LANDON MEETS ROOSEVELT IN IOWA CAPITAL

Two Presidential Nominees Discuss Farm Problems

FIVE GOVERNORS ATTEND PARLEY

Governor Herring Host to Conference Arranged for Two Standard Bearers

Des Moines, Sept. 3.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Alf M. Landon met today in the office of Governor Clyde L. Herring of Iowa...

Thousands of Iowans prodded the gaily decorated capital to seek a glimpse of the two presidential candidates.

Governor Herring, host to the conferees, arranged for the two to meet for the first time since they became their party's 1936 standard bearers...

The president's subsequent discussions with the governors, senators and other representatives of five of the states were also scheduled in the same sanctuary.

State Exposition Announces Aim to Ban All Gambling

Only Legitimate Concessions Will Be Permitted at the North Carolina State Fair Next Month

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Only legitimate concessions will be permitted at the North Carolina State Fair next month...

"This fair will be as clean as we can make it," stated Chambliss. "We have yet to hear any complaint about 'fleeing' by midway concessionaires during the three years that we have operated the State Fair...

"In promising a clean midway, Manager Chambliss pointed out that Max Linderman's 'World of Mirth' shows will return to the exposition for their fourth consecutive year.

"I have known Max Linderman for years," said Chambliss, "and I personally know the high esteem in which fair secretaries hold him, and the confidence they place in him.

Chambliss reported encouraging progress in plans for the State Fair, which will be held in Raleigh the week of October 12. Particularly outstanding will be the attractions he has booked for performances before the grandstand.

These include "The Revelations of 1936," a colorful revue under the direct management of George A. Hamic, leading New York showman, and some of the world's greatest novelty acts.

A special attraction for Tuesday of fair week will be the Raleigh debut of Lucky Teeter and his Hell Drivers, a thrilling aggregation of daredevils on wheels who specialize in cheating death.

Teeter's troupe has been one of the outstanding attractions at the big eastern fairs this summer.

EVANS CASE NEARING JURY

Defense Completes Testimony at About Mid-Afternoon

Court recessed late this afternoon after the two defense attorneys had made their arguments to the jury in the case of Don Evans...

When court reconvenes tomorrow morning, Solicitor D. M. Clark, will address the jury. Judge N. A. Sinclair then will charge the jury and the case then will be placed in the hands of the jury.

Both Louis Gaylord and Albion Dunn, defense attorneys, spoke this afternoon.

Testimony was completed and arguments started this afternoon, indicating the jury would get the case against Don Evans in connection with the death of Lucille Huntley Belk, summer school student who died here recently from an alleged illegal operation.

The defense did not complete its evidence until after three o'clock. Louis Gaylord opened the arguments for the defense.

The trial was started yesterday and most of the afternoon session was taken up with the presentation of State's evidence. Chief George Clark and Sheriff Sam A. Whitehurst testified at length as to what the defendant told them when they took him in custody. The officers were repeatedly called back to the stand for further questioning and as the trial was resumed this morning Chief Clark took the stand again.

Physicians who attended the girl as she lay ill in a hotel room here also testified for the state.

Albion Dunn and Gaylord and Hannah are representing the defendant, while Solicitor D. M. Clark is conducting the prosecution alone.

The State rested shortly after the morning session was started, and defense witnesses were called. The defense, through a number of witnesses, sought to account for the whereabouts of the defendant throughout the day the alleged abortion took place.

It was evident from the start defense counsel would contend the alleged operation was carried out by the girl herself.

Both the defendant's mother and sister took the stand and refuted testimony offered by the two officers.

Merrill and Richman Land Because Of Fuel Shortage

Croydon Airdrome, Eng., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The Croydon communications office announced officially today the American fliers, Merrill and Richman, had made a safe forced landing at Lwyneclwyn Carmarthen-shire, South Wales.

The communication office stated Merrill had telephoned Croydon reporting the trans-Atlantic plane "Lady Peace" had landed in a field, that the fliers were unhurt and that the machine was undamaged.

The aviators, who had topped the exploits of a long list of oceanic speed fliers in their flight from New York to the Irish coast, came down approximately 175 miles from their Croydon goal.

The estimated elapsed time from Floyd Bennett field, Brooklyn, to Dingle Bay, Ireland, had been computed at 15 hours and 40 minutes, by far the speediest crossing.

Merrill and Richman were forced to land because of fuel shortage, the airport office announced, and may proceed to Croydon if additional gasoline can be made available quickly.

