REBEL FORCES SPEED EFFORT SIEGE MADRID

Cold, Rainy Weather Causes Leaders To Rush Plans

FASCISTS HOLD STRATEGIC AREA

Prospect of Russian Intervention on The Side of Capital Also Factor in Decision

(By Associated Press)
A siege of cold, rainy weather and the prospect of Russian intervention on the side of Madrid propelled the insurgent armies to new speed today.

Fascist leaders, holding the whiphand in the campaign against the capital with a front flanking it from the northeast to the southwest they hoped would carry them into the city in 10 days.

Workers, militiamen, however, related them actively on all fronts.

The captain of the soviet steamer Neva, bound for Alicante, Spain, with 2,500 tons of cloth and food supplies invited Italian representatives to board the ship and see for themselves she carries no arms.

The invitation was a sequel to charges by Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, before the international non-intervention committee in London to the Spanish government forces. Russian spokesmen declared the charges were obviously false.

Socialist artillery and airplanes maintained a steady bombardment of the San Martin de Valdeiglesias sector, hampering insurgents' efforts to consolidate their ranks, but with small success.

Government bombing planes bombarded their own forces in two attacks and a force of militiamen was surrounded by fascist troops in a zone with small change either to advance or retreat.

Driving wind and rain turned the whole battlefront into a mire, but weighed heavier on the government troops who suffered under inferior equipment.

Student Activity Groups Allocated Funds For Session

Budget Committee, Composed of Student and Faculty Members Announces $14,742.90 Expenditure

The budget committee, composed of student and faculty members, announced today that $14,742.90 will be expended for publications, entertainments, and student activities at East Carolina Teachers College this year.

The figures of the budget committee are based on a minimum estimate of the income from the student activity fee of $5 a quarter, which the students voted upon themselves. Income from door receipts at student entertainments, an advertising in the Teo Echo, campus advertising newspaper, are expected to swell the student funds to more than sixteen thousand dollars.

The college annual and student entertainments receive the largest appropriations. The Teo Echo gets $3,000, while $4,400 will be expended by the entertainment committee. Men's athletics, with $1,780.90, receive the third largest allotment.

Other appropriations include: Teo Echo, $1,900, senior class, $150, junior class, $200, senior normal class, $107, Y. W. C. A. $300, men's student government, $300, women's student government, $500, women's athletics, $400, student treasurer and assistant, $270, social committee, $500, glee club, $35, incidentals, $100.

These allotments may be increased, for each activity receives a definite percentage of the total student income.

The amounts assigned the newspaper and the entertainment committee were less than last year; due to increased receipts from other sources. Men's athletics received an increased appropriation, and the glee club received recognition for the first time.

Miss Belle Kearney of Oxford is student treasurer.

No County Court Set For Pitt This Week

The regular term of County court set for tomorrow will not be held due to the fact that so many of the local attorneys are in Raleigh awaiting cases before the North Carolina Supreme court.

Among the cases to be argued include the appeal from the death sentence imposed on Willie Tate for the murder of Alexander Warren.

$50,000 BLAZE EARLY SUNDAY

Blount Fertilizer Co., Completely Wiped Out by Fire Here

On the heels of Fire Prevention Week and shattering the "fine" record made by Greenville this year, the Blount Fertilizer plant on the Norfolk Southern railroad between Ninth and Tenth streets was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin early Sunday morning.

The plant, one of the most complete small factories in the state, was a complete loss. Officials said damage totalled approximately $50,000, with $10,000 loss suffered in destruction of the building, the remaining damage being to materials. The loss was only partially covered by insurance.

Last season the plant put out 10,000 tons of fertilizer, the amount usually produced by plants several times larger than the local factory.

H. Blount, president of the company, said the plant would be rebuilt, but probably at another stand. He expressed deep concern over the loss, saying the company had much pride in the plant.

The fire started some time Saturday night, the exact hour not being known. Firemen were called by telephone about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, but when they arrived the blaze already had reached the roof and efforts were confined to preventing the fire from spreading.

Several people reported seeing smoke coming from the plant earlier in the night, and one person told Fire Chief George Gardner that he thought firemen already had extinguished the blaze and the smoke he saw coming from the plant was only from smoking embers.

The confusion was caused by the fact that firemen had another call about 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning and many who saw the fertilizer plant fire thought the alarm was for that fire. The early blaze was at a negro home on Short street. A mattress was burned at the home of Lillie Forbes, causing only slight damage.

County Court Trial Ordered For Powell

R. L. Powell, local chamber of commerce secretary, today was bound over to county court on a nuisance charge growing out of complaints of indecent exposure. A warrant was served on Powell Saturday and preliminary hearing was held before Magistrate John Ivey Smith this morning. At the conclusion of the hearing this morning Powell collapsed apparently from a stroke and was taken to his apartment in the Woman's Club building. His case was scheduled for hearing in county court on Tuesday, October 20.

Warning Made By German Minister

Hof, Germany, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Rudolf Hess, Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's minister without portfolio, warned Europe tonight that Germany might have to employ "dumping" methods in international commerce if she fails to get her lost colonies back.

Hess, speaking at the opening of a new meeting hall, declared the restoration of the colonies taken from Germany as a result of the World War, would be to the interests of foreign nations because otherwise "Germany would be forced to export at any price, thus impairing the exports of other nations."

1936 TOBACCO SELLS HIGHER

Market News Report Releases Figures Up To Oct. 1

Raleigh, Oct. 12.—(AP)—North Carolina tobacco farmers who sold their leaf on the middle belt markets during the closing days of September received an average of $5.62 per hundred higher than in 1935.

The September market news report of the crop reporting service issued this afternoon showed the middle belt markets were running well ahead of others in the state, with total sales at 30 markets averaging only $21.93 for the month, while the 10 middle markets averaged $24.76.

During September growers sold 129,986,626 pounds, compared with 159,898,861 pounds in the similar period last year, while total sales were 144,979,781 pounds this year at an average of $21.93 compared with 177,589,607 pounds in the period last year at $18.87.

The ten middle belt markets sold 13,187,440 pounds of farmer's tobacco and 14,413,324 pounds in all up to October 1.

Carthage reported the highest average in the state, $26.10 for 454,942 pounds of producers' tobacco, while last year the average there was only $16.81.

Wilson led the bright belt markets in pounds sold, with 17,272,334 pounds offered by farmers. The week averaged $21.75 per hundred compared with $19.15 last year. Smithfield had the best average in the new bright belt, $22.56, for 2,896,004, compared with an average of $17.76 last year.

Greenville producers' sales totalled 14,773,983 pounds at an average of $20.89; Goldsboro's producer sales, 2,795,476 pounds at an average of $21.95; Washington's producer sales, 1,852,832 pounds at an average of $21.18; Rocky Mount's producer sales, 13,139,491 pounds at an average of $22.21.

SUICIDE ENDS MURDER CASE

Officials to Free Companion of Dead Defendant

Eastville, Va., Oct. 12.—(AP)—With one of two prisoners held here in the mail bomb slaying of an Eastern Shore farmer dead by his own hands, Northampton county authorities today indicated they would close the case by releasing his companion.

Dr. H. R. Hege, 47-year-old Mount Airy, N. C. dentist, bled to death early Sunday from gashes cut in his wrist and neck with a fragment of his eye glasses.

