TWO NOMINEES HOLDING FIRE TEMPORARILY

Supporters, However, Engaging in Verbal Outbursts

PRESIDENT BACK IN WASHINGTON

Insured by Wm. Green That Labor is 90 Per Cent Behind His Re-election

(By Associated Press) While their supporters came to verbal blows, President Roosevelt and Governor Landon temporarily held their fire today...

At Topeka Governor Landon conferred yesterday with Edwin Corsi, former immigration commissioner at Ellis Island, N. J. Corsi said Landon promised consideration of a proposal to liberalize the present immigration laws.

Another caller quoted Landon as favoring an effective "legal means" to put a stop to lynching.

President Roosevelt returned to Washington from Hyde Park, New York, after a series of conferences with supporters. One of them, Pres. William Green of the American Federation of Labor, reported that labor was "90 per cent" for the President.

Another caller, Frank Murphy, Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan pointed to "industrial gains."

Walling away at the administration, Col. Frank Knox said at Boston last night, while President Roosevelt repudiates communists support, he failed "peculiarly enough" to explain "why the communists want to see him re-elected."

Another attack on the New Deal came from a Democratic former senator, James A. Reed, of Missouri, who said at Newark, N. J., that its social program was "complete and tyrannical," leading to "enslavement of all people."

City's Residents Asked Cooperate To Prevent Fires

Mayor Blount Issues Proclamation Officially Setting Aside Fire Prevention Week

Mayor M. K. Blount today issued a statement in which he officially proclaimed this week as Fire Prevention Week, in keeping with other municipalities throughout the State and Nation.

The City's First Citizen called on the citizens of Greenville to lend their efforts to the campaign to keep the loss by fires at a minimum.

The Mayor's proclamation follows: This week, beginning October 5th and continuing through October 10th has been designated as National Fire Prevention Week.

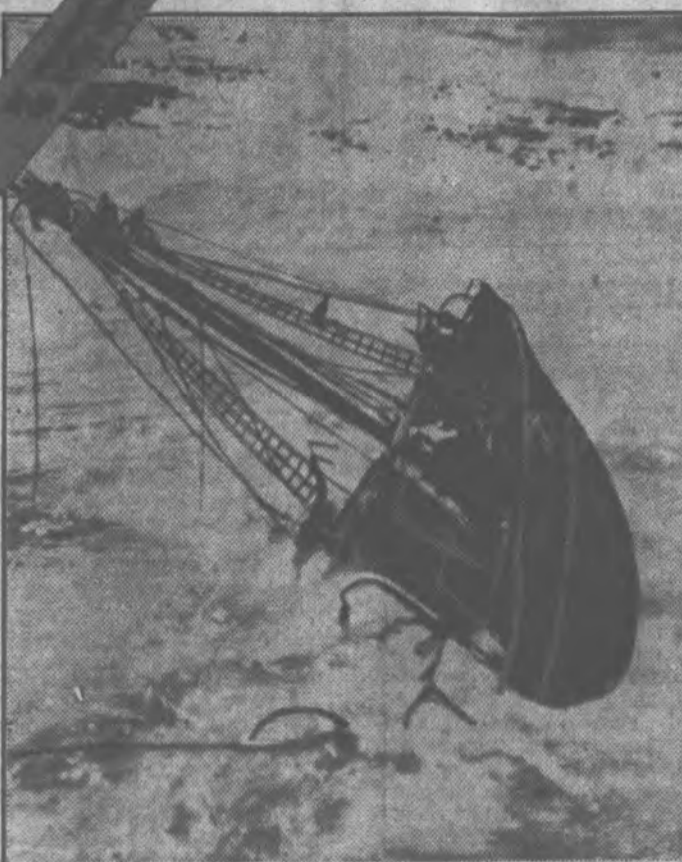

The North Carolina Fireman's Association and its associate organizations are cooperating with the municipalities of the State in an effort to make a successful campaign and to educate the citizens of the State the necessity of Fire Prevention and in appreciation of our local organizations such as the Boy Scouts and the Greenville Graded Schools, I hereby officially proclaim October 5th through 10th, in Greenville as Fire Prevention Week.

It is the desire of the City of Greenville, through its Fire Department to cooperate with its citizens and to urge them to clean up their premises and basements so that dangerous fire traps may be eliminated. At the present time the City has a splendid record for its achievements in the prevention of fires and we urge the people of Greenville to continue this effort.

We also urge the Greenville Graded Schools to arrange for drills in order that school children may be protected in case of some sudden outbreak of fire. We particularly call attention to the fact that in many basements and storage rooms paper and trash is allowed to accumulate, notwithstanding the fact that this is in strict violation of the law. The Fire Department during this week endeavors to make this a strictly Clean-Up Campaign so that every possibility of fire will be prevented and to this end will make a complete check of all fire hazards within the

Old Fair Grounds Leased To Hold Pitt Exposition

Officials of the Pitt County Fair association yesterday closed negotiations with owners of the old fair grounds, off the Farmville highway, to hold the 1936 edition of the exposition, under the auspices of the two Pitt county American Legion posts, on the old site.

The association originally planned to hold the fair on the recently leased grounds on the Falkland highway, but due to the short time in which to complete preparations and get the ground in shape, it was decided to lease the old grounds for the week of the fair—October 26. The exhibit hall at the old site is being made ready to

OCEAN FLIGHT STARTED AMID BAD WEATHER

Swedish Flier Points Ship Toward Stockholm, Sweden

Monoplane, Powered With 450 Horse-Power Engine, Carrying 795 Gallons of Gasoline.

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A hazardous flight in a 3,000-mile straight line toward the coast, Kurt Bjorkvall, 31-year-old Swedish flier, pointed the nose of his red and green monoplane Pacer-maker eastward today in a projected non-stop flight to Stockholm.

Bjorkvall lifted his plane from the runways of Floyd Bennett field at 7:35 a. m., eastern standard time, climbed steadily as the ship gathered speed and 40 minutes later was off the Long Island coast, cruising at about 100 miles an hour.

On the ground he left a dejected baroness, Eva von Blixen-Fincken, who had expected until the last minute to accompany him.

Bjorkvall, who purchased the Bellanca monoplane outright a few days ago, rejected pleas of the baroness to make the flight in a dramatic conference in a tiny office near where his plane waited.

