STATE SOLONS PREPARE FOR REGULAR TERM

Extra Session Just Closed Set New Mark for Brevity

GRAVE PROBLEMS DUE TO COME UP

General Opinion Is That Legislators Will Adjourn In Short Time

Raleigh, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Members of North Carolina's Legislature rested from their public duties today after a record-breaking special session and prepared for the regular biennial meeting starting January 23.

The special session covered seven days, but only six were legislative working days, and not a single negative vote was recorded as an unemployment compensation law was enacted.

It was the fifth special session since 1900 and the shortest of the others was 12 days in 1908.

Faced with the same problems which have caused recent sessions to run from January until mid-May the legislators expressed hope for a short regular session.

Senator Hall Johnston, of Buncombe, said the regular session would last only 90 days.

Young Girl Sentenced To 20 Years

Wise, Va., Dec. 17.—(AP)—A Wise county jury today convicted Edith Maxwell, 22-year-old former school teacher, of second degree murder in the death of her father, Trigg Maxwell and fixed her punishment at 20 years.

The jury was out an hour and 20 minutes.

Miss Maxwell, who stood to hear the jury's verdict, burst into sobs and buried her head on the shoulder of her brother, Earl Maxwell.

Her punishment was the maximum permissible for second degree murder under Virginia statutes. Her first conviction brought a 25-year sentence for first degree murder, which was set aside by the State Supreme court.

The jurors, who yesterday heard final arguments of attorneys and instructions of Judge Ezra Carter, began their deliberations at 9:05 a. m.

Charlotte Lawyer Claimed By Death In Hospital There

Edwin Bridges, Former State Parole Commissioner Succumbs From Rare Form of Meningitis

Charlotte, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Edwin Bridges, 42-year-old Charlotte attorney, who served as State Parole Commissioner for several years ago, died today in a hospital here of a rare form of meningitis, the sequel to influenza, was described as the cause of death.

He was the son of the late Dr. J. R. Bridges, president of Presbyterian College in Charlotte, and editor for many years of the Presbyterian Standard. After serving in Raleigh as parole commissioner during the McLean administration and later, he returned to this city to practice law. His firm represented the city as attorneys for four years.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Presbyterian church here at 11 a. m. Saturday.

Survivors include his wife, a four-year-old daughter, and several brothers and sisters.

They discussed the physical needs and recent improvements of the college and suggested a future program for the development.

Miss Agnes Wadlington of the college is secretary of the Board of Trustees.

Tar River Continues Overflow Its Banks

B. T. Clark, in charge of the local weather bureau, said that the Tar river was standing at 13 feet and three inches and was rising rapidly at 8 o'clock this morning.

He said he was unable to state how high it would go, but added it was due for a further rise because of the heavy rains of this week.

The sun came out this morning bringing hopes the rainy spell probably was at an end.

Final Examinations Underway At College

Students at East Carolina Teachers College are now in the midst of their final examinations for the fall quarter, which will end at 4:30 tomorrow.

After a vacation of two weeks, the students will return to register for the winter term Monday, January 4.

REVEALS LIST PETIT JURORS

Four terms of Superior court, three for criminal and one for civil cases, are scheduled to be held here during the last week in December and in January.

A special term to try criminal cases will get underway on Monday, December 23, with Judge J. Paul Frizzelle presiding. The extra session was asked because of the large number of cases awaiting disposition.

A civil term will be held the week of January 11, a criminal session the following week and another criminal term will begin on January 25.

Jurors have been drawn for each of the courts and were announced today by J. C. Gaskins. The old Grand jury will serve through the criminal term beginning Monday after Christmas, but a new one will be drawn to serve thereafter.

Jurors drawn for duty at each of the four courts follow:

NEW HOPE FOR ENDING BITTER CHINA DISPUTE

Nanking Officials Confer With Adviser to Change

CHIANG KAI SHEK DECLARED ALIVE

Messenger Said to Be Bearing Autographed Letter from Imprisoned Overlord

Nanking, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Nanking officials seized fresh hope today for an end to China's civil war and release of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek after conferences with the recalcitrant Marshal Chang Hseuh-Liang's British advisor, James Elder.

At the same time a spokesman declared a messenger was bringing an autographed letter from the imprisoned military overlord which would "dispel doubts as to the general's safety."

He also cited a telegram purportedly from W. H. Donald, Chiang's advisor, saying he "had returned to Sianfu and was remaining in the same room with the generalissimo."

Elder, arriving in the capital today, was closeted with government officials for the greater part of the day attempting to work out a satisfactory solution for the crisis.

His movements were strictly controlled by Nanking authorities.

The control Yuan (council) approved a motion condemning Marshal Chang to public execution as a result of the military rebellion in which the generalissimo was seized last Friday.