Hard rains on the eastern end of their journey, it was assumed, caused a heavier fuel drain than had been expected.

The time of their landing was not given, but it was believed to have been about 4:15 p. m. (10:15 a. m. EST).

This would have made their elapsed time from Brooklyn to the point of landing 18 hours and 38 minutes for an average speed of between 185 and 190 miles an hour.

Expect Approval Of Big Allotment To Rebuild Roads

Plans Prepared To Start Work On Damaged Roads As Soon As Commission Grants Money

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Final approval of an additional allotment of $2,800,000 for the repair and reconstruction of roads, most of them county roads, is expected today or tomorrow by the Budget Bureau.

Chairman Wayne conferred yesterday with Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus on the matter and the plan was approved by the Governor, provided the Budget Bureau checked the figures and found that as much as $2,800,000 was actually available in the highway fund and could be spared for this work.

The Budget Bureau is today going over the proposal and the figures presented by Sam Smith, chief accountant for the highway department and approval of the figures is expected today or tomorrow at the latest. The plan under consideration would permit the expenditure of $2,800,000 more of the so-called "surplus" in the highway fund for the repairing and improvement of highways in addition to the regular amount appropriated by the last general assembly.

Most of this amount will be spent on the county roads, although some of it will be expended on a need of immediate resurfacing or rebuilding.

"Our plans have already been prepared and we are ready to start work on these new projects just as soon as the Budget Bureau gives us the 'go' signal," Wayne said. "We are anxious to get these projects started just as soon as possible so that as many as possible can be completed before the bad winter weather sets in and because many of the roads we propose to improve are those used by school buses.

Some of the projects, of course, will be completed before the winter sets in.

CHANGE STORY OF FLOGGINGS

Alleged Victims of Band Convicted of Prostitution

Whiteville, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Bertha Fowler and her daughter, Inez, were convicted on charges of prostitution here today after a band of masked night riders, who had dragged them from their home and flogged by a band of masked night riders.

Under cross examination by Solicitor John J. Burney Mrs. Fowler testified that on the night of June 4 she and her daughter had been whipped by a band of eight to 10 men who found them at Benton's Lake, a resort, in company with two married men, Bartley Boswell and Frazier Ward.

Boswell and Ward later corroborated her account.

At the June term of court Mrs. Fowler told Judge R. Hunt Parker a band of 25 or 30 men had broken down the door of her home in the Clarendon community, dragged her and Inez outside, clipped their hair and beat them with a leather strap.

Passing of sentence on the two women was deferred. Yesterday two other reported victims of the flogging band were convicted of prostitution and sent to the state woman's home for an undetermined period.

Washington By RAY TUCKER DOLE: New Dealers are in possession of internal evidence that Alf Landon will deliver a major speech on the subject of social security. Their secret hope is that he will let down his guard for a savage smash in a sensitive spot.

SEEKS RETAIN HUGE BALANCE

Concern Felt Over Threatening World Conditions

Washington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Dismissing he would seek $400,000,000 in new cash in the treasury's September financing, secretary Morgenthau said today he planned to keep a working balance of around one billion dollars because of threatening conditions abroad.

Morgenthau said he thought the billion dollar balance should be retained because "it is the safest insurance we can carry for the American people should anything unforeseen occur."

At an early morning press conference called to discuss new financing, Morgenthau declared that "these times and conditions" abroad made him "want to keep the working balance" at a high figure.

In announcing he would seek to borrow $400,000,000 in the treasury's fall financing operations on September 15, Morgenthau said this was one of the smallest cash offerings since he assumed office.

In his revised budget, summary this week, President Roosevelt said new borrowing during this fiscal year would total $750,000,000.

Morgenthau said the treasury's present working balance is around $1,000,000,000.

Supply of Cotton Said Be Smallest In Several Years

Latest Crop Reports Plus Trade Estimates of Carry-Over Indicate Small American Supply

Washington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The bureau of agriculture economics reported today the smallest prospective world supply of American cotton since 1929.

Latest crop reports, plus trade estimates of world carry over as of August 1, indicated a present total world supply of about 19,600,000 bales of American cotton, the bureau said. Last year's supply was slightly larger. The peak supply for recent years was 26,000,000 bales in 1931. Stock continued burdensome until 1934 when the crop totaled less than 10,000,000 bales and the world supply of American cotton was about 20,000,000 bales.

The bureau reported a sharp improvement in price coincident with the declining supply and increased consumption during the recovery period.

