MADRID HOMES DESERTED FOR SAFER PLACES

Madrilenos Begin Burrowing Underground Passages

SEEK TO ESCAPE FASCIST ATTACK

Americans at Valencia Await Evacuation Aboard United States Cruiser

Madrid, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The besieged people of Madrid began today to turn their bomb-torn city into a vast labyrinth of underground passages.

Seizing whatever implements were available or using their bare hands, house holders began burrowing from cellar to cellar to provide plans of refuge in case their homes are brought crashing down upon their heads.

During the devastating shelling of the last three weeks hundreds of refugees in the basements of the city have died by asphyxiation. Against the grim prospect of being smothered or crushed to death Madrilenos sought to establish a means of escape by the house to house burrowing.

Meanwhile at Valencia 73 Americans awaited evacuation from Spain aboard the United States cruiser Raleigh following a safe, but trying trip from the closed embassy here.

Scarred by shells and air bombs, the city's most beautiful buildings resembled the structures of Flanders 20 years ago.

The defense food supply commissariat worked hard at transporting supplies from eastern Spain. It virtually had succeeded in placing the whole city on a vegetarian diet due to the scarcity of meat.

Light skirmishing made up the only action the University City witnessed in northwestern Madrid after a three-day week battle.

Attention Called To Activities Of Red Cross Fields

Various Departments of Organization Always Found at Scenes of Disasters; Roll Call Monday

Attention to the various activities of the Red Cross in going to the aid of disaster-struck families was called today by officials in charge of the annual Roll Call of that organization. The Roll Call will be held here on Monday.

Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the local Christian church, is chairman of the Roll Call. An experienced corps of workers have been called to take to the field Monday in an effort to enroll every Greenville citizen in the organization.

The following statement was issued today by headquarters of the local drive:

During the past year the American Red Cross brought permanent help to more than 131,000 families affected by disasters which struck 39 states. One hundred and five times the American Red Cross rushed trained and volunteer workers—hundreds of nurses—into the field in the wake of flood, fire, wind, earthquake and other catastrophes.

The hungry were fed, the homeless sheltered, the destitute clothed and the injured cared for as the "Greatest Mother"—your Red Cross—stayed on the job until all persons unable to help themselves were assured of a livelihood. The Red Cross was able to accomplish these things only because you pledged your support through membership last year. Join now to enable the Red Cross to relieve human distress in 1937.

The disabled veteran needs your help. His wounds were received in service for us. His problem of re-adjustment is ours to share. You may do your part by supporting the Red Cross at the time of the annual Roll Call, this year from November 11th to the 26th. Those physically handicapped and their needy dependents are given sympathetic help by Red Cross Chapters (Continued on page six)

Patrolman I. T. Moore of Morehead City is spending a number of days in Division headquarters here while a leg he injured in a spill from his motorcycle is healing. He will have charge of granting driving licenses while he is here.

The patrolman injured his leg when his motorcycle skidded on wet pavement, throwing him into a field. He will return to his regular post when his leg heals enough to resume his full duties.

ROOSEVELT FISHES EN ROUTE TO PEACE CONFERENCE

En route to the Inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires aboard the U.S.S. Indianapolis, President Roosevelt got the chance to do a bit of fishing in tropical waters when the ship stopped at the Port of Spain, Trinidad, to refuel. Wearing a dark sweater, the chief executive (second from right) and his fishing companions are shown casting their lines from a dory in the Gulf of Paria. (Associated Press Photo)

ATTACK FATAL TO SIR BASIL

So-Called Mystery Armament Salesman Dies

Monte Carlo, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Sir Basil Zaharoff, so-called mystery armament salesman, died here today.

He was 86 years old and said to be one of the wealthiest men in Europe.

He died at 9 a. m. at the hotel to which he came 10 days ago on his annual visit. Death was sudden for he seemed in excellent health for his years.

Sir Basil, whose fortune was built largely from his armament, shipbuilding, oil and banking enterprises, once was reputed to have had a controlling interest in the Monte Carlo gambling concessions. Physicians ascribed death to a heart attack.

No Bad Accidents In County During Thanksgiving Day

Many Residents Spend Day in Hunting, Fishing or Visiting; But No Casualties Reported

With hundreds of Pitt county residents on the highways in the fields and woods hunting or engaging in the sport of fishing over the Thanksgiving holiday, not a single serious accident was reported.

The State highway patrol did not have a single accident report. Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst reported only one arrest, that of a negro on a charge of driving carelessly and recklessly and the City Police Chief declared that his department had only a few arrests.

Jasper Morrow was the negro arrested by the sheriff's office. Henry G. Lambert, white man of Virginia, was arrested by city officers on a charge of driving drunk after they had headed him off at Five Points. Prizelle Jenkins, negro, Robert Teel, negro, and Harvey Robinson, white man, were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct or drunkenness.

All peace officers reported yesterday was one of the quietest holidays observed here in some time.

Talk Of Balanced Budget Takes National Spotlight

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Talk of a balanced national budget for the coming year, indefinite though it is, has electrified the post-election interim as few other developments could possibly have done.

