BROAD CHANGE IS SUGGESTED BY PRESIDENT

Recommendation Includes Two New Cabinet Posts

WOULD COMBINE MANY AGENCIES

Sweeping Reorganization of Government's Machinery Called for by FDR

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to "take immediate action" on a broad five-point program of reorganization of the federal government, asserting:

"A government without good management is a house built on sand."

He submitted a report of a special presidential committee, recommending, among other things, the lumping together of more than a 100 existing federal agencies into 12 regular departments, and creation of two new cabinet places, social welfare and public works.

"I endorsed this program," he said, in submitting the report, and feel confident that it will commend itself to you also with your knowledge of government and to the vast majority of the citizens of the country who want and believe in efficient self government."

A major recommendation was the return of complete government financial responsibility to the President. For a decade the comptroller general has made pre-audits of government expenditures.

Transmitting a report of a special committee which has studied the questions for months, he also proposed:

1. Extension of the civil service to all non-policy determining positions, including all post masters and departmental jobs except the highest executives; increase cabinet salaries from $15,000 to $20,000; substituting a civil service examination and an unpaid citizen's board for the civil service commission.

2. Giving the President six "executive assistants" to relieve him of tremendous detail work.

3. Substitution of an independent auditor general for the vacant post of comptroller general, with the attorney general passing on the legality of government expenditures.

4. Strengthening and expanding of the budget bureau and the planning and personnel service to make them "effective managerial arms" for the president.

5. Changing the name of the Department of the Interior to the Department of Conservation.

Although the committee predicted saving in money, time and effort, it said the purpose of the organization had but "one grand purpose, namely, to make Democracy work today in our national government."

Dr. Frank To Deliver Lecture on Neutrality

The second of the current series of discussion meetings being conducted by the Greenville Council for Peace Action will be held in the High School library on Wednesday night at 8:30. The speaker for this week will be Dr. A. D. Frank of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College. The subject will be "Neutrality." There will be thirty minutes for the presentation of the subject and a similar period for general discussion.

While these discussion meetings are being conducted by the Council for Peace Action they are open to the general public and all interested persons are invited to attend. Those attending may participate in the discussion at their discretion. Those who wish only to attend as listeners may do so without feeling that they may be called upon to share in the meeting.

The Council desires to render what assistance it can in extending information concerning international relationships, emphasizing at this time the serious problems which need to be faced in considering the question of neutrality. As a keen student of international affairs Dr. Frank is certain to bring to this week's session a presentation of the subject which will make it valuable to all who attend. Next week's speaker will be Dr. Lackland of New Haven, Connecticut.

NO PROVISION FOR SECURITY

Budget Failed To Request Sum For Pensions

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—No provision is made in the budget submitted to the general assembly today by Governor Clyde R. Hoey for old age pensions or any of the various social security activities which must be supported wholly or in part by the state.

The reason for this is the precedent that the Advisory Budget Commission never anticipates any objects of expense in presenting its biennial budget. It is generally agreed that anywhere from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000 a year more than is called for in the budget will be needed for old age pensions alone, depending upon the extent to which the general assembly decides to participate in the old age pensions program with the Social Security Board.

The budget report, however, anticipates that the general assembly will adopt an old age pensions law and will need more revenue for it and suggests that in providing for it, the counties be called upon to bear part of the cost of the program, due to the fact that the "state is fast approaching the limit of its revenue possibilities."

"Any large additional burden should be assumed, in our opinion, jointly by the state and counties," the budget report says in dealing with the topic of social security. "The trend for the past several years has been to place additional burdens on the state and relieve counties from the burden of taxes. This process cannot be successfully continued very much farther. In passing laws relative to social security, we earnestly recommend that the general assembly consider a fair division of the cost of social security legislation as between the state and the counties and that such provision be made as to insure local interest in protecting the fund against imposition. Payments should be made according to established classification and with graduation of amounts distributed."

It is understood that a bill providing for joint state and county support of the old age pensions program is either being prepared or has been prepared and will be introduced soon.

Negro Woman Booked On Assault Charge

A negro woman who suspected her husband of having left her, at least temporarily, for another woman, caused much excitement last night when she fired a charge from a shot gun through a window in the room where her husband was sleeping.

