THIRD VICTORY FOR NEW DEAL WON IN COURT

Fifty Per Cent Profit Tax Upheld On Silver Traders

ONLY DECISION READ AT SESSION

Ruling Undoubtedly Was Agreed Upon Before FDR's Call For Liberal View

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The administration today won its third victory this term in the Supreme Court.

By unanimous vote the tribunal held constitutional a 50 per cent tax on profits made by silver traders before enactment of the 1934 law directing the treasury to increase its purchases of that metal for the nation's monetary stock.

The decision undoubtedly was agreed upon before President Roosevelt delivered his message to Congress last week calling for more liberal interpretation of the constitution.

Other decisions favorable to the administration since the present term started last October included an embargo on shipments of arms to Bolivia and Paraguay for their Chaco war, and the Ashurst-Sumner act, prohibiting shipment of prison-made goods into the states that bar their sale.

Justice Van Devanter delivered the silver decision. Only the one decision was delivered today.

All Expenditures Of Seal Sale Fund Shown In Report

Large Number of Tuberculosis Sufferers in Pitt County Aided With Money Derived From Sale

The report of expenditures during the period September through December for the Pitt County Tuberculosis Seal Sale fund was issued today by Mrs. K. B. Pace, treasurer, showing that a large number of sufferers with the disease had been helped.

The report shows that during the period $193.74 was spent in rendering aid to persons in the county.

Milk was purchased for four persons at a total cost of $68.49. X-ray examinations were provided for 10 persons at a cost of $3 each.

Other items listed in the report included pneumothorax, transportation to and from the sanatorium, clothing for patients.

Ten schools in the county were provided with scales purchased from the fund. These schools are Ayden, Farmville, Winterville, Fountain, Grifton, Stokes, Arthur, Farmville colored and two in Greenville.

A report on the 1936 seal sale here will be made in the near future. Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer and general chairman of the campaign, said today.

Two Patrol Members Take Training Here

Two new recruits in the State Highway patrol arrived here today to get in a week's training under the direction of Lieut. Lester Jones, head of the Eastern division of the force, before taking their places in the field.

W. H. Ferrell of Aurora and Prentis Kennedy of Deep Run, the two new officers, will replace E. G. McMullen, who resigned from the post at New Bern and R. W. Arnold of Weldon, who was killed in an accident.

Following the week of training the patrolmen will be sent to New Bern and Weldon, but Lieut. Jones said he had not decided which one to go to New Bern and which to Weldon.

Hoey's Message On Budget To Be Short

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—Governor Hoey said today he planned to send his budget message to the legislature tomorrow.

He based the prediction upon the presumption, he said, that he would receive a copy of the budget commission recommendations by nightfall.

His message, he said, will be short and more a letter of transmittal of the commission's report than anything else.

Scholars report that approximately 150,000 variations in manuscripts of the New Testament are known.

Daughter Of Roosevelt To Wed Republican

Another union of families with opposing views regarding the New Deal appeared on the horizon with the announcement that Eleanor Roosevelt (above), daughter of Mrs. Henry Latrobe Roosevelt and a relative of the President, will be married to Reverdy Wadsworth, son of Rep. James W. Wadsworth, Republican, of New York. (Associated Press Photo)

SEEK TO RUSH ACTS ON LABOR

Legislation to Be Introduced Early in Session

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—All legislation sponsored by and bearing the blessing of the North Carolina Department of Labor will be introduced this week and will be in the hands of committees which Major A. L. Fletcher, Commissioner of Labor, considers "strong and acceptable."

"We are going to get our measures into the committee's hands before the Assembly gets tied up on the money bills," Major Fletcher said in discussing the legislative plans of his department.

Chairman of the Senate committee on Manufacturing, Labor and Commerce is Senator John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, who has received the backing of organized labor in all his campaigns. At the head of the House group is Representative George R. Uzzell, Salisbury, serving his third term and who has likewise been supported by union workers at the polls.

Major Fletcher expressed satisfaction with the membership of both committees and said their composition augurs well for rapid and decisive action on any labor proposal.

He did not outline the entire legislative program he has in mind but he did indicate that perhaps the strongest fight his department will make is in support of the so-called "Model" Child Labor act which has been adopted by eight states in less than a year after its proposal.

Victim of Attack To Spend Life in Total Blindness

G. Lem Pleasant will spend the rest of his life in total blindness as a result of a brutal attack on the drug store owner and taxi cab operator by two young white men two weeks ago tonight.

Chief George Clark, father-in-law of the victim, said he had been advised that a number of specialists at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore had declared there was practically no chance of saving either of his eyes. Sight in the right eye was lost as a result of a pistol wound and the left eye was lost as a result of a beating over the head.