A Swedish newspaper was the original promoter of the flight for the pair. Due to criticism of the risk to be encountered by the baroness on the trip this late in the season, friends said, the paper withdrew its support.

The monoplane powered with a 450-horse-power engine, carried 795 gallons of gas.

High Court Faces South Carolina Project Decision

Case Involves Constitutionality of Government Financing of Publicly-Owned Project

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—One of the major cases facing the new term of the Supreme court opened this week is that involving the right of the government to provide $2,300,000 in public works funds for the Buzzards Roost power project in Greenwood county, S. C.

An important test of the New Deal's power policy, the case involves the constitutionality of government financing of publicly-owned utilities.

The Duke Power Company of Charlotte, N. C. has appealed from the decision of the Circuit court of appeals which upheld the government and the court is expected to set arguments for November 9—a date agreed upon by opposing counsel.

Before the hearing on the case, however, the high court is expected to decide whether other cases involving government loans and grants for public-owned hydro electric plants are to be heard simultaneously.

A number of such cases are pending.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG News Behind The News

WASHINGTON (By Ray Tucker) PLANS: New Dealers are bracing themselves against the shock of the mail box offensive which certain industrialists will deliver against FDR in the waning weeks of the campaign.

Though details are secret, the last minute attack will resemble Mark Hanna's tactics except that it will be modified to escape new laws banning coercion of workers and insurance companies, but they have lately cooled toward the idea of political solicitations of depositors.

Principal sponsors so far are the National Association of Manufacturers and Felix duPont, but the idea is spreading. Original plans contemplated enlistment of banks and insurance companies, but they have lately cooled toward the idea of political solicitations of depositors.

The Council of Roosevelt Electors, headed by Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee, is being organized in every city and town throughout the country and will solicit individual contributions to raise the National Campaign fund. American League Yankees Clinch 1936 Championship By Trouncing Giants, 13-5

McCarthy men Go On Ninth Inning Spree in Sixth Game to Score 7 Runs and Win Series, Four Games to Two After Two Teams Had Played on Equal Terms During First Part of Battle

Pole Ground, New York, Oct. 6.—The American League Yankees today defeated the National League Giants, 13 to 5, to win the 1936 World's Series, four games to two.

The Yanks entered the ninth inning on the bright side of a 6 to 5 score and slaughtered the Giants for seven additional runs to put the game on ice.

The two teams played on equal terms during the first eight innings of the contest. Although trailing most of the time, the Giants were within striking distance until the McCarthy men made a race-track of the diamond and scored the seven extra markers.

The Giants won the first game of the series, but the Yankees came back to take the next three straight. The National League pantant winners' hopes were revived when they took the fifth game yesterday, but the Yankees' batting power was too much for them today.

The game, play by play: First Inning Yankees—Crossett popped out to second. Miller flied out to Terry at first. DiMaggio flied out to center field.

Giants—Moore singled to left field. Bartell was given a base on balls. Terry sacrificed with a neat bunt, both runners advancing as Terry was thrown out at first. Lieber was given a base on balls filling the bases. Ott hit to right field for two bases, scoring Moore and Bartell. Lieber went to third. Mancuso popped a foul to third for the second out. Whitehead grounded to second and was thrown out at first. Two runs, two hits.

Second Inning Yankees—Gehrig out on fly ball to deep right center field. Dickey out on fly to left field. Selkirk got three bases on a drive to deep right.

Average Of $25.06 Paid On Local Market Monday

Highest Prices Paid Than on Any Day This Season

An official average of $25.06 on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday set a record for auction this year, surpassing the previous high mark of $23.89 set on Monday of last week.

The near-record offerings yesterday enabled another year's mark to be broken—that of money paid out. Farmers from the some 35 counties in Eastern North Carolina who sold their tobacco here yesterday were paid a total of $340,311.31, as compared to $327,461.24 on Monday of last week, a record to that date.

Offerings on the two days were practically the same, 1,357,702 pounds having been sold yesterday, compared to 1,370,840 pounds on the same day last week.

All grades sold higher on the market yesterday than on any day this year and medium to good grades brought much higher prices. Indications were today's average would be good. Floors were being cleared today.

Farmers and warehousemen appeared enthusiastic over the turn the market is taking. The local market is bringing the best prices paid in the belt and farmers from all over the section are bringing their tobacco here.

Yesterday's good average brought the season's general average up to $21.98, the highest it has hit in the past two or three weeks. It compared with a season average of $20.86 at the close of sales last Thursday.

So far this season 19,911,298 pounds of tobacco have been sold on the local market for which farmers have been paid a total of $4,371,529.57.

REBEL FORCES MAKING READY TAKE CAPITAL

General Advance Is Held Up Prepare For Battle

BRISK FIGHTING ON MANY FRONTS

Still Much Work To Be Done in Toledo Section Where Snipers are Active.

(By Associated Press) With tank battles on many fronts, Spanish insurgents re-allocated 150,000 trained men today for their march on Madrid, while the government proclaimed it was holding its lines on all sectors.

The fascists held up their general advance, resolved to be well prepared for a bitter conflict. They still was "stop up" work to be done in the immediate vicinity of Toledo, where government snipers harassed the insurgent conquerors.

The fascists claimed: Advance of their troops to within six miles of the government Madrid-Valencia railroad; repulse of a government attack on Huesca, in the northeast; defeat of government forces at Burgos, just north of Toledo; destruction of government planes in the Toledo area; a bomb raid on Jafate airport, just south of Madrid.

The government claimed: Still defense from the Avila front west of the capital in the Caspian front on the northeast; dispersal of a cavalry charge in the mountains 30 miles northwest of Madrid; an attack on the insurgent base at Segovia; capture of 17 planes in the course of an insurgent raid; Orduña, a left flank post, advanced the Tago river in the Toledo area.

The government also claimed: TO HAVE TAKEN OVER 200 (Copyright by Associated Press) Hendaye, Franco-Spanish border.

Gov. Alf M. Landon said today the new deal was employing censorship of the source of news, which he said was "just as bad as the censorship of news."

Harry L. Hopkins, who shot of the source of news, the Presidential nominee asked for a press conference in reply to questions concerning the WPA administrator's statement that letter records were open to "anybody who has a legitimate reason to see them."

Landon said he thought WPA costs, records and payroll "is a public business and such information should be made available to any newspaper."

