REBEL TROOPS MOVE AGAINST TOLEDO GATES

One Report Declares Insurgents Have Entered City

FALL OF MADRID SAID IMMINENT

Wife of President Manuel Azana Said to Have Been Taken to Place of Safety

(By The Associated Press) Insurgent Spanish troops smashed at the gates of shell-ridden Toledo today as the wife of President Manuel Azana of Spain was reported taken under the protection of the Argentine embassy.

Insurgent commanders said rescue of their besieged comrades in Toledo's famous Alcazar, raked by gunfire and dynamite, was only a matter of hours.

President Azana was reported authoritatively to have asked for political asylum if it should prove necessary, aboard an Argentine war ship. His wife and other members of families of leftist cabinet members, it was reported in Buenos Aires, were to be taken aboard the Argentine boat.

Rebel sources predicted the imminent downfall of Madrid as insurgents expressed fear that government troops in Toledo were throwing poison food to the men, women and children who have been beleaguered in the Alcazar for weeks.

Rebels dispatched 10 airplanes to rain bombs on chaotic Bilbao, Bay of Biscay town, as anarchists sought to kill insurgent sympathizers held as hostages.

The Madrid government dispatched fresh troops to the town of Bargas, north of Toledo to aid the fighters attempting to stem the fascist advance.

To the west, it was reported the government jet-bombs a second flood from Alberche river dams engulfing the insurgents' rear guard in millions of gallons of water.

The situation in the Spanish capital was so confused that it was doubtful who was in control of the city.

New York Mayor in Favor Of Long-Range Planning

UNITED STATES ACTS SWIFTLY

Seeks To Prevent Sharp Drop in Pound Sterling

Washington, Sept. 26. — (AP)—The United States moved swiftly today to carry out its pledges under a three-power monetary agreement throwing $5,000,000 of its stabilization funds into the exchange market to halt what Secretary Morgenthau described Russian efforts to drive down the pound sterling.

Washington, Sept. 26. — (AP)—Calling reporters to a special press conference, Morgenthau said the Russian state bank had offered to sell one million pounds of sterling "at any price" which had the effect of depressing the pound.

In an agreement reached last night by France, Great Britain and the United States the three nations provided for devaluation of the franc as an important step toward stability of the world's currencies.

At his press conference today Morgenthau said the Russian state bank had given its orders to sell after the agreement among the United States, Great Britain and France had been reached.

He added that this move had been successful in driving down the price of the pound from $5.02 to $4.91.

At a second press conference a few minutes after the first, Morgenthau said he would go "to the limit" to maintain the stability of the French, British and American currencies.

Asked what the limit was, Morgenthau replied, "two billion dollars"—the amount of the stabilization fund.

Morgenthau did not say exactly what price he bought the pounds, but asserted that they "were bought at a price that gives the United States government a handsome profit."

JUST FRIENDLY GAME — TWO FILIPINOS DEAD

Manila, P. I. (AP)—The Igorots of the Philippines play rough. In fact they get so rough at times that their play takes a toll of life and many cracked skulls.

Recently, two Bontoc tribes decided to adjourn to a dry river bed and indulge in a friend game—the throwing of good sized rocks at each other. While the game was at its height members of both tribes became unruly. Before the constabulary men in the mountains got control of the situation two of the tribesmen were dead.

Expresses Views After Conference with President

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Long range planning of works projects and more cooperation from the "very people complaining against relief" were advocated today by Mayor La Guardia of New York City after a conference on urban relief with President Roosevelt.

LaGuardia, president of the national conference of mayors, said he discussed plans for the conference of city heads at Washington November 14, the needs of cities for the next fiscal year and policies in "a casual way."

He said he was "going to vote for the President," describing the recent pro-Roosevelt Chicago conference of progressives which he attended, as a "nice unanimous party" and replied the "temptation was irresistible" when asked if he planned any speeches for the new deal ticket.

Asked if he expected to be named permanent Secretary of War, he had been offered the post and did not expect it.

"We feel," the mayor said of his summer white house party, "that long range planning as to projects are more economical. If cities could know in advance what can be done they could plan better."

He said public works administration projects were "now taking shape" in New York, but that he expected a "housing shortage" there in the next two years.

"We are anxious to get going on these future plans of the federal housing program," he said.

"We discussed the necessity of federal aid. Housing is the best kind of public improvement."

Numerous Drivers Refused Licenses For Another Year

Total of 46 Drivers Lose Licenses Second Year For Driving While Permit Was Revoked

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—Numerous drivers whose licenses have been revoked for a second year because of being convicted for driving while their driving permits were revoked, were brought to 46 today with the revocation for an additional year of the license of Thomas E. Wright of Thomasville, according to Ronald Hecout, assistant director of the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue.

The records of the division show that Wright was convicted of drunken driving in Winston-Salem on April 14, 1936 and fined $100 and costs, with the result that his driving license was automatically revoked for one year by the highway safety division, prohibiting him from driving an automobile until after April 14, 1937.

ORGANIZATION IS PERFECTED

Democratic Headquarters Pleased at Progress Made

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—The Democratic party's precinct-by-precinct organization this fall will be the most complete in the history of North Carolina politics—if plans of State Chairman J. Wallace Winborne are carried through.

"So far we have made more progress toward a complete organization than we have ever made this early in the campaign," said the Chairman. "There are three reasons for this. First there is North Carolina's great admiration for President Roosevelt and its determination to give him a record majority. Second, progressive men and women throughout the State realize that with Roosevelt and Hoey heading the federal and state governments, and with prosperity returning, we may expect four years of unprecedented advance along lines of education, social legislation and material advance. And, finally, we are receiving the closest cooperation from the county chairmen and other party leaders."

