DATE CHANGED FOR HEARING LIQUOR ISSUE

Legislators Abandon Custom of Resting on Mondays

NOT MUCH WORK ACTUALLY DONE

Interest Centers In Committee Hearings On Money Measures in Legislature

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The legislature abandoned its custom of years of resting through the day Mondays and both divisions met for regular business today, but little legislative work was done.

Interest centered on the afternoon meetings of the finance and appropriations committees, drafting the tax and money spending measures for a budget in excess of $70,000,000 per year for the 1937-39 biennium.

A public hearing on liquor legislation this week was postponed until January 28.

A quorum of the Senate attended the meeting at noon, but no bills were introduced, debated or passed. The House met an hour later and likewise did little. Five minor bills were passed and five introduced. One new measure, by Best of Wayne, would exempt Wayne county from the 1935 state-wide electric machine law.

Tomorrow afternoon the House agricultural group will hold a public hearing on the proposed bill to limit tobacco production through State compacts.

Dr. Clarence Poe, Raleigh agricultural editor, sent letters to Governor Hoy and agricultural leaders of the state, urging "something much fairer than the 'historic base plan' in making tobacco acreage allotments. He said in 1933 allotments were adopted "in the hurry of a crisis and every farmer got the same rough meat-and-bone cut."

Representative Blount, of Beaufort, House judiciary committee No. 1 chairman, said the liquor hearing would be held at 2 o'clock on January 28.

Victim Of Attack May Return Home Within Few Days

Chief Clark Reports G. Lem Pleasant Recovering "Very Satisfactorily" From Assault

Chief George Clark, father-in-law of G. Lem Pleasant, who was attacked by two young men three weeks ago tonight, said today the victim was recovering "very satisfactorily" in Johns Hopkins in Baltimore and probably would be able to return here the last of this week.

Mr. Clark and Miss Margaret Clark, his daughter, returned last night from a trip to Baltimore to see Mr. Pleasant. They said there was no hope for saving his eyesight; that the bullet had been removed from his jaw and he was getting along fine. They quoted doctors of the hospital as marveling at the way in which he survived and is recovering from the brutal assault.

Number Arrests Made Here Over Week-End

No City court was held this morning, the mayor having already gone to Raleigh where he is to speak tonight at the meeting of the League of Municipalities.

Although no court was dispensed with, a number of arrests were made during the week-end.

Eugenia Spencer, negro, is being held for trial on an assault charge. She is alleged to have stabbed Lewis Taff, negro.

Guilford Webb and Irene Gibbs were locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Albert Jenkins, white man, and Gerald Jenkins, negro, each are charged with driving in a reckless manner as a result of a wreck at the intersection of Ninth street and Dickinson avenue last night. No one was seriously injured in the head-on collision, but both cars were badly damaged.

The 1936 Virginia pear crop is estimated at approximately 274,000 bushels compared with 225,000 last year.

PEACE MAKERS STILL TRYING

European Diplomats Face Trying Circumstances

(By Associated Press) Peace makers struggled in new but still trying circumstances to keep Spain's civil war isolated today—the half year point of conflict. The battle between Fascist insurgents and a Socialist government, ranged on from Madrid to the Mediterranean's two coasts.

The international non-intervention committee considered a revised scheme to blockade Spain with neutral shore observers and a six-power war ship patrol of peace.

But Russia formally opposed any non-intervention action that was not collective and Germany and Italy gave the same impression by their silence.

The insurgents outside Madrid bombarded the city again, but some of their number were trapped in a dynamited building at the capital's edge.

New Fiscal Act Would Place Tax On All Carnivals

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—Carnivals will no longer be forced to hide behind the name of various and sundry "agricultural fairs" in North Carolina—at least so far as taxation is concerned—under terms of the new Revenue act draft already approved by the joint Finance committee of both Houses.

Without interfering with the rights of any county, city or town to prohibit entirely such shows, and without repealing any existing local laws banning them, the new act reduces the tax levy on carnivals and strikes out the exemption from taxation heretofore extended to those operating within the bounds of "agricultural fairs" approved by the state Department of Agriculture.

In the past the rate of taxation was such as to render exhibitions outside fair a practical impossibility, with the state levying $100, the county having the right to assess a like sum and the municipality in position to demand as much as the other two governmental agencies put together. This made, in all, a tax of $1500 per week and there were no shows which would pay it.