"I view newspaper publicity as a legitimate purpose of the Republican candidate said. "All public records of any kind or description should be open to the newspaper."

"It doesn't make any difference whether or not it should be during a campaign. Censorship of the source of news is just as bad as censorship of the news."

Shipping Concerns Ask Investigation Of Freight Rates

Twenty-four Concerns Request Interstate Commerce Commission to Investigate Probe

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Twenty-four shipping organizations in nine states asked the inter-state commerce commission today for a sweeping investigation of the rate level in southern territory.

They contended in their petitions that railroad class freight rates in southern territory are unreasonably high, burdensome antiquated, and obsolete.

They said it was their belief the high level of present rates unduly hamper and restrict the traffic in the south in violation of the rate of rate making in the interstate commerce act.

The petitioners asked that an investigation be instituted and that an order be issued requiring the establishment of "just and reasonable" rates in the south and that "such other additional relief be accorded as the commission may deem proper."

Petit ones included Wilmington Post Traffic Association, Inc., Wilmington, N. C.; North Carolina Traffic Commission and the North Carolina traffic league.

Senator Reynolds Holds People Behind Roosevelt

Confident President Will Carry New York State

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, New York, Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt will be re-elected on November 3 because the people of the United States are grateful for what he has done for them, because they have confidence in him as a man and as an executive and because they believe he should have another four years in which to carry out his program and to demonstrate to the nation whether he is right or wrong.

Senator Robert R. Reynolds of Asheville told this correspondent while at Democratic headquarters here Monday arranging his speaking itinerary from now until November 3, during which time he expects to speak in every one of the 100 counties.

Senator Reynolds is confident that the President will carry New York, Pennsylvania and Maryland as well as most of the far western and middle western states.

"I spoke last week in New York and drove through Maryland and Pennsylvania both to and from New York," Senator Reynolds said. "I made it a point to talk to as many people as possible and get their reactions. I also kept careful and accurate count of the automobiles and tags on them. Through all these three states, there were 25 tags for Roosevelt for every one for Landon, while most of those to whom I talked maintained without hesitation that Roosevelt would lead in each state. So in spite of the claims of the Republicans and big banks and corporations that Landon rather than Roosevelt will carry these states, I am confident that the rank and file of the people are for Roosevelt and that he will lead by a large majority in these states."

Senator Reynolds said that within the past six weeks he has been in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma and West Virginia, and that he is convinced that Roosevelt will carry Illinois, Missouri and Oklahoma without any difficulty, will probably also carry West Virginia and that he has an even chance to carry Ohio and Indiana, although the situation is very close in these last two states.

"The people of the United States are fundamentally appreciative and grateful, especially to any one who comes to their aid in times of need and real distress," Senator Reynolds said. "The rank and file of the people have not forgotten that President Roosevelt came to their assistance in the dark, distressing days of 1933 and that he has consistently stood by them ever since. They know now that their money is safe in any bank, whereas it formerly was not safe in any bank. They know that prices for their farm products have steadily increased and that their incomes have been growing steadily each year.

They know that the President's policies have kept them out of foreign entanglements, with the result that the United States is almost the only nation in the world today not threatened by war. They know that Mr. Roosevelt has helped 1,000,000 home owners save their homes through the Home Owners Loan Corporation, of which more than 12,000 were in North Carolina. They are not going to be lured into deserting a President, who has done something definite and tangible for them by the indefinite and empty promises being made by Governor Landon and the Republican high command. They know better than to trade off something for nothing.

"The rank and file of the people are also going to vote for Mr. Roosevelt, because they have confidence in Roosevelt the man, and know he is a man with an understanding heart. They know he will continue to help the aged and the unfortunate, just as he has during the past four years with old age pensions, unemployment insurance and other features of the Social Security laws. They have not forgotten how he has taken some 600,000 boys and men without jobs, put them in the Civilian Conservation Corps, paid them $30 a month each, but with the stipulation that $25 of this $30 a month be sent home to their parents.

"The people are for him both because of what he has already done and because they are convinced he deserves four more years in which to put more of his program into operation.

"The result is that not only North Carolina, but a majority of the other states are going to vote for President Roosevelt and reelect him for another four years. They know that Governor Landon could and would do no more than Herbert Hoover did, because he would be controlled by the same Republican reactionaries who controlled Hoover."

How's Your Health?

Lumbago
Acute lumbago is a condition which strikes without warning. A moment ago the victim was in good health. Now he is a bent-over, rigid bundle of pain. Any effort he makes to straighten his back produces intense pain. He is indeed a helpless, crippled being.

How does this condition develop? Acute lumbago is essentially an inflammation of the muscles of the lumbosacral region (in the region of the small of the back). The muscles are generally diffusely tender, though the pain may be most acute in one spot.

The cause of the condition has not as yet been established with complete certainty. Presumably, and by analogy with other muscle cramp conditions, it is caused by a failure of blood circulation in the affected muscles. The failure is relative; the blood supply is not adequate to remove the waste products of muscular activity. For lumbago is frequently brought on by unaccustomed, severe or prolonged activity involving the back muscles. Also it is at times precipitated by exposure to draught, which chills the body and, causing a contraction of blood vessels, reduces the blood flow.

The treatment of this condition is suggested by its cause. Massage, muscular kneading, application of heat to the back and hot baths help to stimulate circulation in the affected parts. If the sufferer is heroic enough to perform vigorous exercises involving the back muscles, he may be rewarded for his heroism with prompt relief. To counter-act the pain mild sedatives may be employed, but alcohol is not to be taken.

While undue muscular effort may be the precipitating cause of lumbago, its predisposing causes are those factors generally grouped as "rundown condition." These include fatigue, constipation, lack of exercise, foci of infection, and over-eating with the resulting overweight.

Thus far, we have been dealing with acute lumbago, a condition to be distinguished from chronic lumbago. The latter is characterized by chronic discomfort and stiffness in the back, with possibly frequent aggravation of the condition.

Prisoners May Be Used To Drive School Trucks

More Advanced If Task Shifted To Highway Dept.

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—The movement now under way to transfer all school transportation to the State Highway and Public Works Commission, to be paid for from highway funds, in order to permit the expenditure of a larger portion of school funds for teachers' salaries, should succeed, it might mean that trusty prisoners would be used as school bus drivers, it is being pointed out in circles here which are following this move very carefully.

