Weapons Aimed At Broken Rocks Of Toledo's Alcazar

REBELS CONTINUE TO RETURN FIRE

Fascists Still Man Machine Guns To Make Victory Far From Complete

(By Associated Press)
Spain's government high command pumped a deadly stream of cannon fire into the broken rocks of Toledo's Alcazar today, where, the attackers said, the explosion of two tremendous mines yesterday killed 1,200 of 1,700 fascists, their women and children.

But, from the blood-smeared ruins remnants of the besieged still manned machine guns to make the government victory far from complete.

Somewhere in the Alcazar's many cellars were scores of women and children—only 20 of these were rescued yesterday. It has been estimated there were 1,400 fascist soldiers and cadets and 300 women and children in the fortress when the siege began two months ago.

In Madrid the socialist communists Republican government had new troubles with its critical supporters, the Syndicalists.

The administration rejected flatly a demand to reorganize the government into regional committees and declared:

"Those pushing such a demand should be regarded as traitors.

On the battle front west of Toledo, from which the surviving prisoners of the Alcazar might conceivably receive last minute rescue, government fliers claimed to have "severely punished" fascist columns while ground forces skirmished indecisively.

The modernization program calls for a new, oil heating system, concrete walkways around the building, new floors in the station, new waterworks throughout, painting of the walls and both inside and outside of the building, repairing the roof and new furniture.

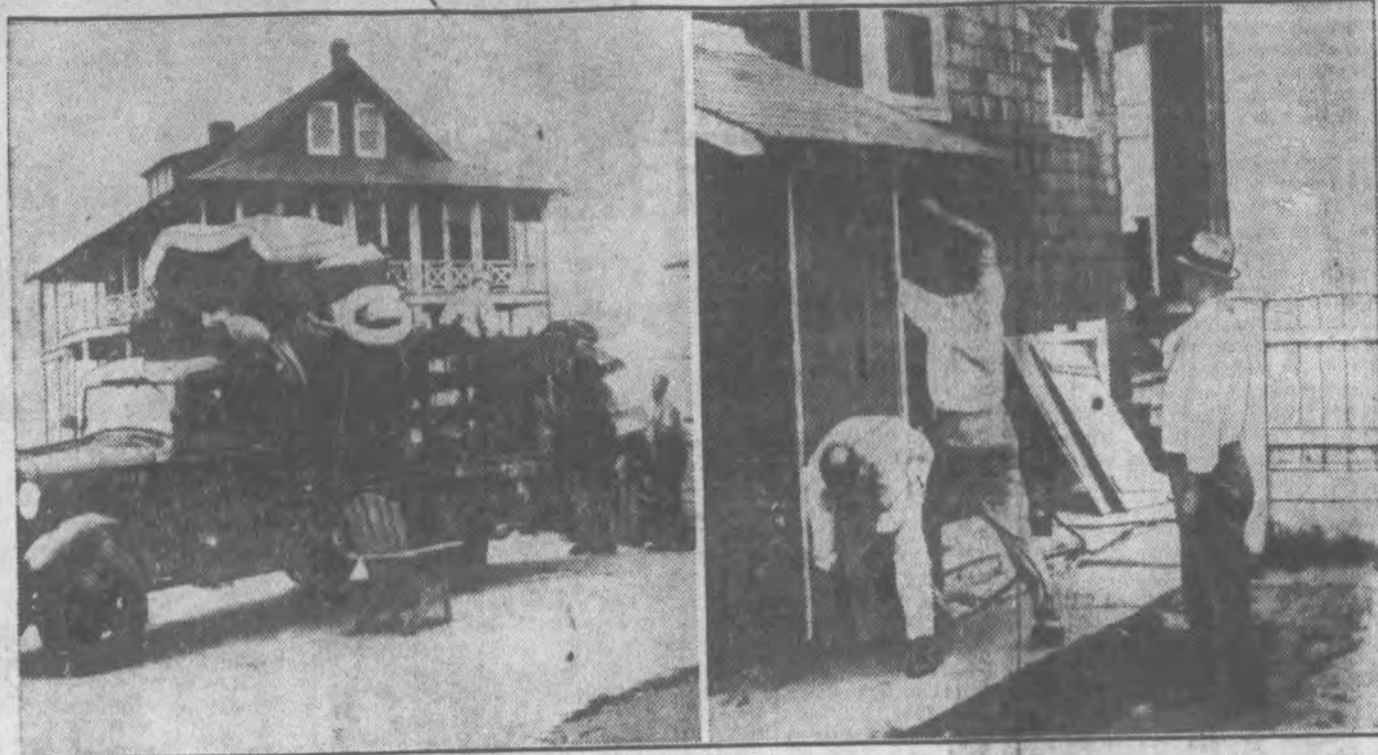

The entire work will cost several hundred dollars and provide Greenville with a modern, up-to-date station.

RESIDENTS FLEE, HOMES BOARDED UP IN PATH OF HURRICANE

JAPS CONTROL CHINA CENTER

Assume Complete Control of Important Terminal

Peiping, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Japanese military authorities won complete control today of Fenai, dominating point for all rail lines in north China, and Chinese troops evacuated their own barracks.

The victory resulted from a Japanese protest over the reported attack by Chinese soldiers on a Japanese officer and orderly.

Frank Smothers, Far East correspondent for an American newspaper and his wife were handled roughly by Japanese officers during an attempt to report the surrender of the Chinese troops.