Lou Elen Faircloth, the negro woman, was lodged in the city jail, booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. She is alleged to have gone to the home of Willie Sugg on Short street, and fired a charge of lead shot through a window of the room where her husband was staying. The charge went through the wall and entered the room in which Sugg and his wife were sleeping, tearing splinters from the wall and scattering them over the room.

When officers arrived at the house they said the three negroes were still in bed, too scared to move.

$10,000 Reward Posted For Arrest Of Boy's Slayer

President Roosevelt Declares Every Means At The Government's Command Will Be Enlisted To Capture Kidnap-Slayer

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Seattle Times quoted an unnamed authority as saying clothing of Charles Mattson, kidnap-murder victim, had been found in an automobile abandoned at an Everett service station.

The newspaper stated that federal bureau of investigation officials impounded the car and clothing. At Everett Sheriff Walter Faulkner denied any knowledge of the reported find.

Washington, Jan. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt declared today the murder of 10-year-old Charles Mattson in Washington state has "shocked the nation" and added every means at the government's command must be enlisted to capture the perpetrator of "this ghastly crime."

In an official statement, the President said Attorney General Cummings had offered a reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest of the criminal and special agents of the department of justice were engaged in a search which "will not be terminated until the murderer is caught."

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 12.—(AP)—From the "battered body of Charles Mattson, 10 found nude in the snow, a mighty force of detectives today sought a definite clue to the child's kidnaper and killer, "the most hunted man in the nation."

Finding of the frozen body in a brushy area near Everett yesterday was the immediate signal for a "wide-sung search" by men with all the modern weapons of scientific detection at their command, a search nervously withheld until then to permit safe return of the boy to his well-to-do father, Dr. W. W. Mattson.

Governor Hoey Reserves Right Present Own Views

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Clyde Hoey sent the legislature the advisory budget commission's recommendations for record high appropriations in revenues today but reserved the right later to present his own state financial views.

The legislators continued to drop important bills in the hopper for future consideration and the budget appropriations, revenue and permanent improvements bills were introduced.

New taxes on wines, gifts and intangibles to produce an estimated $1,450,000 yearly and an increase from $1,000,000 a year to $2,100,000 a year in "highway fund diversion" by application of the three per cent sales tax to gasoline purchases to the state were recommended to increase revenue.

Pointing out "the bills which I present to you are not the work of the present administration," Gov. Hoey urged a "careful study" of the "perplexing problems" of revenue and appropriation.

"These bills will furnish a basis upon which you can proceed," Hoey said. He praised the advisory budget commission for its work and commended it for the "intelligent and painstaking consideration" given to the subject of raising revenue by legislation and extending it in the form of appropriations.

He noted the absence of provisions for some "necessary expenditures" chief among the number being "old age assistance which would require additional expenditures and additional appropriations."

Representative J. Cooper of Cherokee introduced a bill in the House to require motor vehicle owners to carry $5,000 liability insurance and another to reduce auto license fees by charging $4 for cars selling for $1,000 and less and $7 for cars selling at between $1,000 and $3,000.

Youth Fails Escape Jail At Rocky Mount

Rocky Mount, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Johnny Cobb, 19, brother of two well-known gunmen who were jailed here Saturday charged with holding up and robbing a service station, broke the lock on his jail cell today but was found crouching atop a row of cells before he could make his escape.

With a crude device made from a broom handle, the youth forced the lock and walked from his cell. He had only to sneak through police headquarters to gain his freedom when an officer discovered him.

Young Cobb was removed to jail at Nashville.

NAZI OFFICIAL CONFERS WITH FRENCH ENVOY

Most Troublesome Frano-German Tangle Smoothed Out

POWERS SEEKING SETTLE QUARREL

Indicated Political Understanding Between Two Nations Will Be Effected

(By Associated Press)

France and Germany, apparently adjusting their Moroccan troubles, veered today toward efforts to effect a "full and lasting settlement" of their political quarrels.

French officials were cautious, but there were indications in Paris and Berlin the Paris visit of Dr. Schacht, Nazi minister of Economics and finance, might lead to an economic and then a political understanding between the two nations.

Adolf Hitler and Andre Francois-Ponset, French envoy to the Third Reich, smoothed out the most troublesome Franco-German tangle over Spain with mutual assurances of respect for Spanish and Spanish Moroccan territorial integrity.

The French were further cheered by an offer from the Spanish Moroccan high commission to prove, through French investigation, there is no serious German incursion of that strategic North African zone.

