ACCUSED POISONER AND HIS DEAD WIVES

FORMER RULER CONTINUES IN SERIOUS MOOD

Consents, However, To Pose for News Photographers

DOFFS HIS HAT FOR CAMERAMEN

Obliges News Men, But Has Little to Say in Response to Direct Questions

Ennsfeld, Austria, Dec. 18.—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor terminated his voluntary seclusion today to pose for a battery of photographers on the grounds of Baron Eugenne de Rothschild's Austrian castle. Effless and in a serious mood, the former British ruler walked alone to the court yards where 17 cameramen awaited him. He appeared fatigued. "Gentlemen, how do you want me?" he greeted the photographers. "Shall I sit or stand?" A flood of replies followed his remarks as the business of making pictures of the abdicated monarch began. Three minutes later the photographers, clutching their plates, began a 500-yard sprint to automobiles and motorcycles to carry them the 23 miles to Vienna. The duke replied to only one direct statement made by a British photographer who said: "We wish your highness every happiness." "I wish you luck, also," the British prince responded.

State Patrolmen Asked Make Drive Against Old Tags

Instructions Received from State Motor Vehicle Bureau Set Deadline as Midnight Dec. 31st

Lead. Lester Jones, head of the Eastern division of the State Highway patrol, announced instructions from the Department of Revenue received here today advise that the expiration date for the use of 1936 state license plates is midnight, December 31. The advice, signed by R. R. McLaughlin, director of the Motor Vehicle bureau of the department, set forth that there will be no extension granted. The assistance and cooperation of the patrol force was requested in enforcing the regulation. The expiration date for old city license plates will expire at the same time, it has been announced by city officials. State tags may be purchased from the branch office here of the Carolina Motor club or may be ordered direct from Raleigh. City tags are on sale at the City Hall.

Five Persons Die From Fire Caused By Man Smoking

Man Charged With Going to Sleep While Smoking Being Held on Charges of Manslaughter

New York, Dec. 18.—(AP)—William Hoffman, who went to sleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand and caused a fire in a rooming house on 7th street near Riverside Drive early today which costs the lives of five persons was arrested this afternoon charged with second degree manslaughter. Assistant District Attorney Saul Price who questioned Hoffman, said he was guilty of gross criminal negligence. Five were killed at dawn when fire swept through the four story Brownstone house. Four were burned to death inside and one man jumped to his death from a third floor window when the fire cut off his escape down the stairs.

Find Apple Blossoms On Pitt County Farm

With Christmas only a week off apple blossoms are in bloom in this section of the state on at least one farm. Mrs. T. Z. Mills of Greenville, Route Three, brought several such blossoms to this city yesterday. She said that about three weeks ago the blossoms were in full bloom. The trees started blooming about six weeks ago, she added. In size, the Congo river is second only to the Amazon.

POWER RATES ARE LOWERED

Carolina Company Announces Further Reduction

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—(AP)—The Carolina Power and Light company filed rate reductions here and at Columbia, S. C. today to affect a savings of around $730,000 to customers in 35 North Carolina and 11 South Carolina counties. The reduction becomes effective on all bills rendered on and after January 26, 1937. Stanley Winborne, utilities commissioner, said the $650,000 saving for North Carolina customers of the company made reductions of more than $8,500,000 by power, telephone and gas companies in the state in the past four years. He added experience has shown the total estimated savings have been lower than the actual results. The new rates abolished the utilities "inducement" rate and in North Carolina affecting 16,000 commercial and 65,000 residential users, with the former getting a slightly larger reduction than the latter. Residential users under the new rate must pay five cents per kilowatt hour for the first 50, as compared with six and one half per cent. k. w. k. for the first 40 under the present schedule. The new schedule is at three cents per k. w. k. for the next 50, two cents each for the next 150 and 1.5 cents for each additional k. w. k. New commercial rates will be five cents per k. w. k. for the first 300, 4 cents each for the next 700, three cents for the next 3,000 and two cents each for all additional.

State Engineers Make Inspection City Milk Supply

Situation in Greenville Shows Marked Improvement, According to Report by State Officials

W. Murray Linker and E. B. Roach, District Sanitary Engineers of the State Board of Health, were in Greenville yesterday for the special purpose of making the annual U. S. Public Health Service milk sanitation survey. This survey was made in company with J. P. Stowe, Greenville City Sanitary Inspector. According to the engineers, the milk situation showed marked improvement and they stated that it was the first time in the history of the United States public health inspections that the dairies supplying milk to Greenville had rated above 90. As a comparison, the survey in 1935 showed a total ordinance violations of 81, while in 1936, the violations had dropped to 24. Doctor N. Thomas Ennett, the health officer and Mr. Stowe both are stated that even though these figures show great improvement, they prints recorded and filed with the expect to do everything possible to further reduce these violations.

Post Office Will Be Open Saturday P.M.

T. T. Hollingsworth, local post master, announced today that the office would be open tomorrow afternoon because of the Christmas rush. The office usually closes each Saturday afternoon, but Mr. Hollingsworth declared that patrons would be provided the extra service in order to enable them to get some of their holiday shopping completed before next week.

FASCIST ARMY SHIFTS ATTACK

Troops Transferred From South to North of Madrid

Madrid, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Spanish fascist fighting to clamp a band of steel around northern Madrid, drove today toward the Escorial road to open the way for an attack from Guadalajara. The insurgents apparently were shifting their attack around from the west to the north and east, leaving the southern approach to Madrid less heavily guarded than during the last few weeks of the siege. Government forces, seizing this opportunity, were reported to have captured a strategic hill southwest of Toledo.

Large Steel Firm Accused Violating Labor Regulation

Chairman of Workers Organization Charges U. S. Steel Corporation With Flagrant Breaches

Washington, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organization committee, charged today before the national labor relations board the United States steel corporation and subsidiaries were "violating the law" by preventing employees from joining unions of their own choice. Murray's committee signed the complaint against the Carnegie-Illinois steel corporation and United States Steel on which the board is holding its hearings. Murray said "there has been the most positive, bold flagrant violation of the law by the steel management, particularly the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries. They have resorted to every device of intimidation and discrimination to prevent their employees from getting the benefits of the national labor relations act. The spy system he asserted, has been used in the most elaborate fashion" to resist unionization. Pupils of Etser Junior High school, Gloversville, N. Y., are stated that even though these figures show great improvement, they prints recorded and filed with the expect to do everything possible to further reduce these violations.

