

THE WEATHER

Generally fair in west portion, cloudy in east portion tonight and Saturday. Possibly mists or light rain on coast.

REBEL FORCES ADOPT SCHEME TAKE CAPITAL

Insurgent Leaders Plan to Rely on Barrage of Fear

PLANES CLEAR ROADS TO M'DRID

Government Places Hastily Drafted and Unprepared Troops Under Martial Law

(By Associated Press)
Insurgent leaders schemed today to batter down Madrid's resistance with a barrage of fear.

They disclosed General Francisco Franco, rebel commander, who weeks ago declared he would starve the capital into submission rather than better its populace with artillery, hope to trick it into a quick merciful surrender.

They said he would substitute "fear for force." His strategy, they said, would be to spread alarm through the capital with rumors "the moors are coming" and with a thunderous, but not devastating artillery barrage.

Accompanied by bombing planes clearing their road with tons of explosives dropped into government positions, the insurgent army pressing from the south passed Illescas, within 28 miles of the capital, it was reported.

The government, however, put its hastily drafted and unprepared militiamen under martial law. Each man was informed his own comrades would shoot him if he withdrew against orders and commanders said the edict had strengthened the morale.

Political differences which hampered the government's campaign were submerged in the crisis. All the popular front parties renewed their pledges of support to Premier Francisco Largo Caballero's government.

At once the Burgos insurgent junta issued a pamphlet attacking the "so-called Madrid government." The provisional government's first (Continued on page six)

FRANCE SEEKS PREVENT WAR

Government in Move Against Fascism, 'Civil War'

Paris, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Devaluation of the franc accomplished, the French government today turned to active combat against fascism and threatened "civil war."

Chriminal investigation of the French social party was ordered by Minister of the Interior Roger Salengro after leftists charges the new political organization was merely a veil for activities of the dissolved nationalists Croix de Feu league.

The "crack down" orders of the government followed partial victories in the senate which approved reduction of the gold content of the franc, but placed in the hands of the national economics council the power to prevent increases in loving costs.

The Ministry of finance suspended its decrees issued last week to permit stock, bond and foreign exchange markets to open today after cessation of dealings for six days.

The government issued orders prohibiting a mass meeting of members of the social organization scheduled for tonight in Paris after protests from communists, who declared the gathering had been called "to mobilize troops."

The communists asserted if the meeting were held they would march on it.

Dr. William Drewry Is Claimed By Death

Word was received here today of the death in Charlotte yesterday of Dr. William H. Drewry, formerly of Grimesland.

Dr. Drewry left Grimesland about four years ago to make his home in Charlotte. Funeral services will be conducted in Drewryville, Va., at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Goldsboro Firm Gets Big Highway Project

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The highway and public works commission announced today that T. A. Loving and Company of Goldsboro had submitted the low bid at $236,292.15 for construction of a new bridge across the Cape Fear river at Fayetteville.

More Convictions On Liquor Counts Than In Last Year

Acting Director of Penal Division Says 11 of 18 'Wet' Counties Had More Convictions

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Oscar Pitts, acting director of the penal division, announced today a check of court convictions in the 18 counties which permit the legal sale of whiskey showed 11 had an increase from direct and indirect liquor charges last fiscal year as compared with 1934-35.

Six counties—Craven, Greene, Beaufort, Halifax, Moore and Onslow—had decreased and Warren county showed 24 such convictions in each period.

Throughout the state there was a decline in total court convictions. A number of counties not permitting the sale of liquor also reported increases in the number of convictions on the same charges considered for the wet counties.

Chinese Evidence Much Displeasure At Death Sentence

Distriet Court at Shanghai Orders Two Chinese Put to Death For Slaaying Japanese

Shanghai, Oct. 2.—(AP)—A Chinese district court sentenced two Chinese to death today for the slaying of Hideo Nakayama, Japanese naval warrant officer, long-standing cause of Sino-Japanese friction which brought thousands of Japanese marines into the Hongkong area with bayonets fixed.

Large crowds of Chinese, massed in the streets outside the courtroom, gave vocal evidence of their displeasure of the verdict.

Anxious crowds of both Japanese and Chinese milled through the narrow streets of Hongkong, where Japanese bayonet squads have ruled under martial law since the trial started.

Japanese authorities declined to indicate their future action, but were represented as planning to withdraw their troops Saturday "if no untoward event occurs in the meantime."

The surging crowd of Chinese and Japanese, in which Japanese forces were liberally mixed, caused authorities grave concern.

CABINET HEADS LEAVING SPAIN

Dictator - Designate Says New Rule To Be Cooperative

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Reports from the Spanish insurgent stronghold of Valladolid today said several Spanish cabinet ministers had left Madrid via of Alicante aboard an Argentine warship en route to Marseilles, France.

Informed sources at Buenos Aires last week said the wife of President Manuel Azana of Spain and the wives and daughters of other cabinet ministers had been taken to Alicante under the protection of the Argentine ambassador to be put aboard the Argentine cruiser.

There also were reports in Buenos Aires that President Azana himself had asked asylum aboard the cruiser, but this was emphatically denied from the Spanish capital.

The insurgent reports also said the Dictator Designate General Francisco Franco had declared in a proclamation to the Spanish people that the "new Spain" would be ruled by a corporative system similar to that of Portugal.

"Work for all will be absolutely assured and will no longer be subjected to capitalism," the proclamation stated.

"Minimum wages will be established in an all workers' rights will be respected."

Greenville Firms Must Sweep Walks During Afternoon

City Ordinance Requiring Walkways To Be Cleaned at Night To Be Enforced, Declares Chief

A second and sterner warning was made by City officials today advising business houses to sweep off the sidewalks in front of their places at night so the street department could remove the trash when the streets are cleaned in the "early morning."

It was pointed out that this was a City ordinance and officials declared they would proceed with issuing warrants unless they received cooperation.

Chief George Clark said that if the business firms waited until the morning to sweep their buildings and walks and put the trash in the gutters it would not be removed before the following morning.

The City is endeavoring to provide a cleaner town and officials said, the trash is scattered by winds and rain during the day and offers an unsightly scene.

