PLAN TAKE RELIEF FIRST OF WEEK

First Major Problem To Be Considered By Congress

RFC BILL IS SENT TO WHITE HOUSE

House Approval To Measure Extending Lending Powers Given Yesterday

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A bill extending the lending powers of the RFC, approved by both Houses of Congress, went to the White House today for President Roosevelt's signature.

The House voted the continuation late yesterday and also extended the commodity credit corporation, the electric farm and home authority, and the export-import bank.

Congress, in recess today, will plunge next week into its first major problem, relief.

Chairman Buchanan (D. Tex.) of the House appropriations committee hopes to bring before the House Monday President Roosevelt's $700,000,000 request for relief funds to carry up to July 1. Leaders expect a vote by Wednesday.

First, however, the House must consider a bill providing a $50,000,000 crop production loan fund.

Evidence of alleged cooperation between a labor espionage service and government agents was sought by Senate investigators in the files of the national metal trades association.

National Scouter Speaker Thursday At Meeting Here

William E. Lawrence of the National Health and Safety Committee to Lead Discussion

President W. K. Helms of the East Carolina Council today urged Greenville District of the East Carolina Council to be present for the East Carolina Council Annual meeting in Greenville next Thursday. As in the past, this will be a convention type of annual meeting and will open at 3 o'clock at the High school in Greenville, which is the host district for this year's Annual meeting.

Discussion groups will be held from 3 to 5 o'clock, and a question box hour conducted by William E. Lawrence of the National office from 5 to 6 o'clock.

Promptly at 7 o'clock in the East Carolina Teachers College banquet hall, it is expected over 150 Scouters, which will include the Rotary and the Kiwanis clubs of Greenville, will gather for the annual banquet, at which time a new president will be elected for the East Carolina Council. Mr. Helms has served for two years, and in his terms as president, the Council membership has grown from 865 Scouts to 1,223, or nearly 1,000 Scouts.

Scouters (adult leaders) are especially invited and expected to bring their wives, or lady friends, to the banquet session, and parents and others are cordially invited. For this particular meeting, the boys are not expected to attend.

Mr. Lawrence of the Health and Safety Department is one of the younger men of the National office, who is working throughout the country and will meet with the Health and Safety members of every District, which includes Dr. N. T. Ennett of this district, during the afternoon to outline the Health and Safety program for 1937. The address by Mr. Lawrence at the banquet in the evening promises to be outstanding.

It is understood that the Council, several of the districts, 12 of the 101 troops, will receive awards during the evening. Dr. E. L. Henderson, Chairman of this district, is desirous that the Greenville District bring back the coveted American flag as an attendance award at the banquet-session and urges all adults to make arrangements to go Thursday.

The annual report of the Scout Executive, and reports of Chairmen, will be heard. An outstanding feature of this annual meeting will be a short play, entitled "What Am I Bid For A Boy?", to be enacted by prominent citizens of Greenville.

BOATS PLY FLOODED STREETS OF LOUISVILLE

Automobiles were replaced by boats in the streets of Louisville, Ky., when flood waters from the Ohio river spread over wide areas of the city. A large motorboat and other small boats are shown evacuating people from stores and homes partially submerged. Meanwhile rivers throughout the Ohio valley rose toward the highest crests in their history driving thousands from their homes. (AP. Photo.)

RUSSIAN PLOT TRIAL OPENED

Seventeen Defendants Alleged To Have Confessed

Moscow, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Soviet Russia opened the trials of 17 once highly esteemed Bolsheviks today with an amazing account of "full confessions" to a plot to partition Russia between Germany and Japan and to aid Japan with Soviet oil in event that nation went to war with the United States.

The Soviet government placed Karl Radek, bearded man of letters, and 16 of his accused co-plotters on trial for their lives in what was a gay ballroom in the Russia of the czars. America's new ambassador, Joseph Davies, listened avidly.

Reading of the startling indictment showed complete admission of guilt allegedly had been obtained from all 17 defendants.

They were accused of conspiring with the exiled Leon Trotsky, now in Mexico, to give the Ukraine to Germany and the Soviet maritime and Amur provinces to Japan to obtain foreign aid in overthrowing the regime of Joseph Stalin.

BEARDS SEEN AS AID AGAINST SILICOSIS

London (AP)—Beards and mustaches, according to a magazine article published here, may be a protection against silicosis, the disease of the lungs caused by inhaling stone dust.