For the present agitation in favor of adult school bus drivers is regarded as nothing more than an indirect attempt to arouse public opinion to such a point that it will compel the next general assembly to insist on adult drivers and thus be compelled to unload the school transportation system on the highway department.

For those favoring this plan know that the general assembly is not likely to appropriate the $1,000,000 or more additional necessary to employ adult drivers for each of the 4,000 school buses. But they believe there is enough "surplus" in the highway fund for the highway department to take over the entire school transportation system and provide for adult drivers.

The "joker" in this plan, however, is that its authors do not seem to realize that by the time the 1937 general assembly meets there "aint gonna be no surplus" left in the highway fund. For the action by the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission recently in making a third and last allotment of $2,800,000 from the former "surplus" to be used immediately on additional road maintenance and betterments, completely wipes out the old surplus and leaves only a normal balance in the highway fund.

So if the advocates of adult school bus drivers and of turning the school transportation system over to the highway department should succeed in their objectives, the highway commission would be faced with having to carry on another $2,500,000 a year job but with no additional revenue to do it with. In order to do the job as economically as possible and to have as much money left as possible to use in highway maintenance, the highway department might decide to use "trusty" prisoners as school bus drivers. This would be more economical than using student drivers, such as are used at present in most counties, since it would not be necessary to pay prisoners anything, while the student bus drivers are paid $9 a month.

And if the highway department employed civilian adult drivers, it would have to pay some 4,000 drivers from $23 to $40 a month or from $640,000 to $1,200,000 a year—much more than it could afford. It is also air-mailed by many that the type of adult drivers who could be employed at from $23 to $40 a month would not be equal to the present student drivers in either mentality, dependability or safety. For the records of the School Commission show, when compared with the safety records of other drivers, that the student drivers are the safest and have fewer accidents than any others in the state and that last year there was only one accident to each 1,312,500 school bus miles. This means that school buses with student drivers are at the present time just twice as safe as commercial vehicles.

When the parents of the state learn the facts and come to realize that the agitation in favor of adult drivers is actually a move towards dumping the school transportation into the lap of the State Highway Commission, which might substitute "trusty" convict drivers for the present student drivers, those who are now clamoring for adult drivers and for removing the transportation system from the School Commission, are likely to clamor just as loudly in favor of leaving it where it now is, many observers here believe.

For the accident statistics of the past several years show that there have been fewer accidents involving buses driven by students than among those driven by adults. There is nothing to indicate that if the highway department did not use prisoners as drivers, it could employ adult drivers who would be any better than those now employed by the county boards of education in counties where adult drivers are used.

Under the present system, adult bus drivers may be employed in any county in which the board of county commissioners will provide the difference between the $9 a month allowed for bus drivers by the state and the amount needed to employ adult drivers. But most county superintendents frankly prefer the student drivers to adult drivers because they are more carefully supervised, drive more carefully and have made better records according to school commission officials.

John Bryan, grandson of William Jennings Bryan, plays small roles in the movies.

MAKE A DATE FOR YOURSELF

Do you think you can spare an hour or two this week in the interest of saving your property from destruction—and perhaps saving your loved ones and yourself from horrible deaths?

If you can, make a date with yourself now to take advantage of Fire Prevention Week, which is being observed this week.

Read the material that is being published during the Week—in pamphlets, magazines and newspapers—and learn of the common fire hazards and how to eliminate them.

If you want further information, go to your local fire chief—he will be more than glad to help you with any fire prevention problem.

Thoroughly inspect your hazards, from cellar to rooftop. And when you find the hazards, correct them at once—don't wait for a tomorrow that may never come.

Remember that repairs to electrical apparatus, heating plants, etc., require special knowledge and should be made by a qualified expert. Amateur work of this kind may create new hazards instead of correcting old ones.

Remember the date: this week. You can spare the few hours that will serve to make your home safe from fire—and you'll sleep better nights when the job is done.

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

DEAD: Ant-trust prosecutions strategically scheduled before election day will not come off for the simple reason that there are no victims in sight.

Department of Justice docket bulge with complaints of violations of the Sherman and Clayton acts. But official investigation usually discloses that manufacturers and business men are using the law as a nice, polite sort of commercial blackmail. Here's how it works: When a powerful corporation threatens to encroach on a little fellow's prices or territory, the latter calls out Uncle Sam's anti-trust detectives. The game is to frighten the trust-breaking company into buying off his little competitor at a fancy price, or to scare the invader into retreat. If this strategy succeeds, the complainant immediately withdraws his charges or refuses to furnish evidence to support them.

Numerous judicial decisions and legal devices—fixing prices by unwritten agreements, corporate domination of markets, allocation of territory by private understanding—have virtually killed off competition and made a dead letter of the anti-trust laws. Advanced legalites insist that they need wholesale overhauling.

EXPERIENCE: The only outsider to sit in on the White House conference was Louis Wehle. His role and his reputation were deliberately underplayed in all preliminary announcements of the affair. He was listed simply as "Louis

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Lee-Ramsden, guardian of Miss Fraser, had engaged a shabby lawyer and his gang of kidnapers to make away with his ward. But Terence Mahony, much to everybody's amazement, rescued her, who returns the favor by providing Terence a false alibi against a murder he did not commit. Terence is on his way home from selling Lee-Ramsden things he should not have told him when he meets a shabby individual who claims to have known him in China. Terence does not suspect Lee-Ramsden, he knows Lawson is a crook but can't prove it.

Chapter 20 TERENCE TRAPPED

"HAVE you still got the note?" asked Mahony of the shabby man. "Yes, I think so."

The shabby man fumbled in a breast pocket and produced a crumpled envelope. "Here it is. I'm supposed to deliver it at ten tonight if I want that job, but I'm not taking any, I'd rather pick pockets or try my hand at a cat burglary."

Mahony considered for a moment. He looked the shabby man up and down. "I'll give you a fiver for that note," he said.

"What?" exclaimed Milson. "But... surely you're not thinking of trying for that job, are you?" Mahony did not answer the question.

"Do you want that fiver?" he asked. Milson shrugged his shoulders. "Of course I want the fiver; I always want fivers," he remarked. "And if you don't mind taking a job like that, I suppose that's your feneral. Here you are; deliver it to Mr. Brown, 137 Jamaica Road, Pennsylvania, at ten tonight. And good luck to you."