"Know your precinct" is the text the Chairman has preached on at each of the District meetings, at which he conferred with local officers of the party. He has urged that the precinct chairmen take a house-to-house poll of the precinct to discover the potential Democratic strength, check the Democratic names against the poll books to see that everybody is registered, and make plans to get out the entire vote on election day.

Mrs. J. B. Spilman, the State Vice-Chairman, has called upon all the Democratic women workers of the State to join in the organization work. "Women are just as capable as men, perhaps more so, in doing this sort of work," she said. "The plan of organization calls for at least one woman on every precinct committee."

If the precinct chairman call on these women to help with their canvasses and with checking the registration books, they will get the organization work done sooner than ever before, I believe women are noted for their thoroughness and, as most men already know, the

Business Interests Backing Farmers

Backed by Business Men, Pitt County Farm Bureau to be Able to Offer Solid Front in Fight for Legislation to Control Tobacco

Backed by the business men of this section, Pitt county farmers will be able to put up a solid front when they ask the State legislature and Federal government to help them in some way to get tobacco control. They urged them to join in the present plan — through the Farm Bureau — or suggest some other means. The business interests were asked to compare their books now with 1932 and see what the AAA had done for them.

The business men of the county, at a meeting at the court house last night, pledged themselves to underwrite a number of memberships and suggested that Bureau officials name a committee composed entirely of farmers to call on other business interests of the county and ask them to join the farmers in their efforts to secure legislation for the control of tobacco.

With Pitt county the largest tobacco producing county in the country, it was the general consensus that this was the place for the movement to start. Bureau officials are anxious to have the business men of the city aid them in lining up farmers in the county under the banner of the organization so they can go out in other counties and work.

The State headquarters of the Farm Bureau is located here and officials of the organization including J. E. Winslow, Roy T. Cox, W. H. Dail, E. F. Arnold and others, have spent most of their time in this county. They declare that when they are able to tell farmers in other counties that Pitt is solidly behind the movement, they will make much more progress in those sections. They said it even had been reported erroneously that this county was not solid for the movement.

Representatives of the farmers asked the business men to help them in some way to get tobacco control. They urged them to join in the present plan — through the Farm Bureau — or suggest some other means. The business interests were asked to compare their books now with 1932 and see what the AAA had done for them.

Fears were expressed that without some program times would return to what they were before Roosevelt took office. The meeting last night, called by a committee of business men, was for the distinct purpose of getting the business interests of the county lined up behind the farmers.

With only a small per cent of the business establishments represented, some 600 memberships in the farm organization were taken, the business men agreeing to take the memberships and distribute them among farmers and others interested in the movement.

The committee of farmers, to be named later by Farm Bureau officials, will call on all business houses in the county and ask them to aid them in their fight to keep the production of tobacco down where they can receive a parity price for the product.

There are 6,394 farmers in Pitt county. The farm bureau is seeking to secure an equal number of memberships and at the beginning of last night's meeting lacked about 2,000 of having reached this number. With 600 subscribed last night, only

Japanese Reinforcements Are Dispatched to China

Eight Destroyers Due to Arrive in Shanghai Sunday

(Copyright by Associated Press) Shanghai, Sept. 26.—(AP) Japanese authorities disclosed tonight that Japanese naval reinforcements are en route to China aboard eight destroyers.

The destroyers are due in Shanghai Sunday.

Besides the men attached to the ship they have 200 additional Japanese marines to be added to the Japanese defense forces in Shanghai.

Sharp dissatisfaction with foreign and Chinese authorities for alleged failure to protect Japanese lives was expressed by Japanese consular authorities.

"We have informed Shanghai international settlement authorities and Chinese officials of greater Shanghai that we demand greater efforts to provide Japanese residents with a place of greater safety in which to live," a high official of the Japanese consulate declared.

"We hope these administrations comply with our desires, which any reasonable person would consider reasonable.

In the event they do not we will be forced to reply with our own efforts."

The Japanese maintained their demands for satisfaction, following the fatal shooting of one Japanese marine and the wounding of two others Wednesday night, an incident which resulted in occupation of the Hongkew and Chapel districts.

FARMERS PAID $3,006,058.58

Nearly 14,000,000 Pounds of Tobacco Sold Here So Far

Farmers from some 35 Eastern North Carolina counties who have sold tobacco on the Greenville market this season have been paid more than $3,000,000, yesterday's money paid out having brought the figures to $3,006,058.58.

The money paid to farmers was for 13,993,426 pounds of the golden weed and provided a general average for this year of $21.48.

Yesterday 1,114,913 pounds of tobacco was sold, making one of the largest sales days this year. The offerings brought a total of $23,700.63, for an official daily average of $20.51.

Raleigh, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The tobacco market news service reported today tobacco officially graded by the government generally sold lower on the Goldsboro and Farmville markets this week, while at Oxford all opening weak grades reported sold higher than last year's average.

At Oxford one grade, the news service said, averaged $11.50 higher this week than the same grade averaged last season and several grades were up as much as $10. Average prices this week, compared with averages for the 1935 crop were: Leaf 25 per cent higher, smoking leaf 42 per cent higher, cutters 18 per cent, lugs 40 per cent and priming lugs 47 per cent.

Sales on the Goldsboro and Farmville markets, the report said, were fairly heavy and the offerings were third to fifth quality leaf and first to fifth quality lugs principally.

Prices for leaf and cutters on the two markets, the report said, were only slightly lower than last week, while smoking leaf lugs and priming lugs ranged from 5 to 7 per cent lower.

In orange leaf grade B1F remained at a $41 average; B3F was down $1 to $29 and B6F was $5.50, compared to $6 last week. In orange smoking leaf grade H1F was up $2 to $40, compared with $39 last week, but B2F was down to $30 from $32 last week, and H2F was $7, compared to $7.25 last week.

