REESE BAILEY CAPTURED IN JACKSON, OHIO

Escaped from N. C. Penitentiary in March, 1934

DESPERADO SHOT BY FEDERAL MEN

Officers Forced To Open Fire as Bailey Seeks to Shoot His Way to Escape

Jackson, Ohio, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Federal agents and Ohio officers shot and captured a desperado who had escaped from the state penitentiary at Raleigh, N. C., March 22, 1934, was wounded twice. Taken to a Chillicothe hospital, his condition was reported as not serious.

Department of Justice records described Bailey as a "desperate criminal, armed at all times, an expert with both pistol and rifle."

Ten federal agents, Sheriff W. P. Turner of Jackson county and Police Chief Ben W. Rount of Chillicothe surrounded the farm home before daylight. Bailey, his wife and three children had been living there a year.

Trapped, Bailey tried to escape by shooting his way out. Volleys of shots from the officers' guns felled him.

Bailey was wanted by the Department of Justice for violating the national motor vehicle act. He was indicted at Asheville, N. C., last March 14 for transporting a stolen car.

He escaped from the penitentiary after serving two years of a 10-year sentence for highway robbery.

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Reese Bailey, captured by federal agents in Ohio today, was described by Oscar Pitts acting director of the North Carolina penal division, as "North Carolina's number one desperado."

Bailey was a member of the Bailey gang, members of which have been implicated in a long series of crimes for several years. They were alleged by officers to have perpetrated a series of bank robberies in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, as well as numerous hold-ups and other crimes.

State To Realize Share Of Profits From Exposition

Operators to Turn Over $11,000, Bringing to $33,000 Sum Received in Four Years

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—The state of North Carolina will get approximately $11,000 as its share of the profits from the operation of the State Fair this year. Norman Y. Chambliss, manager of the fair and co-lessee of the fair grounds with George Hamid, said while here today. This brings the total amount the state has received from the fair during the four years it has leased it to Hamid and Chambliss to $33,000, since it received $22,000 in the three years previous to this year, Chambliss pointed out.

The gross receipts from the fair in admissions, concessions, amusements and so forth amounted to approximately $70,000 this year, or about $15,000 less than had been estimated, Chambliss said. The budgeted expenditures as made up and approved by the State Budget Bureau amounted to $55,000 which added to the $11,000 the lessors paid the state, left them very little net revenue, Chambliss pointed out.

The drop in revenue was caused by the one rainy day during fair week—Friday—and which cost the fair at least $15,000, according to Chambliss. The Friday gross receipts amounted to only $3,000 this year, while on Friday of the 1935 fair week the gross receipts amounted to $17,000. Since Friday is always the best day of the week for any state fair, if the weather is good, and since the attendance on each day of the 1936 fair had been running ahead of the 1935 fair, Chambliss estimates that this one rainy day cost the fair a minimum of $15,000.

"If we had had just one more rainy day, or even half a day more of rain, we would have lost money on the fair this year, although the state would have gotten its guarantee and percentage of the gross receipts just the same," Chambliss said. "For in addition to all the usual expenses incurred in operating a fair, we are now maintaining all the buildings and grounds taking this year off the state."

Seeks Settlement In Maritime Strike

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Little change in the tobacco situation in 1937 was forecast by the agricultural economics bureau today in its annual report on crop outlook.

The report said domestic consumption of manufactured tobacco was expected to increase, but with the possibility of some decrease in leaf export, indications were that disappearance of American tobacco next year would not vary greatly from 1936.

"However, the bureau said, "the 1936 crop, which was curtailed partially by drought, will result in a further reduction in the stocks of many types by the beginning of the 1937 marketing season."

"The types which will benefit most from reduced stocks, are burley, cigar and dark air cured types," the record added.

"Less improvement is expected for flue cured and markets which depend to a considerable extent on foreign markets. For the flue cured types little improvement can be counted on because of the export situation."

The report summarized the outlook for various types of tobacco as follows:

Flue cured—domestic consumption increasing, but may be offset by lower exports. Estimated requirements for next year little, if any, greater than 1936 production. No material increase in production justified.

Principals Urged Set Definite Aim In Their Program

Dr. Haynes Delivers Address at Regular Monthly Meeting of Pitt County Principals' Association

Dr. H. C. Haynes of the East Carolina Teachers college, addressed the regular meeting of the Pitt county principals meeting held at Respass dining room this week.

Dr. Haynes' address followed a short business session.

Dr. Haynes said that every school and every teacher should have a definite aim or purpose, and asked those present to ponder with him upon the goal toward which they were aiming in their schools. He asked if the schools were teaching health rules or health practices; the love or hate of poetry; good or poor sportsmanship; English rules or good usage; the important or the negligible things of history. Through his talk he stressed the need of utility, value, and practical application of learning as opposed to rote memorization.

Dr. Haynes concluded his remarks by saying that the principals should plan for a definite ideal or goal in their school program, should select teachers to carry out those ideals, should be given authority to put those ideas into effect, and then be held responsible for their success or failure.

Italy To Abolish Courts In Favor State Committee

Attorneys Describe Announced Move As Most Important Change in Twentieth Century Jurisprudence

Rome, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini has decided to abolish existing Italian courts of law, substituting state committees and judicial sources disclosed today.

Attorneys described the project "as one of the most important changes in 20th century jurisprudence."

A committee of eminent lawyers and officials from the ministry of justice is working out the details to replace the court with the state board, authoritative quarters.

The committee report is expected to be finished soon when it will be handed to the ministry of justice for action.

Abolition is also planned for the special tribunal for defense of the state. This court was established 10 years ago after an 18-year-old youth attempted to assassinate the Italian Premier at Bologna in 1926.

Highest Average Paid On Greenville Leaf Market

MARKET HOLDS HIGH AVERAGE

Sales During Week Ended Yesterday Bring $23.27 Avg.

The Greenville tobacco market continues to bring top prices, and although a good part of the offerings during the past week was made up of common and trashy tobacco, the market paid an average of $23.27 per hundred pounds.

This figure was nearly two dollars higher than the average paid on the market during the corresponding period a year ago when the average was $22.61 per hundred.

The report of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, issued today by K. W. Cobb, sales supervisor, show that 2,629,333 pounds were sold during the week ending with the close of sales yesterday. The offerings brought a total of $61,701.73 to set the $23.27 average.

In the similar week in 1935 offerings of 4,487,750 pounds brought $1,014,394.10.

Total sales so far this year of 43,421,518 pounds have brought a total of $10,536,022.46 for a season average of $24.26 much higher than the 1935 average to this date.

In 1935 offerings to this date totaled 33,688,568 pounds and brought $1,478,624.81 for a general average of $21.38.

OX TEAM TAKES MAN OFF RELIEF

Gilmer, Texas, (AP)—An ox team pulled the R. F. Brown family of nine from the relief rolls and rooted it into east Texas soil.

Three years ago, Brown, now 41, faced economic ruin and despair when the lumber mills with which he had worked 14 years closed down.

Brown did odd jobs and finally turned to relief work. Then he rented a small piece of land, although he knew little about farming.

He moved his family to the five-acre farm. He swapped his hand saw for a 4-month-old steer and a few days later traded his plane for a second young ox. Then he started work.

This fall he is harvesting cotton, corn, sweet potatoes and other products from his now 22-acre farm and the family table is loaded with good things to eat.

Mrs. Brown did her share. She raised chickens and traded some of them for a cow. Now the Browns have the oxen, two cows, a yearling, a flock of chickens and a pig en route to the smoke-house.

REBEL PLANES SHOT DOWN IN AERIAL BATTLE

Two Crash Within Sight of Thousands in Madrid Streets

OTHERS FALL ON EDGE OF CAPITAL

Government Ships Suddenly Drop Down On Insurgent Planes Dropping Leaflets

Madrid, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Montana barracks and the whole line of fortifications in the vicinity of Segovia bridge were bombed in a daring insurgent air raid late today—several hours after government planes had won a spectacular victory in a battle over the capital.

