REACTION OVER HOEY MESSAGE IS FAVORABLE

Some Disappointment At Stand on Liquor, However

DECISION ASKED BY REFERENDUM

School Forces Also Showing Little Rejoicing Over Recommendations on Pay

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Reaction to the inaugural message of Governor Clyde R. Hoey is for the most part very favorable, according to comment heard following its delivery.

Most observers agree that it was sufficiently definite in dealing with things which are popular and possible and sufficiently indefinite on matters that are controversial and unpopular to leave both Governor Hoey and the general assembly plenty of leeway in dealing with them.

There is considerable disappointment among the liquor control forces because Governor Hoey reiterated his personal belief in prohibition and in the principle of a state-wide referendum on the liquor question if any change is made to liquor control and liquor stores.

It is already generally agreed that those favoring the enactment of some form of liquor control, and without a state-wide referendum, have a decided majority in both houses of the general assembly over the bone drys, and that the chief strategy of the drys is going to be to insist upon a state-wide referendum. Thus the declaration by Governor Hoey in opposition to any repeal of prohibition without such a referendum was music to the drys.

The reaction from the audience of Governor Hoey's pronouncement with regard to liquor was not so favorable, however. Only scattered applause greeted his reiteration of his own personal dryness and his belief in prohibition as the means of dealing with liquor, also his statement favoring a state-wide referendum.

Among all those on the rostrum with the Governor, including the members of the general assembly, the State Supreme Court, state officials and Democratic dignitaries, U. S. Ambassador to Mexico Josephus Daniels and Justice Herriot Clarkson of the State Supreme Court, were the only one observed applauding Governor Hoey's declaration on the liquor question.

Nor is there as much rejoicing among the school forces as had been expected over Governor Hoey's statement of his position with regard to increasing teachers' salaries. For instead of urging the immediate restoration of all past salary cuts for teachers and a 20 per cent increase, such as they are asking, Governor Hoey failed to mention any definite degree of salary increases and said only that "the process of restoration of salaries" must be continued.

It is generally conceded here that this leaves the door wide open for

Victim of Attack Removed Today to Johns Hopkins

Accompanied by two nurses, G. Lem Pleasant left here this morning for Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore where he will undergo an operation in an attempt to save his left eye and another for the removal of a bullet from his head just below his ear.

Mr. Pleasant was brutally attacked and shot Monday night, December 28, by two young white men, declared by police to be Bernice Aspinwall and Bernard Moore.

Mr. Pleasant was taken in an ambulance, Mrs. Pleasant, a sister, Mrs. H. B. Drum, a brother, Bruce Clark and an uncle, J. W. Clark also went with Mr. Pleasant, traveling in an automobile.

Miss Margaret Clark, another sister of Mrs. Pleasant, will go to Baltimore next week when Mrs. Drum will return here.

Mr. Pleasant, who was thought fatally wounded from the assault, has shown remarkable improvement. He has remained "conscious during the entire time."

While officers declare the two men who attacked Mr. Pleasant have been definitely identified, they have run down every available clue to no avail. They express confidence, however, that the pair will be caught sooner or later.

One Against 403!

The only voice raised against emergency neutrality legislation passed by Congress was that of Rep. John T. Bernard (above), new farm-labor congressman from Minnesota. The affirmative vote in the house was 403 but Bernard cast his dissenting ballot alone, contending the Spanish loyalist government should not be denied arms for defense. (Associated Press Photo)

FLANAGAN ON FINANCE BODY

Pitt Solons Get Good Committee Appointments

(Special to Daily Reflector)

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Senator Ernest V. Webb, of Kinston, and Representative Victor S. Bryant, of Durham, were named chairmen of the finance committees in the Senate and House this afternoon.

Senator James A. Bell, of Charlotte, and Representative D. L. (Libby) Ward, of New Bern, were named chairmen of the Senate and House appropriations committees, respectively.

Senator W. G. Clark of Tarboro was named chairman of the senate committee on agriculture, and Representative W. E. Fenner, of Rocky Mount, was named chairman of the house agriculture committee.

Both the Farm Bureau Federation and the Grange had been urging the appointment of Representative W. W. Eagles of Edgecombe as chairman of the house agriculture committee. Eagles, a banker as well as a farmer, was named chairman of the house committee on banks and banking, while Senator E. G. Flanagan, of Pitt county, was named chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency.

Other committee assignments for Senator Flanagan include: Caswell Training School, finance, institutions for deaf, insurance and penal institutions.

Other important committees and their chairmen are as follows: Education: J. W. Noel, Person county, senate; Hugh G. Horton, Martin, house.

Public Roads: S. Gilmer Sparger, Stokes, senate; Con C. Johnston, Stokes, house.