One grade of orange cutters was up two, two were down and one remained unchanged.

LANDON TALKS ARE ANSWERED

Secretaries Wallace and Hull Reply to G.O.P. Candidate

Washington, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Speeches of Gov. Alfred M. Landon on the Republican agricultural plans today had drawn sharply worded replies from members of the Roosevelt cabinet — Secretaries Wallace and Hull.

The farmers' choice this year is between promises and action," declared Sec. Wallace last night in a broadcast for the Democratic national committee.

He said Landon "promises many things for the farmers," but "his sentences are so phrased to mean little in terms of action."

Containing that "98 out of 100 big bankers" and "big corporation executives are for Landon," Wallace asserted:

"The munition makers, oil men, power magnates, big packers and grain gamblers are the men who always have attacked farm programs and who are now fighting Roosevelt."

Landon, Wallace said, would "do away with the soil conservation act as soon as the 1936 obligations have been carried out and, of course, there would be no production control."

Secretary of State Hull, replying to Landon's denunciation of the reciprocal trade agreement, which Hull has been negotiating, declared that the Kansas Governor's speech on the agreement was "confused, inaccurate and incoherent."

All Pitt Farmers Will Be Welcomed Williamston Meet

Martin County Agent Brandon Urges Attendance Farmers Day Program There September 30

T. B. Brandon, Martin county farm agent, has invited all Pitt County farmers to attend the Farmers Day Program which will be held at the grand stand of the Fair Grounds at Williamston September 30 from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Speakers for the day will include J. E. Winslow, President, and E. F. Arnold, Secretary of the State Farm Bureau here, Mayor John L. Hassell of Williamston, John W. Goodman, Assistant Director of Extension, and Congressman Lindsay C. Warren.

The purpose of the meeting is to present to the farmers, the present tobacco situation, other agricultural problems, and how to solve them. H. S. Everett, president of the Martin county Farm Bureau has said the farm unit there is looking for several thousand farmers, and that the rally has promise of meeting with success.

Present indications point to the most extensive array of farm and other exhibits seen at a fair in this section in a number of years, and the management assures the farmers and other patrons a pleasant visit to the annual "event" of next year.

The rally is being recognized as one of the outstanding events ever planned to advance the interest of the farmers.

FRANCE MOVES TO CUT VALUE OF HER MONEY

Extraordinary Meeting of Parliament Called Monday

MONEY CENTERS AT A STANDSTILL

French Government Proposes Plan Similar to that Adopted by U. S. in 1933.

(By Associated Press) Leading world foreign exchange centers were at a standstill today as the French government prepared to summon an extraordinary session of parliament Monday to cut the value of her currency by approximately one-quarter to one-third.

Security prices in the New York stock exchange—the major world market open—tended upward, however, as Wall Street experts held the French move as constructive and London bankers looked for revival of world trade.

The decision to devalue the franc appeared virtually to have ended the European gold bloc. But the Netherlands authorities indicated that they would continue to maintain the parity of their currency.

In Switzerland, third member of the gold bloc, however, parliament was summoned to convene at the same time the French chamber meets to bring the Swiss franc in line with the devalued French franc.

The French government proposed a plan of devaluation similar to that adopted by the United States three years ago involving a change of all gold in the country "at its present value and establishment of a stabilization fund."

In Washington and London the American and British treasuries are arranged in advance to cooperate with France to restore world equilibrium. Secretary Morgenthau said that the government would "do its best" to assist "restorable" world foundations for the stability of international economic relations.

Scout Executives Praised For Work By High Official

W. A. Dobson, Regional Executive, Confers With Greenville Leaders on Scout Activities

W. A. Dobson, Regional Executive for the two Carolinas, Georgia and Florida, met with the Greenville District committee at a special meeting yesterday in Dr. O. R. Combs' study, at the Methodist church. This was Mr. Dobson's first official visit to Greenville in the capacity of Regional Executive.

After a brief business meeting Mr. Dobson was introduced to the group by Dr. Combs, Chairman of the District. Mr. Dobson was jubilant over the splendid expression of cooperation in the East Carolina Council between the communities of such similar size and business competition. He praised the volunteer leadership in all its phases for doing a real service for the boy. Mr. Dobson showed a national as well as a local need for more trained volunteer leaders so that more boys may have the opportunity to become Scouts and Cubs. "Great progress has been made in Greenville, in the past two years in this direction, as is evidenced by the interest of the leaders I have met with and the records that have come to my office, in Atlanta," said Mr. Dobson.

The East Carolina Council had one of the most successful summer camping programs in many years and was well represented by Greenville Scouts. Work is to begin soon on the cabin for Greenville District Scouts. The delay has been in waiting for telephone poles, that are being given by the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Co., for the construction of the cabin.

Negro Boy Held Here For Shooting Youth

Jesse Braxton, 14-year-old negro youth, is being held in jail here pending the outcome of injuries Joseph White, another negro youth, suffered yesterday when several negro boys were shooting birds with a rifle.

The injured boy is said to be in a critical condition at the local hospital. He is said to have been shot accidentally as the boys, all of school age, were shooting at birds. Braxton was turned over to County Welfare officials, who placed him in jail pending the outcome of White's injuries.