The weakening spell was reported to have occurred during the evening while the holy father was talking with a visitor.

Physicians attributed the Pope's extreme fatigue to excessive activity during the day.

Legless Veteran Unusually Popular With Legislators

Ralph Flowers From Catawba County Proves to Be One of Most Likable "Fellows" in Legislature

Raleigh, Dec. 17.—Ralph Flowers, legless war veteran from Hickory and a member of the house from Catawba county, is already one of the most popular members of the general assembly. Those who observed him here this week and last are predicting that while Flowers may not have any legs he more than makes up for this by his brains and pleasing personality and that he is going to be an influential member of the house when the regular session convenes in January.

He had very little to say while here for the special session and spent most of his time getting acquainted with the other members.

But those who already know him maintain he will be heard from in the regular session. Flowers is a Democrat and defeated the veteran Leemis Klutz, Republican, who represented Catawba county in the house here five times from 1925 to 1935.

Flowers lost both his legs in the war and is not able to walk even with crutches. Instead, he uses a small wooden platform mounted on roller skate wheels and propels himself on this rolling platform, using his arms for motive power. By using a wooden block in each hand, shaped something like a wooden stirrup, he is able to guide himself in and out of traffic and even up and down stairs, apparently with very little effort.

He managed to go up and down the long flights of stone steps in the Capitol without any assistance and is as independent and capable as the members who have two perfectly good legs and feet. He has a smile, a laugh and a handshake for every one who passes his way and has won the friendship of every one during the few days he was here.

After the legislative sessions were over, Flowers would roll himself about in the hotel lobbies and mix with "the boys" talking politics or talking over "old times" with other war veterans he found here. Flowers said he was having a "wonderful time" here and was looking forward to the regular session next month.

Flowers is a member of the American Legion Auxiliary Pitt County Post.

ON PLANE MISSING IN UTAH

In the snow-covered fastness of Utah, an airliner carrying seven persons disappeared en route from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City. Officials expressed fear it had made a forced landing. Aboard was Stewardess Gladys Witt (right) whose recent romances with James Roe, a pilot, and his rival, Erik Balzar, were widely publicized. She resigned her job to marry. But when both claimed her hand, she remained single and returned to work. (Associated Press Photos.)

POPE SUFFERS FROM RELAPSE

Pontiff Declared Not Be Getting Along So Well

Vatican City, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Pope Pius suffered what was described by his physician as a "set back" tonight in his recent progress toward recovery from partial paralysis and circulatory congestion.

The weakening spell was reported to have occurred during the evening while the holy father was talking with a visitor.

Physicians attributed the Pope's extreme fatigue to excessive activity during the day.

SEASON SALES SATISFACTORY

Greenville Tobacco Market Brought To Official Close

With the close of sales yesterday afternoon, auctions on the Greenville tobacco market were brought to a close officially, but warehousemen announced that any farmers still having leaf for sale will find adequate facilities at their command.

K. W. Cobb, sales supervisor, said today that the market just completed was "satisfactory."

While offerings were much lower than in the previous season, prices paid for the 1936 product were much higher than last year and the gap between the money paid for the two years was nothing like as wide as the amount sold.

For the 1936 season 47,067,808 pounds were sold, bringing a total of $11,158,601.11—an official average of $23.71 per hundred weight.

These figures compared with offerings of 69,354,582 pounds in the 1935 marketing season for $12,689,063.22—an official general average of $21.02.

The local market was somewhat slow in getting started this year, due to the fact that the crop in this section was unusually late. As the season wore on the market gained momentum and the government report covering the largest month so far showed the Greenville market to be paying the highest average in the belt.

Another encouraging feature of the season was the fact that farmers from numerous counties sold their tobacco here for the first time. Border counties were represented on the market here, as were several South Carolina counties.

Each member of the club was asked to bring a toy. The playthings will be turned over to the King's Daughters for distribution to children throughout the community.

Byron Price Sees Tough Job Facing House Leader

By BYRON PRICE Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington

Democrats inclined to view factional strife with alarm are wondering about the house of representatives leadership skirmishes between supporters of Sam Rayburn and John J. O'Connor. Traditional house resentment at senatorial "meddling" in its affairs further complicates the situation for all concerned.

Among others, Vice President Garner (presiding officer of the senate) is in Washington working openly for Rayburn. It is not a matter of fact support. Mr. Garner has said bluntly that he was here to see that his fellow Texan got the job.

Some Rayburn men intimated this meant support of the administration itself. O'Connor denials were quick and hot. Then spokesmen for the New Yorker pounced on Mr. Garner—he must have expected that—and Senator Guffey, acknowledged boss of things Democratic in Pennsylvania.