Warnings also were issued to business houses to keep their back lots cleaned up. The law provides that all papers and trash put in back lots must be placed in a receptacle where the waste will not be scattered. Recently several defendants had been in City court on charges of illegal disposal of garbage.

The warnings were issued after the Board of Aldermen had discussed means of keeping the city cleaner at its regular monthly meeting last night.

PROGRAM FOR FARM TENANCY TAKING SHAPE

Many Proposals Falling Into Five Classifications

EDUCATION ONE OF PROPOSALS

System of Farm Ownership Through Federal and State Aid Also Provided For

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 2.—(AP)—C. E. Palm, chairman of the Arkansas farm tenancy commission, said today that proposals for a comprehensive program are falling into five major classifications for social and economic betterment among tenants and share croppers.

The many submitted suggestions, as roughly segregated by Charles Goslee, Hot Springs editor and secretary of the commission, calls for:

1. Education among both adults and children.
2. Health improvement.
3. County boards to review and arbitrate crop settlement and other disputes arising between landlords and tenants.
4. Financing of the tenant through cooperatives to eliminate high prices and high interest rates on supplies he buys.
5. A system of farm ownership through federal aid and state cooperation.

"All are to be studied and modified to eliminate duplications and for clarification, but the special committee appointed for the purpose and will be considered by the commission as a whole," Goslee said.

When the 58-member commission, appointed by Governor J. M. Fulmer, met and organized in Hot Springs last week it conducted a two-day open forum and then called on the membership to submit in writing specific plans for meeting the share-cropper problem.

Funeral Services For Mrs. G.A. Ross Set For Saturday

Resident of Stokes Community To Be Buried Exactly One Week After Interment of Her Son

Mrs. G. A. Ross, age 60, died this morning at 8:15 o'clock at her home about 8 miles from Greenville in the Stokes community.

Although she had been in ill health for some time, members of the family expressed the belief that the death of her son, L. E. Ross, who died from injuries received in an airplane accident two weeks ago, was a factor in causing her death.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon at 3:30 from the late home by Elder J. L. Ross of the Primitive Baptist church. Interment will follow in the Moore cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Ross was born in Pitt county and spent her entire life in the community in which she died. Before marriage she was Miss Elnora Moore, daughter of the late G. L. and Mary Moore.

In her early girlhood she joined the Primitive Baptist church, her membership being at Whitechapel. Surviving beside her husband are one son, Blanco L. Ross, Greenville; four sisters, Misses Etta, Viola, Arley V. and Bertha Moore, all of the home; one brother, Ira M. Moore; also two grandchildren.

Brick Masons Work On Armory Building

A report on the progress being made on the City-County armory here, made in the Board of Aldermen last night, stated that three brick masons were at work on the structure now and, despite the seemingly slow progress, work was going ahead as fast here as on any of the other armories being constructed in the state with the aid of federal funds.

It was pointed out that there was a scarcity of brick masons now, but the three who were at work on the $25,000 building were being paid by the federal government and the two progress was not costing the city or county any additional money.

Alderman Vernon Parrish said he had seen armories under construction in other towns and added they were having trouble also, but we are going ahead as fast as any of the rest.

Yankees Swamp Giants By 18 to 4

Lazzeri Clouts Homer In Third with All Bases Loaded

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 2.—Snowing under five Giant pitchers, the New York Yankees this afternoon won the second game of the 1936 World Series to even the series at one-all.

Tony Lazzeri, for only the second time in World series history, belted a home run into the right field stands with the bases full in the third inning, climaxing a seven-run rally for the Yankees and running their lead to nine-to-one over the Giants before a crowd of 45,000, among them President Roosevelt.

Seeking the victory that would match the Giant's conquest in the opening game, the Yankees hammered Hal Schumacher from the box in the third, belted out a southerly by the name of Al Smith while the president chuckled, and finished up on Dick Coffman for one of the loudest and huskiest rallies in World Series history.

Lazzeri's smash, high in the right field balcony, came off Coffman and scored the final four runs of the rally. The feat has been accomplished in World Series history before only by Exner Smith, outfielder for the Cleveland Indians who homered with the bases full on October 10, 1920, against Brooklyn.

First Inning

Yankees—Crossett hit a line drive to left center for one base on the first pitched ball of the game. Rolfe drew a base on balls. Dickey pitched.

PRESIDENT ON EASTERN TOUR AFTER SPEECH

Chief Executive Resumes His Campaign Travels

HAS NO COMMENT ON FORMER ALLY

Alf Landon Expresses Deep Appreciation at Al Smith's Support of GOP Ticket

(By Associated Press)
After predicting that the federal budget would balance in a year or two, President Roosevelt resumed his eastern campaign travels today while Alfred E. Smith, now definitely a Landonite, planned more attacks on the New Deal.

An Topeka Governor Alf L. Landon expressed deep appreciation for Smith's support.

There was no immediate comment from the President on this pronouncement by his one-time ally.

The chief executive, speaking before a Pittsburgh throng last night, discussed New Deal expenditures, calling them an "investment in the future of America."

He said he had increased the national debt by a net $3,000,000,000 and had "much to show" for the money. The Hoover administration, he added, increased the debt by $2,000,000,000 and had "little to show."

The money owed, he said, will be repaid not by "oppressive taxation," but out of rising income "produced by increasing national prosperity."

Smith's threat of last January to "take a walk" became an actuality when he stood before a Carnegie Hall audience and declared that he was offering for all the bills that were appearing from today in the election of Alf M. Landon.

Landon's party on the national ticket, Col. Frank Knox, who also is Pittsburgh editor, today said Roosevelt, retaining previous pledges that New Deal financial policies endanger insurance and savings.

Registrations At College Break All Previous Records

Factory or Sunday School Superintendents of Various Churches Attend First Assembly

With an enrollment of over 1000 yesterday afternoon at the close of the second day of registration, all opening records at East Carolina Teacher's College were broken yesterday. This is far ahead of the number last year at the same time.

