Government Resistance Collapses In Face Of Renewed Rebel Attacks

Counter Attack City of Irun Unsuccessful

LOYAL TROOPS FORCED RETREAT

Spanish Government Orders All Political Interests Subordinated to Emergency

(By Associated Press) Government resistance in the rebel captured city of Irun collapsed today after an unsuccessful counter attack, while the new Spanish government in Madrid subordinated all political interests to the military emergency.

The government forces swept back toward charred Irun and again seized the approach of the international bridge into France.

Hundreds of their comrades who had fled to France forded the Bidassoa river and swarmed rebel positions before the insurgents had had a chance to fortify themselves securely.

The rebels rallied quickly, however, and drove the government militiamen from the international bridge with heavy casualties.

As the battle raged on unabated, the government leaders in the Madrid seat of their government directed their full force to aid the armies in the field.

"All political interests are to be subordinated to this end," an official statement said.

The war ministry meanwhile reported victories of government troops in Toledo province against fascist columns driving toward Madrid.

Parisian communists threatened a general strike in France if the arms embargo were not lifted so that they could send "guns and planes" to the Madrid cause.

Sol Spencer Again Runs Afoot of Law and Is Bound Over to County Court Under $500 Bond

Sol Spencer, well-known negro in police circles, is in the hands of the "law" again with numerous charges of robbery lodged against him. He was bound over to County court under $500 bond in Municipal court this morning.

Sol, who has only recently completed a term on the roads for robbery, is being held on charges of stealing on several occasions and Chief George Clark said he had confessed to staging the robberies.

He is alleged to have admitted that he held up another negro, Willie Barnes, last Wednesday night and robbing him of his watch and all the clothes Barnes had on, leaving him to go home completely disrobed. He is alleged to have sold Barnes' watch for 50 cents and swapped his shoes for some old ones and 50 cents to boot.

Sol was "spotted" in Tobacco town last night by Barnes and officers arrested him.

The defendant also is charged with entering the home of Herbert Whitehead, negro, stealing two suits of clothes, some shoes, dresses and eating all the food he could find in the house.

Officers said the negro took them to where he had the stolen property concealed and they found several articles missing in other robberies.

Walter Lee Speight, negro, was bound over to County court on charges of stealing and Glenton Crash, another negro was ordered held for carrying concealed weapons.

FOOD SCARCITY FORCES CHINESE TO RELIGION

Peiping—(AP)—Under the general economic slump and prevailing hard times, many Chinese apparently have espoused Buddhism not only as a religion but also as a "profession."

Officials point to the steady increase of Buddhist followers in recent years, especially in districts affected by famine, banditry and other calamities.

The present number of Chinese men and women who have entered monasteries as monks or nuns, according to the China Buddhist Association, is 738,000. They are fed and clothed by the monasteries without charge and their only return is to pray and meditate for their own salvation and that of the world.

AUGUST TERM IS COMPLETED

Numerous Cases Disposed of in Criminal Session

The August term of Pitt county Superior court was completed here yesterday afternoon after a number of important cases, as well as many minor ones, had been disposed of.

Despite the busy week, numerous cases set for hearing were continued because of lack of time to try them.

Many cases on the calendar were disposed of when the defendants withdrew their appeals and accepted lower court judgments. The State also took a number of cases with leave in numerous instances.

The case against Don Evans, convicted in connection with the death of Miss Lucille Huntley Beck, who allegedly died of an illegal operation, was disposed of temporarily at least. An appeal from a three to five year sentence was noted and Belle Harris and the defendant allowed his freedom pending the appeal to the North Carolina Supreme court. The case will be argued before that tribunal next spring.

In the final case tried during the term three negroes, John Ellis, Lyman Price and Charlie Taft, were convicted in connection with the death of another negro and each sentenced to the roads for four months, the minimum sentence.

Carl Walker was sentenced to the road for two years upon conviction of larceny. Jesse Griffin received a similar sentence on a like charge. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the cost in a case charging Chesterfield Payton with breaking and entering.

Robert Joyner entered a guilty plea to assault with a deadly weapon and was given 12 months on the roads.

Larry Moore was taxed with the costs for operating a vending machine.

Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs in a case charging William Streeter with driving careless and reckless.

