HOLDS FRANCE IS THREATENED BY UPRISINGS

Communist Newspaper Declares Fascist Plot Underway

CHARGE FOLLOWS STRIKE DEMANDS

Metal Workers Are Instructed To Drop Tools in Protest Of French Neutrality

(Copyright by Associated Press) Paris, Sept. 7.—(AP)—A communist call to 300,000 workers to strike today for one hour to compel France to support the Spanish government in its civil war shut down the principal airplane and automobile factories in the Paris area.

According to plan, metal workers laid down their tools for the hour demonstration. Company officials in the afflicted factories acknowledged virtually all union members answered the summons.

(Copyright by Associated Press) Paris, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Communists seeking by strike threats to force official assistance to Spanish socialist forces today a fascist uprising threatened France.

The communist newspaper, L'Humanite, laid the fascist plot to the French "Social" party, political organization headed by Colonel Francois de la Rocque, which arose from the dissolved Croix de Feu veterans league.

The charges followed communist instructions to 300,000 metal workers in the Paris region to drop their tools for a one hour strike today in protest against the French policy of non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

The communist newspaper asserted La Rocque at a secret meeting of "30 regional chiefs" yesterday issued orders for the organization of "shock troops" and "outlines a plan for civil war."

The newspaper, regarded as an official organ of the communist party, strengthened its attack on the "blockade against the Spanish republic" and urged the metal workers to carry out their planned strike.

Premier Leon Blum earlier had refused to yield to pressure to revise his government's neutrality program, faced down a patriotic mass meeting which chanted "airplanes for Spain."

Number of Drunks Given Road Terms In Mayor's Court

Mayor M. K. Blount Metes Out Fifty Sentences to Usual Week-End Liquor Law Violators

The usual week-end drunks composed most of today's cases in municipal court, fines and road sentences having been meted out to the defendants by Mayor M. K. Blount.

West Harris, negro, found drunk on the college campus grounds was sent to the road for 30 days.

Mamie Bradley, negro woman bound over to county court under $300 bond on charges of having whiskey for the purpose of sale.

John McGowan, Reginald Vines negroes, and Steve Manor were fined $10 and costs each on charges of drunkenness.

Charlie Hawkins, negro, was sent to the roads for 30 days on charges of being drunk and disorderly.

Preston Hobbs, negro, was given 30 days for being drunk.

James Davis was taxed with the costs for assaulting another negro.

H. H. (Scraps) Proctor was bound over to county court under $200 bond for taking money under false pretenses.

Fred Carrico Suffers Cut Leg During Fall

Fred Carrico, young newspaper carrier, was painfully injured yesterday when he stepped on a glass jar, fell and cut the muscle of his leg.

He was taken to the hospital and several stitches were taken in sewing up the wound, but he was later taken to his home where he will be confined several days.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. M. G. MOYE

Funeral Services Are Held From Home Here Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Florence Nobles Moye, widow of M. G. Moye who died yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock at her home here from a heart attack, were conducted at two o'clock this afternoon from the home.

Rev. J. C. Moye of Snow Hill, pastor of the Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church, of which Mrs. Moye was a member, conducted the service.

She was assisted by Rev. R. F. Pittman of Ayden. Burial followed in the family cemetery.

Mrs. Moye, a well known and respected resident of this city for a number of years, was the daughter of W. S. and Mary E. Nobles. She was born and reared in Winterville township, where she lived until about 15 years ago when she and her husband moved to this city.

She is survived by six daughters Mrs. Mary E. Goodrich, Mrs. A. M. Waters, Mrs. Harvey Dail, all of Greenville, Mrs. C. E. Langston of Winterville, Mrs. T. G. Manning of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. J. R. Patton, Jr. of Durham; two sons, W. S. Moye and W. J. Moye, both of Greenville, and 29 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Active pallbearers, all grandsons of Mrs. Moye, were: Wiley Waters, Simon Moye, Jr., Moye Dail, Donald Langston, Larry Manning, Wiley Goodrich.

To Operate Radio Division Station Near Williamston

Lieut. Lester Jones of Eastern Division of Patrol, Announces Plans For Eastern Plant

While a number of cities are fighting to have one of the radio stations to be owned and operated by the State Highway Patrol located in their community, Lieut. Lester Jones, in charge of the Eastern division of the force, said the two serving this section would be located near Williamston and Elizabethtown.

The Williamston station will be the chief one for this division, the Elizabethtown plant to be on the edge of this district.

Land has been purchased near the Martin county home, on the Greenville-Williamston highway, and the station will be located at a point visible from the road. The station itself will be placed on a plot of land covering 33 acres. Actual construction probably will start about the 17th of this month, and the station is expected to be ready for operation by December 15.

The station will be equipped with a 303 foot tower, providing a horizontal aerial. It is said it will be one of the most modern and up-to-date in the country. It will operate on a frequency of 1705 megacycles.

While being constructed chiefly for the Highway patrol, it will be available to all officers desiring to make use of it.

Alcoholic Halitosis Grounds Deny Permit

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 7.—Halitosis, if caused by the use of alcohol in any form, is now regarded as grounds for refusal to issue drivers' licenses to applicants, Captain Charles D. Farmer of the State Highway Patrol said today.

Highway patrolmen have been instructed not to accept applications for drivers' license from any applicants who have the slightest odor of alcohol on their breath, even though the odor may come from beer rather than gin or whiskey. They have also been instructed to get within reasonable sniffing distance and give each applicant for a driving permit two or three good sniffs before approving his or her application.

"We have decided that prevention is just as good as a cure and that we had better refuse to issue licenses to drivers whose breath show they are habitual users of alcohol, rather than arrest them later and revoke their licenses for drunken driving," Capt. Farmer said.

"So the patrolmen from now on are going to give each applicant a few good sniffs before approving any applications."

FASCISTS NEAR SPANISH CITY

San Sebastian Defenders Fight Each Other

The anarchist and socialist defenders of San Sebastian, with fascist rebel columns almost at the city's gates, fought in the streets today.

Armed with gasoline and torches, the anarchists sought to fire the city. The socialists struggled to stop them.

With the neutrality situation in nearby France made more grave by communists' charges that a fascist uprising was imminent, insurgent troops with field guns assaulted Fort Trinchere, last government defense before San Sebastian, famous resort city on the Bay of Biscay.

Madrid, jubilant over victories which high officers said had stopped a march on Toledo and the capital and the Talavera sector, announced rebel resistance had "given away" at Cordoba, in the south, and said fascists besieged at Caragoza, in the northeast, were "desperate."

COLLECTS POLICE BADGES TO SHOW AT CONVENTION

Kansas City (AP)—If badges meant anything, Jack Billis would be a whole international police force himself.

Ellis, in charge of supplies for the Kansas City police department, has a collection of police badges from nearly 100 cities over the world and others are coming in almost daily.

He started the collection seven months ago in preparation for an exhibit for the convention of the International Association of Police Chiefs here September 21.

Five cities in the United States with populations of a million or more are New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Detroit.

DR. M'DONALD IN STATEMENT

Denies Asking Board to Reopen Primary Investigation

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, who lost his fight for the gubernatorial nomination in the Democratic primary, said today he had not asked the state board of elections "to reopen" its primary investigation, but had asked it to take "definite and understandable action" in regard to irregularities disclosed by investigations.

"The purpose of my letter, as clearly stated and developed, was to suggest for the consideration of the board that unless some definite and understandable action is taken by the board with respect to those frauds and irregularities which have been positively shown the violation of election laws will grow worse," McDonald said.

The defeated gubernatorial candidate said in his letter to the elections board that "it will have to be admitted as a probability that the vast majority of the absentee ballots cast throughout the state were illegal and the results found in Forsyth county were representative of the state as a whole.