Classrooms were well filled today when the students began their regular schedule of work. The dormitories are filled to overflowing and the dining halls crowded. This morning students are continuing to come in and others will probably be coming for several days. Some are unavoidably detained at home and will not enter until next week. No credit is given to a student who registers after the first two weeks.

At the first assembly, which was held at noon today, the pastors or Sunday school superintendents of the different churches in town were introduced to the students and each extended an invitation to them to attend his church. Dr. Meadows in his introductory remarks impressed the fact that this College had always stood for the development of the spiritual life. He advised each student to choose one church and make that her church home for the time she spends in college.

Rev. A. W. Fleischman extended the invitation to the Memorial Baptist church. He introduced each of the representatives of the other churches. Dr. Herbert B. Barber spoke for the Immanuel Baptist church, Sup. J. H. Rose for the 18-18 Methodist church, Rev. W. A. Ryan for the Christian church, Rev. Robert Grady for the Presbyterian, and Rev. Worth Wicker for the Episcopal.

Finance Corporation Lends Aid in County

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation during the period February 2, 1932 to June 30, 1936 distributed the sum of $255,366.87 in Pitt county, according to information received today from Robert M. Gantt, State Director for the National Emergency Council for North Carolina, with headquarters in Durham.

Disbursements in North Carolina aggregated $48,922,167.80, not including amounts that went to various government agencies, or relief grants to the State of North Carolina as authorized under the Federal Emergency Relief Act of 1933.

Is City Responsible For Negro Shot By Officers

Should the City of Greenville bear the hospital expense of a negro wounded by officers as he and a number of others advanced on them at a disturbance at a dance after they had been warned "to stay where you are?"

That is the question the Board of Aldermen is facing and members were unable to agree whether they were either legally or morally bound to pay the expenses. The injured negro was taken to the hospital by his own friends and the police department had nothing to do with his admittance, city officials said.

Presented with a bill for $80.95 for hospital expenses of Charlie Sugg, who has since been convicted of participating in a riot, the City Fathers discussed at length their duty in the matter and then referred it to a committee of one to further consider the proper course.

While it was freely expressed that peace officers could not morally leave a person dying without rendering aid, it was evident Board members wished to avoid setting a precedent of paying hospital or doctors' bills for injuries inflicted on persons through actions forced on the police department.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON (By Ray Tucker)

TESTED: Although SEC-ers are eye-weary from microscopic scanning of prices as sales volume in Wall Street, they haven't discovered any signs of undercover professionals trying to get rich quick from speculative coups.

The Washington watchers glued their optics to the ticker tape during the negotiations over Franco-British-American currency stabilization. They figured the pros might seize this opportunity to boost stocks artificially and take the unwary customers for a merry-go-ride. But the first hour's quick upturn slowed down and finally levelled off. In other years September has been the month when smart operators capitalized election uncertainties to snag a few stray dollars. So far the market has shown greater stability than in any campaign in years. SEC legislation is getting its most severe test right now.

With the exception of a few stocks, the market's guardians feel that prices are not out of line with earnings and future prospects.

STATE SLATED TO TRIM W. F. C.

Coach Anderson Issues Ultimatum To Grid Team

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Oct. 2.—The State College Wolfpack is now slated to walk the Demon Deacons from Wake Forest in the game here Saturday night in spite of the resounding beating State took at the hands of Davidson last Saturday night.

The reason for this is that Coach Hank Anderson has notified the State squad that only those who make the best showing against Wake Forest will be taken on the trip to New York City next week, where State goes to play Manhattan College, according to the "dope" going the rounds here today. It is also being pointed out that since a large number of the State first string men are from New York, New Jersey and adjoining states, that the Manhattan College game will in reality be a "home game" for many of the players, just as the Davidson-State game was a "home game" for the Davidson team. Accordingly, Hank's imported players are expected to do their utmost to beat Wake Forest in Saturday night's game.

It is no secret, however, that things are not clicking as they should on the State College team and that there is considerably more friction and feeling between the squad members and Coach Anderson than any one at State will officially admit. There are also rumors of considerable friction between Coach Anderson and his assistant coaches. Field house gossip has it that many of the players resent the manner in which Anderson "cusses them out" before and after games, between halves and at scrimmages. One player, when asked this week where he was in the Davidson game, replied: "Playing for the other side, according to the Coach."

It is also reported that a good many of the squad members, especially those who are native North Carolinians or from the south, feel that Anderson discriminates against them and refuses to give them a chance to show what they can do at the same time favoring the players from northern and western states who followed him here from Notre Dame.

But in spite of this friction between the players and Coach Anderson, the prevailing belief is that State will beat Wake Forest Saturday night, because of the bearing it will have on the trip to New York.

Miss Frances Spilman Tries Out For Tennis

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—Dorothy Crawford, of Goldsboro, manager of tennis for the athletic association of Meredith College, has announced the selection of Miss Eddins, of Long Island, N. Y., as captain of the freshman tennis team. Other members of the team chosen after try-outs this week are Frances Spilman, of Greenville; Elizabeth LeGarde, of Wadesboro; Evelyn Lane of Kinston; Billie Ginn, of Augusta, Ky.; and Mattie Green, of Asheville.

During the year inter-class games will be played and a varsity team selected to compete in the playday which will be held jointly with St. Mary's School and Peace Junior College later in the season.

Inaugurating the fall sports program around 30 freshmen reported for hockey practice this week to Alben Snow, of Mapleswood, N. J., freshman hockey manager. Archery and golf will begin shortly and a series of badminton games has been arranged to be played with the new set recently presented by the alumnae. Horseback riding has proved popular with a large number of students and Miss Marian Warner, director of athletics, has announced that further arrangements for riding will be made during the fall.

Tar Heel CCC Camps to Continue Program

Richmond, Va., Oct. 2.—Seventy camps of the Civilian Conservation Corps will carry forward development programs in national, state and county parks of the Southeast during the six-month enrollment period for which recruiting is now under way, according to an announcement made by the National Park Service at its eastern regional headquarters here.