The O'Connor adherents thought Guffey had a good deal to do with the pledge of Democratic house members from his state to back Rayburn. He blandly denied responsibility. Those who took the trouble to look up the 1934 speakership fight found that Pennsylvania's declaration of support for the late Joe Bryns was instrumental in his victory.

Rayburn campaigners contend O'Connor himself has been casting about in the senate for support, and cite a letter in which he asked Senator Clark of Missouri for aid. They predict that in the end their candidate will win by acclamation.

But there was growing apprehension as rival factions charted their offensives toward the opening of congress, with Chairman Bushanan of the house appropriations committee first to speak up. He skirted the edge of the Rayburn-O'Connor controversy, contenting himself with calling for a "wise leadership" to prevent the majority from splitting into warring blocs.

That would be inevitable, he thought, if a "brutal" and domineering Guffey were to dominate the Democratic caucus.

PRAISE HEAPED UPON HEAD OF FORMER RULER

Six Thousand Letters Received from Feminine Admirers

EDWARD SUFFERS FROM HEADACHE

Presence of Abdicated King Brings Prosperity to Little Austrian Village

Enzesseld, Austria, Dec. 17.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor, suffering again from severe headaches, received 6,000 letters from feminine admirers today applauding his "romantic gesture" in giving up the British throne for Wallis Simpson. Eight hundred of the writers also asked the British prince for jobs, most of them expressing a preference for secretarial work.

Reliable sources disclosed the Duke suffered last night from another attack of severe head pains, which some said might be connected with his ear affliction.

Castle attendants where the former ruler is a guest of the Rothschilds, emphasized the Duke "is not really ill."

The presence of the abdicated monarch brought a new bustle of excitement to the little Austrian village where spectators thronged in the hope of getting a glimpse of the man who renounced a throne for love.

An innkeeper whose best business day had formerly brought eight dollars into his till, grossed $275 yesterday.

Mrs. J. E. Spilman of this city again has been honored with a high position in the state government. Last night her appointment as a full-time member of the State Unemployment Compensation Commission was announced by Governor Ehringhaus.

Mrs. Spilman, vice chairman of the Democratic Executive committee, will serve with Charles G. Powell, former secretary to the governor and at present Secretary of State and Major A. L. Fletcher, commissioner of labor, ex-officio member.

The commission was established yesterday with the passage by the legislature of a bill enacting the insurance program.

Mrs. Spilman was active in the gubernatorial campaign, heading the women's division in Clyde R. Hoey's campaign. The appointments were concurred in by Governor-elect.

Whiteville Man Sought For Week Found By Posses

Albert Shepard, 44, Arrested After Having Evaded Officers on Charge of Kidnaping

Whiteville, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Albert Shepard, 44, sought for a week since surprised in an underground hide-out where Estelle Shaw, 14 year old school girl said she had been a prisoner for a month was arrested by a posse near here today.

He was lodged in jail, charged with kidnaping and with offenses against the girl who was lured from her school room November 3, she said, by a note saying her father wanted her at home.

Sheriff H. D. Stanley said he and a posse found Shepard hiding in a cave near his farm. He quoted the prisoner as saying he had lived in the woods and slept in tobacco barns since he fled last Thursday night in his underwear and shirt from the hideout beneath his garage.

Previously the girl, who has been sent to the state reformatory at Samcand by welfare authorities, said she was kept in the cave for more than three weeks with Shepard, while he pretended to his wife, who fed them, that he was hiding because of a warrant out for him.

Shepard fled through a tunnel when a posse seeking the girl raided the garage.

Thad Eure Proffered Post by Ehringhaus

Raleigh, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Governor Ehringhaus said this morning he had tendered Thad Eure, of Hertford, Secretary of State-elect, an appointment to fill out the unexpired term of Secretary of State Charles G. Powell, who will become chairman of the Commission of Unemployment Compensation.

Eure's regular term does not start under law until January 1. Powell was appointed Secretary of State three weeks ago, succeeding Steacy Wade, who resigned to accept a social security job.

Investigation Made of Activities in Waccamaw Section

FEDERAL AGENT MAY INTERVENE

Note Reported Received by Relative of Alleged Victim of 'Floggers'

Southport, N. C., Dec. 17.—(AP)—Sheriff J. A. Russ, investigating the activities of a band of "preying floggers" in the Waccamaw river valley, said today he had turned over to federal authorities a copy of a threatening letter reported received by a relative of one of the alleged victims of the night riders.

The sheriff said the crudely penciled note warned Jarvis Inman, 22-year-old Freehold filling station operator, of "things you must do" or "we will get you." He said the warning was signed "K. K. K."

Jarvis Inman is a cousin of William Inman, who reported to Sheriff Russ yesterday he and Jess Cox, also of Freehold, were seized a few weeks ago, driven six miles from their homes and flogged by a masked band of 25 or 30 men.