Mr. Pleasant was taken to Johns Hopkins last week to be examined by specialists. An examination was made by some of the best members in the profession and the opinion was expressed that he would be totally blind the rest of his life.

Bernard Moore, one of the pair charged with the crime, is being held in jail awaiting trial, probably at a term of Superior court scheduled to be held here next week.

LARGE POWERS MAKE EFFORTS ISOLATE SPAIN

Prepare, However, For Serious Trouble in Morocco

MADRID EXPECTS REBEL ATTACK

France Expected To Follow Britain In Banning Enlistment in Spanish War

(By the Associated Press) Great Britain and France massed warships around Spanish Morocco today as Berlin repeated denials of Nazi troop concentrations in the North African territory.

Officials in Paris, reading declarations from Spanish Moroccan authorities there are no "regular" German troops at Ceuta, held the denial a tacit pledge to evacuate the Nazis from the Mediterranean possession.

(By Associated Press) Great Britain and France prepared a pace on land and sea for trouble in Morocco today, checking the issue directly to General Francisco Franco, dictator-designate of Spain's fascist insurgents.

Adolf Hitler, who denies "regular" German troops have invaded Spanish Morocco, had conciliatory words and expressed desires for "a real reconciliation among peoples" for assembled diplomats in Berlin, but no word on Spain.

Britain moved again to demand directly that interested governments stop sending volunteers to the "Little World War." Simultaneously she banned British enlistments in Spain.

France was due to follow suit and seem believed Italy might also. An Italian commentator intimated Italy would not be too pleased at the prospect of German domination of Mediterranean Morocco.

Berlin remained the question mark. Many believed Hitler would not be apt to stop volunteers from going to Spain or Morocco until the other powers "cooperate" in stopping indirect intervention in the civil war. One form of this, the Germans contend, is Soviet propaganda.

French officials contend the Spanish insurgent authorities in Morocco had indicated they were aware of the dangers of German incursion. They said it was now up to France to see that "new" German contingents do not land there and those Nazi "volunteers" now in the Spanish zone get out.

Otherwise French armed occupation of Spanish Morocco may be the answer.

In mainland Spain Madrid evacuated her non-combatant population while booming cannonade covered preparations for a new insurgent onslaught and a new socialist government defense.

ECTC Students Hear Rev. Thos. M. Grant

"Prayer and honest questioning" was the theme of the inspiring message brought to the students at the first College Y. W. C. A. Vesper Service of the new year, by Rev. T. M. Grant, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, last night.

Men, he said, are questioning as never before "should we pray?" What is the need, he asked, of praying if one can not change God's will, but in praying, he continued, one must think not only of God but also of himself. Men and women of today, he pointed out, need a consciousness of God; men never can be what they should be in religious life, unless they have learned how to pray.

He closed with the prayer that God would teach the students to pray, as prayer is one of the greatest of strengthening powers. Misses Edna Earle Perry and Margaret Wycoff sang a duet, "Let Me Travel The Road."

Drunkenness Charges Tried In City Court

Four white defendants and one negro were convicted in City court this morning, drunkenness being the charge in each case.

R. L. House was fined $10 and costs; Jim O'Neal was fined $10 and costs; Johnnie Moyer was fined $10 and costs; Robert Redmond was fined $10 and costs; and Tom Parker, negro, was fined $10 and costs.

COLD MENACES WESTERN CITRUS

Heavy damage was done to citrus fruit and other crops when the coldest weather in 15 years brought sub-freezing temperature to the semi-tropical regions of southern California. Weather Varies Throughout U. S.

Waters Rise in Texas; Fair and Warmer in Middle West; Snows in Rocky Mountain and Sub-Freezing on Pacific Coast

(By Associated Press) A force of 16,000 orchardists battling to save California's $1,000,000,000 citrus crop from destruction by sub-freezing weather were cheered by reports of higher temperatures. Damage already done to the orange and lemon crops were estimated unofficially at 15 per cent.

At least 27 deaths were attributed to the weather in the west. Many midwestern sections reported temperature minimum below zero yesterday.

Wife Of President Invited To Attend Strawberry Fete

Party of North Carolina Women Arrive in Washington to Extend Bid to Country's First Lady

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—A party of North Carolina women arrived today to invite Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to attend the annual strawberry festival in June at Wallace, N. C.

In the group were Mrs. George Marshall of Mount Airy, president of the North Carolina federation of women's clubs; Mrs. John Robinson of Wallace, second vice president; Mrs. R. H. Lathan of Asheville, state director, and Mrs. J. Henry Highsmith of Raleigh.

The engagement with Mrs. Roosevelt was set for 3:30 o'clock. If the president's wife accepts the invitation a date in June for the festival convenient to her will be set.