Final Services Held For Mrs. L. W. Tripp

Funeral services for Mrs. L. W. Tripp, 45, who died at her home near Vanceboro at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after several weeks of critical illness, were conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Juniper Chapel Free Will Baptist church, of which she was a member.

The services were conducted by a former pastor, Rev. Alonza Dail of Winterville. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mrs. Tripp was born, reared and spent her entire life in the community in which she died. She took an active part in the various activities of the church.

Mrs. Tripp is survived by her husband; three daughters, Essie, Blanche and Viola Tripp; two sons, Liddell and Howard Tripp; her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Witherington; two brothers, John Anderson of Cool Springs and Stonewall Anderson of Vanceboro; two half-brothers, Don Witherington and Obie Witherington; two sisters, Mrs. Mary Morris and Mrs. Maggie Wiggins of the Juniper Chapel community.

Kannapolis Man Gets Long Term in Prison

Concord, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Pearl Carpenter, 36, of Kannapolis was sentenced to 10 to 15 year sentence after pleading guilty of manslaughter in connection with the fatal shooting of his friend, Leonard Daves.

Carpenter testified he fired at Daves in the dark, mistaking him for an assailant after he had engaged in a cafe argument.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF and CHATTER

By J. C. BASKERVILL and HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—The speed and dispatch with which Governor Clyde R. Hoey is handling the business of his office is in decided contrast with the slow, leisurely, almost dilaatory manner in which former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus handled the business of the office, especially callers. Former Governor Ehringhaus was never in a hurry, never hurried callers, used thousands of hours talking to or listening to people who had no particular business with him. But while Governor Hoey speaks to and greets every one who comes by his office, and without giving the impression of being in a hurry, it is already being noted that he wastes very little time and tactfully and courteously escorts would-be lingerers from his office, after they have said their say and stated their business.

The more than a hundred managers of state and county fairs, carnival owners, fireworks manufacturers and promoters here yesterday and today for the two-day annual convention of the North Carolina Association of Agricultural Fairs, are all pepped up over the suggestion made by Governor Clyde R. Hoey in his inaugural message, that the state put on a big national or even international exposition in 1938 to "sell North Carolina to the world." A delegation from the fair association called upon Governor Hoey Monday and asked him to elaborate more as to what he had in mind. He told them he had not gone into the details yet, had only thrown out a suggestion, but that he was greatly interested and hoped the general assembly might decide to do something.

Senator Lee L. Gravelly is in a key position to become the state's best known man and incidentally the state's biggest promoter. He is chairman of the senate committee on Conservation and Development, usually not such a very important committee. But Governor Hoey, in discussion of the conservation of the state's resources and their development, made two recommendations. One was that the state undertake a long-range, nation-wide advertising program, the second that it hold a national or international exposition, similar to the Tex-

BLOOD SHED IN STRIKE CLASH

Outlook For Ending Deadlock Darkened By Incident

(By Associated Press)

Bloodshed darkened the outlook in the deadlocked automobile workers strike today as the number of men made idle by walkouts or "sit-downs" in various industries neared a national total of 170,000.

Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan, marshalled national guardsmen at Flint after a night clash between police and strike supporters at a Fisher body plant, ended with 14 persons shot and a score of others hurt.

The police, aided by deputies sheriff, used riot guns and tear gas in an unsuccessful attempt to disperse a crowd at the plant and drive out side down strikers inside. The strikers retaliated with bottles and other missiles.

Homer Martin, president of the striking automobile workers of America, conferred at Washington with John Lewis, chairman of the committee of industrial organization, and John Brophy, a committee director.

Local Masonic Orders Hold Supper-Meeting

Greenville Chapter No. 50, R. A. M., and the Bethlehem commandery, Knights Templar, held a joint supper-meeting last night in the Masonic hall here at which time last year's activities were reviewed and plans made for the new year.

The two organizations apparently are expecting to accomplish much during the present year. A number of plans are underway which will broaden the activities along many lines.

A number of applications are on file and the new members will be taken in during the next few months.

Recommend Increase In Sum For College

East Carolina Teachers College here will receive a much larger sum from the state during each year of the next biennium than it was allotted during 1935-36, if the recommendations of the advisory budget commission are followed by the legislature.

The amount recommended, however, was far short of the sum requested by the institution.