Pitt County Schools Open Session Today

Pitt county schools today began their 1935-36 term with the expectations of completing half of the term by the Christmas holidays.

The various schools began their new term with only a small turnover in teachers. Most of the principals also retained their positions. One new school head was hired and two or three others made changes within the county.

By opening schools today officials work to complete all organization work this week and be ready to get down to routine activities Monday morning. By opening on Thursday the schools will be able to take the customary two-day Thanksgiving holiday without running over into another week.

FEAR RECKLESS ACTS MAY THREATEN PEACE

Paris, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Danger of a "desperate gesture" to spur foreign intervention may make the final phases of the Spanish civil war the most menacing to the peace of Europe, informed observers agreed today.

Close followers of the situation believed acts of reckless consequence must be regarded as distinct possibilities when either side has its back to the wall.

There were growing indications—threats of dynamiting the rebels held in the Alcazar at Toledo, reported deaths of hostages at Irún—that no mercy is expected by one group or the other at the hands of the victor.

Therefore the losers, diplomatic circles pointed out, may choose to invite foreign intervention as the lesser of two evils.

Observers feared this might take the form of a deliberate attack on foreign citizens or foreign shipping.

Faced with a concerted attack upon its shipping, the injured country would confront the problem: neutrality agreement or intervention.

And direct intervention by a nation or block of nations is what is most feared, observers said, especially in France.

Interference by Germany or Italy or the two together would put France in an extremely difficult position, informed circles agreed, but the French have comfort in the belief Great Britain would be on their side.

364,392 Pounds Tobacco Sold At $22.27 Average

Good Quality Leaf Bringing Much Higher Prices

Tobacco of good grades brought higher prices on today's sales, but the large quantity of poor grades which flooded the markets brought the average down to $22.27.

A total of 364,392 pounds was sold today, the amount being much more than the 156,736 pounds offered on the floors yesterday, when the average was $22.40 per hundred.

Farmers who sold their tobacco in this city today received payments totaling $81,109.62 for their offerings. Warehousemen point out that many farmers from Eastern counties are visiting this market for the first time this year.

One factor which keeps the average from being even higher than it is, is the fact that farmers are selling all kinds of tobacco this year, while last season they would not accept anything less than five cents a pound as they could get that much on their AAA cards.

Farmers appear to be satisfied with the price their product is bringing, only a few tags being turned to indicate the bid is unsatisfactory.

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Tobacco continued to sell at good prices in Eastern North Carolina today reports from markets indicated.

At Goldsboro sales totaled 59,712 pounds at an average of $23.05 per hundred, bringing $13,716.02 to farmers. Yesterday 31,816 pounds were sold at an average of $23.41.

Kinston warehousemen reported a "strong market," one saying his sale would average probably in excess of $25 a hundred, with 200,000 to 300,000 pounds offered.

Some 600,000 pounds was offered at Rocky Mount and yesterday's sales were 267,210 pounds at $22.85 average.

Smithfield reported 85,000 to 90,000 pounds offered and the averages was estimated at $24.50 per hundred.

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The federal tobacco market news service reported today that official graded tobacco sold on the Goldsboro and Farmville markets yesterday ranged in price from $37.30 down to $9.10 per hundred pounds.

Tuesday the prices ranged from $38 down to $9.10.

Offerings were fairly light as no places with first to fourth quality plugs and primings continued in predominance. The markets were "firm generally."

Cutters classed c-31 C3L led in price average, $37.30 yesterday and Tuesday. Lugs classed X1L averaged $33.90 yesterday, compared with $34.80 Tuesday and priming lugs classed P1L averaged $34.60 yesterday compared with $36.00 Tuesday.

AUTO CRASHES INTO STREAM

Negro Drowns After Facing Death For 25 Minutes

Norfolk, Sept. 3.—(AP)—A man faced the terror of drowning for 25 minutes today and then joined in death his companion—already killed—as the result of the plunge of their automobile through an open draw bridge over the Elizabeth river.

Their automobile crashed through the open draw and then hung on a piling point before it slipped off into 35 feet of water. Rescue workers had time to attempt a rescue before the car finally slid from its precarious perch beneath the bridge.

Searchers early today recovered the body of one man, identified by police as John Hughes of North-west, a Norfolk county hamlet. His head was crushed and Chief E. L. Boyce of South Norfolk believed he was dead before the automobile plunged into the water.

Several witnesses climbed out on the pilings protecting the bridge abutment at the draw and worked frantically to extricate the second man, an unidentified negro who was hanging partly out of the sedan. But as they worked the machine slipped and toppled a number of feet into the water.