The result was that every carnival hid behind a fair and was exempted altogether. All of which brought about the lamentable condition in which the state treasury received nothing at all from the shows, though they continued to do business.

Many Overburdened Streams Inundate Wide Areas

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Turbulent rivers, overburdened by winter rains cut deeply into levees today to revive fears of widespread floods in part of the middle west. Hundreds of men patched weakened sea walls in Missouri and Arkansas where flood conditions were acute. Many streams which broke their banks and inundated thousands of acres in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois last week renewed a climb toward flood stages.

Charles Blanton, WPA supervisor, termed conditions in southeastern Missouri critical. Fresh "shock troops" joined an army of 1,500 workers in an effort to stamp the raging St. Francis river's assault on levees.

Blanton reported levees near Holcomb, Genett and Senath, Mo., were in bad condition. Relief agencies sheltered more than 250 families evicted from their homes by flood waters in three counties.

Light rains brought a rise in streams throughout Indiana, but flood crests moved south toward the Ohio river. High water kept many state roads closed.

W. C. Devereaux, Cincinnati meteorologist, and flood expert, predicted residents along the Ohio would not be menaced further unless rains were heavy.

Most of the northwest was visited with frigid temperatures and snow.

Rev. G.S. Lackland Invited To Speak On Peace Action

New Haven, Connecticut, Minister Asked to Be Guest Speaker Here Wednesday Night

The Greenville Council for Peace Action has invited Rev. George S. Lackland of New Haven, Connecticut, to be the guest speaker and discussion leader for the third of the current series of discussion meetings to be held on Wednesday of this week in the High School library at 8:30 p. m.

Rev. Mr. Lackland is minister of the First Methodist Episcopal church of New Haven, director of the Wesley Foundation of Yale University, and a volunteer speaker for the fall and winter program of the Emergency Peace Campaign. He is a member of the Fellowship of Reconciliation and of the National Committee of the Methodist Federation for Social Service.

His work in these and other nationwide social interests should make his message appealing and his years of work with college students give him an unusual background out of which to make Wednesday's meeting of marked interest to students. The meetings are open to the general public. Presentation of the subject will begin at 8:30 and will be followed by a period of open discussion.

Among 3,000 University of Florida students are 43 Smiths, 25 Browns and 21 Joneses.

G. M. ACCUSED OF BAD FAITH

New Differences Menace Proposed Parley on Strike

(By Associated Press) New differences menaced proposed negotiations today between a striking car workers and the General Motors Corporation, principals in a dispute involving the jobs of at least 115,000 persons.

On the eve of a scheduled meeting with the management at Detroit, the union accused the corporation of "bad faith" and cancelled scheduled evacuation by sit down strikers of two Fisher body plants in Flint, Mich.

The union charged the corporation planned to resume operations at the strike-bound Cadillac plant in Detroit, evacuated by sit down workers who were promised it would be kept closed during negotiations and the corporation had agreed to meet with the anti-strike "Flint alliance."

General Motors officials declined to discuss immediately the possible effect of the union action on the scheduled negotiations.

Negotiators remained hopeful of progress in other labor disputes contributing to a national total of 216,000 strike idle.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF and CHATTER

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—In some quarters there has been an inclination to doubt the sincerity of Alamance's Ed R. Hanford who has proposed the state manufacture liquor. These quarters profess to believe the Burlington salon introduced the measure with his tongue in his cheek and no real desire for its enactment.

Those who know the gentleman from Alamance best, however, accept at face value his statement that the matter deserves the fullest consideration. His argument against sending so much money out of the state for products North Carolina's own farmers could supply is decidedly sound and his bill will be defeated largely by a vote of those favoring liquor control entirely as the result of political expediency and not of principle, most observers agree.

Introduction by Representative Thomas E. Cooper, of New Hanover, of a bill to abolish absentee balloting in Democratic primaries would occasion no surprise to those who know his views on the subject.

This same Mr. Cooper is violent opponent of reapportionment (New Hanover) would lose a representative and can ends that any action now would be unconstitutional. He points out that the Constitution di-

CROWDS BEGIN ARRIVING FOR INAUGURATION

Rift Over TVA May Demand Presidential Attention

SEAMEN PREPARE DEMONSTRATION

Supporters Of Larger Relief Appropriations Present Demands to Committee

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The capital welcomed the vanguard of inauguration crowds today with bustling and flags despite gray skies and a drizzling rain.

Arriving by road, rail and air, the first of an expected throng of 250,000 began to crowd hotel lobbies and swell sidewalks throngs.