Counties, Cities and Towns: H. L. Ingram, Randolph, senate; T. C. Stone, Rockingham, house.

Senatorial Districts: Edwin C. Gregory Rowan, senate; Rupert T. Pickens, Jr., Guilford, house.

Judiciary No. 1: Thomas J. Gold, senate; Sam M. Blount, Beaufort, house.

Judiciary No. 2: Archie Gay, Northampton, senate; Walter D. Siler, Chatham, house.

Insurance: J. Benton Stacey, Rockingham, senate; Ernest Gardner, Cleveland, house.

Conservation and Development: Lee L. Gravelly, Nash, senate; Webb Williams, Pasquotank, house.

Manufacturing and Labor: John Sprunt Hill, Durham, house; Geo. Uzzell, Rowan, house.

Elections and Election Laws: Kelly Bennett, Swain, senate; B. C. Jones, Swain, house.

Other committee chairmen of the House include: Engraving bills. (Continued on page four)

McDonald Backers Show Strength In Legislature

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Any thought that the anti-administration followers of Ralph W. McDonald would accept the fact that they are in a minority as a reason for ceasing fire against the powers that be was dispelled early in the legislative session here, not only by the speed with which they tossed an absentee vote repealer into the House hopper, but by the presence of Dr. McDonald himself in Raleigh as the legislature opened.

The professor-politician-law student was not much in evidence in hotel lobby discussions, but he is known to have held several confer-

DIRECT ACTION BEING SOUGHT BY BIG POWERS

France and Britain Attempt Localize Spanish War

BLOCKADE SEEN AS POSSIBILITY

Spurred by Reports of Threats to Future of Gibraltar and French Colonies

(By Associated Press)

Spurred more than ever by authoritative reports of a German-Moroccan incursion threatening both the future of Gibraltar and a French colonial border, Great Britain and France drove ahead toward localizing Spain's war today.

They wanted direct action; a quick, practical plan to keep foreign arms and men from making the civil conflict into even more of a "Little World War."

French officials announced emphatically they could never permit Germany to gain a foothold in Spanish Morocco where thousands of Germans were reported to have conducted a virtual military and commercial invasion.

France and Britain have heard German-supervised fortifications are going up at Ceuta to rival those of nearby Gibraltar; Germans have obtained from Moroccan insurgent rulers of the Moroccan zone numerous concessions giving the land-poor Third Reich a colonial wedge.

Imminent concentrations of British home and Mediterranean fleets and many French warships in the waters off Spain, as well as French consideration of plans to send troops to the Franco-Spanish border, laid the groundwork for a possible arms and men blockade of the war-torn peninsula.

German Parliament Summoned To Meet

Berlin, Jan. 8.—(AP)—The German parliament has been summoned to meet January 30, the beginning of the fifth year of national socialism in Germany, reliable sources reported today.

The purpose reportedly is to chart the future of national socialism. Reports of the coming meeting could not be confirmed in official quarters.

Local Man Victim Of Pickpocket At Raleigh Thursday

F. C. Harding Loses $70 in Cash and Check for $150; Also Suffers Injury on Way to Report Theft

F. C. Harding, dean of the Pitt county bar, attended the inaugural ceremonies in Raleigh yesterday and found the experience anything but a pleasant one.

Mr. Harding was relieved of his pocketbook containing $70 in cash and a check for $150 and when he started to the police station to report that his pockets had been picked his foot slipped, slightly injuring his leg. Mr. Harding was confined to his home today, but was expected to be out shortly.

The Greenville lawyer at first thought that a second check, one for $30, had been stolen with the pocketbook, but later found it in another pocket.

He did not know when the money was stolen as he did not miss it before he went into a cafeteria to eat and discovered the robbery when he started to pay for his meal.

Raleigh police reported a number of other visitors to the capital had been victimized in the same manner.

HUNDREDS DIE OF INFLUENZA

Disease Sweeping Over Nation Claiming Untold Deaths

(By Associated Press)

A sweeping increase in influenza and pneumonia cases over large sections of the United States was reported today by medical authorities. Unseasonably warm weather was said by many to be a contributing cause.

New York, hardest hit of any city, suffered 299 deaths in the last week. Health department officials there predicted the number of cases, now tabulated jointly at 1,814, would begin showing a decrease next week and the influenza outbreak would have completed its course of four or five weeks before the end of January.

The Chicago influenza and pneumonia death rate continued unabated with 710 deaths and 2,980 cases reported since December 1.