Suggesting that masons use "nature's respirator," the article recalled that when the Walter Scott monument was being built at Edinburgh during the last century, it was found that the clean-shaven suffered most "and men with full bushy beards and mustaches were practically immune."

Father Divine Follower Pays Old Debt Here

Whether a person believes in the teachings and doctrines of "Father Divine," New York negro hailed by his followers as "God," he must be given credit for causing some people to meet their obligations who otherwise evidently would not have paid their bills.

J. B. Smith, who for a number of years was in the wholesale business here, has just received a letter from a former debtor, Maggie Moore, negro woman who operated a store on Bonner's Lane here, containing a money order for $42.50 in payment for goods she bought but never paid for.

Maggie, who has changed her name to "Mary Magdalene Delight," frankly admits in her letter "that if it had not been for him (Father Divine) you would not get this money. You should write him, and thank him."

The Negro woman devoted part of her letter to praise of Father Divine and insists that "the very same Jesus that was here 1900 years ago, healing the sick, giving sight to the blind, is here again in the person of 'Father Divine.'"

Week's Weather

Rather frequent appearances of rain during week over north and central portions; continued mild in Florida, somewhat colder elsewhere at beginning and again about middle of week.

NEXT MOVE UP TO UNIONISTS

General Motors Official Says G.M. Willing to Negotiate

Detroit, Jan. 23.—(AP)—William Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors defining the issue in widespread strikes affecting its plant as "property rights or no property rights" said today the next step is up to the union.

He reiterated the corporation's willingness to negotiate with the U. A. W. A. as soon as sit down strikers evacuate two Fisher body plants at Flint, Mich. and added "it's up to those fellows to leave the plant."

Knudsen who returned today from Washington and New York after the failure of federal efforts to break the deadlock made it clear there were no plans now to reopen factories where strikes are in progress.

State and federal officials gave no intimation of expectations of an early break in the labor dispute which began with a strike in one factory November 13.

MONUMENT TO HONOR AMPUTATED LEG

Chengtu, China (AP)—A monument to an amputated leg designed to inspire young patriots to give their limbs for their country, is to be erected here.

The memorial will commemorate the leg lost fighting communists last year by a brigadier in the national army.

Reveal Plans For Added Attraction At Birthday Ball

Additional Details of Program Include Announcement Professional Dancer to Be Here

As an added attraction to the program for the annual Roosevelt Birthday ball were announced today, indicating that this year's event will be the most entertaining ever held in this section.

The ball will be held at the Campus building of the college next Friday night. It is county-wide and a large crowd is expected to be on hand for the two floor shows and also to engage in dancing themselves.

As an added attraction to the floor shows, Miss Louise Beckett of Richmond and Norfolk, a professional dancer, has accepted an invitation of Miss Ramona Staples to appear on the program. Miss Beckett enjoys a wide reputation and the program committee has expressed much satisfaction with the success of Miss Staples in asking her to appear here.

Two complete floor shows will be presented. Miss Caroline Hamerik will present one, while Miss Staples will put on another.

JAPAN'S HEAD IS FORCED OUT

Cabinet of Premier Koki Hirota Ousted From Office

Tokyo, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Japan's parliamentary political parties overthrew the cabinet of Premier Koki Hirota today, forcing the government to resign under their bitter attack on the army.

The premier, unable to reach a compromise between the angry military leaders and the political parties presented the cabinet's resignation to the emperor after a final session of his ministers.

It was the first time in Japan's parliamentary history the lower house has succeeded in wrecking the government which always before had resorted to dissolution and a general election when the diet's opposition became too strong.

Whether or not it will be true victory for the political leaders depends, observers said, on the membership of the succeeding cabinet which the militarists are trying to capture.

Episcopal Women To Meet In Local Church

On Wednesday and Thursday of next week, the annual convention of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of East Carolina will meet in Saint Paul's parish, Greenville.

This will bring to Greenville about three hundred representative people of the Episcopal Church from various parts of eastern North Carolina. A very splendid program has been arranged for this meeting which should be of interest to every member of the parish, and all are urged to attend the several sessions and Miss Anna Long, president of the two local branches of the Auxiliary, are in charge of arrangements for the convention.