Enrollments for the term, the eighth since inauguration of the nation-wide Emergency Conservation Work program in April, 1933, will be received until October 15. The new period ends April 1, 1937. Provision is being made by Army officials and the technical services of the federal government for re-enrolling up to 250,000 enrollees, of which 125,000 will be "juniors" from 13 to 24 years old. The remainder will be war veterans.

Allocation of the camp units in North Carolina has been approved. North Carolina: Great Smoky Mountains National Park, four camps; Morrow Mountain State Park, Albemarle; Hanging Rock State Park, Danbury; and Osprey Hill State Park, Bixton. Total seven.

The Empire State building in New York contains about 17,000,000 feet of telegraph and telephone wires.

DEVILS LEAVE FOR S. C. GAME

Past Week Spent In Correcting First Game Errors

Durham, N. C., Oct. 2.—Duke University's Blue Devils, victors over Davidson and Colgate in early season games, leave here tonight for Columbia, S. C., where they will meet South Carolina's Gamecocks in a Southern conference grid clash.

The game will be the second of the season for the Blue Devils in defense of their Southern conference title. They took their first conference setto with Davidson, 13-0, and then downed Colgate in an inter-sectional battle, 6-0.

Highly respecting the Gamecocks in the knowledge, as reported by Duke scouts, that the difference between the slushy V. M. I. Cadets and the Palmetto state boys is not as much as the score might indicate, the Blue Devils have put in a hard week of work in their attempt to be at top speed against their foe.

Most of the work has been done on the many departments in which mistakes were made against Colgate. The Blue Devils themselves know they must offer a better game against South Carolina than they did last week against the Red Palmettos for it is not in the boots for a team to win another game, if so many mistakes are made.

The squad is in good condition. Ace Parker, captain and star back, who suffered a slight injury on the eve of the clash with Colgate—a pulled muscle in the groin—has completely recovered from the injury and should be in top condition.

It will be the first time Coach Wade has taken a team to the South Carolina capital since he invaded there with his first Duke eleven back in 1931 and was handed a 7-0 defeat before a crowd that packed the fairgrounds stadium.

VOLS TO MEET UNC TAR HEELS

Both Teams Ready for Clash at Carolina Tomorrow

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 2.—North Carolina and Tennessee, listed among the top football rankers of Southern and Southeastern Conferences, clash here tomorrow afternoon in Kenan Stadium in an outstanding early season engagement. The kick-off is set for 2:30 o'clock.

The Tar Heels were to conclude last minute preparations for the Vol encounter this afternoon with a light drill. Major Neyland's Orange eleven took its final hard workout yesterday, and was to take light drills en route today. The Tennessee squad left Knoxville early this morning and was scheduled to arrive in Chapel Hill at 8 o'clock.

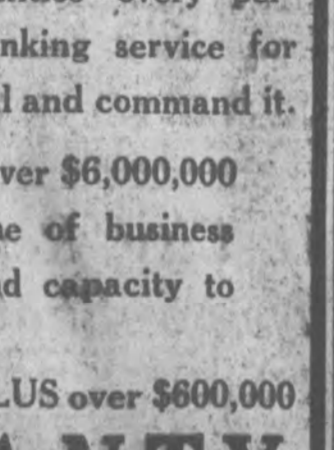

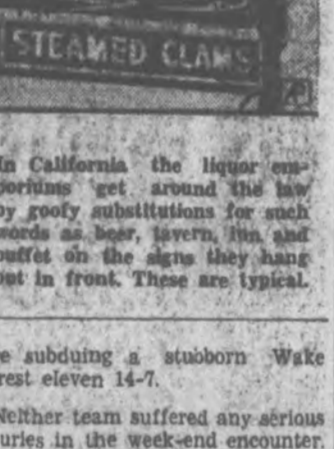

Both teams have worked long and hard this week to perfect their offense and defense. The Vols uncovered little in their opener last week and easily beat the University of Chattanooga 13-0. The Tar Heels had to play with their warts off before subduing a stubborn Wake Forest eleven 14-7.

Neither team suffered any serious injuries in the week-end encounter. Every available man is in fairly good shape for the contest.

THIMBLE THEATRE (Starring Popeye)

California Gulps 'Beep' As Liquor Vote Pends

Two distinct types of the modified Warner system will clash here Saturday. Coach Boy Neyland likes the single wingback formation, while Coach Ray Wolf of the Tar Heels uses both single and double wingback styles. Both, of course, have punt formation.

Both Coaches Neyland and Wolf are particularly keen on winning this game. The Major wants to settle accounts for the Tar Heels smashing 38-13 drubbing of the Vols last year, and keep intact his record of never being defeated by a Carolina team. The Major was not with the Vols last year.

Large Sums Spent In Trying To Keep Clean, Beautiful

North Carolinians Invested More Than $8,500,000 During 1935 On Personal Appearances

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Oct. 2.—More than $8,500,000 were spent by North Carolinians in 1935 "to keep clean and beautiful," according to figures obtained today by the Department of

Now Showing "Well Blow Me Down"

Conservation and Development from the U. S. Bureau of Census. These services included work done by barber shops, beauty parlors, cleaning and pressing, laundries (not including power laundries), and shoe repair and shine parlors.

According to the census report on service establishments, $8,558,000 was spent on maintaining and improving personal appearances last year compared with only $7,015,000 during 1933. This increase of approximately 20 per cent is taken as an indication of improving economic conditions.

The largest single item of these personal services was accounted for by barber shop and beauty shop operations which collected $3,734,000 in 1935 compared with $3,177,000 in 1933. A total of 1,899 of these establishments was reported in the state in 1935 and 1,626 in 1933. Beauty parlors claimed the second and highest total of expenditures of the group, $1,811,000 being spent in these establishments last year compared with only $1,034,000 for the 12-months period two years before. The number of beauty parlors increased from 398 in 1933 to 650 in 1935.

Ray-Anderson
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson announce the marriage of their daughter

Edna Grace to Mr. L. G. Ray on July eighteenth nineteen hundred and thirty-six.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ray was solemnized at the home of the Reverend A. W. Fleischmann, pastor of Memorial Baptist church, on July 18th, Mr. Fleischmann uniting them in marriage.