The letter to Jarvis Inman was headed Little River, S. C., but the envelope bore a Freehold postmark. The sheriff said it was in the same tenor as one left on the door of Herby King, another Freehold man the night of December 5, the day the Inman warning was dated.

Roy as the members will serve during his term of office. Mrs. Spilman was named for two years. It was stated the salary would be around the $4,500 mark, but no definite figure has been announced. She advised friends here today that she would arrive in this city Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays. Simultaneously with the ratification of the act, now awaiting Federal approval, the State Employment Service was transferred from the Department of Labor to the control of the commission. A coordinate division, the Unemployment Compensation Division, will be set up under the commission. The immediate job of the commission is to establish a unit to collect $2,500,000 in taxes on 1936 pay rolls from 3,000 employers of the State before they are defaulted to the Federal Treasury on January 31. A 90-day extension for payment of the Federal taxes, which can be offset only by contributions to a State compensation fund, is being sought by State and Federal officials in North Carolina. From 35 to 100 employees will be needed by the commission immediately, various officials have estimated. PITT WOMAN SELECTED FOR HIGH POST

Roy as the members will serve during his term of office. Mrs. Spilman was named for two years. It was stated the salary would be around the $4,500 mark, but no definite figure has been announced. She advised friends here today that she would arrive in this city Saturday to spend the Christmas holidays. Simultaneously with the ratification of the act, now awaiting Federal approval, the State Employment Service was transferred from the Department of Labor to the control of the commission. A coordinate division, the Unemployment Compensation Division, will be set up under the commission. The immediate job of the commission is to establish a unit to collect $2,500,000 in taxes on 1936 pay rolls from 3,000 employers of the State before they are defaulted to the Federal Treasury on January 31. A 90-day extension for payment of the Federal taxes, which can be offset only by contributions to a State compensation fund, is being sought by State and Federal officials in North Carolina. From 35 to 100 employees will be needed by the commission immediately, various officials have estimated. Legislators and other influential personages already were politicking for jobs for their camp-followers yesterday. Eventual establishment of a Civil Service system

Mrs. F. J. Forbes, of Raleigh, is visiting relatives here. John Hill Taylor, of Farmville, was a Greenville visitor today. Senator E. G. Flanagan returned yesterday from Raleigh where he has been attending the special session of the General Assembly.

Mrs. Albra Browning, of the training school faculty, left today for Charlotte for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Corbett, Jr., have returned from Columbia, S. C., where they attended the annual Theatre Managers' banquet, which was held in the Jefferson Hotel. Mrs. Roy Cox and Mrs. Roy Davy, of Winterville, were visitors here today.

Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, hostess of the Sans Souci Book club, held its last meeting before Christmas with Mrs. J. B. Kittrell as hostess, on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock. This is one of the anticipated meetings of the club year, as it has become a precedent to make of it a festive celebration characteristic of the season.

The home was beautiful in an artistic arrangement of Christmas decorations. Warm lights and living greens cast their spell and wove the magic of this loveliest of all holidays. There was no sound of gavel nor any form of business transacted, the whole time being devoted to the enjoyment of the delicious luncheon served by the hostess.

The dining room was beautiful with a color scheme of blue and white prevailing. Dim blue lights in the crystal chandelier diffused a soft silvery glow on the little white tree beneath which constituted the lovely central decoration. Madonna lilies made a pure beauty and shed a sweet fragrance at each end of the tables.

For the most of two hours, during which time the many courses were served, the guests sat around the table enjoying the bounteous feast and happy fellowship. As special guests, Mrs. Kittrell had Mrs. E. L. Hillman, of New Bern; Mrs. J. G. Waldrop, of Hendersonville; Mrs. T. McM. Grant, Mrs. C. W. Hearne and Mrs. J. H. Rose.

This luncheon preceded the unveiling of the Sheppard portrait at the library. The club left in a body to attend the exercises.

In Duke Hospital J. B. Johnston, of this city, was carried to Duke hospital, Durham, today for treatment.

Preliminary Work on Tecocan

Ten young women at East Carolina Teachers College, approved by their respective classes, and finally selected by Herbert Hitch, representative of the Charlotte Engraving Company, will adorn the feature section of the 1937 College Tecocan, it was announced last week by Miss Maggie Crumpler, editor of the yearbook, here.

In an effort to eliminate part of the element of popularity in making the ten selections, the Tecocan staff decided in favor of the following plan: Officers of the Senior, Junior and Senior Normal classes met, and each group nominated ten women students. These nominations were then referred to the three classes and in each case five women were approved. The Sophomore class was allowed to approve four women, and the Freshman class three.