Start of inauguration week found one serious problem shaping up in President Roosevelt's vast administrative staff. The widening policy rifts between Chairman Arthur Morgan and David Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley authority over TVA power policies led informed observers to expect a crisis demanding early presidential attention.

More than 1,000 rain-soaked seamen arrived for a demonstration against the "continuous discharge book" law requiring a record be kept of each time a sailor has been discharged.

Social Security Leases Buildings In North Carolina

To Establish Headquarters in Asheville, Rocky Mount, Greensboro and Wilmington

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The social security board announced today quarters have been leased in four North Carolina cities for the early opening of additional field offices in that state.

Cities and location of the offices were announced as follows: Asheville, Flat Iron building; Greensboro, Guilford building; Rocky Mount, Planters National Bank and Trust company building; and Wilmington, Tidewater building.

Offices at Charlotte, Raleigh and Salisbury are now in operation. The board said the staff in each of the new offices would be relatively small and the personnel would be drawn entirely from the civil service list.

The offices will assist in the maintenance of wage records of workers for whom social security accounts have been set up and in adjudication of claims for benefits.

Long Awaited 'Break' In Mattson Kidnapping Case Expected At Any Moment

GRAND JURORS ARE SELECTED

Criminal Term Of Superior Court Is Underway Here

Two weeks of Pitt county Superior court for trying criminal cases go underway here this morning with Judge E. H. Cranmer presiding and a new grand jury to serve during the next six months.

In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Cranmer reviewed the setup of the form of government, declaring that the people ruled themselves. He referred to the primary and election, saying that we had no dictator. He pointed out that the people recently made changes in the constitution, something rare in North Carolina.

He asked the jury to examine the various county offices, the school, buses, county prison camp, county home and any other institution coming under their jurisdiction.

The jurist remarked that the prison camps appeared to be in good condition. "The state seems to be able to take care of its convicts, but not of its children," he remarked.

He instructed the body to make a close examination of the kid trucks, seeing to it that they were driven by competent persons and that they were in good condition.

He laid much stress on the County home, saying that we no longer had poor houses, but places to take care of the aged and infirm.

Children was the subject of much of Judge Cranmer's charge. He instructed the jury to see to it that all persons handling the money of minors are making their reports as required by law. He also asked members to present the name of any minor they knew of who was without estate or guardian so some means could be found to take care of any such person in the county.

He said that children were not responsible for conditions existing today. He declared that "we should get ourselves in order before we criticize our children."

As a definition for crime, Judge Cranmer submitted the following: "Anyone who by force or fraud injures another or the property of

GILL SUBMITS CRIME REPORT

Growth of Gangs Is Blamed for Increase in Murders

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—Growth of gangs and the gangster spirit is responsible for the alarming increase in murders in North Carolina within the last few years, it is shown in a report by Edwin Gill, commissioner of paroles, entitled "Executive Clemency in Relation to Capital Punishment."

The report shows that forty-one out of 88 persons convicted of capital crimes during the Ehringhaus administration were sentenced for participation in but fifteen crimes.

"This tendency toward the commission of capital felonies by groups is largely responsible for the amazing increase in the number of capital felonies they are undoubtedly attributable to the 'gang' spirit so prevalent in recent years," says the report.

Mr. Gill gives a comprehensive analysis of the history of the 88 capital felonies whose cases were considered by Governor Ehringhaus and clearly states the chief executive's approach to the cases.

"The Governor has granted clemency only in those cases in which he thought such action would increase respect for law. In showing mercy he has kept in mind the fundamental fact that capital punishment is a drastic remedy designed to deter mankind from the commission of our most atrocious crimes," the report concludes.

Dealers In Wine Would Be Forced To Pay Big Levy

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—Dealers in wine and fruit juices legalized by the 1935 Assembly are going to find themselves faced by heavier taxation if, as appears certain, the wine sections of the proposed Budget Revenue bill are adopted.

Dealers in wines will be made subject to the same license requirements as those who sell beer and their licenses will be subject to revocation in exactly the same manner.

Then the dealer must not only pay a state, county and city license, but he will be called upon to pay an additional levy on the amount of wine sold.

For a wholesaler a statewide license will cost $150, while every retail dealer will be charged $10 each for a state, a county and a city license.

Provision is made for a rateable return of license paid the state in the event any license to any licenses is revoked by the proper officers of any county or municipality.