The commission asked that the college be allowed $160,288 during 1937-38. The institution, which operated on $88,691 from the state in 1935-36, had requested an allotment of $201,432.

The recommendation and request for 1938-39 varied only slightly from those of 1937-38.

Old Hand-Made Plow On Display In City

Two old hand-made plows and a cannon-ball, dating back either to the Revolutionary or Civil war days were brought to this city today and placed on display in the window of The Reflector by J. Sam Fleming.

One of the old plows is of the earlier flat type and was hand-hammered for use long before the modern type were thought of. The other is one of the first upright plows to be used in this country.

An old type of cannon ball, commonly spoken of as a minnie ball, was plowed up by Jesse Coburn about three months ago on Roanoke river near Old PoPt. In addition to the loading hole, it has another hole lined with brass, possibly for the fuse and cap.

Big Committees In Legislature Take Up Duties

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The legislative finance and appropriations committees started work today.

Chairman Ward of Craven, of the House appropriations committee, and Speaker Cherry of Gaston urged the House group to "get down to work" but not to use "andee haste."

The money spending and money raising committees were called to meet in the late afternoon jointly to hear A. J. Maxwell, Commissioner of Revenue, and Frank Dunlap, assistant director of the budget, explain the budget, tax and appropriations suggestions.

NEW LEVIES IN REVENUE BILL

Amendment Provides for Proposed Additional Taxes

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Budget Revenue Bill of 1937, introduced in the House of Representatives today levies new taxes on gifts, bank deposits, money on hand, matured insurance policies and funds in the hands of fiduciaries, bonds, notes and other evidences of debt, shares of stock and accounts receivable.

These proposed new taxes are the first to be proposed under the constitutional amendment adopted last fall empowering the Legislature to classify property for the purpose of taxation.

In addition to the new taxes listed the budget revenue bill imposes only one new levy—on wines.

The proposed gift tax, the first of its kind in this state, divides beneficiaries into three classes and prescribes varying rates of taxation for different brackets within the classes.

Class A beneficiaries are defined as either lineal descendants or ancestors of this group up to $2,000 are exempted from taxation. On gifts up to $2,000 in excess of the exemption the rate is 3 per cent; $2,000 to $4,000 the rate rises to 4 per cent; $4,000 to $6,000 brings a rate of 5 per cent and the rate on more than $6,000 excess over exemption is fixed at 6 per cent.

Class B beneficiaries are described as brothers, sisters, nephews or nieces of the donor and gifts up to $1,000 are exempted. On gifts in excess of this amount the rates are: Up to $2,000, 4 per cent; $2,000 to $4,000, 5 per cent; $4,000 to $6,000, 6 per cent; over $6,000, 7 per cent.

Class C includes all other beneficiaries, with $1,000 exemptions. Rates are: Up to $2,000, 5 per cent; $2,000 to $4,000, 6 per cent; $4,000 to $6,000, 7 per cent; over $6,000, 8 per cent.

Provision is made for taxing transactions where the transfer is made at less than "fair consideration" as though they were gifts, the consideration paid being subtracted from the fair value in order to reach the figure to be regarded as a gift.

The bill levies a number of new taxes on intangibles, all taxes collected from these sources to be used for maintenance of the public schools.

Bank deposits are to be taxed as of January 1, 1938 and each succeeding year, at a rate of ten cents per $100 on deposit. The section provides that these taxes shall be paid by an officer of the bank and deducted from the depositor's account. In order to prevent a juggling of funds by withdrawing them from the bank just before taxing time comes round, it is provided that if the balance on January 1 is less than the average balance shown by the depositor's monthly statements for the previous year, then the tax shall be levied on the monthly average balance.

Money on hand up to $300 is exempt, but all sums over that figure are subject to a tax of twenty cents per $100.

Accounts receivable are assessed twenty-five cents per $100, but the taxpayer is allowed to deduct his bills payable from his accounts receivable total and is granted an exemption of $300 on the net.

HOEY SUBMITS BUDGET NEEDS

Recommendation Includes Increase in General Fund Budget of Approximately $5,000,000 a Year Over Appropriation By '35 Legislature; Salary Increases Provided

By J. C. BASKERVILL

Raleigh, Jan. 12.—Containing recommendations for appropriations totaling more than $70,000,000 a year for the next two years for all state purposes, including highways, the report of the Advisory Budget Commission, together with the appropriations and revenue bills which the law requires the budget commission to prepare and transmit to each new session of the general assembly, were transmitted to the general assembly today with a brief message of transmittal by Governor Clyde R. Hoey.