He repeated his contention that Paul Grady, of Kenly, would be the "true nominee x x x for the office of lieutenant governor when only legal ballots are counted" instead of W. P. Horton of Pittsboro, the certified nominee.

American Driver Sets New Record Along Utah Flats

Ab Jenkins, Driving Ivory-Hued "Mormon Meteor" Snatches Two Records From Englishman

Booneville, Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins, driving his ivory-hued "Mormon meteor" over this racing course at dazzling speed snatched two records back to America from England today and roared on in quest of more.

Jenkins established a new mark for 500 kilometers at 164.47 miles per hour—surpassing the old record of 153.30 set on this same course by Capt. George E. T. Eyston of London.

Then he cracked Eyston's 500 mile record of 152.34 with a new world record of 159.03.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON By Ira Bennett

BACKED: Politicians try to whistle Father Coughlin down the pind, but privately they take pains to keep away from his verbal arrows. He made a tremendous impression upon members of Congress when he laid down his barage against American adhesion to the World Court. Most of the members seemed to think his influence was the chief cause of defeat of that proposal.

These politicians are reading between the lines of the editorial in the Vatican newspaper, Osserva-tor Romano, in which Coughlin is criticized for applying opprobrious epithets to President Roosevelt, but otherwise inferentially okayed. General opinion seems to be that Father Coughlin will swing "a lot of votes—the Church is really behind him."

CRITICISM: While an optimistic statement on federal finances was expected, as a preliminary to Treasury financing, many Democrats privately say they wish this subject would be avoided. They fear it gives too much ammunition to the

LANDON URGES WAR VETERANS RETAIN PEACE

Emphasizes Present and Future Duties of Ex-Soldiers

DECLARES WARS UTTER FUTILITY

Republican Presidential Candidate Addresses American Legion Convention

Wichita, Kansas, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Governor Alf M. Landon in a speech today advocated a "united" front for higher standards.

Incidentally in his address before the state convention of the American Legion, he named a "strong will for peace" as the nation's "main reliance in staying out of war."

Emphasizing three "present and future duties" of war veterans—Tolerance, citizenship and the preservation of peace—the Republican presidential nominee in his address noted:

"Disquieting evidence of attempts to stir up racial antagonisms" which "would be tragic if it should become serious."

Expressing the hope that "the recent split in the ranks of labor will be speedily healed," he said "those of us who were in the service appreciate in a way others can not the utter futility of war, its meaningless cruelty."

"The legion has worked for years for legislation to take the profits out of war and in the event of war to put everything the nation possesses in manpower, industry and resources on an equal footing," Landon told the audience.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman Plans Address At Democratic Rally

Vice Chairman of State Executive Committee to Speak in Charlotte On Thursday Morning

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, vice-chairman of the State Democratic Executive committee, who spent a short while at her home here over the weekend, will address a group of women in Charlotte Thursday morning and will be on hand to take part in the Green Pastures rally at which President Roosevelt will deliver an address.

Mrs. Spilman left here last night for Raleigh and will be at the committee's headquarters until Wednesday night, when she will leave for Charlotte. She will address leading Democratic women in the Mecklenburg capital for the Roosevelt address at a meeting Thursday morning.

The vice-chairman spent much of last week in the Western part of the state aiding local committees and also attended sessions launching the Democratic campaign in that section of the state. She declared much was accomplished by state leaders of the party during the swing through the West.

Mrs. Spilman came home to get her children off to school. J. B. will begin his studies at the University of North Carolina. Miss Frances Webb will enter the freshman class at Meredith, while Bernard will continue his studies at Mars Hill.

Undoes Own Work

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—Patrick F. Fagan is undoing the work he did 24 years ago. In 1912 Fagan was foreman of the construction gang which laid the Tulsa street railway tracks. Now as superintendent of a WPA crew, he is in charge of tearing up the streets.

President Leaves Tuesday Evening For North Carolina

Chief Executive to Spend Wednesday Night in Asheville, Then Go On to Charlotte Thursday

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt approved final plans for a motor trip through the great Smoky mountains from Knoxville, Tenn., to Asheville, N. C., and then on to Charlotte, N. C., for a speech Thursday at a six-state "green pastures" rally.

The President will leave Washington tomorrow evening, arriving in Knoxville around 10 a. m., central standard time, Wednesday. From there he plans to travel by automobile to Asheville over 140 miles of mountain road.

He made arrangements to stop for lunch at Shenandoah and to spend the night at Asheville. Whether he will go from Asheville to Charlotte by motor has not been determined definitely, but aides said he probably would prefer to make the trip by car rather than train.

Assistants said Mr. Roosevelt would start work tomorrow on his Charlotte speech.

The chief executive is to speak around 5 p. m. (EST) at the Charlotte rally and plans to leave immediately afterwards by train for Washington.

DECLARES AIM PRAISES ACTS SAVE FARMERS OF ROOSEVELT

Roosevelt Discusses Reemployment and Drought

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Wearing a defense of New Deal spending into a two-fold address on reemployment and the drought, President Roosevelt was on record today with the contention that government expenditures saved business and will save drought-stricken farmers.

Denying charges of waste hurled at him by campaign foes, the president took to the radio last night in a combination labor day eve address and a report on the tour of the drought area just ended.

"Reemployment in industry is proceeding rapidly," he said. "Government spending was in large part responsible for keeping industry going and putting it in position to make this reemployment possible."

At another point in his speech he hit at those who he said would refuse the worker any effective power to bargain collectively. He said "it is those short sighted ones, not labor who threaten the country with 'class dissension.'"

As for the drought, he declared "we are going to conserve soil, conserve water and conserve life."

By inference he held that Governor Alf M. Landon, his Republican rival for the presidency, agreed with him on a broad outline of work relief for drought-stricken farmers instead of the "dole."

Ayden Lady Dies On Saturday From Paralysis Stroke

Mrs. Bet Jones, 50, Suffers Fatal Stroke While En Route Home From Visit to Greenville

Mrs. Bet Jones, 50, died Saturday night at 12:00 o'clock at her home near Ayden.

She had been in Greenville Saturday night with her daughters and was returning home when she suffered a stroke of paralysis. She died before a doctor could be summoned.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock from the late home by Rev. Walter Nobles of Winterville. Burial followed in the family cemetery near Murray.

Mrs. Jones was a former resident of Greenville, widow of the late William Jones, who preceded her to the grave seven years ago.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Jack Tripp, Mrs. J. W. Ousel and Mrs. Glen Tyson, two sisters, Mrs. W. G. Hinson, Mrs. Lena Harris, two brothers, Alex Harris and Robert Harris, also three grandchildren, all of Pitt county.

Active pallbearers were H. C. Manning, Bruce Manning, R. R. Case, Woodrow Nichols, A. H. Sugg, C. H. Humphrey.

Official Of Railroad Is Claimed By Death

Southern Pines, N. C., Sept. 7.—(AP)—Eugene Cleveland Bagwell, 50, general manager of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, died of a heart attack at a hotel here late last night.

He was a native of Raleigh and the funeral will be held there probably Tuesday.

Mr. Bagwell was a brother of Mrs. John L. Horne of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Horne left this afternoon for Raleigh to attend final rites for the railroad executive.

DR. M'DONALD ASKS SUPPORT OF ROOSEVELT

Urges "Overwhelming" Endorsement Of President

MAKES ADDRESS BEFORE LIBERALS

Defeated Gubernatorial Candidate Pledges Aid State Democratic Ticket

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Ralph W. McDonald, defeated gubernatorial candidate, called on the citizens of North Carolina today to "give to President Roosevelt the overwhelming endorsement to which his unprecedented contributions to the state and nation entitle him."