W. S. D. Williams, Northampton trial justice, called the prisoner's death a plain case of suicide and said no inquest would be held.

Commonwealth Attorney Charles Lankford, Jr. indicated a murder charge against Ed Banner, Mount Airy WPA foreman, would be not pressed.

"We don't think that Banner did anything he could be punished for," Lankford said.

The two men were arrested in Carroll county, Va., a week ago today and charged with sending the "wedding present" bomb that killed Curry Thomas, prosperous farmer, and seriously wounded his bride of few weeks.

Mrs. Thomas was a nurse in Dr. Hege's office for three years before she married last summer.

Though an attorney quoted Dr. Hege as insisting he did not send the bomb, Lankford, who hitherto had closely guarded his information on the case, said the state had evidence the dentist had bought dynamite and "had access to" lead pipe and fuses.

FDR DECLARES U.S. MONETARY SYSTEM SOUND

Tells Denver Audience That 'We Are Around Corner'

ASSERTS RELIEF COST ON DECLINE

Assails Republican Leaders for Attacking Expenditures To Aid Needy

Denver, Oct. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, standing in the shadow of the Rockies today coupled a declaration that "we are around the corner" with a statement that America's monetary system "is the safest in the world today."

He asserted, too, that government relief and other costs were coming down with an increase in private employment and pledged the New Deal to "more action, sound action" to save the constitutional representative form of government in which we rejoice.

Declaring local citizens suggested works projects approved in Washington, he said it was a "pitiful spectacle" to see Republican leaders call this great program waste and extravagance—for they are the same leaders who when their own state or city or county was involved were the first to run to Washington pleading for federal aid.

He spoke also of mining revival after the administration had "laid the ghost of the old gold party of the dollar" and when it purchased gold and silver.

The great bullion reserves now in the United States treasury, he said, "are sufficient to redeem every dollar of our currency far more than 100 per cent and yet people, for partisan purposes, are willing to spread the gospel of fear that our currency is not on a sound foundation of gold and silver."

"I tell you and you know that our monetary system is the soundest in the world today."

Some 250 Firemen Expected In City To Attend Meets

Greenville Department To Be Host To Fire Fighters From Eastern Carolina Tomorrow Night

Approximately 250 firemen from Eastern North Carolina are expected to be in Greenville tomorrow for a series of meetings at which the local department will act as host.

At least 20 towns east of Raleigh are scheduled to have representatives here for the general business meeting to be held at the High School auditorium, following a dinner session in the firemen's hall over the station. A barbecue dinner will be served by the Greenville fire department. In addition to the firemen, mayors, aldermen and other city officials are invited to be guests at the dinner. Aldermen's mayor and Board of Aldermen members are planning to attend the banquet.

Shelwood Brockwell of Raleigh, State fire marshal, is scheduled to deliver the principal address. A number of other prominent citizens will appear on the program.

A meeting of fire chiefs of the various departments is set for the afternoon preceding the banquet and dinner sessions. A number of chiefs from other sections of the state are expected, as well as all department heads in Eastern North Carolina. Chiefs from Charlotte, Greensboro and probably some other large cities are due to attend the afternoon session, set for 3:00 o'clock at the High school auditorium.

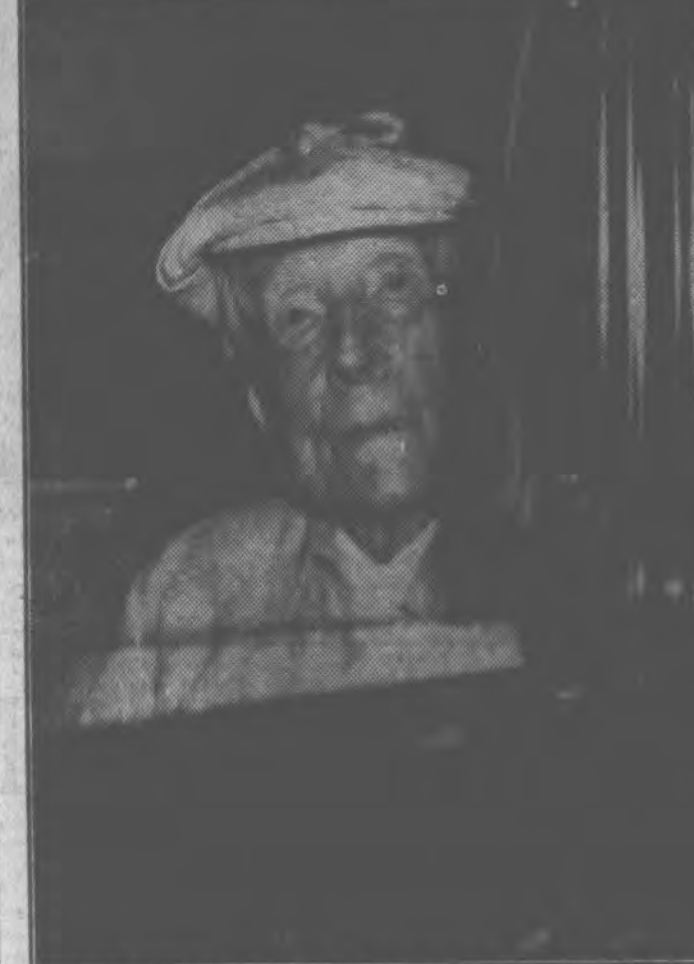

THE NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON (By Ira Bennett)
CULTIVATE: Before leaving Washington for his first out-and-out political trip, President Roosevelt went over the situation analytically with his field marshals and captains. He scanned the speeches prepared by cabinet members, discussed major points to be handled himself, sized up the situation in each pivotal state, and departed in optimistic mood—but with an anxious eye on the "silent voter."

Shifting of Republicans back to their party beclouds the New Deal horizon. To check this drift Mr. Roosevelt soft-pedals his Democratic partisanship and emphasizes his appeal to all voters, regardless of previous affiliations.

At Least 310 Deaths In Typhoon In Philippines

Officials Express Belief List Will Go Much Higher

Manila, Oct. 12.—(AP)—One of the worst typhoons ever to strike the Philippine Islands has caused at least 310 deaths and left hundreds unaccounted for as its spread destruction into additional areas tonight.

The latest compilation by the Manila Tribune showed most of the 310 known dead in Nueva Ecija province. Reports were far from complete in four other provinces of Luzon island, where the fury of the storm was greatest north of Manila.

Streams flooded by devastating wind and rain held scores of bodies in the debris of flimsy native huts. The total number of fatalities will not be known until floods subside and communication is restored.

The typhoon tore into Isabela province today after lashing other provinces.

Manila, Oct. 12.—(AP)—At least 100 persons were killed by a typhoon which swept across Luzon Island Friday and Saturday. Four hundred were reported missing today and were believed washed away by flood waters.

Officials expressed fear the death list would go much higher. Reports indicated the storm was one of the worst in the history of the Philippines.

Eighty-two bodies were recovered from the city of Cabanatuan alone. Loss of life was unestimated in a number of flooded and isolated towns. Bodies were recovered from other villages north of Manila. At least three persons were drowned in Camarines Norte province, southeast of Manila.

Officials estimated 120 were killed at Cabanatuan.

John Hannah Rites Held at Grave Sunday

John Hannah, 92, died Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Hannah was born in Germany and lived there until he was 29 years of age. He moved to America and had made his home in Beaufort county since that time. For the past year he made his home with his sons.

