CROWDS MEET ROOSEVELT ON WESTERN TOUR

President Heads South Dakota City On Special

WILL ATTEND DERN FUNERAL

Conferences Held With Governors of North and South Dakota; To Rest Today

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 29.—(AP)—President Roosevelt headed for South Dakota's capital today for another drought conference after a series of rear platform talks in which he spoke of planning for the future by spending and acting in the immediate present.

At Aberdeen and Huron last night the chief executive expounded the planning theory and upheld the emergency practice of "spending money to save money" in the long run.

The presidential special, greeted by large crowds all along the route, was due in Pierre this morning.

Conference with Governors Berry of South Dakota and Miller of Wyoming and the senators from those states were arranged for the chief executive during his four hour stay at Pierre. Then the special was to go to Rapid City, South Dakota for his week-end, Sunday night the president will start for Salt Lake City to attend the funeral of Secretary of War Dern Tuesday.

Speaking to thousands packed around his train at Aberdeen, the president drew laughter and applause from the crowd when he said:

"I understand there are some people that are not in favor of planning ahead. I believe there are some people that say it isn't worth spending money to save money."

Records Jurist Gets Reprimanded By Superior Judge

Called Down For Allowing Man Convicted of Driving While Drunk Resume Operating Vehicle

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Aug. 29.—The reprimanding of the judge of the recorder's court in Raleigh by Superior Court Judge R. Hunt Parker this week because he gave a man he had convicted of drunken driving a permit to drive his car after only three months, despite the fact the state had revoked his license for a year, has caused much satisfaction in the highway safety division here, although no one is willing to comment for publication.

Officials of the division are also elated at the fact that Judge Parker sentenced this same man to 18 months on the roads for a second offense of drunken driving and gave him four months more for driving while his license was revoked. They feel that this incident will make other judges of recorder's courts who have been passing out very lenient sentences for drunken driving sit up and take notice, likewise drivers who have had their licenses revoked but who continued to drive anyway.

The records of the highway safety division on Williams were also presented to the grand jury by Arthur Pulk, director of the division.

RECESS TAKEN IN COLUMBUS

Grand Jury Hears Score Witness In Flogging Case

Whiteville, Aug. 29.—(AP)—After hearing a score of witnesses yesterday the Columbus county grand jury recessed its investigation of night riding flogging until Monday.

The current grand jury took up the investigation late yesterday where an earlier grand jury left off in June after hearing testimony that the victims were beaten and warned to leave the community by a hooded white-robed band. It was learned the grand jury examined two of the alleged victims, Mrs. Bertha Fowler and her daughter, Inez, before taking its recess. A few hours earlier the mother and daughter had been arrested on charges of prostitution.

Carolina Shippers Vote Move Office To Morehead City

Headquarters of Association to Be Moved From Greenville to Carters City September 1

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Carolina Shippers Association, held August 29, it was decided after careful consideration to move the offices of the association to Morehead City on Sept. 1. The suggestion was advanced some weeks ago by the Port Commission of Morehead City, and satisfactory arrangements have been worked out whereby the association and the port commission can work together to the advantage of shippers and receivers throughout the state.

As heretofore, the activities of the Carolina Shippers Association will be confined solely to matters pertaining to transportation. The Eastern North Carolina Association will cease to function and its work which is not completed will be carried on by the Carolina Shippers Association until finished. All memberships will be carried in the name of the Carolina Shippers Association. The board, at its meeting, unanimously elected J. B. Kittrell of Greenville, president for the present fiscal year.

DETROIT MEN TO GO ON TRIAL

Twelve Face Charges Next Week for Killings and Terrorism

Detroit, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Twelve men will be tried in circuit court early next week for the killing that first unmasked the night riding activities of terrorists known as the black legion.

The state accused the 12 defendants of taking Charles A. Poole, young WPA worker, on a "one-way ride" the night of last May 12 because of false neighborhood gossip that he beat his wife. Chester P. O'Hara, assistant state attorney general, who will direct the prosecution, announced today that Dayton Dean, confessed "shoot-out" man, and 50 other witnesses would be called to testify.

Detroit's homicide squad revealed the shooting of Poole as a night rider's killing. Then Dean climbed on the witness stand at the common pleas court examination of the defendant June 3 and told a sensational story of the "execution."