ROADS IN NEED OF REST AT NIGHT, SAYS EXPERT

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor) Itasca, N. Y.—(AP)—That concrete highways can rest and revive their strength when traffic is light is demonstrated in tests at Cornell University.

In these tests, square bars of concrete the thickness of pavement and several feet long are subjected to poundings like those from heavy traffic until they break. This reveals the practical strength of various mixtures and thicknesses.

Highway concrete is slightly elastic. It bends and stretches a bit under the weight of each passing vehicle. These traffic flexions in the concrete are reproduced in the Cornell laboratories.

If each stress is not more than half of the force necessary to break the bar, the concrete will stand six to seven million stresses before it breaks.

But if the individual stresses reach two-thirds or three-quarters of the concrete's breaking strength, the material will stand only 250,000 to 300,000 of them.

The ability of the concrete to "rest" is shown by interrupting the stress machine from time to time. Some initial stresses, if continued long enough, will cause a drop of about 40 per cent in the concrete's tensile strength. That is, a weight 40 per cent less than required as first would break the concrete.

But if the stress is stopped for a while and the concrete given a complete rest from pressure, it recovers its original tensile strength.

SCOUTS BREAK COUNCIL CAMP

Flag Lowering Ceremony Bring Event To Formal End

A flag lowering ceremony at high noon Wednesday officially closed the program of Camp Sandy, the first beach camp of the East Carolina Council of Boy Scouts.

Pictures were made of the campers, who returned home to be on hand for the opening of schools. For ten days the thirty-five Scouts from the East Carolina Council, with Pitt county well represented, enjoyed a program of surf bathing, fishing at Oregon Inlet, hiking, visits to the Wright Memorial, Fort Raleigh, experiences in nearly every phase of the Coast Guard work, and many other adventures. Not only did the Coast Guard show every courtesy possible to the Scouts on their several visits to the station, but in several instances the guardsmen went to the camp and served as instructors in Merit Badge work.

The transient camp site on the beach was opened to the Scouts for this encampment. It was ideally located and equipped. Under the direction of John J. Sigwald, Camp Director, and his staff of well-trained adults, Camp Sandy offered a full program of advancement, citizenship training, handicraft and recreation.

The camp was named by a contest open to all the campers. Jack Barnard of Wilson gave the selected name and won the prize.

"The Bugler's Bull" camp newspaper was also named by the boys. R. L. Toppings of Roanoke Rapids was the editor. The afternoon edition was a swanky sheet giving the gossip of the day and news from each of the three troops.

Special programs were arranged for two of the camping meetings at Camp Sandy. One on the night Wanchese Troop 20 was presented its charter for the new year. Several visitors were present bringing gifts of delicious homemade cake and lemonade for all the boys. The other when Mantle Troop 23 received its new charter which was presented at Camp Sandy. Visitors this time brought a flood of watermelons.

Camp was inspected by Wyatt Brown, activities chairman of the Greenville district, on Sunday. Other visitors from Pitt county were numerous during the ten day period.

The three provisional troops were organized in regular troop fashion—each with an adult Scoutmaster. They were the "Porpoises" with John Coward Jr. "Wimpy" of Ayden as scoutmaster, the "Whales" with Robert Littrell "Duck" of Rocky Mount, scoutmaster, and the "Sharks" with Alen Boner "Major" of Kinston, scoutmaster. Other adult members of the staff, Ralph H. Mox, Ass't. Camp Director, W. N. Hugh of Wanchese, Ass't. Camp Director, and Rev. Mr. Craig-hill of Rocky Mount, Bird study instructor and specialist, were given the name Walrus.

Miss Virginia Lee Allen, little Miss Audrey Allen and Mrs. Lionel Jones of Farmville, did several tap dances.

The gifts were placed on a table in the hall and as she unwrapped them, Mrs. Edwards in a very charming manner, expressed her appreciation for them and the messages of congratulations. One especially attractive card read thus:

"We've had brides young, We've had brides old, We've had brides timid, We've had brides bold, We've had brides fair, We've had brides real, But of all the brides we've ever had, Dot surely has 'em all beat." After the gifts were opened, delicious chicken salad sandwiches and iced tea was served by Miss Charlotte Tyson, little Miss Audrey Allen, Mrs. Burney Moye, Mrs. John Buck, Mrs. Raymond Tyson, Miss Virginia Lee Allen and Miss Inez Allen.

