yesterday afternoon honoring Mrs. Clifford Bostic, a recent bride. Guests were received from four to six o'clock.

The home ensuite was beautifully and elaborately decorated in pink gladioli, asters and clematis. The light from numerous pale pink candles cast a mellow glow over the entire scene. As guests arrived they were welcomed by Mrs. W. S. Bostic.

Mrs. L. W. Gaylord introduced guests to the receiving line which stood in the drawing room. Receiving with Mrs. Bostic, Miss Margaret Bostic and the honor guest, Mrs. Clifford Bostic, were Miss Della Grace Wilson of Benson, Mrs. Van Station, Jr., and Mrs. Henry Harrell, recent brides; Miss Ethel Benton of Benson, Mrs. D. H. Conley, a recent bride, Mrs. Norwood Stone and Mrs. M. P. Whaley of Kinston.

Mrs. Troy Burnette, Jr., directed them to the dining room where Mrs. J. B. Spilman and Mrs. C. M. Warren, seated at opposite ends of the table, served caviar in meringues, sautéed nuts and mints. Assisting in serving were Misses Lourine Skinner, Pearl Lautares, Ruth Horne and Martha Scoville.

The table was especially pretty covered with an imported cloth of lace and centered with a silver bowl of pale pink asters and clematis flanked by silver holders with pale pink candles.

From the dining room Miss Doris Garris directed guests to the hall where they were received by Mrs. W. E. Hooker. They were shown to the punch room by Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald and Mrs. C. W. Howard.

Serving punch were Miss Sue Barrett, Miss Mary Jenkins, Miss Mattie Moe Gaylord and Miss Mary Elizabeth Ferguson.

Mrs. H. C. Sugg next greeted the guests and invited them to the register where Mrs. C. W. Shuff registered the large number of callers.

Good-byes were said by Mrs. R. T. Burnette.

Miss James Entertains. Stokes, N. C., Aug. 27.—Miss Mildred James entertained at a party at her home on Tuesday evening honoring her visitors, Miss Grace Hudson of Roanoke Rapids, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Peele of Greenville. Games were enjoyed during the evening and later refreshments were served.

Those present were Misses Grace Hudson, Mary Elizabeth Peele, Lillian James, Edna Ross, Mildred James; Messrs. James Williams, Theibert Hardison, Bill Bailey, William and Ervin James of Stokes.

Large Airship Flies Over City This A. M.

This morning around 11 o'clock probably the biggest heavier-than-air airship that has ever passed over Greenville flew over. The plane was of the two motor type and had one large wing. It was built on the plant of most transport ships and from the ground had the appearance of being either a hydro or amphibian.

The ship came up from the southwest at a northeastern direction towards Washington.

WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

One of the functions of the modern library is that of a huge encyclopedia, kept continually up to date by the acquisition of new materials—books, periodicals, prints, pamphlets, clippings, publicity matter and manuscripts. In this kind of service the library is for the moment getting away from books and nearer to the worker, whether at home, in school or laboratory, or in commerce and industry.—A. E. Eastwick, Librarian, St. Louis.

Double Egg Displayed In Reflector Office

Today J. C. Waldron brought a double hen egg into the Reflector office. The strange thing about this egg was that the inside egg had a shell and was about the size of any normal egg. The outside egg, which measured approximately 6 1/2 by 8 1/2 inches around, was rounder than eggs usually are. The space between the small and large egg was filled with the white of an egg.

Mr. Waldron said that he had shown the eggs to a number of people because of the size and did not know it was a freak until he got ready to cook it.

PLANS BETTER CITY SCHOOLS

Superintendent Rose Issues Statement on Major Aims

J. H. Rose, superintendent of the City school system, today issued a statement setting some of the progress made since the 1936-37 season closed last spring and enumerating some accomplishments to be sought during the coming term.

The opening of the Greenville City Schools on September seventh will find progress being made in the development of the twelve year program. This year all the seventh grades of the town, with the exception of one seventh grade at the college will be in the High School building.

This will bring the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades together in the Junior High School program. Under this Junior High School program, in addition to Mathematics and English, there will be offered to the boys and girls such subjects as the Natural Sciences, the Social Sciences, including History and Civics, Physical Education, Music, Manual Training, Home Economics, and extemporary courses in Latin and French.

An effort will be made during the years of the Junior High School to find out what the boys and girls desire to do in life. Then when they begin the tenth grade, which is the first year of the Senior High School, an effort will be made to guide them in the proper direction. The Senior High School, consisting of the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades, will be somewhat like the old ninth, tenth and eleventh, except that the work will be somewhat harder and more worthwhile.

The School Board attempted to purchase a residence near the High School for the Home Economics program, but were unsuccessful. However, the School has rented an apartment across the street from the High School and part of the Home-Making program will be carried on in this apartment under the most natural conditions possible. The Home Economics, or Home-Making program of the Greenville schools now is not just cooking and sewing. It is these two plus interior decorating, home management, home hygiene, care of clothes, home budget-making, and a host of other worthwhile ideas.