Dean said he pumped five bullets into Poole's chest from a distance of eight feet "because in the black legion you have to shoot someone when your superior officer orders you to." As a result 70 men have been charged to date with 16 crimes, including flogging, arson, kidnap conspiracy to murder political enemies and plotting against the federal government.

FARMERS ARE MAKING MONEY

While Thousands Are in Distress in Dry Area July Crop Income at High Mark

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Farm picture in many fields of crop and agriculture were recorded today by government and private agencies.

The current business picture including bright forecasts covering such activities as farm building and industrial production.

The chamber of commerce of the United States said in its review "all of the evidence does not reflect solely increased spending, either adding that during the first half of 1936 depositors in mutual savings banks increased by $300,000,000.

Agriculture department figures indicated the drought had put more money into the farmers' pockets during July and stepped up the prices received for their products during August.

While thousands of farmers were in distress because of ruined crops, the figures showed cash income from July farm marketing at $711,000,000 as compared with $582,000,000 the previous month and $451,000,000 a year ago. Officials reported July farm income the best since 1929 and noted that cash to farmers during the first seven months of the year was $4,024,000,000, the best for any similar period since 1930.

While this farm trend was described as "characteristic under a drought situation" the department statisticians predicted the rest of the year would show larger monthly cash incomes than in 1935. This forecast was based on "increased strong consumer demand" and "continuance of heavy livestock marketing."

State Retail Sales Boosted To New Highs, Says Report

Total For 1933 Is One and One Half Per Cent of Amount Registered For Entire Nation

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A report by the commerce department showed today that North Carolina's 1933 retail sales totalled $33,111,000 nearly one and one-half per cent of the nation's retail transactions of $25,037,225,000.

The nation's average per capita expenditure at retail establishments was $204. North Carolina's per capita was $115.

Wholesale transactions in North Carolina that year amounted to $423,127,000, compared to the national total of $32,151,375,000.

Charlotte, with a retail per capita average of $346, accounted for $28,596,000 of retail sales and $99,575,000 of wholesale.

PENSIONED WIDOW IS JAILED FOR FRAUD

Grays, Eng.—(AP)—For 19 years Mrs. Daisy Eleanor Elizabeth Lee paraded on the government's records as a World War widow when she was not one.

Her first husband was killed in action but she remarried shortly thereafter. Nevertheless, a postman came around once a month with a pension check and in 19 years it had amounted to 1,117 pounds (about $5,585). When the hoax was discovered she was sentenced to three-months imprisonment.

ITALIAN BARBERS BALK AT SEVEN-DAY WEEK

Rome.—(AP)—Minister Ferruccio Lantini of Corporations has issued a circular allowing barber shops to remain open on Sunday "when absolutely necessary" because shaving of Fascists was found to be "a public necessity."

The barbers' syndicate, not unhappy at the implied importance of its profession, nevertheless is resisting as vigorously as possible attempts to carry Saturday too far.

The barbers want their Sunday off or at least some other day in the week for those who must take their Sunday turn at trimming the neat growths in Balbo which have sprung out in celebration of the African victory.

Townsend movement directly arrays psalm-singing elders against the carrels, irresponsibility backing FDR. In New England, once the target of the Klan, resentment rises against the number of "foreigners" on WPA rolls.

Certain churchmen and statesmen, regardless of partisan attachments, have given serious thought to the problem. It's probable that they will move to rebuke and squelch "the religious zealots before the campaign is much older."

HUGE PROJECT PARLEY HELD

Citizens of Greenville Attend Tarboro Meeting

Encouraging reports were brought back to the city today by a number of citizens who attended a meeting in Tarboro yesterday called for the purpose of discussing ways and means of draining Conestee creek. About 300 leading citizens from the section attended the meeting.

Efforts are underway to have the work carried on as a WPA drainage project, with the various land owners and the federal government putting up the money.

State Senator W. G. Clark of Tarboro presided over the session. Judge F. M. Woolen of this city, considered an expert on such projects, explained procedure to take in getting such a program started.

Owners of land to be affected by the project expressed much enthusiasm over the proposal and practically 100 per cent of those present signed an agreement to go ahead with the plan.

State Health Officer Reynolds was present and made a talk. Also discussing the project was Pitt County Health Officer N. Thomas Ennett.

Lee Wallace and E. C. Winslow of the state WPA office attended and took part in the discussion.