Speaking to about 100 persons here to effect a permanent organization of the liberal Democrats of North Carolina, McDonald said he expected "to do everything within my power by honorable means to help roll up for the entire Democratic ticket in this state and nation the biggest vote ever recorded."

McDonald called on the liberal Democrats to give Roosevelt and unopposed vote in the state; bring the full benefits of the New Deal to North Carolina through social security and similar legislation; preserve the state primary laws; purify primary and election practices; abolish the absentee ballot law and use of markers in primaries and elections; get a better balance for the state's tax system; secure adoption of proposed constitutional amendments relating to taxation and exact state laws to guarantee labor the rights of collective bargaining.

Dr. W. O. House of Tarboro, temporary president of the organization, also urged support of Roosevelt and outlined the purpose of the group. Bill Grady, defeated candidate for Lieutenant Governor, also spoke.

Permanent officers were to be elected later in the day.

Internal Warfare Mars Celebration Of Labor Holiday

American Working Men Join With Best of Nation, However, in Participating in Holiday

Washington, Sept. 7.—(AP)—On this day, dedicated to the interests of the American working man, organized labor faced the threat of a tremendous internal war, but it joined the rest of the nation in celebrating the holiday with a vim.

Parades and speech making marked Labor Day the nation over. In some of the addresses were references to the split in the American Federation of Labor which threatens a long and bitter struggle.

Tined up on one side in labor's internal quarrel were the forces that think all the workers in each large industry should belong to one large union. Their leader is John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

On the other was the American Federation of Labor, headed by William Green and controlled by a group of union leaders who think that highly skilled workers, as a rule should belong to the union in their craft.

Until Saturday the war was a family quarrel, with Lewis followers still members of the Federation. But Saturday the 10 unions associated with the miners' chief in the Committee For Industrial Organization lost their good standing in the American Federation of Labor.

The same day, Green announced that the Federation would try to enroll all the workers in all industries into loyal unions.

Thus, labor men believed, there might be a strenuous contest between the two camps in an attempt to enroll more members.

Farm Bureau Heads To Speak in Craven

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marion Sims

SYNOPSIS: Carol Torrance has gone home from Atlanta for Christmas; she just has told her brother...

Chapter 39

BEFORE THE BATTLE

BLAKE lay in his berth and tossed impatiently, cursing the hours that lay between him and his battle with Irma.

He tried to guess at her reaction, to prepare an answer for any argument or justification she might offer, and saw the hopelessness of the attempt.

But the printed words had no meaning. He tried an article on "Our Neglected Frontier," and discarded it for a story in the same magazine.

He turned off the light and closed his eyes again, and Carol came at once to him in the dark.

Her body was boyish too. He wondered suddenly if she would want children, and knew instinctively that she would.

He fell asleep just at dawn, and slept untroubled for three or four hours. When he woke he was at least able to say to himself: today I'll see her and perhaps know the answer.

The day wore on, and he found a sort of respite in the mechanics of arriving at his destination; in changing trains and eating breakfast and lunch.

His love for her had deepened his own awareness of beauty and ugliness, of joy and pain, and a sensation shared with her was a sensation doubled in intensity.

MARSTON, trim and neat; bright with the conviction of returning prosperity and a bumper crop of tourists.

His heart was beating thickly and he knew that he was suddenly afraid. This would make Irma angry, even though he had prepared the way by a curt note about an important matter he wanted to discuss with her.

"Irma!" he said abruptly when she had reached her. "This is Blake." "Well for goodness sake!" Her voice was puzzled and fretful.

MINOR QUAKE SHOCKS ARE USUALLY HEALTHY SIGNALS. Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 7.—Minor earthquake shocks that do no actual damage are usually a healthy sign, according to Dr. W. F. Prouty, head of the Geology Department of the University of North Carolina.

"At the Melton Hotel. I got in about an hour ago." "Why didn't you come out here?" "I thought, under the circumstances, I'd better stay here. Will you be in this evening?"

"I was never soberer in my life. When can I see you—after dinner?" Irma's bewilderment deepened and for the first time her composure was pierced with dread.

"I'm trying to make an opportunity to tell you, but not over the telephone. Shall I come out after dinner or shall I?"

He could not bear the emptiness of the amenities with her, or the risk of being enmeshed ever for an hour in the terrible, invisible strands of habit.

"Don't be silly," she was trying now to be coy. "Why shouldn't I break an engagement for my own husband?"

"Oh God, he prayed silently, don't let her start that. He said formally: "Then I'll come about half-past eight if that's convenient."

IRMA put down the receiver and a stolid motionless, staring straight ahead. For the first time in eleven years the glass case in which she had shut herself from the needs and wishes of others was cracking.

A hint of the truth crept towards her and she crushed it beneath her heel. Blake couldn't have fallen in love with another woman; he was definitely not the type for that.

She picked up the telephone to break her bridge engagement and slowly replaced the receiver. Should she tell Mrs. Francis that her husband was in town?

No, she would wait until she had heard Blake out and brought him once more under control. Then she could be light and arch about his coming and his departure.

She took up the receiver again and called Mrs. Francis. A slight headache... nothing serious, but she thought it best to go to bed immediately after dinner.

And tomorrow, Blake tells Irma the truth.

Assistant Commissioner To Be Selected Shortly

Not To Wait Until Hoye Takes Office To Fill Post

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hoye. By J. C. BASKERVILL. Raleigh, Sept. 4.—A new Assistant Commissioner of Revenue will be appointed in the near future to succeed Dr. M. C. S. Noble, Jr., who has resigned as of September 15.

Indications here today are that both Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and Governor J. O. B. Ehringhaus agree that the vacancy should be filled very soon and that the appointment of a successor to Dr. Noble will be named on or before his resignation becomes effective September 15.

It is also understood that Governor Ehringhaus is anxious to have an Assistant Commissioner appointed who will keep an ever-watchful eye on the reorganization job done by Dr. Noble and be on the alert to see that none of the divisions of the department slip back into the same old ruts they were in before Dr. Noble started his reorganization and weeding-out program some three years ago.

Assistant Commissioner To Be Selected Shortly

Not To Wait Until Hoye Takes Office To Fill Post

Governor is not going to take any chances on letting the Department of Revenue again become merely a tax receiving agency instead of a tax collecting agency, it is generally agreed.

It is not certain, however, as to who will make this next appointment, Commissioner Maxwell or Governor Ehringhaus, although the expectation is that Commissioner Maxwell will be permitted to make the announcement of the appointment, as if he really made it.

Another question being raised in this connection is whether Mr. Hoye will be consulted before the new appointment is made, with a view to determining if the new appointee will be acceptable to the incoming Governor.

Small in his work at Washington, and a close friend of the former First District Congressman.

First Church of Christ, Scientist. "Man" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 6, 1936.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 37:37. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God." (Psalms 42:11)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Health is not a condition of matter, but of Mind; nor can the material senses bear reliable testimony on the subject of health. The Science of Mind-healing shows it to be impossible for aught but Mind to testify truly or to exhibit the real status of man. Therefore the Divine Principle of Science, reversing the testimony of the physical senses, reveals man as harmoniously existent in Truth, which is the only basis of health; and thus Science denies all disease, heals the sick, overthrows false evidence, and refutes materialistic logic." ## WHY WE NEED A PUBLIC LIBRARY

Long winter evenings after the kiddies have been put to bed we spend many happy hours by the fireside reading; sometimes each reads his own paper or book, but usually we read to each other. Often I am behind with my mending of sewing, and my husband reads aloud while I work; and sometimes he has work to do, such as mending our shoes, repairing harness and bridles, making axe-handles, etc. I then read aloud while he works, and oh, how the hours fly! It's bedtime before either of us realizes it.—Farmer's wife in the "Progressive Farmer."