Tax Exemptions Unlikely For Small Home Owners

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Jan. 11.—Owners of homes valued at less than $1,000 who gleefully voted for the constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to exempt them from tax levies are likely to be disappointed by the present Assembly, most observers who have studied the makeup of the law making body believe.

The amendment is not mandatory and gives the Assembly great discretionary powers—it may grant the full exemption, allow a smaller exemption or give none at all, according to its own view.

The amendment went over in the general sweep which successfully carried five other changes in the organic law of the state, but it was bitterly opposed by powerful groups which will undoubtedly exercise more than a little influence in the present session. The North Carolina Association of County Commissioners was among the strongest bodies fighting against the proposal and it does not take a wizard to predict that the influence of this powerful group will be felt by many legislators.

LET'S CONGRESS DECIDE ISSUES

To Have Say-So In Regard to Federal Agencies

Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt whipped together today the final details of his program to reorganize the federal government with efficiency rather than economy the primary goal.

He will let congress decide after outlining his proposals in a message tomorrow, whether any federal activities should be abandoned or curtailed.

Mr. Roosevelt explained his ideas for regrouping the manifold government agencies on a functional basis to Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead and five other Democratic leaders at the White House late yesterday.

The cabinet turned for an advance peek at the report of his special investigation committee came today as congress began its second week with only routine business at hand.

Amid rumors of major consolidations, impending pleas of "save my job if necessary" were reaching the capital from office holders.

Some officials believed four principal reorganization suggestions might be made:

First, that a welfare department of cabinet rank be set up to take over the social security and relief system and possibly educational agencies.

Second, that almost all government construction activities such as roads, public works allotments, encouragement of housing, etc., be combined, possibly under another cabinet post.

Third, that the Department of the Interior be made a conservation (Continued on page four)

Church Services Attended Sunday By Record Crowd

Union Meetings Get Off to Impressive Start With Church Auditorium More Than Filled

The auditorium of the Methodist church was filled to overflowing last night, with the overflow having to use the adjacent Sunday School auditorium, as the first of the union evening services got off to a most impressive start.

W. E. Hooker, chairman of the Executive Committee for the Union Services, was in charge of the service, opening it with a call to worship. The choral singing, in charge of J. H. Rose and under the direction of Miss Ona Schindler, was participated in by an inter-church choir of some forty voices, leading the congregation in the singing of old, familiar Gospel hymns. As a special selection, the choir sang "The Lost Chord," Mrs. J. H. Hadley was at the organ and A. E. Muilberger at the piano.

Mr. Hooker, who expressed the gratification of the laymen of the churches for the auspicious start, that the occasion revealed, called to the congregation's attention the untiring efforts of the laymen in this endeavor, mentioning J. Thos. Clifton, chairman of the program committee, for his especial efforts.

As the service progressed the Rev. Wm. A. Ryan, president of the local Ministerial Association, read the Scripture and led in prayer, and the Rev. A. W. Fleischmann was called upon to introduce the speaker, Dr. Trella D. Collins, the Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Council of Churches.

Speaking upon the subject of "Working Together in God's Service" and basing his remarks upon Moffatt's version of First Corinthians 3, particularly the words, "The foundation is laid, namely Jesus Christ, and no one can lay any other," Dr. Collins first briefly reviewed something of the activities and purposes of the Council, and then proceeded to portray how the very pressures of modern life made it imperative for the churches to get together in a cooperative effort to build Christian communities, states and nations. He spoke highly of this initial effort of the local churches, but predicted failure would be the outcome of the experiment unless there was a concerted effort to Christianize the churches and community upon the basic foundation of Christ—as the very practical goal of such an effort and as its main purpose.

SOLONS AWAIT NIGHT SESSION

Legislators Back In Raleigh for Resumption of Duties

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—(AP)—North Carolina law makers returned to the capital today for their second legislative week which is expected to see the beginning of work on the major revenue and appropriations bills.

Both houses will hold sessions tonight, but the legislators were expected to mark time until after Governor Hoey delivers his budget message the middle of the week and the revenue and appropriations measures are introduced.

No details of the budget commission's appropriations and tax recommendations have been disclosed, but Frank Dunlap, assistant director of the budget bureau, said the proposed appropriations would set a record.

Liquor Laden Car Taken In Custody In County Sunday

State Highway Patrolman H. B. Smith yesterday afternoon "spotted" a car he thought to be loaded with liquor on the Washington road about a half-mile beyond Grimesland, halted the driver and found four 10-gallon kegs full of whiskey and one empty.

Two men, who gave their names as Leon Green, 19, and Luther Congleton, also a young man, both of near Rocky Mount, were placed under arrest on a charge of transporting illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale. They are being held in jail awaiting trial in County court.