The terms on which the settlement of the incident was based included complete evacuation of the area by the 29th Chinese army and an apology to the Japanese military authorities. The evacuation was started and the apology was made.

Before the settlement, Chinese and Japanese troops lined up in military positions facing each other. The Japanese surrounded the troop barracks while the Chinese mounted machine guns on the buildings' roof in preparation for a possible attack.

Superior officers of the two former agreed to the terms of the surrender, however, and a clash was averted.

North Carolina Suffers Heavy Property Damage

Restored Communications to Isolated Coastal Islands Bring Reports of Damage, But No Loss of Life

Elizabeth City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Restored communication systems brought reports today of no known loss of life, but extensive damage to property in the 300-mile strip of North Carolina coast raked by the West Indian hurricane.

Three negro WPA workers near Coinjock were accounted for, but more than 50 of their companions, for whom fears had also been expressed until they were found, expressed doubt the missing trio had been drowned.

The 50 odd negroes were aboard two barges which broke loose from their moorings and for some hours yesterday it was feared the entire crew had met disaster. The barges were located, however, in the inland waterway a short distance away.

A negro previously reported drowned was found injured.

Fear had been felt for a few small fishing settlements on outlying islands, but reassuring reports today indicated they suffered no great hardships.

More than 1,200 transients and CCC workers on the coastal islands were evacuated to the mainland or given ample shelter before the full fury of the storm struck.

Along the mainland crops suffered heavily and some trees were blown down, but there was little other damage.

LARGE, SMALL POWERS SPLIT

Divided Over Admitting Ethiopia To League Session

Geneva, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Large and small countries in the league of nations threatened to split today over the question of admitting Ethiopian delegates to a league assembly session Monday.

The league council, which met in preliminary discussion yesterday, tentatively approved a proposal to welcome Italian diplomats, but to shut the door in the face of Emperor Haile Selassie's representatives.

The council's actions, dominated by the larger powers, was defended on the ground European security is in greater consequence than the position of Ethiopia inside the circle of nations.

But, representatives of the smaller powers apparently preparing to inject when the assembly convenes next week, refused to see in Ethiopia's fate an example of what might happen to them.

The council was summoned to meet again this afternoon to discuss submitted proposals to reform or amend the league covenant in an effort to bolster international security.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

RETORT—Joseph P. Kennedy's book "I'm for Roosevelt" has provoked more discussion than any other volume published in a campaign already notable for generating an unprecedented flow of political literature.

The ex-chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission strives to convince fellow-millionaires that they should bless the New Deal before declarations of dividends. He cites the financial pages as evidence that the wealthy have profited from Rooseveltian policies even more generously than the "forgotten man."

Mr. Kennedy qualifies as an expert, for he has picked up approximately $200,000 from odd corporate jobs since quitting his old job. His pickings were leaner three years ago.

G. O. P. publicists, however, have twisted his argument into a gain for their side. They agree with the red-headed Bostonian that the well-to-do (the so-called "haves") are eating and drinking and yachting more regularly than they were three years ago. But, they ask, what then becomes of the New Deal contention that "economic royalists" have been routed by a champion whose presidential heart beats for the poor?

PAYING: Mr. Kennedy's failure to rally the rich to Mr. Roosevelt may be understandable after a close study of New Deal changes in the tax structure. Besides forecasting a slow redistribution of wealth, it hints that coupon cutters will some day pay heavily on present profits.

In 1930, on a national income of approximately $90,000,000,000, the Mellon-Hoover-Coolidge tax schedules produced a federal revenue of $2,411,000,000. But in 1937, on a national income of only $60,000,000,000 (Daniel Roper's own forecast) it is estimated the Roosevelt-Morgenthau rates will net a federal income tax totaling $2,330,000,000. In other figures, although the national income has sagged by 25 per cent, Uncle Sam will drag down only about 4 per cent less

WHITE HOUSE IN STATEMENT

Attacks Impression Left By 'Notorious' Newspaper

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—In a sharply worded statement, the White House today said it has learned of a "planned attempt" by a certain notorious newspaper owner to give the impression that President Roosevelt "passively accepts the support of alien organizations, hostile to the American form of government."

The statement issued by Stephen T. Early, a presidential secretary directly denied that this was so. The newspaper owner was not named.

The President had been back in the White House less than two hours after returning from the Harvard University tercentenary celebration to the bedside of Mrs. Roosevelt who is recovering from an attack of grippe when Early summoned newspapermen and issued the statement.

The text follows: "My attention has been called to a planned attempt led by a certain notorious newspaper owner to make it appear that the President passively accepts the support of alien organizations hostile to the American form of government.

"Such articles are conceived in malice and born of political spite. They are deliberately framed to give a false impression—in other words to 'frame' the American people.

"The president does not want and does not welcome the vote or support of any individual or group taking orders from alien sources.

"This simple fact is, of course, obvious."

"The American people will not permit their attention to be diverted from real issues to false issues which no patriotic, honorable, decent citizen would purposely inject into American affairs.

Spain Selection To Revenue Post Indicates Little

Appointment of Assistant Revenue Commissioner to Succeed Dr. Noble Satisfies Curious

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Appointment of W. J. Spain, head of the accounting in the revenue office to succeed Dr. Noble as acting assistant commissioner of revenue, always temporarily the curiosity about the capital, but indicates nothing as to the permanent occupant of the revenue office.

