EARLY BREAK EXPECTED IN BRITISH CRISIS

English Plane On Mysterious Flight to Southern France

EDWARD SENDS FOR BALDWIN

Empire Is Eagerly Awaiting Definite Announcement Of King's Decision

London, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin reached Fort Belvedere this evening, summoned by King Edward, presumably to receive his final decision on renunciation of either his throne or Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

The premier hastened over the icy road from London to enter the gates of the royal lodge in the gathering darkness while suspense hung heavily over London, England and the empire.

It is generally believed the decision, even if given tonight at Fort Belvedere, will be withheld from the public until Premier Baldwin has had opportunity to communicate it to the House of Commons.

If the answer is abdication, the King might give the tip-off by a quick flight from the country.

Edward's youngest brother, the Duke of Kent, was believed to be participating in tonight's crucial meeting.

There were also reports that the motor car of the Duke of York, Edward's heir presumptive, had been seen to enter the side entrance of the estate.

As to the decision, there was no certainty—only breathless waiting.

London, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A chartered airliner carried two home office officials and a physician on a mysterious mission to France today while King Edward still facing his greatest decision at ice-glazed Fort Belvedere, met brothers and advisors.

The airliner which informed persons had undoubtedly signified played a role in King Edward's unique and intense struggle with his self, his government, his heart and his throne, took off from Croydon airfield enroute to Cannes where Mrs. Wallis Simpson is secluded. Treacherous flying weather, however, stopped the plane at Le Bourget, France, Croydon officials said. No explanation was immediately forthcoming of the nature of the aerial mission or the intentions of its passengers who were identified only by occupation at the airfield.

Beneath the fluttering flag which the King uses to signify the self-established demarcation between state and private life, Edward groped for escape from his quandary for the answer with Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin says he must and will make. At Cannes, Mrs. Wallis Simpson's friends said the American divorcee and the King are both determined to fight for a permanent marriage which the government of England would deny them short of abdication. They despite Mrs. Simpson's announced willingness to give up the King rather than harm either her royal suitor and the mighty throne he holds.

Over the ice-coated road to Belvedere today came the Duke of Kent, Edward's youngest brother. Reports said the Duke of York, Edward's heir presumptive was already there.

Plaintiff In Cantor Suit Dies Suddenly

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—David Freedman, 38, whose $250,000 breach of contract suit against Eddie Cantor, stage, screen and radio comedian, opened yesterday in Supreme court, died during the night in his sleep at his home on the upper West Side.

Freedman, script writer for Cantor, and collaborator with the comedian in several magazine articles and books, charged the comedian abrogated an oral contract for 10 percent of Cantor's earnings.

Freedman was the first witness in the trial yesterday and spent several minutes on the stand testifying to his early association with Cantor.

The cause of Freedman's death was not immediately ascertained. He was a son of "Yankee" Freedman, Jewish journalist, who died several years ago. His mother, wife, three sons and a daughter survive.

A mistress was declared in the suit against Cantor when the case was resumed today.

Future King?+++ Which One For Throne?

Will King Edward keep his throne? Or will he step aside as Great Britain's monarch in preference for marriage to the entrancing Wallis Simpson, the former belle of Baltimore? That is the question all England—and all the world, for that matter—is asking. If he decides to abdicate for the sake of love, his younger brother, the Duke of York (left), will be next in line for the throne. Edward (right) and the duke are shown here in one of their few public appearances together. (Associated Press Photo)

Declares Unemployment Insurance Law Flexible

CLAGUE SAYS STATES HAVE GREAT LATITUDE IN FRAMING LAWS

Chapel Hill, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Even Clague of the United States Social Security Board emphasized today that each state had great latitude for framing its unemployment compensation laws, in an address to the conference on Social Security taxes being held at the University of North Carolina.

"The state is free to write its own laws in its own way; there is a great degree of flexibility in the whole program," said Clague, who is associate director of the federal board's bureau of research and statistics.

In the audience were a number of North Carolina legislators who will meet in Raleigh Thursday for a special session of the General Assembly called by Governor Ehringhaus for enactment of unemployment legislation.

The governor's formal call for the session said it was designed to provide a law which would meet the approval of the federal board. The 1935 Chery act was held insufficient by Washington authorities and Ehringhaus and Attorney General A. A. F. Seawell insisted steadily its terms met the requirement of the act of congress.