A committee named to continue the sign-up and go ahead with preliminary work was named as follows: Joe Bowers, J. B. Bunting, Lee Whitehurst, F. L. Blount, John Whitehurst, Jr. and W. L. Dowdy.

The proposed project includes approximately 20 miles and will affect land in Pitt, Edgecombe and Martin counties.

Mayor M. K. Blount, who made a talk at the meeting, said here today the project would mean much to health and agriculture in the section and said it would be as large as the Swift Creek program now underway.

Others making talks at the session included Congressman John Kerr, M. O. Blount, Lee Wallace and a number of others.

Heavy Court Term Is Scheduled Here Beginning Monday

Number of Important Cases to Be Tried Next Week; Judge N. A. Sinclair to Preside

Court attaches today were preparing for the opening of a term of criminal court here next week, in which a number of important cases will be tried. Judge N. A. Sinclair of Fayetteville will preside.

Charges of kidnaping, criminal assault and other serious counts will be presented to the grand jury for action and probably be tried if true bills are found.

Ernest Whitehurst, white man charged with criminally attacking his former foster daughter, was brought from Raleigh yesterday to be here for trial. He has been located at the State hospital for insane where he has been under observation.

Donald Deaver has been in jail here several months awaiting trial on a charge of kidnaping the two small children of S. V. Merston.

Don Evans, held in connection with the death of Lucille Huntley Belk of Monroe, who died from the result of what Chief George Clark said was an illegal operation, probably will be tried at the term of court.

The calendar compiled by Solicitor D. M. Clark contains about 160 cases, with about 15 or 20 more to be added when docketed. Approximately 100 cases have been docketed since the April term of court.

LANDON'S TOUR CRUCIAL TEST

Republican Presidential Nominee on Swing Eastward

By FRESTON GROVER

Washington—Weeks will elapse no doubt before the full effect of Governor Landon's eastern tour is reflected in tangible clarification of sentiment among the voters.

In his first speech at West Middlesex, Pa., he reiterated his belief "the American way" as opposed to the New Deal, but he left for later speeches any definite detailing of his program such as he promised earlier.

Supplying wants of the people through private enterprise, he forecast, was the "new frontier" ready to absorb the pressure of unemployment. That it would do so was his forecast. The only program evident in connection with it was assurance that he wanted sufficient curbs upon private enterprise to prevent monopoly and unfair practices.

Regardless of the contents of subsequent speeches, that first one left many people puzzled as to Governor Landon's plan of attack.

He came riding into the east emulating neighborliness and good will. The corps of advisors on tour with him smacked of the simplicity of the shaded country lane. It might be that his plan is to impress the public in these early stages with his personality.

The governor may surmise that the principal pressure for him to go into details about his program this early comes from Democrats who would appreciate any additional time he will give them to prepare counter-attacks.

Whatever his plan, the east's first sight of him may prove decisive. Regardless of how fully his program is tried, he will be subjected to attack from Democratic spokesmen eager to accuse him of having no program.

If eastern voters consider him speeches as offering only meagre detail of his program, can they be influenced by his "get-acquainted" tour to suspend judgment until he is prepared to go further into detail?

There are prominent figures in both parties who, differing with Senator Couzens of Michigan, have declared continuation of the New Deal would menace the American style of government.

Many others, particularly those professing to speak for certain large farm and labor groups, fear that defeat of the New Deal and any restoration of "the order" would invite dangerous unrest.

All of these must consider the Landon tour into the east a most fateful journey.

SEVERAL HURT BUT NONE DIE

Government Forces Admit Munitions Are Running Low as Battle Continues; Attempted Bombardments Fifth Of Week; Battle Casualties Estimated At 'Thousands'

Several people were wounded as the bombs shattered windows, but did little actual damage to buildings in the city. Previously government war planes repulsed a rebel attempt to bomb the capital.

The attempted bombardment was the fifth of the week but involved two rebel planes and a squadron of government fighting ships.

On the northern front casualties were estimated at "thousands" as the rebel forces stormed Fort San Marcial, key to the city of Irun.

Government forces admitting their ammunition was running low after the fourth day of fighting in this sector kept machine guns trained on the rebel position.