Atlanta reported only eight "flu" cases up to December 31 as against 34 on the same date last winter. New Orleans reported only six cases since January 1 but authorities were preparing for an "flu invasion" which they feared visitors might bring.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF AND CHATTER

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—Everybody who is anybody in North Carolina politics converged on Raleigh yesterday for Governor Hoey's inauguration. Foot specialists should be doing a rush business today as the crop of corns and bunions raised in the lobby of the Sir Walter was tremendous.

One of the most unusual scenes staged during the day was acted by Josephus Daniels and Miss Beatrice Cobb when the dignified Ambassador to Mexico rushed up to the Morganton lady and kissed her in full view of the lobby crowd. Miss Cobb, being one of the best newspaper "men" in the state and a smart politician to boot, was not at all disconcerted and played her part like a movie star.

Former Governor and Senator Cameron Morrison was much in evidence through the inauguration day, holding a regular levee in the lobby.

"Governor Hoey was 'all wet' on reappointment, even if he wasn't wet enough on the liquor control problem," said Representative J. C.

Hobbs of New Hanover in commenting on the inaugural address. New Hanover, incidentally, would lose a representative (maybe Mr. Hobbs) should the House be reappointed on a basis of the 1930 census.

Ralph W. McDonald, whose anti-administration followers are expected to make quite a loud noise in the legislature, was quite in evidence. He said he might be in Raleigh on "social visits" from time to time during the session.

BILL OFFERED REAPPORTIONMENT MEMBERSHIP

PITT WOULD KEEP ITS MEMBERS

House Adopts And Sends to Senate Resolution Calling For Six-Day Work Week

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—(AP)—A proposal to give Buncombe, Mecklenburg and Guilford counties each another member of the house of representatives, and to take one away from New Hanover and Rockingham, was introduced in the legislature today.

The house proposal followed quickly on the recommendation in the inaugural message by Governor Hoey that the legislature provide for reapportionment of its membership on the basis of the 1930 census.

Both divisions got a bill to add to associate justices to the supreme court under a new amendment to the constitution.

Each held a short meeting and recessed for a late afternoon session at which committee appointments were to be announced.

The house adopted and sent to the senate a resolution calling for a regular six-day work week after the revenue and apportionment bills are introduced next week. It has been customary in past legislatures to hold protracted sessions Saturdays and night meetings Mondays.

Under the reapportionment bill Guilford and Mecklenburg counties would have four representatives each, Buncombe, Wake and Forsyth would have three and two each would be allotted Durham, Gaston, Halifax, Johnston, Pitt, Robeson, Rowan and Wayne. Each other county would have one.

The supreme court proposal would raise the number of associate justices from four to six.

The house bill to increase the supreme court membership was introduced by Representative Blount of Beaufort and others, and in the senate a similar proposal was offered by Senator Bell, of Mecklenburg; Rodman of Beaufort, Gravelly of Nash, and others.

Then they were beheaded and their bodies cut to small bits and thrown to the village dogs.

Balanced Federal Budget To Be Accomplished Only By Private Reemployment

DEPENDS UPON RELIEF NEEDS

President Declares in His Budget Message If Employers Will Absorb Unemployed Income and Outgo Can Be Kept in Definite Balance

Washington, Jan. 8.—A bulky message asking billions of new appropriations and putting a balanced federal government squarely up to private reemployment efforts, went to the 75th congress today from President Roosevelt.

Included in a near billion dollar national defense fund, was money for starting two new battleships.

Mr. Roosevelt, calling attention to new naval armament planned by four powers, announced: "If we are not to reduce our navy by obsolescence, the replacement of capital ships can no longer be deferred."

Simultaneously with the planning of new national defense moves, congress sped toward the White House legislation to tighten the neutrality law by forbidding munitions shipments to Spain, and President Roosevelt promptly signed it into law.

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt sent a multi-billion dollar budget to congress today in a message bluntly leaving a complete balance of federal income and outgo up to industrial re-employment efforts.

With certain exceptions, Mr. Roosevelt told congress his new 1938 budget "is in balance" and would remain so if later relief requirements do not exceed an estimated $1,537,123,000. He accepted $401,815,000 for debt reduction.

Then, forecasting a new public debt peak next June 30 of about $35,000,000,000 despite sharply increased income, the President added:

"It is my conviction that if every employer or potential employer will undertake during the next six months to give employment to persons now receiving government help, the national budget thereafter can be kept definitely in balance."

"Without such cooperation on the part of the employers, the question of a balanced budget for 1938 must of necessity remain an open one for the very good reason that the government does not propose next year, any more than during the past four years, to allow American families to starve."

The budget message, covering especially the year beginning next July 1, but including also requests for money to carry relief through June 30, was read to both senate and house by clerks.