PROBE SYSTEM OF FINANCING U.S. RAILROADS

Van Sweringens Lost and Regained Roads Without Cash

J. P. MORGAN TO BE CALLED

Entire System Including 249 Companies Controlled by $8,250 Stock

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Senate investigators heard today that late Van Sweringens brothers lost their three billion rail and industrial system on September 30, 1935—and regained control same day without putting up a 5 cent piece.

This testimony was given Senate Interstate commerce committee at same time. Probability grew that J. P. Morgan would be summoned to a Capital witness stand for the third time in four years to answer questions as to his reason for relinquishing control of the nation's largest transportation setup.

Evidence that the whole system—including 249 companies—was controlled through $8,250 worth of stock, opened second day's hearings in Senate Railway Financing investigation.

George Ball, soft spoken Indiana glass-maker testified he purchased controlling stock in vast holding company's network for $274,000 and then turned control of system back to Van Sweringens for nothing.

Untold Number Victims Of Flood In Philippines

Rich Farming Area Inundated for Distance of Hundred Miles; Officials Express Fear Full Extent of Disaster Will Never Be Known

Manila, Dec. 8 (AP)—The peaceful farming valley of Cagayan was a devastated grave yard of untold dead today. Flood waters of the mighty Cagayan river, largest in the Philippines, swept thousands to their death, official Philippine army advisers said, and left other thousands missing. Officials marshaling the commonwealth's relief agencies expressed the fear that the full extent of the greatest disaster the Philippines had ever experienced would never be known.

The populations of entire barrios—suburban clusters of native huts—were wiped out. The river swelled by the northern Luzon Inland's heaviest rainfall swept down the populous valley last Friday trapping most of the victims as they slept. Entire families were caught by the unexpected torrent, an aftermath of a typhoon. They were carried screaming toward the sea.

The unprecedented flood covered more than 100 miles of rich tobacco and rice farming lands northeast of Manila. Fifty-four villages are known to have been inundated. A large part of the area, the most populous rural section on Luzon Island, had not been heard from.

The committee is expected meet briefly before starting its conference with Mr. Hoey at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, at which time it may or may not decide upon a definite set of suggestions or recommendations, Dowell said. But so far there is nothing to indicate what any of these recommendations will be.

When asked if the committee would make suggestions for any change in the method of collecting the sales tax, Dowell said he could not say. But he did say that from his contact with merchants generally of them were opposed to the use of tokens, stamps or coupons in the payment of the tax.

Dowell said that he understood he had been quoted as saying the committee would fight the sales tax, also that he believed he could beat the sales tax in this session of the general assembly. He said emphatically he had made on such statements, since the committee had not yet held a meeting and since he had not conferred with any of its members.

With regard to the forthcoming meeting of this committee with Mr. Hoey Thursday, Dowell said.

"The only statement I can make with regard to this meeting is that the conference will be held here Thursday as scheduled and that I believe there will be a full attendance of the members of the committee."

When asked if he and the Merchants Association would continue to fight the sales tax in the general assembly, regardless of the outcome of this conference, Dowell said the association had continuously been opposed to the sales tax, was still opposed to it and that it would probably continue to oppose it, as in the past.

WILL OBSERVE LONG HOLIDAY AT CHRISTMAS

Business House Employees to Get Extra Day

MEETING HELD THIS MORNING

Most of Local Stores and Other Businesses to Observe Saturday After Christmas

The Christmas season here this year will be a prolonged holiday for most of the local business houses as a result of action taken at a meeting this morning when close to 50 merchants and other business men voted to observe holiday the Saturday after Christmas day and to invite other local business houses to join in the movement in order to make it a complete holiday for the city.

This morning's meeting of business people was the result of a movement for the longer holiday this year because Christmas falls on Friday. Already the county and city governing boards here had announced that the city and county officials would take the holiday and the local banks had announced that they too would observe the extra holiday.

At this morning's meeting there were some few who expressed the view that the nature of their business was such that they could not observe the extra day holiday, and under such conditions these few business houses will likely be open for business on that day.

It was pointed out by some at the meeting that, because the Fourth of July this year "falls" on Saturday the stores did not observe a holiday and there was a feeling that by observing the day after Christmas would give all business house employees a well deserved holiday.