Such a consummation may turn out, in the end, to be only a dream. Figures are stubborn things, when marshalled into cold columns on the ledger. The difficulties in the way of an actual balance are very great. Yet there is challenging significance in the mere fact that responsible officials speak of the possibility.

The apprehension and hesitation which has hovered so long over the business community may be traced to three principal causes.

NEW HOPES OF BREAK IN MARITIME STRIKE

San Francisco, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Government movement of food ships to Alaska brought new hope today for a break in the month-long maritime strike deadlock by international boycott threatened to tighten the union blockade of American ports.

The district council of the international longshoremen's association looked on an agreement for release of government chartered vessels to carry food to Alaska as a possible "precedent by which the entire maritime dispute might be settled."

While they moved steadily to send emergency ships north, government officials indicated they were considering a similar plan for Hawaii food relief.

International support for the widespread strike blockade came from the Mexican confederation of workers which extended a boycott of American ships at Mexico's Pacific ports to the east coast and Gulf.

The dock workers union in France refused an informal request from the United States embassy to withdraw an order against unloading the United States liner Washington at Le Havre, Marseille and other ports.

It was expected the council would be called to meet next week. The text of the Spanish note will be published in Geneva later. It was understood the principal complaint was against Italo-German recognition of the insurgent regime in Spain.

(Article II of the covenant states that any "war or threat of war" is a matter of concern to the whole league whether affecting members of the league or not. It provides that the league shall take "any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations.")

DECRIES DEATH OF HAUPTMANN

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey eight months after the electrocution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, yesterday decried the killing of the kidnapped Lindbergh baby said today:

"I still wish there had been some way to keep Hauptmann alive."

He declined to discuss further investigation of the Lindbergh kidnapping or possible developments since Hauptmann's death, but in an interview said "By no means am I convinced that the crime has been completely solved."

He declared he believed the case would be cleared up eventually. "I never had any desire to shield Hauptmann, but I believe that the ends of justice were hampered by letting him die," the Governor said.

"With Hauptmann behind prison bars even if he had been one of the participants in the crime, society could have been protected and the search continued."

Berlin Loses More Dobbins
Berlin (AP)—Two more horses have given up trying to earn their oats pulling tourists around Berlin. Now there are only 49 horse-drawn cabs left in the city. In 1925 there were nearly 1,000.

The Charles O'H. Home drug store on Evans street was entered and robbed last night of a sum of money said by F. W. Heslep, manager, to have been approximately eight dollars.

A check was made today, but no merchandise was found missing. The store was entered through a rear, mezzanine window. A barrel was used to stand on by the robber or robbers to reach the window, the screen to which was ripped off and the window itself prized up.

No clues were left by the intruder and police were without any information upon which to base an investigation.

The money was taken from a cash drawer in the front of the building. Another cash register had been tampered with, but was not entered.

Danzig Down On Poles, Too
Free City of Danzig (AP)—Poles have been included in Anti-Semitic feeling here. Signs reflecting this are to be seen on empty houses and laundries. They read: "House to be let, but neither to Poles nor Jews" and "I wash linen but don't accept that of Poles or Jews."

LEAGUE ASKED TO INTERVENE

Spanish Government Appeals Against Germany, Italy

Geneva, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Spanish government appealed today to the League of Nations against Germany and Italy under article II of the covenant, dealing with "any war or threat of war" and asking for an immediate meeting of the league council.

It was expected the council would be called to meet next week. The text of the Spanish note will be published in Geneva later. It was understood the principal complaint was against Italo-German recognition of the insurgent regime in Spain.

(Article II of the covenant states that any "war or threat of war" is a matter of concern to the whole league whether affecting members of the league or not. It provides that the league shall take "any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations.")

Members of the local office will go to Tarboro Friday, December 4, for a meeting called for this section of the state.

The general sessions will be held in the court house. Both morning and afternoon sessions will be held.

Funeral Services Conducted Today For Wreck Victim

Lifton, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Plans for an appeal were made today by counsel for Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin, 36, convicted of fatally shooting her third husband, Furnham Godwin, a well-to-do farmer.

Mrs. Godwin was permitted to go free on $5,000 bond pending the appeal. She wept silently as Judge E. H. Cranmer sentenced her to serve 10 to 15 years in the state prison.

Leland Gardner was exonerated at a coroner's inquest today into the death of Elijah Braxton, 52-year-old Pitt county man who died yesterday afternoon as a result of injuries he sustained when his horse-drawn vehicle was struck Monday night by an automobile driven by Gardner.

It was brought out that Braxton's car did not bear any light and Gardner was not held responsible for the accident, which resulted in a head injury to Braxton which proved fatal.

Funeral services for the victim were conducted from the home on the Washington highway this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. R. Potts had charge of the services. Burial followed in the Allen cemetery, near the home.

Mr. Braxton is survived by his wife, Mrs. Doris Braxton; five sons, Ebert, West, William, Al Smith and Frank Wilson Braxton; two daughters, Miss Hilda Braxton and Mrs. Charlie Warren; one brother, Elisha Braxton; and one sister, Mrs. Jim Moseley.