Patrolman Smith said he met the car and observed that it had the appearance of one loaded with whiskey. Turning around he overtook the vehicle and ordered the driver to halt. Green was described as the one in charge of the load of contraband liquor. The two did not make any attempt to get away, the patrolman said.

A Ford coupe driven by the two alleged run-runners was taken in custody by Patrolman Smith and probably will be ordered confiscated and sold.

FACE OF YOUTH BADLY BEATEN

Sheriff's Deputies Declare Body Answers Description of Young Kidnap Victim in Detail, But Definite Identification Waits Arrival of Father.

Everett, Wash., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Sheriff's deputies reported the finding today of the body of a boy tentatively identified in some respects as Charles Mattson, 10, kidnapped in Tacoma two weeks ago.

The body was found six miles south of here and seven miles west toward Norma Beach, on Puget sound. There were no telephones in the immediate vicinity.

The nude body, lying in the snow in heavy, cut-over land a half mile west of the Pacific highway and a few yards from the Edmonds road, gave evidence of having suffered terrific beating. The face was bloody and the body bruised.

Charles Mattson's well-to-do father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, from whom $28,000 ransom had been demanded, and justice department agents were summoned from Tacoma.

Deputies under Sheriff Walter Faulkner were standing by to guard the vicinity from the curious in the hope of preserving every available clue.

The discovery was made between 10 and 11 a. m. (Pacific time), by a boy, Gordon Morrow, son of Charles Morrow, who had gone hunting for rabbits and hawks.

Less than 600 feet from the Morrow home he came upon the body frozen stiff in the near zero weather of the morning.

The boy notified his father who called the sheriff's office from the Fairmount station. A posse of deputies hurried to the scene and established a guard.

A single wheel track led from the body to the gravelled road less than 150 feet away.

Sheriff's deputies said the body answered the description of the Mattson boy in detail but the face had been so beaten and soaked from blood they could not quite be sure.

Tentative identification of the body as that of the Mattson boy was made by Sheriff Faulkner and Coroner Stowell Smallcombe.

Presbyterian Church Host For Conference

The adjourned mid-winter meeting of Albemarle Presbytery will be held tomorrow in the local Presbyterian church, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The Rev. E. C. Lynch, First Presbyterian church, Wilson, will preside as Moderator. The Rev. R. E. McClure, First Presbyterian church, New Bern, is Stated Clerk. Some thirty delegates are expected to attend the day's sessions which will be concerned mainly with routine business, the only matter of importance being docketed for the report of Presbytery's Moral and Social Welfare Committee. J. Nat Harrison is occasional delegate from the local host church to the meeting.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN By FREDERICK JACKSON

Chapter Six. Cocktails With Karsanokoff

ALTHOUGH Anne was in silver with a chinchilla wrap and looked radiant, it was not so much as her as Count Vronski that Bigelow looked when they arrived. And he was conscious of a feeling of disappointment. The man did not look dangerous at all. He was not even very handsome. A well-set-up fellow, very fair, with fair hair that he wore rather short and a well curled mustache. His cheek bones were high, his eyes were blue. A not very unusual Slavic type, he had no suggestion of intelligence nor even shrewdness about him. He might have been a soldier. He carried himself like one.

"Perhaps I shall realize here all my desires," said Karsanokoff. The lines of her slender figure. She had pearls at her throat and in her ears. On one hand gleamed a large square-cut ruby, the exact shade of the rouge on her mouth and the enamel on her nails. The room—done in cool green—formed a perfect background for her and it was filled with big, heavily scented crimson roses.

"I have made champagne cocktails," said Karsanokoff turning her back and resuming her task. "I like them best because they go well afterward with champagne." Bigelow detected an undertone of excitement in her voice, but she was completely mistress of herself as she presently smiled at Anne. "Do you like them, too, Miss Phelps?"

"Adore them," declared Anne extravagantly. "There is nothing to drink I do not like," put in Vronski easily. "That is because you are a Russian," said Karsanokoff. "When one has been reared on vodka, one can drink anything without alarm."

"I Dance With Vronski" "MARIUSKA is bringing caviar in a moment," said Karsanokoff. "The first thing today I went to find it. But I had no difficulty at all. This New York is wonderful. Already I like it very much. Everything that one wishes is there. Why I have not come here before, I cannot tell you. Many times I have been offered contracts and always I said, 'No, no, no' only because I could not bear to leave Paris."

"You will like New York better than Paris," said Vronski. "You will find it much more gay." "Yes. Perhaps I shall realize here all my desires," said Karsanokoff. The maid entered with a tray of cocktail snacks, and as she offered them, her eyes met her mistress's once—and a look passed between them, a long unending look that was not lost on Bigelow, although he did not guess the meaning of it. Then the woman set down her tray and withdrew.