Miss Inez Allen then read a most interesting account of her trip to the Farm and Home convention in Raleigh. We thought it so enjoyable that we requested her to have it published in our daily paper so that other club women in the county might enjoy it. Miss Rubelle Vandiford, then gave a short report of the style show at Raleigh. Miss Vandiford modeled a black net dress in this show. She also told us some interesting things concerning the meeting of the 4H clubs Sunday afternoon at vesper services. We think we are very fortunate in having two such efficient and willing leaders.

Miss Nice then gave some helpful facts on "Making a Lawn." She also told us that she was offering two prizes of $1.50 and $1.00 to the club woman who has the best note book in the county.

We then went outdoors and learned a new folk dance, new to a lot of us, but an old, old one, "Pop Goes the Weasel."

After stepping around to that fascinating tune for a while, some of the larger women thought it was time to adjourn, so good-byes were said and everybody departed, saying they thought this was one of our most enjoyable meetings.

Negro Boys and Girls Attend 4-H Meetings

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—Rural Negro boys and girls who attended the 4-H short course at A. and T. College, Greensboro, last week consider it one of the outstanding events in their lives.

According to a report received by Dean T. O. Schaub, of State College, from R. E. Jones, Craven county negro farm agent, the short course was more than a week of study and play. It was "a real inspiration to every one of the 500 boys and girls present."

In addition to studies in advanced phases of club work designed to better equip the young club members for life on the farm and in the rural community, Jones stated, the boys and girls heard addresses that set them to thinking about more serious aspects of life.

Officers elected for the state negro 4-H club organization for the ensuing year included Augusta Garfield, President who also was a president of the Evans, of Pitt, vice president.

About eighty guests were present at the Red Oak Club Meeting.

A most interesting meeting of the Red Oak Home Demonstration Club was held at the club house Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Leon Tyson. After singing the invocation and repeating the collect of the club women of America, we sang "The Bells of Saint Mary."

Mrs. J. P. Vainright, our efficient secretary, then called the roll and read the minutes of the last meeting. Thirty women responded to the roll call. We were very glad to have as guests Mrs. Nice, mother of Miss Ethel Nice, Miss Minnie Gladson and one of our old club members, Mrs. Mary Richard, who moved away early this year but who is now visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Harrington.

Mrs. N. O. Hodges, Mrs. Fenner Allen and Mrs. J. T. Manning were appointed as a nominating committee to select club officers and leaders for 1937. Current events were then given by several women.

Mesdames James Allen and Fenner Allen and Miss Inez Allen are the Fair committee. They will have a call meeting sometime in the near future to discuss plans for our exhibit at the Fair.

Gianni, marioids, lupines and clematis were used throughout the rooms where the guests assembled.

The guests were greeted at the front door by Miss Virginia Lee Allen. She invited each one to register in the bride's book.

Mesdames James and Fenner Allen and Miss Louise Buck served delicious punch in the rear hall. The punch/bowl was placed on a large reflector and was surrounded by clematis.

Mesdames Stan Poind, James Allen and Leon Tyson entertained with piano solos and duets.

WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Woman's Club of Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, has established a Memorial Shelf at the library to which books are added in memory of deceased members. Music, Literature and Gardening are subjects represented. — Wisconsin Library Bulletin.

One of our local men is promoting the idea of giving books to the City Library instead of sending flowers at the time of a death, especially for organizations, when masses of flowers would be sent in any case. This memorial idea seems to be gaining favor. We have received six such books, selected by the librarian, and will probably receive about fifteen or twenty more, in a little different form of memorial. We hope this is only a beginning, and that the idea will often be used at such times, and also as a suggestion for gifts at other times.—From a Michigan library.

A few such books have been placed in Sheppard Memorial Library.

Wide Library Circulation.
The circulation of Sheppard Memorial Library books by ten Pitt county schools began again yesterday. Mrs. G. E. Kniel and Miss Claudia Gower, who will be at Hollywood, each took out a package of books suitable for the grade they will teach. When these books have been read the teacher or grade mother will bring them in and get another package. The circulation record is kept in the school and brought to the library for the regular record when the books are turned.

New Shoe Store To Open Here Saturday

The Thomas Shoe store will open for business Saturday morning at its stand at Five Points.

The new establishment is located in the rear of the Gloria shop, the place formerly occupied by the Campus Book shop. The store will carry a complete line of ladies' novelty and dress shoes. It was announced today by the management.