Three fascist tri-motored airplanes, guarded by six pursuit planes, roared out of a dense cloud bank in the western sky at 3:30 p. m. and spilled fourteen huge bombs.

Five of the projectiles hit the Montana barracks, where several thousand loyal troops are quartered.

The raid came on the heels of a mass aerial battle in which the government announced it had downed six planes.

Madrid, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Six fascist planes were shot down today in a raging mass fight with government war craft over Madrid.

Two of the planes fell within sight of thousands of Madrilenos in the streets of the capital.

Four others crashed behind the insurgent lines at the edge of the city.

Twenty-one planes, twelve of them raiders from the fascist lines, participated.

One of the victims, an insurgent two-seater, crashed in flames in the court yard of the government barracks in Rosales street.

The battle began when three insurgent tri-motors, escorted by nine pursuit planes appeared over the city and began dropping leaflets urging surrender.

Nine government fighters dropped suddenly down from the clouds and opened an attack.

Suddenly one plane shot toward the earth in flames. Another went into a spin and crashed west of the city. A third whirled, dipped and limped away to the east—and the whole battle shifted away from the roof tops.

The victory came a few hours after 15 government fighting planes, manning 60 machine guns, had scattered an insurgent troop concentration along the Toledo highway-south of the city.

It coincided with another aerial development unfavorable to the government—the death of six pilots in the crash of two bombers into a hillcock during thick weather.

King's Daughters State Convention In City Next Week

Number of Prominent Officers of Order Scheduled to Appear on Program November 18 and 19

The forty-sixth annual convention of the North Carolina Branch of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons will be held in Greenville, November 18th and 19th, next Wednesday and Thursday, with the local Circle of the Order, the Patient Circle, as hostesses.

A number of prominent officers of the Order are scheduled to appear on the two-day program which will open Wednesday morning, November 18th, at ten o'clock, in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, at which place all meetings will be held and to which all citizens of Greenville are invited to attend.

Among the speakers scheduled to appear on the program are Mrs. Henry S. Eley, of Suffolk, Va., President of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, who will speak Wednesday evening at eight o'clock; Mrs. Horstense P. Moyer, Council member and president of the North Carolina branch, who will deliver her message on Wednesday morning; Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of East Carolina Teacher's College, who will make a talk Thursday morning. In addition to these speakers a pageant, "The King's Daughters" will be presented Wednesday evening by the Junior King's Daughters of this city.

A complete program of the two-day session will be announced later.

O'Neill Wins Nobel Prize For Letters

Eugene O'Neill (above), the American playwright, was awarded the 1936 Nobel prize for letters and so will receive about $45,000. He makes his home on Sea Island near Brunswick, Ga., but is sojourning at Seattle, Wash., temporarily while writing a play based on early western life.

HARDING ASKS ROAD REFUNDS

Pitt Attorney Sets Forth Claim For $1,593,681 for County

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—(AP)—John H. Folger, former state senator from Surry county, demanded today that three books of the State Highway and Public Works Commission be opened for public inspection, as he argued the commission's claim for $400,000 repayment before the commission investigating highway claims.

Former Senator J. G. Harding county chairman, who is now presenting a $1,593,681 claim for Pitt county, also quoted the late Frank Page, commission chairman 15 years ago, as saying in 1921 that adjustments would be made with counties for their part of the road building program.

Thirteen counties presented claims for $7,862,812 to wipe up the total hearings and Chairman Carl L. Bailey, of the investigating commission, said it would begin executive sessions at an early date to prepare its recommendations to the Legislature.

Senator Harding quoted Chairman Page as saying in 1921 that contracts which were signed prior to the law by which the commission took over a primary highway system should be carried out by the counties, a refund will be made as soon as possible.

Counties presenting claims today included Sampson, $903,000; Craven, $645,000; and Johnston $1,096,000.

Dead Baby Found In Dead Letter Office

San Francisco, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Federal inspectors here said today the body of a baby was found in a package opened at the dead letter office of the postoffice.

They said that due to its condition they could not determine its age or sex.

The package was addressed to the St. Meric hospital, San Francisco, bore 21 cents postage and gave an Oakland return address as "745 Malden."

"There is no St. Meric hospital in San Francisco."

"Postal inspectors called police and deputy coroner Thomas F. Gavin."

PITTSBURGH PREPARES AGAINST FUTURE FLOODS

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The city of steel is preparing for another flood—determined not to be caught napping again.

The retail stores, the wholesalers, the utilitymen, the relief agencies—are busy.

"They're interested, of course, in the big flood control program calling for massive dams on the watersheds of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers which form the Ohio in Pittsburgh's "golden triangle."

But they won't wait. Construction, even if started immediately, would require two or three years. So they are going ahead with private protection devices.

One big department store, for instance, is installing easily-closed shutters at each door and aluminum bulkheads behind each display window.

FEAR STRIKES ON BOTH SIDES OF CONTINENT

Threats Heard Both on Atlantic and Pacific Coasts

LABOR OFFICIAL PUSHES EFFORTS

In Addition to Strikes in Maritime Industry, 10 Other Walkouts in Progress

(By Associated Press)

New strike threats were heard on both sides of the continent today, while federal officials worked at the task of settling the issues of a maritime tie-up that has closed ports to shipping on the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts.

Five hundred men, their ultimatum for higher wages and union recognition rejected, expected to walk out of two ship building plants at San Pedro, Calif., at noon tomorrow. At Philadelphia longshoremen called a meeting today to vote on pending a week-old truce and joining striking waterfront workers there.

In addition to threatened strikes in the maritime industry, there were 10 other walkouts in progress along the Pacific coast. These were in industries, few of which had any relation to the widespread shipping tie-up.

At San Francisco an attack on the key hiring hall issue was planned today by Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor. McGrady sought a new conference between employers and maritime workers who walked out 13 days ago.

As the maritime union secretary sought to bring these factions together, the maritime workers of another tract demanded the employers' union labor spies and "saboteurs" Lovelace and his associates in an effort to disrupt shipping.

Increased Amount Asked For Schools In Next Biennium

Increase of $12,000,000 Asked by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Clyde A. Erwin, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, asked the Advisory Budget commission today for approximately $12,000,000 to run North Carolina schools during the biennium ending June 30, 1939.

At present the schools are receiving approximately $41,000,000 per biennium.

The $12,000,000 increase was requested so that the salaries of school teachers might be raised to the 1935 level—a boost of 30 per cent. Also included were items for teachers' sick leave and attendance work.

Pointing out that school appropriations are approximately 80 per cent of the total general expenditures, Erwin said that the increase would improve the morale of teachers throughout the state.

"You have a most significant opportunity to render service to the state," he asserted.

"The time has come when we have to give serious consideration to the increase in teachers' salaries or we will be faced with the possibility of a serious shortage in good teachers," he said.

Pres. Roosevelt Hails Thanksgiving Day

ONTARIO ESCAPE DROUGHT—GOOD EVEN FOR FIF

Washington, (AP)—Rejoicing that the drought did not hurt the onion crop, home economics experts say the harvestable crop is being used in every course up to dessert, and even served as pie in an emergency.

Estimating the late crop would yield about 12,000,000 sacks of 100 pounds each, the experts predicted the large production probably would keep prices from getting high throughout the early winter.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Attractive, thoughtful Sally Warren has just become society editor of the Warrenton Courier to help bolster her family's dwindling income. Gay, headstrong Tip, who loves to fly, and handsome Ray, the 18-year-old Warren twin, are about to finish high school. Sally has decided, against her stepmother's wishes, to fly to nearby Greensboro with Terry Maynard, the blond young aviator who wants to marry her. Terry is bound for an internship with the head of a large aviation line, hoping to get a South American job and take Sally away from Warrenton.