Mahony handed over the fiver and received the note. He declined Milson's urgent invitation to come somewhere and have a drink, and left him.

When Mahony was out of sight Milson entered the nearest telephone-box. The man he telephoned was Ambrose Lawson.

"He fell for it all right," he stated. "That was all he said. Then he rang off."

MILSON was not altogether right in saying that Mahony had fallen for it. At the beginning of their conversation Mahony had been ready to believe that he might have met Milson in the Shanghai Bar and forgotten meeting him.

Then there had come a little discrepancy in Milson's story—the mention of Kosoff. Mahony had never known Kosoff in Shanghai. But he had mentioned the name of Shultz as a dope trafficker at the Little's that morning. And the fact that he had been a newspaper correspondent in China might easily be known to Lawson; Billy Ross might have mentioned it.

It occurred to Mahony that Lawson had put together all he knew about Mahony's career in China to try to lure him into a trap.

Mahony intended to walk into that trap, not blind and unaware, but with his eyes open, expecting trouble and ready for it. One precaution only he took: he wrote a note to Lee-Ramsden telling him what he proposed doing, and the address he was going to.

That note would reach Lee-Ramsden by the first post in the morning, and Mahony asked Lee-Ramsden to communicate with Inspector Kennedy if he should not ring him up before eleven the same morning.

Just before ten that night Mahony rapped at the door of 137 Jamaica Road, which was a tall, dingy, tumble-down house, in a row of dingy tumble-down houses. The door was opened by a bent, shriveled old man, who looked up at Mahony out of bleary eyes. Mahony handed him the note.

"I was told to bring this here at ten tonight," he said. The old man took the note and looked at Mahony suspiciously. "Wait here a minute," he said. He closed the front door. Mahony waited. After about half a minute the front door opened again and the old man beckoned Mahony inside. His manner this time was more civil and conciliating.

"Mr. Brown says you're to come in and wait in his room," he said. "He won't keep you longer than he can help." Mahony's hand was in his coat pocket; he was ready for anything that might happen, but though he strained his ears to hear the slightest sound near him he could hear nothing except his own footsteps and those of the old man; the house seemed surprisingly silent, almost deserted.

It was delivered in 1923—a decade before Der Fuehrer's seizure of power. It upset a lower court's ruling that a high caste Hindu was entitled to citizenship because scientists had held his race to be Aryan stock. "The Aryan theory as a racial basis," declared Justice Sutherland "seems to be discredited by most, if not all, modern writers on the subject of ethnology." The word "Caucasian" is in scarcely better repute." The court then pointed out that some classifications include Hindus, Samoans, Hawaiians and Ethiopians (Hale Selassie will be glad to know that) among the "white races."

LESSONS: For two years the American government has entertained and edited civil aviation officials of South American countries in an effort to open their markets to our airplane products. So far the missionary work has produced no orders that would not have been forthcoming without solicitation. European nations, especially Italy and Germany, are capturing the South American field. The Latin pilots prefer our planes but it's the higher-ups who do the purchasing. And as our bond salesmen discovered in the twenties, it's necessary to grease a few palms to do business. Foreign competitors are less scrupulous about this custom than American traders.

Our manufacturers also demand cash (they are still owed $800,000 by one nation), whereas the Italians and Germans advance credit or accept goods in payment. It may be hard on Promoter Daniel C. Roper but it means that Yankee producers have learned a few lessons since since the days when they loaned money to finance purchase of their goods—and then couldn't collect the loans or recover their property.

EVERYTHING was very quiet except for the slow tick-tock, tick-tock of a clock on one of the walls of the room. Minutes drag by very slowly when a man's nerves are strained and alert, waiting for something to happen. Five minutes passed, ten minutes passed, and still the house remained quiet.

Mahony smoked; he walked up and down the room; he glanced cautiously at the articles on the desk. At last, very softly, he pulled at one of the drawers.

It opened, and inside were a number of thin paper packets. One of the packets had burst slightly at one end, and from it had spilled a little shiny, white powder. Mahony wetted one finger lightly, and tasted a tiny particle of the powder. The cold, numb sensation on the end of his tongue told him instantly what the powder was. It was cocaine.

The silence of the house was suddenly broken. From down below at the front door came a sound of banging, and then of men's rough voices in the hall. Mahony closed the drawer swiftly. He had no doubt that whatever was going to happen would happen now, and he was ready and waiting for it.

There was a sound of footsteps on the stairs leading up to the room. Mahony stood leaning back against the mantelpiece in an easy attitude, one hand in the pocket of his coat. The door of the room was flung violently open and a man stepped in.

He was a very large man, and very ugly. A shabby cap, pulled down at an angle over one eye, entirely failed to conceal his shock of untidy red hair. His brow was low; his eyes were small and deep-set, his lower jaw was underhung like that of a bulldog.

He closed the door deliberately behind him and stood in front of it scowling at Mahony, a huge, menacing figure.

"Good evenin' to ye, Mr. Brown," he said with a kind of savage politeness. "I just called in for me money."

"I'm not Mr. Brown," replied Mahony. "Are ye not so?" said the man. He took a pace forward suddenly and brought his huge right fist down with a loud crack into the palm of his left hand.

"What in hell do I care what ye're after calling yourself tonight?" he roared ferociously. "Isn't it enough trouble ye're after causing me, with the cops looking for me and all, without standin' there arguing the toss about what name ye'd be passin' by? Give me me fifty quid and let me go—or have I got to squeeze the money out of you with me bare hands?"

It was obvious that he was in a real Irish temper; nothing would have pleased him better than a fight. The last thing Mahony wanted was a fight with a stranger at that moment.

"Don't be a damned fool," he said sharply. "I've told you I'm not Mr. Brown. I'm waiting for him myself." The Irishman made a gesture of disgust.

"Do you think you'll wriggle out of paying me that way, ye twisting curlican?" he demanded angrily. "Didn't I have the tip that you'd be here at ten tonight? Wasn't you seen to come in at ten? Didn't the old fellow below tell me you was here?"

WHITES: By solemn decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, Adolf Hitler's crusade to make the world safe for "Aryan" and "Caucasian" peoples has no standing in court. It is illegal, unconstitutional and unscientific by decree of a most conservative jurist—Associate Justice Sutherland.