The appropriations from the general fund, as recommended by the budget commission, amount to $36,952,800 for the fiscal year 1937-38 and to $37,809,322 for the fiscal year 1938-39. General fund expenditures for the fiscal year 1936-37 amounted to $31,201,705 and for this year will probably amount to $34,682,258, according to budget bureau estimates.

The various state departments and institutions supported from the general fund, including the public schools, requested between $41,000,000 and $42,000,000 a year for each year of the coming biennium. But the budget commission trimmed between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 a year off these requests.

The recommended appropriation for the support of the public schools is $24,896,367 for the year 1937-38 and $24,986,160 for the year 1938-39. The request made by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Clyde A. Erwin for the public schools for these two years was $26,625,743 the first year and $27,280,018 the second.

The appropriation as recommended by the budget commission is sufficient to give the teachers a 10 per cent increase in salaries and to make care of other necessary increases, including school bus replacements. The appropriation requested by the school forces would have provided for a 20 per cent increase in salaries.

The new budget for the next biennium, as presented by the Advisory Budget Commission, also provides a budget of $32,887,270 for the first year and of $32,090,942 the second year of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, including Federal Aid allotments of $4,731,961 a year or of approximately $7,000,000 a year without the inclusion of Federal aid. The appropriations from the highway fund are estimated as amounting to $38,152,309 the first year and $37,944,881 the second year.

The Advisory Budget Commission, over the objection of former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus as Director of the Budget, goes on record as favoring the practice of levying the sales tax against the revenues of the highway fund and the compulsory diversion of $2,100,000 a year from the highway fund to the general fund instead of the $1,600,000 a year which has been diverted for the past four years.

According to the inaugural address of Governor Clyde R. Hoey, he opposed any further diversion of highway funds, except that he approved the principle of applying the sales tax to highway revenue collections. As a result, Governor Hoey gave his approval to the diversion of twice as much money from the highway to the general fund as has ever been diverted before.

The more important new recommendations contained in the report of the budget commission as submitted today call for:

1. An increase in the general fund budget of approximately $5,000,000 a year as compared with present budget authorized by the 1935 legislature.

2. The compulsory diversion from the highway fund to the general fund of more than $2,000,000 a year, whether needed or not, through the application "of the sales tax principle."

3. The increasing of the salaries (Continued on page two)

According to Mrs. Zimbalist
According to Mrs. Zimbalist, the former Alma Gluck, internationally popular singer, it happened this way. Miss Gluck, then a star of the Metropolitan, was standing at the prow of a ferry boat plying between New York and New Jersey.

The hour was early evening, and Miss Gluck was absorbed in the sky line and the contemplation of the concert in Montclair at which she was to appear.

Suddenly someone touched her arm and said, "Aren't you Alma Gluck?"

She turned and there beside her was the famous violinist, known among his associates as a "very shy and retiring young man."

It appeared that he, too, was to appear at the Montclair concert, so he accompanied the beautiful singer not only to Montclair but from Montclair and to her front door.

After this meeting Mr. Zimbalist was a familiar figure at the stage entrance of the Metropolitan, but it was three years before the retiring young man could convince Miss Gluck that she could marry and continue with her career.

This was in 1917. Later, however, as Mrs. Zimbalist decided she preferred home life to a career. The violinist and ex-opera and concert singer live very normally with their two children in a charming three-story house on East Forty Ninth Street, New York, behind whose doors all talk of shop is strictly forbidden. The two children are both musical but are not being encouraged to take up musical careers.

The riots of public life are too great, their parents say. They remain at home while Zimbalist goes out on his concert tours.

This great violinist will appear at East Carolina Teachers College on the night of January 19.

Talks To Parents

MARKING BOOKS
Mrs. Jones had a strong aversion to marked books. She never marked her own, and was strict in her ruling that children should not mark theirs.

When reading, it is sometimes unpleasant to have the thoughts or comments of other readers forced upon one. To pick up a library book and find it lined and defaced with half-baked effusions like "Beautiful," "So true" or rows of exclamation marks, takes away some of one's own pleasure in the book. Library books are public property and as such should be impersonal.