Motorists To Use Excellent Detour For Short While

Traffic To Be Routed Over Chestnut Street During Construction of Railroad Underpass

A detour over which traffic will be routed while the underpass here is being constructed has been laid off and the State Highway and Public Works commission has informed City officials that it will be kept in excellent condition.

Traffic will be routed over Chestnut street, which will be closed, and maintained by the highway department. Signs already have been put up directing motorists to use the detour.

Means have been provided, however, not to inconvenience tobacco farmers bringing their tobacco to the local market. Keel's warehouse, which will be affected by the detour more than any other, will be accessible by a road leading direct from the detour to it.

It was understood R. Y. Keel, proprietor, is entirely satisfied with the arrangements and appreciation of city officials was expressed for the position the local warehouseman has taken in connection with the project.

Work already is underway on the underpass to be erected at the railroad crossing at the cotton mill.

While much dissatisfaction has been expressed by all concerned over the fact that the work will be underway during the time the tobacco market is in full swing, it was pointed out that every effort has been made to cause as little inconvenience as possible.

BOMBING PLANES DISTURB LLOYD GEORGE'S SLEEP

London.—(AP)—Lloyd George declares he won't join in protests against warplane bombing practice—although he wishes to abolish bombing, and the practice should keep him awake nights.

"Where I live in Surrey, military planes hum night and day over my house," he told a minister who asked his views on the subject.

"But I wouldn't sign a petition to remove this nocturnal torment to another part of the country. That would be illogical. It would simply mean disturbing other people."

"My remedy would be to abolish bombing altogether by international agreement."

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE
 A New Novel by Marian Sims

Chapter 22

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

The next week Ellen arrived, glowing and self-conscious, marked by a new and minute diamond on her third finger. They had lunch together, and Ellen detailed her plans further.

"It'll seem awfully funny to go back to Ashboro as a matron," she chuckled. "The first thing I'd like to do would be to go over and thumb my nose at Mrs. Taylor."

Carol smiled. "Dear Mrs. Taylor! As a matter of fact I ought to be grateful to her. If it hadn't been for her I might have stayed on another year, just because I was afraid to step out."

Ellen looked keenly at her. "You really like it here?"

"I think I do—as much as anywhere. I don't have much time to think."

Ellen was still eyeing Carol shrewdly. "You look a lot better, you know—as if you'd found something. Are you in love?"

"Oh, Lord, no!" The vehemence of her denial startled them both. Ellen said skeptically:

"Well, don't bite my head off. It wouldn't be so strange if you were."

She shook her head. "I wish I could be. I wouldn't deny it; I'd about it from the office window."

[Ellen's eyes glowed. "It does make you feel that way."

Carol changed the subject abruptly, seeking firmer ground. "What's the news from Ashboro? Did Mike ever come back?"

"He hadn't the last time I asked Mack. Annabelle's started divorce proceedings."

"What's the rest of the news; Mr. Hudson back this year?"

"Yes, he seems to be a fixture. And Mr. Hall too."

It was only with a great effort that she could remember the school as a reality, existing and functioning even as she existed. Queer, she thought, how places ceased to be when you left them; you were invariably surprised that they went on without you, just as they, no doubt, would be surprised to know that you went on without them.

"Where will you live?" she asked.

"We've taken a furnished apartment at Mrs. Houston's on Market Street for the time being. Living room, bedroom and kitchenette."

For the time being, Carol's throat swelled at the courage of that phrase; at the youth and hope and fearlessness of Ellen, who could find her heart's desire in a furnished apartment on Market Street, knowing so surely that it was only for the time being. What's wrong with me? she thought desperately: was I born a thousand years old? She forced herself to say enthusiastically:

"It sounds lovely!" And suddenly her eyes stung with tears, so that she laughed unsteadily. "I got positively mad when I think how happy you must be."

Ellen nodded soberly. "So do I. But of course it won't always be as good as I think it's going to be. I'm not that blind!"

Ellen stayed two days. Days spent in an orgy of shopping for all the traditional trousseau garments. A "white suit," which meant undergarments of white gossamer, and a bridal nightgown. There was nothing of paganism to Ellen—in the idea of faring forth upon matrimony in virginal white. She was even planning a trousseau tea, at which these intimate garments would be exhibited to a fluttering and envious circle of friends. Carol remembered unwillingly a remark made by Annie, the Torrance cook, when she was treated to a similar display.