Pitt County Grand Jury In Favor Of Longer Term

The grand jury today submitted its report to Judge N. A. Sinclair, declaring they had visited the various county offices and institutions and found them in good shape.

The report declared the six-months grand jury term is an improvement over the old system and added the jury could be further improved by having a 12-month term, retiring one-half of the members every six months.

The full report follows: We, the Grand Jury, have passed upon all bills presented to us, except those for which we could not obtain witnesses, and have rendered our decisions according to the evidence.

We have visited the County offices, namely: Clerk of Court, Register of Deeds, Auditor, Treasurer, Tax Collector and Sheriff, and find the offices kept in a neat and businesslike manner, and the officials and their assistants courteous and efficient.

We visited the jail and found same in good sanitary condition. We visited the County Home and found conditions good, both as to sanitation and supervision. The corn and hay crops are excellent and livestock in good condition. Mr. Wilson, the Superintendent, stated that he was expecting to harvest 1,200 bushels of corn and 12,000 pounds of meat, this, with several hundred cans of vegetables produced and canned on the farm, will amply supply the farm for the year.

All inmates interviewed, stated that they were well cared for, both as to

Fire Loss Thus Far During This Year at New Low Mark

Damage During August Amounting to $236 Brings Total For Year so Far to Only $2,566.50.

So far this year the loss by fire in the city has been the smallest in some time, the report issued today by Chief George Gardner revealed.

Through August damage from fires totaled $2,566.50 throughout the entire city. Corresponding figures for other years were not available, but Chief Gardner said this year's figures were far below those in recent years.

During August only four fires were recorded, with the total loss being $236. The heaviest loss from any one blaze during the month was $125 at a dwelling on Albemarle avenue.

Chief George Gardner takes every occasion that rises to warn the citizens of the city to keep on their guard to keep fire damage down and thereby secure lower insurance rates.

CITIES AFTER PATROL RADIO

Charlotte, Winston and Greensboro Making Bids

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—(AP)—Charlotte, Winston-Salem and Greensboro are protesting the location of the state highway patrol radio station scheduled to be erected between Salisbury and Statesville. It was learned from Captain Charles D. Farmer today. Several messages and telephone calls have been received from Charlotte, wanting the station located there, largely on the grounds that "Charlotte, is the largest city in the state and should have one of these stations." Captain Farmer said. Similar messages have been received from persons in both Winston-Salem and Greensboro.

"The people generally do not seem to realize that the locations for these stations have been selected from a purely engineering and scientific standpoint with a view to

A. F. OF L. SPLIT HINTS OF TWO RIVAL UNIONS

The Long Threatened Break Brought to Reality Today

'GUILTY' UNIONS DEFY COMMITTEE

Little Doubt Left that John L. Lewis' Followers Will Organize Rival Union.

Washington, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The long threatened split in the American Federation of Labor became a reality today amid hints that suspended unions numbering about one-third of its 3,500,000 members would form a rival federation.

The unions found guilty of "insurrection" defied the federation executive council's order to leave the committee for industrial organization and thus were subject to a suspension order.

There was some doubt as to whether this order technically became effective at midnight last night or midnight tonight. There was no doubt, however, that the 10 unions intended to defy it.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the committee for industrial organization, made his position clear yesterday afternoon. As far as he was concerned, he said the order was effective at 3:38 p. m. the minute he spoke. "We are going to continue what we have been doing namely promoting organization in these unorganized industries," he said.

Today's suspension does not necessarily mean expulsion, but labor men generally agreed it was tantamount to expulsion.

Lewis said the committee had not decided whether to set up a federation rival to the American Federation of Labor but "If a group of citizens are driven out of a city and the gates are locked it is logical to assume they will band together to protect themselves from the beasts of the forests."

Washington, Sept. 5.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared officially today that the 10 unions in the Committee for Industrial Organization were out of the Federation.

In talking to reporters Green insisted that the unions led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers "had withdrawn" from the Federation and had not been suspended.

"On August 5 the executive council of the American Federation of Labor called upon the organizations holding membership in the C. I. O., to make their choice within 30 days as to whether they would withdraw from affiliation with the A. F. of L. or discontinue their membership in the C. I. O.," Green said.