DEATH CLAIMS J. C. GALLOWAY

Funeral Services Be Held at 2:30 P. M. Sunday

James Cleveland Galloway, 51, prominent in Pitt county religious, educational, political, fraternal and civic affairs for more than a score of years, died in Duke hospital at 1:15 o'clock this morning after an operation and two weeks of critical illness. Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, with the pastor, Rev. T. M. Grant, in charge. Assisting in the services will be Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian church, and Rev. E. L. Hillman, presiding elder of the district and former pastor here. Burial will follow in the Greenwood cemetery. The Grimesland Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Galloway was a member, will be in charge of burial rites. Mr. Galloway was born January 9, 1885, the son of the late John B. and Alice Rives Galloway. His father was born and reared in this county. His mother was a native of Onamouth county. Mr. Galloway was born at the old home place in Chisolm township and lived there until three years ago when he moved to his present home here on East Fourth street. He came here to serve as secretary and treasurer of the Greenville Pro-

Clemens Pirquet modified the tuberculin test, previously devised by Koch, so that it could be applied safely on large numbers of persons. The test shows whether or not infection with tuberculosis germs has occurred. One may have this first infection, however, without having the disease and to find this out the X-ray is used. The test is especially valuable in detecting tuberculosis in its early forms when a cure is more easily effected. Christmas Seal funds are used to test thousands of children annually.

CHINESE ARMY UNDER ORDERS FREE GENERAL

Crack Divisions Push Toward Stronghold Of the Rebels

HIGH OFFICIALS CALLED TO MEET

Session Is Called To Hear What Were Thought be Terms of Chiang's Release

(By Associated Press). Nanking, Dec. 18.—(AP)—High officials of the Chinese government were called into session today under the protection of armed guards to hear what were thought to be the terms Marshal Chiang Hsueh-Liang has dictated to end the civil war and free Chiang Kai Shek.

The arrival of General Chiang Ting-Wen from Szechuan, focused the national government's efforts on peaceful negotiations to release the Generalissimo while their crack divisions pushed toward the rebel stronghold of Sienfu under orders to storm the city if all other means failed.

General Chiang Ting-Wen, who had been held captive with his chief since the beginning of the rebellion last week, immediately went into conference with Dr. H. H. Kung, civil head of the government. Dr. T. V. Soong, brother-in-law of the Generalissimo and Madam Chiang Kai Shek.

Santa Claus Due On Special Visit To City Tomorrow

Big Plans Being Made for Monday Night When Parade Will Be Held and Gifts Distributed

Plans have been completed for the arrival of Santa Claus in Greenville on Saturday, when he will appear on the streets and talk with the children. On Monday night at 7 o'clock the High school band under the direction of Prof. H. A. McDougal, will accompany Santa Claus, while the Boy Scouts will act as his attendants and protect the children from getting run over. Santa Claus will arrive at the Court House promptly at 7 o'clock and go down Evans street and out Dickinson avenue. He will bring candy, fruit and toys to the children.

Hundreds of colored lights will twinkle merrily from store windows and along the business streets in keeping with the season of festivity. From his arrival until Christmas, he will be in the various stores and hundreds of children will be made happy by his cheery smiles and assurance of a visit on Christmas Eve night. The stores will start remaining open each night on Saturday night and will continue through Thursday, December 24th. The Greenville Chamber of Commerce is offering three prizes for the best decorated homes in Greenville: $100, $50 and $25 will be given. The Woman's Club will appoint a committee to act as judge of the homes.

Bodies Of Couple Discovered Today In Raleigh Store

Middle Aged Woman Who Lived Across Street From Store Found Beside Grocery Merchant

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—(AP)—P. N. Moxingo, 52, neighborhood grocery store operator here, and Mrs. Ina Collins, attractive middle aged woman who lived across the street, were found dead in a bed room back of the store this morning and Coroner L. M. Waring said "it appears to have been a murder and suicide." After his first investigation the coroner said he killed the man and woman had killed each other in a "double murder." The coroner said he believed the two started a fight on a bed in the room and Mrs. Collins slightly cut Moxingo's throat. He theorized Moxingo then nearly severed the woman's head from her body with a knife, and then shot himself twice with a revolver. Later unofficial information indicated Mrs. Collins also had a bullet wound in her body. "I must study the case still further before I make an official finding as to just what took place," the coroner said in discussing his second theory.

Fascist Cruiser Fires Shots Near American Vessel

British News Agency Dispatch Discloses Incident

London, Dec. 18.—(AP)—A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Gijon, Spain, today said the Spanish fascist cruiser Espana fired three shells which struck near the United States gun boat Erie off Gijon.

The Reuters dispatch said the shells, of three 305 millimeters, struck about 300 yards from the United States boat.

The Erie ran up the American flag, the report said, after which the Spanish vessel steamed away.

(An American naval attaché in Paris said he was unable to confirm the reports, which also were carried by the Havas (French) news agency in a dispatch under a Madrid date line.

The attaché declared the Erie, having completed a shake-down cruise, was scheduled to return to the United States via the Azores. The Erie's displacement is 2,000 tons. She carries four five-inch guns, two three-inch anti-aircraft guns and two six-pounders.

His Suicide Threat Scared New Yorkers

New Yorkers experienced their worst case of "nerves" in a blue moon when Maurice Nast teetered on the edge of an 18-story hotel roof for two hours and threatened to jump. A fireman finally crept up from behind and snatched him to safety. He is shown clinging to the ledge while the crowd begged him not to jump. (Associated Press Photo.)

GOP PLANNING TO COME BACK

John Hamilton Hired as Full-Time Chairman of Party

Chicago, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Members of the executive committee of the Republican national committee disclosed today Chairman John Hamilton had been voted a salary of $25,000 a year to devote his full time to the party's rehabilitation. It was the first time the chairman of the Republican national committee had been put on a full time salary basis in the interim between presidential campaigns, the committee men said. The action was taken at an executive committee meeting late yesterday after the national committee gave Hamilton a vote of confidence and refused to accept his resignation.

Cuban Opposition Seeks to Impeach President Gomez

Political Enmity of Commission of Senators and Representatives Is Aroused by Chief Executive

Havana, Dec. 18.—(AP)—A commission of senators and representatives met early today to draft impeachment proceedings against President Miguel Gomez because of his opposition to the $1,500,000 sugar tax bill. President Gomez encouraged the political enmity of the commission members because he said he would veto the bill sponsored by Cuba's "strong man," Colonel Fulgencio Batista, to provide revenues for army taught rural schools. Several congressmen who declined to be quoted by name declared impeachment proceedings would be forced regardless of the congressional vote on the bill, which would create a nine cent tax on each bag of sugar. German Lopez, leader of the Menocalista party in the house of representatives, was one of those working to oust the president.

WATSON FACES DEATH BY GAS

Georgian Is Convicted Slaying Robersonville Man

Williamston, Dec. 18.—(AP)—Judge M. V. Barnhill of Rocky Mount sentenced Arvin A. Watson, 21-year-old Jefferson, Ga., man today to die in the gas chamber March 5 for the murder of Thomas Holiday, Robersonville filing station operator.