Business houses not represented at this morning's meeting are to be notified of the action and hope was expressed that practically all of them would join in the holiday.

The movement for the extra holiday this year is not a local one, many other cities of this section already having announced that they would close up on Christmas Eve night (Thursday December 24) and remain closed until Monday, December 28.

Senate and House May Elect Clerks At Extra Session

New Officers Can Be Chosen at Special Term in Order to Save Time at Regular Session

Raleigh, Dec. 8.—Although the principal clerks of the 1935 senate and house theoretically hold office for two years and will, of course, preside when the special session of the general assembly convenes here Thursday morning, there is nothing to prevent the senate and house from electing new principal clerks at this special session if they so desire. It is being pointed out today.

Because this session is composed of the same members of the senate and house who will be in the 1937 regular session which convenes January 5, a good many are contending that the thing to do is for the senate and house to elect the principal clerks now and let them start getting their organization ready for the regular session.

So while Principal Clerk LeRoy Martin will preside in the senate when the session opens Thursday morning, and until the new senators have been sworn in, while Thad Eure will also preside in the house until the oath of office has been administered to the house members, there is a growing belief that both Martin and Eure may then submit their resignations and thus pave the way for the senate and house to select new principal clerks. For while both Martin and Eure are already getting their offices ready to handle the special session, it is believed that both of them would be glad to be relieved of their duties as soon as possible. For Martin is now vice president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Co., here while Eure is still Executive Officer for the University of North Carolina, although he will become Secretary of State January 7, when he and all the other new state officials will be inaugurated.

In the event new principal clerks are elected, it is expected that Roy Byrley of Sanford, who was chief assistant to Martin during the 1935 session, will be elected principal clerk in the senate, although reports are current that Laurie McEachern of Hoke county may also be inaugurated.

PLANES BOMB NEUTRAL SHIP

Norwegian Ship Entering Seville Harbor Bombed

Oslo, Norway, December 8.—(AP)—The Norwegian foreign office were informed today the 1,196 ton Norwegian steamer Guinness had been bombed by insurgent Spanish airplanes for entering Seville harbor and that one seaman had been killed. The ship owner said the vessel was empty and under way from Oporto to Seville to collect a cargo of ore. She never has carried contraband, he added.

The foreign office is conducting a vigorous investigation.

1894 First clinic for treating tuberculous poor opened

In an effort to make treatment and instruction available to tuberculosis patients and their families, a dispensary class was established at the New York Throat and Nose Hospital. Other similar clinics followed and in 1904 the New York City Health Department opened a Clinic for Pulmonary Diseases for the tuberculous poor. Not only were patients treated, but they were taught "how to get well." Many clinics throughout the country today are made possible by Christmas Seal Funds.

URGE SUPPORT OF SEAL SALE

Holmes Says Buying Seals Is Exhibiting Christmas Spirit

In a letter to Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, General County Chairman of the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale, J. W. Holmes, president of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, urges that every citizen in Pitt County make an effort to purchase as many seals as possible as a means of stamping out tuberculosis in this county.

President Holmes' letter follows: "I am familiar with the efforts being made by you and the various local chairmen throughout the County in connection with the annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale.

I am also familiar with the fact that a large number of our citizens, both white and colored, are afflicted with tuberculosis.

As President of the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association, I trust that all of our citizens of every race and creed will support the Christmas Seal Sale as generously as their circumstances will permit.

As you know, the funds raised by the Seal Sale from year to year has done much to check the ravages of tuberculosis, but much remains to be done.

I would like for our citizens to feel that every seal they buy counts as a bullet in the fight against tuberculosis, and that when they purchase Christmas seals they are helping those who cannot help themselves, exhibiting the true Christmas spirit.

Unemployment Insurance To Call For Payroll Tax

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Dec. 8.—The unemployment insurance bill which will be presented to the special session of the general assembly here Thursday morning by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, will be a tax bill and will levy a tax of nine-tenths of one per cent on the payrolls of all employers who come under the Federal Social Security Act.