Chapter Five "Marry Me, Sally?"

TONIGHT when the plane left the ground, Sally could not see the earth drop beneath her and for that she was thankful. Terry wanted her to love to fly. He had even spoken of teaching her to fly. Under the goggles and helmet, Sally shuddered. She might rise now, with Terry, hand on the controls—Terry's steady, rough hand. But to go up alone into that vast space—Sally felt herself too small.

Under the spell of the steady motion of the plane, Sally lost all count of time. When the plane dipped toward the landing lights, she was startled to realize they were in Greensboro.

"Bring on the food, Caddy—I've made a hit!"

Sally climbed stiffly from her seat and sat Terry swing her to the ground. Several men came running up and Terry soon forgot her talking to them excitedly. She was glad when he remembered her.

Terry tucked her arm through his and they walked toward one of the lighted buildings.

They stepped out of the darkness into a brightly lighted lunch room where Terry asked Sally to wait.

"With me, huh?" he said.

"I wish you the best luck in the world, Terry," said Sally. Terry suddenly looked very boyish to her and she felt as if she were wishing Ray luck in the tennis matches. "Go in and win," she smiled at him. "That's what Tip would say."

Terry went off whistling and Sally sat down at one of the lunch tables. Caddy, the waitress, who had greeted Terry like an old friend, brought Sally coffee and chatted a bit.

Terry's World Changes

WHEN Terry came back, victory was in his face and in his long, swift stride.

"Terry—you did it!" cried Sally.

Terry put an arm about each of them and lifted them clear of the floor. "Bring on the food, Caddy," he said. "I've made a hit with old Willis Gates and this time next year, with luck, I'll be in South America."

Sally squirmed out of his embrace and looked about the lunch room to see if anyone had seen the spectacle of her and Caddy, seated together above the floor. The place was still empty and she was relieved, but annoyed with Terry.

Terry put his big hand over Sally's, which rested on the table. "I couldn't have done it without you, old girl," he said. "You brought me luck just as I said you would."

"I'm glad," said Sally. "Tell me about it—I can't wait to hear."

"He's going to be in this country six months. When he goes back to South America, he'll give me a trial on his passenger line, and that's all a want—just a chance."

"It'll mean everything to you."

"I hope it's going to mean a lot to you, Sally."

Sally, conscious of Caddy's presence, drew her hand away and wished with all her heart that Terry had waited.

"Of course," she said awkwardly, "anything that means good luck to you means it for me, too."

"Do you mean it, Sally?" Terry's blue eyes were shining with pleasure and excitement. As he tried to reach her hand again, Caddy set a platter of ham and hot coffee before them.

"I'm starved!" He helped himself and Sally to ham, and ate eagerly, talking as he ate. Sally played with her fork and tried to realize how this night had changed Terry's world, and what that might mean to him—and to her.

"Something big has happened to me tonight," Terry was saying. "There isn't but one thing bigger that could happen."

Over a Plate Of Ham

SALLY'S heart beat faster. The moment she had thought of for so long was at hand and all she could do was say to herself over and over, until it was like a sentence prayer running through her head: "Don't say it now, over a plate of ham."

But Terry did not sense her feeling. He was excited, and he was talking a great deal.

"God only knows how I've wanted to get out of Warrenton," said Terry. "My folks have had a pretty tough time of it, and me loafing around with no job to speak of. But what could I get to do in Warrenton—hick town like that?"

"I like it," said Sally firmly. "It's all right for you," said Terry. "Even if you haven't got money."

Efford's Department Store

The first flurry of falling leaves sends our thoughts scurrying to clothes, and if like the provident ants and bees we plan for the future, we make our own. In this way we can save and at the same time have near things that will last longer. A few outstanding fabrics, selected by different Fashion Editors, are: Tinted patterns in satin, larger sizes in crepe; dull crepes with lustrous backs; Challis printed spun-rayon; Monotone tweeds; Crossbar woolsens; Velvet; Spun-rayon and wool cloth; Nubby woolsens; Patterned velvet and Jacquard crepe.

The color story is that, rust, green and gray are leaders. Copper is mentioned often, and red and blue, especially rich and vibrant hues are well thought of. White, brown and gray are also among those proposed. If you are discouraged by the color situation better run into the STORES where I found all these lovely fabrics and have a heart-to-heart talk with Miss Deess. Who will help you select the pattern, correct yardage etc. Prices are $1.48 to 95c. Woolsens 95c to $1.94.

RAY MUMFORD

Lelia Higgs Studio

Christmas is approaching and our thoughts just naturally turn to gifts. Now is the time to order all those lovely accessories for Christmas. By all means go to the LELIA HIGGS STUDIO and see some of the lovely things she is showing. When she could, you find a two-tier occasional table with brass legs. Mirrors, vases and pretense selected with but one purpose in view, which is to give the liveliest one that will be appropriate in the room for which it is intended. You will also want to attend the showing of the loveliest and newest designs in lamps at this studio the first week in November. Miss Higgs told me this morning that some of the most gorgeous lamps she has ever been able to find would be shown at her studio this year. While there, look for a beautiful creation in Italian pottery in very lovely translucent colors with hand-painted silk shade. A Lenta China in egg-shell background with bands of turquoise blue and dainty floral design mounted on gold standard with the shade accenting the colors of the base. A charming Chinese model mounted on a teakwood base. A pair of etched crystal dressing table lamps with frivolous shades. A colonial lamp with milk-white base and rose-colored shade trimmed with yards and yards of lace. So much importance is attached to the lamps, tables, vases and mirrors in a room, they either lift the room from a state of nonentity to a charming room or banish the character of the room. It pays to have professional advice when selecting these important accessories.

Tip gets caught in an escapade with Duke Adams tomorrow.

Everywhere I go I hear discussions on getting the rooms at home all ready for winter before Thanksgiving. Paperhangers, painters and floor-finishers are as busy as bees and more and more I hear about the bathroom being done over. I am always so glad to hear about this room not being forgotten. It is one of the most important rooms in the house from the standpoint of cleanliness and has been one of the most neglected. But today, when the proud hostess is showing her home to friends after it has been re-decorated she need not pass the bathroom by but can proudly open the door for them to gaze upon a color harmony that is breath-taking. Just as much thought and time have been given to the manufacture of fixtures in the modern bathroom as has been bestowed upon your most priceless furnishings in your other rooms. If you will call 636, Mr. Russ will give you a complete estimate for installing extra bathrooms or re-decorating and furnishing your old bathrooms.

rush of warm, soapy water touches every inch of fabric in the spiralator every minute the machine is in motion, operates quietly without vibration, is economical and uses less soap and water and affords important, extra conveniences. Winter is almost here and very few families are fortunate enough to have a laundress who will come "rain or shine" during the cold weather... yet the family washing must be done each week. The best solution of this problem that I know of is to order an EASY WASHER and learn to use it before you are left with a big bundle of laundry to do in the "good old-fashioned way" some rainy cold week this winter. If you will call Mr. Gaskins at the CAROLINA SALES CORPORATION and ask him to send out one of these modern home washers he will see that you have a demonstration right in your home where you can try out the machine to your entire satisfaction.

Hollywood... It has happened so often that Hugh Herbert could be crowned King of the Picture Savers.

The preview "house" is quietly apathetic, dreading sitting through a movie that is Sample No. 2,001 of Movie Formula X2B. And suddenly it begins to laugh, and keeps on laughing. The miracle has been worked by the appearance on the screen of a funny, giggles, says "Woo-Woo" in that peculiar fashion of his, and wanders through the rest of the picture apparently aimlessly but with telling effect.