Tea For Recent Brides.

Scotland Neck, Sept. 7.—On Tuesday afternoon at the Community House, Mrs. A. C. Livermon and Miss Rozina Pittman gave a beautiful tea in honor of Mrs. James Shields Livermon, nee Geneva Ben-thall, and Mrs. Lionel Meredith Buchanan, nee Elizabeth Higgs of Greenville, recent brides.

The reception room was filled with lovely summer flowers of every color: roses, lilies, dahlias, false dragon head, clematis, and ferns banked on the mantles, the rostrum and around the large room.

Mrs. N. O. McDowell and Mrs. J. O. Shields graciously greeted the guests and Mrs. David Bryant introduced them to the first receiving line which was composed of Mrs. Livermon, Miss Pittman, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. James Livermon, Mrs. R. C. Ben-thall of Woodland, and Mrs. E. B. Higgs of Greenville. This line stood in front of the rostrum which was banked with white chandelier lilies and ferns.

The second line composed of Misses Nell Ben-thall and Claire Ben-thall of Woodland, Rebe Shields of Raleigh, Mrs. L. B. Thornton of Buffalo, N. Y., and Miss Lelia Higgs of Greenville, was introduced by Mrs. R. P. Blackwell.

Mrs. W. H. McDowell and Miss Mary Tillery directed the guests next to the punch bowl, which was presided over by Mrs. S. J. Everett of Greenville, Mrs. L. M. Pittman and Mrs. C. H. Herring. The table holding the bowl was laid with a handsome cloth and the bowl was trimmed with bunches of luscious looking grapes. Mounds of purple grapes at each end with climatic trailing effectively on the table completed the lovely setting.

Misses Martha Salisbury and Doris Tillery then invited the guests to the tables where delicious nuts, minis, ices and cakes, in green and white, were served. These tables were covered with beautiful cloths and held bowls of mixed flowers and silver cardsticks holding slender white tapers. Miss Rheta Johnson, Mrs. Harry Vaughan, Mrs. C. L. Dunn and Mrs. R. P. Byrd presided at the tables.

Assisting in receiving in this part of the room were Mrs. Charlie Lawrence, Mrs. E. H. Leggett, Mrs. C. H. Neville and Mrs. Wade Dickens.

Misses Cornelia Clark, Ann Bonner Lawrence, Fay Memory Shields, Florence Pittman and Elizabeth Everett of Greenville, served the delicious ices, cakes, minis and nuts.

Soft music was rendered throughout the afternoon by Miss Maxilla Everett and Elizabeth Drake at the piano.

Mrs. O. F. Smith and Mrs. J. A. McDowell bide the guests good-bye.

Many guests from town and from several towns in the vicinity called during the hours.

Ballard's X Road. Rev. Mr. Wilson of Farmville preached for us Sunday afternoon a timely sermon of Sabbath observance.

Many of our regular attendants were absent from Sunday school. Hope they will be in their places next Sunday.

The children are happy again—school has begun and at the opening both teachers and pupils seemed delighted. It was indeed an inspiring occasion, the coming together of all those bright, neatly-dressed girls and boys and those conscientious teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Standill and family have returned from a trip to Richmond, Va. While away they also visit Buckroe Beach and many other interesting places in Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Flanagan are visiting relatives here.

Miss Nancy Smith Flanagan has returned from a visit to her aunt Mrs. Bishop Thorson of Raeford.

Mrs. Riddle of Craigsville, Va., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Wiley Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Flanagan of Greenville, S. C., have returned home after spending some time with relatives here. They were accompanied by Mr. Robert Tyson who will spend some time with them.

Of the nine 4-H club boys who accompanied Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Griggs to White Lake, four represented the Bell Arthur school; one of them, Charles Edward Nichols is of this community.

Another one of our boys, Albert French Tyson, is enjoying this week at Camp Graystone as a reward for his outstanding work in wild life and forestry study.

These camping trips will encourage the boys and girls in all their work and studies, and we hope many more of our bright persevering young folks will be ready to join them next year.

ROOSEVELT UNVEILS RUSHMORE

TO ESTABLISH TEN BRANCHES

Plan Several Security Offices Throughout North Carolina

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—A total of at least eight and possibly ten offices will eventually be opened in North Carolina by the Social Security Board in Washington, although there will be only two main district offices as originally planned, one of these being here in Raleigh and the other in Salisbury, it was learned from an official source here today. Plans have already been made to locate branch offices in Charlotte, Asheville, Winston-Salem and Greensboro under the general direction of the district office in Salisbury. It is also believed that branch offices will probably be opened in Elizabeth City, Wilmington, Rocky Mount and in one or two other eastern cities, under the general supervision of the Raleigh district office. None of these offices are expected to be opened until about November 1.

The personnel of all these offices will be selected from civil service lists without any regard for political indoctrinations. It has been announced in Washington, Civil Service blanks for those who wish to take the examination may be obtained from the civil service clerks in the larger post offices in the state or direct from the Civil Service Commission in Washington, by asking for Civil Service Announcement No. 93. Instead of taking the usual examination, applicants for jobs with the Social Security Board will be required to fill out the application blanks in detail, giving a complete history of their experience and qualifications and then to write about a 2,000 word thesis outlining their view with regard to the social security act, according to word received here. Each application and thesis will be considered on its merits.

No one who is more than 53 years old will be considered for any of the three principal administrative jobs in each district office, which pay from $4,500 to $6,000 a year, while no one more than 45 years of age will be considered for any of the jobs. Washington has announced.

All applications must be in the hands of the Civil Service Commission in Washington by September 14.

BANK'S SUCCESS LAID TO CAUTIOUS INVESTMENT

Russellville, Ky. (AP)—Henry L. Trimble, whose bank never failed to pay a dividend since its organization 34 years ago, attributes the record to carefulness in investment and the fact that no Logan county bank ever paid interest on deposits.

"They cuss me and call me hard-bolled," remarked the 65-year-old president of Citizens National bank.

"but I'm glad of it. During hard times, when banks were failing all around us, we had money brought in by armored truck and airplane, piled the money on the counter and told the people to come in and write their checks if they wanted it. Each time our deposits increased."

There are 224 families settled on the federal government's Pine Mountain Valley (Ga.) rehabilitation tract. It is near President Roosevelt's Warm Springs cottage.

SALE OF VALUABLE FARM PROPERTY

Under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon us in a Deed of Trust executed by Robert L. Brooks (unmarried) on the 4th day of January, 1923, and recorded in Book T-14, page 171, we will on Saturday, the

3rd day of October, 1936
12 o'clock noon

at the courthouse door in Pitt County, Greenville, N. C., sell at public auction for cash to the highest bidder the following land, to-wit:

All that certain piece, parcel or tract of land containing 67 acres more or less, situate, lying and being on the road leading from Red Banks, known as the Red Banks Road to the Greenville-Washington road, about 5 miles from the town of Greenville Township, County of Pitt, State of N. C., the same being bounded on the N. by the said Red Banks Road, and the lands known as John W. Brooks, Sr., land; on the E. by Hardys Run and the Bryant Hardee land; on the S. by the land of Stanley Moore and on the W. by the John W. Brooks land and said public road.

This land is sold subject to all unpaid taxes.

This sale is made by reason of the failure of Robert L. Brooks (unmarried) to pay off and discharge the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust.

A deposit of 10 per cent will be required from the purchaser at the sale.

NATIONAL ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES:

Wm. F. DeWitt Co., Inc., New York, Chicago, Indianapolis, Philadelphia, Kansas City

Some of the cities and towns in North Carolina are waging war on unnecessary noises. It seems to us that Greenville could do without a lot of the noise that goes on here such as loud-speakers, excessive automobile horn blowing and too much factory whistle blowing. It may be possible that some blowing of the factory whistles is necessary for calling the workers to and from work but at times it seems that those in charge of the whistles tie the cord down and forget to let go.