Next week the High School will be open every day to register new High School pupils, and to hold conferences with any high school pupils who wish to make any changes in their courses. On Friday preceding the opening of school that is, September 4, the principals of each building will be in their offices in order to register all children who are going to attend school this year for the first time and who have not already been registered. On the first day of school, September 7, the High School will remain in session until approximately 11:30. The Graded Schools will not remain in session more than one hour. On the second day of school, Tuesday, September 8, all schools will be dismissed at 12:30 for the day.

DOWNIE BROS. CIRCUS HAS NUMBER OF CLOWNS

Can you imagine a circus without a clown? Certainly not, because such a thing couldn't be. All the tents, elephants, animals and red wagons in the world would not make a circus if the clowns were not there to make the thing complete. As long as there are circuses there must be clowns, for they are an institution.

The Downie Bros. Circus under the management of Charles Sparks has made the clown department bigger than ever before. There are twenty-five of the funny men and there is hardly a moment during the entire performance when there isn't a clown "stunt" in some part of the arena. The rule of Mr. Sparks is that all fun must be clean and wholesome. The clowns be persons of keen wit and intelligence.

There will be fat clowns, and lean clowns, tall clowns, and short clowns; and not a clown among them all will have anything on his mind but the business of making men, women, women and children laugh with the glee that only good wholesome fun can bring to the hearts of good wholesome people.

All the little girls and boys of this city are assured that the clowns will look right at each of them individually when they cut the funniest papers when Downie Bros Circus comes here on Thursday Sept. 3.

STAR WAREHOUSE Greenville, North Carolina

FIRST SALE OPENING DAY—TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1ST

PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM SMITH & SUGG:

We have worked 24 years to give you the very best market possible, and we are proud that no market is superior to Greenville. As to ourselves, our chief aim is to serve the best interests of our patrons and see that they get every dollar their tobacco is worth, and we can help you, in the sale of your tobacco.

We have also provided for our patrons the best equipped and most modern warehouse in Eastern Carolina, with rest rooms for both white and colored people.

Examine your packhouses and see if they are leaking. Grade your tobacco dry and carefully. Keep strings out. Over a million dollars are lost every year by wet and poorly graded tobacco. You certainly cannot go wrong in selecting the oldest established warehouse firm in Greenville with whom to market your crop.

We are determined that no warehouse shall excel us in high standard of service rendered, or prices paid for every grade of tobacco.

 feel. They report that certain financial and industrial interests hostile to FDR are wondering whether they ought to replace him with a man as inexperienced in handling foreign problems as Alf Landon. It's a sideswipe which the Republican nominee may have to — and probably will meet before long.

HIERARCHY: Advance copies of Father Coughlin's oratorical itinerary which have reached Washington completely belie reports that he has been muzzleed by the Vatican or his immediate superior — Bishop Gallagher of Detroit. He has mapped a coast-to-coast campaign.

The priest has deftly chosen his spots. Travelling by air except for short jumps, he will belabor the President and boost Representative Landon in centers where his own popularity has been proved. The high spots are New England, Pennsylvania, the Middle West and the Far West. Cleveland, Boston, Providence, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Los Angeles are typical cities where he is supposed to have large followings that may cut into the Roosevelt vote. He will turn the tables against the President in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

New Dealers are deeply concerned over his unapologetic belligerency. They're planning to combat him by selecting as speakers several prominent Catholic clergymen sympathetic to FDR's social program. It's a clash which the church hierarchy doesn't relish but doesn't dare discuss, must less prevent.

OUTMODED: Political philosophers regard the defeat of Representative Tom Blanton in a Texas primary run-off as prophetic of far-reaching changes in the South and Southwest. Despite almost twenty years' continuous service in the House, the loud-voiced man who couldn't pronounce his r's was badly beaten.

It's true that he had collected a varied assortment of enemies during his pugnacious, public life. But the reasons for his slaughter seem to be deeper. Over the radio his opponent pilloried him as a "demagogue", whereas the people used to take his word that he was a statesman. The influx of new voters into the district was the most damaging factor. The opening of an oil well, the development of airplane centers and the revival of railroad shops changed the complexion of the electorate. Newcomers disliked his bombast and ballyhoo.

Mr. Blanton, in short, fell a victim to scientific, industrial and intellectual advancements. Like many other politicians with single-track minds, he didn't keep up with changing times and temperaments.

New York

CHARGED: Chairman Arthur Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority has been staging an unusual sort of one man show during the past few weeks. He has personally approached a number of key newspaper — and other — leaders and in private conversation with them has given his colleague David Lilienthal what one of his listeners describes as "unrestricted hell."

Dr. Morgan is quoted as criticizing Lilienthal in caustic terms for "retarding the TVA involved in politics." This is taken to refer to the very active interest Senators La Follette and Norris have shown in the TVA power program and especially to their sub rosa intervention on behalf of Lilienthal's reappointment as a member of the Authority. This is an especially sore point with the Chairman, who did all he could to block the reappointment.

Lilienthal is further charged with spending ridiculously large sums to promote the use of TVA power in southern municipalities. Tupelo (Miss.) is cited as a case where the promotion cost ran to about four times the total annual domestic consumption of electricity.