 LAUGH: Floyd Carlisle has already presented his bill to the Roosevelt administration for lining up most of the public utilities behind the Third World Power Conference. It was the head of the Niagara-Hudson corporation who persuaded his sulky colleagues to pony up $25,000 for the expenses of the conference.
 Within a few days after the delegates departed from Washington
 Mr. Carlisle's firm petitioned the Federal Power Commission for the right to divert more water from Niagara Falls for its own use. The request could not have come at a more embarrassing moment for Mr.
 Roosevelt. Besides seeking to make peace with the utilities on the TVA matter, he is also preparing to present legislation of a new St. Lawrence power pact with Canada. The Commission's petition interferes with both schemes.
 Fortunately for Mr. Roosevelt, he will not have to cross swords with the friendly Mr. Carlisle in the open. The New York Power Authority (which the President dominates through his good friend, Chairman Frank P. Walsh) has already interposed an objection to the Niagara-Hudson petition. Utilitarians who deplored Mr. Carlisle's support of the World Power Conference will have the laugh on him if he doesn't cash in on it. And he probably won't.
TONGUE: National Chairman
 Farley confides to friends that life in New York is almost unbearable to a New Deal champion like himself. Metropolitan residents delight in tantalizing him.
 They taunt him on the sidewalk, in restaurants, in buses, in the theaters. Men and women (but mostly women) belittle President Roosevelt and his policies whenever "Jim" appears upon the scene.
 Though ostensibly sneering, FDR stretches their voices so that Mr. Farley can hear him. His easily cartoon-able and recognizable countenance makes him more of a target than any national chairman in recent years.
 Mr. Farley has developed an elephantine technique. "Hear nothing, say nothing and always look straight ahead" is his recipe. But it is a hard regimen for such a glad hander and friend of man as "Jim."
WARNING: President William Green of the American Federation of Labor is looking for a new union to join. Unless he finds one soon, he may be ineligible for reelection at next November's national convention of organized labor.
 Mr. Green has rated union membership for years as a minor, although it's two decades since he dug coal. But when John Lewis' mining unions were suspended from the Federation on Mr. Green's urging, the latter automatically lost his standing as a horny handed son of toil. In labor circles it is humorously whispered that Mr. Green is having trouble in finding a union that won't eventually line up with the suspended Lewisites.
 For a while Mr. Green toyed with the idea of joining the Newspaper Guild. He considered himself qualified as editor of the Federationist.
 But he was politely informed that the Guild did not admit editorial to membership. And then President Heywood Brown announced that his followers would follow Mr.
 Lewis into industrial exile. So the union chieftain is still on the hunt for a haven.
HOME: Speculative theorists often picture Hyde Park as a presidential hideout where FDR stages secret political conferences that elude the vigilant eyes of the press.
 They emphasize that Mr. Roosevelt runs home whenever a crisis, a major speech, a critical decision, a resultion-confronts him.
 It's true that the President does obtain a certain degree of privacy at his New York manor, and escape the constant pressure exerted upon him at the White House. But his principal reason for spending so much time at his beloved residence is that he seeks rest, relaxation and the pleasures of a private life.

The Wrong Murderer
 By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 13
IT'S GOOD-BYE

"YES," said Ruth. "I noticed that after meals I always felt terribly queer—all light-headed, as if I didn't care a hoot for anything—but when that feeling had worn off I felt depressed and awful."

"I stood it for about a day; then I got desperate. The day before yesterday, when the fat man brought me my supper, I hit him on the head as hard as I could with a chair. I knocked him unconscious."

"I went through his pockets and found a pistol and took it. Then I heard one of the others coming, so I shoved him outside the door, got the key, and locked myself in. The other two men stormed and shouted a lot, but the window was too high for them to get in that way, and when they tried to break the door down I shot at them through it and nearly killed one of them, I believe. I wish I had killed him."

"After that they didn't try to break in any more. But every now and then they came and threatened me with the most horrible things if I wouldn't let them in, and promised me a marvellous time if I would. I think that what they really meant to do, when they found they couldn't get in, was to starve me out."

"She paused."

"They'd have done it, too, if you hadn't turned up. I was getting to feel that I'd give anything for a chop, or even a plate of rice pudding. I'm terribly grateful to you, really."

"The child certainly had some pluck, reflected Mahony. During his wanderings about the world he had known many women, but none who would have been capable of holding her own against a crowd of toughs as this girl had done."

"I wonder what happened to Billy Ross," she went on. "Did they get him too?"

"Yes," answered Mahony. "But not when they got you. Ross was smashed up in a motor accident yesterday. If he lives, which is very doubtful, he'll be a helpless cripple for the rest of his life."

"He paused."

"You say you're grateful to me," he continued. "Then I can ask you a favor. You'll probably have to tell all that's happened to your parents and the police. You can't tell them my name, because you don't know it, but I'd be very grateful if you would describe me too accurately to them. And I'd like you to leave out Ross's name altogether. He was partly responsible for the fact that you were kidnapped. But he can't be punished any more than he has been. I'll be glad to help you in any way I can. I'll deal with them all right."

"I BET you'll deal with them," she said. "I won't say anything about Billy Ross. If I tell my guardian that I got into a taxi, and a man jumped in with me and chloroformed me, that ought to do, oughtn't it? Anyway, I don't suppose he'll want a lot of police fussing around. He hates a lot of fuss and scandal."

"That story ought to be all right," agreed Mahony. "But mind you stick to it."

"I'll stick to it," she promised.

"But won't you tell me who you are?"

"No," answered Mahony.

By this time they were passing through Hamstead, and in a few minutes they drew up outside the house in Upper Brook Street, Mayfair, where Mr. Lee-Ramsden, Ruth's guardian, lived. She got out of the car and stood for a moment at the edge of the pavement, looking rather wistfully at Mahony.

"Shan't we ever meet again?" she asked.

"Who am I that I should prophesy?" asked Mahony.

"Don't you want to see me again?" she persisted. "It's a bit impolite, you know, to rescue a girl from a lot of villains and then walk lightly out of her life just like that."