"These organizations which make up the C. I. O. have made their decisions. Their representatives have chosen to continue membership in the C. I. O., and to withdraw their affiliations and relationship with the A. F. of L."

Green's statement that the ten unions had withdrawn conflicted with the general impression that the Federation executive council had suspended them.

DISMISS CASE AGAINST TVA

Suit Brought By 19 Power Companies Is Dropped

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 5.—(AP)—The Tennessee valley authority's legal division was notified today that suit brought against the TVA by 19 private power companies in federal court at Birmingham had been dismissed at the request of attorneys for the power companies.

James Lawrence Fly, general solicitor for the TVA, said he was informed of the action by a Cleveland law firm acting for the power concerns.

The TVA motion in the Birmingham suit asked dismissal on grounds that no issue had been raised by the companies that had not been passed on by the United States supreme court decision in the Ashwander case.

A similar suit to the one filed in Birmingham still is pending in federal court in Tennessee.

City to Continue Business as Usual Despite Holiday

Post Office Only Place in City to Announce It Will Observe Holiday First of Week

Greenville, Sept. 5.—(AP)—The post office is the only establishment to announce it will observe the day as a holiday.

A check-up today did not reveal a single office or store that would cease operations in honor of the holiday. The Merchants Association decided at a recent meeting not to take any time off for the day as it came right in the middle of their busiest season. The bank, which usually observes most holidays, will continue operating in order to take care of farmers who wish to do their banking after selling tobacco.

City and County offices will continue work as usual.

The merchants also have announced that they would not observe Armistice Day as a holiday, as it, too, comes in the midst of the busy season. It was too far ahead for individual establishments to announce whether they would take a rest from regular duties then or not, but it was doubtful the day would be generally observed in Greenville.

The next general holiday to be looked forward to, therefore is Thanksgiving Day, coming on November 26.

Lady Flier Sets Plane Down in Nova Scotia

PILOT SUFFERS SLIGHT INJURIES

Low Fuel Supply Believed to be Cause of Landing After Plane Reached America

Louisburg, Nova Scotia, Sept. 5.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. Beryl Markham's tiny monoplane, attempting a transatlantic flight, was wrecked on a forced landing at Ballena Cove on the northern tip of Nova Scotia today.

Mrs. Markham was reported to have sustained only scratches about the face. The crash occurred at 12:50 p. m. (EST).

Mrs. Markham notified the Cape Breton Air Club that she was safe and asked that a car be sent for her.

"The Messenger" was brought down in a field and damaged heavily, reports here said.

According to reports telephoned to Edith McGinnis, telephone operator here, the fourth woman to make a solo flight from England to North America, made her way to the nearest farm house and had the Cape Breton Flying Club at Sydney notified by phone, asking that a car be sent to her assistance.

Low in fuel when the small plane was reported over the southeast tip of Newfoundland this morning, it was believed the ship was forced down by the diminished gas supply.

Ray Goodwin, Cape Breton Air Club pilot, hopped off in a small plane toward the Cove to give every assistance to the aviatrice.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

ARBITER: President Roosevelt is quietly preparing for a dramatic showdown on the public utility issue at the World Power Conference which opens here on September 7. The outcome may determine the relationship between the government and the industry as well as the role this issue will play in the presidential campaign.

FDR would like to arrange an agreement on the field which the government's projects and private plants occupy in the future. On that basis it may be possible to effect at least a temporary truce. So FDR recently conferred with Wendell Wilkie of Commonwealth and Southern and with an old friend high up in the Georgia Power Company. Their discussion revolved around renewal of the company's agreement with TVA for allocation of power and distribution of territory.

The agreement expires on November 1. Neither side is satisfied with the other's performance under it. TVA Director Lilienthal contends that the Wilkie interests have not kept their word, while the power people return the compliment. The President intervened in an attempt to straighten out all misunderstandings not only between TVA and Commonwealth and Southern but also between himself and the utilities.

indications are that war will be declared again—between exponents of the government, "yardstick" theory and proponents of private operation.

Private operators have framed a final reply to FDR. It consists of a 48-page address, and it will be delivered by Floyd Carlisle of the Niagara-Hudson Power Corporation.

Although its contents are carefully guarded, it is known that Mr. Carlisle will refer to the "yardstick" as a "fake," and allude to a comparatively limited area for power production and distribution to the federal government.