"Gawd, Miss Mary, Annie had chuckled, "you sho is plannin' to tempt him!"

Well, she thought, why not? But she was glad, and ashamed of her own relief, when Ellen went back to Anderson. Ellen was a demoralizing influence for a girl who was trying to keep her mind on advertising.

On Wednesday before the wedding Blake stopped beside Carol's desk.

"What time are you leaving tomorrow?"

She glanced up in surprise, and differences are part of the old-fashioned game of working both sides of the street.

New York

By JAMES McMULLIN

SHIP: New York insiders learn that the Democratic high command is currently focusing its heaviest financial and political artillery on Pennsylvania and Michigan. New Deal strategists privately feel they have a better chance of capturing these two than other doubtful states with large electoral votes. Of course they will go hard after New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, etc., before the campaign is over, but at the moment Pennsylvania and Michigan are getting the stronger play.

MARTIN PLANS HOLD BIG FAIR

Children's Day Will Be An Outstanding Event This Year

Williamston, Aug. 29.—Children's Day at the Williamston Fair, which will be held the week of September 23, will be outstanding in the history of eastern North Carolina exhibitions according to plans being laid by Manager Harvey Walker.

Walker announced today that school children of Martin and surrounding counties not only would be given free admission to the grounds, but would be admitted to the grandstand without cost for afternoon performances on Tuesday of fair week.

Fifteen high class novelty acts, which usually draw top admission prices, will be presented for the entertainment of the children on their special day at the fair. Low admission prices will prevail for the remainder of the week.

"We are interested primarily in seeing that the people of eastern North Carolina profit by the exhibits and entertainment offered by the Williamston fair," said Manager Walker, "and we know of no better method of enhancing its attractiveness than by giving the youngsters a good time." He was joined in this sentiment by General Manager Norman Y. Chambliss, of Raleigh, operator of the State Fair as well as the Williamston fair and several other exhibitions.

In addition to the entertainment program, special exercises for children will be presented under the direction of Miss Lora Sleeper, Martin County home demonstration agent.

On the midway of the Williamston fair will be the Cettin and Wilson Shows, a clean, wholesome outfit featuring 20 interesting shows and 15 popular rides. Only legitimate concessions will be allowed on the midway, Manager Walker emphasized.

A dazzling revue, "The Frolics of 1936," will present a high type show each night before the grandstand, and every evening's entertainment will be topped off with a thrilling display of fireworks.

Harness racing will feature the arena program on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, and professional automobile races will be held Saturday afternoon to climax a week of gala entertainment.

Prize money at the Williamston fair will total $1,400, and will be limited strictly to residents of Martin, Pitt, Edgecombe, Washington, Beaufort, and Bertie Counties. Miss Sleeper and T. B. Brandon, Martin County farm agent, are in charge of agricultural exhibits, which bid fair to excel previous displays assembled in eastern North Carolina.

CONCENTRATE: Astute analysts also figure this Michigan move to Roosevelt shows up the inherent weakness of the Coughlin-Townsend-Lemke combine. If the Union party is to knock off Roosevelt anywhere it should logically be in Coughlin's home territory—especially as the Townsendsites are known to be quite strong in some sections of Michigan. But there is no evidence beyond unbacked Coughlin-Lemke claims that this will happen.

The latest Gallup poll made quite a point of the vote from 34 to 48 in two weeks—indicating a probable aggregate vote of around 2,000,000 in November if the proportion is maintained. Keen New York observers discount this development. They figure the gain was a natural response to the Coughlin convention and the accompanying wave of publicity for Lemke. They do not believe it will be held.

New Yorkers in a position to know prophesy that Coughlin will talk comparatively little between now and the end of September and will concentrate his fire in the last five weeks of the campaign.

EMPLOYMENT According to well posted informants, salesmen for one of the "best-sellers" among automobiles averaged gross earnings of just a little more than $800 for the whole of last year. These salesmen were of course rated as "gainfully employed" by statistical and analytical agencies. If terms and rates which used to prevail in the motor industry had been in effect, the figure would probably have to be logged in the sub-cellar.

Allowing for this and similar corrections in the employment estimates offered by various public and private sources, New York sharpshiners figure the existing employment situation is extremely critical. Strike threats and demands for higher pay will continue to complicate matters.

Comment runs that publication of extra and increased dividends by corporations has encouraged strikes by focusing attention on the growth of profits for invested capital.