CONSTRUCTIVE: Most important of all, Dr. Morgan expresses the strongest sort of disagreement with two of Lilienthal's key policies — the "yardstick" principle and the use of competitive pressure to compel

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE
 A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Curious as it may seem, the story is told in Blaise through the eyes of a girl who has been brought to the attention of her employer. The other is that she is becoming popular with Atlanta's "best young people." Even Porter Murray who has been Atlanta's prize bachelor catch for a good many years, and who's company delightful Porter is driving from home from a most expensive dinner, he has stopped in front of her apartment.

Chapter 31 BRIDESMAID
 YOU wouldn't tell me we were out of gas?" Carol asked.
 "I would if I could get by with it." Porter put an arm around her and drew her towards him; put his free hand under her chin. "I've been wanting to do this for two months." Her first impulse was to refuse him. She hadn't kissed a man since Denis, almost a year ago, but she had wanted a great many times to be kissed. Not by anyone she knew; merely an unfocused desire to feel a man's arms holding her, and a man's mouth on hers.
 She supposed every girl felt that, but she resented the hunger nevertheless. Kisses were not significant any more — she was modern enough to feel that — but none of the men who had attempted it had appealed to her. And so she had put them off with a casual laugh.

 But tonight the hunger was keener, and so she let him kiss her. When his lips touched hers she stiffened. "Not like that, please."
 "Sorry," he said humbly, and tried again. This time the kiss was light and slow and expert. "Is that better?"
 "Much." The hunger was satisfied for the moment, she said quietly. "Let's go home now."
 He hesitated as if in protest, and then acquiesced. "Okay." He drove to the entrance and got out to open her door. "Is it too late for me to come up for a while?"
 "I'm afraid it is. Don't forget I'm one of the toilers of the world."
 "I won't. Well — goodnight. I'll call you tomorrow or next day."
 She said: "Please do," and left him.

EARLY in October there was an ecstatic letter from Ellen. She was to be married on the last Saturday in October, and she was counting on Carol for maid of honor; she had selected Saturday because Carol would be better able to get away from the office then.
 She put the letter aside and smiled ruefully. Ellen, bless her, was running true to her own enviable type. Ellen would insist upon — and reveal — every one of the traditional, faintly ludicrous gestures. And a period dress, to be bought, of course, from Carol's own salary! But she would have to go, unless Blake couldn't spare her; that was a ray of hope.

She spoke to him about it the next morning, still smiling ruefully.
 "If you think I oughtn't to take the time, I hope you'll say so. It won't — break me up."
 He chuckled and she knew he understood — all the things she hadn't said.
 "Of course you can take the time; it won't mean but a day and a half from the office. If you want an out I'm willing to be Simon Legree and put my foot down, but actually it's up to you."
 She wrinkled her nose. "Oh, heck! I guess I'd better go; I wouldn't hurt her feelings for the world."
 "I think you'd better go too." His private utilities to sell properties to TVA at the latter's terms. The TVA chairman characterizes this practice as grossly unfair.

 As to the "yardstick" idea, he feels it is a grave mistake for a government agency to try to set up a scale of rates as a criterion for private utilities when it is not in fact an accurate measure at all. He agrees with private power leaders that TVA electric production is so subsidized through absence of taxation, allocation of costs to other functions of the Authority, etc. that it is absurdly unrepresentative to expect private companies to operate at the rates which Lilienthal has established.
 The general impression of those whom Dr. Morgan has interviewed in this vein — most of whom are conservative — is that TVA would be a constructive force if its Chairman were allowed to run it in his own way.
FUTURE: New York insiders get the following background on the declaration of Senator Jim Couzens of Michigan in favor of FDR. Analysis shows that Couzens has been nominated and renominated in Republican primaries with the substantial and regular assistance of liberal Democrats turned Republican for the occasion. Michigan primary laws are such as to permit this temporary switching of party allegiance. But this year it isn't going to work out that way.

 The reason is that the Democratic party in Michigan is engaged in a first class civil war of its own. A strong faction strenuously resents the "high-handed" manner in which the national administration is trying to "crum Frank Murphy down the party's throat" as its candidate for governor. This element is out to lick Murphy (and inferentially FDR and Jim Farley) in the primaries and reports indicate that the contest may be dangerously close.
 In any case the liberal Democrats have to vote in their own party primary this year in order to assure victory for Frank Murphy and the New Deal high command. They can't be spared to wander over into the G. O. P. fold for Couzens' benefit. So the latter will probably be beaten in the primaries by former governor Brooker, who was a long shot bet when he first entered the race. This means that Couzens is finished as a Republican and that his political future lies with Roosevelt or nowhere. Q. E. D.

MINIMIZES: The steel unionization drive has slowed to a snail's pace, but this does not by any means imply that the war is over and the industry has beaten the Lewisites.
 Relaxation in recruiting efforts fits Lewis' plan to keep labor conflicts both within its own ranks and with open shop employers — in abeyance as far as possible until after election. The Mine Workers' chief realizes it is far more important from his viewpoint to recollect Roosevelt than it is to hasten his unionization campaign or the showdown between the industrial and craft union wings of organized labor.