Many Couples Marry On Thanksgiving Day

Many Pitt county couples were married during the Thanksgiving holidays, seven licenses having been granted at the offices of J. C. Gaskins, register of deeds on Wednesday and four each on Monday and Tuesday.

On Wednesday seven negro and three white couples applied for licenses. A total of 70 licenses has been issued so far this month, bringing the total for the year to 571.

LABOR TO ASK CONGRESS FOR 30-HOUR WEEK

Federation Throws Full Strength Behind Proposal

SAY PLAN WOULD HELP COUNTRY

Wage Loss Through Unemployment Last Six Years Set at $132,000,000,000

Tampa, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor today threw its strength back of the 30-hour week "as the only means of mastering unemployment."

Declaring the six hour day and five-day week would "protect society from future depressions," the convention directed the American Federation of Labor's executive council to call upon congress for enactment of the 30-hour week in national law.

Technological advances, the delegates were informed by the convention's shorter work week committee have brought about a condition off-setting the return of industrial activity to the 1929 production level.

"This grave problem should be of vital concern to every citizen," the committee reported. "We know through hard experience that there is no escape from the staggering costs that unemployment levies on society."

A wage loss of $132,000,000,000 during the last six years has been the cost of unemployment, the committee reported, adding "all must pay. Those denied employment opportunities must be supported by those that work."

Pitt Health Officers Plan To Attend Meet

Dr. N. Thomas Emmett, county health officer, and most of the personnel of the health department will attend one of a series of meetings to be held over the state for officials and employees in health work.

Members of the local office will go to Tarboro Friday, December 4, for a meeting called for this section of the state.

The general sessions will be held in the court house. Both morning and afternoon sessions will be held.

Defense Maps Plans In Behalf of Woman

Lifton, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Plans for an appeal were made today by counsel for Mrs. Sina Pope Godwin, 36, convicted of fatally shooting her third husband, Furnham Godwin, a well-to-do farmer.

Mrs. Godwin was permitted to go free on $5,000 bond pending the appeal. She wept silently as Judge E. H. Cranmer sentenced her to serve 10 to 15 years in the state prison.

Couple Facing Charge On Common Nuisance

Hubert and Gladys Harrington are being held in jail here on a charge of operating a common nuisance, the couple having been arrested Wednesday night by Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst and deputies.

Sheriff Whitehurst said the couple had been warned to close up their filling station on the Farmville road about two miles from the city following trouble there this week. Failing to do so, the sheriff arrested them and, unable to post bond, they were lodged in the county jail to await trial in County court.

May Use Liquor Profits In Paying For Pensions

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A plan under which the counties would share equally with the state in matching the federal funds provided for old age pensions, and contemplating the use by the counties of part of their revenue from the sale of liquor—that is, in the counties which now have or may have liquor stores—is already being quietly discussed in political and budget-making circles, it has been learned here.

Accordingly, few who know of what is going on behind the locked doors of conference rooms here, would be surprised to see a determined effort made in the forthcoming general assembly to divide the cost of old age pensions equally between the state and the counties. It is even being hinted that such a move, if made, will probably have the blessings and good wishes of the new administration.

But those who have followed the increasing tendency among the counties in recent legislatures to look upon the state as a sort of Santa Claus for the counties and their representatives to either transfer growing movement among their more and more county functions to the state, to be paid for from the state treasury, are not at all optimistic over the success of any effort that may be made to get the counties to help bear the cost of the old age pensions program, now estimated to cost between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Those who are understood to be advocating joint county and state support of the old age pensions (Continued on page five)

Brazilian Crowd Hails Roosevelt In Capital City

Heavy Snowfall In Western Counties

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The highway and public works commission today reported snow six inches deep on route 64 between Highlands and Haysville. J. C. Walker, Division Engineer, at Asheville, said there were heavy snows in all the mountain routes, but Chief Engineer W. Vance Baise said all highways would be cleared before night-fall.

ADDRESS MADE BY PRESIDENT

Tells Congress "We Can Not Countenance Agression"

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt of the United States told a joint Brazilian congress session today: "We can not countenance aggression from wherever it may come."

Pausing in his voyage of inter-American peace, he asserted next week's Buenos Aires conference was an opportunity to finish war forever from the new world. He stated the instruments of peace must be fortified and declared: "there is no American conflict that can not be settled by orderly and peaceful means."

He asserted the inter-American congress opening next week, provided an opportunity to finish war from the new world and dedicate it to peace.

Holding up as an example to the world the warm friendship between the United States and Brazil, Mr. Roosevelt asserted the fine record of our relations is the best answer to those pessimists who speak of the idea of a friendship of nations.

"In the present state of the world it is heartening that the two largest countries of this hemisphere have been able by an exercise of good will, good temper and good sense to conduct the whole course of their relations without clash or conflict or ill feeling."

Two Persons Victims In Burst Of Gunfire

Wadesboro, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Skl Hyatt, 23, a CCC camp worker, and Ray Kirk, 38, died today in a burst of early morning gunfire at Kirk's filling station.

Details of the shooting were meagre in Peachland, near which town it occurred, except that it took place about 6:30 a. m.

The coroner's inquest was called at 11:30 a. m.