No new taxes were added. The President stressed "if im- (Continued on page four)

FATAL WRECKS AT HIGH MARK

Annual Report Shows 153 Persons Killed in Eastern N. C.

The annual report of Lieut. Lester Jones for the Eastern division of the State Highway patrol, issued today, showed that 153 persons were fatally injured in traffic accidents in the 31 counties in the section during 1936.

These deaths resulted from 1,133 wrecks, in which an additional 849 persons were injured.

During the 12 months the 40 patrolmen in the division arrested 1,183 persons for driving while under the influence of whiskey. Total arrests for all charges amounted to 3,225. Of this number 7,947 were convicted and 278 acquitted.

Fines meted out by judges following the convictions totalled $79,841.94 and costs $51,901.65. Property recovered was valued at $49,348.80. The force collected $123,040 in revenue, making a grand total of $304,132.39.

States Requested To Ratify Child Labor Amendment

President, Unheeding Dispute Over Curbing Court Powers, Attempts To Achieve NRA Goal

Washington, Jan. 8.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, unheeding the dispute over curbing the Supreme court, made a second brisk move to achieve NRA goals today by seeking to speed ratification of the child labor amendment.

In letters to the governors and governors-elect of 19 states where legislatures meet this winter he asked favorable action on the proposal pending since 1924. Only 12 more states need to act to make it the twenty-second amendment, in as much as 24 states have ratified.

Congressional leaders considered the action another indication of presidential intransigence on labor legislation.

Local Man Arrested Driving Drunk Count

John Harrington is scheduled to be given a hearing in City court tomorrow morning on charges of driving drunk as a result of having driven his automobile into the front of the Rouse printing company on Evans street.

Harrington was arrested by city officers. He had just returned from Raleigh where he took part in the inaugural ceremonies as a member of the local unit of the National Guard.

Liquor Control Backers Show More Determination

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel.

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 8.—The task of an already harassed legislature in dealing with the perplexing liquor question was made even more difficult today by Governor Clyde R. Hoey's inaugural address expression of opinion that the law makers should do nothing about the matter until the people of the state have had an opportunity to vote upon it.

City's Fire Loss Shows Decline

Loss by fire in Greenville during 1936 amounted to $34,467.50, far below the $66,920 experienced in the previous year, the annual report of Fire Chief George Gardner disclosed today.

The largest loss from any one fire last year was $31,000 caused by the destruction of the Blount Fertilizer factory. With the exception of this blaze, the damage was only $3,467.50 during the entire 13 months.

A $50,500 fire which destroyed the J. E. Winslow stables in 1935 accounted for most of the loss that year. Other than that fire, damage was estimated at only $16,430.

During December fires in Greenville resulted in loss estimated at $100.

Chief Gardner, in revealing the sharp decrease in fire loss during the year, said the citizens themselves were responsible. He declared that the fire department could not prevent conflagrations, could only check them.

He reiterated the advantage of citizens exhibiting extreme caution, thereby keeping down the damage and resulting in a lower insurance rate.

NORTH CAROLINA AND THE LIQUOR QUESTION

Governor Hoey's 16-point plan submitted to the General Assembly in his inaugural address yesterday was a well-mapped program and if carried out even to a major extent bespeaks the progress of this state during his administration.

There is one part of the program in particular in which we disagree with Mr. Hoey and that is the resubmission of the liquor question to a referendum in this state at this time. We are not opposed to the wishes of the majority of the people if these same people will back up their ballots by observing the laws for which they have voted, and using every effort to have others do the same.

There is no argument in favor of liquor itself, and if a prohibition law in North Carolina would rid the state of liquor, we believe, the vast majority of our people would favor it. But our past experience has shown clearly that under prohibition, liquor has run freely through the evils surrounding moonshining and bootlegging.

Unless we can rid the state of liquor under prohibition, which we do not believe is possible, then the next best plan is legalized control of the sale of liquor, backed up by an intensive campaign for temperance in which the churches, schools, and homes should unite in teaching the rising generations the evil effects of the use of liquor.

Remove the desire for liquor and the state will do away with liquor, for without a market the liquor business will die. So long as there is a market for it, liquor will be sold either legally or illegally, in North Carolina.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Crossing to New York, Madame Karsnadoff, the Russian dancer, arouses the interest of Bigelow, the young American whose home is Paris. They meet when Bigelow finds Woody Taylor, millionaire playboy, drunkenly invading the dancer's cabin, and removes him. Bigelow is coming to America in response to his aunt's appeal that he check up on a Count Vronski whom her step-child Anne may marry.

Chapter Four A Little Lady In Black

MRS. WINTHROP PHELPS, the sister of Bigelow's mother, had been married three times and each of her husbands had been wealthy and important. She had divorced the second, but had buried the first and third. Now, at 60, she was alone in the world, save for a nephew—himself—and her step-daughter, Anne Phelps.