End Of Present Cold Wave Near

(By Associated Press)

Moderating weather today marked the apparent end of winter's first sub-zero thrust into the middle west. At least nine deaths were attributed to the cold. Temperatures 10 to 20 above were the outlook in the Dakotas and Minnesota where frigid wave was held accountable for six deaths. Light snow covered most northwest. In Illinois mercury rose gradually from yesterday lows ranging down to 13 below at Freeport. Three cold-induced deaths were accounted for in the Chicago area. Fishing tug Dorothy Irene with a crew of two missing on Lake Erie roughed by a 40-mile gale. Coastguard vessel from Cleveland searched vainly for the boat. Five steel motorships blocked by heavy ice in Ontario lake sought to ram through to Sylvan Beach, New York last night.

Insurgent Air Raid Takes Toll 21 Lives

Madrid, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Government artillery batteries raked insurgent lines with heavy fire today as a bitter cold wave delayed the expected Fascist infantry assault against the capital outskirts. The bombardments were centered against insurgent fortifications in two districts.

The emergency defense council disclosed 21 killed during the insurgent aerial attack on a provincial capital northeast of Madrid. The air raid which took place Sunday also was declared to have destroyed a former royal palace.

The bill is in a form that will be acceptable. We are not going to run the risk of presenting a bill to the general assembly that might later be held as inadequate by the Social Security Board.

We have already enacted one bill which we believed was adequate and which would have been but for the contention of a young lawyer in the legal division of the Social Security Board that it would not do. So this time we are going to get the approval of the legal division before we even introduce the bill."

It is expected that Attorney General Seawell will return from Washington with the approval bill either tonight or tomorrow, so that it may be introduced in the house Thursday as soon as it is organized and ready for business. The bill as now written goes into a great deal more detail than the Chery bill, enacted by the 1935 general assembly. The Governor indicated, since it provides full and detailed machinery for the levying and collecting of one percent.

The Chery bill, because it was written and enacted some two months before Congress enacted any of the Social Security legislation, did not provide for the levying of one percent.

JUNIOR TEAMS IN TIE GAME

Reflector Devils and Scouts of Troop 30 Tie at 32 All

The Daily Reflector Devils and the Troop 30 Boy Scouts met with reduced grid teams last Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in their first opposing battle. Both teams had eight men because of the lack of players in the two organizations. After many spectacular runs the game ended in a 32-32 deadlock.

The scouts made most of their first downs by straight plays while the newspapermen only resorted to maze-dazzle once or twice. Most of the Devils' gains were made by Smith's end runs and Futrell's off-tackle plunges.

The most spectacular run of the game was made by Smith of the Devils, when he tucked in the Scout's first kick-off and galloped 25 yards to a touchdown behind excellent blocking on the part of his team mates. They failed to convert the extra point.

The scouts held the lead of 32-25 until a few minutes before the end of the game, but the Devils, by a clicking running attack, squared things up and were touchdown bound again when the game ended.

Henderson, Evans, and Denton turned in a good performance for the Scouts while Smith and Futrell starred for The Reflector Devils.

MERCHANTS TO ATTEND MEETS

Two Important Sessions Scheduled For December 10th

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Dec. 7.—Two meetings of great importance to the merchants of North Carolina will be held December 10, Willard L. Dowell, executive secretary of the North Carolina Merchants Association, said today.

One of these will be the conference between Governor-elect Clyde R. Hoey and the special committee named by the Merchants Association with regard to the state sales tax law. The other is the "Berry Council" meeting in Washington, D. C., called by Major George L. Berry, coordinator for industrial cooperation, for the purpose of discussing the best means of accelerating industry and business.

Efrid L. Hine of Winston-Salem has been appointed chairman of the committee of North Carolina merchants to attend the conference in Washington called by Major Berry by President T. M. Hunter of the merchants association, with full power to act for the association, Dowell announced.

Although Dowell intended to go to the Washington meeting, he has now decided to stay here and attend the conference with Mr. Hoey, he said today, since this committee is expected to discuss the sales tax with the new Governor-elect and has been asked to make suggestions with regard to changes they would like to have made in the law or in the rules and regulations governing its application which would make it more agreeable to merchants and less objectionable to the public.

Dowell expects this meeting to be of great importance to all the merchants in the state, in that it may have a very strong bearing on whatever sales tax legislation is introduced and enacted in the 1937 general assembly. Merchants all over the state have been invited to make any suggestions with regard to changes in the sales tax law to any of the members of this committee before it meets here December 10.