Neither does it give any intimation as to what the assistant is to do under the new regime. It is generally believed that the long term, whoever he, or she, shall be will be only the assistant and that the place will revert to its original status. While it is talked about Raleigh that Private Secretary Charles G. Powell could have had the appointment from his chief, Governor Ehringhaus, it is known that his excellency was not intending to give the second place in the revenue office either the professional or the financial importance that it had under Dr. Noble.

Had Dr. Ralph W. McDonald been nominated and elected governor it is quite probable that he would have recommended restoration of the revenue office "to the people." Many McDonald men desired to see the office made elective. They theorized thus: The revenue commissioner is under the domination of the governor, and the governor is controlled by big business. They desired to make the tax collections as democratic as possible, as responsive to popular will as they could be. Popular election of the commissioner demanded it, they said. Besides, they argued, the short ballot must be lengthened and governors with the "short ballot complex" must be shorn of their power.

For the next three months Mr. Spain, who is a very popular man in his office, will conduct a very friendly department and when the new governor comes in the people in the revenue forces will see what they see whether it is what they have been looking for or not. The late campaign was fought out over revenues, largely. The new administration will name its revenue and their functions, it seems.

EXPECT MOORE CASE SHORTLY

Asheville Murder Case May Be Decided On First

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—In the first filings of the supreme court opinions set Wednesday of next week, the Martin Moore case from Buncombe is expected to be settled as to the two motions made two weeks ago.

The defense has moved for a certiorari which would permit the case to be docketed, and the state has moved to dismiss because the case was not brought up according to the requirements of the court. The contention of the state is that the prisoner under sentence of death for killing Miss Helen Clevenger, did not perfect his appeal, that the act of the superior court judge in giving Moore's attorneys 45 days instead of 15 in which to get the appeal in order, was not permitted under the statute.

That it is done a great deal is admitted, but seldom has a case of this character been brought here. After Moore arrived in Raleigh he voluntarily confessed his guilt, according to Parole Commissioner Ed Gill. Here again the state runs into difficulty. A prisoner convicted of a capital felony is supposed to have court protection to the end. It is contended by the defense that it was an invasion of the prisoner's right to an appeal when an officer got his state prison confession.

The high court now has this dirt on its hands: A prisoner has been convicted. His attorney contends that the state isn't giving him his legal 45 days in which to perfect his appeal. It is further contended that some rights have been violated in his prison confinement while his appeal waits on the courts. If the courts should find that there is no merit in his effort to docket the appeal it would be reviewed as to the actual trial and conviction.

If the court dismisses the appeal the prisoner automatically gets ready for the gas chamber. If the certiorari motion prevails the arguments will be heard this fall.

BUILDS OWN TOMBSTONE TO KEEP HIMSELF BUSY

Ireton, Iowa.—(AP)—John Van Wyhe has just finished his own grave monument, a project which has kept him busy since he retired from active farming.

"And," he added, "if I thought I'd be using it in the next few years I'd dig my own grave."

SEVEN KNOWN TO HAVE DIED

Despite Violence Of One of Worst Hurricanes in History Death Toll Originally Estimated at 46 Revised Downward to Seven; Heavy Property Damage

(Copyright by Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—One of the worst hurricanes in history swung out to sea northeast of New York today—with all vessels warned to get out of its way.

Despite its violence, over 1,000 miles of Atlantic coastline, only seven persons were known to be killed. A death toll estimated at 46 was drastically revised shortly after dawn when 34 men feared lost from the S. S. Long Island in Delaware Bay were found alive on a coal barge two miles off shore. Four men of the Long Island's crew were still missing.

One person was killed in Maryland, three died in New Jersey and three were killed in Pennsylvania.

Disrupted communications prevented an accurate estimate of property damage, although preliminary reports indicated millions lost.

As the great storm, with accompanying winds of velocities high as 100 miles an hour, crested northward, Connecticut apparently escaped damage. The winds and rains which swept that state throughout, the night abated with daylight.

Elsewhere in New England the coast was hit by heavy rains and gales, but damage was reported small.

New York was deluged by heavy rains throughout the night, but the dawn broke with clear skies.

Volunteer workers, works progress administration employees and staffs of the American Red Cross set about the gigantic task of rehabilitating stricken areas.

Communication lines to southern areas isolated by the blow were being restored and roadways that were washed out by high tides and torrential rains or blocked with debris were reopened.

Officially Graded Tobacco Bringing Price Assortment

Average Prices Firm and Sales Heavy During Week at Goldsboro and Farmville Markets

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Tobacco sold on the Goldsboro and Farmville markets officially graded by the government was higher week in some grades and lower in others, compared with the week before, the Market News Service said today.

The average prices were firm, the News Service said. Sales were heavy, the markets being blocked the first part of the week.

Fourth and fifth quality leaf and second and third quality hogs predominated. Smoking leaf and cutters, the report said, were offered in fair volume.

One lot of second quality orange wrappers sold for $75 and several lots of second quality hogs and orange cutters sold for $50.

In orange leaf grade B2F was $36.00, compared with $36.10 last week; B3F advanced to $30.50 from $29.50 the previous week; B4F averaged $20.50, compared with $20.50; and B6F $5.50, compared with $6.10.

Nearly all grades of orange smoking leaf averaged slightly better. H2F averaged $38, compared to $36.70, but H2F dropped from $45.00 to $36.50. Orange cutters showed little change. C3F was $38.50 compared to $39 the week before; C4F gained 30 cents to $37.20 and C5F dropped 20 cents to $34.10.