The opinion was exhumed from the files by a lawyer who has a racial and sentimental interest in Herr Hitler's anti-Jewish policies the national as well as the state campaign. Some months ago there was considerable talk—as we reported at the time—of substituting Jackson for Lieutenant Governor William Bray on the New York Democratic ticket this year. It was felt that he would be a far more suitable crown prince for Governor Lehman than the incumbent, being heartily in accord with New Deal principles. The Governor himself is said to have viewed the proposal favorably. However, it turned out to be politically inexpedient and was dropped.

It is worth noting that Jackson himself was realistic enough to realize it would never do. He opposed it privately from the beginning and his advice was quite a factor in the decision to abandon it. He will be given a chance to make a name for himself as Assistant Attorney General. Lawyers who should know say he has done an astute job in his preparation of the government's case against Electric Bond and Share.

COURAGE: William F. Bleakley—Republican candidate for governor of New York—is given high credit by dispassionate observers for resisting the temptation to make the most of the "communist issue."

The temptation is especially strong in this state. The current anti-Red campaign of the Catholic church ties in so beautifully with the large proportion of Catholic voters and the fact that the G. O. P. nominee belongs to that faith. In New York, if anywhere, a vigorous follow-up of Al Smith's "Washington or Moscow" references should get results.

But Mr. Bleakley, asked what he thought about the communist menace, belittled it and ignored the obvious opportunity to pin the label on his opponents. Comment runs that it took real political courage to do this.

ERNEST: Apropos of the wide publicity given the friendship of King Edward VIII and the American Mrs. Simpson, a New Yorker unkindly remarks that Mr. Simpson should by now be aware of "The Unimportance of Being Ernest."

DELIVERY: Mayor LaGuardia of New York City tells his friends they will be surprised at the large number of votes he will deliver for Roosevelt.

This leads to the sardonic comment that he probably will deliver more than the regular Democratic organization in Manhattan (Tammany) at that. SIDELIGHTS: Democratic leaders are afraid of Father Coughlin's influence in Massachusetts and Rhode Island... Woolworth's policy of raising its prime limit is getting results. This year's earnings should be largest since 1931... New York learns that G. O. P. candidate John Bricker is practically certain to be the next governor of Ohio.

BOOSTER TRIP HUGE SUCCESS

Larger Crowds Expected at 1936 Edition of State Fair

Reflector Bureau
Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—The largest attendance at the North Carolina State Fair in its history is being predicted here today by Norman Y. Chambliss, its manager, as a result of the State Fair Boosters trip through the eastern part of the state's last week sponsored by the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce and by aid under the personal direction of John A. Park, publisher of The Raleigh Times. The enthusiastic welcome given the State Fair Boosters at every stop and the size of the crowds which turned out to welcome the boosters indicates that eastern North Carolinians are going to visit the fair, which opens October 12, in larger numbers than ever before, Chambliss is convinced.

Thousands of school children, in addition to thousands of adults, line the streets and highways as the State Fair caravan passes through town and country to hear the cordial invitations extended by the boosters to attend the fair, Chambliss said. Many of the school children are so excited that they would be admitted to the State Fair free on Friday, October 16. There is more interest in the fair in the east this year than ever before. I feel confident that if the weather is favorable our attendance this year will amount at least to $25,000 for the week.

The booster tour extended from Raleigh eastward to Elizabeth City and back, through the heart of the tobacco growing section. Among the cities and towns visited were Weldon, Norfolk, Rocky Mount, Winton, Greenville, Farmville, Edenton, Kinston, Williamston, and other points in the eastern part of the state. The fair boosters spent the night in Elizabeth City and returned by a different route the second day.

State Prisoners Promised Warmer Clothes For Winter

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—We are going to keep the prisoners warm this winter, especially in the western counties where they frequently have to work in temperatures that stay down around zero, Commissioner of the State Prison, J. M. McNeill, said today. "A prisoner can't be expected to work in a winter coat and overalls and his clothes are better."

"See these winter coats and overalls," he said, "I have ordered for the prisoners. They are made of heavy material and will keep them warm. I have ordered 1500 of these coats and overalls. They will be ready for the prisoners in the next few days."

The State Prison is located in Raleigh, N. C. It is one of the largest and most modern in the South. It has a capacity of 1500 prisoners. It is managed by the State Prison Commission, which is headed by the Commissioner of the State Prison.

Beautiful Riders with Tom Mix Circus

Miss Helen Ford on Rajah (above) will appear here with the new Tom Mix Circus Thursday, October 8th. Tom Mix appears in person with his own big soap.

By HARRY B. CHIPMAN

Never before in the history of the American Circus has such a gorgeous array of sawdust celebrities been gathered together as Tom Mix has assembled with his new wonder show, which will erect its city of twenty-two white tops on the Fairgrounds for one gala day October 8th, giving two complete performances at 2 and 8 p. m. "Rain or shine" under the world's largest water-proofed "big top" under which there are 10,000 comfortable seats for the spectators.

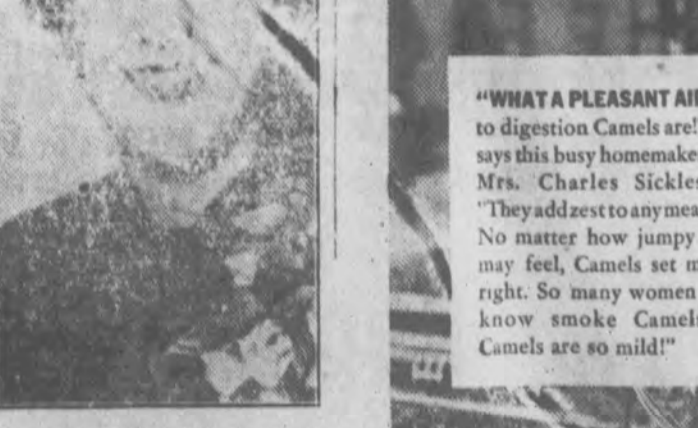

Tom Mix will be seen in both shows, presenting four different acts himself—besides riding on Tony the wonder horse at the head of the magnificent cavalcade of riders, equestrians, and the famous Robinson Circus band—hundreds of beautiful circus girls in spangled costumes, that take part in the most colorful opening ever before presented with any circus. The big show is offered on three nights, on two stages and upon an extra large hippodrome track—two full hours are required to present the finest aggregation of aerialists, funny clowns, acrobats, equestrians, contortionists, riders and world's foremost champions of the circus world.