Unless last-minute talks produce an amicable arrangement, the war will assume new and threatening aspects. The President will respond in kind, outlining a federal program for large-scale generation and transmission which will stun the private utilities. And the funny part of it is that the private corporations are footing the bill for a conference which may see them squeezed to death.

HOPEFUL: Republican dopsters are extraordinarily cagey in predicting the number of seats which they expect to gain in the House of Representatives next November.

But they frankly admit that in this chamber and in the Supreme Court, it is where they hope to "stop Roosevelt."

Publicly the G. O. P.-ers are claiming a gain of 75 places, but privately they hope for 50 or 60 at a maximum. There are 96 districts where G. O. P. candidates lost out in the Democrats' 1934 landslide.

By less than 3,000 votes, with stimulated classification toward FDR and Lanks through the Congressional committee looks for an increase of about fifty.

That will give the G. O. P. about 145 members if all incumbents win out, as they should. Since 27 1/2 is a majority in the lower chamber, the Republicans' rosiest expectations don't anticipate enough to block Roosevelt's schemes. But they figure that if they boost their minority membership to 150, they will have enough conservative Democrats to spike New Deal reforms.

Business, industrial and commercial interests have been sold on the idea that the best place to spend anti-New Deal contributions is on House elections.

BATIO: The Democratic National Committee's system of collecting campaign funds suggests that the New Dealists will have the largest war chest in American political history. It will probably exceed the millions which anti-Roosevelt interests are supposed to be mobilizing for the G. O. P.

The Farleyites have asked the state of Texas to kick through with $250,000 for the campaign. The letter of request pointed out that the "Roosevelt-Garner Administration" has given Texas a billion dollars, and that the $250,000 donation amounted to only one-fortieth of one per cent of federal largesse.

"Expressed in another way," continued the telegram, "Texas is contending to give but one-fortieth of one per cent of $1,000,000,000 toward the campaign war chest. . . . Another side to the picture is that the Washington government gave to Texas ten times the total annual expenditure of the state government, for in round numbers the state government costs $100,000,000 a year."

It is estimated that Washington has contributed about $20,000,000 to the states in loans, grants and payments of one kind or another. If the ratio of one-fortieth of one per cent is carried out in all departments, the political trough the Democrats will have a fund of $500,000,000.

CHANCE: Republican insiders disclose that the party's financial intake has fallen off disappointingly in recent weeks. Business and financial sources who were counted upon to keep the campaign wheels well oiled are showing a painful lack of interest. Others who have already chipped in are becoming a bit disgruntled. They figure they are carrying more than their fair share of a load which they feel should be evenly distributed

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

SYNOPSIS: Now Carol Torrance and Blake Thornton are about to face their great trial. For they love each other, and Blake is on his way to Florida to tell his cold and selfish wife, Irma, the truth, and ask her to divorce him. Carol and Blake have told each other good-bye, and Porter, a casual friend of Carol's, has come to take Carol to the train. Porter is on time, which is unusual enough to cause Carol to joke him about it.

Chapter 25

CONFESSION

PORTER grinned. "Have to be. Trains and ships are the only things I can't blurt into waiting for me. Of course I could be missing this one, but I'm afraid I'd make me unpopular."

"You're darn right it would." She phoned for the porter and then turned and smiled at him. "I'm sorry I can't ask you to sit down."

"Oh, yeah? You're fairly champing to be off. Vibratin' with excitement and all that?"

She was startled. And I thought I was calm, she told herself. It's a good thing there's a trip ahead to justify me. She said lightly: "Who wouldn't be? I haven't seen my family for six months."

"That's the way to see a family," he said bluntly. "Every six months."

"Cynic." She picked up her gloves and pocketbook and went to open the door for the bell-boy. When the Negro had taken her bag, Porter stared at her gravely.

"I wish you weren't going."

"But I'll be back Thursday, and you sometimes go for days without seeing me. What's the difference?"

"A lot. I don't like the idea of your being out of reach. How about letting me drive over to Meredith and bring you back?"

She held her breath. Actually she was coming Wednesday, because Blake would be back then.

"That's sweet of you, but—I don't know, I'll drop you a note. . . . When I've thought up a good excuse, she added to herself.