BOLD BANDITS HOLD-UP BANK

Reidsville Institution Robbed of Sum of Money

Reidsville, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Two masked bandits, armed with sawed-off shotguns, held up the Bank of Reidsville here soon after it opened for business today and escaped with three bags of currency.

Officials of the bank were checking up at mid-morning, but had not determined the loss. They expressed a belief, however, the amount taken was not large.

Only two or three customers were in the bank when the two men, said to have been young, looking and "nicely dressed" walked in with drawn gun, grabbed the money bags on the teller's counter and hurried out.

They seized Miss Ellis Booth Watlington, daughter of John F. Watlington, bank president, and carried her to their gray sedan, parked at a side entrance to the bank, apparently as a shield. She was released at the curb.

The hold-up men jumped into the car and it sped out of town amid a blaze of gunfire.

Officers quickly threw guards about all surrounding roads.

Tobacco Auctions Given Good Start As Sales Re-open

Another Good Week Expected on Local Mart This Week Following Record-Breaking Period

As this week's tobacco auctions got underway indications were today that offerings would continue heavy and prices strong following last week's record breaking period which saw the season's high average mark broken on several days.

A large quantity of tobacco was on the floors as sales began this morning and the price trend appeared to be about in line with that of last week.

A follower of the market said that a number of farmers from long distances were selling tobacco in this city today.

Last week's prices were by far the highest paid on the local market this year and were above those paid on other markets in the belt. An average of more than $25 a hundred pounds was established on three of the five sales days every day during the past week.

CLAIMS MADE OF VICTORIES FOR NEW DEAL

Supreme Court Begins Handing Down Fall Decisions

AGREES REVIEW RAIL LABOR ACT

Sticks by Earlier Decision Holding N. Y. Wage Law for Women Unconstitutional

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Supreme court today stuck by its earlier decision that New York's minimum wage law for women was unconstitutional and simultaneously agreed to review an attack on a similar Washington state statute.

Fashioning part of the docket for its current term during which decisions will be forthcoming of much New Deal and other legislation, the high tribunal either agreed to review or refused to consider scores of cases brought to its bar.

The court left until later a decision as to whether it will decide on the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act. It refused today to pass on a case attacking it after hearing a government contention that in this particular case the constitutionality of the statute was not involved.

At the same time, however, the justice agreed to review an attack by the Virginia Railway Company on the provisions of the railway law. (Continued on page six)

Court Witnesses Who Fail Appear Given Call Down

Witnesses who fail to show up for trial are given a stern warning to appear or face a warning this morning when Mayor M. M. Blount placed his dollar fines on several.

The fines were struck out, however, when the witnesses made their appearance just before court was adjourned.

Witnesses were called in two cases against negroes charged with drunkenness and failed to answer. Mayor Blount instructed Chief of Police George Clark to "round them up and collect five dollar fines from each," declaring that the practice of failing to appear against the defendants had to be stopped.

Arthur Oakley was taxed with the costs on a drunkenness charge.

W. B. Mobley and Ivey Singer, negroes, were convicted of drunkenness and each taxed with the costs.

B. Franklin, negro, was fined $5 and costs upon conviction of assault.

Only four cases were aired at this morning's session of court to provide one of the small-st Monday morning trials in weeks.

Landon Declares American Farmer Hurt By New Deal

Republican Presidential Candidate Takes Direct Issue With Roosevelt on Farm Policies

Aboard Landon Special, For Route to Cleveland, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon told Ohio farmers today statements of President Roosevelt at Omaha were "more calculated to deceive than to enlighten."

Taking direct issue with his rival for the presidency, the Republican nominee resumed his drive for Ohio's 26 electoral votes, now claimed definitely by the Democratic National Chairman, James A. Farley.

Magic In The Cotton Fields: Here's How Mechanical Picker Works

DOWN THE FIELD
The Rest brothers' new mechanical picker straddles a long row of cotton as a tractor prepares to pull it down the field. The inventors say it will do as much in an hour as a good man in four days.

RIPE AND READY
Stubby stalks like this bearing fluffy white bolls of staple await their turn for a "hair cut" by the strange new machine.

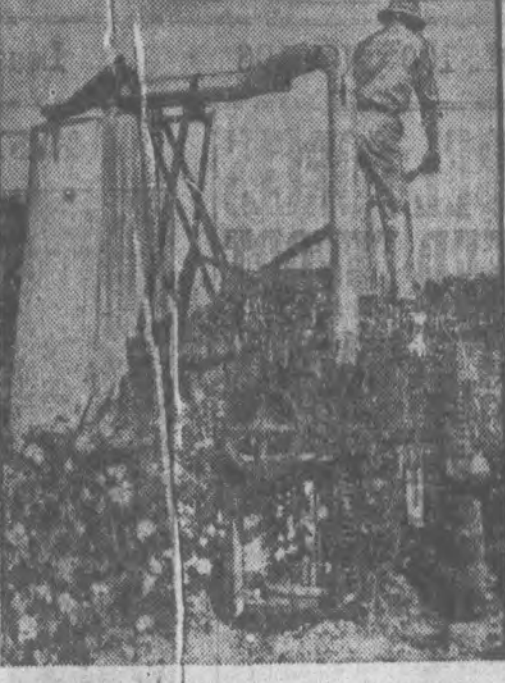

GOING . . .
Into this tunnel on the front of the machine passes the stalk, to be pressed against hundreds of smooth wire spindles twirling on a revolving drum—a substitute for colored fingers.

GOING . . .
The spindles, automatically moistened, pierce the plants and the moisture causes the open cotton to stick and be wrapped around.

GOING!
The cotton is then pulled from the bur, leaving bare stalks such as this after one time over. Green cotton, however is left to ripen.

IN THE BAG!
As the drum revolves, the cotton is stripped from the spindles, thrown into a suction chamber and blown through a chimney-like pipe into a bag.

GOP CAMPAIGN FALLING FLAT

Candidate Unable To Stir Discord Among Democrats

Reflector Bureau.
Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Oct. 11.—The campaign being waged by Gilliam Grissom, Republican candidate for Governor is falling flat both because the people of the state do not believe he could carry out his campaign promises even if he should be elected and because Grissom is not being able to stir up the discord in the Democratic ranks he had hoped to. It was pointed out here today by A. L. (L. J.) Ward, Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee and chief assistant to State Chairman J. Wallace Winborne in State Democratic Headquarters here.

"Democrats in all sections of the state are becoming increasingly displeased at the efforts of Grissom and other Republican leaders to try to capitalize on past disagreements within the Democratic party and at their attempts to rub salt into old Democratic sores in the hope of getting some few more Republican votes," Ward said. "For while the Democrats frequently disagree on some questions among themselves, they are perfectly able to settle these differences among themselves without any help from the Republican candidate for governor or his followers. We are already convinced that Mr. Grissom is losing rather than gaining ground by these methods.

"There are many other reasons, however, why Mr. Grissom is not making any headway in his campaign for the Governorship. One of these is that even if he should be elected, there would be a majority of Democrats in both the senate and house of the 1937 general assembly, with the result that his hands would be completely tied and he would be unable to carry out any of the promises he has been and still is making. This in turn means that his promises are nothing but promises—and the people of the state realize this.