The members of this committee are: J. H. Blount, Greenville; L. L. Lee, Asheville; J. H. Early, Winston-Salem; J. C. Williams, Wilmington; D. A. Dowdy, High Point; C. R. Greene, Boone; T. M. Hunter, Fayetteville; O. A. Swearingen, Concord; G. W. Dowdy, Charlotte; A. A. Schuffman, Greensboro; C. C. Shell, Revere; R. R. Ray, Rocky Mount; Edwin Earle, Jr., Salisbury and Willard L. Dowell, Raleigh.

Expect Special Session To Be Completed Dec. 19

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, reported back with a favorable report.

By J. C. BASKERVILL
Raleigh, Dec. 7.—The special session of the general assembly which has been called to convene here Thursday morning for the purpose of enacting social security legislation that will permit the state to share in the unemployment insurance tax on payrolls, will probably not remain in session for more than ten days, most observers here today believe. Adjournment of the special session is already being fixed for Saturday, December 19 or not later than Monday, December 21.

There are two reasons for this belief. One is that the Governor and the legislative leaders are going to limit the special session to the enactment of an unemployment insurance tax law and nothing else. Another is that the Governor and his aides are going to have a most powerful ally in that jolly, little old fellow with pink cheeks, a red nose and long white whiskers, named Santa Claus.

For while this old fellow is supposed to live at the North Pole, he is expected to build more fire under the legislators and get them to put on more speed than half a dozen Governors could. For Santa Claus will have as his allies at least 150 wives and probably twice as many children who will be insisting that the 170 members of the general assembly wind up their business and get back home before Christmas.

In fact, a good many observers here are already convinced that Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus has been conferring with Santa Claus by radio telephone for several weeks and that after several conferences with the merry old gentleman, he decided that December 10, would be the best date for the special session to be called, since it would allow just the amount of time needed to enact an unemployment insurance law and allow the members to get home to their last-minute shopping for two or three days before Christmas. It is understood that Santa Claus assured the Governor that if the special session were called at this time, there would be no danger of any of the members trying to take up anything else in addition to unemployment insurance, due to the fact that they would all want to be back home by the time Santa is scheduled to visit their homes on Christmas eve.

As a result of the desire to speed up the work of the special session as much as possible and to confine its deliberations only to the enactment of an unemployment tax law, the prevailing belief here today is that no effort will be made by either the Speaker of the House or the Lieutenant Governor to appoint more than one committee and that the selection of the regular committees will be left until the regular session meets January 5. It is pointed out that it would be possible to dispense with the appointment of any committees whatever, by merely having each house sit as a committee of the whole.

It is expected, however, that a special committee will be named in each house to which the bill now being prepared by the Attorney General will be referred. This bill is expected to stay in these committees about one day and then be

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

Hollywood—The singing cowboy was all set up, in a modest sort of way. He had just had word from one of those magazine polls on box office popularity rated him—Gene Autry—in third place among western stars.

"An' that's not bad, considerin' we've done out here just a year and a half," said Gene. "We? That's Champ and me—and Republic studios."

First in the list, Gene reported, was George O'Brien, and next was Bill Boyd who has been doing the "Hopalong Cassidy" thrillers.

"Me, I was just lucky," 29-year-old Gene drawled like a good westerner. "I happened to come along just at the right time. The time was ripe for a singing cowboy—and I came to town."

"I bet there's a hundred men in this town who can do a better job of actin' than me. I know I can't act. And I'm not changin' over to other kinds of pictures. If I did that, I might go and I might not. If I stay where I am, just singin' and ridin', I figure I can stick around 15, maybe 20 years."

Wears Costume Constantly
Autry wears a big cowboy hat, and his necktie is a neatly tied handkerchief. He wears boots, even on the street, in the showmanlike tradition started by Tom Mix.

Even with his cowboy hat, Gene Autry can walk down Hollywood boulevard and few people will turn to stare as they do for the least important of dramatic feature players. That's because Hollywood is full of cowboy hats and cowboys, and it's the rare western star who is an honored prophet at home. But let him stroll through one of the outlying towns, and the autograph books are whipped out. Gene averages about 2,500 fan letters a month, more when he "is on the air."