She lived in the old Phelps mansion—one of the last surviving residences on Fifth avenue. Outside her walls, times had changed almost unbelievably, but inside, everything seemed exactly as Bigelow vaguely remembered it.

The butler who took his hat and coat told him that she was waiting in the drawing room. He found her there in her big chair by the fire—a little lady in black who managed to look like a big lady, somehow. Perhaps her calm dignity of bearing had something to do with that, for she was 60 and did not try to conceal the fact.

He advanced to kiss her—and then stood back to look at her, as she waited with smiling brown eyes. "Thank God," said he, "for something which doesn't change in a constantly changing world."

"But I do change. I have changed," she answered. "My hair wasn't white when you went away. If you have forgotten that important item, I assure you, I have not."

"Unessential," he assured her. "You are the same."

"I suppose what you mean, really, is that I am old-fashioned," she nodded, "and of course it's true. Anne is always telling me that. But I can't be one of these dreadful old women with dyed hair and painted faces, their poor outmoded figures squeezed and dieted into modern frocks. I don't want to seem any younger than I am. And I don't want to be any younger."

Another woman much in evidence here was Miss Ethel Parker of Gates county, another able Democratic leader in eastern North Carolina and at present the leading candidate for the post of vice chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee. Just relinquished by Mrs. Spilman. Most observers concede that Miss Parker will be elected with little or no opposition when the committee meets here within the next few weeks.

Former Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain of Rocky Mount was as usual much in evidence in hotel lobbies Thursday. He has not yet announced what he is now running for, but many observers think he will run for Congress against Congressman John Kerr.

REACTION OVER HOEY MESSAGE IS VERY FAVORABLE

(Continued from page one) The general assembly to increase salaries anywhere from one per cent to 20 per cent, without any danger of a kick-back on Governor Hoey. It is understood that the Advisory Budget Commission, with whom Governor Hoey sat during its hearings and deliberations, will recommend a salary increase of only 50 per cent for the school teachers.

There was also some disappointment because Governor Hoey did not come out for a nine months school term at state expense, at least from some of the larger cities and towns, although this was not expected from more than a few of the more extreme school group.

The school forces and advocates of an enlarged school system were pleased at his advocacy of a 12 grade school system, free textbooks and unification of the State School Commission with the State Department of Public Instruction. Many agree that most of the leaders of the school forces will be glad to forego salary increases if they can only get control of the School Commission and the spending of the $24,600,000 or more of school money each year.

Perhaps the most popular pronouncement made by Governor Hoey was during his discussion of the highway system and its problems, when he flat-footedly advocated a further reduction in automobile license tags, the reorganization of the highway commission on a district basis, the ending of all diversion of highway funds and the expenditure of a larger portion of the highway revenues on the secondary or county roads.

Governor Hoey probably received more applause on his declaration for lower automobile license than on anything else, while there was also much applause when he de-

I've lived my 60 years quite gracefully and creditably and I want everyone to know it. But sit down, my dear boy. Walters will bring tea presently. You probably didn't expect tea, but I still have it. Everywhere else they have cocktails, now, instead. "How nice," murmured Bigelow. "Tea, I mean. I like tea."

"They Call It A Hunch" "SO YOU couldn't find out anything about Vronski?" she asked then. "No. Nothing beyond the fact that there is such a man."

"I knew that," said Mrs. Phelps dryly. "Well—it was sweet of you to inquire for me and even sweeter to come all this way to help me. Maybe you'll be able to learn more here than you could over there. You're my only hope."

"What makes you so sure he's no good?" asked Bigelow. "I don't know exactly. We used to call it intuition but I think they call it a hunch, nowadays. Just a kind of feeling, you know. For one thing, he's too good looking and too charming. Oh, much too charming."

"How did Anne meet him?" "God knows," cried Mrs. Phelps, "but things have changed in America since my day, my dear. Introductions mean nothing any more. Anyone can meet anyone in the most casual fashion. Anne says that's the way it ought to be in a republic. But I rather liked society. I know we are supposed not to have classes in this country but we had them until the war and I liked it better. There were the old families who may have thought themselves a little better than the rest, but they were able to set an example. Now, the old families are gone, only the names are left, and nobody sets any example. Anne has a studio where she goes to paint and when the fancy strikes her, she stays there all night. Alone—I am told—and I believe her. The odd thing is that nobody thinks anything of it! And she seems to be on friendly terms with prize-fighters, motion picture stars, restaurateurs—even with a man who leads a dance band in a cafe. Vronski seems a pleasant young man but not—precisely the sort of person my mother would have encouraged me to receive. And Anne is not an exception. Frankly, I'm bewildered, my dear. I sit here and think about the way the world is altering and I wonder what the future will be like and thank God I shall not be here to know. I try to adjust myself but I can't, so I cling to the old order of things."