Of course Herbert, a canny but not dour Scotch-American, has had good pictures and good parts, but it seems to matter little to him what role is assigned him. He can take nothing and make something of it.

MRS. CHARLES WHITEFORD

Water & Light Commission

The love of an open hearth—it's cozy intimacy and soothing warmth—have brought comfort and contentment to millions of homes up through the ages. But as homes become brighter, more colorful, more beautiful, people begin to look for a way to end the dirt, mass, and soot of the open fire. Then came the Radiantire with a different principle of heating—developing radiant rays to warm the solid objects of the room, yet leaving the air pure and refreshing. All the smoke and dust are ended but the romance of the open hearth continues on. Why not add to the beauty and comfort of your home with a Humphrey Radiantire?

There is a model to harmonize with any home furnishings—period designs or smart new 1936 models following the modern trend. Prices are most reasonable. Do see them at the WATER & LIGHT COMMISSION.

The miracle has been worked by the appearance on the screen of a funny, giggles, says "Woo-Woo" in that peculiar fashion of his, and wanders through the rest of the picture apparently aimlessly but with telling effect.

Of course Herbert, a canny but not dour Scotch-American, has had good pictures and good parts, but it seems to matter little to him what role is assigned him. He can take nothing and make something of it.

Right now he has no picture-acting assignment. He is giving his "Woo-Woo" to quite a pretentious musical called "Top of the Town" and he has a good role in it. He even sings, for the first time in his movie career, and it's a ditty called "Fireman, Save My Child."

Herbert came into pictures as a writer, working on that first all-talkie, "The Light of New York," but little by little he returned to acting, bits grew into parts, and now he wouldn't have time to write for films—what with his valley ranch and his projected novel based, he says, upon his diary of a decade or two, and his acting.

Acting? The chief exponent of cinematic Woo-Woo thinks acting (in the movies) is little enough to take bows for.

QUESTIONS THAT SOME FOLKS ASK ABOUT CARDUI

BENEFIT FOR MAL-NUTRITION

"Thousands of women today Cardui has helped them to overcome mal-nutrition and to ease many of the functional pains of menstruation."

"What is meant by helping to overcome mal-nutrition?"

Cardui contains extracts of two plants which are classed among the "bitters" in medicine because they are known to increase the flow of digestive juices—to improve digestion—so there is a craving for sufficient food for the body's needs and by their action more energy (or strength) is obtained from the food eaten. The food, of course, brings the additional strength, but Cardui serves as the means to this end by its good influence on the digestive system.—(Adv.)

Mrs. Hooker Bridge Hostess

Mrs. W. E. Hooker was hostess at a beautifully appointed party yesterday afternoon when she entertained at bridge complimenting Miss Mary Warren, whose wedding will take place this month, and Mrs. Montgomery Barnes, who is making her home here for a few months.

Guests found places at tables placed in the library, music room, and dining room, against a background of lovely chrysanthemums in shades of pink, white and yellow.

At the conclusion of the game, cards were removed and prizes awarded. Mrs. James T. Little making high score was given a box of chrysanthemums and roses; for low score Mrs. S. M. Crisp was given a pottery vase. As reminders of the occasion, Miss Warren was presented china in her chosen pattern and Mrs. Barnes an antique vase. Mrs. W. E. Padgett, of Greensboro was remembered with a honey jar. Mrs. R. M. Garrett and Mrs. J. L. Kilgo joined the other guests for the tea hour.

Mrs. Garrett and Mrs. Rosamond Nicholson assisted Mrs. Hooker in serving a delectable salad plate with coffee.

Party for Miss Burnette

Miss Helen Burnette was honored last evening when Mrs. Helene Higgs Kirkpatrick charmingly entertained.

Four tables of bridge were placed in the library in a setting of lovely autumn flowers.

Upon arrival the guests were served punch. After many very interesting progressions of bridge an ice course was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gullford Smith, Mrs. Herman Duncan and Mrs. Phil Goodson.

The bride-elect was remembered with china in her selected pattern.

Mrs. George F. Hadley was given double-deck of cards for high score and Miss Annie Ree Kittrell a novelty hyacinth bowl for low.

Supper Meeting Methodist Church

The Board of Stewards of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church will have a Supper Meeting tonight at 6:30 at the church. All members are urged to attend.

"Quare Medecine"

"Quare Medecine" will be one of the three plays which the Carolina Playmakers will present in the Robert H. Wright auditorium Monday night. "Quare Medecine" was written by Paul Green, famous Carolinian, who won the Pulitzer prize for "In Abraham's Bosom," and who wrote the movie version of several Hollywood productions, including "State Fair," "Cabin in the Cotton" and "Voltaire."

Mr. Green was born on a farm in Harnett county. He attended Bule's Creek academy, from which he was graduated in 1914.

He taught two years in a country school before entering the University of North Carolina, from which he received his degree in 1921, after having served in the World War.

The Group Theatre in New York is now producing his latest play, "Johnny Jones."

The other two plays to be presented are recent successes, "New Nigger" and "Tooth or Shave?"

Jacobs-Burnette

The marriage of Miss Helen Burnette, daughter of Mr. Robert Troy Burnette, and the late Robert Troy Burnette, and Francis Albert Jacobs, will be solemnized tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 in Memorial Baptist church. No invitations to the wedding were sent in Greenville. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

Birthday Party

Little Miss June Ward Plage was hostess to a number of friends Friday afternoon at her home on Chestnut street, celebrating her tenth birthday.

After playing several games the children were invited into the dining room. The table was centered with a pink and white birthday cake with ten burning candles. After singing "Happy Birthday" to June, ice cream, cake and apples were served by the hostess' mother. Much merriment was enjoyed while cutting the birthday cake.

The little hostess received many useful gifts.

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary held its regular meeting on Monday afternoon with Mrs. A. E. Hobgood. Assisting hostesses were Mrs. James L. Evans, Mrs. Hubert Joyner and Mrs. Walter Cherry.

Mrs. W. R. Jones, president, presided. The meeting was opened with prayer and the preamble to the Constitution.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Plans for the year were discussed and committees appointed. Mrs. W. A. Darden was appointed chairman of child welfare, and Mrs. W. J. Bundy chairman of Americanism. Mrs. J. Hicks Corey was named treasurer.

A very gratifying report was given by Mrs. J. Hicks Corey and Mrs. Alex Viola, chairman of the Fair Committee.

The November meeting will be held on Monday, the twenty-third.

Party at "Y" Hut

The "Y" Hut of the College Y. W. C. A. was the scene of a delightful entertainment Tuesday night when the members of the organization were treated with a supper. Music and songs were enjoyed before the meal, which was served buffet style. Miss Catherine Wallace, president of the association, with the assistance of Miss Frances Currin, charmingly served a cold plate and hot tea. Miss Marie Dawson, chairman of the Social Committee, was in charge of the entertainment which took place at the regular dinner hour.

The decorations of autumn leaves and flowers, the wood fire in the open fireplace, and the dim lights, made the Y Hut cozy and attractive.

W. M. U. Holds Mission Study Class

Winterville, Nov. 12—The Woman's Missionary Union of the Winterville Baptist church has just completed a mission study book entitled "Palestinian Tapestry," by Mrs. J. Wash Watts. They held their classes at the home of Mrs. Abbie Tripp, who has been confined to her bed for the past two years.

Mrs. M. T. Spier, president of the society, had charge of the meetings. After a short devotional the meetings were turned over to the Mission Study leader, Mrs. J. H. Mobley. She led the discussion and was assisted by other members of the society, who made talks on definite phases of the work in Palestine. Those aiding Mrs. Mobley were: Mrs. Vernon Cox, Mrs. Roy T. Cox, Mrs. E. H. Hirsucker, Mrs. J. D. McArthur, Mrs. Alfred McLawhorn and Mrs. M. T. Spier.