Mahony grinned. He liked her. In ordinary circumstances he would have been glad to meet her again.

First Series In 1884
 New York, (AP)—The World Series between pennant-winners in the National and American leagues date back to 1884, but the series that year between the Pirates and Red Sox with Boston winning 5-3, was unofficial. The first World Series under the National Commission Rules—still in effect—was in 1903. But the original "World Series" was in 1884 when Providence of the National league beat the Metropolitans of the American association, 4-0.

 State Utilities Commission Require All Electrification Cooperatives Get Certificate Reflector Bureau.
 Sir Walter Hotel.
 Raleigh, Sept. 25.—Two local rural electrification cooperative corporations have applied to the State Utilities Commission for certificates of convenience and necessity as a result of the recent ruling by the State Rural Electrification Authority requiring all such cooperative corporations to secure such certificates before obtaining permission to build any transmission lines. It was learned here today. The two corporations which have made application to the Utilities Commission for these certificates are:
 1. The Edgewood - Martin County Electric Membership Corporation, seeking permission to build 29 miles of rural electric lines, hearing date set for Sept. 29.
 2. The Caldwell Electric Membership Corporation, seeking permission to build almost 400 miles of electric lines in Caldwell county, hearing date set for October 15.
 Under the 1936 law creating the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority, no local corporation may be formed without getting the approval of the state authority and until recently the authority has been granting permission for the organization of any county membership corporations without re-cohorts who were the keystone of his arch in his efforts to smash the man who—Smith's critics assert—turned Smith's own policies to account "for the people" instead of "on the people."

VOICE: New York observers score the latest set-to between the White House and William Randolph Hearst as a tactical error for the former. Comment runs that the publisher didn't say anything he hadn't already said dozens of times before but caught front page headlines in other papers this time because the White House took public notice of him.

Exceptionally well posted sources remark that Hearst's current political attitude squares exactly with the views of those who came to his assistance in the grim days when the value of his real estate holdings collapsed.

"The hands are those of Esau Hearst, but the Jacob whose voice speaks to the American electorate is foreign—representing great international interests which work to develop American patriotism on lines that will lead into international channels. Hearst's skin was saved intact from the terrific financial pressure he underwent in 1932-33—but his voice has changed. There is evidence that he is in hook at least until 1938 and that the set-up cannot be disturbed before then."

BETTER: The international interests referred to have made it a point to help shape the opinions of some American newspapers by building up a preferred creditor relationship through the sale of newsprint on long-time credit. Sometimes it's better—from the viewpoint of having a controlling voice—to be a preferred creditor rather than an owner.

CONDITIONS: It can be authoritatively predicted that the utility companies involved in next week's power pool conference will stand firm for two conditions as a prerequisite for their cooperation in the President's plan.

One is revision of the TVA yardstick to make possible a "fair comparison" between public and private power rates. They are privately supported in their insistence that the present yardstick is grossly unfair by Chairman Arthur Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Since the conference appears to be based on Dr. Morgan's ideas for a compromise agreement, there is more than a faint hope that this condition will be met.

The second condition will be a guarantee of no further governmental invasion of the territories where private companies now maintain distribution facilities. Power chiefs contend that there can be no reasonable objection to this condition if the administration's real purpose is to lower rates to Tennessee Valley consumers rather than to drive the private companies out of business.

SAVING: Here's their point—which will be impressed on government conferees. The only factor in utility costs which is subject to important reduction is the 25 to 30 per cent of gross which goes to cover fixed charges. Owing to exceptionally low money rates, northern companies have been able to register substantial savings in this direction.

For instance, Central Illinois Power—a Commonwealth and Southern subsidiary comparable in size, age and management with Tennessee Power—recently refunded 5 and 6 per cent bonds at 3 1-2 per cent and 6 and 7 per cent preferred stock at 4 1-2 per cent.

Tennessee Power would like to do the same—as would Commonwealth and Southern's other operating units in the South—but cannot because of the threat of TVA competition. If it could—on the same terms as Central Illinois—it would save a little over $1,500,000 a year. This is just about half of its entire gross revenue from domestic consumers. If the government will make this refinancing possible by giving a guarantee against invasion, the power company will raise no objection to sharing this sizable saving with its customers.

WATER & LIGHT COMMISSION

More than any Chief Executive in many years, Mr. Roosevelt detests living in the White House. It is impossible to transform its formal rooms into a real home, or to free the zealousness of the White House staff—secretaries, servants, Secret Service etc. At Hyde Park FDR gets away from it all—from an atmosphere which 125,000,000 American envy.

Hyde Park never turns out to welcome the present President. It is a hide-bound, Republican district. But to FDR it's home—"home on the range," maybe.

New York
 By JAMES McMULLIN
RETIRED: Astute New York-ers call it smart partnership for Al Smith to snare forward in the campaign now after keeping a virtual LAUGH: Floyd Carlisle has already presented his bill to the Roosevelt administration for lining up most of the public utilities behind the Third World Power Conference. It was the head of the Niagara-Hudson corporation who persuaded his sulky colleagues to pony up $25,000 for the expenses of the conference.

Within a few days after the delegates departed from Washington Mr. Carlisle's firm petitioned the Federal Power Commission for the right to divert more water from Niagara Falls for its own use. The request could not have come at a more embarrassing moment for Mr. Roosevelt. Besides seeking to make peace with the utilities on the TVA matter, he is also preparing to present legislation of a new St. Lawrence power pact with Canada. The Commission's petition interferes with both schemes.