Mrs. Ray is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson of this city. She was educated in the city school and at a Raleigh Business College. For the past two years she has been secretary for S. O. Worthington.

Mr. Ray is employed by a High Point newspaper. They will make their home in High Point.

Music Institute Set For College Oct. 10

A one-day institute of Public School Music, sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction, the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, and the N. C. Federation of Women's clubs will be held at East Carolina Teachers College on October 10.

Miss Hattie Parrott of the State Department, and Miss Grace Van Dyke Moore, of the Woman's College, will be the directors.

The Department of Public School Music of East Carolina Teachers College will have charge of local arrangements and extends to all classroom teachers and special teachers of music throughout this section of the state a cordial invitation to attend the meetings.

The program will stress music appreciation. There will be song clinics, in which folk songs suitable for use in Music Appreciation courses will be used and type lessons in appreciation will be given.

"Making friends with orchestral instruments" is the first topic of the afternoon session. At the close of the program time will be left for open discussion.

Those interested are urged to come early and stay until adjournment and come prepared to take part, bringing pencil and notebook, and their own copies of the Music Appreciation Handbook and the New American Song Book.

This is the fourth in a series of six sectional institutes the first of which was held at Asheville Normal College last week. One will be held at the Woman's College in Greensboro this week and one is scheduled for Meredith College the day before the one to be held here. Flora McDonald College will have one the following week, with one at Davidson College closing the series near the end of the month.

Madrid's Forces Yield Territory But Continue Bloody Struggle

IRUN. Half naked, a loyalist volunteer disregards his wounded hand as he crouches in the trench, prepared to fight on. Such courage kept the rebels back for more than six weeks, but on September 4 this northern city fell to the insurgents. Loyalists put it to the torch and fell back on...

To this industrial city on the south-eastern coast, where women wait with rifles for the enemy, loyalist forces might retreat for a final "last stand" if they should lose every other stronghold.

MANY WRECKS WITHIN CITIES

Majority of Fatal Accidents in Country, However

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hoel.

Raleigh, Oct. 2.—Almost half of the 4,102 automobile accidents reported in North Carolina during August occurred inside the corporate limits of cities and towns, according to an analysis of these accidents just completed by the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue and made public today by Arthur Fulk, its director.

This analysis shows that 45 per cent or 1,803 accidents occurred inside city limits and 55 per cent or 2,299 occurred somewhere on the 60,000 miles of state and county highways.

In the number of fatal accidents, however, the survey shows that more persons were killed in accidents on the highways than in city and town crashes. For out of 532 fatal accidents, only 92 occurred in cities and towns while 440 took place on highways outside of city limits.

"These figures show, first, that the number of accidents in cities and towns, where the local police departments are responsible for traffic law enforcement, is almost as large as the number of highway accidents on roads outside city limits where the highway patrol is responsible for traffic law enforcement," Director Fulk said. "And without criticizing the city and town police departments in any way, these figures show that it might be well for some of the city and town police departments to tighten up more in the enforcement of traffic laws."

"In the second place, these figures show a substantial decrease in the number of rural accidents as compared with those of several months ago, indicating that the highway patrol is undoubtedly having some effect in reducing the number of accidents on rural highways.

"The fact that more people were killed in rural accidents than in city crashes is due, of course, to the increased speeds at which cars travel on the highways as compared with speeds on city streets. Traffic congestion and street intersections compel drivers to travel at more moderate speeds inside cities and towns than on open stretches of rural highways. Lower speeds in both cities and on the highways would greatly reduce the number of accidents, both fatal and non-fatal."

The Wrong Murderer

SYNOPSIS: An Terence Mahony has done to rescue two girls from Andrew Lawson's case of kidnapers, but now he finds himself in the unfortunate position of being suspected of the murder of Vincent Little, and Lawson is free and not suspected of anything. Ruth Fraser, one of the girls, has provided Terence an alibi, but she does not suspect that she was kidnaped by order of her guardian, Lee-Ramsden, who now is trying to lead Scotland Yard off on a wrong scent.

Chapter 17

SUBTLE EVASIONS

THUS it happened that when Inspector Kennedy arrived at Lee-Ramsden's house, Lee-Ramsden was absent. The Inspector was a patient man by nature; he sat and waited for nearly an hour. Then Lee-Ramsden returned. He greeted the Inspector genially but with an air of some surprise.

"From Scotland Yard, are you? You're not the man who came before, I suppose you've come about my ward," he said. "I don't think you need have troubled. I rang up the police some time ago telling them of her return and explaining the reason for her absence. I'm very sorry to have caused the police all this unnecessary bother, and if a contribution of twenty guineas to the Police Orphanage would be of any use, I shall be glad to send along a cheque."

"Thank you, sir," said the Inspector. "But I'd like to ask you a few questions all the same, if you don't mind."

"Not a bit," said Lee-Ramsden. "But you mustn't be disappointed if I don't know some of the answers."

"On the afternoon of your ward's disappearance, I understand that she was going shopping," went on the Inspector. "She left the house—and disappeared. Am I to understand that simply on the spur of the moment she went off down to her friend's house in Sussex without bothering to let anybody know, and without taking any luggage?"

"It seems like it, doesn't it?" said Lee-Ramsden carelessly. "That's the story she told me."

"Do you believe that story?" asked Inspector Kennedy.

Lee-Ramsden smiled. "My dear fellow, whether I believe the story or not is quite beside the point," he answered. "As Miss Fraser's guardian I keep a very careful eye on all her financial investments—she will come into a large fortune when she is twenty-one, you know. But so far as her personal behavior is concerned, she has complete liberty to please herself what she does."

A somewhat cynical old gentleman, thought Inspector Kennedy. "Is your ward the kind of girl likely to indulge in... er—rash and impulsive actions?" asked the Inspector.

Lee-Ramsden smiled again. "I wouldn't exactly call her a milk-and-water miss," he replied. "If she particularly wanted to do anything, I imagine she is the kind of person who would do it, and damn the consequences. I hope so. I hate timid people."