"Still another reason why Mr. Grissom's campaign is failing to click, is that the people of the state know that he cannot reduce revenues at one end and increase expenditures at the other, and that this is exactly what the Republican candidate for Governor is promising to do. For while he talks about economy and is promising to reduce the present revenue of the state by from $10,000,000 to $11,000,000 a year, he is also advocating more expenditures for many objects, such as schools and social security, than the state is now expending. But the people are too intelligent to believe that taxes can be reduced $11,000,000 a year and that enough will be left to increase expenditures for other things.

Those who know the facts and know just how the state revenue is expended, point out that only 4.5 per cent of the $32,500,000 a year the state is now expending from the general fund is used for the support of the various state executive and administrative departments, all of the balance going for school support, the support of the various charitable institutions and hospitals, for pensions and debt service. If Mr. Grissom should become Governor and fire every state employe in Raleigh and close up all the administrative departments, including the Capitol and his own office, and he should act as Governor without any salary, the expense of maintaining the state government would be reduced only 4.5 per cent; it is pointed out. If he should attempt to reduce the appropriation for schools, he would at once incur the ill-will of more than 23,000 school teachers and almost 1,000,000 parents. So he is not expected to advocate reducing the school funds. The outlay for debt service cannot be reduced without showing the state into default, as Grissom is not

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

New York.—A handwriting expert (there's one lurking behind every coffee urn in town) reveals that sporting people most always write in a bold, straightforward hand, while theatrical people show tendencies in the opposite direction. There was the case of the tennis star to the contrary, whose scrawl is probably the worst on record.

Jack Dempsey's hand is hurried though easily read. Neither masculine nor feminine, it tilts at an angle of about 40 degrees and is addicted to curves and curls. Jack always crosses his T's but sometimes neglects to dot his I's.

On the other hand Helen Hayes writes in gleeful, space-filling flourishes, sometimes using whole sheets for a single paragraph. When one considers how tiny a person she is the effect of an envelope addressed by her is startling.

Jean Harlow could really qualify as an instructress in penmanship. Her characters, always graceful, are etched swiftly in sure, bold strokes.

The most untidy hand on record for an actor, however, continues to be that of the late Sir Henry Irving. It is remembered that Sir Henry once wrote a note to the manager of his theatre, requesting that two tickets be delivered to the bearer. When it was presented the manager shook his head. "I'm sorry," he said, "but we don't put up prescriptions here."

Following the successful lead of Katherine Cornell, who doubles as a star and a producer of plays on Broadway, Helen Hays is going to turn producer this fall. She'll give it a whirl at any rate. The first drama to be supported by her money will be in conjunction with Gilbert Miller, and it'll be "The Country Wife."

Not all stars who wear lorgnettes are vain. Mostly, it's a case of near-sightedness, as Joan Bennett will attest. The youngest and prettiest of the Bennett sisters has often been accused of haughtiness. Actually she is quite nearsighted, and prefers the lorgnette to eye-glasses. Ann Andrews and Libby Holman are others who go in for lorgnettes.

Despite its Russian sound, Maxwell Anderson's new play, "High Toy," gets its title from a hill on his estate near Haverstraw, N. Y.

Two members of one of those new septa revues in Harlem are brother and sister. The brother wrote the folks back home in Mississippi, telling of their new job in the big city.

"Me and ole pappy mighty happy and mighty surprised," his mother wrote back. "When 'em ole Yankee wids start moaning, make sis wear her heavy underwear."

A day or so later he replied:

"You'll be more surprised if you hear Sis is in the hoosegow and not the show. Sis has got some city notions lately. Sis ain't got no heavy underwear. Sis ain't got no flannels. Sis ain't got no kind o' pants."

Repeal Associates, for which he is the executive secretary, has a claimed membership now of 2,000 members; men and women who once belonged to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, The Crusaders, and the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 11, 1936.

The Golden Text was from James 4:7, 8. "Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; considering thyself, lest thou also be tempted. Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ. And let us not weariness in well doing; for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not." (Galatians 6:1, 2, 3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The divine Love, which made harmless the poisonous viper, which delivered men from the boiling oil, from the fiery furnace, from the jaws of the lion, can heal the sick in every age and triumph over sin and death. It crowned the demonstrations of Jesus with unsurpassed power and love. But the same "Mind... which was also in Christ Jesus" must always accompany the letter of Science in order to confirm and repeat the ancient demonstrations of prophets and apostles. That those wonders are no more commonly repeated, today arises not so much from lack of desire as from lack of spiritual growth." Page 243).

How's Your Health?

The Oily Skin. Within the human skin are located oil glands whose function it is to secrete sebum, a fat-like substance which keeps the skin soft and pliable. When, as frequently happens in winter, the oil secretion of the glands is inadequate the skin becomes stiff and fragile. Cracks and fissures develop. This condition can be prevented by rubbing into the skin, especially the exposed parts, a suitable animal fat.

But more common than dryness of the skin is excessive oiliness. This condition is more important because it serves as a predisposing basis for a number of annoying skin diseases. Among these may be listed blackheads, pimples and dandruff.

Excessive oiliness of the skin seldom affects children or infants. It is most likely to appear at the onset of puberty. At puberty a tremendous change takes place in the glandular system of the body, and all glands, internal as well as external are affected. The oil secreting glands of the skin share in this change by increasing their oil output. When this becomes excessive, the condition is known as seborrhea.

Under these circumstances, the "soil of the skin," as one dermatologist phrased it, "has thus a different dressing." In consequence we find a change in the skin "vegetation."

After puberty, ordinary ringworm of the scalp is almost unknown, and where the infection has been existing for some time, it dies out spontaneously at puberty.

On the other hand, blackheads now appear. These result from the blocked up accumulation of sebum retained within the oil gland structure. They are most commonly distributed over the face, chest and back; the content of blackheads is a cheesy material containing enormous amounts of bacteria. When blackheads are invaded by pus producing germs, the typical pimples result. This condition, termed acne vulgaris, also appears at the time of puberty and drags on, depending upon the treatment pursued, until the individual reaches the thirties.

Excessive oiliness of the skin also favors the development of dandruff.

Precisely what causes seborrhea is not yet known, but certain conditions and certain hygienic faults contribute to the development of its complications.

The individual with an oily skin should wash with soap and water frequently and thoroughly. He should have several hours exercise daily, and preferably in the open air. Constipation should be avoided. Food should be well chewed, and should be free of irritants (spices, seasonings). The consumption of sweets should be limited.

Gladys George, who made the grade in the hinterland before succeeding on Broadway, holds that New York is "easier" than the interior cities.

"Broadway's supposed to have the toughest audiences — really they're the easiest," she opines. "It takes from four to 12 weeks to click in stock, say in Des Moines or Omaha, but on Broadway you can do it overnight if they like you at all. The psychology is different. The attitude is, if you're on Broadway you must be good or you wouldn't be there, while in stock they want to be shown. In New York, the audiences are composed largely of people there for a holiday, more than ready to take it for granted you're somebody if you're in a Broadway play."

Hot Clothes. And picture audiences, she believes, are like the hinterland's in wanting to be shown — and more than once.

Speaking of "hot" attire, Jack Haskell, dance director, prepared for ice skating scenes for the Sonja Henie film, "One in a Million," by donning sking garb: Sweater coat, heavy wolens and knitted cap, all in conglomerate colors, he counted on to withstand the cold air of the "ice palace" location.