One's own books, however, are a part of oneself. The child who loves a book enough to underline a passage or make pertinent comments on the margin should be permitted to follow his fancy so long as he is not merely defacing the book. He may some day be abashed at his early criticisms, but he can always erase them if he wants.

Books are not meant to be ornaments. They are for use. The more signs of having been read that they show, the better. They should not be roughly or carelessly treated. Children should from the outset be taught to respect books and treat them with care. Breaking their backs, turning down corners of pages, tearing pages or thumbing them over with wet or greasy fingers should all be forbidden. A child should not treat anyone's books this way.

Marking books, however, does not come in the category unless the marks are mere idle scribbles. A well-marked book may one day be of value to its owner as a record of his development.

The child is fortunate who looks upon his books as his friends, to whom he can confide his secret likes and dreams without fear of misunderstanding or mockery.

CIVIC CLUB IN REGULAR MEET

Program Dispensed With For General Discussions
President J. B. Kittrell dispensed with a set program at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday night and announced that it was a meeting set aside especially for open discussion by every member present on any matter that might be of interest to the club.

Leading the discussion President Kittrell asked that the Greenville club lend its support to Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president of the Woman's Club, in the drive to censor and encourage better motion pictures through a national organization.

The President also announced that the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs had been invited to attend the meeting of the Boy Scouts of America at the Country Club in Greenville Thursday night, January 28. In lieu of the regular meeting on February 1st, the club voted to attend as a body.

Kitchen Cobb appealed to the Rotarians to support the Roosevelt Ball, and Dr. Ennett endorsed his appeal describing the use of the funds derived from the ball in the Crippled Children's Clinic held in Greenville at the health office once a month.

Particular stress has been laid on the urgent need and Rotarians were asked to buy tickets regardless of whether or not they could attend. Fordy Harding announced there would be an international speaker in Greenville Friday night at the High School who would talk on neutrality and peace and Rotarians were asked to contribute to defray expenses of this event.

Other topics of discussion were the appointment of Lebram Spence to supplant Haywood Dail in his absence as Sergeant-at-Arms, duly collecting all fees for tardiness, etc.; a move by Wesley Harvey to build up the Student Loan Fund of the club by voluntary birthday offerings; advocacy of J. H. Blount and Lyman Ormond of rotation in seating members at table to encourage fellowship; and a move by Karl Pace to place Rotary signs on all highways entering into Greenville. This latter motion was deferred until the cost of the signs could be determined.

It was learned with regret that Lawrence Stroud was ill, but members of the club were glad to learn that Haywood Dail was getting about "on crutches" and soon would be back. Despite having his pockets picked at the "execution" of our new governor, and despite an injury caused by a fall, Fordy Harding was very much in evidence at the meeting.

R. R. Bennett, county agent, Captain C. G. Bates of the Salvation Army, and Staunton Harvey were presented as new members. Their formal induction to take place Monday night, January 25. Tom Grant, pastor of the Methodist church, also a new member, was not present.

A Vernon Sheffield, of Norfolk, Virginia, Edgar Keel of Washington City and Bill Smith, formerly of Wilson, now located in Greenville were guests of the club. Norman Winslow, a former member of the club, also attended the meeting.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BE GIVEN IN MARKING, INSECT AND DISEASE CONTROL AND OTHER SUBJECTS

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—State College officials are expecting a large attendance at the tobacco short course to be offered North Carolina farmers, January 18-22, at the college.

Studies in tobacco grading will be a particularly important feature of the course, said Dr. J. B. Cotner, head of the farm crops department at the college.

Instruction will also be given in marking, insect and disease control, fertilization, tobacco quality, soils suited to tobacco, and crop rotation, he stated.

Plans are being made for entertainment features on one or two evenings during the week of the course.

The only charge for the course will be a registration fee of $1. Dr. Cotner added, lodging will be available in the college Y. M. C. A. for 50 cents a night.

The course will be open to white men and women over 16 years of age.

This course is the first of a series of short courses for farmers now contemplated by the college. If sufficient interest is shown in this course, others will be arranged for next winter, Dr. Cotner said.