Tobacco sales are expected to get heavier from this week on until the season reaches its peak. Those farmers who are most careful about the grading of their tobacco and marketing it in good condition are the ones who receive the most money. The extra time it takes to grade carefully and keep strings out of tobacco certainly pays the growers in the way of higher prices.

Business houses have been requested to sweep off their sidewalks after closing hours each day in order that the street cleaning department might get our streets thoroughly cleaned during the night. There is little use in cleaning the streets at night if the sidewalks are to be left littered and the trash swept into the street the next morning to remain there throughout the day. Every business house should co-operate in this effort to keep our streets as clean as possible.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

Continued from page One. opposition, with its acknowledgment of the $34,188,000,000 debt, a $2,897,000,000 current deficit, and new borrowing to the extent of $750,000,000. Even rosy figures showing increased revenues are being twisted into political proof that the public is paying heavier taxes already, not counting the latest tax bill. Particular criticism is made by men in both parties touching the estimate for relief. On all sides it seems to be agreed that Mr. Roosevelt's estimate of $500,000,000 is too low.

FADING: The drought is mainly responsible for the forthcoming reorganization or liquidation of the Tugwell Resettlement Administration. This agency was granted $80,000,000 by Congress last June. It has been heavily drawn upon for drought relief of various sorts, and its commitments probably will eat up the balance. It was only after a determined fight in Congress that the Resettlement Administration was permitted to continue "rural rehabilitation." Congress was willing to provide for loans to farmers and livestock growers, but balked at outright money advances. The drought has forced the R. A. to pay out cash to farmers in urgent cases. If the R. A. is to be continued, apparently estimates for relief will have to be revised upward.

CLAIMS: Republicans who are jittery regarding Landon's chances are confident that GOP gains in the House will change the picture in the 76th congress. They base estimates partly on the swing in Rhode Island last August. Applying Rhode Island's GOP gain proportionately to other districts where Republicans lost by narrow margins in 1934, it appears that 161 Democrats' seats might be in jeopardy. To be "on the safe side" GOP claims are reduced to 150. This would give the G. O. P. a bare majority in the House. While Chairman Farley admitted a few weeks ago that Democrats might lose a few seats, he couldn't "see" loss of the House. Since then the New Deal vote in the Solid South causes Democrats to believe they will hold their whoppers; House majority of 3 to 1.

UNCERTAIN: Maryland is teetering between the New Deal and the G. O. P. It always teeters in presidential elections, and almost invariably picks the winner. Both sides are active, and both are "skewed." A Democrat who has served on election boards for years told the writer this week that he had begged of this year. "I'm going to vote for Landon," he said. "Mary and I are for Landon. I don't know how many Democrats have told me that they're going to switch." Soundings taken by experts in Maryland have convinced them of only one thing—that the state is an absolutely uncertain quantity.

PRECEDENT: Export figures do not show that Americans are sending war material to Spain. Shipments could be disguised if they were destined to the rebels, but smart agents of the Madrid government probably would unearth such proceedings and raise a howl. No law prevents shipments to both sides of the Spanish row. But the administration frowns upon the business, and the Shipping Board Bureau virtually compels shippers under its influence to keep away from war exports.

The Spanish situation reveals how difficult it is to frame a neutrally law that will fit all contingencies. The United States is compelled to deny Spain's right to bar war cargoes unless it can effectually blockade ports. To admit otherwise create a precedent that would plague the U. S. in a real war.

TRADE: This is the day of the year when business is generally assumed to take a turn for fall and winter improvement—the usual summer dullness didn't rule this year which is why some centers are cautious. But trade in general is in a good position to continue improvement. Textile industry active with talk current of better prices likely. Building will continue good for next two months, but as long as weather conditions permit. Heavy industries continue to show progress with steel leading—operation averages to hold. Automobile industry preparing 1937 models—trade anticipates active public buying late this year. Merchandise trade optimistic—school goods going in grand volume. Jewelry trade bullish due to pending holiday season. Coal mines more active—seasonal. Real estate markets active with outlook constructive. Furniture industry satisfied with results thus far—demand better as prices increase. Flooring covering—carpets, rugs and linoleum—in demand. Shoe sales larger. Groceries sales better. Fur markets active—more than seasonal. Bank clearings show betterment disclosing industrial activity. Power sales hold. Car loadings to show improvement. Labor conditions not at all pleasing—talk current of difficulties during the winter months. Retail trade sales volume satisfactory with merchants set for an unusually heavy demand prior to holiday buying which is expected to run at best levels since 1930.

BONDS: Illinois Central planning refunding operations—so mentioned here before. Business man's investment risk—Gary Electric and Gas 1st 5s of 1944. Richfield Oil of California 1st 6s of 1944 held as a speculative risk. Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis 1st 4s of 1978 rated as an investment. New York Central Ref and Imp 4 1-2s of 2013 taken for income. Missouri Pacific 5 1-2s of 1949 taken by speculative accounts. Amoskeag Manufacturing 6s of 1943 being liquidated. American Radiator to refund its 4 1-2s of 1947 and preferred shares. Because of improving condition Indiana State 1st and Ref 5s of 1950 taken by speculative interests. National Power and Light 5s of 2730 held for income. Indications are that Washash 2nd Mtr 5s of 1939 will receive liberal reorganization treatment. Oklahoma Gas and Electric issues being retained.

MORE BONDS: Rail serving drought areas doing fairly well in way of bond issues despite reports to contrary. Southern Railway will cover fixed charges this year. Central Railroad of New Jersey 5s and 6s held as speculative risks. United Drug Deb 5s of 1933 taken as a business man's risk. Indianapolis Gas 5s bought on hopes city will purchase properties. Southern Pacific 4 1-2s of 1968 and 1969 attractive as second-grade investments. Pressed Steel Car 5s adequately appraised. There's speculative buying of Illinois Central 4s of 1953. Due to contract with city officials New Rochelle Water 1st 5 1-2s being avoided. Central Illinois Public Service 4 1-2s of 1967 held as investment. Government bonds amply priced.

COMMODITIES: At current levels cotton not high in relation to other commodities. Purchases of wheat futures on periods of moderate reactions suggested by informed

CHOIR BOY CONFESSES KILLING CRIPPLED WIDOW

The mysterious slaying of Mrs. Agnes Roffeis (left), crippled widow, in her home at Chicago was solved when police announced Roland Munroe, 15, a choir boy, confessed he beat her to death with a hammer in a robbery that yielded $8. The youth is shown being questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Levine (left) and Police Captain Martin McCormick. traders. Egg trade continues to accumulate warehouse receipts for higher prices during fall and winter months. Speculative interests continue to accumulate butter contracts. Cottonseed oil demand heavy. Purchasers of corn futures confined only to periods of sharp reactions. Decrease in consumption of rubber for months of August and September not regarded as conducive to more than a technical adjustment of prices at this time. Sugar taken only on dips—speculative interest reported as topheavy.

REPORTS ARE THAT: Last six months' earnings of tire manufacturers will run above those of first six months. Speculative quarters say that liquidation of can-manufacturing shares completed—tape doesn't confirm. Machine tool shares in favor with portfolio buyers.

Private Link-Belt 1936 earnings estimate calls for about $2.25 a share. Pacific traders again interested in Byron-Jackson. Allied Chemical's had market action typical of all high-priced shares—thin markets on down side. Due to promising outlook holdings of Crown Cork and Seal being retained. J. C. Penney's business taking turn for better. Low-priced steel shares being given market support—SEC apparently preoccupied elsewhere—lots of shares show more than ordinary market sponsorship.