Fortunately for Mr. Roosevelt, he will not have to cross swords with the friendly Mr. Carlisle in the open. The New York Power Authority (which the President dominates through his good friend, Chairman Frank P. Walsh) has already interposed an objection to the Niagara-Hudson petition. Utilitarians who deplored Mr. Carlisle's support of the World Power Conference will have the laugh on him if he doesn't cash in on it. And he probably won't.

TONGUE: National Chairman Farley confides to friends that life in New York is almost unbearable to a New Deal champion like himself. Metropolitan residents delight in tantalizing him.

They taunt him on the sidewalk, in restaurants, in buses, in the theaters. Men and women (but mostly women) belittle President Roosevelt and his policies whenever "Jim" appears upon the scene.

Though ostensibly sneering, FDR stretches their voices so that Mr. Farley can hear him. His easily cartoonable and recognizable countenance makes him more of a target than any national chairman in recent years.

Mr. Farley has developed an elephantine technique. "Hear nothing, say nothing and always look straight ahead" is his recipe. But it is a hard regimen for such a glad hander and friend of man as "Jim."

WARNING: President William Green of the American Federation of Labor is looking for a new union to join. Unless he finds one soon, he may be ineligible for reelection at next November's national convention of organized labor.

Mr. Green has rated union membership for years as a minor, although it's two decades since he dug coal. But when John Lewis' mining unions were suspended from the Federation on Mr. Green's urging, the latter automatically lost his standing as a horny handed son of toil. In labor circles it is humorously whispered that Mr. Green is having trouble in finding a union that won't eventually line up with the suspended Lewisites.

For a while Mr. Green toyed with the idea of joining the Newspaper Guild. He considered himself qualified as editor of the Federationist. But he was politely informed that the Guild did not admit editorial to membership. And then President Heywood Brown announced that his followers would follow Mr. Lewis into industrial exile. So the union chieftain is still on the hunt for a haven.

HOME: Speculative theorists often picture Hyde Park as a presidential hideout where FDR stages secret political conferences that elude the vigilant eyes of the press. They emphasize that Mr. Roosevelt runs home whenever a crisis, a major speech, a critical decision, a resultion-confronts him.

It's true that the President does obtain a certain degree of privacy at his New York manor, and escape the constant pressure exerted upon him at the White House. But his principal reason for spending so much time at his beloved residence is that he seeks rest, relaxation and the pleasures of a private life.

That all Christians should be united in one Bible Church was taken for granted at the beginning. It is today the faith of the great mass of Christians, Eastern, Roman Catholic and Protestant...

We all believe in a social order of justice in which oppression and poverty are done away; but we don't live in that kind of a social order. We are accustomed to something different, and habit turns our faith into a mere wish. We wish but don't work.

It is so in this matter of Christian unity. Here in America it is especially true. The frontier life the immigration of all kinds of people with vastly differing religious traditions, have together brought a religious situation in which we are so accustomed to divisions among Christians that for many of us the age-long faith that Christians should be one is forgotten.

Churches Moving Toward Unity. And for a long time it seemed as if the churches officially had forgotten it except as a pious wish. But all that has been changing rapidly during the last fifty years. All the larger Christian churches have been waking to new efforts. The great Pope Leo XIII and his successors have issued encyclicals. The Orthodox Churches of the East, the Lambeth conferences of the Anglican Communion, all the great groups of Protestant churches have sounded the same appeal. All over the world Christians are beginning to recognize the sin of division and to move toward unity.

Four types of effort are noticeable. The first is what are called ecumenical (world-wide) movements. Here we have the Life and Work movement which began at a conference in Stockholm in 1925 and the faith and order movement which began at Lausanne in 1927.

The one dealt with the common responsibilities of the Churches to world society; the other with the theological cause for division. Both Conferences had representatives from all the great Churches except the Roman Catholic. Both have continued their work. Both will hold conferences again next year.

The non-Roman Churches have also united in great world-wide Missionary Conference and everywhere one finds that there has grown up a new feeling of the fundamental unity of Christians of whatever name or race.

Protestant Churches Uniting. A second type of effort is that which in America is represented by the Federal Council of Churches to which most of the larger Protestant Churches belong. Similar bodies exist in England and many other countries and in America every large city and most small ones have their local Federations. All these bodies exist to help the Churches to do things together. That is one of the steps towards unity. When they know each other they find that many differences disappear.

A third type of effort is found in the coming together of different denominations of the same general character—in America the Methodists North and South have recently united. The Congregational and Christian churches have done the same. The United Church of Canada brings Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists together. These movements, in spite of some sad set-backs, go steadily on.

Unity of Mankind. And finally one notes the strong influence of many organizations such as the National Conference of Jews and Christians, which help to break down prejudice and increase mutual understanding. It is a great thing for Christian unity to have Protestants and Roman Catholics working together with Jews. Barriers due to habit, to tradition to ignorance are broken down. Mutual confidence grows and thus the soil is prepared for real unity.

The Christian Conference of Jews and Christians helps Christian unity, but Christian unity goes far beyond the consummation of a world-wide united Church. Everything which helps towards that also helps to bring into the world that which is most needed at the present day—a faith in the unity of mankind. We must have a faith which can

J. E. WINSLOW CLUB SPEAKER

Farm Bureau President Addresses Kiwanis Club

Pitt County's tobacco compact legislator—J. E. Winslow, Roy T. Cox and W. H. Dall, Jr.—last night called for and received the support of the local Kiwanis club in their efforts to secure tobacco compact legislation.

Following brief addresses by each, the club went on record as endorsing the Farm Bureau in its efforts to have a bill passed by the various tobacco-growing states to control the production of the weed.

Mr. Winslow was the chief speaker of the evening. He declared that the old AAA was a product of the Farm Bureau Federation, saying that the organization started 15 years ago on a plan to control crop production. He related how President Roosevelt, a member of the organization, was favorable to the plan and when he took office put the system in effect in the form of the AAA. He recalled how the legislation was invalidated by the Supreme court.