This is why Lewis personally has left the country for a while. He attracts trouble as a lightning rod attracts lightning and he knows it. He isn't nearly as likely to be a storm center if he isn't here. By his absence and by quietly slowing up the activity of the Committee for Industrial Organization, he minimizes labor issues for FDR's benefit without having to retreat from his own aggressive position.

U.S. Wins Battle On 'Rum Row'; Smugglers Go Way of Speak-Easy

A coast guard patrol boat trails an oil screw vessel of the modern, high-powered type used for liquor smuggling. Until recently this scene, off Nantuxet lightship in the Atlantic, was not uncommon.

Washington—(AP)—Two sails shot up the masts of a schooner in the azure-blue harbor of a little Mexican island. Wind belled her sails and she nosed north.

That afternoon coast guard headquarters in Washington was messaged that the "George and Earl" was headed toward American ports and the "George and Earl" was on the coast guard's black list of rum-runners.

For days messages came in from coast guard cutters and planes that she had been sighted, still going north. Then she was lost.

At times during the prohibition era as many as a hundred such boats have been reported in a single day lying in "Rum Row," outside the 12-mile limit.

In 1924 Rum Row was in its heyday. From the Canadian border to the Virginia capes there idled schooners and small, engine craft waiting for American speed boats to relieve them of their cargo of contraband liquor.

Rum running became so great along the coast that Congress voted early to absorb the deficits. Since the fair has been leased on a basis whereby the state receives a percentage of the receipts, the Department of Agriculture has received approximately $22,000 as its share.

Receipts at the fairmounts in the past three years have not been abnormally larger than in the preceding four years. In 1929, for example, the state's receipts totaled $65,539 while in 1934, under the non-political management of Chambliss, total receipts were $95,129.

Thousands of dollars were lost by the fair in the several years preceding execution of the lease to Chambliss and Hamid in 1933, and this loss was reflected directly in increased state expenditures necessary to absorb the deficits.

The coast guard more money for cutters. The new boats could move more swiftly than the rum schooners they were trailing, so there finally came a month in 1929 when the schooners had practically disappeared.

But in their stead came a new butting feet that was more difficult to defeat. Bootleggers had bought low-lying engine boats which were difficult to see and catch. Their numbers rose again until March, 1933, the month of the bank holiday, when the rum fleet dropped again.

Then came repeal. The fleet fell off farther. But then the proprietors thought of a new carbo. For the most part, the runners had carried Scotch whiskey doing prohibition. Now they turned to 190 proof alcohol.

By August, 1934, the coast guard was again trailing and watching night and day. Secretary Morgenthau, of the treasury, under whose direction the coast guard works, decided to wipe out Rum Row.

A small land-sea army of detectives was pitted against the alcohol runners. Coast guard trailed the boats off-shore and seized them when they could. Customs and alcohol tax men gathered evidence ashore and tolled the favorite dumping spots.

FAIR BIG AID TO TAXPAYERS

Exposition Provides Considerable Saving to Public

R-flector Bureau, Sir Walter Raleigh. Raleigh, Aug. 27.—Figures released by the Budget Bureau today reveal that the State Fair, in addition to providing a constructive program of exhibits and entertainment, has meant a considerable saving to the taxpayers of North Carolina during the three years that the exposition has been operated by Norman Y. Chambliss and George A. Hamid.

Notice of Sale of Real Estate For The Non-Payment of 1935 Taxes Due Pitt County

Pursuant to the provisions of law contained in Chapter 560 of the Public Laws of North Carolina of the session of 1933, and amendments thereto as contained in Chapter 234 of the Public Laws of North Carolina of the session of 1935, and by reason of the failure of the persons named below to pay their taxes levied for the year 1935 by Pitt County and assessed against the real estate briefly described below, the undersigned tax collector for Pitt County, will, pursuant to authority vested in him by law, on Monday, the 7th day of September, 1936, at 12 o'clock M., and continuing until completed, at the courthouse door in Greenville, N. C., offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash, for the purpose of satisfying the delinquent taxes due Pitt County for the year 1935, the following described real estate owned or listed for taxation as follows:

Land Of Genghis Khan Faces War

AT THE GATEWAY

Only camels, oxen and sturdy horses can negotiate this difficult gateway into inner Mongolia which the Japanese army is reported ready to take in an attempt to win new territory. Japanese diplomats say the aim is to advance an industrial program; Japanese army men declare it is partially to render China impotent as a possible aid to Russia in the event of a Russo-Japanese war.