Governor Ehringhaus Paroles Six Convicts

Raleigh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—John Locus, Wilson county negro serving 7 to 10 years for manslaughter and four other prisoners received paroles today from Gov. Ehringhaus.

The parole order said Locus was convicted in December, 1935, had been especially commended by prison officials for his attitude toward prison rules and work.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony has returned to the conviction of his best friend, Billy Ross, under whose name a motor car accident, Ross is a member of a kidnapping and dope gang, the case starts to end up like Little this very night at the Casino Ball, Ambrose Lawson, respected friend of the Little in head of the gang according to Ross disguised in Ross' costume, Mahony is at the ball to help Elia of her con.

Chapter Five STICK-UP It was evident that there was going to be action shortly. He made his way to entrance number three. A short distance from the entrance two black-clad monks were lounging. "Blast!" said Mahony briefly. He realized that he was in the wrong costume. He hurried to the men's cloak-room, changed his costume about, and returned as quickly as he could to entrance number three.

As the door opened, Mahony caught sight of Elia and the Charles the Second coming towards the exit. When she was nearing the exit, the monk in brown stepped forward. The black monks drew closer together, as if preparing for action.

THE masked figures joined hands, forming a circle, and began to dance wildly round Elia and the Charles the Second. It all looked perfectly natural and harmless, merely a rag by a small party of people occupying a small space on the big floor. Elia stood in the middle of the circle, laughing; the sight of those solemn figures capering round her amused her.

He plunged into the middle of the circle, picked up Elia's light figure easily in his arms, and began to carry her towards one of the exits. "Let's take her to the monastery, brothers," shouted the brown monk suddenly.

Shouting and singing, the party surged along a passage, crossed the vestibule, and went out by the main doorway of the hall into the street outside. A short distance away a big car was waiting with its engine running, and they made for it. The brown monk thrust Elia into the car; the other monks scrambled in after them. Mahony entered the car with them. Nobody tried to stop him. Under his robe, his hand was clenched on the butt of his pistol; he was ready for anything that might happen. Nothing happened except that the car started.

By this time the gale had reached its highest pitch; everyone was noisy and excited. A thousand people were enjoying themselves irresponsibly and a little drunkenly, not caring what anybody thought of them or how much row they kicked up.

gent and trained leaders. Despite almost twenty years of repression, the Germans will be regarded by our experts as Europe's finest fighters. Next come the British and then the French. The Poles rank high when it comes to fighters, but they don't hold up well on foreign soil. Similarly the Japanese are classed as fairly low once far away from home base. The net is that Hitler's army could probably smash any in Europe today, France, Russia, Italy if other nations stayed out of the show.

SPRING: Our diplomatic people don't expect the Herr Hitler's Nuremberg diatribes and defiance will produce immediate war. They regard his nose-thumpings at Moscow as nothing more than "feelers" to see how the various nations react.

Der Fuehrer doesn't know whether an attack on Moscow would bring France to the rescue. So, according to our experts, he is feinting at the Soviet with one eye on Paris. To a tea degree he is testing British sentiment, which has been notably cool toward the bolshevik regime in recent months. Lastly, he is feeling out the Balkan nations, which are supposed to be arranging a defensive-and-offensive alliance to be tied to which ever major power offers the richest bargain.

The local church feels particularly fortunate in having procured the services of Miss Fields, who comes to this work highly recommended and exceptionally well equipped after her recent study at Assembly's Training School where she has been working for the degree of Bachelor of Religious Education.

She is an honor graduate of Park College, Parkville, Missouri, and has had varied experience in working with young people. For the past two summers she has served as a director of Vacation Church Schools in Missouri and Virginia. Previous to that her experiences carried her into work with Italian and Mexican missions. In addition, Miss Fields has also had musical training and experience in junior choir work. While a student at Assembly's Training School, Richmond, she served as teacher of the Ginter Park Community Bible Class. Offices held while at Training School included vice-president of the junior class and president of the senior class.

4-H Visits. Fountain, Falkland, Belvoir, and Farmville schools have been visited this week. Schedules are being arranged to fit in with school programs and a complete 4-H club schedule will soon be announced. The first regular meetings for the new school year will be held in October. Joint clubs of boys and girls are being organized.

H. D. Council. The Home Demonstration Council met Wednesday in the Greenville Woman's Club building. Council representatives were present from the following clubs: Ballards, Falkland, Farmville No. 1, Farmville No. 2, Red Banks, Red Oak, Simpson Stokes, Winterville and St. John's. This was an open meeting to all men and women interested in electricity. Several items of business were transacted. Achievement Day will be November 10 this year. Dr. Jane S. McKimmon has been invited as our guest speaker. All club members are urged to express their desire for minor programs for 1937. Home Beautification was elected as the major. An amateur program will be given this fall.

Electrification Program. As guests of the Council, we had Miss Pauline Gordon, Home Management and House Furnishing Specialist and D. E. Jones, Assistant Rural Electrification Specialist, on Wednesday. These specialists gave us much information and help in the electrification program. Those who have electricity and those who do not have it were helped in many ways. Both installation and equipment were discussed from the standpoint of getting the most from your money and making electricity a real investment. Do you know how to get the highest degree of efficiency from your electrical equipment? Do you know how to install them for safety and economy? Surveys are to be continued as quickly as possible. Your help is solicited. Forty-three and three-tenths miles have been surveyed but this is too little to be taken to Washington unless we show greater mileage and greater desire for electricity. Let us know quickly if you have another community to be surveyed. It is important to act quickly. Counties showing greatest number of miles surveyed naturally will be served first.