All those who attended the meeting received helpful information and much inspiration about the work of Southern Baptists in Palestine. At the same time, they carried out the spirit of home mission work by cheering the sick.

Warren-Collins
Raleigh, Nov. 12—In a simple ceremony of beauty and dignity, Miss Dolle Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins of Raleigh, and Hannis M. Warren of Raleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Warren of Greenville, were united in marriage Wednesday evening at seven o'clock in Ernest Myatt Presbyterian church near Raleigh.

Dr. P. D. Miller performed the ceremony against a beautiful background of palms, ferns, southern smilax and white chrysanthemums. Cathedral candles burned on the altar and in pyramid candelabra.

As guests assembled, Mrs. W. P. Dowd presented a program of nuptial music consisting of selections from Victor Herbert, "Melody of Love," "Thine Eyes So Blue and Tender" and others. She wore a Diphonet chiffon velvet dress and shoulder corsage of pastel shades.

Mrs. Noel Bryan sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "I Love You Truly." She was dressed in a brown taffeta dress made princess style with a shoulder corsage of Talsman roses. Mr. Howard Collins and Mr. H. Graham Clark, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, were ushers.

To the strains of the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner, the bride and groom entered the church together. The bride wore a dress of blue chiffon velvet trimmed with white lamb and harmonizing accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of Briercliff roses and valley lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Warren left for a wedding trip to Washington, Baltimore and other northern points. For travelling the bride wore a model of gray wool made with fitted jacket and flared skirt and trimmed with bands of Persian lamb and red velvet ascot. Black accessories with a black lapin coat completed the outfit. The bride is connected with the General Motors Acceptance Corporation in Raleigh, and Mr. Warren is with the Carolina Power and Light company, of this city.

Following their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Warren will be at home at 2099 Glenwood avenue, in Raleigh.

How's Your Health—

Gas Poisoning
The most common form of gas poisoning is that due to carbon monoxide, the most common source of which are the automobile and illuminating gas. Dr. Martland estimates that in the United States approximately 500 deaths a week are due to carbon monoxide.

Many victims who survive suffer permanent irreparable damage to their nervous systems.

The severity of the nervous system and damage depends upon the depth and duration of the poisoning. Those poisonings occurring in suicide attempts, or accidentally while the victim is suffering from alcoholic intoxication, or during sleep, are most likely when the person survives, to be followed by severe nervous involvements.

Practically every part of the central nervous system may be affected, giving rise to profound disturbances in the motor and sensory divisions. Profound mental disturbances may also result from carbon monoxide poisoning. Fortunately these are only temporary in duration, though some times they leave a residue of personality change, after the more severe symptoms disappear.

Carbon monoxide gas is not a true poison in the ordinary sense of the term. Its poisonous effects are due to its ready combination with the oxygen-carrying element

THERE IS ONLY ONE RIGHT WAY

A hearing on Pitt County's claim against the State Highway Commission for refunds for money spent by the county for state highways or advanced to the state for highway purposes is being heard in Raleigh today. On the basis of previous hearings on claims of other counties it seems that the highway commission's intention is to try from the start to show that no county has a justified claim in order that the commission will have to make no refunds.

It may be true that in some instances some of the counties might have asked for unjustified amounts, but the fact remains that in some instances some of the counties are entitled to refunds and the state commission should go at its hearings with a view of finding out just which are the just claims in order that same might be paid. It was the idea of the legislature that just claims should be paid and that was why the body enacted a measure that required the governor to appoint a commission to study the claims.

It is a well known fact that some of the counties in the state spent their own money to build state highways while other counties that have just as many miles of highways had all theirs built by the state. Certainly it is nothing but right that the counties now carrying bonded indebtedness for state highways should be placed on an equal footing with the other counties by having the state to make refunds or take over the bonds. Regardless of the findings of the present investigating body controlled by the highway commission, justice will not be done unless the counties are repaid.

BIOGRAPHY OF SHELLEY PUBLISHED BY UNC PRESS

Chapel Hill, Nov. 12.—"The Magic Plant," a biography of Percy Bysshe Shelley, by Carl Grabo, has just been released by the University of North Carolina Press.

Dr. Grabo, who is a professor of English at the University of Chicago, explains the works of Shelley as a sublimation of a thwarted desire to take part in the political and social struggles of his time.

An intellectual biography, "The Magic Plant" reveals the lyricist as a radical thinker with a passionate concern for the practical questions of his age and attempts to dispel the popular conception of Shelley as a vague dreamer.

Professor Grabo has also written three volumes of a critical interpretation of Shelley's works.

By J. C. BASKERVILLE.
Raleigh, Nov. 12.—Governor-elect Clyde R. Hoey is planning for a comparatively short session of the general assembly, although he frankly admits it will have a number of arduous problems to deal with, he said here today. The fact that the people of the state voted in favor of the five-constituent amendments, thus making it necessary for the general assembly to enact legislation to put them into effect, has added greatly to the work the legislature may have to do. Mr. Hoey agreed, and may prolong the session much longer than it otherwise would have been. But he believes that the assembly can enact all the legislation called for by the new amendments, also all the Social Security legislation needed without prolonging the session materially, if the members will get down to work promptly with a determination to make as rapid progress as possible.

When asked if he regarded the tremendous Democratic majority in the recent election as equal to a mandate for the enactment of Social Security legislation by the general assembly to make the Federal Social Security Act effective in North Carolina, Mr. Hoey said that he did not regard it as a mandate, but merely as an overwhelming expression of approval of the present Federal and State Democratic administrations and their future policies.

"I believe, of course, that the people of North Carolina want and expect the coming general assembly to enact an old age pensions law and other laws that will enable the state to cooperate with the Federal government under the Social Security Act," Mr. Hoey said. "But I believe the people are willing to leave the entire matter up to the general assembly and to trust the judgment of its members."

There is a possibility that the task of the general assembly in dealing with Social Security legislation may be greatly simplified by Congress, in that Congress may make a number of material changes in the Federal law, Mr. Hoey said. He pointed out that the Social Security Act was enacted very hurriedly by Congress in the closing days of its winter session and that it is generally conceded that a number of changes need to be made in portions of the act.

"There is no doubt, however, that the people of North Carolina are expecting the new general assembly to enact an old age pensions law, so that the state can share in the Federal old age pensions allotments, and I am confident that such an act will be enacted," Mr. Hoey said.

Admitting that the adoption of the new Constitutional amendments has added greatly to the work the general assembly will have to do, Mr. Hoey said:

"It must be remembered that there is nothing in the amendments which makes it mandatory for the general assembly to go the limit under each amendment or even to do anything immediately, since whether anything is done depends entirely upon the general assembly. The amendments merely permit the assembly to do certain things if and when it decides to do so. It is likely, of course, that this general assembly will make an attempt to do as much as it thinks advisable towards the reclassification of property, towards limiting the debts of subdivisions, towards increasing the income tax limits and towards granting some property exemption under the homestead exemption amendment. But the chances are that the assembly will decide to go about all of these things gradually and not try to jump to the maximum limits allowed all at one time. So it should not take the assembly such a long time to do what it finds it can do in this session."

The liquor question is going to be another problem for the legislature to deal with, Mr. Hoey said, and one which will take considerable time.

"I believe, however, that the assembly members have already made up their mind as to what they intend to do with the liquor question and that whatever liquor control legislation is proposed can and will be disposed of within the first few weeks of the session," Mr. Hoey said. "I feel certain it will dispose of this legislation one way or the other early in the session and will not keep it hanging fire throughout the entire time the legislature is in session, as was the case in 1935."