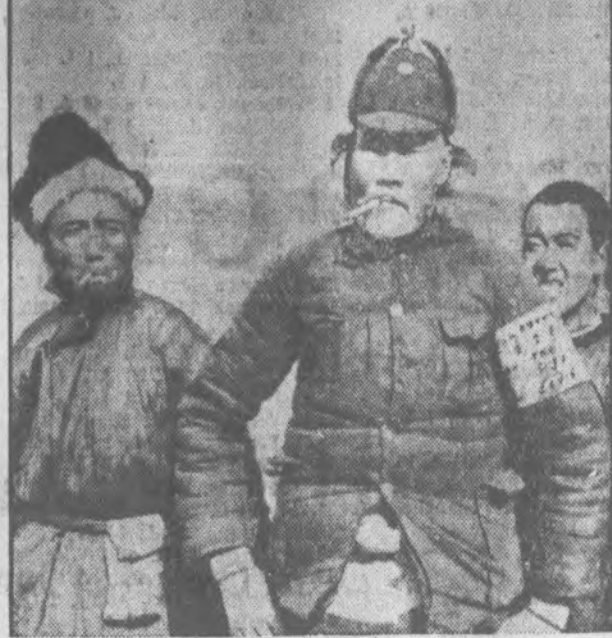

ALONG THE WAY

The Japanese would find along the road Nomadic plainsmen like this descendant of the great Genghis Khan. He has few needs and tends his herds oblivious of the increasingly strained relations between Japan and China.

'AT HOME'

But what a different home it is in Mongolia. This primitive family, like all the others in the land, sleeps on the bare earth and eats only the coarsest of foods. The children grow strong on goat's cheese, camel's milk and rancid butter. And the one occupation is raising cattle.

WITH THE MILITARY

Mongolia, too, has its soldiers—fierce fighters such as the military leader in the foreground—but they are no match, observers say, for a modern, well-equipped army. All of these soldiers invariably wear thick-padded uniforms as protection from the biting winds that sweep across the broad Mongolian plains. And they like to smoke American cigarettes.

appeals and part of the money comes from the sale of literature. We get an immense amount of work done by volunteers." The 1932 campaign cost the party $34,000 but the whole year's expenditure ran to $50,000. In 1928, Thomas was credited with about 270,000 votes. This figure jumped to 800,000 in 1932, but he says all Socialist votes cast in Oklahoma were thrown out. "The Socialist votes aren't even counted sometimes," he says. "I honestly believe I may have had twice as many votes in 1932 as were actually counted." "Each time I have campaigned, it has been progressively harder to get on the ballot. Florida, Louisiana, Ohio and North Carolina are the most difficult states. It isn't always the law—it's how they interpret it." Thomas is carrying out an extensive campaign address schedule. Since April 1 he has crossed the continent twice on speaking tours and expects to do so again shortly. Thomas will be 52 in November. He may run again in 1940—he can't tell yet.

Would Ban New Lawyers.

Manila, P. I.—(AP)—Philippine National Assemblyman Nicolas Raulos of Cebu, has proposed a bill designed to limit the creation of new attorneys. The measure would suspend all bar examinations for five years, beginning in 1944.

NEW TOBACCO GOES TO MARKET AS AUCTIONEER CRY RINGS OUT

The auctioneer's cry rings through the tobacco belt these days as the 1936 crop goes on sale. Tom Burton, one of the criers, raises his hand over a pile of the leaves as he urges the buyers around him.

By GEORGE BURT

Tifton, Ga.—(AP)—With a song like a hi-de-ho jazz-man on a spree, auctioneers are selling another tobacco crop in the Georgia bright leaf belt. To an unaccustomed ear the auction sounds like crazy jabber-wocky and the pungent dust and warehouse crowds and the throbbing heat leave a stranger dizzy. "Oolavit, oolavit, debakah!" Sounds like that fly from the auctioneer's chattering lips. "Vines-bukah! Twenty-vied, twennyvie, ool-wennyxst? Imperish—imperish—twennyxst. Oolavit, oolavit? Mer-hon-twenny-ebn. Oooh! Twennyvie Imperish. Gone-imperish twenny-ah."

Meanwhile, white-shirted buyers standing by have been signalling their bids. Anxious farmers have been shuffling up and down the high-piled rows of aromatic, golden leaf. But it's all very simple. The auctioneer's song translated freely runs something like this: "Who'll have it? Who'll have it? Fine tobacco. Twenty-five cents bid. Twenty-five—who'll say twenty-six? Imperial Tobacco company bids twenty-six. Who'll have it? American Tobacco company bids twenty-seven. Oh, twenty-eight for Imperial? Sold to the Imperial Tobacco company for twenty-eight cents a pound." But it's all done in a second or two. Quick judgment and steady nerves are requisites for successful buyers from international tobacco manufacturers. And they mustn't mind the heat. The auctioneer must have an iron throat, Job's patience and a quick mind. Tobacco auctions are perhaps the south's most picturesque commercial spectacle. Customed tailored buyers from big cities rub elbows with sun-burned farmers from the backwoods flat country. Sun-bonneted wives and staring children from a thousand farms fill tobacco town streets. Carnivals and old-time medicine shows spring up in vacant lots. It's hot but nobody minds the sun. It made tobacco grow. Roads and streets are filled with wagons, trucks, old cars and buggies. An occasional ox cart creeps its slow way to the market. The whole town smells of limp, cured tobacco. The auction season means new life to the 15 South Georgia towns where buyers and farmers flock to 40 warehouses once a year. In the one-month season last year more than $13,000,000 cash was paid to farmers for the year of sweat and patience. About 71,000,000 pounds of tobacco left for noisy warehouses. A lot of cigarettes! Tobacco is an all-year crop. A farm family minds it like a baby from the planting time to the minute the auctioneer says it's sold. An hour's neglect in the slow-heat curing may ruin it. Rains or worms may ruin a year's labor. But when the crop is good it pays the famous out of debt, buys their wives some finery and maybe puts a new mule in the stable. And then the year starts again.