A special jury from Beaufort convicted Watson of first degree murder in Martin Superior court yesterday. The accused youth maintained throughout that Willie Bullock, tried separately and acquitted Wednesday by a Martin county jury, was the actual killer. Holiday was found dying at the filing station the morning of November 22. Evidence tendered to show Watson who had been working on a road construction job near here for some months had struck Holiday a blow on the head while the latter was changing a tire on Watson's car.

Capt. Bowen Dorney of the Greenville police force was instrumental in the investigation of the murder and subsequent arrest and conviction of Watson. Immediately (Continued on page eight)

To Light Holly Tree at Home Late Mayor

The Woman's club again this year is sponsoring the lighting of the large holly tree in the front yard of the late Mayor Roy C. Flanagan this Christmas. The lights will be turned on Tuesday night.

A special program has been planned to begin at 7 o'clock. The Welfare department of the Woman's club has invited 50 children from needy homes to be on hand. The children will be given fruit and Christmas presents in tribute to the memory of the late Mayor, who was noted for his benevolence to the unfortunate. The High school band will provide special Christmas music.

PEACE POLICY CRUMBLES AS WAR DRAGS ON

Britain Announces Selling Masks To Defenders

OTHER NATIONS ACCUSED AIDING

Guns, Tanks and Airplanes of Foreign Make Found on Battlefields of Spain

(By Associated Press). Europe's "hands-off Spain" policy crumbled as the civil war dragged on into its sixth month. Great Britain's tall, trim, young foreign secretary, Anthony Eden, today announced "we have sold a small consignment of gas masks to the Spanish government at their request."

That adds, one more difficult element to a confused situation. Russia has sent money and frequently has been charged with sending men and arms to the Madrid government.

Germany, Italy and Portugal have been accused of doing the same for the fascist forces besieging Madrid and holding more than half of Spain.

Guns, tanks and airplanes with foreign labels have been found on both sides of the war front but exactly how they got there is not clear.

Eden's "non intervention" committee of a score of nations agreed in London to stay out of the war as the only method of preventing an European conflict. All agreed there was danger of a general war if arms were furnished by countries sympathizing with the social communist Madrid government or with the insurgents, composed of fascist Catholics and Aristocratic elements.

Greenville Police Make Arrests In Raids Last Night

Two White Men and One Negro Woman Held and Officers Searching Negro Man on Whiskey Charge

Two white men and one negro woman are being held in city jail and officers are seeking a negro man as a result of a raid last night by police officers. The two white men were in the act of delivering whiskey in wholesale quantities. Hubert Harrington and Jimmie Harris, the white men, are alleged by city officers to have been delivering the whiskey to the home of Bob and Lucy Daniel, negroes. Officers said Bob was not at home at the time of the raid or either saw the officers and fled, but added they hoped to "pick him up" within a day or so and try him and his wife together. The cases are scheduled to come up in police court tomorrow morning for preliminary hearings. Officers said they found 22 gallons of whiskey and also said several empty five-gallon containers and empty jars were found. Several cases of empty half-gallon jars were located in an empty house, in which some whiskey was declared to have been delivered. A group of negroes at the home of Daniels when the raid was made was taken to the police station, but those who were not held responsible for the whiskey were released, after in the words of Chief George Clark, the chaff was separated from the wheat. Chief Clark said several cases involving whiskey were pending against Daniels at the present time.

Big Ayden Industry Destroyed by Fire

A disastrous fire last night destroyed Ayden's principal industry and put more than 100 people out of work.

The Ayden Manufacturing Company, specializing in the manufacture of kitchen equipment and believed to be eastern North Carolina's only furniture plant of any size, was destroyed by a blaze which was discovered about 6 o'clock. By the time Ayden's lone fire truck reached the scene, the blaze was out of control and quickly turned the plant to the ground, a total loss. The apartment of E. J. Conklin, owner of the company, in the plant also was destroyed. The cause of the fire could not be immediately determined. Practically no insurance was carried on the plant or its fixtures, Conklin said.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

ALONE—The local grapevine one bears that James Stewart, the pride of Indiana, Pa., is not so greatly appreciated on his home studio lot as he might be, considering the excellent impression he has made in the various roles assigned to him.

This may be because that it is the studio homicide of the year's outstanding comet, Robert Taylor, to whose glittering week less meteoric box office attainments might be assigned.

Whatever the cause, Stewart now is in a fine way to remedy this. He is on his way to play the role of "China" in "Seventh Heaven" opposite Simone Simon. And movie history has only to repeat itself as well-known history should, to send Stewart to the top—if "Born to Dance" does not turn that trick for him in advance.

Ten years ago this picture in film form took two practically unknown young people, James Garret and Charles Farrell, and made them the screen's foremost romantic team for the next six years at least.

Frank Borzage directed them. The other day Henry King put the same version in work in cramped quarters; a mouldy, damp, creaky set representing an underground sewer in Paris.

Here the Sewer Rat (John Qualen) and Chico, son of the Street, are introduced to the camera. Between takes, they sun themselves outside the enclosed set, and compare notes on costumes and make-up. And a fine talk they are, ragged and begrimed. Qualen especially, with his red nose and pink-rimmed eyelids.

"It isn't how long it takes to put it on," says Stewart, "but how long to get clean again. I feel sorry—apologetic when I go to the dining room. My dirt runs off on the tablecloths."

"I don't go to the dining room," says Qualen, "I live close enough to go home for lunch—and I eat in the backyard."

These clothes, sanitarily new, have been run through the studio dirt mill. Wrinkled and tattered, the garments are sprayed with Fuller's earth, grease paint, and stinking acids. Stewart and Qualen will feel "scrummy" for several weeks.

Similar more dismal is rampant on another outfit—of the men, white Mark Twain's "The Prince and the Pauper." Water stands in the cobblestoned streets of London's 17th century slum, and the ill-shod poor, gaunt and lean, pursue their way. No mistaking in garments that are no more than shredded rags. The extras are masterly types of malnutrition and starvation, although in reality probably well fed. But that may be another story.

When President William Henry Harrison died in the White House in 1841, people in Ohio, his own state, didn't learn of it for five days.

Christmas Program

The Eighth Street Christian church announces the following services to be held in connection with the celebration of Christmas. Sunday morning at 11 o'clock there will be a Family Worship Service which will carry out the theme for the month of December—"The Home and the Church Sharing in the Observance of Christmas." The music for this service will be furnished by the young people of the congregation. The Junior Choir will sing "Born is He," a French carol. A special chorus of young people will sing "The Star and the Song." The Junior Board of Deacons will serve for the service of Holy Communion and the Offering.