"MARY" OF PASSION PLAY TO LECTURE AT UNIVERSITY

Chapel Hill, Nov. 12.—Miss Anny Rutz, of Bermmersgau, Bavaria, who played the part of the Virgin Mary in the Passion Play presented in Oberammergau in 1930 and 1934, will give an illustrated lecture in the Playmakers Theatre at the University Monday night, Nov. 16.

Miss Rutz is the only person twice honored with the role of Mary in the past 300 years. Her family has lived in Oberammergau for 400 years, and the first Christ, Jakob Rutz, was an ancestor of hers.

V-8
60 HORSEPOWER
Good Performance with Maximum Economy
Bore 2.6 in. Stroke 3.2 in. Displacement 136 cubic in.

The New Ford V-8 for 1937 is the most beautiful Ford car ever offered. It is built in only one size — with one standard of roomy comfort and modern appearance. But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance — or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car — with lower operating costs.

Improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine — Drive it and watch the speedometer!

When you drive the 1937 Ford powered with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a modern power plant that gives you everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. It is a better engine than ever — with a better cooling system and new smoothness of operation. Yet improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually good gasoline mileage.

New 60-horsepower engine — Drive it and watch the fuel gage!

The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine is almost an exact replica of the "85" — except for size, weight and power. It delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness — even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour — with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

We invite you to see this new Ford car, and arrange to drive one equipped with the engine that fits your own needs.

NEW FEATURES OF THE 1937 FORD V-8 CAR

APPEARANCE—A newly designed car—wide and roomy, with a low center of gravity. Distinctive front end, with headlamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. The slanting V-type windshield opens in closed cars.

ENGINES—A choice of the improved V-8 85-horsepower engine or the new V-8 60-horsepower engine. More efficient cooling. Quieter performance. New economy.

COMFORT AND QUIET—By every modern standard of design, the 1937 Ford V-8 is a big, roomy car. Extra space is in the body, where you want it—not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Ford Center-Poise Ride is further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES—New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. Positive and direct—"the safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing—car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. About one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY—All-steel body construction. Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure is all steel—sheathed with steel panels, top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great protective strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

TEAMS PRIMED FOR BIG GAME

Duke and Carolina to Meet in Kenan Stadium at 2 P. M.

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 13.—Football legends representing the University of North Carolina and Duke University were to take their final workout this afternoon. They were pronounced in prime shape for their crucial test here tomorrow afternoon which will probably decide the Southern Conference championship.

A crowd of 35,000 is expected for the contest which gets underway at 2 o'clock.

The picture presents a striking contrast to the situation a year ago when Carolina, rated tops in the country, ruled top-heavy favorite, but was heavily trounced 25-0.

The Tar Heels will be the underdog in this year's contest.

A new 47-year old rivalry which is supposed to be in Dixie in color and tenacity of competition.

Although Carolina goes into the game on the short end of ratings, the 1934 history will repeat itself.

Saturday Duke Back A-L Southern end, and Jim Hutchins, A-L Southern fullback, was the lumina in the 1934 conflict. Buck's pass snaring and Hutchins' line work were the key to Duke's TNT for the Methodists to handle.

Eight other seniors were members of the Tar Heel squad. They were Fred McLean, John Trimpey, Emer Wagon, Van Webb, Charlie McFar, and others.

Stewart and Wolfe Dunham. They will be on the line tomorrow to offer an excellent McFar and Trimpey line will be in the starting lineup along with Hutchins and Captain Brock.

The Duke team, which is due to arrive here tomorrow night, will be led by Coach C. C. Coveate and the captain of the Southern Conference competition, Hodge a husky, hard-fighting line and a speedy, elusive backfield.

The two elevens will stack up about even as to weight. Duke holds a three-point advantage per man in the line—97 to 94 with Carolina slightly heavier in the backfield 180 to 172.

Student interest is at high pitch. The contest is expected to be a big, popularly fought beginning at 7:15 o'clock on the steps of South Building. The University of North Carolina's 75-year band will play at the demonstration.

The band and the band of the University have returned for the home and fall dances which start tonight and continue through Saturday night. The band and its nationally known musicians are being cheered by the thousands on a rainy afternoon and anxiously awaits the call to battle tomorrow.

Parking Directions Announced for Duke Football Game

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—Those who intend to go to the Carolina-Duke football game at Chapel Hill Saturday afternoon, are not only asked to drive carefully, since the traffic is expected to be very heavy but to cooperate with the State Highway patrol after they get to Chapel Hill by parking in the places set aside for them.

Additional parking space is being made available on both the east and west entrances to the stadium and an effort will be made to get all of the cars from the east parked in the space east of entrances to the stadium and all of the cars from the west parked in space to the west. Captain Charles D. Farmer said today.

"We are asking that all of those people from east of Chapel Hill who will drive in by the Nelson road, park in the two fields—both the old and new athletic fields—east of the stadium," Captain Farmer said. "Likewise, we are asking that all those from Durham, Greensboro and the west park in space set aside west of the stadium and that they do not try to cross over and park in any of the space set aside for the cars from the east."

"If the drivers cooperate with us and follow these directions, we will be able to handle the crowd much faster than usual and make it possible for them to get away from half an hour to hour sooner than if they cross over into the wrong parking areas. For if they cooperate with us, we will not be bothered with any cross-traffic streams when the game is over and all the eastern cars can turn east and the western cars west without having to stop and wait for cars going in opposite directions or trying to cut through the stream of traffic."

Those who plan to drink anything stronger than Coca Cola had them or else get one person who better get a chauffeur to drive for does not drink to do the driving for trouble, Capt. Farmer warned.

A. F. L. Dispute On Vertical Union To Be Fought By Leaders' Proxies

INDUSTRIAL ...

By JOSEPH L. MILLER

Washington (AP)—When the big industrial union fight starts at the American Federation of Labor's Tampa, Fla., convention November 16, neither faction's real leader will be in the hall.

For the battle really is between two of the American labor movement's most powerful personalities, Samuel Gompers and John L. Lewis.

Gompers, the English-born cigar-maker who headed the federation for 42 years, has been dead since 1924.

Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, has been suspended from the federation for "insurrection," and is not eligible to sit in the convention.

Aides to Wage Fight.

But each has faithful lieutenants to carry on the fight. And the delegates will see the philosophy of each in the heated speeches that likely will ring from the rostrum.

Gompers and a few associates founded the federation in 1882 to give craft unions an instrument for fighting common battle. They had seen the knights of labor, one big union of all workmen, collapse because of divergent interests of various craftsmen. They felt that the bricklayer, for instance, could best advance his interests by affiliating in a union with all other bricklayers—not with workmen in other trades. The federation, they said, should protect the rights of each of these craft unions, as well as working for their common interests.

On this principle, the federation grew and flourished for many years. Its unions took in, generally, only skilled craftsmen and thus represented "the aristocracy of labor."

Then came a new type of industry—called "mass production"—and with it grew up a new school of labor thought. Headed by Lewis (now 56 years old, while Gompers would be 88 if he were alive) this school contended that all the workers, skilled and unskilled, in each big industry should belong to one big "vertical" union.

Only this form of organization, Lewis and his associates contended, could the unskilled worker get the benefits of a union. And only by this form of organization, they further maintained, could organized labor hope to bargain on equal terms with organized industry.

Ouster Battle Expected.

Because they undertook to apply this principle to the steel, automobile and rubber industries without A. F. of L. sanction, Lewis' United Mine Workers and nine other unions were suspended from the federation two months ago.

The battle in Tampa probably will start when the convention considers a resolution to exel these 10 unions from the federation for good and all.

Three union leaders who worked with Gompers for many years are generally expected to lead the fight for adoption. They are William Hutchesson, hefty president of the carpenters; the scholarly John P. Frey, president of the federation's metal trades department, and Arthur O. Wharton, president of the machinists.