Tommy Daniel, representative of Dunbar & Daniel, Tecocan photographer this year, will return here at an early date to take pictures of the twenty-two women selected by the students. Of the twenty-two pictures, ten will be selected by the Charlotte Engraving Company and will make up the feature section of the 1937 yearbook.

THEY NEED YOUR HELP

The most joy of the Christmas season comes from giving to others and if you include helping needy persons in your plans we are sure you will get even more enjoyment out of your Christmas. Of the list of Christmas Opportunities published in this paper this week only eight cases have been taken and a donation has been made to aid another of the needy families. There are still a number of needy families left on the list and your help is needed if these families are to be comfortable during the Christmas season.

If you do not feel that you can assume the responsibility for all the needs of one of these families decide just how far you can go in helping and maybe someone else would like to add to your effort.

Don't let these needy families in this community suffer while you are enjoying the Christmas season. Let's see to it that we do our part in bringing some happiness to others.

Pick out your opportunity from the published list and advise us immediately of your choice.

How's Your Health?

Nephritis

Nephritis literally means an inflammation of the kidney. The condition may be acute or chronic, and may be due to a vast variety of noxious agents, bacterial or chemical in nature. In general, it should be understood that any toxic condition affecting the body is likely also to affect the kidneys. For the kidneys are one of the filtering systems of the body. All of the body's blood must periodically pass through the kidneys, which serve to eliminate a wide variety of soluble, waste and other products.

The structure of the kidney is highly intricate. Schematically, however, the kidney may be visualized in terms of its functional units, the tubules, of which it is estimated there are no fewer than four million in each kidney. The kidney units consist of a series of microscopic blood vessels, arterial in character, around which there is a cup-like layer of cells which connects at its lower pole (corresponding to the bottom of the cup) with the long channel, the tubular proper.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS. Philip Page, dark, serious young publisher of the Warrenton Courier, falls in love with his attractive society editor, Sally Warren, who can't forget her former fiancé. Sally is staying with wealthy Mary Morris who pursues Philip. In his campaign for better living conditions, Philip is fighting Mary's property-owning father. Giles Benton, a detective engaged by Morris, accuses McDonald, one of Morris' discharged mill workers, with firing the Morris-owned theater and has McDonald arrested.

Chapter 34 Sally Eavesdrops

"I'm sick of the whole business," Mr. Morris was saying. "I want it pushed through in a hurry. If this is the guilty man, I want him convicted and sent away."

"He's the guilty one, all right," said Giles Benton. "And when he's convicted, you've won your fight in Milltown. This fellow Page won't have another word to say about cleaning up slums. These workmen will see what a rotten leader McDonald's been for them. They'll settle down, and you'll have no more trouble from that quarter."

"I hope you're right," said Mr. Morris wearily. "I don't seem to be able to buck things the way I used to."

Hidden by the draperies, Sally listened to their words.

"Sally sat motionless in the window seat, hidden by the long draperies. She had been too startled to move when the men first entered the room. Now it was impossible to leave. She had heard too much. Nothing could explain her eavesdropping. Miserable and terrified, she crouched where she was, hoping with all her heart that the men would leave soon."

"You're pretty sure McDonald's also the one who has been leaving threats here at the house?" asked Mr. Morris after a short silence.

"Have you any reason to suspect the threats come from any other quarter?" asked Giles.

Mr. Morris moved restlessly and waited a few moments before he answered. "No," he said at last. "I don't know where else they could come from."

"Then," said Giles, "they must come from McDonald." His oily voice was triumphant, as if he had both McDonald and Mr. Morris in a corner. Sally had never disliked him so much as she did at this moment.

"A rich man has many enemies," said Mr. Morris, sighing. "I started as a water boy in a factory. I've worked hard for every cent I've got. But nowadays a rich man is looked on as nothing short of a thief. The town's forgotten what I've done for it." He got up from his chair. "I'm tired. I believe I'll go to bed. It's a very hard day for me to get to sleep of late."

A Mysterious Phone Call SALLY waited anxiously for Giles to follow Mr. Morris. She felt suddenly sorry for Mary's father. But Giles did not leave. Instead, he waited till Mr. Morris had gone upstairs. Then he went to the telephone. His voice was low, as if he feared being overheard.

"Hello—Marty?" Sally could hear every word he said. "Everything's O.K. I've got a hunch the old man suspects it's you, but he won't say so. We've got him where we want him. He'll come across all right—plenty. That's enough. I'm phoning from the house. Yep. Want you to get out of town and stay out. Right now. See you in a couple of days. So long."

At last Giles was leaving. Sally heard his footsteps going upstairs. She was stiff with sitting in a cramped position, and her brain whirled with the talk she had just heard. It was nothing important. And yet—there was something going on behind Mr. Morris' back. She had no proof, but she suspected Giles of double dealing.

conditions. They may also become independently affected, that is, the disease may be primary in the kidneys, and not secondary to some disease condition elsewhere in the body. When the involvement is of an inflammatory nature, we call the condition nephritis.