BAG: Financial men mostly agree that ex-SEC chairman Joe Kennedy has done a workmanlike job on his new book "Im For Roosevelt," even though they disagree mightily with his conclusions. The chief criticism is that Kennedy gives the New Deal too much credit for recovery. Conservatives are now thoroughly sold on the idea that a world-wide economic comeback had begun in 1932 which would have restored normal business and market conditions in the United States no matter who was President.

However, keen analysts offer a rebuttal to that argument. They assert that the much advertised "world upturn" was due chiefly to Great Britain's abandonment of the gold standard under pressure. They point out further that President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills kept us on gold as long as they could—despite the trade advantages enjoyed by Britain—and that Mr. Mills, even at this late date, still thinks we should have stuck to the old gold standard through thick and thin.

"If Roosevelt hadn't taken us off gold, the pound would inevitably have dropped to $3 or thereabouts. That would have made the 'world upturn' all British. We would have shared with France the honor of speeding the procession—and of

WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

DO YOU KNOW
That libraries offer the least expensive and most generally used form of recreation?

That one good book in a free library can give pleasure and profit to scores of readers?

That you are robbing children of a part of their heritage if you fail to provide them with suitable books?

That it is as important to teach children WHAT to read as it is to teach them HOW to read?

How necessary it is that a child's taste for reading should be developed and directed by providing the kind of books that will establish a desire for the best in literature?

That a "balanced ration" in reading is just as necessary as it is in stock feeding?

That it is more unwise to oblige children to forage for their intellectual food than it is to force livestock to depend upon forage for subsistence?

What the State can do to assist in establishing and maintaining free libraries?—New York Libraries.

fall in this duty when we do not find a practical solution to the problem of insuring freedom of conscience and at the same time giving to religion its rightful place in the life of the child. We want to keep the tolerance which now exists among us; but we do not want to let the fear of losing our religious freedom bring about the destruction of religion, whose ideals we are seeking to protect.

Something more is needed in our day than the fast decaying Sunday School. The rapid current of modern life will carry our young people into irreligion and anti-religion unless we show them in our educational system that religion belongs to life, prepares for life, has real value and a genuine lesson even for this machine and radio age.

Some states permit the use of public school buildings; there is nothing in the American Constitution or in the principles of our government which requires the exclusion of religion from our schools. On many occasions, ministers of religion have delivered addresses at the close of the school year; sometimes graduations have taken place in church edifices. Why must we, lest we are accused of establishing a state religion, or preventing the free exercise of religion, compel the children to be educated without religion? The fruits of this widespread godless education are beginning to show themselves in American life.

Religious Program Outlined.
The program of the Interfaith Committee on Moral and Religious Training with headquarters in Washington, D. C., which is intended to be nation-wide in scope, stresses these five points: that moral and religious training be provided for these children in public schools whose parents desire them to have it; that it be given by trained instructors acceptable to the parents; that it be entirely separate and distinct from the secular curricula and outside the regular daily sessions; that it be restricted to pupils attending schools of less than college grade; and that the use of public school buildings for the accommodation of these classes is to be sought for all days of the term except on Saturdays and Sundays.

Do not our schools belong to religious people as well as to those who are irreligious or atheists? Must we see the Ten Commandments and the virtues of honesty, truthfulness and peace which they teach drop out of the realm of ordinary knowledge? The question really becomes important; there must be more religion, or shall we have to have more jails?

It is time that thinking men, the plain home-loving men of America, take stock of the sums which we are spending on the manifold activities of the public schools, and devise a plan by which the truths of religion will become the possession of his sons and daughters. The schools are there; the money of the people has been spent upon their erection. It is only necessary that they be used for regular religious instruction by duly authorized teachers.

National Heating Offer Made Here.
Even though cold weather seems a long way off from this sun-baked city, Home Furniture Store has an idea that they can plant a lot of heating plants right now. For joining with hundreds of dealers in a great National drive, they are offering free coal to local home-owners who wisely order their Heatrols now.

Perhaps you'd think it would be a hard job getting orders for heating plants with the whole population in a sweat. But listen to J. A. Collins, manager of the Home Furniture Store: "We know that everyone likes a gift, no matter what the weather, and gift coal is not to be sneezed at. In fact, that free coal in an Estate Heatrola next fall will stop a lot of sneezing. Our prospects are fine for this free coal campaign and our company hopes to win one of the valuable sectional prizes offered by the Heatrola makers for the most outstanding sales record."