Lewis' spokesmen likely will be Charles P. Howard, president of the typographical union; George L. Berry, president of the printing pressmen; and Max Zaritsky, president of the united hatters, cap and millinery workers.

STATE ELEVEN OFF FOR GAME

Wolfpack to Meet Catholic University in Washington

College Station, R. I., Nov. 13.—North Carolina State Wolfpack will leave tonight for Washington where tomorrow afternoon at 2:03 o'clock it meets the Florida Cardinals of Catholic University in the Catholic U stadium.

Hunk Anderson, head coach, said the squad would reach Washington early Saturday morning and at 7 o'clock would have the train for the Wolfpack Hotel where State will make its headquarters while in the National Capital.

Thirty-three members of the Wolfpack squad are to make the trip, including Eddie Entwistle, right halfback and Alvin R. Edwards, guard, who have been on the injured list since the Carolina game.

Anderson will send the squad through its final workout here this afternoon.

Anderson is expected to be in better physical condition than in recent weeks. He says State has a few chances of taking the game.

State and Catholic U have met twice before with the Catholic team the winner on each occasion. The first game was played in 1931 and the score was 12-7. The second tilt was run off last year in Washington and the score was 8-0.

C. W. Duvall, Sr. and his son, C. W. Jr. have won the annual Kansas City father-and-son golf tournament six times in the past eight years.

The University of Idaho which has a plot of ground prepared for an outdoor skating rink, plans also ski and toboggan slides in the mountains for its students.

Warn Of Pickpockets Duke-Carolina Game

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 13.—Be-ware of pickpockets! Such will be the slogan of police and federal clerks at the Carolina-Duke game here Saturday.

These crooks usually operate in the Carolina-State game that they even picked on newspapermen. They have victimized a number of persons attending games in this state this season. Their usual method is to crowd in upon the intended victim or victims and fish his personal belongings, whether they be money, watches or whatnot.

Approximately 200 policemen and federal agents will be on hand Saturday to cope with possible disorders, but it was pointed out that pickpockets represent a particularly clever and delusive species of the criminal gentry.

These fellows got so hard up at the Carolina-State game that they even picked on newspapermen. They have victimized a number of persons attending games in this state this season. Their usual method is to crowd in upon the intended victim or victims and fish his person-against these fellows, will be placed at various places in the stadium.

Although the series dates back to 1894, the 1936 Alabama-Tulane grid game is the 14th between the two institutions.

COURT CHANGE LEFT TO TIME

Election Aftermath Has Much to Do With Supreme Bar

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau The Associated Press, Washington

Quite naturally, much of the aftermath of the November election has to do with the supreme court. It was the court which put up the barrier against many of those key policies which President Roosevelt defended during the campaign, and to which he advocated, at least inferentially, a return to the status quo.

Governor Landon exhorted his followers and for whose intervention he thanked providence and the founding fathers over and over. And when the arguments were ended, two states gave their votes to Landon, 46 to Roosevelt.

Among the whole range of questions raised by the election, there is none more complex than this: Will an attempt now be made to interpret the action of the electors, translating it into action by the government? And if so, how? Speculation on this subject has been traveling in a devious way. No one pretends to know the answer definitely, but the answer is being sought.

One story, whispered about in minor official circles in Washington, is that authority has been found in existing law for Presidential appointment of additional members of the highest court, and that Mr. Roosevelt intends to take advantage of it, naming justices of his own way of thinking.

A search of the statutes fails to disclose any such authority. The constitution left the number of justices to congress. The first congressional act, passed in 1789, provided for six. Six times since, the law has been amended. The latest act, passed in 1869 and still in effect, reads: "That the supreme court of the United States shall hereafter consist of the chief justice of the United States and eight associate justices."

This is plain language, which only congress can change; and under existing circumstances there is not the slightest assurance that even the overwhelming Democratic majority in the new congress would consent to a reconstitution of the court to fit the Roosevelt policies. Still, it might if the White House insisted.

It is possible that the court itself will be influenced in its future decisions by the happenings of November 3.

Repeatedly the court has emphasized that this is a democracy, subject to the will of the people. Repeatedly it has referred to the constitution as a flexible instrument, always to be construed in the light of conditions at the moment. Can a popular landslide enter into such considerations? Of course only the justices themselves can answer that.

Finally, what about a constitutional amendment to reverse the court? Could such an amendment possibly be phrased in terms which would satisfy the requisite two-thirds of senate and house, not to mention the 36 states needed for ratification? It would seem an ambitious undertaking.

These questions ask themselves in pronouncement. The court goes its way. The President keeps silent. Perhaps, after all, he means only to mark time, waiting for the laws of mortality to supersede all other laws. Six of the nine justices are past 70. It would be remarkable, indeed, if appointments to fill several vacancies did not automatically come the way of the second Roosevelt administration.

he sees a decrease in juvenile delinquency, and an increase in those qualities necessary for good citizenship.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington, Nov. 13. Anyone longing for a minority in congress large enough to act as a brake on the administration evidently must look for it among factional groups within the Democratic membership.

The Republican senate membership of 23 in the last session has been scaled off a half dozen, the Democratic majority gaining correspondingly to a new top of 75. In the house the Republican minority of 162 was scaled off by a dozen.

The Democratic majority of 322 was augmented correspondingly.

Even in the past congress the Democratic majorities in the two houses were so preponderant that small cliques began to show influence. The group behind the Frasier-Lemke inflationary farm bill forced a house vote on it over administration opposition.

A determined little cluster of Democratic and Republican senators obtained action on a neutrality bill when there was evidence of leadership opposition.

publican minority presents a real problem in committee service. Particularly is that true in the senate. With their numbers so reduced, Republicans scarcely offer manpower enough to sit in effectively on even the major committees.

Democrats will sorely miss two of the Republican senators, Dickinson of Iowa and Hastings of Delaware, who were defeated.

No one else on the Republican side ever attracted such wholesale pointed fire as these two, and it would be hard to find one more ready to return blow for blow as Hastings. Dickinson more often made his speech and then left the floor, averting much of the heckling attack which Hastings took in stride.

Picture Senator Robinson of Arkansas or Connally of Texas turning to face the Republican side with some hoity partisan lilt. Automatically their eyes in the past, he hunted out Hastings first as the most obviously all-wool Republican in contrast with others who have more often voted New Deal. Who will fill in now? Vandenberg, Stewart, perhaps?

For diversion, Democrats used to have Huey Long, as well as the Republicans. Off hand it would seem a good opening for the rise of a senator upon whom Democratic spokesmen can vent their spleen. Perhaps belligerent Senator Rush Holt is the man.

Local Negro Scouts Take Second Honors

Troop 31, along with other troops of the East Carolina council, attended the first annual camporee for negro scouts in this district, at Washington, N. C., Nov. 10-11. Troops from the following cities were represented: Wilson, Washington, Ahoskie, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Winton and Grimesland.

The night of November 10 was given over to "stunts" by the various troops. November 11, Armistice Day, was converted into a field rally at which time the following competitive events were carried on: fire-building, signaling, knot-tying, cooking, nature study and wood-chopping. In these events the local troop won second place.

Troop 31 held the distinction of being the best uniformed troop of the council.

Scouts present at the Camporee were: Robert Teels, Willie Teels, Robert Shiver, Robert Moye, William Streeter, Charles Eaton, Melvin Williams, Jasper Barnes and Willie Langley.

Scoutmaster W. H. Davenport, who is most sincere in his work among the boys, is urging the public to support scouting in every way possible, since in its development

PLAN EXPLAIN SECURITY ACTS

Additional Details Concerning Pay-roll Tax Shown

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 13. — Regulations governing the collection of the new Federal tax on employes and employers, under the Social Security Act, and which becomes effective January 1, 1937, have now been prepared and will soon be printed and available for employes, Charles H. Robertson, Collector of Internal Revenue for North Carolina, with headquarters in Greensboro, informed this bureau today.