"And you think her story about staying with a friend in Sussex may not be the truth?" pursued the Inspector.

"I don't think about it at all. It doesn't concern me whether it's the truth or not," answered Lee-Ramsden. "And unless my ward has been up to something criminal, I don't see that it concerns you either. If you want to find out whether the story is true or not, why not ring up Miss Dowson's cottage and ask her?"

"We have already put through a telephone enquiry to the Harfield police," stated Inspector Kennedy. "They report that Miss Dowson left the cottage this morning and they don't know where she has gone. They also report that, so far as they are aware, Miss Dowson has not had any guest staying with her during the last few days."

"Really. That's most interesting. Then my ward has not been staying with Anne Dowson," commented Lee-Ramsden. "But even so, Inspector, I still don't see that the matter concerns you. I take it that you're not running a welfare department at Scotland Yard, or starting a bureau for supervising the conduct of young girls."

"Not exactly, sir," said Inspector Kennedy. "We're interested in your niece's movements because she claims that she was brought from Miss Dowson's cottage by a man named Mahony, whom we suspect of murdering Mr. Vincent Little."

"Suspect of...?" Lee-Ramsden's manner had suddenly become quite serious. "What's this you're saying, Inspector?" he asked.

Inspector Kennedy told him briefly about the murder of Mr. Little. It seemed that Lee-Ramsden was greatly shocked by the news. Inspector Kennedy was very glad to see it.

has been fairly limited, ranging from 300,000 to 1,000,000 sales a day. So best financial experts here simply grin when anyone mentions the "boom" which Secretary Roper recently headlined.

EXPLOSIVE: American Scout recently returned from a tour of foreign capitals anticipate trouble when the Spanish rebels' fascist backers—Italy and Germany—hand their bill to the new Madrid government.

Insid information hints that the Prince of Aragon will be restored to the throne under a limited form of monarchy similar to Great Britain's or Italy's. In that event the interests represented by the church, the army and land owners will dominate the new regime. But the most exciting prospect from a world viewpoint is the turning over by Spain of the Balearic Islands to Mussolini and the African seaport of Cueta to Hitler. Those cessions would bring the two dictators face to face with Gibraltar's guns and sever Britain's lifeline to her Indian possessions via the Mediterranean.

It will mean another humiliation for the British, who are not yet ready to resent aggressions with anything more forceful than notes.

A REUNION — THAT DIDN'T TAKE

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Four years almost to the night since this picture was taken of brotherly reunion was snapped. Al and the "old potato" are expected to be fighting publicly for opposite goals.

"He's old potato," Smith is reported to have said. "How are you, Al?" Mr. Roosevelt replied.

They were once fast friends. Mr. Roosevelt dubbed Smith "the happy warrior" when he nominated him for the Presidency in 1924.

But the chance to sock the "reds" was so politically happy that, for the first time, the Treasury publicized the ordinarily mysterious operations of the $2,000,000 stabilization fund.

PRIZE: The extraordinary secrecy surrounding the Roosevelt-LaGuardia relationship piques the curiosity of practical politicians on both sides.

USEFUL: The zest with which Secretary Morgenthau rebuked Russia for seeking to "sabotage" the stabilization deal was more gleeful than you would expect a Secretary of the Treasury to exhibit.

For some time New Dealers have been waiting for a chance to reveal their distaste for some of Moscow's practices, though by entering the Hearst-Smith-Coughlin strategy of linking the administration with "communists." There was even talk of a threat to rescind recognition especially as it turned out to be no bargain. No ambassador has been named to fill William C. Bullitt's place, and none will be until after the election as present plans stand.

Actually the dumping of 1,000,000 pounds of sterling by Russia was a normal financial transaction which Moscow had no lowdown on where the pound would settle or be pegged, and moved to dispose of her holdings while the selling was good.

ISOLATION: A financial top-ranker, whose views are widely shared, puts it this way: "I can't prove it, of course, but it certainly looks as if Morgenthau's motive for publicity was to offset the rising clamor that seeks to identify the New Deal with communism. If so, it was a singularly silly performance. Also he made himself a bit ridiculous by talking of a million pounds as if it were important money in influencing exchange rates. Anyone familiar with exchange problems knows that it's chicken feed."

MISLEADING: A. M. Lamport and Co.—New York bond dealers—spent a sizable chunk of their own money for the second time recently on newspaper advertising to prove that Uncle Sam's credit is better in many respects than that of either Great Britain or France. Figures were cited to show that our per capita debt and interest cost is substantially lower and our relative tax burden much smaller than those of the leading European nations.

You can imagine how it irritates other New York financial firms to have one of their own number contribute such aid and comfort to the New Dealers. Positively unclueby they call it. The Lamport house specializes in federal government bonds, but even so any benefits it derives from this type of advertising must be indirect.

Critical analysts do not question man Hamilton could utilize the old, old issue of "the Tiger." It would tie in with the G. O. P.'s plan to assail Governor Lehman for dismissing grand jury charges against District Attorney Geoghan New York's 47 electoral votes are the political prize in this helter-skelter maneuvering.

DIFFICULT: Privately G.O.P.ers confide that they wish their corporation friends would apply a few brakes to the current expansion in all lines—retail, industrial, financial, railroads, construction.

Industries whose moguls are traditionally Republican-minded: steel, railroads, communications, automobile—gaining swing along in the van of the recovery procession. They've numerous grudges against the New Deal—taxes, federal competition, regulation—but they are declaring extra dividends, raising wages, erecting new plants, issuing new securities. They are furnishing ammunition for FDR's campaign speeches. And they aren't opening their pocketbooks as wide or as often as expected a few months ago.

Landon strategists are having trouble devising an answer. Chairman Hamilton provoked no cheers when he attributed the advance to Mr. Landon's nomination because the upward movement set in months before. Astute Republicans simply conclude: "It's hard to fight prosperity."

New York CHAOS: New York financial leaders are genuinely pleased about franc devaluation. In part this is due to a feeling of relief that the inevitable has finally happened. Even more potent is the conviction that the path to authentic international currency stabilization is cleared at last. But no formal move to stabilize is expected for a year at least.