September Garden Notes.
September activities in the home garden determine to a great extent the quantity of vegetables we shall have during the fall months. It is too late for planting most of the tender crops, but there are quite a few hardy crops which should be planted at this time.

The lettuce seed you were advised to sow last month should produce plants which ought to be set early this month. Lettuce requires warm days, cool nights, a fertile soil and an abundance of moisture for the production of large hard heads.

We need more of a variety of "greens." Collards and turnips are good and should be planted, but we are inclined to overwork these two. Kale is quite hardy and will give a welcome change. The Curled Scotch variety is considered of better quality by some, but the Siberian is more hardy and will withstand severe freezing. Tendergreen or Mustard Spinach is a very good leafy vegetable and many are using it in the place of mustard. Some of you might be able to compare it with mustard and spinach which would be planted at this time. Tendergreen is handled in the same way as mustard.

Turnips should furnish our root crop. Purple top White Globe turnips should be planted immediately. Purple top Strap Leaf will usually make edible roots when planted as late as the 15th of the month.

Radishes should help out the fall menu. Some of the small round varieties mature in four or five weeks. Winter varieties require 8 to 10 weeks.

Onion sets of White Pearl or Norfolk Queen should be planted the last of the month. These will produce early green onions next spring. For large bulbs next summer seed are sown in beds the last of September and transplanted to the field in December and early January in the milder coastal areas. In the colder sections the plant bed should be protected and transplanted delayed until early February.

Cabbage seed should be put in outdoor beds during the last week of this month and transplanted as outlined for onions.

Requires Employees Of Security Board Take Examination.
Two Offices To Be Opened In State About November 1, Probably At Raleigh and Salisbury.
Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 27.—The two offices of the Social Security Board which will be opened in North Carolina, probably about November 1 and which will probably be located in Raleigh and Salisbury, will employ only those who take and pass special civil service examinations, it was learned today from Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher, who is keeping in close touch with the plans of the Social Security Board in Washington.

"My understanding is that the two district managers or directors, who will be in charge of the two Social Security offices in North Carolina, as well as all of the employees of these offices, will have to take the civil service examinations and make the required grades or they will be employed," Commissioner Fletcher said. "I do not know when or where the examinations will be given, but presume that the dates and places will be announced in the near future."

There will be no state director for these offices in North Carolina, since this state is one of four states and the District of Columbia making up Region Four, with regional offices in Washington, Commissioner Fletcher said. The

DEBATE LOOMS ON CONFESSION

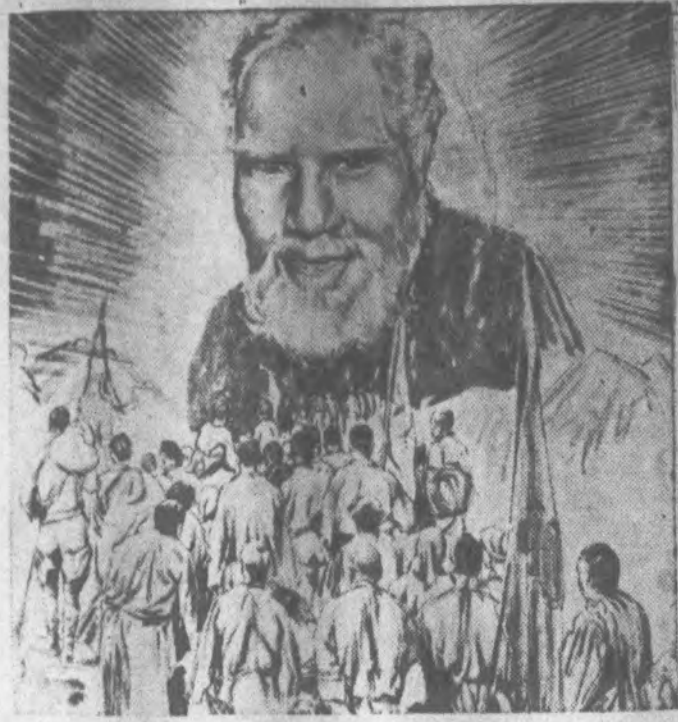

Martin Moore's Disputed Statements Keeps Case Open

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 28—Disputed testimony regarding the alleged confession Sunday at the state's prison by Martin Moore, convicted murderer of Heleven Cleveland, banishes the official hope that the case itself is ended.