Soap trade looks for higher prices—so mentioned here several weeks ago. Jones and Laughlin preferred dividends to be resumed before close of year. Dome Mine's off-cial again to do something for benefit of shareholders. Diesel engine makers look for larger sales volume during 1937. White Motors will show close to $2 a share for 1936. Large investment trust switched 25,000 Pure Oil into Barnsdall Oil. And, that General Electric's third quarter earnings estimates run above those of second quarter.

Question About CARDUI PERIODICAL PAINS

"Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?" Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving, and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods. This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve many of the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others. Cardui is purely vegetable. Rapid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. # AYDEN WINNER COASTAL PLAIN LEAGUE TITLE

Aces Defeat Kinston, 4-0, to Win Post-Season Championship; Brownlee and Bost Stars of Game

Ayden, Sept. 7.—Ayden's Aces defeated the Kinston Eagles here Saturday to win their first Coastal Plain League championship.

The score was 4-0—the first shut out of the post-season finals. It was the seventh game of the series—Ayden had won 3 and lost one, while Kinston had won one and lost three. They tied two contests.

Harry Brownlee was one of the big reasons for Kinston's downfall Saturday. He fanned 10 Eagles, held them to six scattered hits and drove in the first run for his team mates. He did not issue a single walk.

Babe Bost, former Duke athlete, shared the spotlight with Brownlee, who hails from Petersburg. Bost hit for the circuit with one on in sixth, and batted in the Aces last tally by laying down a nifty bunt to "squeeze" Jim Tabor across with a run in the eighth.

A walk to Mason and Parrish's sacrifice set the stage for Brownlee's run-producing single in the fifth.

Kinston advanced only one man as far as first base. That happened in the eighth—Cheek singled. Red Keller and Longest went out and then Humphrey doubled. Stonebraker popped to Knowles to end the inning.

While racking up a fine hurling job, Brownlee also turned the trick of halting the hitting streak of Charlie Keller, Eagle star and the league's leading batter. Keller had hit safely in the last 23 hits, but Saturday he could do nothing with Brownlee's offerings—he fanned on his first two trips, grounded to third on the next, and then went out on a pop fly back of the shortstop position.

The box score:

Kinston	Ab.	R.	H.	O.	A.	E.

SPORT SLANTS

You don't hear very much about Bill Dickey, New York Yankee catcher—what with Lou Gehrig making threatening gestures toward Babe Ruth's record of 60 homers and having just about the best year of his long career, and Rookie Joe Di Maggio performing in sensational style. But, day after day, Dickey dons his cumbersome regalia and squats behind the plate to give the Yankee A-No.-1 catching.

And that's not all. Sweet William contributes his share towards making the Yankees the steam-roller of the American league. His batting average, in the neighborhood of .365, is all the more impressive when you note that Dickey has driven more than 100 runs across the plate for the Yankees. Most of them come when they count the most—in the pinches. His home run total of 21 in less than 100 games is not to be sneezed at, even though some of his teammates far outstrip him in this specialty.

Dickey came to the Yankees late in 1928 and took part in 10 games. The following season he took over the job of first-string catcher and worked in 130 games. Since then he has never failed to catch over 100 games each season. And with the 100-odd games he will add to the list this year the '36 season brings his string up to eight in a row in which he has worked in more than 100 contests.

Bill is 29 and should have several good years left in his system. His present pace, at least, gives no indication that he is slowing up. He stands an excellent chance of catching Ray Schalk's record of catching 100 or more games for 11 successive seasons.

As busy as he is piling up records this season, Lou Gehrig is not too busy to take time out and give an ambitious youngster some advice. When Chubby Dean of the Philadelphia Athletics, on the suggestion of Connie Mack, approached Gehrig in Shibe park the veteran slugger not only took time out to show the youngster a few tricks in the art of covering first base, but continued to coach Dean all through the opening contest of the double-header.

It was an odd sight to see Gehrig pointing out Dean's mistakes and offering suggestions as they changed positions at the end of each inning. The home crowd appreciated Gehrig's generosity and cheered him lustily.

The suggestion of Mack's was just another of the many compliments the veteran manager has paid the Yankees' durable first baseman from time to time. Old Connie has seen them all and he does not hesitate to single out Gehrig as the greatest first baseman in history. And there is plenty of foundation for Mack to base that belief on, too.

Joe Di Maggio has fairly well satisfied the most exacting fan that he is a real ball player. His consistent play showed him to be all the enthusiastic experts on the Pacific coast painted him. That he has been able to convince the skeptics has pleased the Little Bambino no end. Particularly has it been gratifying to him to be able to make Rogers Hornsby eat some words he uttered early in the season.

The Browns' manager said that, while he was willing to admit that Di Maggio was more than an ordinary rookie, he was not so sure but that he could be held at bay with intelligent pitching. Perhaps the Browns have not been able to furnish the particular type of pitching Hornsby had in mind, for they

WORLD LEAGUE DOOM SIGHTED

"This League is Dead—Long Live The Secretariat"

(By Staff Correspondent)

Geneva.—"The League is dead—Long live the Secretariat!" That is about as good a slogan as any for Geneva these days. The asking price for high-class apartments for October rentals—always a good barometer here for League prospects—has dropped considerably. A number of members of permanent delegations are using the summer to make business connections at home. "You can never tell what may happen," Switzerland's energetic Number One delegate Minister Dr. Stucki has gone in for party politics in his native country. He does not think the League will be a serious job in future. Applications for press cards for the forthcoming League session have dropped to a new low. But the Secretariat goes on.

The architectural monstrosity set in lovely Ariana Park scene symbolic of the world's setup. Outwardly the huge block of buildings is completed. But only the Secretariat building is furnished. Hordes of awestruck American tourists and reverent classes of school children from Swiss and French towns walk through the grounds on conducted tours—to look at the buildings from the outside. Most League delegates feel that they could accomplish fully as much by joining the sight-seers as by attending meetings.

But once inside the Secretariat building, literally a new world opens. A world so detached from reality, phantastically pompous and automaton-like, that a newcomer might get the creeps.

Unless you are accompanied by someone with four-times verified credentials your chances for crossing the threshold of the sacred precincts are practically nil. Even a holder of an official press card has to show his identification three times before he enters the outer lobby. And from then on it's guards, guards, guards.

In their ornate uniforms they are everywhere. "An usher for every secretary" seems to be the motto. On every floor, at every bend of a corridor sits a chief usher with at least two assistants. The visitor who happens to have business in the mimeograph department on the fifth floor and who has used the wrong staircase may find himself handed over successively to no less than fifteen of these guardians of the secretariat's privacy.

Of course you are out of luck if you should call before 11:00 a. m., or after 4:00 p. m. at least if you are visiting any of the 700 employees who are important enough to have their names in the League's private and jealously guarded telephone directory. And that is over half the entire personnel. And don't dare intrude upon anyone during the sacred lunch hours between 12 and 2. That ritual may be disturbed only during actual league sessions.

What the atmosphere in the Secretariat building is like can best be gauged by the experience of one American newspaperman who wanted to present his credentials. In order to make things easy and cut the red tape he was accompanied by a veteran League correspondent. That got him by the guards all right. First stop: Miss S. J. Atkins, secretary to the assistant secretary of the press section. Miss Atkins' office in room 394 has all the comfort, space and elegance of the habitat of a New York bank president. But the atmosphere was far below zero. The credentials were thoroughly examined for the possible forgery, every page of the passport was scrutinized with minutest attention. Then came a third degree which in subject matter and procedure smacked very much of the police line-up. This took about half an hour. Whereupon Miss Atkins disappeared, documents and all, into the adjoining room. Meanwhile on her desk the sign "In conference—Do not disturb" went up.