STUDY RECORD OF PRISONERS

Probe in Connection with Social Diseases and Crime

Reflector Bureau. S. Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Aug. 24—A study of the records of 300 prisoners now in Central Prison here in an effort to determine how many of these prisoners have had any social diseases, especially syphilis or gonorrhea, is now being made by the parole office, Commissioner of Paroles Edwin M. Gill said today. No conclusions will be drawn as to whether or not social diseases have been a factor in the crimes committed, Commissioner Gill said, the only object of the study being to get and present the facts and make them available to socialists and research students who may be interested in trying to establish a relationship between social diseases among prisoners and crime, Commissioner Gill said.

"It has long been known, of course, that there is a very high percentage of social diseases among prisoners, Commissioner Gill said. "The prison hospital treats thousands of cases of venereal diseases each year among the prisoners and there are usually several hundred in the prison hospital undergoing treatment all the time. "But so far as we know, no effort has ever been made to get anything like an accurate picture of the amount of venereal disease in the prison system as a whole or among those convicted of felonies. Accordingly, we decided to take the records of 300 prisoners convicted of felonies and check these records for social diseases in the belief that this would give us a pretty good average or cross section, especially among the long-term prisoners. "We will not try to draw any conclusions as to whether or not the contraction of venereal diseases has been a factor in the criminal history of these prisoners, for it is possible that a prisoner may have had one of these diseases long before the crime of which he was convicted was committed or that such disease may have no relationship to the crime committed. Yet we believe the results of this study will prove interesting."

B. W. Harmon, of Seardale, N. Y., drove his car in front of a train which carried the auto 75 feet when it caught fire. Harmon was not hurt.

Thomas, The Perennial Candidate, Hits Election Circuit Undaunted

Pictured during a tense moment of an executive committee meeting, Norman Thomas says if he really wanted to be President he wouldn't be a socialist this year.

By JAMES B. HATCHER He had been asked to run for one post or another before then, but had always declined. Here's his "ran for" record: 1924 for governor of New York. 1925 for mayor of New York. 1926 for New York state senator. 1927 for alderman. 1928 for President. 1929 for mayor of New York. 1930 for congressman from a Brooklyn district. 1931 for Manhattan borough president. New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Often a candidate but never elected, Norman Thomas swings into his third campaign for the presidency like a man with a 50-50 chance. Being a perennial candidate "feels like a job," he says. And he adds that he isn't discouraged. Thomas, a Princeton graduate who has been a Presbyterian minister and an editor of magazines and newspapers, began running for office on the Socialist ticket in 1924.

1932 for President. 1934 for U. S. senator from New York.

He has held two appointive offices, however—member of an east Harlem district school board and member of the municipal charter commission.

"If my major desire were to get into the White House," says Thomas "I wouldn't be a Socialist in this year of 1936. I'd move into some middle western state, and do a lot of other things."

Incidentally, he came from the middle west. As a boy in his home town of Marion, Ohio, he carried papers for Warren G. Harding. "That was a pretty good job," he smiles.

When you're a Socialist, it's much harder to finance a presidential campaign, because you have to depend on the nickels and dimes of poor people.

"It's one of our major headaches," says Thomas. "We charge admission to some of the campaign meetings, the committees send out

"I'll tip you off to a summer lunch that's perfect. It's crisp Shredded Wheat, heaped high with sliced peaches. It tastes great, and keeps you on your toes the rest of the day."

RACE PROBLEM IS UNPOPULAR

Former Issue in Politics in South Now Frowned Upon

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Aug. 2.—Race politics worked out badly for senatorial candidates in South Carolina and Mississippi, and North Carolinians are wondering if there will not be a similar result in Georgia. Many papers of the state joined in commendation of Dr. J. E. Shepard, president of North Carolina College for Negroes in Durham, who recently protested in a dignified letter to Governor Eugene Talmadge, against the raising of the race issue in that state. The Constitution of Atlanta printed the letter and in a column editorial commented it. The paper also rebuked

Governor Talmadge. Dr. Shepard's letter was printed in part by nearly all the state dailies, some of which declared that there was no justification in the Talmadge attack on the race.

One of the candidates for the seat in the United States Senate attacked Senator Byrnes in his South Carolina campaign, and the Palmetto people gave the incumbent an amazing majority. The same race was attempted in Mississippi against Senator Pat Harrison. The returns showing that the voters in these two states which have large negro populations indicate that the race issue is losing popularity.

The pulling power of attack on the voteless blacks has been so discounted in these Mississippi and South Carolina primaries that friends of Senator Richard B. Russell are hopeful of his easy triumph over Talmadge. There was great apprehension felt for Senator Harrison here in North Carolina where he and his ancestry are well known. The commentators on these results do not merely see the popularity of the New Deal, but observe a trend of liberalism running throughout the whole human equation.