The approval of shrewd observers is tempered by skepticism as to the real worth of the "gentleman's agreement" whereby the United States, Britain and France have banded together to keep monetary fluctuations under control. They fear the sardonic implication of Secretary Morgenthau's statement on the second day of the agreement—"I see we are all still gentlemen"—is all too accurate.

There isn't so much as a scrap of paper to bind any of the "contracting" nations which might decide that self-interest demanded independent action. Neither Britain nor France has a record in such matters that could be called altruistic. It's perfectly possible that a situation could develop to send either off on a currency tangent all its own—in which case we would see monetary chaos as is chaos.

BULL: Financial conservatives are also delighted with the political angles of devaluation. They predict that many more voters will be worried and perhaps alienated by indications that we are becoming "entangled" with Europe than will be enthused on behalf of constructive international cooperation.

In this connection, anti-New Deal chiefs are gleefully grateful to Secretary Morgenthau for what they call his "Russian bull." New York sharps generally agree that the Secretary's eager story of how the American stabilization fund rushed to the rescue of the pound sterling when the wicked Soviet dumped a million pound in the open market rates a five-star award for short-sighted public relations.

the correctness of the Lamport figures as far as they go. But it is vigorously contended that an appraisal of the American debt and tax picture, which omits the obligations and levies of states, municipalities, etc., is several degrees worse than misleading.

HARD: It doesn't necessarily mean anything in terms of church discipline when Archbishop McNicholas of Cincinnati or almost any other church official objects to Father Coughlin's unrestrained language.

It does mean something, however when Bishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland protests. Bishop Gallagher of Detroit and has been a sympathetic Coughlin supporter. He has in fact served with Bishop Gallagher and Bishop Noll of Fort Wayne on a sort of advisory board for the radio priest. Coughlin is making it hard for some of his best friends to stick by him.

Lella Higgs Studio
In the grouping of colors in Arts and Crafts nothing finer is being done than the work by wall-paper designers... so new, so different... Colors are grouped in modern designs that we would not have dared use in our homes a few years ago... yet the new wall paper designs shown at the LELLA HIGGS INTERIOR DECORATING STUDIO are perfectly luscious. Large, handsome designs against backgrounds of silver, dusky purples and delicate pastels are ideal for Victorian rooms... Modern and palm designs for game rooms and foyers... charming fan designs against a background of silver is very feminine and lovely for dressing or powder rooms... Lilies against ivory or silver for living rooms... Moires... Modernistic designs in bamboo by Nancy McClellan... purely conventional papers in tiny figures and children's papers were all so charming that I urge you who have not seen them to call at the studio on the third floor of the State Bank Building.

Brodie's
Skirts are rising to new heights and shoes to new importance. Today your shoes are the focal point of interest. In costume BRODIE'S new autumn Footwear is as new as tomorrow's mail... new in materials, new in colors, new in everything!... rounder toes... heels a bit lower, straps a bit broader, colors a bit richer combinations a bit more naive. Choose your footwear in any color you wish, wine, brown, black or grey. RED CROSS SHOES give your feet a glamorous silhouette, smooth and flattering. Fashion will not let you forget your feet and you don't want to once you begin giving them "beauty treatments" in Red Cross Shoes. For these superbly styled shoes exercise your feet and legs back into chapletness with every step you take. Step lightly into Autumn in Red Cross Shoes fitted in BRODIE'S smart shoe department... where you will find both style and comfort.

Rosebud Beauty Shoppe
An Admiration Shampoo at the ROSEBUD BEAUTY SHOPPE is not only something "to write home about" but it is a joy to the girls who pridefully care for their curly locks. It is just 75c and worth every penny of it... while your hair is drying a Cocktail Manicure will take care of your nails... This is an electric manicure and just 25c, electricity works so much faster and the customer gets the benefit of the time saved in the price of her manicure. Next, a "Makeup Facial" will make you feel younger and erase tired lines and ugly discolorations. Get one in the morning and look fresh and pretty all day long, or in the afternoon for the fashionable cocktail hour... do not think you are being called "two-faced" when your shoulders and back to the waistline is massaged because this is a part of the "Make-up Facial."

MRS. IVEY SMITH
Fashion's come and fashions go—and carry colors along with them. Since the bathroom is a permanent sort of place, it is of great family and financial consequence when its colors are selected. Other rooms of the house can be altered easily with paint and furnishings but the color scheme of a bathroom is always intimately related to that of the fixtures. In general there is a choice of selecting white ware, as against a range of nine colors—(including black). There is much to be said about white fixtures—for one thing the color scheme of the balance of the room can be changed at will and without restraint. On the other hand the desire for fixtures in color, is not difficult to understand, particularly any one of the four that have been most popular: Tuscan, Spring Green, Lavender and Peachblow. In the design of plumbing fixtures the owner has a right to expect two major qualities: the fixtures must be easily cleaned and in good taste. Mr. C. L. Buss has been in the plumbing business many years and is thoroughly familiar with the correct details for an ideal bathroom. Let him give you an estimate of the cost of modernizing your bathrooms.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons
By ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood — Bobby Breen, going on nine, waited until nearly one o'clock before he piped up with "When do we eat?"
All morning long, Bobby, straight little figure in blue sweater and short trousers, had gone again and again before a microphone to record a number in lyric tenor for his second film, "Rainbow On the River." Time after time, a dozen in all, he had stepped under the mike to sing. He works hard at singing, appeals with gestures and tossing of his curly brown hair as though playing to an audience. He is on his toes, seeks correction and advice and after each "take" asks eagerly, "Did I flat that?" or "Was that strong enough?"
Between "takes" and rehearsals, Bobby had tapped a little jig, emitted tentative ah-ah-ah's, and dashed several times into the arms of his 19-year-old sister Sally on the sidelines. Bobby and Sally had exchanged knowing smiles all through the morning.
When Bobby was three and Sally was 13, in Toronto, Canada—and incidentally in poverty—Sally gave up her own singing and dancing career in order to promote Bobby's. She saved enough money for one ticket by bus to Chicago, and took Bobby there for his chance, holding him on her lap all the way.
Sally had to keep on working, of course, but Bobby eventually got his opportunity. "And all that," as Sally says, "is over now."
When Bobby was through for a while, we asked him what he did after a strenuous day like this.
"Go home and go to bed," he replied. "Sometimes I take my bath first, but sometimes I take it in the cradle. And have dinner of course. But every day's not as hard as this. And this is easy—because I've finished recording 'Ave Maria' and now I can sail through the rest."
Other days, when he's merely acting, Bobby gets in some baseball. He spent the summer at a boys' camp, where he was captain of the ball team.
"And I'm going to military school this year," he said. "I'm going to be a captain or a lieutenant there—well, a sergeant anyway."
While Bobby went back to sing, his sister explained about his voice. It was natural, she said, and he'd never had a lesson. They had tried lessons but found he was losing his gift for "singing the way he feels."
And then Bobby came back with: "Sometimes we flip a coin to see when I'll take it, and Sally usually wins—but I always take it."
"Why, my bath," he said.
"Take what, Bobby?"