PLANS DEPART LATE TONIGHT

Chief Executive Met With Outstretched Arms By Brazil's President as Party Halts Journey To Address Inter-American Peace Conference

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 27.—(AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt of the United States set foot in Rio de Janeiro today on his inter-American mission of peace to be greeted by the outstretched arms of Brazil's president and the songs and cheers of her people.

He walked down the gangplank from the cruiser Indianapolis and despite a drizzling rain removed his hat and stood at attention while massed bands played the Brazilian national anthem.

At the foot of the gangplank President Getulio Vargas of Brazil walked with outstretched arms. The two presidents embraced warmly and shook hands.

It was the second stop of the President Roosevelt's voyage to the inter-American peace conference at Buenos Aires.

British Attitude Less Cordial To Germany and Italy

Informed Circle Declares Great Britain Rejected Overture to Join Anti-Communism Pact

London, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A marked lessening in the cordiality of British attitude toward Germany and Italy was reported in informed circles today as the cabinet met in "emergency" session for what was understood to be a review of the entire Spanish situation.

These sources said that Great Britain has rejected an "overture" to join the recently signed German-Italian anti-communist pact.

Poland, which recently reached an agreement with Great Britain that neither would join pact dividing fascist and communist powers into opposing groups, was said to have rejected a similar proposal.

Great Britain was represented as watching and waiting to see whether fascist powers will extend to General Francisco Franco the aid now considered here to be necessary even for the capture of Madrid.

Foreign minister Anthony Eden re-emphasized Britain's obligation to protect Belgium from "unprovoked" aggression.

It was predicted that there would be no change in the present Spanish policy as a result of the special cabinet meeting pending word of the success of the British ban on arm shipments to Spain and the anchorage guarantee of neutral shipping in Barcelona harbor.

THINK AGENCY TO BE MERGED

Resettlement Administrator May Be Absorbed by Dept.

Reflector Bureau, St. Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 27.—Now that Dr. Rex Tugwell has resigned as head of the Resettlement Administration, a good many are expecting the various activities now being carried on by the Resettlement Administration to be merged with or put under the direction of established agencies in Washington.

Reports brought here this week from Washington indicate that instead of continuing as an emergency agency, Resettlement will soon be merged with or absorbed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the National Park Service and the National Forest Service.

The prevailing opinion in some circles is that the rural rehabilitation division of Resettlement will be taken over by the Department of Agriculture and that Dr. Carl C. Taylor, formerly of State College here and at one time with Resettlement, is likely to be selected to take charge of this division. Dr. Taylor is now head of the division of farm population and rural sociology in the Department of Agriculture.

No Bank Failures in North Carolina Since Jan. 1, 1934

Not a Single Commercial Institution Has Been Forced to Suspend Operations in Three Years

Durham, Nov. 27.—Not one commercial bank in North Carolina has been forced to suspend operations since the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation became effective January 1, 1934, according to information furnished by R. M. Gantt, State Director for the National Emergency Council for North Carolina, in the Corporation.

On June 30, 1936 deposits in 234 operating commercial banks in the State of North Carolina were insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Total deposits of these insured banks amounted to $389,100,000, of which it is estimated that about 51 per cent are covered by insurance.

Many have attempted to define the desirable qualities of the surgeon. Training and experience are essential. Manual dexterity is desirable. But in addition, and as important, are certain character qualifications, such as courage, the ability to maintain mental composure when facing the unexpected emergency, and a certain form of ingenuity that borders on genius.

IT TAKES more than mere time to sharpen a man's wits, bring him judgment, wisdom. So, too, it takes more than just age in the charred-oak barrel to make a whiskey as good as Town Tavern. In Town Tavern, age is married to all the goodness of sun-ripe grains, safeguarded and enhanced by the costly and painstaking care of National Distillers experts throughout the entire distilling process. First Church of Christ, Scientist
It is customary on Thanksgiving Day for Christian Science Churches and Societies throughout the United States to hold a service appropriate to the occasion, at which time a Lesson-Sermon especially prepared at the headquarters of the church in Boston, is read.

In accordance with this custom, the Christian Science Society of Greenville held its service yesterday. The service including the reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation written by the President of the United States, the singing by the congregation of several well-known hymns from the Christian Science Hymnal, and a solo.

The Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Thanksgiving" was as follows: "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving."—Ps. 69:30.

One of the Scriptural passages contained in the Lesson-Sermon was from the first chapter of James: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." The reading from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, included the following citation: "My weary hope tries to realize that happy day, when man shall recognize the Science of Christ and love his neighbor as himself, when he shall realize God's omnipotence and the healing power of the divine Love in what it has done and is doing for mankind." (Pg. 55).

The service closed with the benediction from Chronicles 29:11: "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

Russian Princess
The luxurious childhood of the Russian Princess, Irina Skariatina, her experiences as a Red Cross nurse during the war and her hardships after the fall of the Russian aristocracy, as told by Miss Lois Grigsby, greatly aroused the interest of the College student body at their assembly period yesterday.