So-called reduced prices will prevail during the special engagement in Greenville, so low that everyone will be afforded an opportunity to really enjoy circus day—and see the world's greatest picture star—TOM MIX in person—with his wonderful horses.

The fun-loving, manly and horse show, will open an hour before the main show at 12 o'clock. It is a very simple time to inspect the many wonderful and especially transported with the circus, everyone that has seen the new Tom Mix circus, will be the best of it.

ROAD PROGRAM GETS BACKING

Much Interest in Suggestion for New Bond Issue

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Much interest is being shown in all parts of the state in his suggestion that a new road bond issue, say, of $25,000,000 could be sold and retired without increasing the present debt service needs for highway bonds, State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson said today.

Johnson pointed out that he is not advocating such an issue but has merely shown that the suggestion and shown that such a bond issue could be marketed and retired without necessitating any increase in motor vehicle or gasoline taxes. At the same time, he has pointed out that such a bond issue could not be floated and highway taxes reduced.

"It is a question of whether the people of the state would rather have their old roads rebuilt and modernized and their taxes left as they are now, whether they want these taxes reduced and to have roads which are bad at present, get worse and worse in the future," Johnson said today.

"While I am not advocating such a bond issue, the biggest argument in favor of it, as I see it, is that it would help the county roads just as much as it would help the state highway system, since it would make available millions of dollars a year of maintenance funds now being used to patch old and worn out state highways, for use on the county roads. Another argument in favor of the bond issue plan is that the state will never have enough current revenue to rebuild many of these roads and modernize them—all it can do will be to patch them from year to year with maintenance funds. Many of these roads have already been patched so much that there are more patches than original road."

A few people object to the bond issue plan on the grounds that the state should not issue any more road bonds until all the present ones are retired, Johnson said. But he pointed out that with an investment of $300,000 in highways, the state could well afford to issue $25,000,000 in bonds to keep them modern and preserve its original investment, just as a factory owner frequently has to issue new bonds to provide new and modern machinery before he can finish paying for his plant.

"There is no doubt that many people are interested in the bond issue plan," Johnson said.

CIVIL CONFLICT ROTARY TOPIC

Dr. A. D. Frank Discusses Cause of War Raging in Spain

By WYATT BROWN
 Usually in a revolution the rebels are the radicals but in Spain the rebels are the conservatives, said Dr. A. D. Frank at the Rotary Club last night in discussing the Spanish revolution and a few of the international ramifications. He related as background how through bloodless revolution a cabinet form of government had been secured in Spain and finally the abdication of their King. That has been followed by a series of cabinets each more radical than its predecessor until the small land owners and the propertied class have united to stop this increasing radicalism for they see communism as the ultimate outcome.

Spain has become the most radical nation in Europe outside Russia. A couple more cabinet changes and Spain would have adopted communism. Small landowners in Spain got worried that the government would be communist. These people backed up by the army and navy started out to stop the surge toward capitalism. The radicals depended on militia. These radicals are made up of poor people and non property holders.

Thousands have been killed and Dr. Frank interpreted the logical conclusion that many hundred thousand of wounded have resulted and much property destroyed. Two alignments are in process in Europe—one communist Russia, extremely socialist France which will go communist in the face of any crisis, and Spain; the other Fascist Italy, Germany and Austria. If these two alignments materialize there will be precipitated another World War, Dr. Frank stated. From England all leadership toward a constructive future must come; if they will do it, the United States will have been a good turn for the case of a World War we would likely enter the same role we did in the last World War, as ally of England, he declared.

Returning to the Spanish revolution, Dr. Frank told how France is sympathetic with the government of radicals, and Italy and Germany are helping the rebels. The Spanish government had lodged a protest with the League of Nations that the help from Italy and Germany is doing harm. The Spanish say the next war will be within national boundaries and will be between ideal-communist and capitalists.

In the meantime England is dominant on the Mediterranean and has the assurance that the rebels of Spain will cooperate to preserve the present status quo on the Mediterranean if they win, he said.

The guest of the club last night was a visiting Rotarian from Washington, N. C., Maynard Fletcher. The attendance prize given by Joe Drostach was won by A. B. Stalworth.

Talks To Parents

Habit of Reading
 By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
 No one can tell a child just what to read and why. If he is told that he must read a certain book, he is more than apt to develop a marked aversion for it. If he is told not to read a book, that is the one book show all others that he is determined to read. In fact, if one locked up and forbade the child to read all the best books, and ordered or even advised him to read only the worst ones, one might succeed in guiding his reading by contraries. The best way to influence a child's reading is, first, to read to him when he is little; second, to be deeply interested in books one's self; and third, to see that from boyhood up he is surrounded by the world's best literature in attractive and easily available form. Children are naturally curious and very imitative. If they see their parents reading and discussing what they have read, they too want to find out what is in books and talk it over as their parents do. The best educated and most cultured men and women of all times have received their education in literature in this informal way. The prescribed reading in schools is good for little but getting the answers for examination papers. Literature cannot be taught in any such set manner. It is learned by absorption, and the only way to absorb it is unconsciously, by being steeped in it. It is soon forgotten otherwise.

There is today such a profusion of cheap editions of the best books, that a library can be gotten together at comparatively little cost. Book collecting is a profitable and satisfactory hobby. If the family starts a library when the children are small, and keeps adding to it, the children are pretty sure to use it and profit by it later on. To say nothing of the pleasure it should give the adults of the family.

DUKE-CLEMSON TILT SATURDAY

Wademen Told To Disregard Clemson Loss to Alabama

Durham, N. C., Oct. 6.—While Clemson's defeat at the hands of Alabama would make one prone to disbelieve it, there will be a great football game in Duke stadium Saturday when the Tigers come up to battle the Blue Devils.

Despite their defeat, Duke scouts still say that Clemson has a great ball club. They were amazed to learn the score of the Alabama game but attribute it to a case of "jitters" by the young members of the Clemson squad.

There will be no "jitters" on the part of Clemson at Duke Saturday—there never has been—and the wademen are getting things set for a terrific engagement.