The program also included talks by Louis Mayo on Lee and Miss Melva Stokes on Stonewall Jackson, Confederate heroes in the Civil war. Both the speakers are seniors in the High school.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF and CHATTER

Raleigh, Jan. 23.—Opening Thursday's House session with prayer, Representative R. E. Sentelle asked Divine guidance for "members of the press who are covering this session."

"Huh," remarked New Hanover's J. C. Hobbs, "They need it all right, but the Lord has been in possession of that information for a long time."

Franklin's Willie Lee Lumpkin showed cause Thursday night why he is invariably successful in his local campaigns and why he is considered one of the state's ablest political champions.

Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments which had just heard arguments on the child labor amendment, Mr. Lumpkin stationed himself in the aisle near the door of the hall of the House and very sincerely thanked everyone who attended.

Found in the rotunda just after the Senate had convened for business, Sandy Graham, who has just concluded sixteen years legislative service pointed to the Senate chamber door and said:

"It seems a little strange to see those doors shut with me on the outside."

FLOOD WATERS FORCE 300,000 DESERT HOMES

Relief Forces Mobilized to Provide Food and Shelter

OHIO STANDING AT 72.8 FEET NOW

Bitter Cold Adds To Suffering, But Acts To Stay the Rise of Streams

(By Associated Press)
Out of the flood stricken area of 10 states today came nearly 300,000 refugees leaving behind them a rising tide of devastating water.

Their cries for food and shelter mobilized the relief forces of the nation and brought from President Roosevelt a public appeal for $2,000,000 to allay human misery in the Ohio and Mississippi valleys.

Rain, swollen rivers delayed no trace. The Ohio reached a stage of 72.8 feet at Cincinnati and covered about one-seventh of the city, 111 square miles. It continued to rise down its course to Cairo, Ill.

The coast guard ordered two amphibian planes and 22 boats to Memphis for emergency flood duty. More than 40 boats already were in service in the flood areas, and 13 boats and 55 men were en route to Cincinnati.

Howard Hunter, midwest director of the WPA assumed direction of the flood relief activities and announced at Chicago he was prepared to send 50,000 workers in the inundated territory.

More than 75,000 were homeless in Ohio. Red Cross authorities estimated another 40,000 were without shelter in Illinois, Arkansas and Missouri.

Conservative estimates of the homeless in other states were: Kentucky, 40,000; Tennessee, 25,000; West Virginia, 40,000; Mississippi, 100; Indiana, 33,000; Pennsylvania, 4,500.

Extra cold added to the suffering of the flood refugees but acted to stay the rise of the waters. Weather bureau darkened the picture by predicting more rain Monday in the Ohio valley and Tennessee.

The list of dead increased to 20 divided among these states: Ohio 4, Illinois 3; Tennessee, four; West Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri, two each; Mississippi, Arkansas and Pennsylvania, one each.

Picture-Map Donated To High School Here

The George B. Singletary chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, presented the High school with a picture map of the Jefferson Davis highway at chapel exercises yesterday honoring the birthday of Robert E. Lee, which fell on Tuesday.

The map includes every state in the Union. It was presented by V. M. Mulholland and was accepted in behalf of the school by Mrs. Luther Herring, librarian. The picture-map will be placed in the library.

The program also included talks by Louis Mayo on Lee and Miss Melva Stokes on Stonewall Jackson, Confederate heroes in the Civil war. Both the speakers are seniors in the High school.

Eugene Spencer Brown, negro, was bound over to County court under bond of $300 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, to wit, a knife.

O. D. Ingram, white man, was fined $10 and costs or ordered sent to the roads upon conviction of public drunkenness. It was the second time the defendant has been tried in court during the week.

Ernest Smith, white man, also was fined $10 and costs upon conviction of drunkenness.

Clarence Waters was fined $5 and costs upon a charge of violating traffic regulations.

Levy Evans, another white man, was fined $10 and costs upon conviction of drunkenness.

An unusual fact about the court this morning was that each of the defendants charged with possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale was a negro, while each of the defendants convicted of drunkenness was a white man.

Somebody slipped a fast one over on the House reading clerk Thursday. Among the notices he read was one advertising a "special sale of ladies' dresses" at a local "Bargain house."

Early returns indicate that Senators introduced just about as many bills per capita as do House members, the rate on Thursday being exactly one per Senator against slightly less than one per Representative.