When she returned the applicant was taken to Miss Vera Ward, secretary of the Information Section, who delivered a stern lecture on the duties of a journalist. She also handed him a printed sheet of some 1,000 closely printed words governing the conduct of a well behaved newspaperman. Finally she announced in solemn tones that the newcomer would have to present himself eventually to the Director of the Information Section—as soon as they were convinced of his good behavior. But in the meantime he could see Mr. Radzick, the assistant director, in room 384—that would be after he had seen Mr. B. Gerig in room 363. Gerig is in charge of American writers and has to okay them before they are in good standing in the hierarchy of the League Secretariat bureaucracy.

COTTON PICKER: MAN OR MACHINE?

A cotton field drama, which may determine whether man surrenders the job of cotton picking to a machine, is being watched by farm experts following a demonstration given by the Rust brothers' mechanical picker at Stoneville, Miss. The contrast between negro hand pickers and the machine is exemplified in the picture at the top. Below, Mack Rust shows (left) how the device plucks the cotton from the stalks. At right, the cotton (arrow), stripped from the bolls, is seen pouring from the machine into a large cloth container. (Associated Press Photos)

Back to Miss Atkins to recover these precious credentials! With a final admonition from the stern lady—and don't you dare to have any mail addressed to you care of the press room before the official identification is issued to you at the next meeting of the Assembly! the newcomer fled to the sanctity of that very press room.

There, incidentally, from a construction viewpoint is disclosed the most ingenious part of the whole block of buildings. Robert Dell of the Manchester Guardian and president of the League Correspondent's Association conceived the idea of having the press headquarters located at the juncture of the three main buildings, Secretariat, Assembly and Council buildings. Any delegate or official—but not the public—who wants to get from one part of the building to the other, or get to his car, will have to pass through one section of the press lobby—or through the press bar. And the private phone booth for the press are within fifteen feet of his path. This arrangement makes it easier to snare reluctant subjects for interviews—and ought to increase consumption at Carlo's famous bar.

Naturally the personnel of the League Secretariat is divided into innumerable cliques. If you belong to one you may not speak to or have any social contacts with any other. Natives from one country stick to their countrymen. Despite strict rules and regulations, British newspaper men can walk into any office occupied by a male or female British League employe and get information. But let a Swiss or Frenchman try the same stunt.

Even the stenographers are divided not according to departments but according to nationalities with even the lowliest $18-a-week girl having her name on an ornate bronze plate outside her door. Miss N. Turner, chief and chaperone of the English stenographers, took this writer and a party of colleagues to inspect their new quarters. Everything from soundproof ceilings and walls to luxurious carpets was magnificent. Even tea kettles and dainty napkins for afternoon tea had been thoughtfully provided. Every conceivable modern device and comfort had been utilized in making this stenographers' office comfortable. But when the inspection party came to a room with French names, Miss Turner sternly announced, "No admittance." Which did not keep the newspaper men out. And what they saw inside was as much a part of gay Paris in furnishings and the spirit of welcome as well, a page from La Vie Parisienne.

Our American youngsters in Geneva for summer school catch on surprisingly quickly to this spirit of League Secretariat is divided into innumerable cliques. If you belong to one you may not speak to or men's School and the Haddon School—all of them honor students, presidents of their respective student councils at home or presidents of their college model Leagues of Nations—admitted that they were sick and tired of the whole League business and of being polite to their naive-enthusiastic European teachers. They swore that they'd go home complete isolationists.

And the other half of the American students? On their beseech robes at Geneva Plage last Saturday they wore the hammer and sickle emblem. Every one of the other half.

INDIAN'S ESTATE GAINS $135,000 IN TWO YEARS

Muskogee, Okla.—(AP)—The estate of the late Jackson Barnett one of Oklahoma's wealthiest Indians, has increased $135,000 in the past two years, Indian officials here disclosed.

Barnett died in Los Angeles in 1924. Hundreds of persons from all parts of the United States have entered claims to part of the estate which federal court authorities say is now valued at about $2,000,000. They said that the court record in administration of the estate would amount to approximately $15,000.

How About The Men? Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—Women are going to pay more attention to their stockings this fall and winter, says Miss Edna Gray, home economics specialist at the University of Illinois, because the new style skirts will be shorter.

10,125 PEOPLE GET LICENSES

Large Number Drivers Get Permits in Month August

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 7.—A total of 10,125 new drivers' licenses were issued during the month of August, bringing the total number of licenses issued to date to 719,525, according to the figures for the month of August made public today by Ronald Hocutt, assistant director of the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue.

In addition, the division revoked 178 licenses, a majority of them for drunken driving and refused to license 178 drivers who made applications, the figures show. Most of those whose licenses were refused were either unable to pass the examination given all drivers who now apply for licenses, or because they were regarded as being incompetent to drive an automobile, Hocutt said.

The total number of drivers whose licenses have been revoked up to September 1 is 5,194, including the 178 revoked during August.

The licenses of 189 drivers were suspended during August, a larger number than usual. The division is now suspending the licenses of all drivers who appeal to higher courts when convicted of offenses in lower courts for which the revocation of licenses is mandatory, such as drunken driving, reckless driving, and so forth, Hocutt said. In the past a good many drivers have tried to delay the revocation of their licenses by appealing convictions to the higher courts and thus continue to drive their cars. But for several months now the safety division has been thwarting these efforts by suspending the licenses of all drivers who take appeals to higher courts pending the hearing of the appeal. The department also has authority to suspend licenses for many other offenses.

The division also issued 1,390 chauffeurs' licenses during August, bringing the total number of chauffeurs' licenses issued so far, at $2 each, to 8,539.

Ehringhaus And Waynick No Amateurs In Politics

Decision to Spend Highway Surplus Said Be Wise

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 7.—Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission have not only played good politics by their decision to spend $2,800,000 more of the highway fund surplus and thereby wipe out the so-called "surplus" which has been a bone of contention among politicians for the past two years, but have done the 1937 general assembly a big favor by finally and effectively removing this surplus from the next legislative picture, according to the prevailing sentiment here today.

They have likewise done a real service to the people of the state in that they are going to spend this money for building roads, the purpose for which it was collected and intended, before the biennial assembly of politicians designated as the general assembly, will have a chance to divert it to other uses, it is agreed.

The action of the Governor and Advisory Budget Commission in approving the expenditure of this last lump of $2,800,000 from the highway fund surplus is regarded as a death blow to the hopes of the 79 counties which have filed claims for more than $61,000,000 which they want refunded by the highway commission for the building of county roads taken over by the state, most observers agree.

The surplus of $13,500,000 which existed when the 1935 general assembly convened was what gave some of these counties the idea that with all of this extra money in the highway fund, the time had come for them to try to get some of it with which to pay off county road indebtedness. Accordingly, a bill was introduced to refund some $8,500,000 to 44 counties. But the committees on roads refused to report this bill out. Instead, they brought the bill out to authorize the appointment of a county road debt refunding commission to study these claims and report back to the 1937 general assembly. Most of the better informed observers at that time regarded as nothing more than the throwing of a sop to these 44 counties, so they would not feel they were turned down cold, and as a means to stall off the matter for another two years in the likelihood that by 1937 no surplus would be left.

This is exactly what is happening, since this last allotment of $2,800,000 brings the amount expended from the surplus for additional road work to $9,000,000 since the 1935 general assembly met, while an additional sum of $2,000,000 will have been diverted to the general fund by the end of this fiscal year. This will make a total of $11,000,000 that has been expended or taken from the $13,500,000 surplus which existed in 1935, leaving only about $2,500,000 as the probable credit balance in the highway fund by the end of this year, regarded as the minimum balance needed for the efficient operation of the highway department. So when the 1937 general assembly meets here in January, there will be nothing left in the highway surplus for it to fight over or to refund to the counties, regardless of what the county road debt commission may recommend, it is agreed. For as Huckleberry Finn told Tom Sawyer, when he asked for the care of the apple he was eating, "There ain't gonna be no core."