On Sunday night at 7:30 there will be a White Gifts service and the presentation of a Christmas fantasy, "Under the Christmas Star." The offering received at this service will be used for the orphaned and aged and other gifts will be used for local relief. The singing of familiar Christmas carols will be a feature of both services on Sunday. On Tuesday night at 7:15 there will be given at the church a "Familiar Christmas Party." All members of the church family, from the youngest to the oldest, are invited to attend. There will be a Christmas Tree, treats for the younger children, and other things for the older folk. The playing of family games, and singing of familiar songs will make this an enlargement of the old-fashioned family Christmas party at which all members shared in the joy and happiness of the Christmas festivities.

Expect Thad Eure Take Over Office Secretary of State

Pointed Out, However, That Many Friends Suspecting That He Will Until His Term Expires

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Dec. 18.—Thad Eure, who was elected Secretary of State in the November election but who ordinarily would not take office until January 7, is expected to accept the appointment already tendered him by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and to take the oath of office as Secretary of State late today or tomorrow.

Governor Ehringhaus conferred with Mr. Eure Wednesday night, after he had appointed Charles O. Powell, present Secretary of State, as chairman of the new state Unemployment Compensation Commission, and urged Eure to accept the appointment to fill out Powell's unexpired term so that the announcement of his acceptance could be made at the same time the other appointments were announced.

But Mr. Eure asked for some time to consider the matter, due to the fact that he had not yet finished winding up the affairs of his office as principal clerk of the special session of the general assembly and had a number of other matters to attend to.

It is no secret here that many of the friends and supporters of Mr. Eure were advising him yesterday not to accept the appointment. They maintained that if he should accept the appointment now, it might make it appear that he had been party to the appointment of

Students of College Leaving for Holiday

A large number of College students completed their examinations this morning and immediately left for home. The campus was jammed with cars all morning and in some instances, students were seen backing out of examination room windows and pacing up and down the sidewalk in front of the dormitories.

One girl expressed what appeared to be the sentiment of many when she said, "Daddy's ten minutes late. He never is on time." Practically all of them left before the end of the day.

E. C. T. C. students will go to their homes in ten states where they may spend two weeks enjoying Christmas and New Year festivities.

"As you probably know, the prices of Rayon Yarn have been steadily rising and today they are about 20% higher than those in effect six months ago."

(Actual Statement from a Letter in Our Files from a Prominent Rayon Underwear Manufacturer)

Indications of a rising market are everywhere. Cotton goods prices are advancing. Wool goods manufacturers have withdrawn their lines to revise price lists. Rayon yarns reflect the increased costs of manufacturing and higher wages.

Here's part of an article from the Daily News Record, Wednesday, December 16: "There seems to be surprise in some circles that buyers are not showing more resistance than they are to prices. Buyers, having found they can pass the advance along, are inclined to say, 'We do not care, we really like it when it is going up.'"

That is where you as a Consumer come in. The price advance is passed on to you and you as a customer pay for it. What can you do about it? Nothing—except by anticipating your needs in the future you may buy for them now at prices which have not been advanced.

In our opinion, your dollar today will buy 25% more than it will buy two months from now and we advise your buying for future needs now!

Mrs. Jack Lewis of Farmville, spent today here with her mother, Mrs. N. H. Whitehurst.

Mrs. Reid Perkins and children Virginia and Walter Reid, Jr. of Florence, S. C., are visiting Mrs. Perkins' mother Mrs. R. W. King.

Mrs. George D. Vick, of New Bern, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clifton Edwards at her home on East Eighth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cox, Mrs. H. C. Williams and Mrs. Curtis Clark spent today in Raleigh.

Dr. and Mrs. Wooten Entertain
Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Wooten were charming host and hostess last evening to all the doctors and their wives of Greenville and a few from the county. The large lighted outdoor Christmas tree greeted the eye as the guests arrived and they were welcomed by the host and hostess. The entire lower floor of the home was lighted with Christmas lights and beautifully decorated with Christmas greens. The dining table was centered with red roses and narcissus, and a pretty Christmas scene in miniature was on the serving table.

After the guests arrived, they were served punch by Dr. and Mrs. S. M. Crisp. They were then invited into the dining room, where Madames K. B. Pace and P. B. Hagar were serving turkey and ham from the dining table. The guests then repaired to the living room and library and at small tables were served the remaining dishes of a beautiful dinner with dessert. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

The out-of-town guests present were Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Liverman of Winterville; Dr. and Mrs. M. T. Frazzelle, and Dr. and Mrs. Grady Dixon, of Ayden; Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Basnight of Stokes; Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Beasley, of Fountain, and Dr. and Mrs. Garrenton, of Bethel

Diphtheria Shown Be Making Gains Throughout Pitt

Health Department Calls Attention to Prevalence of Disease in Community at Present Time

The Health Department today again called attention to citizens of Pitt county to the great prevalence of diphtheria at the present time.

Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, the Health Officer, urged all parents who are able to do so have their children vaccinated by their own physician, but if for any reason this cannot be done, they can be vaccinated at the offices of the Health Department in Greenville on Wednesday afternoons or Saturday mornings.

It is extremely important, he said, that children between the ages of six months and five years be given protection, as this is the dangerous age period for diphtheria. So far this year, there have been 85 cases with 2 deaths.

The Health officer said he was of the opinion that the parent could make no better Christmas present to the child than giving him protection against diphtheria.

SMOOTH SERENITY

Here is an example of the "fascinating forty" makeup created to give an effect of smooth serenity and naturalness. Note that the makeup is never obvious—even on the lips. A cofibre rolled smoothly back from the face, a tiera of pearls and diamonds and a necklace of carved emeralds and pearls give, in this case, a dignity that is almost regal.

MORE OPPORTUNITIES

Today's response to the call for aid for needy families during the Christmas season has been gratifying. As a result of the generosity of our citizens, twenty-three needy families are already assured of aid. More needy cases are being added to our published list today and more opportunity seekers are needed if we are to really take care of these families Christmas.

If you want to enjoy your own Christmas more, help make it possible for some unfortunate family to be more comfortable during the Christmas season.

Look over the list of opportunities now. If you can't take care of an entire family you can make a contribution to be added to similar contributions and this fund will be used to the best possible advantage in caring for these needy cases.

Let's try to do something for every one of our needy families this Christmas.

Appointment Of Powell Brings Forth Criticism

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILLE

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—The appointment of Charles G. Powell as chairman of the newly created Unemployment Compensation Commission, and for a term of six years, within six hours after the general assembly had finished enacting the bill creating this commission, has set political circles here by the ears and for the time being is bringing down more criticism upon the heads of retiring Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and incoming Governor Clyde R. Hoey than anything which has happened in months, most observers here agree.