"Walters came in, followed by a soft-footed footman and they set out the tea things."

"I told Anne you were coming," said Mrs. Phelps, "and she may come in. Do you remember her at all?" "Vaguely," he admitted. "Yellow curls; a button nose; fat legs in short socks."

"Mrs. Phelps laughed. "Yes—well—she's improved, fortunately."

"Good," murmured Bigelow. "Perhaps it might be more tactful to pretend that you have forgotten her altogether," said her step-mother.

"She isn't Really Wilful!" THE butler, having approved the arrangements, dismissed the footman with a slight inclination of his gray head and departed abruptly, closing the door behind him.

"We won't wait for Anne," said Mrs. Phelps, reaching out a small, ivory-colored, faintly wrinkled hand for the teapot. Bigelow thought how like his mother's hand it was.

"You don't think she'll come in?" asked Bigelow, as she began to pour. "Her decision in the matter is absolutely unpredictable."

"Is she as pretty as she is wilful?" "She isn't really wilful," said Mrs. Phelps, pausing to consider him thoughtfully. "It's simply that she is an individual with definite likes and dislikes, definite ideas on most subjects, and a definite determination to retain her liberty of thought and action. I know that that is so; she added whimsically, "because she has explained it to me so many times."

"She continued to pour the tea. "Will she succeed in retaining her liberty of thought and action if she marries Count Vronski?" asked Bigelow.

"She seems to think so. He subscribes to all her convictions. Philip Whitelaw didn't. He had a way of smiling at her that I can well believe was irritating. And when her behavior seemed to him too unconventional, he permitted himself to criticize her. The lordly male attitude isn't so popular with young women as it used to be."

"I've noticed that," grinned Bigelow. "Why haven't you thought of marrying?" asked his aunt, moving the silver plate of scones toward him. "I have thought of it."

"I know. You are contented as you are. But one can't have children without marrying. At least, not yet. I suppose that innovation will become popular, too, presently!" (Copyright, 1937, Frederick Jackson)

Bigelow and Anne meet, tomorrow, and a dinner date is set.

Bigelow looked at his aunt and said, "Thank God for something which doesn't change."

The reaction to Governor Hoey's declaration in favor of more and better labor legislation, especially to regulate the hours of employment for men as well as women in industry, is generally favorable and little opposition is expected to develop when legislation along these lines is presented. His advocacy of complete compliance with the social security program of the Federal government was expected and most observers believe the general assembly will follow his leadership along these lines without much opposition.

MCDONALD BACKERS SHOW STRENGTH IN LEGISLATURE

(Continued from page one) The anti-administration men are expected, too, to make a loud noise whenever the sales tax is up for discussion, though it is thought unlikely they will be able to do more than insure the repeal of the levy on the absolute necessities such as flour, meat, etc. and on hotel and restaurant meals.

But it is predicted on all sides that the man who received more than 200,000 votes for governor will be heard from repeatedly.

DISCUSSING PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THIS COMMUNITY. IN ALL CASES NAMES MUST ACCOMPANY ANY COMMUNICATION. Please Make Your Discussion As Short As Possible.

DO YOU REMEMBER? To the older ones, these lines recalling some persons, places and things which were a part of the life of a not so remote past: Persons still living will remember and be interested in some of these: Do you remember when there was just one daily mail coming to the town of Greenville? It came from Tarboro on some kind of vehicle. Whether one man brought it for years or who that man was is unknown to me. I was told that he always blew a trumpet when he entered the town.

Can you recall the name of the editor of the "Tar River Beacon" or just how long the paper was published?

Or young Dr. Tyrrell and his sad death? Or a young merchant, a Jew, Max Stern, who returned to New York and became quite wealthy?

Or when party feeling ran so high that there was a terrible fight within the courthouse, the participants being locked in a room by an unknown party? Mr. Wilson was killed; Mr. Smith was shot through his arm.

When Dr. Bernard committed suicide? When there was only one beggar to be seen on the streets, a white woman known from her untidy appearance as "Sweet Annie"?

When the younger population greeted "Walker," a ventriloquist, and his puppets, Snow and Dennis, with true juvenile delight? He came court week. My brother would rehearse the show for me.

Or when Taft & Ernul kept the only drug store in the county? Can you tell us what was known as the "Cotton Plant" and the "Vista"?

Where and by whom was the "Greenville Express" published? Who was the first Pitt County Superintendent of Schools after the Civil War?