In addition to the license taxes herein levied a tax is hereby levied upon wines and fruit juices of twenty cents per gallon, or multiples thereof, five cents per quart, three cents per pint and two cents per half-pint.

Payment of the volume tax shall be evidenced by attaching revenue stamps to containers and provision is made for confiscation of all non-tax paid wines and juices.

FINGER PRINTS IDENTIFY MAN

Authoritative Source Declares Kidnapper-Killer of 10-Year-Old Boy Known To Be Ex-Convict Recently Paroled from Prison

Los Angeles, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The long expected "break" was believed near today in the search for the swarthy kidnaper and killer of 10-year-old Charles Mattson as federal agents concentrated suddenly in Southern California.

A dramatic swing in the manhunt to this region from the scene of the crime in Washington, 1,200 miles away was interpreted as a portent of impending developments.

Adding emphasis was the report from an authoritative source, Harold Nathan, federal agent in charge of the search at Tacoma, had sped here by airplane and taken personal charge of swiftly mobilized forces.

The same source stated finger prints had identified the man sought as an ex-convict, paroled from prison who was in the Pacific Northwest recently, returning to this section several days ago. Identity was reported established by finger prints at Tacoma, Wash., where the son of Dr. W. W. Mattson was seized at his home December 27.

Two men were held for questioning today in this area.

Vesper Service at College A deputation team from State College conducted the College Y. W. C. A. Vesper services last night, using as their theme "Resources in Religion."

Charles Stinnett was in charge of the service. After a prayer by William Spear and the Scripture reading by Herbert Crawford, Horace McSwain gave a short talk on the Resources of Religion from an individual self-discipline standpoint.

The problems of youth, he said, are more numerous and more perplexing than those of an adult. Students are daily making decisions, he explained, which will determine their future lives, and are making them with comparatively untrained minds and without the advice of their elders. Therefore, they must work out their ideals with the resources they have, the most valuable of which is prayer, which gives on an inward self-discipline.

Mr. Crawford followed this brief message with the reading of a selection of poems, among them, "Songs" by Dayle, and "God Send Us Men" by Gilliam.

The second part of the program was a brief talk by Mr. Stinnett on the "Resources of Religion from the Ever-Widening Social Point of View." Religion, he said, is an interpretation of life, the manner in which it answers problems of daily living; life is real and demands a real, rational solution. The decisions of people must be dictated by the Divine Master. The modern disciple of Christ stands a beacon of civilized life and the resourcefulness of Christian religion has established itself as a means of progressing civilization.

M. M. Dail, a native of Greenville, also accompanied the group.

New Concert Piano for Recital Zimbalist's accompanist will play on a beautiful new Steinway grand concert piano tomorrow night, which has been shipped from Richmond and which is to remain on the campus as a property of the college.

For years a good concert piano has been one of the greatest needs and one that has been keenly felt whenever an artist has had to play on the old one. Several times pianos have been sent here for just one concert and had to be immediately returned. The students were so interested that two years ago they started a fund for a new piano.

They found they could not raise enough to purchase one, but turned the amount raised over to College authorities.

Zimbalist's accompanist, Vladimir Sokoloff, will be the first one to play on it—in the concert tomorrow night.

The admission for the concert has been set at a low price, only a little above a movie, with special rate for children, so that everybody can have a chance to hear the great violinist. There will be no reserved seats or advance sale of tickets, only general admission, with tickets sold at the door.

The place will be Robert H. Wright Auditorium and the time will be 8:30.

HIGHS SET FOR BABY DEACONS

Coaches of Both Teams Anxious for Victory Tuesday

Tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock the Greenville High school basketball team will play host to its strongest opponents of the 1937 season. The team is now other than the Wake Forest Freshman known to most people as the "Baby Deacons."

It is considered a compliment to Greenville High school and to the city that the athletic officials of Wake Forest College consented to let their freshman team come here and play the High school. It is a hard matter for high schools to arrange games with college freshmen teams and very seldom do any college teams leave their home court unless it is to play other freshmen teams. Fans of this city would appreciate this fact and turn out en masse to see the game.

The game will have an interesting feature to it in regard to the coaches of the two teams. Reynolds Mays, who coaches the local team went to Duke, and played four years on the varsity team where "Goat" Hatcher, coach of the Wake Forest varsity the same time Mays was at Duke. Hatcher played a guard while Mays played a forward and every time the two schools would play each other these two boys would have an individual battle of their own. He was the finest defensive player I have ever been. Coach Mays said today, "I only scored two points off of him in four stars. His freshmen are bound to be demons on defense."