The necessary forms on which employes will make their monthly returns to collectors of internal revenue, are also being prepared and will be available later on at the offices of all collectors, Robertson said. While the new regulations, known as "Regulations 91" have not yet been printed, Collector Robertson pointed out the following facts in connection with the new taxes:

The tax imposed under the Social Security Act is in reality two taxes, one an income tax on employes and one an excise tax on employers. The new tax is in addition to all other taxes and is to be collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury.

The tax on employers is imposed irrespective of the number of persons employed, so that an employer having only one employe or 500 employes is subject to the tax, except those expressly exempted under the law.

The tax applies only to wages received and paid on and after Jan. 1, 1937 for services performed on and after that date and every employe and employer in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, the District of Columbia.

Those exempted from the law are those engaged in agricultural labor, domestic service in private homes, services performed by an individual 65 years of age or more, service performed for certain non-profit organizations having religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes and casual labor not in the course of the employer's trade or business. Also exempt are ship's crews and employes of the Federal, state and local governments and employes of railroads.

If an employe receives more than $3,000 a year as remuneration for services, only the first $3,000 is subject to the tax.

The tax on each employe is measured by the wages he receives up to $3,000 a year and each employer is taxed on the total sum of the wages he pays to his employes, except the portion that may be in excess of $3,000 a year to whatever number of employes receive more than that amount.

The rate of tax on both employes and employers is one per cent a year for the first year and the law requires employers to withhold the tax from the wages of his employes and to pay this tax to the Bureau of Internal Revenue at the same time he pays his tax of an equal amount.

Tax returns must be filed each month and payments made monthly. The first tax returns and first payments must be made for January, 1937 by not later than February 28, 1937, the tax returns for February must be filed before the end of March, and so on.

Information returns will also be required from every employer, reporting the taxable wages which are paid to each of his employes. Collector Robertson said, "The first information return will cover the six months period from January 1, 1937 to June 30, 1937 and will be due July 31, 1937. Thereafter, information returns will be required on a quarterly basis. The employer, in addition, will be required to make information return for each of his employes who attain the age of 65 or who dies before reaching the age of 65. These returns must be filed within 15 days after employe's 65th birthday or the date of his death."

LACK OF IRON IN ESTONIA BLAMED ON VIKINGS

New York, (AP)—Seeking to explain the absence of iron in the meteoric craters of Estonia, Dr. Fisher, curator of the Hayden planetarium here, thinks the metal was carried off by the early Vikings for their swords and shields.

"As is well known," he writes in Natural History, "iron was prized by the Vikings; and the Danes, who were the founders of this Baltic province (Estonia), had no iron in their home country."

Talks To Parents

By Brooke Peters Church

Shirking The Job.

Mrs. Jones was a sloppy housekeeper. She worked all day trying to keep the place in order, but was never through with her work. Duster, mops, carpet-sweepers, were always to be found lurking in corners of rooms. She would start to do a room, and half way through go off to do something else, forgetting her tools. Meals were late, badly cooked and served, and dishes were washed only at the end of the day.

Her excuse was that she was never meant to do housework. She was cut out for a business woman. She hated the care of a house and cooking and cleaning, and could not put her mind on it. Well, fortunately her children were all boys, and men did not notice such things as long as they were comfortable and had enough to eat.

Mr. Jones was, of course, resigned to dirt and disorder. He seldom brought friends home, perhaps because he was ashamed of the condition the home was in. Mrs. Jones was too busy with her children and endless chores to entertain. It was when the boys began to grow up that trouble began.

They were used to visiting their school friends and had a standard of comparison against which to measure their own home. Other boys had clean, well-ordered, pretty homes, where they could invite their friends. Other boys were reasonably certain of good meals at regular hours. There are many men who work all their lives at unclean jobs and who do good work, because their bread and butter depends on it. If Mrs. Jones can go and earn a large enough salary to pay enough to care for the house, well and good. If she can't, she is shirking her duty when she makes such a poor job of housekeeping. She has the advantage of her husband, however, for no one can dismiss her as incompetent, he will pay her neatly when her children are grown and object to her methods.

Beaver returned to the Royal Neb. section after an absence of half a century. Reason for the return was not known.

WIN HONORS IN SEED JUDGING

Wading through a maze of strong competition, the Johnston county 4-H seed judging team pictured above has established itself as the top ranking team in its class in North Carolina.

During the recent N. C. State Fair in Raleigh, Carlyle Batten proved himself to be the outstanding member of an outstanding team as he walked away with individual sweepstakes in seed judging. The team also captured the sweepstakes prize in the competition.

Mays' corner; thence a northerly course and parallel with the A. C. L. Railroad right of way 115 feet, more or less, to J. A. Andrews' corner in G. H. Laughinghouse's line, formerly E. B. Mays' line; thence a westerly course with J. A. Andrews' line, more or less, to the right of way of the A. C. L. Railroad, thence 115 feet, more or less, the beginning, being known as the old mill lot, and the same lot as conveyed by E. H. Shelburn and wife to J. E. Winslow by deed recorded in Book P-12 at Page 383.

EIGHTH TRACT: Lying and being in the Town of Greenville, on Fifth Street and between the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and Pitt Street, beginning at a point on the north side of Fifth Street, 80 feet from the southwest corner of J. E. Mays' lot, westerly therefrom and running with the north line of Fifth Street in a westerly course 28 feet to the corner of the F. G. Higgins lot; thence in a northerly course with the east line of Higgins lot 175 feet, more or less, to W. B. Wilson's line; thence a line parallel with Fifth Street in an easterly course 85 feet to the lot now owned by L. A. McGowan; thence in a southerly direction parallel with the second line 155 feet, more or less, to the beginning on Fifth Street, being a part of the same lot conveyed by L. I. Moore and others to J. E. Winslow by deed duly recorded in Book P-10 at Page 374, and a part of the property formerly owned by L. C. Latham.

NINTH TRACT: The one-half undivided interest of J. E. Winslow in and to the following described tract of real estate: Situate and being in Greenville Township, Pitt County, N. C., adjoining the lands of John Page and others and beginning at a stake on the River road, corner of Lot No. 11 and runs thence N. 84-15 E. 109 feet to the public road; thence crossing said Road N. 84-15 E. 1500 ft. to the River; thence with the River easterly to a stake on East Street, corner of Lot No. 15; thence with the line of Lot No. 15, 24-15 W. to the road; thence with said road easterly to the northeast corner of Lot No. 13; thence with the line of Lot No. 13, 20-45 W. to the River Road; thence with said River Road, the beginning, being info No. 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 of the Albion Farm, as shown on plat of said land recorded in Map Book No. 1 at Page 21 of the Pitt County Registry.

Said nine parcels of land being the same as conveyed in the deed of trust above referred to.

The aforesaid tracts of land will be sold in the order named above and the sale will continue until the proceeds therefrom shall be sufficient to satisfy in full the indebtedness secured in said deed of trust and the expenses of said sale.

The first parcel of land above described will be sold subject to the lien of that trust recorded in Book K-15 at Page 670 of the Pitt County Registry, and the next seven parcels will be sold subject to the lien of those two tracts of record in Book T-14 at Page 171 and Book M-20 at Page 264 of said registry.

All of said lands will be sold subject to any unpaid taxes.

This October 20, 1936.

Just plain old Common Sense. You know that a cigarette can be mild; that is, when you smoke it it's not harsh or irritating. You know that a cigarette can have a pleasing taste and aroma. When you smoke a cigarette and find that it has the right combination of mildness, good taste, and aroma, it just seems to satisfy you... gives you what you want. I smoke Chesterfield all the time, and they give me no end of pleasure. Chesterfield