Nor is this criticism coming from those who are unfriendly either to Governor Ehringhaus or Powell. In fact, many of those who believe the Governor made a mistake in naming Powell, his former private secretary, as chairman of the new commission after he had already appointed him Secretary of State Stacey W. Wade, have been and still are their friends.

But they are convinced that Governor Ehringhaus and Governor Hoey have made a very serious political blunder which may result against them and the present dominant faction in the Democratic party from now on. Little criticism has been heard, however, of the appointment of Mrs. J. B. Spilman of Greenville as the other appointive member of the commission. Mrs. Spilman, who was very active for Mr. Hoey in both primary campaigns and who was later elected vice chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, is acknowledged to be a woman of unusual ability and initiative and as entirely capable of filling the important post to which she had been appointed.

In fact, the appointment of Mrs. Spilman as a member of the commission did not come as a surprise, since it has been conceded for many weeks that she would undoubtedly get one of the more choice appointments at the disposal of Mr. Hoey. Until this new commission was created, Mrs. Spilman was being prominently mentioned as a possible appointee as executive secretary of the State School Commission and she was regarded as making rather an active campaign for the post.

Most observers believe Mrs. Spilman is better fitted for her present post on the new unemployment compensation commission than she would have been for chief executive officer of the State School Commission. Virtually no criticism has been heard of the action of the general assembly in making Commissioner of Labor A. L. Fletcher an ex-officio member of the new commission, since the prevailing belief in most circles here is that Commissioner Fletcher knows more about the unemployment insurance program and the entire social security set-up than any other member of the commission, if not more than any one in the state. He is expected to become the balance wheel, if not the principal work horse, on the new commission.

There is no getting around the fact, however, that there is tremendous criticism and dissatisfaction with the appointment of Powell as chairman of the new commission in both business and political circles here. This is not because of any personal objections to Powell or because of any reflections as to his ability.

Most people agree that Powell is an able and personable young man who has served Governor Ehringhaus ably and well as his private secretary for almost four years, and who before that time was register of deeds in Granville county for some 13 years. In fact, it has been fully expected in political circles that Governor-elect Hoey would adhere to the custom and tradition of Democratic Governors for 36 years and appoint Powell to some vital position, provided Governor Ehringhaus did not find a place for control to abstain from advising another on health matters, and it calls for great good sense not to accept such gratuitous advice when it comes from those not adequately trained and experienced. But both are to be highly commended and assiduously cultivated.

him before he retired. For it is unwritten law in North Carolina that the private secretaries of retiring Governors must be "taken care of," provided they want to be—and most of them do. For two or three days before the new unemployment compensation law was passed the report was going the rounds that Powell might be named a member of the new commission—an omen was no great alarm or concern shown. And most observers here today believe the present wave of criticism would not have rolled in upon both Governor Ehringhaus and Governor-to-be Hoey if they had named Powell merely as a member of the commission for a term of two years instead of as chairman for a six years term.

The factors which are causing so much concern and criticism of the appointment of Powell as chairman of the new unemployment compensation commission are that the appointment seems to be purely a political one on the old theory that "to the victors belong the spoils," that Governor Ehringhaus selected what many consider to be the most important appointment left him with one of the largest salaries with which to reward his former private secretary—the salary is expected to be $6,000 a year; that Governor Ehringhaus had already appointed him as Secretary of State to fill out the unexpired term of former Secretary of State Stacey W. Wade, ignoring Thad Eure, who had already been elected to this office, and that the fact that this appointment is regarded as making too much of the "crown prince" type of politics which has as its main objective the rewarding of the faithful.

When all of these objections or criticisms are summed up and rolled together, they come very near to coinciding with the charges made by the supporters of Dr. Ralph W. McDonald in the late but not forgotten Democratic primaries against Governor Ehringhaus. Candidate Hoey and the so-called Democratic "machine," observers here recall.

There is no denying the fact that the "insurgents" and "liberals" in the Democratic party are already jubilant at the appointment of Powell, since they believe that a continuation of this policy in the making of appointments will mean a definite and decisive ousting of the present so-called "Democratic Machine" in the next primary in 1940. Friends and supporters of both Governor Ehringhaus and Governor-elect Hoey are also deeply concerned for fear that the Powell appointment may have added fuel to the fire of opposition to the old conservative Democratic regime in the state and tend to make harder and harder sledding for Mr. Hoey when he becomes Governor January 7.

Friends of Governor Ehringhaus also regret the wave of criticism

COMMON COLD FOUND COSTLY

Affiliated Ills Head List of All Diseases in Country

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—A recent study of the most important causes of sickness, made by Rollo H. Britten, Senior Statistician of the United States Public Health Service, reveals the fact that colds and bronchitis, influenza and pneumonia head the list of all diseases causing sickness in this country. Influenza and pneumonia were found to have a very high mortality rate, being surpassed only by diseases of the heart and cancer.

Another important finding in regard to colds, influenza and pneumonia was that they are among the most costly of all diseases. They cause more time spent in bed and away from work than any other group. They are a drain on personal efficiency and therefore expensive to industry and to other fields of employment. The patient, the wage earner, and the taxpayer all pay the cost.

While there is no record as to the number of cases of illness caused by the common cold each year, it is known that more people suffer from this seemingly mild disease than from any other ailment. The loss of time and efficiency that it causes to industry, schools, and every field of labor is enormous, and yet the cost of colds is not their most serious consideration. Often they are the forerunners of more serious diseases such as pneumonia, bronchitis, laryngitis, and other respiratory affections. If neglected, they prepare a fertile field for the ever ready and waiting tubercle bacillus. Therefore they should always be regarded as dangerous and deserving the utmost precaution.

The best method now recognized as a precaution against colds, bronchitis and pneumonia, both for the sake of the well and the sick, is for the person with a cold to go home, go to bed and stay until he has recovered. Quiet, rest, and proper care can not be had by one at his usual work. Exposure, fatigue and overwork are to be carefully avoided. Colds are too expensive, too dangerous and often too deadly to take chances.

SCOTT CEASES FIRING SPREE

Echoes from Dismissals Continue to Be Heard, However

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—While present indications are that Kerr Scott has for the time being ceased firing along his battlefield in connection with what is now being referred to as "the great Scott purge" of the Department of Agriculture, echoes from the firing are still being heard and are continuing to reverberate through political circles in the state.

The loudest reverberations continue to come as a result of Scott's firing of Dr. R. W. Leiby, for 21 years with the Department of Agriculture and for the last 11 years chief of the division of entomology and regarded as one of the outstanding men in his line in the United States. He has appointed C. H. Brannon, at present extension entomologist at State College, to succeed Dr. Leiby.