In the upper chamber Senate Bill No. 50 was introduced, while on the other side House Bill No. 114 was the highest numbered to hit the hopper.

This doesn't mean, though, that every Senator has put in a bill and that only 6 Representatives have not, because there are many members in both branches who have not, and probably will not, introduce a bill.

Proponents of the Child Labor amendment scored their most telling point in argument before the House committee on Constitutional Amendments when they pointed

Solons Continue To Speed Duties

Week's Legislative Activities Punctuated By March of 2,500 Farmers on Capital in Efforts Secure Compact Legislation

(By RALPH L. HOWLAND)
Raleigh, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Punctuated by the march of 2,500 farmers who demanded the enactment of a tobacco compact measure acceptable to the "little man," legislative activities this week centered upon the intricate problems of taxes, appropriations and child labor.

With record-breaking appropriations tentatively provided, a joint committee listened to scores of representatives of state institutions asking still larger allocations of funds.

Meanwhile, the joint finance committee, dividing itself into sub-committees to study various phases of the bill, cast speculative eyes toward the appropriations body.

Finance sub-committees were asked to reduce the tax on retail sales, leave the revenue from intangibles to the counties and not to impose greater taxes upon chain stores.

Drafters of the finance bill had placed new levies on intangibles, wines and gifts as a means of providing the increased appropriations.

Members of the finance committee, who said they desired to offer their bill on the floor at an early date, admitted the social security issue would further complicate matters.

The legislature rushed through a $600,000 measure for the purchase of 650 new school buses when a number of schools were closed because of "unsafe means of transportation." Senator Hill of Durham asked a "thorough investigation" of the manner in which the buses had been handled, declaring "it looks funny to me that buses wear out only in different parts of the state."

Remembering the demands of the farmers, subcommittee members Friday refused to comment upon prospects of early passage of a compact measure that still requires enactment by South Carolina and Georgia. Facing the committee is an amendment fixing a 3.2-acre minimum with a 35 per cent of cultivated acreage as a maximum for flue-cured growers.

HEAVY POLICE COURT DOCKET

Several White Men Are Convicted Of Drunkenness

As a result of several liquor raids by City police officers last night and numerous arrests of persons for public drunkenness since the last session of City court, Mayor M. K. Blount filed a heavy docket in that tribunal this morning.

Three negroes, one woman and two men, were bound over to County court on charges of possessing illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale. The three, with the amount say the arrests were Ernest Reeves, $300; Louise Whitchard, $500; and Alex Williams, $300. Police described the negro woman as one of the city's most regular offenders. Her said cases were pending against her in higher courts at the present time.

Three negroes charged with breaking, entering and larceny were bound over to Superior court under bonds of $300 each. The three, Buddy Carr, James Carr and Willy Blow, are charged with having entered a warehouse here and stolen a large amount of corn.

Eugene Spencer Brown, negro, was bound over to County court under bond of $300 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, to wit, a knife.

O. D. Ingram, white man, was fined $10 and costs or ordered sent to the roads upon conviction of public drunkenness. It was the second time the defendant has been tried in court during the week.

Ernest Smith, white man, also was fined $10 and costs upon conviction of drunkenness.

Clarence Waters was fined $5 and costs upon a charge of violating traffic regulations.

Levy Evans, another white man, was fined $10 and costs upon conviction of drunkenness.

An unusual fact about the court this morning was that each of the defendants charged with possessing whiskey for the purpose of sale was a negro, while each of the defendants convicted of drunkenness was a white man.

Criminal Session Disposes Of Many Cases On Docket

Another Week of Court to Get Underway Here Monday Morning With Judge Cranmer in Chair

The first of two weeks of Pitt County Superior court to hear criminal cases, was completed today after a large number of cases had been disposed of in both day and night sessions.

Antonia Rouse was given 30 days for an assault on a female, Gold Ragland was acquitted of a driving reckless charge; William Highsmith was found not guilty of manslaughter; Wilbur Dixon was given five months for larceny; B. T. Heath was fined $35 for reckless driving; J. K. Dean was fined $25 for reckless driving; L. C. Stokes was acquitted of a hit and run and manslaughter charge; and Linwood Stokes was given a two year sentence for hit and run, the sentence suspended upon provision he pay the costs of court, pay all expenses as a result of the wreck, and remain of good behavior and not drive an automobile for 12 months.