As we enter the New Year perhaps some thoughts on the days of tallow candles, home-made shoes, tan yats, cradles and scythes, reapings; when the wheat was threshed by horses' feet and winnowed in wooden trays; when our flour was ground at Patrick's mill near Roundtree's church, may not be amiss.

Hoping all who read this the happiest New Year of all. I will just let you GUESS WHO.

Man About Manhattan

New York—When he was interviewed on his return from the south, he said: "Down there they like to talk about tar, and you can see crosses burning in the hills. It's an every-day occurrence for people to call you up and say, 'By the way, Joe, tonight it's your turn to bring fiddlers.'"

When asked if "Junjo" (a musical comedy of circus life staged in an opera house) would be his last venture of a spectacular nature, he said: "Certainly not. I am now working on a musical comedy that takes place in water."

"No, I'll stage it in one of the Great Lakes—the one close to Cleveland."

When he was asked to describe a village he visited in east Prussia, he said: "It reminded me of a road company production of 'The Student Prince.'"

When he signed a contract in Fort Worth, Tex., to lend his showmanship to the centennial exposition, he leaned back in his swivel chair, "Gentlemen," he said, "I'll make Texas the biggest state in the Union."

When a reporter cornered him in the lobby during the intermission at a theatrical premiere and remarked, "Isn't it strange to see you here?" he said: "I'll be stranger than that if you see me after the next act. This show smells."

When a columnist asked him, "Shall we dress for you: New Year's Eve party?" he replied: "Why the hell should we dress? For each other?"

And when that same writer inquired, "But don't you ever dress, even for the theater?" he answered: "No, but I make one of the boys dress, just to prove that the boy has a dress suit."

When he was asked for a statement on surrealist art, he said: "Sure, I attended the exhibition, and as I came out I realized what an ultra-conservative I was."

When asked for additional comment on the surrealists, he said: "They really are pikers. I could take Local No. 1 of the stagehand's union and put on a better exhibition!"

When Katharine Cornell and Noel Coward agreed to exchange matinee days, so that each could see the other in their current productions, he exclaimed: "I always thought Coward was anxious to get Cornell in his stock company."

Washington Daybook

Washington — Humming away on a musty side street in Jersey City is a little barwire-enclosed factory which suddenly has become a sort of "Sarajevo incident" from which may spring, not war, but machinery for peace.

The assassination at Sarajevo precipitated the world war. The discovery that one Robert Cuse, naturalized American, was fitting out planes in his little Jersey City factory to ship to Spain, has precipitated more energetic stirrings for safer neutrality than this country has felt since the World war.

Its immediate effect is to give President Roosevelt a lever such as he has not had before to pry from Congress a neutrality act that fits his own views.

At it stands now, he can embargo shipments of arms and war instruments, such as planes, only when two or more nations are at war.

With the typical Roosevelt facility for finding a nail to hit on the head when he wants to hit one, the President took up the case of Robert Cuse and his planes.

The insistent opposition he met last session to granting him the wider discretion he sought in applying neutrality regulation already had made itself widely heard before opening of the new congress.

Of course, there was talk of going only so far as to extend the neutrality act to cover civil wars. But those who tried last session to put across the President's desire for more latitude in meeting unexpected situations, such as the Spanish affair, have begun talking more confidently this time of taking away some of the limiting features of the law.

Under the present law the President is compelled to embargo arms when he finds there is war between two or more nations. Now there is rising talk of giving him authority to impose embargoes only when he deems it wise in the interest of preserving peace.

Opposition to granting greater latitude to the President hasn't melted, by any means. Some members of congress suspect the public got a real scare out of the Cuse case and will speak loudly for tighter and higher walls of neutrality to safeguard the country.

Unmistakable, in any event, is the influence of Mr. Cuse and his airplanes toward revising the nation's peace machinery, regardless of whether it takes the form of freeing the President's hand or of backing, badger-like, deeper into a hole of isolation.

Question About CARDUI

Periodical Pains. "Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?" Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods. This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others. Cardui is purely vegetable, liquid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

Question About CARDUI. Periodical Pains. "Why do so many women take Cardui for functional pains of menstruation?" Each dose of Cardui contains a purely vegetable sedative and antispasmodic—that is, a pain-relieving and cramp-relieving medicine that is especially effective at monthly periods. This fact about Cardui (that it helps to relieve the ordinary functional pains of menstruation with a beneficial plant extract, not habit-forming, not objectionable to take) is greatly appreciated by thousands of women. They recommend it to others. Cardui is purely vegetable, liquid in form, and comes in 9-ounce bottles, with full directions for use. Try it! Of course, if it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, two to seven points net advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade buying.