It was learned today from very reliable sources that Scott had also planned to fire Fred Miller, superintendent of the Department of Agriculture test farms—in fact, that he had already offered Miller's job to Dave Coltrane, former limestone fertilizer salesman who acted as Scott's unofficial campaign manager before the Democratic primary and took him many hundreds of miles over the state during the campaign in his car.

Those in a position to know maintain that Scott offered Coltrane the job now held by Miller during the convention of the State Grange here last week.

But the reaction to the firing of Dr. Leiby was so unfavorable that a group of Scott's supporters and advisors met with him here Tuesday morning of this week and virtually forced him to agree to retain Miller. It is understood that some of these were from the same faction at State College which had urged him to fire Dr. Leiby. It is now generally conceded that the firing of Dr. Leiby can be traced directly to the group of State College alumni and professors at State College who supported Scott against Commissioner W. A. Graham in the primary, largely in the hope and belief that he would oust Leiby who had a Ph. D. from Cornell and who came to North Carolina from Pennsylvania. Brannon is from Mississippi, a graduate of Mississippi State College, but has been at N. C. State for 11 years.

The Rev. H. S. Foster moved into a house in Delaware, O., noticed something sticky dripping from the ceiling of one room, investigated and found 100 pounds of honey bees had left there.

INSPECTOR ON CLOSE WATCH

Hundreds of Gallons Adulterated Vinegar Poured Out

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Dec. 18.—All may not be aware that the gitters and isn't—neither is all sour, amber-colored liquid vinegar. Diluted acetic acid, worth three cents a gallon, as compared with 21 cents for a good grade of pure vinegar, looks, smells and tastes like vinegar, but inspects, or Wm. C. Hammond, Jr., of the Food and Oil Division of the State Department of Agriculture, located and poured out 34 barrels of it at Greensboro.

Fifty-six one-gallon jugs were poured out at Saint Paul's, and out of the campaign against this form of adulterated food, prosecutions already have arisen and others are to follow, it was indicated today.

For several months the Department of Agriculture has been making war on this liquid. It isn't poison, and it isn't unwholesome, fraud, but it is a cheat and a fraud. A little of it goes a long way, as the inspector says. In brief, it is one of the most notorious forms of adulterated food and its sale will not be permitted in this state, if the present policy of the Food and Oil Division of the Agriculture Department is continued.

Santa and the Viking

BY SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: The Ice Queen has buried Santa's toyland in snow because he helped Nils, the Viking, rescue his daughter from her palace.

CHAPTER XI SANTA IN TROUBLE

The morning after the Ice Queen buried Santa's toyland in snow-drifts, the sun was dreadfully confused as he started his day's trip across the sky. He kept looking for Santa's toy shop, but it was nowhere to be seen. So, instead of coming down to our world that day he just stayed around the North Pole.

But toward the end of the day the sun found a clue. He had stayed in one place so long that his warm rays began to melt the hummock of snow right under him. A dark square appeared through the snow. Shortly the snow melted so that a chimney appeared. Pretty soon the sun saw the pointed brown shoulder of the toy shop roof.

Buried in Snow
"Well, I never," he mumbled. "Snowed under. Gracious, I'll have to melt them out, but there's no more time today. Just about time for the moon." So he slid off to the West, and dark settled over toyland.

Inside there had been extreme confusion all day. When the dolls and fairies woke it had been so dark they all turned over and went back to sleep. But finally Santa felt so wide awake he lit the candle on his dresser and peered

TEAMS SCORE BETTER MARKS

Blount-Harvey Whips Dairy in Bowling Match No. 2

Much better scores were made by both teams as Blount Harvey and Carolina Dairy renewed their series at the bowling alleys last night. The Blount Harvey team scored 1852 points to beat the dairy, whose team dropped a total of 1769 pins.

The next game is scheduled for next Tuesday night, at which time the public is invited to watch the contest.

Last night's results follow:

CARRIER BOYS TO MEET FOES

Postponed Contest is Slated to Be Run Off Tomorrow

The grid teams of The Daily Reflector carrier boys and the roop 30, Boy Scouts, will play off a game postponed from last Saturday tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

The first game was played with eight men teams but tomorrow's game will see both teams with eleven men regulation lineups.

Last week's game was postponed because of rain and the condition of the gridiron of the Third Street school stadium, better known as the (J. H.) Rose bowl.

The probable lineup will be as follows:

Reflector	Scouts
Paul Brooks	Norman Wilkerson
LE	LE
Otis Eans	Paul Scott
LT	LT
Thomas Swain	Claude Hardee
LG	LG
Fred Carrio	Thomas Harrington
C	C
John D. Bridgers	Allen Bracey

Greenville High To Meet Bethel

The Greenville High school basketball team will play its first home game of the season tonight, when it will meet the Bethel five at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium.

This year's local team is expected to be one of the strongest in several years. The Bethel school also boasts of a good quint and tonight's contest is slated to be a hard fought battle.

life. Children should have friends coming in and out, they themselves should visit and play with other children. Instead of taking pleasure in their being always at home, the parents should encourage them to go out on their own and mix with other children.

Even a certain amount of argument and quarreling among members of a family need not be a bad thing. It teaches children to hold their own and shows them the necessity for give and take. It can be made into a valuable training in the art of keeping one's temper.

Reviewing JANUARY 1936

Music Goes Round

What happened in 1936? A series of 12 articles answering this question in a month-by-month unfolding of the year begins with the following resume of January.

By VOLTA TORREY (Associated Press Feature Service Writer)

Sleep knit up the raveled sleeve of care but fitfully December 31, 1935.

Rome's Legions were marching on in Africa in a war that experts said they could not win. At home, Italians looked around for junk to throw into the streets—their customary way of celebrating the New Year—but all the scraps had been put to use. So they dutifully turned their lights out early for the sake of more economy, and cursed the League of Nations and its sanctions.

In London, Naval conferees tossed in their slumber, wondering about Japan—whose envoys, perhaps, speculated as to whispers in Tokyo's younger military set.

Zioncheck at Play
Americans saw stocks at a new peak and heard cheerful prophecies but some wise old heads shook.

Congress was about to convene; a Presidential year was coming. Representative Zioncheck, playing telephone operator in a Washington apartment house, rang bells all over the place. "The Music Goes Round and Round," boys yodeled in Times Square; while sit-at-homes read "It Can't Happen Here."

Next morning: "Gene" Talmadge became Georgia's financial dictator by legislative default.

Philadelphia mummies lampooned AAA and the "Chain Letter Brigade."

Kansas City police sought Public Enemy No. 1, Alvin Karpis, reported whereabouts. British reporters pursued Colonel Lindbergh, fugitive from fame.