MODERN CAFE VOTERS AWAIT OPENED HERE LONDON STAND

Nick Basheer Employs 20 Persons in Tobacco Town

Nick Basheer, who has been in the cafe business in Greenville for the past four years as owner of Frozen Dulight, announced plans for the immediate opening of his new modern cafe, the Carolina Grill in Tobacco Town.

The Carolina Grill, modern in every respect, with six booths in a seating capacity of 36 and a total seating capacity of 75, will remain open 24 hours a day, according to Mr. Basheer.

A feature of the Carolina Grill is its unusually excellent lighting. Three sides have large window opening on the streets. The modern improvements were constructed by the owners of the site, Mosely Brothers, from whom Mr. Basheer took a long term lease.

"I feel no hesitancy in opening up a cafe here that I feel will be the equal of any in this part of the state," Mr. Basheer said. "The great progress being made by Greenville as an outstanding tobacco center is to continue and increase, in my opinion. Greenville people have shown me that they appreciate the right kind of service and firm in this belief I have made my slogan 'Grow with Greenville.'"

The Carolina Grill will employ a force of about 20 men and women and will be prepared to give every service that goes with the modern cafe business.

He expressed the belief that his business Tuesday, the opening day of the Greenville tobacco market, will be the biggest single day's cafe business ever done in Greenville.

New Resettlement Officer Discovers Some Inefficiency

Big Cut in Budget, However, Chief Reason For Heavy Reduction in Agency's Personnel

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 22.—Regional Director George S. Mitchell of the Resettlement Administration, frankly admits that he has found some inefficiency in the organization here, although that most of the grounds for eliminating this inefficiency was laid before he arrived here this week, succeeding Hon. H. B. Mack, who was suddenly fired last week by Resettlement Administrator-Raford G. Tugwell.

More than 100 employees of Resettlement have already been dropped so far this week, including 50 of the 54 employed in the office of the state director, while others are scheduled to follow soon. Director Mitchell says the 40 per cent cut in the budget for this region is one of the chief reasons for the heavy reduction in personnel.

Another change is being made in the office of finance and regional control, with the announcement that Phillip E. Henderson, who has been in charge of this division since July 1, when he succeeded Paul H. Brinson, will be transferred to Hartford, Conn., and that he will be succeeded by Alvin Smith, from the Washington offices of the finance division.

It was with this same division of finance and control that Mack had so much trouble for months and which is believed to have resulted in his ultimate dismissal, not because he failed to untangle it but because he irritated the Tugwellian powers-that-be in Washington by insisting upon more efficiency in this division and by raising so much rumpus that Tugwell finally ousted Brinson and sent Henderson here July 1. Since that time the division has been functioning more smoothly, although Director Mitchell, in making still more changes, apparently was not satisfied with the manner in which it was functioning.

Supporters Expect Nominee Clear Up Farm Policies

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Thus far the Republican approach to the farm issue has left a great deal to the imagination. It is plain that here is one subject on which Governor Landon's supporters will expect him to be far more specific when he makes his projected tour of the midwest.

The complications are not discounted by any Republican leader who has first-hand contact with the farm problem. The gratification of many western farmers over their benefit checks from Washington can no more be denied, eastern city dwellers at this pouring out of public funds to one section of the population.

The Republican national convention approached the puzzle with due caution. Its platform outlined a set of general principles, spoke slightly of the departed AAA, and then came around to an assertion that now "the New Deal administration has taken into itself the principles of the Republican policy of soil conservation and land retirement."

"This action," continued the Republican platform, "opens the way for a non-political and permanent solution."

But if these words were intended to take the farm issue out of the campaign, they have failed miserably. For they have been expanded and expounded most interestingly since by various Republican spokesmen.

One of these is Former Governor Lowden of Illinois, long an advocate of advanced legislation for the farmer. Visiting Topeka on July 8, he outlined, with Landon's acquiescence, what the Republican program would be. That outline put much emphasis on "bounties" to be paid to farmers.

Later, in his acceptance speech, Governor Landon himself mentioned AAA as having "helped to tide farmers over a difficult period," although he also criticized some features of it adversely. He did not mention the administration soil conservation program, but committed himself, if elected, to "establish effective soil conservation" and to pay "benefits."

Finally, comes another party spokesman, Republican National Chairman Hamilton. In a speech-making swing around the circle of an unusual character for a campaign manager, Hamilton spoke on August 17 at Albuquerque, N. M.

"You may say I am talking about dead horses, because the AAA has been declared unconstitutional," said Hamilton. But a new AAA has been passed to take its place, which is called the soil conservation act. This new act continues the theory of planning artificial scarcity—and does so by paying farmers to put a portion of their lands into grasses."

It is true that Hamilton was talking in and to a cattle country, not a grain country. It is true likewise that, for whatever reason, it is announced that he soon will take a rest from speech-making and retire to his party headquarters in Chicago, to attend to pressing matters of organization.

In any case it will be Governor Landon himself to whom the party will look, in the end, for light on the farm issue, especially since Hamilton's observation has led Secretary Wallace to say that the Republicans are attacking the soil conservation program, benefits and all.

The governor lives in a grain state which has been made beneficiary of the stream of checks from Washington; a state whose political background is such that three of its four Republican congressmen voted for the inflationary Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage bill, while the fourth was paired in its favor.