"You are opening here next week, aren't you?" asked Anne. "Yes. You are interested in dancing?" "Very much." "But you have not seen me dance?" "Never." "You will like me, I think, because I love to dance. I dance with passion because it is the way I express all that I feel. Mr. Bigelow will bring you perhaps for my premiere—and Count Vronski will come, too, yes?" "Surely," said Vronski. "To your success, eh?" He raised his glass and emptied it.

Copyright, 1937, Frederick Jackson. Vronski and Karsanokoff have a gay time at dinner, tomorrow. He was awakened at midnight by a barking dog. The yelping continued and he called the police to stop it. They came—and informed Chico, with regrets, that the barker was his own dog. The scapient was still struggling one evening in vaudeville he heard a hiss from the wings during his act. The hisser was the wife of an "escape artist" on the same bill. At all performances except the final show, this wife roped up her husband. For the last performance she left the job to a volunteer while she went to the hotel and cooked a midnight snack. Review. This parallels Chico's dog-yevening.

stoooges arrived, he learned that none of the hold-over performers had been paid for the preceding week. Thinking it over, Ted balanced "the show must go on" against "our faces must be fed", and decided both ends could be achieved.

Ted 'Stops' Show. He led his stoooges on the stage for their act, then stepped to the footlights and asked the audience to excuse him for a moment. "I'll be right back," he said, then he walked down the aisle to the box-office where he found the manager. He said bluntly: "We're on stage and the sheriff is back stage. He's taking our costumes and props unless I pay him $500. How will we finish our act?"

So did Stuart Erwin, for teaching his young son how to swing a golf club—in the living room. Stu, Jr., swung heftily, and the ball went through the biggest window pane. Papa Stu laughed but Mama June Collyer didn't. "And neither did I when I got the bill for the new pane," says Stu.

"I Dance With Vronski" "MARIUSKA is bringing caviar in a moment," said Karsanokoff. "The first thing today I went to find it. But I had no difficulty at all. This New York is wonderful. Already I like it very much. Everything that one wishes is there. Why I have not come here before, I cannot tell you. Now she spoke in a weak voice with a pathetic break in it, as though tears were very near. "How can you choose this time, when I am sick and really suffering, to argue about such trifles? Haven't you any affection for me? Can't you see what the discussion does to me?"

The boy knew that to give in now was to lose all the ground he had gained. He would not let his feelings be worked upon. Without a word, he marched out of the room overwhelmed with a sense of guilt which he felt was not rightly his, and mad at his mother for putting him in such a position.

Of course when one is sick every burden seems heavier. Mrs. Smith forgot that her son was no more annoying today than last week when she was well and had the energy to control herself and deal with the problems he presented. She complained bitterly that the boy was rebellious, that he tried to rationalize his shortcomings with specious excuses, that he thought of no one but himself, and that now that she was at a disadvantage he was worse than ever.

Possibly the child would have said that his mother was to blame; that she did not know how unreasonable she was, how she nagged, pounced on trifles, and then rationalized her behavior on the grounds that she was sick and deserved special consideration.

Fear production on the Pacific coast is on the upward trend. Grapefruit production is now at the highest point in American history.

So when the proper time comes, those interested in more and better highways and in the use of all highway revenues for road purposes are going to make a concerted drive for the submission of this amendment.

The anti-diversionists know, of course, that strong opposition to the submission of the amendment is sure to come from the school forces, especially from the North Carolina Education Association, which for years has advocated using a larger and larger slice of highway funds for school purposes. It is generally understood that State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin, a close friend of Governor Hoey, is personally opposed to highway fund diversion and will not advocate any diversion of highway funds for school purposes. But most of the school leaders and lobbyists are expected to continue their efforts to get a portion of the highway money for the schools, regardless of the position taken by Erwin. It is also believed that Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell and his forces will oppose any move towards an amendment prohibiting diversion.

In fact, Commissioner Maxwell is already regarded as responsible for the insertion of the clause by Governor Hoey qualifying his declaration against diversion in his inaugural speech, and which a good many observers here now believe completely negates his declaration against diversion and opens the door for the diversion of $2,000,000 a year from the highway fund instead of only $1,000,000 a year as in the past. Here is what Gov. Hoey said: "I shall insist that the road funds should be preserved and used for the purpose for which these taxes have been levied and the revenues collected, with no diversion of this money except such amount as will be justified by the sales tax levy, as previously authorized."