What a Girl at College Should Have

A girl at college should have enough clothes that she does not have to think about what to wear. She should have two soft frocks (7.95 to 19.75). They are her Sunday dresses and date dresses. She wears them to faculty teas and the like. She should have at least two tailored classroom dresses, one in wool (5.95 to 14.95), one in crepe (5.95 to 16.75). Not to mention the classic favorites, cardigan and slip-on sweaters (1.98 and 2.95) and skirts (1.98 to 3.95). She should have a sport coat, preferably a tweed, fleece or camel hair (10.95 to 39.50) and a smartly furred cloth coat (16.75 to 79.50), or a fur coat (65.00 to 79.50). She should go gay on accessories, frivolous scarfs (39c to 1.00), skittish hats to liven up the classics (1.00 to 4.95). For dormitories like Greenland's icy mountains, she should have a flannel robe (5.95 to 7.95), warm pajamas (1.98 to 5.95) and several "Airloom" blankets (4.95, 5.95). Don't forget several pairs of shoes, evening (3.95), street (2.95 to 8.50), and campus ones (1.95 to 5.00).

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance was running away from one love affair when she took her job in Blake Thornton's advertising office in Atlanta. But she did not escape love, and this time she realizes that what she feels for Blake is for deeper and more beautiful than what she felt for Denis Ford.

Chapter 36 FROM BLAKE

AND you ordered a piping dinner of sliced chicken and iced coffee.

Blake would never have believed, until tonight, that so small and unimportant a detail had lain all these months in his memory. Had he, he wondered, been falling in love with Carol even then?

"But I didn't get by with it..." Utter nonsense, all of it. Nonsense so uncharacteristic of them both that they clung to it desperately, fearing the days ahead when they would be too beset for lightness.

And after dinner: "What now? Another movie?"

She knew his thoughts. I can't see you and hold you there, they said; let me take you home where I can be alone with you.

"I'd fall asleep, I'm afraid." "I hoped you'd say that. I won't stay long; you must go to bed early..."

Broken sentences that said only half their thoughts. She sat close to him in the car and remembered the night when she had shrunk from the touch of his shoulder. Have I lost all shame, she wondered, and knew that shame had no meaning and no place in a feeling as big as this.

Inside the apartment they came together as soon as the door had closed behind them. She slipped her arms beneath his topcoat in order to be closer to him, and thought with passionate tenderness: he's so terribly thin! If only I could take care of him—now.

She drew away finally and snapped on a light. "I must call Marge and see how little Harry is."

"Yes. Let me have your hat and coat."

He put them away while she called Marge's number, knowing as if by instinct where they belonged. Poor fool that Irma was, she thought, to have trampled underfoot such a capacity for tenderness and care.

"Harry?" she said eagerly. It was back upon her now: all the anguish and dread and waiting.

"Yes. That Carol?" Harry's voice sounded as if he had run all day.

"Yes. Is there any news?" "No. Just about the same..." "But he's no worse!"

"No, thank God. I've just come back from there and they say we ought to know—something—by morning."

"Will you call me then—either here or at the office? I don't want to bother you."

"Right." Harry was trying hard. "And thanks, Carol, for everything."

"For nothing," she protested. "Goodnight, Harry."

Blake said anxiously as she turned against his shoulder: "You don't have to come tomorrow if you don't feel like it."

"Of course I feel like it. There's nothing I can do unless he gets worse."

"He won't." Nothing so tragic could happen, Blake felt, in a world as golden as this one. "Now come on and sit down a minute, then I'll go and leave you in peace."

She said with deadly seriousness: "I don't believe I'd ever be entirely at peace while you were away."

His face glowed. "My darling! That's the loveliest thing you could possibly say."

They went back, during the next hour, to the early months of their acquaintance, recalling foolish, disjointed things that had suddenly taken on a tremendous significance.

At ten o'clock he stood up reluctantly. "I said an hour ago that I'd go home. You'll—go straight to bed?"

"Yes." His concern was like a fleecy blanket around her.

He said eagerly: "Can I stop for you in the morning?"

One of them, she thought, must cling to common sense. "The more you'd better not. It will be hard enough to hide it in the office without inviting suspicion."

"I guess you're right." He grinned at the endearing, small-boy grin. "I'll snarl at you before the whole force if you ask it!"

She laughed. "You needn't go that far. For a lamb like you that would be equally suspicious."

He kissed her hungrily and finally let her go. "Goodnight. Oh, dear God, I love you so..."

incalculable. Besides looking after our own interests and nationals, our embassies and legations abroad would be entrusted with the problems of all the nations at war. How we handled those controversial questions might determine how long the U. S. could stay out.