Moscow grandfathers explained the significance of newly legalized Christmas trees to children who never had seen them before.

AAA Ruled Out
President Roosevelt's serious voice, within a week, rolled through 250 broadcasting stations in a night message to Congress, assailing autocrats at home and abroad, and challenging his critics.

"AAA Demolished in 6-3 Supreme Court Decision," headlines soon blazed.

"The young brain trusters caught the socialists in swimming and they ran away with their clothes." Al Smith snorted and Liberty Leaguers chortled.

"The brown derby," Joe Robinson replied, "has been discarded for the high hat."

"You haven't heard the 'alf of it," a wit opined. But not all of the pin-ball-playing public caught on, even though "The Literary Digest" poll was showing 62 per cent out of sympathy with the New Deal.

Talmadge Gains Power.

George V Dies

17 Die in Air Crash

Surgeons in New York had to operate by match light when a power system darkened much of Manhattan.

Many Notables Die.
At 11:55 p.m., January 20, Lord Dawson of Penn turned from a sickbed at Sandringham to the Prince of Wales and said:

"Your Majesty, your father is dead."
"This man," John Masefield wrote, "was king in England's direst need."

"In the black-battle years, after hope was gone
"His courage was a flag men rallied on . . ."

Rudyard Kipling, John Gilbert, S. L. "Roxy" Rothafel and George W. Wickersham died that same month, and 17 persons perished in an Arkansas swamp in an inexplicable air crash.

But from Little America same word that Lincoln Ellsworth and his co-pilot, feared lost for seven weeks, were alive and safe.

Governor Hoffman, meanwhile, "just had" to relieve Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Next—February.

EMBATTLED MINERS ROUT STRIKE BREAKERS

About 100 non-union workers, who attempted to break a strike of metal miners at Park City, Utah, were chased out of town by the strikers after a bloody fight in which 40 men were injured. The battling strikers are shown hot on the heels of the fleeing men on the outskirts of town. (Associated Press Photo)

Wings For Sally

By BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Philip Page, young publisher of the Warrenton Courier, falls in love with his attractive society editor, Sally Warren, who can't forget her former fiancé. In his campaign for better living conditions, Philip is fighting the property-owning father of Mary Morris. Sally is staying with Mary, who accuses Philip of being a detective engaged by Morris. She accuses McDonald, one of Morris' discharged mill workers, of firing the Morris-owned theater and has him jailed. Sally envisions on Benton and Morris, then tells Philip.

Chapter 35

Sally Plays Detective

"I'm no detective," said Sally. "But I've got an idea about this. You're working on the proof of McDonald's innocence."

"I'm trying to find the man that Benton used to help him," said Philip. "That's all that can save McDonald, even though he has your father fighting for him."

"Then I'll work on Giles Benton," said Sally. "I'll find out who Marty is, and I'll bet she'll unravel a thing or two."

"I don't like your turning detective," said Philip. "You stick to your desk and stay away from Benton."

"I'll do my work, of course," said Sally with a mischievous smile. "But my time after office hours is my own."

"So you can be impudent, too," said Philip. "I'm finding out new things about you, Sally."

"I develop into a good detective, I say leave your employ," said Sally. "There must be a career for a really talented lady detective."

"You might apply to Giles Benton," Philip suggested. "If I'm not mistaken you've found favor with him."

Sally made a wry face. "No thank you. I'll stick to my desk and wait for a better offer."

"There is a better offer waiting for you," Philip said, looking at her steadily.

Sally flushed. Perhaps he was teasing her. She could never be sure whether he was serious or not. He had seemed serious enough the other night, when he had said he loved her.

"I must get to work," said Sally, and fled to the outer office.

She did not see Philip again that day, except when he passed her door on the way to his own office. It was long, hot day, and Sally was glad to get away at five o'clock.

She stopped by the hospital to see May, but she was not allowed to go in. May was "doing nicely" the nurse informed her, but she was still suffering from the effects of ether. Sally left her telephone number and went on to the Morris house.

There was still time for a dip in the pool before dinner. Sally changed into her bathing suit and went down to the pool, where she found Mary in a deck chair, with Bob Dawes close beside her.

"Darling, I'm so glad you've come," said Mary. "Bob's been asking me to marry him all afternoon and I'm absolutely worn out refusing him. In another hour my resistance will be broken down and I may say 'yes' to get rid of him."

"Will you go to dinner with me, Sally?" asked Bob Dawes, his face deeply flushed.

"I told Dennison you'd both have dinner here," said Mary. "I'm going out and you shall have it alone together."

Sally felt sorry for Bob, whom she thought deserved better treatment at Mary's hands. She did not care for Mary's cruel teasing.

"Mary can't order our lives," she told Bob airily. "Of course I'll have dinner with you—anywhere you say."

"If you don't mind too much, I wish you'd have dinner here as I asked you to," said Mary coldly. "Giles Benton has gone away for a day or two and since I have to go out Dad will be all alone. He hates eating dinner alone. That's why I only ever have a chance to go out. I've counted on you and Sally to stay."

"All right," said Sally. "We'll stay and keep him company, won't we, Bob?"

Bob nodded unhappily. Sally knew better than to argue with Mary when she was in this mood. One could only hold out long enough, but there was no fun in winning over Mary. Sally was curious about Mary's real reason for asking them to stay. She could not believe that Mr. Morris needed or wanted their company.

The Butler Supplies A Clue

AS for Giles Benton being out of town, Sally was sure that meant he had gone to see "Marty." Hadn't he told the mysterious Marty to leave town, and that he would see her in a few days? If she knew where Giles had gone, she would know where Marty was.

Dennison, the butler, unexpectedly supplied her with the information she wanted.

"Do you know where Mr. Benton went, Dennison?" Sally asked, when she happened to encounter the butler in the hall as she was going down to dinner.

"Yes, Miss Warren. I was putting the bags in the car when Mr. Benton asked me about a short road to Hillcrest. I believe they're working on the highway but there is a good dirt road. Mr. Benton likes the golf course at Hillcrest."

There was a shade of disapproval in Dennison's voice, as if he deplored her interest in Giles Benton.

"Thank you, Dennison," said Sally. She went into the library to join Bob Dawes, still puzzling about Giles Benton. Hillcrest was a resort town for wealthy tourists from the north. Its golf course was famous and it was quite possible that Giles had gone there to play. If, on the other hand, he had gone to see Marty, she must be a woman of wealth. No one who stayed at Hillcrest could be other than prosperous.

"I don't fancy spending the evening in this morgue," Bob Dawes greeted her. "What about going out and finding some place to dance later?"

"Good," said Sally. "What about Hillcrest?"

"Anything you say," agreed Bob. "They've got a swell orchestra at the Gray Inn this week."