Mr. Winslow declared that we were going to have compact legislation, but said that the Farm Bureau was working to get it now—not after the farmers had to go through another depression.

He said the organization's immediate object was to secure such legislation. Reviewing the fight put on last spring to have the governor call a special session of the legislature to enact compact legislation, the speaker placed the blame on the chief executive of the state for a compact not being in effect for this year's crop.

At the conclusion of his address, the Farm Bureau president called on his allies, Mr. Cox and Mr. Dall, each of whom set forth the necessity of a compact in the immediate future.

Miss Lucy James, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. J. B. James, sang two solo numbers. Miss Carolyn Hamrick entertained the club members and guests with tap dancing. Billy Tolson was her accompanist.

W. W. Aycock, acting manager of the local branch of the Carolina Telephone company, and J. Nat Harrison, district manager of the local branch of a life insurance company, were inducted into the club as new members.

A large number of guests were present at last night's meeting. In addition to those who appeared on the program, guests included R. R. Bennett, Pitt county farm agent, V. M. Houbert, visiting Kiwanian from Petersburg, Va., L. S. Allen, B. B. Bailey, K. Simpson, Dr. W. I. Woodson and Walter G. Sheppard, E. V. Vestal, A. C. Edwards and N. F. Palmer of Greene county.

BUSINESS INTERESTS SUPPORTING FARMERS (Continued From Page One) about 1,600 remain before the county will have as many memberships in the organization as there are farmers.

With this goal reached, officials declare they can get out and work in other counties. It was pointed out that farmers working on the organization in this county were for the most part, officers of the State or county and should devote part of their time to other counties.

They declared, however, that they felt they should "get their own house in order" before going into other sections.

While the Farm Bureau is interested in all crops, the immediate aim of the North Carolina Federation is to secure satisfactory tobacco legislation.

Many victims of the black widow spider do not know they have been bitten until some time afterward, since the sensation is not especially painful.

It is so in this matter of Christian unity. Here in America it is especially true. The frontier life the immigration of all kinds of people with vastly differing religious traditions, have together brought a religious situation in which we are so accustomed to divisions among Christians that for many of us the age-long faith that Christians should be one is forgotten.

Churches Moving Toward Unity. And for a long time it seemed as if the churches officially had forgotten it except as a pious wish. But all that has been changing rapidly during the last fifty years. All the larger Christian churches have been waking to new efforts. The great Pope Leo XIII and his successors have issued encyclicals. The Orthodox Churches of the East, the Lambeth conferences of the Anglican Communion, all the great groups of Protestant churches have sounded the same appeal. All over the world Christians are beginning to recognize the sin of division and to move toward unity.

Four types of effort are noticeable. The first is what are called ecumenical (world-wide) movements. Here we have the Life and Work movement which began at a conference in Stockholm in 1925 and the faith and order movement which began at Lausanne in 1927.

The one dealt with the common responsibilities of the Churches to world society; the other with the theological cause for division. Both Conferences had representatives from all the great Churches except the Roman Catholic. Both have continued their work. Both will hold conferences again next year.

The non-Roman Churches have also united in great world-wide Missionary Conference and everywhere one finds that there has grown up a new feeling of the fundamental unity of Christians of whatever name or race.

Protestant Churches Uniting. A second type of effort is that which in America is represented by the Federal Council of Churches to which most of the larger Protestant Churches belong. Similar bodies exist in England and many other countries and in America every large city and most small ones have their local Federations. All these bodies exist to help the Churches to do things together. That is one of the steps towards unity. When they know each other they find that many differences disappear.

A third type of effort is found in the coming together of different denominations of the same general character—in America the Methodists North and South have recently united. The Congregational and Christian churches have done the same. The United Church of Canada brings Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists together. These movements, in spite of some sad set-backs, go steadily on.

Unity of Mankind. And finally one notes the strong influence of many organizations such as the National Conference of Jews and Christians, which help to break down prejudice and increase mutual understanding. It is a great thing for Christian unity to have Protestants and Roman Catholics working together with Jews. Barriers due to habit, to tradition to ignorance are broken down. Mutual confidence grows and thus the soil is prepared for real unity.

The Christian Conference of Jews and Christians helps Christian unity, but Christian unity goes far beyond the consummation of a world-wide united Church. Everything which helps towards that also helps to bring into the world that which is most needed at the present day—a faith in the unity of mankind. We must have a faith which can

How's Your Health?

Gas in the Stomach. Gas pains, or gas, discomfort in the region of the stomach is a common complaint. And yet, gas may have nothing to do with the condition, nor need the derangement affect the stomach.

The complaint, commonly charged to gas, is described in various terms such as fullness, weight, pressure, bursting sensation, throbbing, empty feeling, sinking, heart burn. Frequently the patient is certain it is "gas in the stomach," because he gains a measure of relief by bringing up the gas.

A certain amount of air is normally present in the stomach and usually causes no symptoms. While eating or drinking, large quantities of air may be swallowed which may, for a time, induce a feeling of fullness.

In nursing infants, the air they swallow may even cause colic. In healthy adults, however, swallowed air is usually promptly passed off.

When then a patient complains of gas pains, something is wrong, but it need neither be gas nor the stomach that is involved. The complaint may arise from disease of the gall bladder, from a duodenal ulcer, or may point to heart disease.

Again, the patient may swallow indeed in the very attempt to rid of the gas which he thinks is responsible for his condition. Those of a nervous temperament, whose gastro-intestinal musculature is tense and unrelaxed, may not tolerate the presence of even the normal stomach gas.