Miss Grigsby's talk, given in preparation for the appearance of Irina Skariatina here on Dec. 2nd in the College entertainment series, was based on three of Irina Skariatina's books—"Little Era in Old Russia," "A World Can End," and "First to Go Back."

Her childhood was spent in the country estate of her father, who was a general in the Czar's army. Her life there was greatly influenced by an old English nurse, a Polish doctor, and a German governess, who gave her a sympathy for the downtrodden Russian peasants.

Her girlhood and young ladyhood were spent in the city home in St. Petersburg.

Her own hardships as a Red Cross nurse during the war were increased by the agony that she had to undergo in seeing her aristocratic old parents subjected to every indignity, made to suffer cold and hunger and imprisonment, and finally brought to their death. All their wealth was confiscated, her father was beaten so dreadfully that he died in a few days, and her mother, enfeebled and heartbroken, had to be smuggled out of the country because she was persecuted so severely.

Irina Skariatina was unable to escape persecution, because she was a member of an aristocratic family. The climax of her persecution came during the days that she spent imprisoned. Once she even heard her name called for death, only to be told a little later that had been a mistake; she was not to die.

After she was released from prison with permission to leave Russia, she came to America, later married an American, and is now an American citizen.

Irina Skariatina, now Mrs. Victor Blakeslee, will probably talk to her audience here on The Old and The New Russia.

Meredith Stunt Day
Raleigh, Nov. 25.—When Meredith College recently celebrated its 23rd annual Stunt Day the seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen took part in competitive athletic activities during the afternoon. In the evening, a bill of original stunts or dramas was given by the four classes.

The freshman class presented a one-act play entitled "Mack Betty," a take-off on Shakespeare's "Macbeth." Among the members of the cast was Elizabeth Everett, of Greenville, who played one of the three witches.

Although the stunt given by the first-year students failed to win the loving cup awarded the winning class, the take-off was well-received by the audience.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds
By Robbin Coons

Hollywood — If any one person ever sang "The Star Spangled Banner" more often or more spiritedly than Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the name does not come to mind.

I heard her sing it first in a crowded political convention hall at Kansas City, the convention that nominated Herbert Hoover for the Presidency. She sang the national anthem the opening day. She was 67 years old then, and her voice had lost some of its once glorious power.

body. "I think I am so happy," she said, "because there is no one, nothing, I do not love, in spite of all my experiences, and much unhappiness, I am happy."

She was happy when, after she had been in and around Hollywood for years, they finally put her in a picture. It was "Here's To Romance" with Nino Martini. Out of it came something without precedent in Hollywood: rival producers began bidding for the screen services of a 74-year-old grandmother!

And when she signed a contract, she was eager to get to work. Prima Donna she said she would "scrupulously" if they told her to, she would do anything. They had a picture ready for her, finally. It was to have been "Gram," with May Robson. But she became ill, and besides they wanted to doctor the story before going into production. She was still waiting—for that chance "to make people a little happy once more before I go"—when she went.

Almost to the end, she retained the enthusiasm and vitality that had carried her through trials to daunt a lesser will. And humor, too, and a big, hearty appetite.

"Ach, Am I then so homely!" she said when she first viewed herself on the screen. "But what could they do to beautify Mamma Schumann-Heink?"

Speds for baby carriages are features of new housing estates planned by the London county council.

Some of them have never known a real home, and so, like the old lady who saw a giraffe for the first time, declare "There ain't no such thing." Others have themselves had unfortunate experiences of home, and so have staidly given no thought to the matter. It is not the cliches of disgruntled reformers.

It is interesting in this connection to read the results of the latest findings on child welfare. They are unanimous in their decision that the home was never of greater importance than in this period of change, with its resulting stress and strain on the children.

Of course the home is changing. When it refuses to change and adjusts itself in some degree to the world about it, then it grows. But in its modern form it acts as a secure starting point for children, a background for living, and a cement to tie together the various elements of present-day life. It should be a stabilizing center, where children can go for peace, comfort, explanations, assurance, where they can bring their friends, try out their theories, air their fads; where they keep their treasures and practice their hobbies. Even with both parents at work, a house may still be home if the parents have created it in the atmosphere of love and security.

Former 'Angel' Sues Aimee For A Million

The long-smouldering hostility between Aimee Semple McPherson and her former co-pastor of Angelus Temple, Rheba Crawford, once the Salvation Army's "Angel of Broadway," flared up in the open when Rheba sued Sister Aimee for $1,000,000 in Los Angeles. The former "angel" claimed Aimee slandered her. (Associated Press Photo) but she sang with a will and she knew all the words, and it was an experience to set the spine tingling. It will do no harm now that she is gone to tell the sequel to that occasion, as she told it to me last year in Hollywood, after she had made her mark in pictures. "I was glad to sing at the convention," she said. "If I had sung 'The Star Spangled Banner,' achi I lof it! But I was embarrassed afterward, because they all thought I was voting for them. I did not tell them—and I do not tell it now—but I voted for Al Smith!"

If ever a woman radiated kindness and good will, her name was Schumann-Heink. She went around the movie lots, and her passing was a homely benediction to those she greeted. She was constantly being hailed by studio workers, who would say, for instance:

"I've never forgotten hearing you sing that night just before we sailed for France," and name the camp where Schumann-Heink had sung particularly for him and his comrades.