House Accepts Substitute Bill Providing for Actual Retirement of Judges

Raleigh, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The general assembly held perfunctory Saturday sessions today despite a resolution calling for regular meetings six days a week and no meeting will be held of either division again until Monday night.

Rep. Ward of Craven protested against the House postponing its next session until night Monday, but was voted down.

Each division passed a resolution inviting Frank Bane, executive director of the Federal Social Security board, to address the legislature when he comes to Raleigh next week to talk to the State Social service conference.

There were 35 of the 120 representatives present and 12 of the 50 senators, and the total time for the meetings was 23 minutes.

The House accepted a committee substitute bill to provide for actual retirement of emergency judges to relieve them from present requirements that they hold courts when needed though they have reached the retirement age.

House members passed five local bills and the senators passed two.

Socialist Repeat Charges Germany Helping Fascists

Madrid Troubles Under One of Most Violent Insurgent Attacks of Six Months' War

(By Associated Press)
Spain's Socialist government charged anew today that German naval units and German planes were helping Fascist insurgents.

Madrid, for many weeks the Verdun of the government, trembled under one of the most violent insurgent artillery bombardments of the six months' war.

In Europe, France's premier moved to seek a check on German rearmament. Italy and Germany were reported toying with the idea of offering neutrality guarantees to Belgium, long the ally of France in war and in peace.

France also took steps to show her good faith in the matter of Spanish intervention. She agreed, reportedly, to impound Spanish government gold as Italy and Germany have demanded if the Spanish insurgents will stop shipping copper to Rome and Berlin in payment for munitions.

The copper, it has been indicated, is coming from British and French-owned mines in insurgent Spanish territory. The copper sale allegedly is forced by Fascist Dictator Francisco Franco.

Churches To Join In Union Night Services

The third of the union evening services will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Large congregations have entered into these worship services the past few Sunday evenings, and it is expected that an equally large and enthusiastic congregation will be present tomorrow night.

With a special evangelistic mission to be given, and the leadership of a large community choir in the singing of familiar Gospel hymns, it is expected that tomorrow night's service will again reveal the inter-denominational spirit already so evidenced by these services.

Participating local churches are: Immanuel Baptist, Memorial Baptist, Eighth St. Christian, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Methodist.

Visitors to the city are especially invited.

VOTING ONLY BEGINS POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Bello Horizonte, Brazil (AP)—Members of the municipal administration here refused to give up their jobs when voted out of office, and prepared to hold the town hall by arms.

When the newly elected staff picketed the building and entered on business outside, however, the old group came out through the windows and surrendered.

How's Your Health?

ANEMIA

"What shall I do for my anemia?" The answer depends on what causes it. Anemia simply means that the blood is deficient in one or more elements.

Anemia refers to the red blood cells of the blood. A normal man in good health has approximately 5,000,000 red blood cells in each cubic millimeter of blood. The number is somewhat smaller (4,000,000) in females. The cells are red, because of a pigment known as hemoglobin.

Obviously anemia may be due to an insufficiency of blood cells, each containing its normal amount of hemoglobin, or the number of cells may be normal, but their hemoglobin content may be deficient. Of course both deficiencies may exist together.

The red blood cells, by means of their hemoglobin, carry oxygen from the lungs to the tissues. The cells originate in the red marrow of the bones. They gain entrance into the blood stream, serve for several weeks and, when "worn out," are destroyed. It has been estimated that as many as 450,000,000,000 red blood cells are normally destroyed every day in the average adult's body.

Anemia can result from the excessive destruction, or loss, of red blood cells, or from failure of their regeneration.

The most obvious cause of anemia is an acute or chronic blood loss. A severe hemorrhage decreases appreciably the number of blood cells present in the circulating blood.

When destruction of the blood cells exceeds the normal rate, anemia results. Such increased blood destruction may be the result of certain chemicals (drugs, noxious fumes, industrial poisons) and of certain disease conditions such as malaria and bacterial infections of the blood stream.

Anemia may be the result of a decrease in the normal reproduction of red blood cells. This may be due to nutritional deficiencies, inadequate intake of essential food elements (protein, iron and vitamins).

Again, anemia may result from some disease of the blood forming organs themselves, resulting from the effects of toxic substances on bone marrow, or to disease processes which affect the bones.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

Chapter 43 The Letters Come Back

ANNE and Bigelow did not speak again until it was necessary to drop back into a trot. "Of course you've heard nothing more from Karsnako?" she asked then.