The governor likewise is under the necessity of presenting a program acceptable to important sections of the east, if he hopes to be elected President.

That situation, more than anything else, imparts far more than the ordinary political interest to the speeches he will make in September, detailing his ideas about farm relief.

WILL CELEBRATE DISCOVERY OF SLATE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Bangor, Pa. (AP)—Six thousand persons in this center of the reviving slate industry are preparing to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the discovery of great veins of the gray rock in Pennsylvania. The festival will be held Sept. 30 to Oct. 3. After 20 lean years the rip of the who saw and the shout of the der-rickman again rises from the deep quarries in the Northampton county foothills.

Far down chiseled smooth walls skilled workmen again are cutting away the crude blocks to be fashioned into sheets and shingles for America's backboards and roof tops.

In Chicago recently a softball team won a no-hit game using a 16-inch ball and slow pitching.

FEWER CONVICTIONS PROHIBITION LAWS IN WET COUNTIES

(Continued From Page One) 36, only 17.6 per cent of the superior court convictions were for violation of the liquor laws and 39.1 per cent of the recorder's court convictions were for liquor law violations. Mr. Bruton pointed out that a good many of the convictions in the 17 wet counties undoubtedly were for offenses committed under the old state law.

Discuss McDonald As Candidate For Job Home Town

More Speculation on Future of Deceased Candidate Started in Raleigh Few Days Ago. Raleigh, Aug. 27.—More speculation on the future of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald was started here a day or two ago when discussion of a change in the charter of Winston-Salem was coupled with the suggestion that under such an amendment Dr. McDonald might be made whole-time mayor. Two things, it was pointed out would have to be done: The charter of twin municipalities would have to be amended to provide for the full-time job and a delegation in the legislature would have to do it. There are four Forsyth members of the general assembly. Three of them are in the House and one in the Senate. Three are known to have slight hostility to Dr. McDonald. The mayor of Winston-Salem now draws $2,000 a year, it is said. That does not quite pay the mayor a living, but oldtimers in that city do not wish the office to be a paying work. Friends of Dr. McDonald, however, do. They have tried to get him a college professorship and once it appeared that he might have a chance with some of his earnest supporters members of the Wake Forest board of trustees. There was an effort earlier to land him at the state university. Then a liberal newspaper was proposed with Dr. McDonald editing and directing its policy. There is set for September a meeting of the liberal Democrats at which time there may be further discussion of such a paper. Meanwhile, the recurring suggestions of changing Winston-Salem's charter furnish the most promising news of them all. It is agreed that the late candidate for Governor would make a big run in his home county outside, but he is strong in the city of 80,000 or more people. The mayoralty of Winston-Salem means under such changed conditions the management of a big business.

It is certain that if such a proposal is made at the 1937 general assembly Dr. McDonald's next friend, Vergil A. Wilson, who sits in the House, will be pushing the measure through his section. He may find stiff opposition from his colleagues, and then courtesy may allow the bill to go through. The Senate would be lobbied against it. And the senator could kill it if he chose to employ his privileges. The proposed charter change has been mentioned in the Forsyth papers, but the McDonalds are new. It is known that the recent candidate for Governor believes state government would generally be very different from what it now is, but for Winston-Salem. For decades that city and Charlotte have vied with each other in carrying the greatest load of culpability that could be laid on them. The Mecklenburg people in the days of Bickett blamed his faults, if any, upon Forsyth and accused the war governor of getting his inspiration from Forsyth. Governor Morrison who succeeded Bickett, was more furiously abused because he lived about the Duke Power Company. The feud perseveres. One term the lower company takes the guessing, the other term the tobacco interests. It will be so in 1937-41. Mr. Hoy will be accused of taking orders from Duke Power; Ehringhaus is given to the tobacco companies.

Found... a Whole New Set of Long Tall Drinks. Double your list of long tall quenchers... and your own and your guests' pleasure. Occasionally, for the same sturdy satisfaction and zesty thirst-quenching but an entirely different taste, make your favorite long tall drink with Old Mr. Boston Sloe Gin instead of the good Old Mr. Boston Distilled Dry Gin you like so well. Gives a wine-like tang to your drink... not tart, not sweet... that makes it a smart new drink. You have everything right in your home for this new line-up... lemons, sugar, ice and ginger ale or carbonated water. Start doubling the pleasure of thirst quenching tonight... buy a bottle of Old Mr. Boston Sloe Gin on your way home. Ben Burk Inc., Boston, Mass. FIVE SIMPLE MOTIONS MAKE A TOM COLLINS. 1 Squeeze juice of half a lemon in a tall glass. 2 Add a teaspoon of sugar. 3 Pour in a paper of Old Mr. Boston Distilled Dry Gin or Old Mr. Boston Sloe Gin for a pleasantly different flavor. 4 Drop in two or three pieces of ice. 5 Fill with ginger ale or other charged water. EASY TO MIX... COOLING AND REFRESHING. OLD MR. BOSTON DISTILLED DRY GIN. SLOE GIN FOR A DIFFERENT FLAVOR.