And her face would light up with memory, and she would say, "Ach, yes Remember, it was raining that night! Gott bless you, my son."

Schumann-Heink "lofed" every-

U. N. C. EXPECTS LARGER SLICE

Larger Appropriation In Sight for N. C. University

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.
By J. C. BARRETT

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—The University of North Carolina, especially the Chapel Hill unit, is slated to get better treatment from the forthcoming general assembly than it has for a long time, or rather since the depression, according to talk being heard in governmental and political circles here.

It is now being pretty frankly admitted that the University, especially the Chapel Hill unit, has suffered pretty severely as a result of the sharp curtailment of its appropriations made necessary by the lean days of the depression and that the time has come to take it off the starvation diet it has been on and to start feeding it more in accordance with its needs.

Accordingly, the opinion general in many informed circles here is that President Frank P. Graham is going to meet with much less than the usual opposition to the appropriation which he will ask for and that the outlook is better for the University now than it has been for eight years.

There are also indications that the new administration will be very sympathetic towards the University and that little or no opposition will come from that source. It is even being rumored here that former Governor O. Max Gardner, during whose administration the appropriation for the University was cut to the bone, and whose name was and has been mud on the Chapel Hill campus ever since, will this time be out in front among the University alumni asking and working for an increased appropriation.

It is understood that former Governor Gardner, who is a brother-in-law of Governor-elect Clyde Hoey, is now convinced that the University has been held down long enough and that it is very necessary for its future development that a larger appropriation be provided for the next two years.

There are two factors which have brought about the change in attitude toward the University, and especially the Chapel Hill unit, more than anything else, according to observers here. These two factors are:

1. The growth of Duke University both in size and prestige, with the result that it is regarded as already affecting the prestige of the University, and competing for its assets.
2. The unusual growth and development of the smaller denominational colleges in the state, especially Wake Forest and Davidson, to the extent where they are becoming active and dangerous competitors of the University.

For a number of years the concern with which Chapel Hill watched the development of Duke was attributed by a great many merely to jealousy and to the University's feeling of superiority to the "tobacco university" in the town made famous by "Bull Durham" and the other brands which made millions for the Duke family.

But now more and more are beginning to realize that the millions of dollars worth of new buildings, new equipment and new brains being provided at Duke University, to say nothing of football teams and coaches, is making it increasingly imperative that the state provide more of these things for the University and all of its units in Chapel Hill, Raleigh and Greensboro, if it is to continue to maintain its standing and prestige both among educators and with prospective students.

It is now pretty generally agreed that the University cannot hope even to hold its own, much less make any progress, until it is provided with more funds for new buildings, new equipment and new brains of the type which Duke is admittedly providing with the millions of dollars at its disposal. For whether the state likes it or not, whether the University alumni like it or not, Duke is setting a pace and a standard for all the other educational institutions of the state with which they must keep in step or else eventually drop out of the race entirely, it is maintained.

The same thing is true to a more limited extent with regard to Wake Forest and Davidson, it is maintained. Within the last few years Wake Forest has acquired a number of new and modern buildings, new equipment, new professors, better brains, while its endowment is also reported to have increased considerably. Davidson has also kept in step with new buildings and brains and is now regarded as likely to be the chief beneficiary of the Richardson family of Greensboro, makers of Vicks in which case it will become the college which holds the "big end."

So with the competition which the University and its units are now facing from the other schools in the state, it has got to have more support.

Young Men of County Enlisted In Service

The local station for this section of the State located in the Post Office, New Bern, has just received the quota of Apprentice Seamen for the month of December, 1936. Eight young men will be sent in for enlistment on the 22nd of December and enlisted at Raleigh, the following day. The young men to report at New Bern include Herman Smith of Greenville and Robert Carroll Jackson, Ayden, alternates.

These men will undergo sixteen weeks of military training at the Naval Training Station at Hampton Roads, Virginia, before being sent to the U. S. Fleet.

American Siren Startles London
London (AP)—Motorists pulled up in amazement and pedestrians put their fingers to their ears when a police car tore through the traffic on Piccadilly uttering long and piercing shrieks from a siren.

Londoners, familiar with the sound from American movies, looked in vain for gangsters, but it was later revealed that the metropolitan police were merely testing an American siren for the first time with a view to using it in place of the less commanding bells with which patrol cars are at present fitted.

Palestine Outlaws Beggars
Jerusalem (AP)—The picturesque old beggar of the Orient will soon be a thing of the past in Palestine, for begging and mendicancy are completely prohibited under the new general criminal code.

program, however, point out that the state cannot possibly raise the $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 of additional revenue needed for old age pensions and the $5,000,000 to $8,000,000 regarded as needed for other necessary state activities, especially schools, largely because the state has already assumed so much former county expense. The state is now expending $31,000,000 a year for the support of the public schools from the state treasury, thus relieving the counties of the expense of maintaining the public schools.