Gas in the stomach is merely a symptom description. A careful study of the underlying condition is indicated. Self medication with alkalies and cathartics is usually wasteful, often dangerous. Dietetic experiments should be limited to a reduction in the amounts of starchy foods eaten.

A warm drink frequently will help bring the gas, since the fluid passing down the gullet causes the stomach sphincter (the round muscle guarding the juncture of the oesophagus and the stomach) to relax.

Above all, it should be borne in mind that serious heart disease may give the symptom of "indigestion with gas." A sudden attack of indigestion occurring in the night, and a complaint of flatulence in a patient older than 50 should arouse earnest suspicion that the heart may be involved.

Governor Vindicated For Tobacco Compact Stand

Time, Providence and Weather Sustain Executive

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Sept. 25.—Time, providence and the weather have at last completely vindicated the position of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus with regard to tobacco compacta legislation and his refusal to call a special session of the general assembly, even though a majority of the tobacco farmers in the state seemed to think that nothing but a special session and a compact law would save them from destruction.

The weather reduced the crop to the point where no compulsory crop reduction was needed, while time has shown that the Governor knew exactly what he was talking about when he told the tobacco farmers that a state compact law would not be worth the paper it was written on unless all the tobacco growing states enacted identical laws and unless the Federal compact law was amended to prohibit the marketing of excess tobacco across state lines.

It is also being pointed out here that the advice which Governor Ehringhaus gave the tobacco farmers has not cost them one penny, while the advice of the "big croppers" who were responsible for the large 1935 crop and who would have been responsible for another large crop this year if God and the weather had not intervened, has cost the tobacco farmers millions of dollars.

The fact that stands out most clearly now, however, is that Governor Ehringhaus saved the tobacco farmers millions of dollars in future years by refusing to call a special session to enact a crop reduction law which would have reduced the state's base acreage 30 per cent under the 1935 acreage, while other states were increasing their acreage, it is pointed out here. Already Georgia has sold more than 86,000,000 pounds of tobacco this fall, an increase of 20 per cent over its entire production in 1935, when it produced 70,000,000 pounds. While the figures on the total sales to date in South Carolina are not yet available, it is generally agreed that the crop there is larger than last year and will show an increase comparable to the 20 per cent increase in Georgia. It is also being recalled that Georgia flatly refused to enter into any crop reduction agreement this year and that South Carolina also refused to consider any compact law that would apply to the 1936 crop and finally failed to enact any compact law whatever. Virginia was the only state that enacted a compact law, but it provided that it would not become effective unless and until Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina either enacted similar compacta or undertook some definite steps to control the 1936 crop.

Thus, if North Carolina had enacted a compact law and pledged itself to reduce tobacco acreage here in the state 30 per cent below the 1935 acreage, regardless of what these other states did and without any Federal law prohibiting the sale of non-compact tobacco across state lines, the tobacco farmers of this state would have been completely at the mercy of the tobacco growers in Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia. Governor Ehringhaus pointed out today when asked to explain this phase of the situation, "For if I had called a special session and it had enacted the type of control law many of the tobacco growers were then demanding, our acreage this year would have been 30 per cent below the 1935 level, while the acreage in Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia would have ranged from 20 per cent above the 1935 level to the 1935 level at least, and these acreage would have become the base acreage for computing the 1937 crop quotas.

Thus Georgia would have had a base acreage 50 per cent in excess of North Carolina, on the basis of the 1936 crop, while the spread between this state and South Carolina and Virginia would have been proportionate. This would thus have left the Georgia and South Carolina growers free to further increase their planting in 1937 but would have held the North Carolina growers down to a level 30 per cent below the 1935 acreage. Any tobacco farmer can easily figure out what this would have done.

"It would have stimulated the growing of tobacco in both Georgia and South Carolina, likewise Virginia, and would have greatly enlarged their markets, since any North Carolina farmer who grew more than their quota would have to brook it across the state line into either Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia in order to sell it.

"I realized all these things months ago and told the farmers about it, but they could not see it then. But I believe they see it now and admit I was right in refusing to call a special session."

three points and some even more profit-taking in the final hour reduced extreme gains in some instances, but most of the leaders closed around their tips.

NUMEROUS DRIVERS REFUSED LICENSE FOR ANOTHER YEAR

order's court there, fined $40 and costs, of which $20 was suspended providing he does not again attempt to drive an automobile while his license is revoked. The highway safety division here today extended the revocation for an additional year to April 15, 1938, as the state driver's license law requires it to do.

"The fact that 46 drivers have already been arrested, tried and convicted for driving while their licenses were revoked and then had them revoked for an additional year, shows that the police departments and the highway patrol are giving fine cooperation in enforcing the law," Houtt said. "It also shows that we are having little difficulty in keeping track of these drivers and that if they attempt to drive their licenses are suspended, they are sure to be arrested. For every highway patrolman and every police department is furnished a list of those whose licenses are revoked every day, with a request to keep constant and close watch on them to see they do not attempt to drive while their licenses are suspended. The result is that we are getting more and more of those who try to disregard the law."

more work you give a woman to do, the greater will be her enthusiasm." Last week the Democratic campaign spotlight turned from the western half of the State, where the first six rallies were held, to the East. The First District rally was held at Asheboro on Friday. Others will follow in the next few weeks.

"I know that the West, where I now live, would go down the line," said the chairman, "and I am delighted to find the fighting spirit in my native East.

"I realize, of course, that in the great majority of Eastern counties there is so little Republican opposition that it is difficult to work the Democrats up to the point of intensive organization and a drive to get out the full vote. However, I find a determination among our eastern chairmen to do just that this fall. They feel that the East owes an overwhelming majority to President Roosevelt and to the whole Democratic party."