4-H Council Organized. At a county-wide 4-H meeting in the Campus building Wednesday night a joint 4-H council was organized. The officers of the council are Lucille Tugwell, president; Noah Warren Carroll, vice-president; Albert French Tison, secretary and treasurer; Virginia Woolard, chairman of program committee; Elizabeth Whitehead, song leader; and Hal Thomas Erwin, reporter. Following the organization of the council, a series of games were enjoyed.

Your attention is again called to the Pitt County Agricultural Fair. Plan your exhibits as early as possible.

Club Schedule for Next Week. Winterville, H. D. Club—Tuesday at 3 p. m., with Mrs. J. D. McArthur. Falkland H. D. Club—Tuesday at 3 p. m., place to be announced. Ballards H. D. Club—Wednesday at 3 p. m. in community building. Chocoh H. D. Club—Thursday at 3 p. m. in school annex.

Washington Choir To Hold Reunion Sunday

Washington, N. C., Sept. 19.—Members of the choir of St. Peter's Episcopal church are planning to hold a reunion Sunday, in celebration of Edmund H. Harding's 25 years of service as organist, and to honor Norman Gordon Jr., a son of the Parish, who is the only North Carolinian ever to make the Metropolitan Opera.

The reunion is to be held in connection with the anniversary program at the church when the anniversary of the late Rev. Nathaniel Harding's rectorship and the eighteenth anniversary of the present rector, the Rev. Stephen Gardner, will be celebrated.

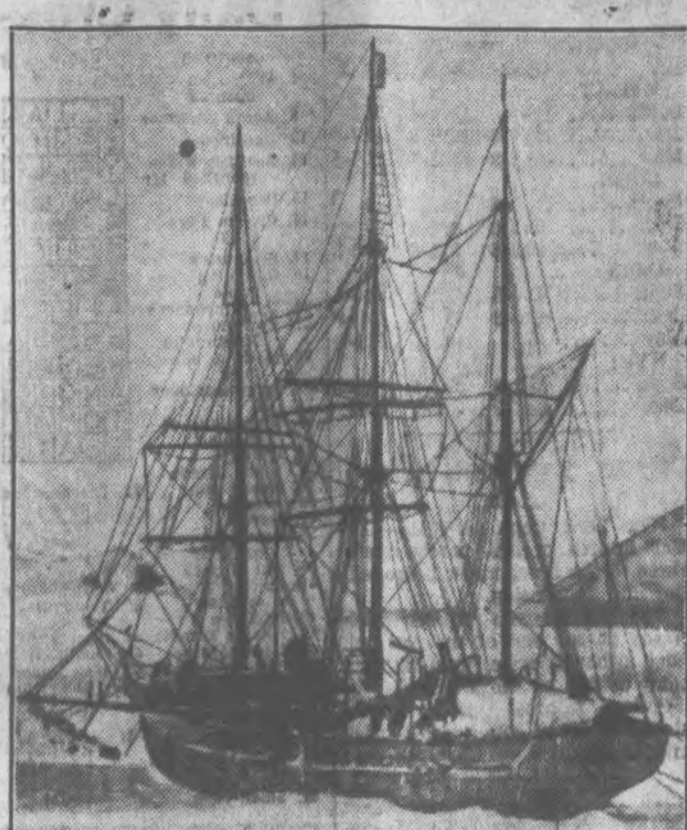

March first of this year marked the organist's twenty-fifth anniversary and at this time he was presented a handsome silver sash by Parish communicants. Many of those who have sung in the choir under the present organist will return for the event. Eugene Bonner of New York City, a composer of note and an outstanding musician, has written a Communion service for the event and he will play the organ. The Communion service will be held in the Chapel at 8 a. m. with both the Senior choir and the Chapel choir taking part.

Mr. Gordon will sing at both the 11 o'clock service and at the evening service and Mr. Bonner will be at the organ. Among those expected in the choir for Sunday are: Mrs. Angus Cox, Asheville; Mrs. Howard Gunn, Rocky Mount; Mark E. Swingley, Tampa, Fla.; Carter Darrow, Tarboro; and it is hoped that many other of the old choir will be present.

WFC TRUSTEES ARE RELIEVED

Not Forced to Decide On Question Of Dances

Reflector Bureau, 519 Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Those three dances, probationary foot-shedding provided for last spring, will not take place on the Wake Forest college campus this school year, one hears in moving about Raleigh.

Many influential men and women in the Baptist denomination wished to fight the thing out, but it wasn't necessary. The trustees who voted to have in the school year three supervised dances, believe still that the experiment is better than a continuation of the present method which is without the virtue of supervision of regulation of any kind.

After a hot campaign of several months in which the opposition to dances on the Wake Forest campus made a much more powerful demonstration, numerically speaking than the protagonists were able to do, residents and officials at Wake Forest are inclined to drop the matter. Some of the strongest antagonists of campus dances are not opposed at all to dancing. Most of the opposition comes from quarters against dancing anywhere any time if the boys and girls participate.