MRS. J. BROOKS TUCKER
Efrid's Department Store
With the opening of East Carolina Teachers College—Greenville shops will be taxed to supply the hundreds of students needing a college wardrobe. As every allowance has its limits... go to EFRID'S as a score of other girls who have gravely trod the college campuses over the Carolinas have been doing for years. You will agree with this at the starting point: Quality counts far more than variety. First, get a good coat—a rich camel's hair will see you through all four winters or a woolen sport in the new Autumn colors will carry you smartly through to football games this Fall... They look grand with skirts and sweaters of which you must have many. Scotch sweaters are a MUST on every campus and never go out of style. Strikingly pretty dresses priced from $1.95 to $14.95... two alike but in a wide range of colors and sizes to 44... will keep you looking charming in the class rooms, at afternoon parties and all your "dress-up" occasions.

A 'Non-Political' Comparison

MY FRIENDS...
Authorities on public speaking have called President Roosevelt's radio delivery the most polished employed by any man in public life today. devoid of old-style oratorical bombast and, for the listening audience, not dependent on gestures, his talks carry an impression of informality even when he reads from text. Though researchers may aid in their drafting, his crisp sentences bear an unmistakable Roosevelt mark.

IN KANSAS...
No "radio crooner," his friends proclaim, is Chamberlain Landon. Less experienced before the microphone than Mr. Roosevelt, the Republican candidate nevertheless has developed a speaking technique tailored to the conservative tone of his campaign—folksy in discussion, biting in attack. He is considered at his best when addressing small groups such as he meets in innumerable rear platform appearances.

SAFETY TEXTS TAX RECEIPTS ARE PREPARED CONTINUE GAIN

Books to Be Sent to Teachers Without Cost
Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Oct. —A list of 103 textbooks and pamphlets dealing with safety and especially highway safety, has been prepared by Director Arthur Fulk of highway safety division of the Department of Revenue, for distribution to any school teachers over the state who may be interested in getting this list or any of the books or pamphlets on the list, he said today.
All of these books will be sent without charge to any teacher requesting them, Fulk said. In most cases, only one book will be sent to each teacher, though in some cases as many copies will be sent as are requested. The list also includes posters dealing with highway safety which will be furnished free of charge to teachers and schools, Fulk said.
"At the present time, we are in a position to supply teachers only with lists of these textbooks and pamphlets dealing with safety," Fulk said. "But these lists, in addition to listing 103 of these texts and pamphlets, give the names and addresses of firms or organizations from which they may be obtained by teachers or schools upon application. A number of these texts have been prepared by the education division of the National Safety Council and others by organization interested in promoting greater safety in all walks of life, and especially more safety on the highways."
Many requests have already been received from teachers for texts and other material to assist them in teaching safety, Fulk said, and indications are that more teachers are devoting more time to teaching safety in the schools this year than ever before.
"We have felt for some time that one of our greatest needs in North Carolina is for more educational work along safety lines," Fulk said. "This was borne out this week when Ben Stroup, safety expert with the National Safety Council, said that the only things North Carolina is deficient in is safety education and better engineering from a safety standpoint. As a result, we are going to try to stress our education program more than ever."

Explains Three Ways Of Controlling Smut
Raleigh, Oct. —Three methods of controlling smut in small grains are available to North Carolina farmers, according to Dr. Luther Shaw, extension plant pathologist at State College.
They are: planting disease-free seed, treating infected seed, and planting seed of a smut-resistant variety (this last applies to oats, but not to other small grains).
Wheat, barley, and other small grains can be protected from the disease only by the first two methods, and the second is the better of the two, Dr. Shaw stated.
Theoretically, planting disease-free seed should be the best way to keep down smut, he added, but in practice it is hard to keep the seed from being contaminated from diseased seed or from threshing machines.

DON AMECHE, LORETTA YOUNG IN NEW FILM HIT, "RAMONA"
Filmed entirely in gorgeous technicolor, "Ramona" opens a three days' run at the Pitt Monday. Critics advise that the picture sets new standards in the fields of romance color-scenic and beauty. The cast features Loretta Young, Kent Taylor and Don Ameche, the latter being a comparatively newcomer to the screen. Before going to Hollywood, Ameche was featured on several national broadcast programs and has also had considerable stage experience.

$6,409,492 as compared with $5,881,910 for the same three months last year, an increase of $727,572 or of 12.78 per cent.
Combining both the general fund and the highway fund collections into a single lump, the total September collections amounted to $4,603,319 as compared with $3,975,208 in September, 1935, while total collections for both funds to date for the first three months of this fiscal year are $18,797,940 as compared with total collections for the corresponding three months last year of $14,130,937, an increase of 33 per cent over total collections from all sources last year.
All but $1,000,000 of highway fund collections go to the maintenance of the highways and the state prison system, the $1,000,000 going to the schools. Sixty-three per cent of the general fund collections go for the maintenance of the public schools, the remainder being used for the maintenance of the state departments and institutions.