But the Haskell sartorial raincoat was not "hot" enough. He alone of all the troupe, caught cold and went to the hospital.

Raleigh, Oct. 12.—More safety education, especially in the public schools, and tighter law enforcement by both patrolmen, officers and judges, were urged as the most effective means of reducing highway accidents at the annual meeting of the National Safety Conference in Atlantic City all last week, according to Director Arthur Fulk of the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue, and Captain Charles D. Farmer, commander of the State Highway Patrol, both of whom attended this meeting.

Most of the speakers at the conference sessions devoted to highway safety, stressed the importance of more safety education among all classes, but especially in the schools," Director Fulk said. "They agreed that there are many older people who cannot now be converted to the doctrine of safe driving because they have been reckless and careless drivers so long that there is little chance to reform them. But they also agree that if each new crop of automobile drivers while they are still in school and before they become old enough to drive cars, that a great deal can be done to bring about safer driving and more regard for traffic laws in the future."

The steps already taken towards the introduction of safety education in the schools in North Carolina was strongly commended by many national safety authorities, Fulk said. The course in safety just started this fall at East Carolina Teachers College in Greenville has put North Carolina on the map as being one of the first states to have a complete college course in safety for prospective teachers, Fulk said.

But more strict enforcement of traffic and highway laws was also urged as a companion move with safety education in order to reduce highway accidents, Captain Farmer said.

The leaders in the safety movement now realize that there is no substitute for strict enforcement for those who refuse to heed anything but the strong arm and mallet of the law," Capt. Farmer said. "Larger highway patrols, stiffer fines, more rigid drivers license laws and especially to impose jail sentences instead of fines, were advocated by the leaders in the law enforcement divisions of the conference. They maintained that the time has come to crack down harder than ever before."

BLACK-DRAUGHT For Clean System Helps To Prevent Sickness
One of the advantages of Black-Draught is that, if it is taken at the first disagreeable feeling of constipation, one or two doses usually bring relief. Prompt relief, such as that, is well worth while. Constipation is too dangerous to be neglected.

"A clean system for health" plan has saved thousands of people much useless sickness. They keep a package of Black-Draught in the family medicine cabinet and take this purely vegetable laxative at the first sign of constipation. They say the relief it brings is mighty hard to beat.

Find out, by trying it, why so many people prefer Black-Draught when it comes to buying a laxative. —(Adv.)

Hollywood Sights And Sounds —By Robbin Coons—

Hollywood — Irene Dunne was doing a job she'd never done before. She was going fishing. She viewed the undertaking with interest but not without trepidation, because—

"Honestly," she said, "I've never held a rod in all my life, and I've never met a fish—unless cooked!"

The scenes for "Theodora Goes Wild" were being made at Reuss's creek in nearby Sherwood forest. For Irene and Melvyn Douglas, her leading man, it was "in" Reuss's stream. They waded hip-deep in the stream, in traditional troutling style. Their director, Richard Boleslawski, the doughty Pole, waded too, his trousers rolled knee-high from the crew, working in bathing trunks, waded or swam before the day was over.

The sequence called for Miss Dunne, who had never "met a fish,"

Talks To Parents

Disloyalty
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Discussing one's children with one's friends is really a form of disloyalty, and many parents are guilty of it. The very mother who is shocked because her son has been talking her over with his chum, would not hesitate to produce the boy and his personal peculiarities and problems as a topic of conversation at afternoon tea with her friends.

It is a poor rule that does not work both ways. To air one's soiled linen in public is always bad taste. But many persons do.

Any group of mothers is nearly sure at some time during their conversation to talk over their children. Mrs. Smith repeats a conversation she had with Mary the other day; Mrs. Jones tells a funny story about her Jane—a story which Jane would hate to have known; Mrs. Brown tells, in confidence, of course, what Henry told her also in confidence, in a moment of ill-considered expansiveness. Afterwards Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Brown go home and retail all the intimate trifles they have gleaned to father and the children, Mary and Jane and Henry feel like butterflies on pins the next time they see each other. How can one confide in a mother who cannot or will not hold her tongue? Mothers don't seem to realize.

Of course this kind of mother soon finds herself excluded from her children's inner lives. They hide what they can of their thoughts and actions, and put up as well as they can with whatever undesirable publicity they still have to endure.

Mothers who wish the trust and respect of their children will guard their secrets with the utmost care, and never, even to prove a moot point, repeat what they have seen or heard. A mother, by virtue of her position has an unfair advantage over her child; she knows too much.

Fooled by continued warm weather, a plum tree on the farm of T. J. Jennings near Tucuman, Tex., put forth a second crop of blooms this year.

OVER-CONFIDENCE—THE MOTORIST'S SIN
 If a 1925 model car and a recent model were to start out on a drive, which would you think most likely to become involved in an accident?
 Probably you will answer, "The old car, with out-moded brakes, relatively inefficient steering and general inferiority."
 You're wrong. According to the National Safety Council, 24.79 per cent of the cars now in service were built from 1925 to 1928, and they are involved in less than 12 per cent of all accidents reported.
 Only 15 per cent of the cars in service were built in 1935—yet these cars figured in almost 24 per cent of all accidents.

This apparent anomaly has an obvious explanation. Drivers of new cars are over-confident. They over-rate the safety factors of better brakes, bodies, steering, lights, etc. Because a car is in A-1 mechanical shape, and is more or less new, they take chances—until the tragic day of reckoning arrives.
 This is not a boost for old cars—many of which should be barred from the highways, because of mechanical dangers caused by obsolescence and neglect—but it is a plea for a different attitude on the part of owners of our modern gasoline chariots. It is a sad commentary on these drivers that better cars mean a higher accident record.
 Regard your car, new or old, as a potentially lethal machine. It can spread death and destruction when mismanaged. Don't commit the great driving sin of over-confidence—its end is likely to be the cemetery.

 Hasn't business improved? Hasn't it improved under the Roosevelt administration? Very well, then; don't rock the boat.
 Mr. Roosevelt's latest speeches all feature this argument directly or indirectly. He seems to be convinced that it is safe now to meet the debt deficit and big spending issues boldly by saying in effect: "Yes we've spent money lavishly, but we've knocked out the depression and it was worth the cost."
 What the New Dealers want to know is, what does the President intend to do if reelected? On this subject he is silent.
 HIDDEN: Mr. Roosevelt has been wonderfully successful in keeping his plans dark until he was ready to spring them on Congress and the country. Astounding innovations were introduced without advance notice and rushed through Congress "without reading."
 What does he have in mind now? What brain-trusters are shaping up legislation for him? The G. O. P. would give a great deal to find out. Roosevelt isn't telling 'em. The Democratic platform reveals

The Wrong Murderer
 By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Through an amazing set of circumstances Terence Mahony finds himself in command of part of Ambrose Lawson's gang of crooks, taking Lawson himself. Lawson is outwardly a clever and respectable gentleman, and although Terence knows of at least three major crimes he has committed, there is no proof that will stand in court. When the police are searching for Terence and most of his newly acquired gang.