But it might be said that the sentimental reasons for refusing constant to dancing to Wake Forest dominate. Wake Forest always has been regarded the training ground for preachers. It is hard for the preachers to accept campus dances. Still, the religious world moves. It has been just a bare 10 years since the Baptist state convention thanked corporately Hank Garrity Wake Forest Coach, who had led Wake Forest to four successive defeats over University of North Carolina. Three of these triumphs carried state championship over Duke, State and Davidson. It is conceivable that if dances should bring as much popularity to Wake Forest as the football and baseball teams have done there would be relenting, even congratulations, from among some of the bitter-enders of today. The dances appear to be temporarily off.

Does Buchman Approve Fascism? To many this would make it seem that Buchman believes Fascism better than Communism and thinks that a God-controlled dictatorship is better than another type of government. Since Hitler, however, is not generally conceded to be a God-controlled, or even to acknowledge any power beyond himself, it is difficult to think that Dr. Buchman is expressing anything more than a wish that God did control governments. From this point of view Dr. Buchman would seem to be approving would be God and not any human being. Without further information, therefore, it would not seem that Dr. Buchman was really approving Fascism as a way out except where God was the dictator and controlled the person or persons in authority.

From the theological standpoint Dr. Buchman's utterances might be considered in many ways, but to the lay mind if Dr. Buchman were approving Hitlerism it would have been far simpler for him to say so outright. According to the quotations given from him, he is limiting his approval of the Fascist form of government to one in which God controls the individual in charge. The very fact that he does not concede "anti-Semitism" would seem to indicate that he does not approve of Hitler Fascism for the reason that anti-Semitism is a very strong plank in the Hitler program.

There are other remarks of Dr. Buchman quoted in this interview which might be interpreted in various ways but which would, on the whole, seem best to indicate that Dr. Buchman is thinking of an ideal where God would be in control. For instance he is quoted as saying: "The world needs the dictatorship of the living Spirit of God. I like to put it this way—God is a perpetual broadcasting station and all you need to do is to tune in. What we need is a super-national network of live wires across the world to every last man, in every last place, in every last situation."

Oxford Group Movement Could Not Approve Fascism If Judged By Its "Four Absolutes"—Dr. Buchman's Stand For Dictatorships Confusing

Much discussion has centered around an interview with Dr. Frank Buchman, leader of the Oxford Group in which Dr. Buchman is quoted as saying: "I thank Heaven as many other ministers seem to also, conservatives and liberals alike, that "the world won't listen to God, but God has a plan for every person, for every nation. Human ingenuity is not enough."

Many liberals, however, will not doubt take issue with him in his views as expressed that "Human problems are not economic. They are moral.... Liberals, no doubt would agree that they are moral but they would say also that they are economic too. In this connection, Dr. Buchman is quoted as saying that "they" (human problems) could be solved within a God-controlled democracy.... This would make him seem to approve of a democratic form of government God-controlled.

But it is the other quotations that are causing the controversy and these include part of the foregoing sentence and read: "...or perhaps I should say a theocracy and they (human problems) would be solved through a God-controlled Fascist dictatorship." Then, in a God-controlled nation" continues Dr. Buchman, "capital and labor would discuss their problems peacefully and reach God-controlled solutions. Yes business would be owned by individuals, not by the state, but the owners would be God-controlled."

God-Controlled Governments. Properly analyzed, therefore, it would seem that Dr. Frank Nathan Daniel Buchman, the 59-year-old leader of the revivalist Oxford group, with its "quiet time" and confessional, experience, house-party meetings, would look for the ultimate solution for the present day world and national problems only in types and forms of government which were God-controlled.

The Oxford Group movement has been criticized in conservative quarters because of the "house party" confessional methods used, and in liberal quarters because of its tendency towards conservatism theologically. Few seem to question the spiritual power behind the movement nor the sincerity of its leaders and most of its followers. Many other than members of the Oxford Group have even accustomed themselves to checking their thoughts and actions against the Oxfordites "four absolutes"—for absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness absolute love." Checked by these "absolutes" it would not seem that Fascism could be approved by the Oxford Group. A "God-controlled" type of government would seem to be something else again.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS Hollywood—Helen Flint was at it again, home-wrecking for the camera. She was, at it with subtlety and a vengeance, her intended victim Humphrey Bogart and the picture "The Black Legion." She was, of course, trying to steal Bogart from him wife.

This, as every movie fan knows is pretty thankless work. Unless the actress is a star, the husband-stealer is inevitably foiled in the end. And even a star, since the code went in, has to have some good reason for loretel pursuits or she can't play that way.

But Helen goes about it as an acting job, and doesn't ask thanks. In person, she doesn't look like the bad girl she has played in nearly 30 Broadway plays, nor the girl who caused so much trouble in the film "Ah, Wilderness!" and did the scheming heavy villainy in "Little Lord Fauntleroy." She is a trim little person with a soft voice and merry eyes. She hates profanity and likes novels with a religious flavor.

She, like everybody else, doesn't know why she came to be cast in tough roles, but as a fellow actor put it, it may be because "a good actress can play what she isn't better than a bad actress can play what she is."

Helen's own technique for a "bad girl" is simple. "I never think of a role as a person but simply as a collection of traits. The differences in women externally are slight. They are mostly in details that reflect either good or bad taste. Bad girls do not carry signs announcing their badness. They show it in small things—the hair a bit too frizzy, make-up a bit overdone, manner, a bit too haughty, a bit too much consciousness of the body."

"I never wear exaggerated costumes. My method is to wear simple things and then play against them. The contrast between manner and dress marks the character."