The city was gay and brilliantly lit as they drove through it. A deceptive brilliance, she thought, hiding weakness and unease and a despair intensified by the knowledge that despite her having no place in the picture, remembering the disillusionment of her last Christmas at home she tried to steel herself by expecting nothing this time. Nothing, but three days with her family, who were incapable of disappointing her.

Porter was quiet, too, apparently absorbed in his skillful, breath-taking driving. At the station he bought magazines and chocolate, and put her on the train with his usual flourish. Porter had a flair for living; even the most casual attentions took on a certain grace and significance when he performed them. He sank down beside her for a minute.

"See anybody in this car that you know?"

"No. Why?"

"Nothing." He grinned and leaned swiftly over and kissed her. "Bye, beautiful. Please decide to let me drive you back."

He went down the aisle without looking at her again, and she sat and stared blindly out the window.

SHE wouldn't, Carol had promised herself, confide in any of her family. But she had overlooked Pat's gift of divination. Sunday afternoon he pulled himself lazily from his chair and stretched.

"I feel like a stuffed hog. How's about a brief turn around the Mall, Carol, before the callers swoop down and start their drinkin'?"

"It sounds that attractive," she admitted. "You, too, Jill?"

Jill shook her head and smiled. "I've got a date with a man."

The last vestige of constraint about Don had vanished. Carol realized gladly. He came and went gaily, and made no attempt to hide his happiness and his devotion. Don as a prospective brother-in-law was far more satisfactory than Don as a possible husband.

"Oh, in that case. . . . Where's Jill?" she asked Pat.

"Upstairs, sleeping off her eating 'er. Come on."

They went off briskly, and turned towards the hills beyond the house.

"You haven't forgotten how to walk," Pat approved. "Even if you are a city slicker."

"I'll never be that, I'm afraid. Those beastly pavements still hurt my feet: a like grass, and red clay, to do my walking on."

She wasavoring again the sense of ease and completeness that Pat's presence inspired. She might never know elsewhere, she realized, so of-fortness a companionship as hers with Pat.

ed among all the businesses which stand to benefit by the end of the New Deal.

There are two reasons for the dwindling enthusiasm among potential G. O. P. contributors. One is disaffection caused by alleged mismanagement of the Landon campaign to date—a revived feeling of "what's the use?"

The other is the gradual and reluctant growth of a subsurface business sentiment which it is treason to voice aloud. It is based on the continuance of favorable business trends through this summer and involves a lurking doubt as to the wisdom of swapping horses at this stage of recovery. This sentiment hasn't yet reached important proportions—but it might.

BARGAINS: The sharp upturn in security purchases by American insurance companies in 1935 is ascribed by New York analysts chiefly to the enormous pressure of idle cash. The companies were obliged to put their funds to work somehow. The same pressure is still in effect and indications are that 1936 investments will surpass last year's figure.

The fact that public utility security ranked second only to government bonds among last year's security purchases by insurance companies draws the acid comment from shareholders—observers that nobody got more excited than insurance investors about the remodeling idea catches on in a big way it will greatly stimulate the demand for plate glass. The caravan is termed as next a bit of new business promotion as any industry has tried this year. Earnings prospects for this company are rated excellent.

WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

A book is a bank from which you can always draw entertainment, instruction, or inspiration, without having to write a check, and which never reports, "No funds."

You cannot always choose your companions; you can always choose your books. You can if you will, spend a few minutes every day with the best and wisest men and women the world has ever known.

Books are the compasses and telescopes and sextants and charts which other men have prepared to help us navigate the dangerous seas of human life.—Jesse Lee Bennett, writer.

There should be brought to the attention of the people generally, the desirability of reading good books, the pleasure to be gained from the reading of good books; all for the good of our democracy.—J. H. Puelicher, Milwaukee banker.

"AS RELIGION SEES IT"

By The Rev. Dr. Worth M. Tippy (Secretary, Department of Church and Social Service, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ, in America)

Churches Urged To Observe Labor Sunday and Not Indulge in Conventional Cliches About the Dignity of Labor.

Labor Sunday was established many years ago mainly through the influence of Rev. Charles Stedie, then a member of the staff of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions in New York. It was part of an effort, in which he was the leading spirit but in which the Federal Council of Churches and the denominational boards of social service joined, to throw the influence of the churches back of the struggle of labor for better conditions.