Chapter 25
BIG BOOK
 "That's all right with me," said Bassett, "and I'll answer for my mates. But you'd better want us to do? We are your plans? It ain't going to be no sort of garden party, fighting against the Big Boss."
 "It won't be as bad as all that," answered Mahony. "For one thing, provided you can keep our friend Lake hidden away safely, Lawson isn't going to know you're up against him just yet. You'd better see to Lake right away, before I say any more. Catch hold of him, Barney."
 Barney shot out a huge hand, grabbed Lake by the shoulder, jerked him to him, and held him firmly. Lake opened his mouth to yell, but Barney's left hand came firmly down on his face, effectively shutting out any sound.
 "Will I give him a crack on the head, just to make sure he'll keep quiet?" asked Barney.

Barney's hand came firmly down over his face.
 "Not for a moment," answered Mahony. "Turn out his pockets to begin with. Then I want to ask him a question. If he won't answer you can hit him as hard as you like."
 Lake's pockets were turned out and the contents emptied on the table. When that had been done Mahony stood in front of Lake looking him squarely in the eyes.
 "What's in that big book that Barney was told to steal from Lawson's house?" he demanded.
 Lake's knees were trembling; his teeth were chattering with fright. He knew that if he divulged that information, and Lawson found out, his life was not worth a moment's purchase. On the other hand, if he did not divulge the information...
 "If he doesn't answer, just push his face in, Barney," said Mahony.
 Lake was almost weeping. He was in a state of mind in which a man will fall on his knees and beg abjectly for mercy.
 "It—it contains documents," whimpered Lake. "Papers about people he—he has dealings with and—and members of his own gang."
 "People he has dealings with—you mean people he's blackmailing and selling drugs to?" said Mahony. "I understand that. But what are the documents about members of his own gang?"
 "He's got written evidence of some criminal act against everybody who works for him—that is, everybody who works for him, knowing who he is," went on Lake. "He keeps it all pasted in a book."
 "In other words, he likes to be in a position to squeal whenever he feels inclined," remarked Mahony.
 But now he knew exactly why Ross had been so anxious to get hold of that book. If he wanted to break away from Lawson, it was absolutely essential that he should get possession of the evidence which Lawson held against him.
 "Tie him up and take him away," he ordered.
 Lake was tied up and gagged and removed from the room. While this nothing.

 And yet it is universally believed in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt has in mind "social reforms" even more far-reaching than anything he has yet proposed.
PROJECTS: One new addition to federal activities on an enormous scale is clearly in sight. That is flood control, with "public power" trimmings, reaching into every section of the country.
 Congress made a start in this direction by declaring a new policy and authorizing projects whose estimated cost is $320,000,000. In all of these flood control projects authority is given to initiate power development wherever the President may find such action expedient. All of the major river systems of the country are included.

that the federal government has no authority to regulate agriculture.
 Therefore students of the farm problem are wondering whether Mr. Roosevelt intends, if reelected, to bring about a constitutional change that will give the government power to regulate farmers by penal law.
LABOR: Sooner or later the question of regulating industry's relations with labor will come up also. The Wagner labor relations act appears doomed. Organized labor expects the law to be invalidated.
 What has Mr. Roosevelt in mind as a successor to the Wagner act? He doesn't say. He can't say anything without presupposing that a law now on the books is invalid.
 Various labor leaders are working for reappointment of the NRA in some form or another. Their strong support of Mr. Roosevelt indicates their firm expectation that he will champion their cause if reelected. Here again constitutional questions are involved. Manufacturing, as well as agriculture, is outside the pale of federal regulatory power.

New York
 By JAMES McMULLIN
BEARISH: Election odds in New York climbed from 3 to 5 on Roosevelt to as high as 11 or 12 to 5 last week. Sentiment in financial circles has turned bearish on Republican chances for the third time.
 Before the G. O. P. Cleveland convention, New York anti-New Deal chiefs were steeped in defeatism. Republican stock took a quick upward rush when Landon was nominated and the party appeared to be united and full of pep. Then came a gradual decline in optimism as flagrant weaknesses in the G. O. P. machine became apparent. Confidence revived as Landon began to "get his teeth into the campaign."
 And now—due partly to internal friction in the New York State Republican organization, partly to the indications of a trend towards Roosevelt in recently reported polls, partly to an innate lack of enthusiasm for the national ticket that all the eagerness to beat Roosevelt cannot quite overcome—financial top-rankers are once again privately counting Landon out.
COLD: A prominent right wing Democrat who is not among the Smith-Reed walker - outsiders recently told New York friends in vigorous terms that there was absolutely no reason why they should worry about Roosevelt's probable reelection. He pointed out that the popular vote would likely be close—even if the electoral college is not. This would imply large gains by Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats in the House of Representatives, thus enhancing the power of Congressional brakes to check leftist legislative proposals from the White House.
 He also emphasized that the Democratic majority in the Senate—already containing a large proportion of New Deal critics—would be less tractable than ever because the more timid members would no longer feel it politically necessary to ride the President's coat-tails.
 "Even if Roosevelt were inclined to run wild in his second term, which is unlikely," added this Democratic chieftain. "I can practically guarantee that Congress would stop him cold. So why lose any sleep about him?"

SERENITY: Most financial big-timers privately agree with this analysis on their own account. Consequently they are facing the election with increasing calm, confident that all will be well no matter how it turns out.
 This is fine for their nervous systems but not so good for the Republican war chest—which thrives best when wealthy conservatives are alarmed. Said war chest is sadly depleted at the moment—and earnest party workers in the Wall Street area are straining every sinew to overcome the handicap of mounting disbelief that "the American system" is really at stake.
 This past week, for the first time since the campaign began to warm up, a tendency to pessimism about G. O. P. prospects did not induce a sympathetic weakness in the stock market. Such serenity at this stage of the game is highly significant.
BANKS: William S. Gray, Jr., of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust—youngest bank president in New York—becomes chairman of the clearing house committee of the New York Clearing House Association at a critical moment in the latter's history. The next year will determine whether the 20 big New York banks comprising the Clearing House can work together to restore the influence and prestige of their common organization or whether the wounds inflicted by the Harriman case will lead to permanent disintegration.
 The Harriman rift made it painfully apparent that the powers of the Clearing House and the duties and obligations of its member banks need more specific definition. Most of New York's leading law firms have been busy working out redrafts of the Clearing House by-law—defining its and crossing its hitherto left vague. These alterations will not be proposed openly until the government's appeal of its suit against the nine banks which did not settle in the Harriman case is finally decided, for fear they might prejudice the decision. This case should be disposed of early in 1937, and then the fun in New York banking circles will begin.
 Of course every member bank must be given the option of withdrawing from the Clearing House if it is unwilling to subscribe to the revised regulations. That's when Mr. Gray will need all his diplomatic talents to hold the "Big Twenty" together. The Central Hanover was one of the banks that paid its share of the Harriman losses—but it has never taken a holier-than-thou attitude towards those that did not.

DIESEL MOTOR CAUSES WORRY

Oil Burning Trucks May Cut Tax Receipts From Gas

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Oct. 12.—The prospect that Diesel motors may soon compete with gasoline motors in heavy trucks and use fuel oil instead of gasoline for fuel, is causing considerable worry among the gasoline tax administration officials in most of the states, but not in North Carolina, Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell said today.

The possibility of a heavy increase in the use of Diesel motors, especially in heavy trucks and a corresponding decrease in gasoline consumption by the trucking industry was one of the big bigabos seen by the gasoline tax officials in their recent meeting in Washington, D. C., Mr. Maxwell said.