SEEK PREVENT USE OF FUNDS Amendment Favored to Bar Highway Fund Diversion Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. By J. C. BASKERVILL. Raleigh, Jan. 11.—The forces opposed to highway fund diversion and who believe that all revenues collected from motorists should be used for road purposes only, are planning to go ahead with their efforts to secure a constitutional amendment prohibiting diversion, despite the fact that Governor Clyde R. Hoey in his inaugural message came out against diversion, with certain qualifications, it was apparent here today.

There are two reasons for this decision, according to those known to be in close touch with the anti-diversionists, as follows: 1. Those opposed to diversion feel that if Governor Hoey is really against diversion he will support a bill to give the people the privilege of voting on a constitutional amendment to prohibit any further diversion and thus safeguard the state in the event the diversionists should ever get a majority.

2. After reading and re-reading Governor Hoey's statements with regard to diversion, a good many are inclined to doubt if Governor Hoey is as much opposed to diversion as his statement at first indicated, since it was qualified in such a way as to permit the diversion of nearly $2,000,000 a year instead of only $1,000,000 a year as at present, some maintain.

Accordingly, those opposed to the diversion of highway revenues to other uses are determined that now is the proper time to push for a constitutional amendment if highway funds are to be safeguarded for the future. They are confident that if the general assembly will enact a bill to submit such an amendment to the people of the state in the next general election that it will carry, since they are confident that people generally feel that the revenues from the gasoline and automobile taxes should be used for the maintenance of the roads and nothing else. Since Governor Hoey has already pronounced against diversion, even though this pronouncement is qualified, they believe the general assembly will be more favorable towards submitting the constitutional amendment than it otherwise would be.

How's Your Health? Industrial Accidents The enactment in many states of workmen's compensation laws has served to draw attention to the major importance of industrial injuries. The significance of these is evident not only in the sums of money spent on medical and surgical treatment and in the loss of work time, but also in the resulting vast amount of crippling and suffering of the injured. The subject of industrial accidents is tremendously complicated, but its various elements may be grouped under three major headings: the inherent hazards of the industry, the availability and utilization of accident prevention agencies, and—most important of all—the human factor.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds By Robbin Coom. HOLLYWOOD — Comedians could draw on their own real-life experiences for movie laughs, even more than they do. Scribe Al Bosberg tells this one on Groucho Marx. Groucho wanted to add a den to his home, and employed a contractor recommended by Al. The job was done, and the bill was several hundred dollars over the estimate. Groucho was indignant and Bosberg investigated. With these results, he averts: Groucho and Mrs. Groucho had been pressing the carpenters into service for such odd jobs as running errands, pumping up the kid's bicycle tires, and mending gadgets—all at their regular rate of $1.20 an hour. Joke On Chico. In "A Day at the Races" is a scene wherein Chico Marx upbraids Harpo has a tale of the sort, too, only to discover the squeak is his own. This parallels Chico's dog-yevening.

Praises Smith Oil Burning Curer
January 2, 1937.
Smith's Heating System, Inc. Kinston, N. C.

Dear Sirs: We are pleased to reply to your inquiry regarding the sale of tobacco on our warehouse floor that has been cured with your oil-burning curers.

Almost each sales day a considerable amount of tobacco that has been cured with your system has come under my actual observation by being sold on our warehouse floor. I am doubly interested in tobacco cured with your system because I am a farmer as well as a warehouseman. I am personally very pleased to have found and glad to tell you that such tobacco has retained more of the natural tobacco oil which gives the leaf a better texture and more weight than when cured with the old fire system.

From seeing tobacco sold on our warehouse floor that has been cured with your system, I am completely sold on the Smith's Oil-Burning Curer. I am sure, also, that every farmer will agree with me that it is a serious and deplorable fact that we have such little wood left on our farms. On some farms we do not even have sufficient wood left to keep those living on the land warm during the cold months. If we continue to cut our wood for purpose of curing tobacco our forests will remain depleted. We have been repeatedly advised by those who know that a certain amount of woodland is necessary for the good of lands which we cultivate.

Yours very truly,
DIXIE WAREHOUSE,
Greenville, N. C.

Resolutions of Respect
With feelings of deepest regret, the Greenville Production Credit Association of Greenville, N. C., must record the passing of its beloved secretary-treasurer, James C. Galloway, who died on December 18, 1936.

Because we realize to the fullest extent the benefits which our Association and the entire community have derived from the work of this public-spirited man, and because of the warm personal feeling inspired in our hearts by his kindly, unselfish life, be it

Resolved, That we inscribe upon our records this tribute to his memory, that all may know and appreciate his splendid Christian character, his many benevolent deeds, and the respect and esteem in which he was held; and

RESOLVED, That copies of these resolutions be sent to his family, together with the assurance of our deepest sympathy, and that a copy be published in the local newspapers. May our Heavenly Father console them in their present sorrow and may these words of appreciation and high regard be a solace to them in the years to come.