Every church should observe Labor Sunday, just because the churches, if they are following Christ, must be back of the struggle of the masses. These hard pressed millions are asking for recognition, for opportunity, and for a place of respect and influence in the national life.

The minister, on this great day should speak his mind. He cannot afford to indulge in conventional cliches about the "dignity of labor" or a careful balancing of the rights and duties of employer and employee. The time is past for these platitudes. These are days of destiny, when those who speak must read and reflect and pray. And when they speak it must be with knowledge and conviction, and "from the house tops," to use our Master's own words about courageous speaking.

Civilization Un-Christian

The deeper life of our civilization is not Christian, although the light of God's Kingdom shines in its darkness. Our people are mainly bent on money making, not on human welfare. If we were Christian we should have a society whose ardent purpose is freedom and opportunity for the entire population. Gifted minds would be the inspired leaders of the effort, and not exploiters of human beings and natural resources for personal advantage.

Why is society insecure? Why are the workers crowded in the insanitary tenements of cities? Why are half our farms worked by tenants? Why are the sharecroppers of the south treated little better than slaves? Why are there still ten million unemployed? Why are millions on a wage too low for decent living? Primarily, because our leaders, our men of power, are prevailing upon our Lord called "hireling shepherds." Interested in themselves, "whose own the sheep are not." There are other reasons but this is the root of the evil.

There is something horrible about what is taking place. Once it is seen clearly our individualistic, hard driving, cruel society can never again be what it has seemed to be in our blind imaginations or glorifications of yesterday. The fury of the populace in Spain becomes understandable. Those who see it, if they are good men, set about a re-organization of society on what is really a Christian basis; but those who are selfish and unwilling to share their lives turn cruel. They develop fears and moral inferiority complexes which show themselves in social ostracism and red-baiting and finally when pressed in militant fascism.

New Society Needed

I would bring no railing accusation. We are all involved, humiliated and degraded by an acquisitive organization of society. It may have been inevitable—even functional—in earlier stages of human society, but it is no longer. It is time we should know that we are not following Christ in the economic sphere; that we shall recognize this deep rooted evil of our civilization; that we shall see its glaring toll of human anguish and privation; that we shall turn with all our skill and energies to build a society which puts the life of the masses absolutely first in its endeavor.

Labor Sunday is a time to say such things to our congregations and to do our best as ministers to make it clear—and inspiring, to them, for it is a real "glad tidings."

No one can deny that an irresistible movement is breaking up and reorganizing our society as well as the rest of the world, and that the future is full of dangers. But, thank God, it is full of opportunity. Underneath are still the everlasting arms. Forces from the unseen are at work mightily. A new day of plenty and security and of solidarity of the entire nation is dawning. Tragic indeed that "The New Day" looms through bars of blood." The church has an opportunity in which is no shred of self regarding. It is sent in such an hour to mitigate the struggle, to lift the vision of a Christlike economic order and to inspire men to work unitedly for its realization. The church is not, or should not be, so much concerned with the form of the social structure which is emerging as with its motives, its human goals, its solidarity and its spiritual dynamics.

Feetball Physionomics

Chicago (AP)—You don't have to be a professional boxer or wrestler to carry around the marks of your trade on your physionomy. Many collegiate all-star football players have flat noses and battered eyebrows. Jay Berwanger is an exception despite the fact the former Chicago university back had to carry the brunt of offense and defense for Chicago for three years and often played without rest.

"Look at That Waitress Crossing Herself"

"Some lightning!" remarked Jim from across the table in the golf club grill. "And look, will you, at that waitress crossing herself. I suppose that weird sign will keep her from being struck—poor, superstitious creature!"

"That weird sign," I answered, "has a history. Let's forget the waitress for a moment and go back about 1000 years to a sunny day in Rome. Look carefully at that old Jew, standing by the side of the Appian Way. Isn't he too making that same weird sign. Yes, but a bit more secretive—just on his forehead or breast. Romans, Romans passing by—some spitting at the old Jew, others jeering at his superstitious sign. But here—one Roman has stopped. He is stepping toward the Jew. Ha!—he too is making the weird sign—the Sign of the Cross, the trademark, so to speak, of Christianity, by which one Christian knew another and so could, without danger to his life, communicate about Masses to be said in the catacombs, or other important events.