An increase of $6,000,000 a year is being asked for the schools alone, or considerably more than the entire old age pensions program will cost. The state has also raised the amount of a tax levied on farmers formerly set them about $9,000,000 a year. So with the counties already being helped to the extent of at least $35,000,000 a year from state funds, a good many believe that it would not be burdensome on the counties for them to help support the old age pensions plan by contributing at least $2,000,000 a year to it from county funds.

Several old arguments are also being advanced in favor of county participation with the state in supporting the old age pensions program, as follows:

26 Million Workers Pay Now — To Be Paid When They're 65

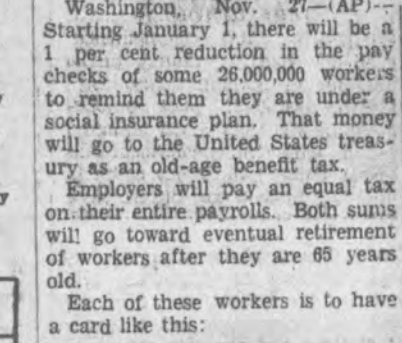

Some 26 million workers are taking the first step toward securing for themselves old-age benefits after they become 65 years old. That step, filing out cards for government records, spotlights the social security program. This is the first of three daily articles explaining the program—old-age benefits, unemployment compensation and aid for the blind, the needy aged and dependent children.

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Starting January 1, there will be a 1 per cent reduction in the pay checks of some 26,000,000 workers to remind them they are under a social insurance plan. That money will go to the United States treasury as an old-age benefit tax.

Employers will pay an equal tax on their entire payrolls. Both sums will go toward eventual retirement of workers after they are 65 years old.

Each of these workers is to have a card like this:

To get such a card, a worker must fill out an application and send it to his local postmaster. Then the government will start keeping a record of his working time and earnings. Every time he shifts his job, or his pay changes, the fact will be recorded.

An "Obsolescence" Fund.
He will go on about his business and the money he and his employers are contributing will be held by the government. In effect, workers will be saving that small amount each month toward their old age. And employers, in effect, will be putting away a fund for the "obsolescence" of their employees, just as they now save to replace old machines.

The tax on the worker's pay check will graduate upward after 1939 until it reaches 3 per cent in graduate in the same manner.

The old-age benefits will begin if the worker:

1. Is 65 years old and gives up regular employment.
2. Has earned a total of at least $2,000 since 1936.
3. Has earned wages for at least one day in each of five different years.

Insurance—Not Charity
He need not be impoverished—social insurance, says the security board, is really insurance and not charity. The worker will have a right to the payments when the time comes, just as he would have a right to collect an annuity.

The payments will be between $10 and $85 a month. They will be calculated on the total wages the worker earns between January 1, 1937, and his sixty-fifth birthday.

But a worker earning more than $3,000 annually from one employer will be taxed only on $3,000 of his salary, and only that much of it will be counted in calculating his benefit.

If he earns $5,000 from a single employer, $2,000 of it will not be taxed. But if in the same year he is paid $3,000 by one employer and $2,000 by a second employer, the whole $5,000 will be taxed. And if he should be paid $5,000 a year on one job and $3,000 in the same year by another employer, he would be taxed on $3,000 of each salary—that is, on $6,000.

Wages will be counted regardless of the number of different establishments or states in which the worker has been employed.

When the time comes to retire, the amount the worker will get each month will be decided by adding up

AVERAGE MONTHLY SALARY	YEARS OF EMPLOYMENT AFTER 1936
	10	20	30	40
$50	$17.50	$22.50	$27.50	$32.50
$100	$35.00	$45.00	$52.50	$65.00
$150	$52.50	$67.50	$78.75	$97.50

$250	$87.50	$112.50	$133.75	$162.50

MINIMUM MONTHLY BENEFIT—$10; MAXIMUM—$85

HOW BENEFITS FILE UP
Monthly benefits can expect after reaching the age of 65 under the social security act are indicated by the samples here. The higher the earnings, with certain limits, and the longer the worker is employed before reaching three figures.

The first figure will be 1-2 of 1 per cent of the first $3,000 earned. The second figure will be 1-12 of 1 per cent of the next $42,000. The third figure will be 1-24 of 1 per cent of all above $45,000.

Workers Can't Lose.
When the worker, having reached 65, decides to retire, he will apply to his district office for the old-age benefits. His record will be gone over by the social security board, his monthly payment computed and that payment certified to the Treasury.

From then on as long as the worker lives a monthly check will arrive by mail from the Treasury. If he dies before he has been given the full amount he paid in, his family will be reimbursed.

No one is forced to retire at 65 but the old-age tax stops on a man's wages at that time. When he finally stops work, he receives the usual old-age benefits computed on the amount he earned between January 1, 1937, and his sixty-fifth birthday.

In no case is the money deducted from the pay check lost to the worker. If he stops work or dies before he reaches 65, he or his estate gets back the money he put into the plan. Lump sum payments will be made to individuals who reach the age of 65 but do not qualify for monthly benefits. These payments will equal 3-1-2 per cent of their total wages.