Southern selling increased and by the end of the first half hour March had reacted from 12.49 to 12.45, and prices generally ranged from two points lower to one higher.

By midday trading was quieter and March, which had sold off to 12.42 was selling at 12.43 with prices generally one to seven points net lower.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Jan. 8.—(AP)—Selected stocks resumed the upward in today's market, many issues climbing fractions to a point, and several much more.

The activity was pronounced in the forenoon with the ticker tape frequently behind. A turnover of 800,000 shares was recorded in the first hour. Near the fourth period the activity dwindled appreciably.

Motors and steels were among the few on the selling side. Aircraft shares led the forward tilt.

FEEL WAYNICK TO HOLD POST

Reorganization of Commission Seen As Compromise

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel, Raleigh, Jan. 8.—The recommendation for the reorganization of the State Highway and Public Works Commission on a district basis and its enlargement to ten members, including the chairman, is regarded by a good many observers as being a compromise move on the part of Governor Clyde R. Hoey to placate the enemies of the present highway set-up without sacrificing Chairman Capus M. Waynick.

The anti-Waynick faction, however, believe that if and when the reorganization is perfected, it will exclude Waynick as well as most of the present members of the commission. Friends of Waynick, however, maintain that the present plan of organization, with only five commissioners, and with no districts, is largely responsible for the dissatisfaction with the chairman, since he becomes the focal point for all dissatisfaction, whether it is his fault or the commission's.

If the highway commission is enlarged to ten members, as Governor Hoey advocated, with nine members to be selected from nine administrative districts, and the chairman to be selected from the state at large as general administrative and executive officer, much of the present opposition to and dislike for the commission will be eliminated, many observers here believe.

They point out that when the highway commission was on a district basis, as it was under Governors Cameron Morrison and A. W. McLean, with Frank Page as chairman, there was less opposition to it than ever before. It has only been since the commission was reorganized during the administration of former Governor O. Max Gardner on a state-wide basis and the district system abandoned, that an increased amount of dissatisfaction has developed.

One reason for this is because all those wanting roads, or having complaints had to come to Raleigh to appear before the entire commission. Formerly they took their troubles to their district commissioner and it was only when he could not handle the matters presented that they were brought before the entire body.

Most observers here think the reorganization will help rather than hurt Waynick's chances of being reappointed as chairman of the commission.

BALANCED FEDERAL BUDGET TO BE ACCOMPLISHED ONLY BY PRIVATE REEMPLOYMENT

(Continued from page one) Improvement and economic conditions continue at the present rate, the government "would be able to attain in 1939 a completely balanced budget with full provision for meeting the statutory requirement for debt reduction."

Final relief outlay figures were withheld. Mr. Roosevelt said about $650,000,000 of additional funds would be needed to carry on work relief through June 30.

Including the estimated relief sum, 1938 expenditures would aggregate $7,894,000,000, a drop of $786,000,000 under projected outlay for the current fiscal year. Mr. Roosevelt, citing general improving business conditions forecast next year's receipts at $7,293,000,000.

COLLEGE GAME HERE TONIGHT

To Play Louisburg Trojans in College Gymnasium

The high school basketball game tonight with New Bern will start at 7:30 in order not to conflict with the college game that starts at 8:15. The high school game will be over in time for fans to see both if they so desire.

The East Carolina Teachers College basketball team will meet their second foe in intercollegiate circles tonight at 8 o'clock in the College Gymnasium when they play Coach Marsh's Louisville Trojans.

The game will mark the first one of the season for the Trojans and the second for Coach Bo Farley's quint. The Teachers played Campbell last Wednesday night and lost by the close margin of 20-23.

Probably lineups are as follows: Louisburg—Brinn and Cooper, forwards; Crawley, center; Robinson and Newton, guards, eachers—Stowe and Shelton, forwards; M. K. Martin, center; Powell and Ridenhour, guards.

Industrial High Wins From Ayden Teams

The Industrial High girls won their second game of the season last night by defeating the fast quintet from Ayden to the tune of 14 to 8. The guarding of Mary Whitfield and M. Daniels was superb throughout the game, while the shooting of L. Hemy and D. Morris was far above par.

The local boys' team led the visitors from the opening minutes to the finish. At the end of the third quarter Ayden came up to 18-16 score when T. Foreman looped two shots in from close range. With one minute to play the visitors moved to the 17-18 position which was held to the finish.

The guarding of Evans and the shooting of T. Foreman was outstanding while C. Jones starred for the visitors.

With three referees the game was very fast and cleanly played. Officials: Graves, Mehary, Edwards, Livingstone, Norcott, Slaw, C. Davis, scorekeeper.