"When Rome became Christian, no longer was there need of secrecy; but always there has been, and always there will be, need of faith in the Cross of Calvary on which the God-man died for you and for me. And so the Sign of

ACES WIN FROM KINSTON, 3-1; NEED VICTORY

Ayden Nears Coastal Loop Title; Only One Win Needed To Take Series; To Engage Eagles in Ayden Today

COASTAL PLAIN LEAGUE (Post-Season Finals)
	W.	L.
Ayden	3	1
Kinston	1	3

Kinston, Sept. 5.—Ayden defeated Kinston here yesterday to win their third victory of the Coastal Plain series against Kinston's one win and three losses. The Aces need one more victory to win the pennant. Today's game will be played in Ayden.

As strange as it may seem, the Aces used three hurlers. Forrest Glass started for the Aydenites. He was relieved by Upchurch in the eighth and Upchurch had to have the help of Carl Byrd in the ninth. Kinston made only five hits, four of which were made off Glass' hurling.

Dave Smith, Duke University hurler, was the pitcher for the Eagles yesterday and was reached for nine hits and three runs. The Aces bunched their hits in three different innings—the fourth, fifth, and ninth to do their scoring.

Leftfielder Michael of the Kinstonians and Third-Baseman Taber of the Aces decided to try a little tactic, apart in the sixth after Michael's single had helped Mason's hand as the Eagle batter came in to third base. Upchurch and playmate, however, separated the pair and the game went on.

CITIES AFTER PATROL RADIO

reaching as large an area as possible, also that the radio engineers are purposely avoiding placing any of these stations in cities and towns, especially large cities," Captain Farmer said. In fact, not a single one of the five sending stations which will be built will be located within the city limits of any city or town, for the reason that our engineers want to get entirely away from buildings, transmission lines and anything else that might tend to reduce the carrying power of radio waves which will be sent out from these stations. Another reason for this decision is that if these short wave stations should be located in cities or towns, they might interfere with the reception of commercial programs from long wave stations.

"So it is really to the advantage of the people living in these cities not to have one of the short wave broadcasting stations near by."

If one of these radio stations should be located in Charlotte, half of its coverage would be wasted by reaching out over South Carolina, while it would not reach as far as Winston-Salem and the Virginia line, it was pointed out. Likewise, if one of the stations should be located in Winston-Salem, its coverage would extend up into Virginia but not down as far as Charlotte. The stations are to be located in such a manner that every portion of the state can be reached by them, it was explained.

VICTIM JOINS BANDIT IN COWBOY REFRAIN

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—R. C. Sturdivant, druggist, lost $100 to a bandit but he did have a little fun while the holdup was going on.

The youthful bandit hummed a cowboy song as he held a gun on his victim and took the cash from a register, Sturdivant said.

"The dog-gone tune excited me so that I found myself humming it as I cleaned out the second register for him," said Sturdivant. "Then we went to the safe and got what money I had there."

food and treatment. From our observation the County Home is better.

NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION

This is to notify all persons that we have this day qualified as administrators of the estate of Jesse L. Cherry of Pitt County, and to give all persons notice that if they have claims against the estate to file them with us within 12 months from this date or this notice will be plead in bar of recovery. All persons indebted to the estate will please make immediate settlement.

This 5th day of Sept., 1936. L. W. Cherry and H. L. Cherry Administrators of the Estate of Jesse L. Cherry. Sept. 5-11w-4w.

ing conducted in a good, business-like manner.

We visited the Prison Camp and found it in excellent condition. Recent improvements have made modern in every way, and it is now one of the best camps in the State.

It is the opinion of the Grand Jury that the six months term is a very decided improvement over the old system, and we believe that the service and usefulness of the Grand Jury can be further improved by having a twelve months term, retiring one-half or nine members of the Jury every six months.

Therefore, we recommend that the next Legislature enact a law that will put this system into effect.

In submitting this report, we wish to express our appreciation to His Honor, Judge N. A. Sinclair, Hon. D. M. Clark, Solicitor, and all county officers for the courtesies extended to use, and for the assistance given us during this term of Court.