"We are not worried over the prospect of an increase in the use of Diesel motored trucks in North Carolina, however, from the standpoint of a slump in gasoline taxes, since back in 1933 I had a section inserted in the revenue bill imposing the same tax on crude oil or other oil when used as a fuel as was imposed on gasoline," Mr. Maxwell said. "For back in 1933 I realized that there might be serious danger of Diesel motors competing with gasoline motors, especially if it was possible for carriers to buy untaxed fuel oil at prices far below the cost of gasoline. The result has been that all fuel oil sold in North Carolina for use in Diesel motors has been taxed at 6 cents a gallon, just the same as gasoline is."

"There is one other feature in connection with the use of Diesel motors as truck motors, however, and that is that these motors are said to give about twice the mileage per gallon as does gasoline, with the result that if the motors should become extensively used and if the same tax per gallon is imposed by the states, that yield from this tax would only be about half the present yield from the gasoline taxes."

A few truck lines in North Carolina are already experimenting with Diesel powered trucks, Mr. Maxwell said, one of these being a large truck line operating out of Charlotte. But so far as he knows, no truck manufacturer is yet putting out a Diesel-powered truck for general sale and these trucks are still in the experimental stage, Mr. Maxwell said. But no one knows when they may be put on the market to compete with gasoline motored trucks, he said.

'TROUBLE' IS MIDDLE NAME OF KENTUCKY GRID CAPTAIN

Lexington, Ky. (AP)—The rougher the going goes this fall, the more at home Stan Nevers, University of Kentucky football captain, will feel. When the ball is on Kentucky's 2-yard line, Stan will be perfectly at ease. For he has been in tough spots most of the time.

He was born to trouble at Cracow, Poland, the son of a crippled farmer named Neverski. As an infant he went through the strife, pillage, and bloodshed of the 1917 Polish revolution. Meals were infrequent, and things got so bad the family packed up and came to America.

When Nevers landed in New Britain, Conn., he could not speak a word of English. But he learned in a New Britain kindergarten. Today the professors say his English is superior to that of most native-born American students.

The boy not only worked his way through college—he worked through high school as well. He was employed in a New Britain brick yard, where he developed the muscles that make him a good football player today.

When Stan went down to Kentucky he kept on working at various tasks to pay his way through. When he reported for football, the 220-pound boy immediately attracted attention. He became a regular tackle on the Wildcat team as a sophomore and has kept the job ever since. He is as fast as the average halfback.

Nevers' scholastic record is good. He is majoring in biology and education. He is an officer in the university Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Three particularly great thrills stick in his memory. One came when Kentucky was playing a great Ohio State team and scored a touchdown through a hole in the big Ohio line that Nevers made by himself. Another was Kentucky's 27-0 win over Tennessee in 1935—marking the first time in a decade the Wildcats trimmed their oldest rivals. The third and greatest thrill of all was when Nevers became an American citizen.

MAN PESTERS AUTHOR, FLEES UNDER THREATS

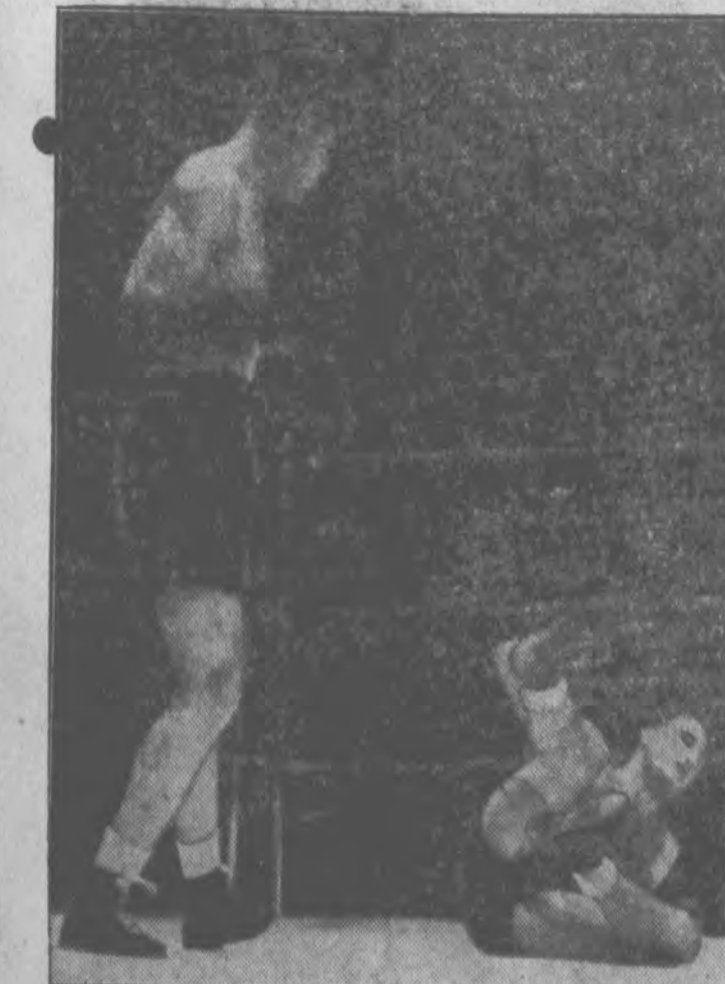

Oslo, Norway.—(AP)—Knut Hamsun, 77, literary Nobel prize winner is still a powerful man.

Out for a walk on the outskirts of Oslo, Hamsun was pestered by an admirer who asked if he could walk by Hamsun's side. The novelist refused, and when the man still continued to annoy him, Hamsun walked up to a policeman and asked:

"Am I allowed to give that man a thrashing?"

The policeman gave a smiling consent but before Hamsun could reach his "admirer," the man had taken to his heels.

ADVISES CARE BE TAKEN IN HANDLING OF POISON

Ames, Ia.—(AP)—Winter storage of agricultural poisons must be handled with care to avoid loss of lives and supplies, says Dr. C. J. Drake, state entomologist, following a study of reports telling of loss of lives to humans, cattle and other animals, because farm poisons were carelessly stored.

"Poisons kept over winter," he said, "should be stored safely in buildings in leak-proof containers, carefully labeled, where humans and domestic and wild animals will not have access to it."

Million Miles By Air

Rio De Janeiro.—(AP)—Seven commercial airplanes flew 1,339,248 miles in Brazil the first 6 months this year in 11,220 hours. These planes carried 15,126 passengers, 207 metric tons of baggage, 54 of correspondence and 73 of freight, and completed 96.5 per cent of their flights.

Fly Affects Wheat Seeding

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—University of Illinois entomologists say that, considering infestations of hessian fly three days' difference in the time of seeding wheat may make a difference of five to fifteen bushels yield to the acre. This conclusion is based on surveys in Illinois and elsewhere where hessian fly infestations threaten the wheat crop.

MUCH TALK ON LIQUOR STUDY

Interest Being Shown in Hearings By Commission

By J. C. BASKERVILLE.
 Raleigh, Oct. 12.—Much interest is being shown here in the forthcoming hearing to be held in Asheville, October 30, by the special commission studying the liquor question in North Carolina, of which Victor S. Bryant of Durham is chairman. For this hearing, in which all those interested in the liquor problem are invited to reveal their views, it is expected that the first time the sentiment of the western North Carolina counties with regard to liquor control and county liquor stores.