PDR has quietly built up a diplomatic service until veterans say it is at top peak in every respect there is a trained and skilled observer. The purpose of the present study is to reinforce any weak points in our diplomatic armor.

ing from hour to hour over many days. The object was to avoid a situation which would prevent a corporation from paying its debts according to contract. The date was arbitrarily fixed at a point that would put a red light on corporation attempts at making contracts to tie up dividends or surplus in order to avoid taxes.

Such meager discussion as was had on the floor of the Senate and House indicates that lawmakers were trying in good faith to frame a provision which would enable corporations to observe good faith contracts to pay their debts. No credit is allowed on account of a debt contracted after April 30, 1935.

PROGRESS: Radical changes in the design of ships may result from the safety-at-sea tests recently conducted by marine technicians cooperating with a sub-committee of the Senate.

The investigation was inspired by the loss of life aboard the Morro Castle, and it seeks to develop non-inflammable materials for between-deck-and-compartment construction. A dozen manufacturers have been working on the problem, and their products were recently tested on the S. S. Nantasket off Norfolk. The steel-wood-asbestos entry of a prominent anti-New Deal industrialist resisted the most intense heat while steel decks were tested from the flames.

Congress will be asked to enact legislation specifying that all ships be built of this or similar material. Since the product is both light and cheap, it may lead to changes affecting a ship's size, weight and cost. Marine engineers talk of developments which will revolutionize shipping and restore America's supremacy on the ocean.

For Active Men past 30. You need a formula for sensible living... You will enjoy the "middle years" more if you watch your diet, exercise sensibly... and, if you drink, choose a form of whiskey that agrees with you.

"SEAGRAM'S Crown Blended Whiskies are a MOST WHOLESOME FORM OF WHISKEY." This conclusive verdict of our recent research is the answer of a group of trained, fact-finding men who for months investigated the question, "How does the human system respond to different forms of whiskey?"

As a guide to the sensible choice of whiskey, this plain statement has been invaluable to men who like fine whiskey and drink it in moderation. It means that they have been able to be sure of getting, in Seagram's Crowns, not only fine-tasting whiskey, but a form of whiskey which is easy on most men, considerate, kind—and most likely to agree with them.

Seagram's Crown Blended Whiskies. A MOST WHOLESOME FORM OF WHISKEY.

of defense for a time—in order to keep them from scrambling into the Lewis fold. Naturally this is a great relief to the managements. All of the important ones will follow Mr. Weir's lead if the question of a pay increase comes up in their companies. The United front—though entirely unofficial—will be clearly in evidence in resisting labor demands.

LIFT: Here's another important angle of this "breathing spell" on wage raises. It gives the steel manufacturers time to put over a good selling job on their employees—convince the latter that it would actually be determined to their interests to give them more pay.

The argument is simplicity itself. Higher pay—higher costs. Higher costs—higher prices. Higher prices—lower sales. Lower sales—less activity. Less activity—fewer hours per man and fewer jobs. A vicious circle. Surely the workers will not be so short-sighted as to insist on cutting off their own noses for a temporary and illusory gain?

If this chain of thought can be deeply enough ingrained among the workers so that a majority of them connect a pay increase with fear of losing their jobs, the manufacturers won't have to worry about wage demands for a long time—which would be very nice. But it would be kind of hard to put it across if Mr. Lewis' organizers were on the job. Comment runs that the steel magnates owe at least a nod of thanks to Mr. Roosevelt for the indirect lift.

STATE: A stiff contest is developing for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in New York. For the first time in years it's a prize worth having, with a real chance for November victory. State party leaders differ as to the best tactics to pursue. Some of them think it would promote harmony for the state executive committee to get together and designate the candidate in advance of the convention, thus avoiding a free-for-all on the convention floor. Others, on the contrary, believe it would be far healthier to avoid any appearance of "bossism" and to let the convention make a perfectly free choice of its own. This school of thought figures that an open fight would cause less irritation than a backroom selection which would leave the defeated candidates feeling they had been given the works.

Advocates of the second method will probably win out. Clarence King—chairman of the state executive committee and biggest figure in behind-the-scenes councils—is understood to be for it. That's why he personally refuses to make a choice between the two candidates from his ballwick—State Senator George Fearon and Mayor Rolland B. Marvin of Syracuse.

POWER: New York experts predict a sensational rise in electric power production this fall. For some time this figure, reported weekly, has been registering steady gains of 2 per cent or 3 per cent as against the previous year and the preceding period.