As a faculty for the tobacco short course, Dr. Cotner has secured: Charles G. Gage and H. W. Taylor, tobacco marketing specialists; and K. J. Shaw, tobacco nutrition expert, U. S. Department of Agriculture; E. G. Moss and W. A. Bates, of the tobacco branch experiment station at Oxford; J. B. Hutson and W. G. Finn, of the AAA; E. Y. Floyd, extension tobacco specialist at State College; and Dr. R. P. DeLoe, Luther Shaw and J. B. Lutz, of the State College faculty.

Chinese Drive Against Illiteracy
Nanking, China (AP)—Some-where between a half and a third of China's 400 million people—no one knows exactly how many—are completely illiterate, or so nearly so that the characters standing for their surnames are the only ones they can recognize.

But by enforcing compulsory schooling for the young and providing after working hours and night time education for adults, the Chinese government hopes within a period of six years to have achieved such success in its fight against illiteracy that within a generation all Chinese will be able to read and write.

Eight million Chinese children are now receiving the rudiments of a general education in public and private elementary schools of the country.

The open season on quail and rabbits in Kentucky begins in November and lasts through January 8.

Tobacco Compact Bill On Way To Enactment
Raleigh, Jan. 12.—Rep. W. W. Eagles of Edgecombe county, official in the Farm Bureau Federation, last night introduced in the lower house of the North Carolina General Assembly the tobacco compact bill which would fix marketing quotas and base yields.

Other tobacco growing states would enact similar legislation under the proposal to regulate the production of the product.

The measure is sponsored by the leading farm organizations of the state, who demanded similar legislation last spring after invalidation of the AAA.

The measure started through the regular channels last night when it was sent to the agriculture committee.

Speaking in behalf of the bill, Rep. Eagles declared "it doesn't take any money from the State treasury," adding, "all it does is control tobacco production for the benefit of the farmers and nobody else."

It proposes to do the same thing as the AAA. It would provide a State Tobacco Commission of members nominated by the growers themselves.

A tax of 25 per cent. the same as levied under the AAA, would be imposed on tobacco grown and sold in excess of quotas. Fines would be provided for violation of the act.

The only thing approaching benefit payments in the bill would be provision for compensation to farmers whose crops might be damaged by fire, weather or disease.

Though not approved specifically by Governor Hoey, the measure is intended to effectuate his pledge to provide crop control and to give North Carolina the leadership in the movement.

The tobacco compact bill, as presented last night, would establish a "little AAA." Farmers would find the operation of the crop control

Program Dispensed With For General Discussions

President J. B. Kittrell dispensed with a set program at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday night and announced that it was a meeting set aside especially for open discussion by every member present on any matter that might be of interest to the club.

Leading the discussion President Kittrell asked that the Greenville club lend its support to Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president of the Woman's Club, in the drive to censor and encourage better motion pictures through a national organization.

The President also announced that the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs had been invited to attend the meeting of the Boy Scouts of America at the Country Club in Greenville Thursday night, January 28. In lieu of the regular meeting on February 1st, the club voted to attend as a body.

Kitchen Cobb appealed to the Rotarians to support the Roosevelt Ball, and Dr. Ennett endorsed his appeal describing the use of the funds derived from the ball in the Crippled Children's Clinic held in Greenville at the health office once a month.

Particular stress has been laid on the urgent need and Rotarians were asked to buy tickets regardless of whether or not they could attend. Fordy Harding announced there would be an international speaker in Greenville Friday night at the High School who would talk on neutrality and peace and Rotarians were asked to contribute to defray expenses of this event.

Other topics of discussion were the appointment of Lebram Spence to supplant Haywood Dail in his absence as Sergeant-at-Arms, duly collecting all fees for tardiness, etc.; a move by Wesley Harvey to build up the Student Loan Fund of the club by voluntary birthday offerings; advocacy of J. H. Blount and Lyman Ormond of rotation in seating members at table to encourage fellowship; and a move by Karl Pace to place Rotary signs on all highways entering into Greenville. This latter motion was deferred until the cost of the signs could be determined.

It was learned with regret that Lawrence Stroud was ill, but members of the club were glad to learn that Haywood Dail was getting about "on crutches" and soon would be back. Despite having his pockets picked at the "execution" of our new governor, and despite an injury caused by a fall, Fordy Harding was very much in evidence at the meeting.

R. R. Bennett, county agent, Captain C. G. Bates of the Salvation Army, and Staunton Harvey were presented as new members. Their formal induction to take place Monday night, January 25. Tom Grant, pastor of the Methodist church, also a new member, was not present.