In Joe Berry, Mac Folger, Al Sanders and Rudy Orban, the Tigers have one of the finest backfields in the Southern conference. Manly Black, husky left tackle, is a stalwart in the line and Woods, the sophomore center, has been likened to Gilbert of Auburn.

The Tigers were easy for Alabama but they won't be easy for Duke Saturday.

While the Tigers work at Clemson, getting ready to defeat Duke and keep their confidence slate clear, the Blue Devils are trying to get their blocking assignments down better to help Ace Parker and Honey Hackney, who, in most cases, this season, have had to do the running all by themselves.

Duke's offense piled up just as badly against South Carolina as it did against Colgate, despite the ground-gaining of the two great runners. Of course, one 78-yard run by Parker, one of the prettiest dashes ever made in this section, was called back to cut down Duke's yardage.

However, the Blue Devils must be praised for their defense. They held Colgate to 53 yards and they held South Carolina to 13. Their goal line has not been crossed. South Carolina had a first down on the one-foot line, but they were thrown for a yard loss on the first play and then were so rushed that they fumbled and Tipton recovered for Duke on the next play.

Democratic Party In North Carolina To 'Turn On Heat'

Already 16 speeches scheduled for week with likelihood still more will be added

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—State Democratic Headquarters is really going to "turn on the heat" this week with more intensity than ever before, and already has 16 speeches scheduled with the likelihood that still more will be added before the week is over, according to State Chairman J. Wallace Winborne. With the election now only one month off, Chairman Winborne and his aids are planning to greatly intensify the Democratic drive for votes which they are confident will result in one of the largest majorities ever given the Democratic ticket in the state.

Governor-nominate Clyde R. Hoey will also begin his intensive speaking campaign this week which will take him into every section of the state before the election November 3, and which is expected to greatly increase the momentum of the campaign. Senators J. W. Bailey and Robert R. Reynolds are also going into action this week, but the actual date on which Senator Reynolds is to begin his speaking tour, in which he expects to visit every one of the 100 counties, is not definitely known yet, according to D. L. (Libby) Ward, secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, who is in charge of making up the speaking schedule.

In addition to the rigorous speaking campaign planned for this week, Chairman Winborne will continue his intensive organizational work and has three Congressional District meetings scheduled, while Mrs. J. B. Spilman, vice chairman, has a number of meetings planned for the Democratic women, who are becoming more and more interested as the campaign progresses.

Tonight Chairman Winborne will hold a conference with Sixth District leaders in Burlington, while Senator Reynolds, Congressman Bayard Clark and others will address a Democratic rally in Lumberton. Senator Bailey will speak tonight in Burnsville and former State Senator J. M. Broughton, of Raleigh will speak in Salisbury and D. E. Hudgins in Danbury.

An equally imposing speaking schedule for the other days of this week is in the making and will be announced from day to day.

Prominent Educators At Negro Conference

Negro Principal Conference of North Eastern Carolina was held in Greenville, Oct. 3, and was "Welcome Guests" of the Industrial High School for Negroes. Prof. Nelson Harris acting inspector of Negro high schools called the conference to order at 10 o'clock. C. M. Epps, principal of the city delivered the welcome address in behalf of Negro citizens. The city supt. J. H. Rose was presented to principals and gave them assurances of his appreciation and endorsement of what they are trying to do for the advancement of their people. Hon. F. C. Harding captured the Negro principal's conference with a forceful and informing address briefly reviewing the recent military happenings in Spain, Germany, and economic conditions in the United States and our healthy race relations. Mr. Combs of Department of High School Instruction and Dr. H. C. Newbold, director of Negro education brought to the Negro principals valuable information which is necessary in carrying forward the educational program.

The public relations program concerns all citizens which makes necessary the proper guidance of the children who are to be future citizens. The stressing of vocational education as is being done in Greenville.

Hunters Who Jump Season's Opening To Be Prosecuted

Game Protectors in North Carolina Going to "Make It Hard" For Pre-Season Hunters

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—Game protectors throughout North Carolina are going to "make it hard" for hunters who "jump the gun" on open seasons paying particular attention to those who go into the field for quail before the lifting of the season. J. D. Chalk, State game and inland fisheries commissioner, said today.

Reports of some hunters shooting quail have come into the department lately, according to Mr. Chalk, and protectors have been instructed to check closely in each case in an effort to apprehend the offenders.

"Hunting quail before the opening of the season is not only illegal but unfair to law-abiding sportsman who are willing to wait until they can get legal shooting," Chalk said. "Those who kill quail earlier than the law permits take an undue advantage of the other hunters by taking birds at which all hunters should have a chance."

Another justice of before-season hunting, the commissioner continued, is the fact that the later hatches of quail are not yet matured, many still being in the "squawker" or immature class and are scarcely able to fly. The lack of maturity of these birds gives them less opportunity to protect themselves and makes them an easier mark for the hunter, it was pointed out.

Mr. Chalk called on all legal gunners to assist the protectors by giving them information on gunners who violated the law. In this way the sportsmen will not only be assisting in conserving game but will help to preserve their own interest and that of other legal hunters, he said.

Dove shooting, open for a month, closed October 1 and will not re-open until November 20 which is the first day of quail, rabbit, and wild turkey hunting. October 1 also marked the opening of the season on hunting opossum and raccoon with gun or dogs.

Bumper Corn Crop at Halifax Prison Farm

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Oct. 6.—A bumper corn crop that will average 50 bushels to the acre and in some places even more, was produced on some 2,000 acres of bottom land that was flooded in the spring when the Caloanias Prison Farm dykes broke and the Roanoke river swirled in over it, Charles Creech, division prison inspector in charge of farming activities, said today. This big corn crop of more than 100,000 bushels is now being harvested with the assistance of some 200 additional prisoners who have been sent to the farm to help harvest the crop under the personal supervision of Mr. Creech.

"There seems to be no immediate danger of a flood in the Roanoke this fall, but in order to be on the safe side, we are going to harvest this corn crop as rapidly as possible and move it all to high ground where it cannot be injured if a flood should come again either this fall or winter," Creech said. "For while the main break in the dyke has been repaired, some two miles of dykes were seriously damaged and these have not yet been rebuilt. So we are not going to take any chances on losing any of this crop by another flood this fall or winter."