The presence in this state of many members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, guarantees on such a case as this a protracted debate. The N. A. A. C. P. has been in numerous other North Carolina litigation, civil and criminal. The points to be made in the Moore case is that the prisoner was not given time for a good defense and that on the jury which tried him there were no negroes. There were none on the grand jury which indicted him.

This would be the federal questions involved and while they cannot be regarded serious in the opinion of good lawyers, they will delay the execution of the prisoner several months. Sunday when the reputed full confession of Moore was announced over radio it was said that "he broke down and made a full confession." The prison officials do not support that statement and it seems that Moore has made none that had not been previously published.

Baseball Players Special Guests Of Local Civic Club

Members of Greenville Team Entertained for Fourth Consecutive Year by Kiwanis Club

Members of the Greenville baseball team, which yesterday lect to Ayden in the semi-finals, were special guests of the Kiwanis club at its regular meeting last night.

This is the fourth year the club has entertained the local players. J. Con Lanier, former diamond ace at Carolina and also of the East Line league, was the principal speaker of the evening. He praised the boys for their sportsmanship and declared winning was not the only object of the game. He told the players that in years to come they would forget who won the game but would remember their incidents.

The appreciation of the ball players was expressed by Manager Bo Farley, who thanked the public for their support of the team. Special musical numbers were provided during the program. Miss Marie Smith entertained the Kiwanians with two dance numbers and Miss Bessie Brown sang two solo numbers. Miss Smith was accompanied by Miss Frances Rock and Miss Brown by Mrs. Ray Tyson, club pianist.

W. H. Montgomery of Wilmington, past district governor, and his little son, Billy, Jr. were guests of the club. Other guests included W. W. Morgan, secretary-treasurer of the baseball club, Battle Yearby of Raleigh and H. P. Johnston of Greenville. Gov. Smith held a report on the divisional meeting held at Wrightsville last Friday night.

Green Pastures To Be Presented Next Week

Marc Connelly's famous Green Pastures which was one of the most successful stage plays ever presented and which has had an almost unprecedented run as a moving picture show will be presented at the Pitt theater here beginning Monday.

Practically the same cast that won acclaim in the play's run on Broadway and tour of all parts of the United States appears in the picture.

Many who have seen the picture declare the excellent photography, fine lighting and unusual sound effects make it superior to the stage play. While the original "De Lawd" has died, his successor is carrying on in the same manner which makes this the outstanding part in the play.

The picture presents the old time "darky's" story of the Bible and it has been acclaimed by preachers and recommended by them as well worthy of patronage of their congregations.

WET COUNTIES LOSE GRAVELY

Resignation May Or May Not Complicate Situation

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Aug. 28—Senator Lee Gravely's retirement from the liquor commission may, and it may not, complicate matters when that body sits here tomorrow for the first hearing but the counties with ABC stores are quite disadvantaged by his resignation.

Governor Ehringhaus, Mr. Gravely's reticence in his statement yesterday from Rocky Mount, understood when Mr. Gravely was named that the senator might not be able to serve out his days. The senator deals in tobacco and is a member of the budget commission. He has twenty days ahead but a few months, he probably will be chairman of finance or appropriations committee in the 1937 senate. He had a lot of work to do.

But, the wet counties particularly decried, that he sit. The dries would not regard him greatly predisposed to the ABC stores, despite their presence in his country. He could have brought illuminating testimony to the hearings. His statement expressing the belief that 17 counties in which liquor is legally sold should be visited by the commission must be read as containing his faith in this method.

Governor Ehringhaus probably will name a successor from Boston whose excellence is attending the American Bar Association, but it will take fast work. One of the more important is suggested for this duty was Senator Julian Allbrook of Halifax county, who helped to amend the Prohibition bill and defended it in his unsuccessful campaign for re-nomination. Senator Allbrook is a powerful dry, but it leaves in county control.

It would not be surprising therefore if tomorrow morning there should be sitting in the Gravelly stand this young man who believes county control is a vast improvement over prohibition. The second hearing will be held Friday in Wilmington. These two counties saves the stores and were the first to vote them in.