Only son of a Texas rancher, Gene Autry was born in Tioga. He learned to ride when he was a youngster, but his life subsequently took him away from the strictly "western" life. His parents moved to Oklahoma, and Gene, who had begun singing in a church choir, joined a medicine show when he was 14—for one season.

Kicked Upstairs by Teletype
At 18 he got a job as telegraph operator on a lonely railway division. He kept singing and practicing on his steel guitar. Then the teletype came in, and the future of a telegrapher looked dark. That was when he went to Tulsa and started broadcasting cowboy songs—songs he wrote himself, in the modern manner.

Five years ago he went to Chicago, after headlining in vaudeville, and built a national radio following. And then came the "singing cowboy" idea.

exception of the election of a Speaker of the House.

For under the law and constitution, Lieut. Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham will preside in the senate, while the same chief clerks will serve in the senate and house who served in the 1935 session. Thus LeRoy Martin will be chief clerk in the senate, with his same staff of assistants, while Thad Eure will be chief clerk in the house, with his same staff of helpers. Clerks will have to be elected in both the senate and house, however, when the regular session of the assembly convenes January 5.

It is not known yet just how the house will proceed with the election of a speaker. In regular session, a caucus of the Democratic and Republican members is always held the night before the formal opening of the session, and each party selects its candidate for speaker. The selection of a candidate for speaker by the Democratic caucus is tantamount to election, of course and this candidate is always elected by the house the following day.

It is expected that a house caucus will be held Wednesday night, January 9, and that Representative E. Gregg Cherry of Gastonia will be elected speaker with little or possibly no opposition, although Representative F. E. Thomas of Anson county may be a candidate. The prevailing belief, however, is that Cherry will be selected as the Democratic candidate by a large majority and that he is hence sure of being elected speaker.

Before the members of the special session can proceed with the election of a speaker or with any other business, they will have to be sworn in. The oath of office will be administered by a member of the State Supreme Court after the two houses are called to order by the principal clerks.

Nantes Presbyterian Choir

Annual Fall Recital

The annual fall music recital held in Austin auditorium at the College last night drew an appreciative audience of College students, faculty members and townspeople.

Miss Dora E. Meade, teacher of piano, introduced the musicians and explained the purpose of the program.

The first group included three selections from the classic composers. Miss Christine Alford played "Invention, No. 13" by Bach with confidence and expression. Miss Edith Dixon played Haydn's "Gypsy Rondo," and as the last number in the classic group, Miss Kydia Cooper played Mozart's "Minuet from Symphony in E flat."

The remainder of the program mainly consisted in the romantic, the melodious, and the modern. J. N. Williams showed the utmost abandon in rendering Schumann's "Knight Rupert" and Tchaikovsky's "The Lark." In the latter, his touch was particularly sharp.

Miss Margaret Wilson showed a complete mastery of technique in "The Torch Dance," by German. Her tone was full and her forte was that of a concert pianist.

The true climax of the program from the standpoint of entertainment value, was the performance of Misses Mary Hoover Boyd, Eoline Sawyer and Helen Sawyer, in singing Penn's "Mistress Margarita" and Shelly's "Dreaming." The voices were properly subdued and blended harmoniously.

MacDowell's "Tarantelle," played by Miss Mary Thomas Smith; Schumann's "Nachtstuck, Op. 23, No. 4," played by Miss Rachel Moore; Raff's "La Lileuse," played by Miss Christine Alford, and Schubert-Liszt's "Hark, Hark, the Lark," played by Miss Mary Evelyn Thompson, were other piano numbers.

As the final feature of the program, the Violin Ensemble, directed by Miss Lois V. Correll, played "Old French Gavotte" by Campa, "Rondo in G," from Symphony No. 12, by Mozart, and "Intermezzo from L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2" by Bizet. The Violin Ensemble includes Misses Lois Origozy, Marian Wood, Mildred Edwards, Jean Corey, Lucy Nulton, Elizabeth Tolson and Wesley Bankston.

On the whole, the program was varied, entertaining and well-rendered.

Resolutions for Mrs. Rountree

Whereas, our loving Heavenly Father, in His all-wise providence, has called our sister in Christ, Mrs. C. D. Rountree, into His presence, July 27, 1936.