Resolutions of Respect
Be it Resolved by the Greenville Production Credit Association, of Greenville, N. C., that in the death of N. F. Palmer, the Association lost a most efficient director and one of its staunchest supporters and friends.

He took an active interest in the association and gave untiringly of his time and efforts to make it a success. He had the good will, confidence and affection of all who knew him.

To his family we offer our deepest sympathy in their bereavement. Be it Further Resolved, That appreciating his services and friendship, we do give this formal expression of our affection and admiration for him. We shall miss his able counsel and his fine personal qualities but his memory shall abide.

Be it Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to his family, a copy published in the local newspaper and a copy spread upon the minutes of the Association.

First Church of Christ, Scientist
"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 10.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 23:5. "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies."
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them. And they found the stone rolled away from the sepulchre. And it came to pass as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments: and as they were afraid and bowed down their faces to the earth, they said unto them, Why seek ye the living among the dead? (Luke 24: 1-5.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The 'spiritual essence of blood' is sacrifice. The efficacy of Jesus' spiritual offering is infinitely greater than can be expressed by our sense of

"PURELY-DRAUGHT IS PURELY VEGETABLE"
—What Does That Mean?

A great many things can cause constipation and there are many remedies to relieve it, but possibly none more popular than the "vegetable" laxatives. Among these, Black-Draught is outstanding. In its manufacture, leaves of a certain plant are used, and the roots of certain others. These are dried so that they will keep without preservatives... no other chemical change from the way they grew in "Mother Nature's medicine garden." By their being finely ground, the digestive system extracts the active medicine right where it is needed. Constipation is relieved.

Black-Draught is so economical that a 25-cent package averages upward of 25 doses.

humar blood. The material blood of Jesus was no more efficacious to cleanse from sin when it was shed upon "the accursed tree" than when it was flowing in his veins as he went daily about his Father's business. His true flesh and blood were his life, and they truly eat his flesh and drink his blood, who partake of that divine life.—Page 25.

Kelvinator Officials See Bright Outlook

A cross section view of the state of business all over the United States shows that business during 1937 will be the best that it has been in more than a decade. This is the report brought back to Greenville by Jas. T. Little, E. E. Rawl and R. E. Cawhern who returned today from Detroit, Michigan, where they attended a national convention of Kelvinator distributors from all parts of the country. The more than a thousand distributors and distributors' representatives who attended the convention, said Mr. Little, whose company, Carolina Sales Corporation, is distributor here for Kelvinator, were enthusiastic over business prospects and reported that trade was greater at this time than it has been for years.

Kelvinator production schedules on all products has been stepped up to meet the increased demands of distributors, said Mr. Little, who stated that he had increased his own original estimates considerably. Advertising will be increased during 1937, said Mr. Rawl, with a large proportion of the total amount devoted to newspaper space.

"When the advertising plans for 1937 were discussed at the convention," said Mr. Rawl, "it was stated that space in the national magazines would be used freely and that this would be followed up by local newspaper advertising over the names of distributors and dealers." Mr. Rawl, said that newspaper space would be used extensively in this section.

The new Kelvinator product will soon be on display at the showroom of the Carolina Sales Corporation and all dealers. These include, in addition to 16 models of Kelvinator domestic refrigerators, electric ranges, gas ranges, water heaters, electric washing machines and ironers.

ROAD REFUNDS BEING PUSHED

Steering Committee Reports Satisfactory Progress

The progress made by the Steering committee of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce handling the Road Bond Adjustment Campaign is very satisfactory up to the present time, according to a statement made by Chairman Judge Guy Elliot of Kinston. At the recent meeting of the Committee of the Eastern Division at Williamston, definite plans were developed to give this matter careful attention during the period of the Legislature. While the Fact Finding Commission has not made its report to the governor as yet, this is expected momentarily according to Chairman Elliot, and immediately following the report of this Commission a very definite campaign will be worked out to follow this measure through the Legislature.

Although the total amount of claims filed by 79 counties is more than 60 million dollars, Chairman Elliot believes after having heard every claim presented in person that this amount can be reduced to a maximum of not more than 15 million dollars and then be entirely satisfactory to all counties concerned.

GRUDGE FIGHT TUESDAY NIGHT

Local High School Quint to Battle Wilson Team Here

Tomorrow night the Greenville High school basketball team will open up their conquest for the state championship by meeting the strong Wilson quint in the local gym. It will be the local's first class "A" conference tilt and they will be pitted against their most bitter rival.

It is no secret that these two schools hold no love for each other, and Tuesday's battle will be a grudge fight from start to finish.