When the kidneys are called upon to eliminate the chemical poisons or the living organisms associated with infectious diseases, and the demand is greater than their normal capacity to deal with such agents, nephritis is threatened. Among the infectious diseases those of the blood (septicemia) scarlet fever, typhoid fever, influenza, pneumonia and diphtheria are prominent. Overeating and the excessive use of alcohol may of themselves cause nephritis.

DR. McDONALD DUKE SPEAKER

Declares That Will of The People is Only Law

Durham, Dec. 17.—"Those who imagine that prohibition is the law in North Carolina are mistaken," said Dr. Ralph W. McDonald at Duke university this week. The well-known educator, who was studying law at the University of North Carolina, spoke before a meeting of the Duke Bar association.

There was a time, only a few years ago, when prohibition was very nearly the law in the state, because public opinion in overwhelming preponderance supported the principle of prohibition," he continued; "but certainly in many, many sections of the state prohibition is not law today, and no statute can make it law."

"There is but one residence of the law, the hearts of the people, collectively considered. There is but one final authority for deciding the law; the thinking and beliefs of the people. The true law is not written in court reports, codes of law, or even in constitutions."

Appraising the present status of legal education, McDonald stated that "there is much to justify the respect and commendation of the layman. Three things in particular I should like to mention with approval: (1) the movement to elevate the standards of the bar by means of higher training standards and more stringent admission requirements, (2) the greater emphasis upon ethical considerations, and (3) the development of an attitude of self-criticism on the part of the bar."

The speaker also pointed to some of the weaknesses of present-day legal education. "Legal education," he said, "is in danger of burying justice under a maze of rules, technicalities, statutes, restatements, and decisions, x x x As a layman, I fear that the law, as it is being taught and learned, is losing somewhat of its synonymy with true law."

He also deplored the neglect of law schools in enduing their students with a sense of public responsibility. "To be a worthy member of the profession," he concluded, "the attorney must possess a fine degree of courage to put public interest above self-enrichment."

(Continued from page one) neering course was pursued. No one, however, is sanguine enough to think that Democratic lines will remain unbroken. Speaker Bankhead himself admits "we can't expect unanimity," but harmony-minded representatives hope salt won't be rubbed into wounds already painful.

Representative Rankin was so concerned over the tenaciousness that he proposed withdrawal of all candidates, himself included, in favor of Representative Doughton. He thought that a practical compromise.

Scott Declared To Be In Hot Water Over Promises

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Dec. 17.—Commissioner-elect W. Kerr Scott of the State Department of Agriculture, who has recently pushed the legislature out of the limelight as a result of his wholesale firing of employees of the Department of Agriculture even before he has taken office, is now getting into hot water because of the jobs he has promised or is reported to have promised certain individuals, as well as on account of those he has fired, it was learned here today.

Reports also are to the effect that Scott has offered jobs to several persons at salary figures in excess of what is now being paid, only to find that the Budget Bureau is refusing to approve any of these offers in salaries until July 1, 1937 and is insisting that whatever salaries are being paid now must prevail until the end of this fiscal year.

The report is going the rounds here today for instance, that he has already offered the job from which he fired William H. Richardson, that of director of publicity to four different persons and that each of the four has turned it down because of his inability to get the salary increased.

Scott admits he offered the job to George M. Stephens of Asheville and that Stephens declined it. Current reports are that it was also offered to James M. Gray, one of Scott's strong backers, now assistant regional director with the Resettlement Administration and said to be seeking another place to land before Resettlement is liquidated, but that he refused it because the salary was not large enough.

Reports also are to the effect that this same job was offered to Ben Kilgore, son of Dr. B. W. Kilgore, to whom Scott has now offered the job as head of the food, oil and analytical divisions, but that Ben Kilgore declined the offer because of the inadequate salary. Still another report is that the job was offered to George Ross, now with Resettlement and regarded as one of the biggest political powers behind the Scott throne and that he also rejected the offer.

The trouble in all four cases, according to reliable reports, was that Scott offered the job to these others at anywhere from $3,500 to $4,500 a year, only to find that the Budget Bureau would not approve a salary of more than $2,800 a year—the salary Richardson has been getting.

There are also indications that Scott has not helped himself in legislative or even in political circles formerly friendly to him by his announcement that he has offered the job as chief of the division of foods, oil and analytical to Dr. B. W. Kilgore, formerly state chemist and now president of the Pine State Creamery and active in the high councils of the State Dairymen's Association. It is recalled that there was much friction between Dr. Kilgore when he was state chemist under the late Commissioner William A. Graham, father of the present commissioner and that this friction continued under the present Commissioner Graham until Dr. Kilgore finally left the Department of Agriculture and went out to State College as Dean of the School of Agriculture. It is generally conceded that Dr. Kilgore was not able to get along very well with Dr. E. C. Brooks, when he was president of State College, and that he not long after that retired to devote his time to his creamery and ice cream business here.