Therefore, Be it Resolved:

First, that we express our deepest sympathy to the family in their sense of loss in the home-going of this loved one, and that we pray the consolation of God shall be their comfort and help in their present need of divine grace.

Second, that we deeply appreciate the unselfish interest of Mrs. Rountree in the work of the Church in all its departments, and especially in the task of the Woman's Missionary Union to further the interest of the membership, in our responsibility for Christ's commission to "go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" by keeping up an example of inspiration to be steadfast in our work and to provide instruction concerning the open doors of opportunity ever before us.

Third, that we are very grateful for the influence of her beautiful Christian spirit which was a guiding star to many as she lived her own expression of "Christ in you, the hope of glory," in the quiet manner of a true gentlewoman.

Fourth, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, and one to be spread upon the minutes of the Woman's Missionary Society of Memorial Baptist church, and another be sent to the Biblical Recorder for publication.

only Father for permitting her to abide with us many years, and to hereby making us debtors of Him for this rare Christian spirit, whose fellowship we so much enjoyed as she sought to live in a manner that reflected the glory of Christ in her life. Many have learned to pray more effectively, to love the Lord and lost-ones more deeply, and to be truly charitable in the truest sense, to all men at all times and under all circumstances, because their lives have been touched by the influence of Christ through her calm spirit which was always enfolded in the "peace of God, which passeth all understanding."

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Darkly handsome and rather serious, Philip Page returns to his boyhood home and buys the Warrenton Courier...

Chapter 26

'The Palace Is On Fire!'

IN THE days that followed, Sally worked at home and at the office with unflagging energy. She grew a little thinner and was often moody...

Fighting The Blaze

MARY'S rooster made short work of the few blocks from the Warren house to the down-town district. A block from the theater the smoke was so dense they could see nothing of the building itself...

An ambulance siren screamed, and Mary and Sally drew back to the safety of the sidewalk. Ray left them and ran into the thick of the crowd...

Through a break in the crowd, Sally caught a glimpse of the full horror of the fire. People were still running from the building. The injured were laid out in rows on the roped-off portion of the street...

A woman, with her hair burning, ran past Sally. A man caught and held her while he smothered the flames with his coat. Close beside Sally a child fell, and the crowd threatened to trample him...

That they seem scarcely more than paper dolls. They do not even try to understand their children. Tommy was naughty and Tommy was scolded or punished. No effort was made to find out what caused Tommy's naughtiness...

Santa and the Viking

BY SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: The North Wind has blown a sailing ship, carrying a lone sailor, to Santa's toyland. Santa is surprised and puzzled.

The Sailor's Story. The eyes of rosy-cheeked Santa and of chubby Mrs. Santa nearly popped out of their heads as they watched their strange visitor, the sailor, approach them.

You remember the North Wind had sent a visitor in a sailing ship to Santa's toyland. As the sailor walked toward Santa, he took off his beautiful, silver helmet and bowed, his long, yellow hair blowing in the wind...

"But one spring the sweet Margreta was ill, and she begged me to stay. In the harbor, though, the wind was blowing the sails of my ships, and I went. When I returned with soft silks and good red wines from the south, Margreta was dead and my little Gudrun had wandered off through the fjords to find me. No one has seen her since."

"Long ago I should have gone to Valhalla, the heaven of the Vikings, but the Gods have granted me extra time on earth to find my daughter. Through the years all my sailors have died, and I am as good as dead. I'm tired and I'm lonesome." He ended his story and wept into his great, white hands.

mother, but it took the visiting nurse to find out that her mother was the sole support of the family, and a very inadequate support at that.

It is hard to spot these halfway cases, but they are far more frequent than the extremes. Only constant vigilance on the parts of parents, teachers, health boards and visiting officials can save a vast amount of human material from being warped on account of childhood neglect.

If a child is backward in his work, unadjusted socially, nervous or in any other way abnormal, he should be taken at once to a competent physician or to the nearest good clinic. It is useless to argue that he will outgrow his peculiarities. He may or he may not, but he should have the benefit of all that medicine and psychology can do for him as soon as possible.

Visiting nurses and teachers can often help parents in such cases. They see the child in school as well as at home, and from this dual vantage point can give valuable advice and suggestions.