The game will see two good ball clubs lineup against each other. The Green Phantoms have won five straight games without suffering a defeat. They will go into the game tomorrow night with a clean slate. On the other hand the Baby Deacons have lost close games to the Carolina and Duke freshmen teams that have won the rest of their games. They number among their players the freshmen teams of Ranciman, N. C. State, and Davidson.

One of the reasons that Al Dowling, business manager of athletics at Wake Forest, was so willing to schedule the game was because of the large number of Wake Forest alumni in Pitt county. Mr. Dowling had thought these alumni would enjoy seeing a Deacon team perform in this vicinity.

This will be the only game Tuesday night and it will start promptly at 7:30. Additional seats are being put on the stage and around the balcony to accommodate an overflow crowd.

Trade Envoy

Determined, he said, "to do everything in my power to increase the exchange of goods between Britain and America." Transactions after announcement by Henry M. Vinson, president of the United Automobile workers of America, that the conference with strike leaders is "off."

The market had followed closely the course of developments in the G. M. situation.

A second selling wave which sent General Motors and Chrysler down about three points each near the start of the fourth hour followed Martin's announcement after a brief talk with strike leaders.

Bonds and commodities displayed pessimistic trends.

CITES NEED OF REVIVAL HERE

Rev. A. W. Fleischman Delivers Sermon at Joint Service

"The greatest need of America today is a heaven-born, God-sent revival," declared the Rev. A. W. Fleischman, of Memorial Baptist church, speaking last night before the second overflow congregation of the union evening services held in the local Methodist church. "Indeed, we can have a revival here in Greenville if we are willing to pay the price!"

Speaking on the subject, "Revive Us Again!" and using as his text a prayer from Psalm 85, "Wilt thou revive us again that they people may rejoice in Thee?" Mr. Fleischman made an impassioned plea for professing Christians to be converted "from self-life to the life in Christ."

After an introductory survey of the history of religious awakenings in this country since its earliest days, the speaker then briefly set forth four thoughts which he derived from the text: God's ability to answer such a prayer; the people who are involved in such a prayer; "as professedly religious people"; the product and the purpose of such a prayer. Disclaiming any ability to predict the form such a revival would or should take, the speaker nevertheless laid upon his hearers the imperative need of a revival of pure and practical religion.

Pointing out that Fascism and Communism are bidding for the loyalty of a great part of the human race, "we who live in a steam-heated sort of world have got to gain a more intense conviction of the cancerous effects of sin" that they may be paved for a true religious reawakening, he declared.

Last night's service was presided over by the Rev. Wm. A. Ryan, president of the local Ministerial Association. The Rev. J. R. Potts read the Scripture and led in prayer.

In addition to the leadership of a large inter-church choir and inspiring congregational singing, a quartette composed of J. H. Rose, H. A. McDougle, Spruill Spain and Prof. Taylor, of the Music Education Department of the college, sang "The Old Rugged Cross."

'Shackled, Chained'

Testifying in Washington before the Senate Civil Liberties committee investigating the flogging of Joseph S. Gelders in Alabama, Jack Barton (above), a native of Savannah, Ga., declared he was "jailed, shackled and chained" for distributing Communist literature in Alabama last fall. SUM SPENT ON STATE'S PARKS

Nearly $500,000 Allocated Since Beginning of Work

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—Nearly $500,000 of Federal funds have been expended in the development of five State Parks in North Carolina since the beginning of work in 1934, according to J. S. Holmes, State Forester.

These expenditures represent only the estimated cost of improvement, supervision, equipment, materials, and the value of labor furnished by the Civilian Conservation Corps. This development program has been carried out under the joint direction of the National Park Service and the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development.

"The entire cost of maintenance and administrative work connected with the CCC Camps engaged in State Park development in North Carolina is estimated at nearly $1,500,000," Mr. Holmes said.

At present Civilian Conservation Camps are located in three State Parks: Hanging Rock, Stokes County; Morrow Mountain, Stanly County; and Cape Hatteras, Dare County. Another camp spent over a year in the restoration of Fort Raleigh and in developing the park in Carteret County. A fifth camp, located on Mt. Mitchell in Yadon County during the summer of 1936, was engaged in making improvements on this park area. Although the work program for Rondo Mountain State Park in Wilkes County, not considered extensive enough to justify the establishment of a camp, improvements were carried out by several Federal emergency work agencies.