Scott now proposes to put Dr. Kilgore back in charge of the division which must pass on the purity of dairy products and enforce the pure food laws, including the inspection of all dairies, creameries and ice cream manufacturing plants. This would put Dr. Kilgore in the position of one creamery head and ice cream manufacturer inspecting and passing on the purity of the products of all the other creameries, dairies and ice cream manufacturers in the state, it is pointed out.

The belief is also prevalent here now that Dr. R. W. Leiby was dismissed by Scott as chief of the division of entomology and C. H. Brannon of State College extension division appointed to succeed him, largely as the result of interdepartmental jealousies existing between the State College entomological division and that in the Department of Agriculture and certain factions at State College which have been out to "get" Leiby for some time.

It was learned here today that your selection early, Greenville Florist Company, 16 1/2 had known that Dr. Leiby was to be let out by Scott for the past two weeks or more. Friends of Dr. Leiby maintain that he was summarily dismissed by Scott on the basis of unsupported charges and misinformation, supplied mostly by those connected with State College, and without being given an opportunity to be heard in his own behalf.

BASEMENT GARDEN IS SCIENTIST'S GOAL

Chattanooga, Tenn. (AP) — A garden in every basement to furnish vegetables and flowers for every family is the ambition of Edward J. Bedoit, horticulturalist.

What nourishment a plant needs is easily determined by chemical analysis of a leaf, he says. The needed portions are then fed to the plant through a mixture poured into the medium (soil, ashes, peat or moss) which supports the plant roots.

Sunlight and soil are unnecessary, declares Bedoit. Everything furnished the plants by these elements can be given through the "mixture."

When the plan becomes practical, the "mixture" formula would be standardized and could be bought from a chemist. The cost would be slight.

'Arty' Cocktail Bars And Burlesque Crowd Barbary Coast Into Oblivion

ONE SHOW RUNS ON At the old Bella Union, now called the Kearny theater, some kind of show has gone on almost continuously since 1948. Here chorus girls rehearse the burlesque show that now packs 'em in for three a day. The house has lived through two fires and has been, at various times, wax museum, penny arcade and Chinese theatre.

MODERNISM CROWDS IN A pale wraith of the old Barbary Coast spirit still lives on in the modern cocktail bars that are moving in where iniquity once flourished. At Mona's (Mona herself behind the bar) artists and writers gather to paint, discuss and drink.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (AP) — Where sinners from the seven seas once reveled on San Francisco's Barbary Coast, dusty windows and padlocked doors today maintain a reign of darkened, silent respectability.

Era Ended in 1917 A police blockade in 1917 ended a rip-roaring era that had blazed night and day since the goal rush of '49. After repeal in 1933 an ill-starred attempt was made to reopen the Coast, but Citizens protested and police closed the refurbished dives. Now encroaching business—here a spaghetti cafe, there a dairy lunch—threatens to obliterate the landmarks of iniquity.

Hint of Old Days But a hint of the old days remains in bars patronized by the bohemians of Telegraph Hill and in a burlesque theatre that occupies the hall which once housed one of the most famous of Barbary Coast "melodians."

IZZY SURVIVES Isadore Gomez, who calls himself "King of Little Bohemia," has been in business on the Coast since 1909.

Harper Sheppard Portrait Presented By Local Club

Several years ago the people of Greenville were made eminently glad by the announcement that a much-needed library and community building was to be given to the city by Harper Sheppard, a well-known shoe manufacturer of Hanover, Pa., and a native of Pitt county. He was donating the building as a memorial to his father, William Henry Sheppard, who was in the past a prominent figure in this section.

This edifice soon materialized—a dignified and imposing structure—a joy to see and an honor to the town and to its donor.

As time has passed, the Sheppard Memorial Library has become a vital part of the community in its use and service as a library and cultural center.

The Sans Souci club had the desire to pay some tribute to Harper Sheppard to show appreciation of his generous gift. They conceived the idea and asked for the privilege of having his portrait in the library that he himself might be kept in remembrance along with the father whom he wished to honor. They felt that the hundreds who visit and benefit from the library, and especially the on-coming generations, should be familiar with the spirit and likeness of this man who has given them so much.

In response to an inquiry written to the family concerning the picture, Mrs. Harper Sheppard responded, expressed their deep appreciation, and sent the photograph of Mr. Sheppard from which she wished the portrait to be made. It preserves him as a much younger man than he now is.