Comparable gains through the autumn months are expected to run as high as 6 per cent to 8 per cent—perhaps even more.

The point is that the high levels for electric consumption already established have been based mostly on increased domestic use. Large

Downie Bros. Circus Here Today, Tonight

When Charlie Sparks, manager of Downie Brothers Circus reached the Mason-Dixon line he said "Home again" and "Charlie" meant it for he is Southern Folks and is always glad to get back from his northern tour. The old Sparks Circus was born and bred in the South and after the sale of it, another circus was born at Macon, Ga. called the Downie Circus, for Mr. Charlie just had to have a circus for his Southern friends and you can assure yourself that he has in your city the best circus offering of his career, and that extends over 40 years. Its novelties with a circus that the folks come to see said "Charlie" and I have many to offer—firstly I engaged the services of that well known western screen star Jack Hoxie as well as his leading lady Dixie Starr, and of course "Jack" brings his wonder horse "Scout" and "Dixie" her favorite mount "Dido" both horses you have seen in the Hoxie pictures at your local theater. Another novelty is a big revival of the "Leaps" an act made famous in the day of "Grandma" and "Grandpa" and in "ye olden days" called the springing board, and in this act is introduced Tony Scaler and Stanley White the world's greatest leapers as well as June Williams the only successful lady leaper known to the circus world. Of course as always "Charlie" has made a specialty of horses, and you will find them in menage, party, and high school acts all ridden by Dainty Misses selected for good looks and ability to ride.

The Aerial Roberts are to be seen high up in the air in a very daring aerial offering. From Frisco Coast comes the Frisco Seals the very best of all marine acts and presented by Captain Pickard. The Butter Troupe of wire artists, an act of youth, beauty and sensation—three girls and two boys, Mickey Larkin defies death daily in his hair raising head slide, and Miss Georgiana does her sensational foot slide. The very best of all riding acts is the Riding Hannefords in which is featured "George" known as the riding fool. The Aerial Ballet offering 15 beautiful girls is another novelty offering. Sparks high jumping horses are in a class by themselves, conceived to be the highest jumpers in the United States. Two herds of elephants are rut through their paces by Shorty Dougherty.

Tonight doors open at 7:15 to allow the public to see the huge menagerie and listen to Rodney Harris and his circus band—a truly delightful concert—Anyhow "Mr. Charlie" is offering his Southern friends the best circus of his career so lets get teh circus fever and enjoy the only big circus offering this season. Performance starts at 8:15.

Suggest New Method For Malaria Control

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 3.—A somewhat new method of malaria control has been suggested by Dr. F. H. Garriss, health officer of Bertie County. As the saying goes, it puts the shoe on the other foot. Heretofore, efforts for keeping down malaria have been directed toward keeping mosquitoes away from human beings, especially the malaria-bearing kind.

But since this seems well-nigh impossible, there being hordes of mosquitoes to one human being, and all means of control thus far having been more or less ineffective, Dr. Garriss suggests keeping persons having malarial infection away from mosquitoes; in other words preventing mosquitoes from becoming infected with malaria from human beings. He says he believes this is the surest method of controlling malaria in his section of the state, where efforts to eradicate mosquitoes have proven almost impossible.

Dr. G. M. Cooper, commenting on Dr. Garriss's suggestion in the September issue of the Health Bulletin, says that more attention should be paid to the chronic malaria carrier—the person half sick with this disease who manages to keep going and who refuses to take treatment sufficient to cure himself of the infection. It is this type of person, he says, who not only infects mosquitoes, which in turn infect human beings, but who also becomes a drag and a economic liability on the community. Dr. Cooper believes that persons suffering continuously from malaria create a public health problem that demands attention, that while there should be no abatement in mosquito control, there should be also a program of treatment and cure for those who are sick, and this should be rigidly enforced.

Dr. Cooper emphasizes the value and effectiveness of thorough screening against mosquitoes, flies, and other insect pests. He says there is probably no modern improvement or discovery in the field of disease prevention that has been of more genuine value.

TAX PROBLEMS PROVIDE ISSUE

No More Touchy Subject in Politics Than Levies

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington) By and large, year in and year out, there is no more touchy issue in politics than the issue of taxation.

In the current period of depression or of recovery (take your choice), these considerations are bound to apply with special force. The evidence that they do is furnished by the alacrity with which the Republicans raised the cry of "politics" after the Roosevelt tax conference.