Those Left Out.
There are some groups of workers not included in this old-age benefit plan. They are:

1. Self-employed persons.
2. Railroad workers (who have their own retirement plan).
3. Agricultural laborers.
4. Domestic helpers.
5. Casual workers not in the course of the employer's trade or business.
6. Seamen.
7. Federal employees.
8. State employees.
9. Workers for non-profit educational, charitable and religious organizations.

A worker employed part of the time in an industry covered by the act and part of the time in some service excluded is not disqualified. For instance, a man might be employed on a farm in the summer and in a factory in the winter. He would not be taxed on his agricultural earnings, but he would be

Question About CARDUI
HOW IT HELPS WOMEN
"Who takes Cardui?"
Women who are run-down, weakened, nervous, from not getting sufficient strength from the food they eat. — Thousands and thousands have found that Cardui increased their appetite, improved their digestion, thereby promoting better nourishment, and the consequent strengthening of the whole system.

And women who have suffered from functional pains of menstruation have found that, by taking Cardui just before and during the periods, this purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic seemed to save them much discomfort. This action of Cardui is highly esteemed because the relief credited to it comes in an entirely beneficial way. Cardui is purely vegetable; nothing in it to be afraid of.—(Adv.)

Authority of Safety Division to Suspend Drivers' Licenses Upheld in Court Ruling

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Nov. 27.—The authority of the Highway Safety Division of the Department of Revenue to suspend the licenses of drivers it holds to be incompetent has been upheld in the first court test of this authority, it was pointed out today by Arthur Fulk, director of the division.

The division has been suspending licenses of drivers for incompetencies since the law went into effect November 1, 1935, but no court test of its authority to make these suspensions was ever brought until recently. The case came up in Superior court Monday of this week in Rutherfordton, before Judge H. Hoyle Sink, who held in favor of the highway safety division.

This particular case resulted from the suspension of the driving license of Glenn Geer, 29 year old white man of Rutherfordton, whose license was suspended July 27, 1936 by the division for incompetency, and because he was regarded as an habitually reckless and careless driver. Geer requested a hearing by the division, which was granted August 18, 1936, after which the suspension was continued. He then appealed for a hearing in Superior Court, and it was in this hearing which was held Monday before Judge Sink and in which he ruled that the safety division acted according to the law and ordered the suspension to remain in effect.

Licenses of drivers may be suspended under Section 11 of the drivers license law, which says that "The department shall have authority to suspend the license of any operator or chauffeur without preliminary hearing upon a showing of its records or other satisfactory evidence" that the licensee is incompetent to drive a motor vehicle, is an habitual violator of traffic laws, is habitually reckless or negligent as a driver, has permitted unlawful or fraudulent use of his driver's license or if he has committed an offense in another state which if committed in North Carolina, would be grounds for suspension or revocation. This section also gives three other grounds for the suspension of licenses.

ATTENTION IS CALLED TO RED CROSS ACTIVITIES (Continued from page one) the country over. Red Cross Public Health Nurses are active in 604 communities in America. During the past year these women in gray with the emblematic black bags made 1,000,000 visits on behalf of the sick—to city tenement, to isolated mountain cabin, to lonely shack.

The Red Cross has watched the accident problem for some time. It has brought first aid to the motorist by establishing more than 1,000 Red Cross emergency highway first aid stations manned by at least two persons trained in first aid.

The Red Cross has taught first aid to 1,175,000 persons; it has trained 700,000 persons in water safety and rescue methods. These nearly 2,000,000 life savers on land and sea are present at the beach and swimming pool, near the scene of serious accident.

Volunteer workers are the backbone of the Red Cross. There are many in your community, asking your Chapter. They make surgical dressings, layettes and many other articles for the needy. The transcription of books into Braille is done by volunteers; many are trained as health aids—as hospital and recreation workers. TALK OF BALANCED BUDGET TAKES NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT

After several successive years of deficit, last year saw the government spending more than two dollars for every one it collected in taxes. Roughly, for the 12 months ending June 30, last, the income was a little over four billions, the outgo a little under nine billions.

Latest official estimates for the year ending next June put revenue at five and two-thirds billions, expenditures at seven and three-quarters billions. Better tax collections may boost the revenue figure somewhat. But expenditures already are proceeding at the rate indicated—they have been approaching three billions for the first five months of the 12-month period—and further heavy relief appropriations seem certain.

Those who speak of a balanced budget after next June think revenue and expenditures may about come together at six billions. On the revenue side, such a goal seems possible, due to the business upturn. But can upwards of two billiens are lopped off expenditures?

The talk of such a possibility in official quarters can only be predicated on one or two suppositions. One is that the emergency agencies, including relief, will be dismantled on a wide scale. The other is that the treasury is contemplating one of those bookkeeping transactions—such as, for instance, capitalization of its unrealized profit on gold—for which it has been so severely criticized in the past.

Either course would involve hazards, and possibly setbacks to the business community. An economic system accustomed to a liberal flow of funds from Washington would be required to make sweeping readjustments to meet a sudden drastic reduction, without a period of tapering off. For that reason, some of the most insistent of administration critics have refrained from advocating an immediate budget balance.

But the shock might be even greater if, into this period of returning confidence, Mr. Roosevelt should inject any note of "trick

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