A Vernon Sheffield, of Norfolk, Virginia, Edgar Keel of Washington City and Bill Smith, formerly of Wilson, now located in Greenville were guests of the club. Norman Winslow, a former member of the club, also attended the meeting.

INSTRUCTIONS TO BE GIVEN IN MARKING, INSECT AND DISEASE CONTROL AND OTHER SUBJECTS

Raleigh, Jan. 11.—State College officials are expecting a large attendance at the tobacco short course to be offered North Carolina farmers, January 18-22, at the college.

Studies in tobacco grading will be a particularly important feature of the course, said Dr. J. B. Cotner, head of the farm crops department at the college.

Instruction will also be given in marking, insect and disease control, fertilization, tobacco quality, soils suited to tobacco, and crop rotation, he stated.

Plans are being made for entertainment features on one or two evenings during the week of the course.

The only charge for the course will be a registration fee of $1. Dr. Cotner added, lodging will be available in the college Y. M. C. A. for 50 cents a night.

The course will be open to white men and women over 16 years of age.

This course is the first of a series of short courses for farmers now contemplated by the college. If sufficient interest is shown in this course, others will be arranged for next winter, Dr. Cotner said.

Though not approved specifically by Governor Hoey, the measure is intended to effectuate his pledge to provide crop control and to give North Carolina the leadership in the movement.

The tobacco compact bill, as presented last night, would establish a "little AAA." Farmers would find the operation of the crop control

if 30 per cent voted against crop control, the act would be declared ineffective for the next crop year.

The commissions of the several states in joint sessions would be required:

(1) To determine a marketing quota for any kinds of tobacco under control, based on world supply and demand.

(2) To determine a marketing quota for each state, basing the percentage for fire-cured tobacco on the 1935 production in each state.

(3) To determine a base tobacco yield for each state, the base being the total production for 1935 divided by the total acreage in the case of fire-cured tobacco.

(4) To make adjustments in state quotas each year, not to exceed a two per cent decrease or five per cent increase in the marketing quota or a five per cent decrease or increase in the base yield.

The extension director would divide the state into from three to seven districts and the committees in the counties of the district would meet to elect three district committeemen. One committeeman from each district, appointed by the Governor, plus a member of the extension staff would comprise the State Commission.

Committeemen and commission members would be elected each year in the same manner. The extension members would receive $10 for each day of work, plus subsistence and travel expenses.

The North Carolina Tobacco Commission would meet with commissions from other states to cooperate in administration of the crop control program.

Governor Hoey would be directed to negotiate a compact relating to the control of any kind of tobacco with the Governor of each state producing tobacco of that type. The compact would not become effective until joined by North Carolina, Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia, in the case of fire-cured tobacco; North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky, in the case of burley; and Virginia and Tennessee and Kentucky, in the case of fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco.

Compacts would not become effective unless made before the beginning of each crop year and unless sanctioned by Congress, as to acreage control. Withdrawal of any one state would invalidate the agreement.

Besides participating in the election of committeemen and commission members, tobacco growers of North Carolina could invalidate the program, if it proved unsatisfactory. Upon petition of 15 per cent of the growers, the commission would be required to call a referendum of the producers and Text includes 'Smoking Camels helps to keep my digestion in trim,' says Patton, oil-well fire-fighter', 'CLAD in an asbestos suit (left), "Pat" Patton tackles a blazing oil-well. "After that I can tuck away a hearty meal provided I have Camels handy," says Patton, enjoying a hasty bite (right). "Smoking Camels helps keep my digestion in proper trim. And Camels don't get on my nerves." Camels increase the flow of fluids—alkaline digestive fluids so vital to a sense of well-being after eating. Camels are mild.', 'A BRONC BUSTER takes a terrible jouncing," Alice Greenough (left), explains. "But Camels help me enjoy my food. Smoking Camels with my meals smooths things out for my digestion. I like Camel's mild, delicate flavor.', 'SPORTS REPORTER AGREES 100% with "Pat" Patton that Camels help digestion along. James Gould (right), speaking: "My job's a strain on nerves and digestion too. And my smoke is the same as "Pat" Patton's. Camels set me right—give me a cheery "lift."', 'ALL-AMERICAN Hockey Star, Phil La Bette says: "Good digestion and healthy nerves are 'musts' in this game.