Sally was amazed by her own daring. If she and Bob Dawes went to the Gray Inn, they could scarcely fail to see Giles Benton if he were there. All the visitors at Hillcrest gathered in the ball room of the Gray Inn to dance in the evenings.

"There's Benton!"

THE detour to Hillcrest was little more than a country lane that ran between cultivated fields and lonely tracks of scrub pine. There were few farm houses along the 40-mile stretch and not a single filling station. Thick yellow clouds of dust were stirred up by the car, so that Sally and Bob were obliged to close the car windows.

They passed only one person on the road, a single motorcyclist who looked grotesque as the car lights showed him in helmet and goggles. Hillcrest was gay with colored lights and music. A number of little tables had been placed on the terrace, European style, and Bob and Sally paused at one of them for a cool drink before they went in to dance.

"It was pretty swell of you to come out with me, Sally," said Bob gratefully. "I don't mind telling you I was feeling pretty low."

Sally felt suddenly guilty to think that she had brought Bob to Hillcrest in the hope of seeing Giles Benton, but she could comfort herself with the knowledge that Bob seemed to like it.

"Don't be so nice to Mary," Sally advised. "She takes you too much for granted because you never cross her or talk back to her. Mary thrives on indifference."

"Not from me," sighed Bob. "She doesn't care whether I'm indifferent or not. In fact, I think she'd rather like it if I stayed away and left her alone entirely."

"Don't you believe that," said Sally comfortingly. "She'd miss you. She likes going places with you better than she does going with anyone else."

Sally felt justified in giving Bob this small comfort. He knew that it was true, although Mary would never admit it. Sally forgot Bob as she searched the small tables in her neighborhood for a sight of Giles Benton.

"Looks like she wants to be with me," Bob grumbled. "She made that engagement for dinner tonight with Philip Page after I got to town."

"Philip Page?" Sally's mind came back to what Bob was saying.

"Sure. That's who she's with. She's fallen for him."

"Let's go and dance," said Sally. "There was no reason why Philip should not have dinner with Mary, but Sally was not pleased to hear about it. Surely Philip would not stoop to extracting information from Mary by taking her to dinner. The only other explanation for his taking her was one Sally did not somehow like to believe—that Philip wanted to take her to dinner."

"I don't suppose you'll ever come out with me again," said Bob contritely. "I'm such good company. Gripping about my own affairs all the time."

"That's all right," said Sally, feeling that they were pretty even, since she was not giving much thought to Bob's affairs.

It was Bob, after all, who first saw Giles Benton. He and Sally were dancing near a door which opened on a small balcony overlooking the terrace.

"There's our friend Benton," Sally demanded eagerly. "balcony—with a lady. I bet he knew anyone down in, outside of Warrenton."

"I crept over Bob's shoulder, but the angle of the wall cut off her view of the couple on the balcony. "I'd like to ask Bob to stroll on the balcony with her. He would think it strange, and besides she knew he disliked Benton for some unexplained reason."

To her surprise, Giles Benton himself sought them out as they were leaving the ball room for the terrace.

The list broke out of the recent doldrums in the second hour when heavy offerings of industrial leaders caused a lowering or withdrawal of bids in all directions, and losses ranged to three or more points.

The ticker tape was behind floor dealings at the height of the selling wave. The downward spurge did not last long, however. Extreme declines had been reduced in many instances near the fourth hour.

Near the final hour extreme losses were substantially reduced or cancelled in many instances. Transfers approximated 2,000,000 shares.

duction Credit Association, a position he held at the time of his death. Mr. Galloway continued to operate the large farm at the same place after he moved to this city.

He joined the Grimesland Masonic order immediately after reaching the required age of 21 years and was named master of the lodge at the first election of officers after becoming a member. He has since been elected to the same position and was to have held the post during the ensuing year. He also was a Shriner.

He has taken an active part in civic activities and at the time of his death was president of the Kiwanis club. He was a steward of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church and was president of the Baracca class. Prior to moving his membership here he had taken an active part in the old Salem Methodist church in Oxford, having served as superintendent of the Sunday school and in other capacities. He joined that church before he grew to manhood.

He was a member of the Greenville chapter number 50, R. A. M., and of Bethlehem Commandery, number 29, of Greenville.

His activities in politics included two terms as representative in the state legislature. At the time of his death he was secretary of the Pitt county Democratic Executive committee. He was a member of the county Board of Education, a post he held many years. He also served his home community of Chocod on the local school board.

Mr. Galloway was educated in the public schools of the county, the old high school at Chocowinity, the Baptist Junior college which formerly operated at Winterville, and at the University of North Carolina.

He was married to Miss Lena May Johnson, daughter of the late James M. and Rachael Smith Johnson, of Davie county on June 13, 1913. In addition to his wife, he survived by one son, J. C. Galloway, Jr., and one sister, Mrs. E. B. Thomas of Gallatin, Tenn. A large number of other near relatives survive.

after the slaying he was called to Robersonville in an effort to secure finger prints.

Watson was arrested soon after the murder which was described by Capt. Dorsey as one of the most cruel he had ever investigated. He said after Holiday was hit on the head, he was dragged to a room in the filling station and unmercifully clubbed on the head with some blunt instrument.

Careful Cutting Of Christmas Greens Urged by Holmes

State Forester Points to Diminishing Supply of Evergreens in Asking Care Be Exercised

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Dec. 18.—Unless North Carolinians exercise greater care in the cutting of Christmas greens, it will only be a matter of a few years before it will be necessary to import from other sections the greater portion of the supply, State Forester J. S. Holmes warned today.

During recent years, a great industry built on supplying holly and other greens from this state to markets in other parts of the country has declined materially because of the steadily diminishing supply, the State forester pointed out.

Already the supply of some of the more valuable Christmas trees and decorations has almost entirely vanished from some sections of the state, while in others they are becoming extremely scarce, necessitating a close search and hauling for a considerable distance, the State forester said.

Mr. Holmes urged careful selection of greens to be gathered and care in cutting in order to assure future production and the least damage to the tree or plant.

In cutting Christmas trees and greens, using such popular growth 1913. In addition to his wife, he spruce. Mr. Holmes suggested that the policy of thinning the thicker stands, instead of taking the last tree. Leaving of a stand of trees will provide a source of continuous supply he advised.

The State forester also urged observance of the law, which makes the cutting of any form of growth within 100 yards of a public highway without permission of the owner a misdemeanor. He advises care in pruning trees for decorations by not taking more than 20 per cent of the leaf surface and the protection of the trunk of the tree.

So thorough has been the depletion of the supply of the more desirable types of Christmas greens in some parts of the country, Mr. Holmes continues, as to open the way for the cultivation of a supply. He suggests consideration of this procedure in North Carolina.