Never have two schools had it in for each other as these two have. Last fall the Greensies journeyed over to the Wilson stronghold and took a 38 to 0 lacing in football at the hands of Coach Brogren and his crew. In this game Jap Davis, giant 220 pound fullback, ripped the Greenville line to "shreds," and when the game was over several of the local players had to be taken to a hospital.

All of the boys on the Greenville basketball team were on that football team and they have never forgotten that drubbing nor have they forgotten Jap Davis.

On the other hand the Wilson lads would feel like their season was a success if they could just get a victory over Coach Reynolds May's aggregation. They haven't forgotten last year when the Greensies came over to Wilson and ran them out of their own back yard by winning the Eastern Carolina Championship.

The Wilson basketball team, the same as their football team is built around "big" Jap Davis, Dubose Simpson, star center for the locals will have his hands full stopping Davis, but this is the chance Dubose has been waiting for.

The game Tuesday will be a double-header attraction. The Greenville and Wilson boys' teams will play first, their game starting promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Then at 8:30 the girls will double on the Wilson lasses. In double-header games this year the boys will always play first, because of popular request.

BUDGET NEEDS TO COME SOON

Governor's Message Expected Tuesday or Wednesday

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Jan. 11.—The Governor's budget message, together with the report and recommendations of the Advisory Budget Commission, including the suggested revenue and appropriations bills already prepared by the budget group, will be transmitted to the general assembly either Tuesday or Wednesday, it was indicated by Governor Clyde R. Hoey today.

The message has been prepared, but is being held up pending the printing of the budget commission's report and recommendations and the suggested revenue and appropriations bills. When enough copies have been printed so that each member of the general assembly can be supplied with copies, Governor Hoey is expected to appear personally before a joint session of the general assembly, make his fiscal recommendations, which were purposely omitted from his inaugural address, and transmit the budget commission's findings and bills to the general assembly. Then, and not until then, can the house and senate finance and appropriations committees get down to work. The "suggested" revenue bill will immediately be referred to the finance committees while the appropriations bill will be sent to the appropriations committees.

Governor Hoey has given no intimation as yet concerning his fiscal recommendations, other than his declaration in favor of a balanced budget made during his inaugural address. It is generally believed, however, that he will increase the recommendations and bills of the Advisory Budget Commission which are expected to call for an increase of about $5,000,000 a year in both appropriations and revenues. Authentic reports indicate that the appropriations bill presented by the budget group will call for expenditures of at least $28,000,000 a year as compared with the present budget for this year of about $22,500,000.

It is also expected that the suggested revenue bill will contain enough new taxes or increased tax schedules to yield the additional $5,000,000 a year needed to meet the increased appropriations.

New York Cotton

New York, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, seven lower to one higher with near-months liquidation and trade and foreign buying of the late positions. March reacted from 12.45 to 12.41 and shortly after the first half hour was selling at 12.43 with prices generally net unchanged to six points lower.

After ruling about steady in the mid-morning prices turned reactionary under a renewal of scattered liquidation while trade buying was restricted to a scale down. March eased to 12.41 with prices at midday generally three to seven points net lower.

EXPECT ACTION ON HOME RULE

Legislature Showing Interest in State College Move

Reflector Bureau. Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Jan. 11.—The general assembly now in session is beginning to show more than the usual amount of interest in the movement among State College alumni for "home rule" and local self government, which has grown out of the controversy between State College and President Frank P. Graham of the Greater University, following Graham's dismissal of Coach Hearty W. (Hunk) Anderson, after he had been reelected for another year by the State College athletic council.

There is no indication yet that the general assembly may take any action in this controversy until the University Board of Trustees has had a chance to review the entire matter when it meets here the latter part of this month. But if the board of trustees does not do something definite, many are convinced that the general assembly will.

It is now freely agreed that the State College situation is more than a fuss over a football coach and the Hunk Anderson affair has only been the incident which has drawn attention in all parts of the state on conditions within the Greater University and its units under President Graham.

Most observers now agree that the main question involved is whether the President of the Greater University shall be a dictator, with power to veto and overrule the decisions and official actions of the administrative deans and faculties of the various units, or whether his powers over the various units shall be merely advisory.

Just the good things...

Aromatic tobaccos from the districts of Xanthi, Cayalla, Smyrna and Samsoun in Turkey and Greece, the tobaccos of richest aroma

... blended with

Mild ripe home-grown tobaccos—Bright tobacco from the Carolinas, Georgia and Virginia; Burley tobacco from Kentucky and Tennessee; and tobacco from southern Maryland

... and rolled in

Champagne Cigarette paper of the finest quality. This paper, specially made for Chesterfield cigarettes, is pure and burns without taste or odor.

For the good things smoking can give you.. Enjoy Chesterfields