There are more men than women stars, but in the chorus ranks this call sheet for "Gold Diggers of 1937" speaks for itself: "104 girls, four boys."

The very latest in convincing ocean backgrounds—on a sound stage—is achieved by stretching hundreds of thin wires behind a gauze backdrop, and tapping the wires with tinfoil at intervals.

UNC TO START OLD VETERANS

Eight Letter-Men Expected To Be in Opening Lineup

Chapel Hill, N. C., Sept. 19.—Supporters of the University of North Carolina should get some idea as to what kind of a football team the Tar Heels, ranked eighth best in the country by the Associated Press last season, will have this fall when Carolina engages Wake Forest in Charlotte Saturday week, September 26.

The third week of drills closed today and it appeared that the starters for the game with the Baptists will be composed of Dick Buck and Andy Bershaw, ends; John Trimpey and Henry Bartos, tackle; Van Webb and Steve Maronic, guards; Pete Avery, center; Crowell Little, quarter; Bob Stewart and Tony Cernugie, halfbacks and Jim Hutchins, fullback.

Buck, Bershaw, Trimpey, Bartos, Webb, Avery, Little and Hutchins are all lettermen. Maronic and Cernugie are sophomores, while Stewart is a senior reserve. Likewise Buck, Trimpey, Webb and Hutchins are playing their last collegiate season.

Following the opening game at Charlotte, where the Queen City's new American Legion stadium will be formally dedicated, the Tar Heels return here where they will play host to the strong Tennessee eleven on October 3 in their most important early season engagement. A week later, a reportedly much improved Maryland outfit will be met here, and then Carolina takes on two outstanding intercollegiate clubs, New York University at New York City October 17 and Tulane at New Orleans October 24.

The Tar Heels forward wall will average 195 pounds, while the backs will tip the scales around 180. Trimpey who is the heaviest member of this eleven, weighs 215, while Little, the lightest, is a 160 pounder.

Coach Ray Wolf thinks he has a pretty fair first club but he is shy on reserves. He has experimented frequently with three complete teams and has run them all on the No. 1 club at one time or other. Undoubtedly many of these will get a chance to show their wares against the Demon Deacons.

Horace Palmer and Fran Gordon look to be capable and alternates; Ed Juliber and Elmer Wrenn are the outstanding tackle reserves; Ed Palmer, and Charlie McIver have shown promise as guard prospects; Buck McCarr, recently converted center, and Bob Adams, a soph, should prove also understudies to Avery.

Tom Burnette, junior reserve, and Dick Dashiell, letterman, have alternated frequently with the first string club at quarter. George Watson, sophomore; Gene Bricklesmeyer, and Wallie Durham, reserve, and Wallace Winborne, a sophomore, have done quite a bit of duty at the halves, while Art Ditt is the leading fullback aspirant to assist Hutchins.

Others who may break into the lineup are Carl Peiffer, and; Ben Maffitt and John McCord, tackles; Lawrence Copenhaver and Jim Woodson, guards; George Yoder, center; Randy Cooner, quarterback; Bill Coughenhour, halfback and Jack Kraynick, fullback.

Coach Wolf is using the double wingback as well as the single wingback and punt formations that Coach Carl Snavelly, now at Cornell, used here last season.

The Tar Heels may present this season an aerial circus reminiscent of those produced at Texas Christian where Coach Wolf formerly coached. In practice sessions he has had the Carolina boys throwing all kinds of passes, with plenty of laterals.

This colorful, wide-open style of play doubtless will be given a serious test in the opening game with Wake Forest.

Bowling Is Offered As New Recreation

A new form of recreation was opened to Greenville citizens, both men and women, last night when the Automatic Recreation bowling alley began operation at its stand at Eighth street and Dickinson avenue.

R. T. Stringfellow is manager of the place and has asked that any person seeing any misconduct of any kind going on make a complaint to him.

A statement by the manager asked anyone who learns of anything going on at the place not conductive to the best of the recreation or to the community, report it at once and the complaint would be given prompt attention.

Colgate Tickets Are Going Fast
Durham, N. C., Sept. 19.—While the advance sale of tickets for the Duke-Colgate clash in Duke stadium on September 26 has assured athletic officials that the largest early season crowd in the history of southern football will be on hand for the contest, the game is NOT a sell-out, as has been rumored. Most of the west side seats have been sold but there are still many good seats remaining on the east side of the field.

SWEDEN'S FARMERS

By ELMER W. PETERSON
(Third in a Series)

Stockholm, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Part of the credit for Sweden's efficient recovery from the depression is given here to the "own homes" movement and its plan of creating small homesteads and farmsteads owned by the occupant.

This movement has been Sweden's great gesture towards eliminating the problem of farm tenancy. As far back as 1904 the Swedish government decided that:

1. More land should be brought into cultivation in the interests of national economy.
2. Everything possible should be done to divide the land into parcels of suitable size.

3. An increased number of independent small farms, providing the farmer and his family with a means of subsistence, was desirable.
4. There was a clear social demand that the population of the country should be the owners of the land they till.

The result has been the "own homes" movement for which 80,000 loans have so far been granted and in which the state is interested up to the amount of 320,000,000 kronor (about $80,000,000). Relative to the size of Sweden, this amount is considered unusually large.

The loans are granted for the acquisition or creation of properties intended for agriculture or as dwelling accommodation. In both cases it is required that the property be in the country or beyond the limits of planned town areas. Applicants must be of limited means and must be good workmen with a knowledge of farming.