In the past a majority of the western counties have always been theoretically "dry" as well as politically "dry," and it was the votes of western Senators, who were politically "dry," though several were personally "wet," that prevented the enactment of a state-wide liquor control bill in the 1935 general assembly, those who follow the liquor control fight in that section now agree. The result was the enactment in the closing days of the 1935 session of the New Hanover and Pasquotank liquor control bills, under which 17 counties and two townships in an eighteenth county now have legal liquor stores, while the remaining counties in the state are still theoretically "dry."

There is no longer any doubt but that sentiment in most of the eastern counties is definitely in favor of the legal sale of liquor in county liquor stores, most observers now agree. This was definitely indicated in the hearings held by the liquor fact-finding commission held here in Raleigh, in Wilson and in Wilmington some weeks ago when the representatives of both the present "wet" counties and of neighboring "dry" counties presented facts, figures and testimony in favor of the county liquor stores and county control system now in effect in the eastern part of the state. The "wet" counties were almost unanimous in favor of retaining the present county liquor stores system, while those from neighboring counties indicated that most of these "dry" eastern counties would give an opportunity, accordingly, it is now generally conceded that most of the counties east of Greenville would vote for county liquor stores under a state law permitting county option elections and under which the counties would get all the revenue and have complete control over the location of the stores and their personnel.

But the unknown factor so far has been what the western counties or their representatives would do with regard to liquor control and whether or not they would vote for a state-wide county option law that would permit any county that so desires to hold an election to decide if it will open liquor stores. For while it is generally conceded that just as much if not more liquor is bootlegged and gargled in the western counties as is legally sold and gurgled in the eastern counties, it is not known whether there has been any material change in sentiment among the political "drys" since the 1935 general assembly. Reports from many western counties, however, are to the effect that there has been a decided change in sentiment among the political "drys" as well as among the actual "drys" and that a great many who were formerly bitterly opposed to the legal sale of liquor now agree that the legal sale in county liquor stores, with the county getting all of the profits is better than to have almost wide-open sale of liquor by bootleggers, with the bootleggers getting all of the profits.

It is a known fact that in many of the western counties it is now possible to buy all the better known brands of Government bottled liquor at prices only a very little above those charged in the legal county liquor stores in the eastern counties. Most of these western "liquor stores" are camouflaged either as filling stations or eating places or both. The writer knows of several such places in Catawba and McDowell counties which handle from 10 to 15 well advertised standard brands of liquor in both pints and quarts, and has been assured that there are just as many other such liquor "stores" in other western counties, especially in Buncombe and neighboring counties.

Yet in most of these counties both the Democratic and Republican leaders have been "dry," largely because both feared that if either went "wet" the actual "bone dry" would swing to the "dry" faction and gain control of the county, it is maintained. So the outcome of the liquor control hearing in the west is being watched with intense interest.

Women Organized Throughout State To Support Party

Women Said To Be Showing More Enthusiasm Over Election Than at Any Time in the Past

Raleigh, Oct. 12.—Organization work among the Democratic women of the state is proceeding rapidly and by the time of the election on November 3, strong women's organizations will be formed and functioning in almost every one of the 100 counties, Mrs. J. B. Spilman, vice chairman of the State Democratic Committee, in charge of women's organization work in Democratic headquarters here, said today. The women are showing more interest and enthusiasm than ever before and organizations have been formed this year in counties in which it has never been possible to get women organized before.

"I have received a letter from Mrs. Charles W. Tillet, Jr., of Charlotte, former vice chairman in charge of women's organization work and now director of the speakers bureau for the women's division of the National Democratic committee, telling me that we have been able to organize Democratic women in counties this year where it had been impossible to organize the main previous campaigns," Mrs. Spilman said. "Most of these are western counties, a number of which have been formerly regarded as being close or even Republican and where the Democratic women have never before taken any active part in campaigns. But this year they are organizing and going to play a very important part in the campaign."

Scores of county-wide and district-wide women's meetings have already been held and more are scheduled for now on, Mrs. Spilman said. Within the last week or so County-wide meetings of Democratic women have been held in Randolph, Moore, Burke, Pitt, Lee, Nash, Rutherford, Alexander and McDowell counties, while a meeting for all the counties in the First District was held in Bertie county. A special meeting for women was held in Currituck Saturday night and a similar meeting was held in Asheboro Friday night.

A special meeting for the Democratic women of that city and section will be held in Rocky Mount Wednesday, October 14, while another meeting will be held in Nashville October 19. Other similar meetings are being scheduled almost every day.

DESIRES MORE FEDER'L ROADS

Thinks Government Should Provide More Highways

Reflector Bureau.
 Raleigh, Oct. 12.—The Federal government should provide more Federal aid for highway construction, in addition to assisting states in the enforcement of highway laws and safety measures, Chairman Capus M. Waynick of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said today. The Federal government could provide much more aid to the states than at present if it would merely allot all it collects from the Federal gasoline tax to roads, Waynick pointed out, since the government is now collecting some $40,000,000 a year more from this tax than it is turning back to the state in Federal aid for road building, he said.

"At the present time the Federal government is spending about $125,000,000 a year in assisting the various states build roads, the states having to match this aid dollar for dollar," Waynick said. "But this aid falls far short of what the states really need both for the construction of farm-to-farm roads and for main arterial highways. We know, of course, that there will be no more large emergency appropriations for highway construction, such as we have had during the past three years and which have been a great help. But those of us who have been looking ahead and studying highway needs, are convinced that the Federal aid to the states should be and can be increased to meet even the minimum needs for new and better roads."

"At the recent meeting of highway and law enforcement officials in Washington, it was the consensus of most of the state officials there that the minimum the Government should expend for highway construction aid from now on is $250,000,000 a year instead of only $125,000,000 a year. This would double the amount of aid now being obtained from the states."

The construction of 5,000 miles of heavy duty concrete roads has just been ordered in Germany by the German government, at government expense, as a national defense move to facilitate the transportation of troops and artillery, Waynick pointed out. He believes the building or rebuilding of many of the main arterial highways in this country at government expense would be justified as national defense projects, in addition to their value as peace time projects.

CLAIMS MADE OF VICTORIES FOR NEW DEAL

Refused to reconsider its decision last May holding unconstitutional the 1934 municipal bankruptcy act intended to aid debt reductions through federal bankruptcy courts by cities, counties and other political subdivisions.

In another action much sought by the government the high court ordered to review the efforts of federal attorneys to postpone action by lower tribunals involving the constitutionality of the public utility holding act until final decisions of a case it has brought in New York against the electric bond and share company.

Justice department officials expressed "greater satisfaction" with the court's actions. After studying statistics, spokesman for the department said the government's percentage of granted requests was "the best in many years."

UNEMPLOYED AUSTRIANS DONT CRY—THEY YODEL

Vienna.—(AP)—Almost everybody who is out of job in Austria practices yodeling.

The reason is the foreign demand for yodelers. An employment agency in Holland telegraphed that it could place 20 young and attractive waitresses who could yodel. The required number was chosen from 270 candidates.

Other foreign agencies asked for men who could yodel and drive an automobile. 58 such were named.