The club selected Mrs. Georgia Pearsall Hearne, a local artist, who has won outstanding recognition in her work, to paint the portrait. This portrait, splendidly conceived and a dignified representation of Mr. Sheppard seated at a table on which rests a group of books, was presented to the library on Tuesday afternoon by the Sans Souci Book club with fitting ceremonies.

The club especially invited the members of various civic and county organizations and all friends of the library to join them in honoring the man who gave so munificently to our community.

The following program was carried out:

- Programme
1. Christmas Music, (a) It Came Upon the Midnight Clear — Glee Club; (b) Trio—Misses Sawyer and Boyd.
 2. Words of Welcome—Mrs. J. L. Kilgo, President, Sans Souci Book club.
 3. Presentation of Portrait — Mrs. W. L. Hall.
 4. Unveiling of Portrait—Barbara Sheppard White, great granddaughter of William Henry Sheppard. Attendants—Helen Ruth Whichard, great granddaughter of William Henry Sheppard; Harper Sheppard Darden, great grandson of William Henry Sheppard.
 5. Acceptance of Portrait—J. B. Ficklen, chairman Board of Trustees.

Sheppard Memorial Library. Christmas Music: Silent Night—Quartet.
7. Adjournment.
Honorary guests present were relatives of Harper Sheppard, descendants of William Henry Sheppard; Mayor of Greenville, M. K. Blount; Chairman Board of Education, W. H. Woolard; Superintendent County Schools, D. H. Conley; Chairman Board of County Commissioners, R. T. Cox; Artist who Painted Portrait, Mrs. C. W. Hearne.

In addition to the above program, the club secretary, Mrs. W. I. Wooten read the following letter from Mrs. Sheppard to Mrs. J. B. Kitzrell, who as chairman of the Portrait committee so splendidly carried out all necessary arrangements relative to the presentation of the portrait:

Letter from Mrs. Sheppard "Hanover, Pa., Dec. 8, 1936.
"My dear Mrs. Kitzrell:

"I received your very kind letter, inviting me and one of my grandchildren to be present at the presentation and unveiling of the portrait of Mr. Sheppard. Had I known this earlier, I could have made arrangements to be present, and it is with deepest regret that I am unable to do so.

"Our grandchildren are far away in schools, and therefore it would be impossible for them to be present. I think it would be nice to have one of the grandchildren, or great-grandchildren of William Henry Sheppard, to unveil the portrait.

"It is a beautiful gesture of the Sans Souci Book Club to honor Mr. Sheppard thusly, and we appreciate this very much.

"Mr. Sheppard is constantly doing wonderful things, and he is so very modest about it all, never speaking of anything he has done, which makes me deeply glad that you are honoring him in this manner.

"Regretfully,
"HENRIETTA D. SHEPPARD."

DENTISTS URGED TO USE REMOVE FOR EXTRACT

Cleveland (AP)—Dentists are advised to take fear out of tooth pulling and repairing by saying "remove" instead of "extract" and "smoothen" instead of "grind."
Dr. Louis R. Hill of Los Angeles says the words "extracting," "cutting" and "grinding" throw fear into the patient before he opens his mouth and that dentists can overcome this by using a little psychology to start with.

"A smile is a good beginning. Every dentist should install a large mirror in his office and practice smiling before each patient enters. Then he should walk around, the chair and greet the new arrival with that smile."

Stray Dogs Kill Many Sheep
Waynesburg, Pa. (AP)—The sheep-raising industry in Pennsylvania's two best wool-producing counties is going to the dogs.
At least that's the fear of herd owners in Greene and Washington counties, where the menace of raids by stray dogs at night has become so great that a ban on all found running loose is demanded.

W. R. Tustin, Pine Creek sheep owner, reported 21 of his flock killed recently and other farmers said from one to a dozen had been lost from their herds in the same manner.

It's going to be a mild winter, says George Dietz, Chardon, O., farmer and trapper, because cat-erpillars were light brown and corn husks thin.

New York Cotton

New York, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened barely steady, one to six points decline under lower Liverpool cables and liquidation. March eased with prices generally showing net losses of five to eight points at the end of the first half hour.
Prices eased further late in the morning and under additional liquidation while buying was limited to trade accounts on a scale-down. Selling was scattered and trading rather quiet. March sold off to 12.23 and prices generally at midday net losses of four to 10 points.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Dec. 17.—(AP)—Selective buying provided a prop for today's stock market although most of the leaders continued somewhat shaky.

There was little change either for the better or worse in the news picture and brokerage analysis were inclined to ascribe the milling of the list largely to year end influences such as switching of holdings by investors and a little tax selling. Near the four o'clock prices swings were highly indefinite.

Except for intermittent flurries the trading pace was comparatively slow. Transfers were about 1,900,000 shares.