Value of an "own home" property must not exceed 15,000 kronor (about $4,000) in the case of an agricultural holding which is undeveloped at the time of granting the loan. Loans also are granted for the acquisition of share-cropper holdings and other forms of leasehold.

"Crown" Lands Used.
The amount of the loan is at least one-half, in the case of an agricultural property, and up to five-sixths the value placed by intermediary agents on the property. Dwelling loans have a maximum of three-fourths the estimated value of property. Various supplementary loans are available and private loans are facilitated by the government.

Colonization programs on "crown land" and the allotment garden movement also have aided in developing the spirit of agriculture and remedying the tenancy problem.

The allotment garden movement provides for small plots on the outskirts of the large cities in which workmen, in addition to gaining respite from their labors in the city, can raise their own produce. Standardized buildings have been developed; administration is carefully organized; and government experts in town planning supervise the project as a whole.

State Offers Loans.
The result has been the "own homes" movement for which 80,000 loans have so far been granted and in which the state is interested up to the amount of 320,000,000 kronor (about $80,000,000). Relative to the size of Sweden, this amount is considered unusually large.

The loans are granted for the acquisition or creation of properties intended for agriculture or as dwelling accommodation. In both cases it is required that the property be in the country or beyond the limits of planned town areas. Applicants must be of limited means and must be good workmen with a knowledge of farming.

Value of an "own home" property must not exceed 15,000 kronor (about $4,000) in the case of an agricultural holding which is undeveloped at the time of granting the loan. Loans also are granted for the acquisition of share-cropper holdings and other forms of leasehold.

"Crown" Lands Used.
The amount of the loan is at least one-half, in the case of an agricultural property, and up to five-sixths the value placed by intermediary agents on the property. Dwelling loans have a maximum of three-fourths the estimated value of property. Various supplementary loans are available and private loans are facilitated by the government.

By ELMER W. PETERSON
(Third in a Series)

Stockholm, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Part of the credit for Sweden's efficient recovery from the depression is given here to the "own homes" movement and its plan of creating small homesteads and farmsteads owned by the occupant.

This movement has been Sweden's great gesture towards eliminating the problem of farm tenancy. As far back as 1904 the Swedish government decided that:

1. More land should be brought into cultivation in the interests of national economy.
2. Everything possible should be done to divide the land into parcels of suitable size.

3. An increased number of independent small farms, providing the farmer and his family with a means of subsistence, was desirable.
4. There was a clear social demand that the population of the country should be the owners of the land they till.

The result has been the "own homes" movement for which 80,000 loans have so far been granted and in which the state is interested up to the amount of 320,000,000 kronor (about $80,000,000). Relative to the size of Sweden, this amount is considered unusually large.

McDonald Backers Declare They Not Getting Welcomed

Numerous Followers of Defeated Gubernatorial Candidate Complain of Attitude Shown

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Sept. 19.—Democratic State headquarters do not welcome very warmly McDonald men, numerous members of that group tell your bureau, and they hear complaints about it.

When a week ago President Roosevelt visited Charlotte, McDonald men say that only one member of their forces, former Sheriff Geo. B. McLeod, was invited to participate in an official way. Sheriff McLeod was an assistant chief marshal. He remarked in Charlotte that day on the scarcity of McDonald men in this rally.

Since that time State Manager Willie Lee Lumpkin has tendered as he previously had done, his services to the state organization. Mr. Lumpkin has been put on the national speakers' list. He is in the Roosevelt fight up to his eyes, but his neighbors say the state organization is making little use of him and they think it is bad politics to ignore him as his associates.

Mr. Lumpkin has not complained, nor has Dr. McDonald, who has turned schoolboy again and is now at the University of North Carolina studying law. There is a story on its way that the doctor will be in the field much of the fall, that he will be campaigning for Chairman Jim Farley in at least three states. But his friends wish to see him working with the state organization here.

Mixes Baseball-Handball.

Denver.—(AP)—Jess Short, pitcher for the Valdez, Colo., team, played handball with a bunt in a recent baseball tournament here—and it worked. The batter dumped a bunt near the first base line. Short scooped up the ball on the run, but couldn't hang on to it. Before the ball hit the ground, however, Short batted it with the back of his bare hand to the first baseman in time for a putout.

A Lot of Tackle.
University, Ala.—(AP)—Bill Young 'Bama right tackle, is hard to fit. He finds a No. 46 jersey too snug. Bill is the biggest man on the Alabama squad, weighing 218 pounds. He has small feet, however, calling for a No. 10 shoe, while two of the tackles demand No. 12.

Victim of 'Flogging' Out for Legislature

Willie Sue Blagden (above), 29, social worker of Memphis who claims she was flogged by a band of men while investigating reports that negro sharecropper had been lynched at Earle, Ark., has opened her campaign for election to the Tennessee legislature on the Socialist ticket. John(tons Are Always With Us Durham, N. C., Sept. 19.—Last year when Duke and Davidson played, the scribes tore their hair because it seemed that everything that was done was done by a Johnston or a Johnson. Saturday night it will be hair-tearing time again for no less than four John(tons will see action in this year's clash between the Wildcats and the Blue Devils at Greensboro. Davidson has Captain Dick Johnson, guard, Jim Johnston, guard, and Bill Johnston, tackle, while Duke has Johnny Johnson, a backfield man.