The fact that there isn't going to be any highway surplus left for the next general assembly to haggle over should result in a greatly shortened session, many observers believe, for the reason that it will forestall the introduction of many bills aimed at the expenditure or diversion of the surplus. A good many also think it will result in the sudden death of any more bills designed to reduce either motor-vehicle or gasoline taxes, since with no surplus to fall back on, the advocates of more and better highway maintenance can insist that no further reduction in highway fund revenues can be made without greatly curtailing present road maintenance, already regarded by many as inadequate.

During the 1935 general assembly more than a score of bills were introduced aimed at the highway surplus. Rep. Tam C. Bowie of Ashe county offered a bill which would have distributed this surplus back to the counties to be spent for any purposes they might desire. Other bills would have given the cities and towns a part of it. If all of the bills had been passed, the total would have amounted to about $48,000,000 instead of $13,500,000. But the chances for similar grab bills in the 1937 session have now faded.

Pitt Farm Bureau To Hold Meetings All Over County

Sessions To Be Held in Each of 13 Township With First in Series Being Held Today

J. E. Winslow, president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, and also head of the Pitt County Federation, today announced meetings would be held in each of the 13 townships in the county, the first set for today.

The announcement said that officials of the state organization would be present and report on the activities of the Federation to date. The county agent's office also will be represented to outline a definite farm program for Pitt county.

Notifications are being sent out by County Agent R. R. Bennett advising the farmers of the meeting and advising them to attend the sessions.

Farm Bureau officials said it was "extremely important that every Bureau member attend one of the meetings," and also urged the members to bring their neighbors, whether a member or not, as the meeting will be of interest to every farmer in the county.

A schedule of the meetings follows:

- Bethel, community building, Monday, Sept. 7, 8 p. m.
- Winterville, town hall, Monday, Sept. 7, 8 p. m.

- Greenville, court house, Thursday, Sept. 10, 8 p. m.
- Beaver Dam, Bell Arthur high school, Friday, Sept. 10, 8 p. m.

Leaders Return To School at Greensboro

Greensboro, Sept. 7.—Forty-eight student officers and campus leaders at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina are returning to the college Wednesday Sept. 9 for a four-day conference on student activities and plans for the coming academic year with Dr. W. C. Jackson, dean of administration; Miss Harriet W. Elliott, dean of women, counselors in the residence department, and other administrative officers.

This group which has hitherto met at Camp Yonahlossee, Blowing Rock, or Camp Silver Pines, Roaring Gap, for several days before the opening of college will this year hold meetings in Woman's Hall, a recently redecorated residence hall on the campus. The first faculty meeting of the fall semester will be a dinner meeting in South dining hall, Monday evening, Sept. 14, and freshman week will begin the following morning at 9 o'clock.

3,000 STUDENTS ENROLLED AT UNIVERSITY SESSIONS

Chapel Hill, Sept. 7.—Approximately 3,000 students were enrolled in the Summer Sessions of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Raleigh and Greensboro, representing a 26 per cent increase over last year. Dr. Edgar W. Knight, director of the Consolidated Summer School, announced today.

Every county in the State, two-thirds of the states and several foreign countries were represented, according to Dr. Knight's report.

There were 1655 enrolled for the two terms at Chapel Hill; 702, including 100 for a three-weeks course at State College at Raleigh, and 576 at the Woman's College in Greensboro. Raleigh and Greensboro had only one term.

More than 600 courses were offered by a faculty at the three institutions numbering 190 and including 35 visiting professors.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — Some months ago when Central Casting bureau staged a style parade to cut down its "dress extra" list and retain only the most eligible candidates, few recognized one smartly dressed blonde who stepped across the stage with the others and won, by Judges' verdict, the right to a place on the list.

One reason so few identified her was that Jean Acker, in the days when she was a screen and stage star, had been a brunette. But mainly it was because the first Mrs. Rudolph Valentino had been in retirement, living on her income, for several years.

The other day Jean Acker got the first "break" she has had in her comeback career. A Greta Garbo set was crowded with extras, ready for a big ballet scene in "Camille." Leader of the ballet was Adrienne Matzenauer, daughter of the operatic prima donna — and then the word spread that Adrienne was ill. Director George Cukor, with delay threatening a cost of thousands of dollars, looked around the set and his eyes fell on a box peopled by dress extras. One of them was Jean Acker.

Jean had been a dancer once, had danced with Valentino. Within an hour or so she had been rushed to

Nurses Vanish

Abduction charges were lodged against Dale Ainsworth, 22, of Herkimer, N. Y., and Fred Ott, 24, of Buffalo, N. Y., following the mysterious disappearance of two pretty nurses, Leila Ginette (top) and Lorena Hilla (below), from a hospital at Montpelier, Vermont. (Associated Press Photos)

"wardrobe," had done a hasty rehearsal, and they were shooting the scene.

"Mr. Cukor was grand to me," she says, "and my gang—they were wonderful, applauding after I'd finished."

"My gang referred to the other extras. Miss Acker is proud to be 'starting again at the bottle.'"

One she drew $3,500 a week on the stage, after leaving films, and her salary in pictures was substantial. She retired with some $300,000—and then came 1929.

"I had enough left to live very conservatively, for awhile," she says, "and then I had to go to work. I didn't want to intrude on my friends, or bother them, I had some nice clothes, so I turned to extra work. I hoped that if I were around, I would be seen. That's better than waiting for 'something big' to happen."

"And I'm happy. I have a little house, a garden, a little car—and work. I'd like to get back into bigger parts—I think I could be a cross between a Joan Blondell and a Genevieve Tobin, playing sophisticated but not 'hard' characters."

She can talk about her own misfortunes brightly, but she does not like to talk about Valentino. They say she is the only woman who still goes regularly to visit his tomb in the Hollywood cemetery, but she does not speak of that either, except to say that she is "Irish and sentimental."

Once she refused an offer of $25,000 for a story on the late "great looper." She could use the money now, she says, but there still has been no authorized Valentino story with her byline.

The steamship company that had to cart Carl Vinciguerra, Omaha light-heavyweight Olympic boxer, back from Berlin, must have lost money. Carl had promised Marchmont Schwartz, the Creighton University grid coach, that he would report back to school weighing 190—a gain of 45 pounds.

SMART DINNER DRESSES FEATURES LONG SLEEVES

Paris (AP) — The news comes from Vichy that long sleeved dinner dresses are being worn by the smartest women there. Many of these styles take inspiration from the Middle Ages.

One dress in heavy black cloque had long loose sleeves and no trimming except a gold metal girdle. A frock of heavy white crepe was made with long tight sleeves, and an old fashioned bodice buttoning down the front above a shirred full skirt.

Another white crepe dress had large puff sleeves shirred on to the shoulders, and the chic contrast of orange velvet in a front-tied sash falling to the hem.

Licensed Operators Will Get Radio Jobs

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Sept. 7.—Applications for jobs as radio operators are already pouring in upon Captain Charles D. Farmer of the State Highway Patrol since it was announced that the radio system for the patrol had been approved.

No applications will be considered, however, unless they are from first class licensed radio telephone operators or from first or second class licensed radio operators. Capt. Farmer said today, due to the fact that the Federal Communications Commission has already established regulations for operators in stations of this nature.

Applicants who do not already hold licenses from the Federal Communications Commission in one of these three classifications are hence wasting their time applying for any of these jobs, Capt. Farmer said.