"No, nothing more." "I was longing to call her up this morning when I called you," said Anne, "only I simply couldn't waken her, knowing the hectic night she had last night."

"Why did you want to call her up?" "To find out what chance there is of Hagedorn's trapping her. I mean—whether anyone in the hotel is likely to remember seeing her go out again that night."

"I should think that is almost certain," said Bigelow. "She must have used the elevator." "But that particular elevator boy may not still be employed there. . . . mean, we just learned yesterday that she was the woman in the milk coat, and she has known it all along. And she's clever. She has had time to think about covering her movements that night. . . ."

"You think she may have got rid of any inconvenient witnesses?" "I should have tried to, if I had been in her place," said Anne. "Yes," agreed Bigelow, "it's quite possible she did think of that."

"And another thing I want to ask her is whether there is any chance that the police might discover the Vronski jewels in her possession." "She surely safeguarded herself against that risk," said he. "I'm hoping so."

While their horses held an easy gallop, Anne and Bigelow did not speak.

Waffles And Sausages

THEY turned over the horses to the groom and got into Anne's car. "I believe I've got an appetite," observed Anne in tones of awe, "and for no reason in the world I'm feeling more cheerful than I have for a long time."

"Where are we going to breakfast?" asked Bigelow. "I'm feeling ravenous, myself." "At home, I ordered waffles and sausages and hot rolls and plenty of coffee. But if you wish—certainly, I put them back in the cabinet. I'll get them." She rose and rustled out.

"They were the letters Vronski was holding!" cried Bigelow. "Yes. But he must have altered the dates. They were dated a year ago. And they looked quite fresh."

"Then—you were protecting her?" asked Bigelow breathlessly. "Yes," said Anne. "At least—I thought so." Tomorrow, Karsnako escapes, eluding in an—elude.

Proposed Statute Designed Protect Dry-Voting Areas

Act Would Make It a Misdemeanor For Any Person to Be Off His Own Premises While Drunk

Reflector Bureau, Sir Walter Hotel. Raleigh, Jan. 21—Protection of dry counties against liquor and drunks was tossed into the field of liquor discussion yesterday with introduction of a bill by Duplin's Representative C. E. Quinn. The measure bore the title, "A bill to protect Duplin county from persons under the influence of intoxicants."

Substance matter hardly bore out the title a bill did nothing more than make it a misdemeanor for any person to be off his own premises in Duplin county while under the influence of intoxicants of any sort, but it served to bring to the front one of the vexing problems which is in the way of a compromise between state and county control advocates.

The strongest county controllers declared that there should be ample and air tight protection for those counties which vote dry. "Dry counties should be protected in the most effective practical way," said New Hanover's J. C. Hobbs one of the most ardent advocates of county option.

State control supporters cited this necessity for protecting dry counties as one of the strongest arguments for their viewpoint, pointing out that it is inherently impossible to give protection to the dry counties under a plan which gives complete control to the counties themselves. They believe that only by giving the state power over the sale of intoxicating liquor can there be any real protection of the dry counties.

U. S. Page, former state Senator, assumed charge of the opposition to ratification and delivered himself of a fiery and ungrammatical address which reached its climax in the shouted peroration: "We fought the Civil war for a nigger, what would we do for a young 'un'."

It was very noticeable that not a single industrial group sent a representative to oppose ratification of the child labor amendment. Practically all the "group" advocacy was on the other side.

MUCH SUPPORT ON HOME RULE

Many University Graduates Line Up Behind Plan

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Jan. 21—Many Chapel Hill alumni of the Greater University of North Carolina are in complete accord with alumni of the State College and the Women's College in Greensboro for "home rule" and "local self government" for these institutions. It is becoming increasingly apparent here.

For while those favoring greater autonomy for the various units of the Greater University, so that they will not be subject to complete domination and veto by President P. Graham, are working quietly, they are working persistently and have already obtained much support from alumni of the Chapel Hill Unit in favor of the "local self government" plan.

Some are still inclined to believe that the "Graham Plan" and the action of President Graham in stepping in and overruling both the athletic council and the faculty council in the Coach Hunk Anderson case, are responsible for the movement to clip Graham's wings and reduce his authority over the other units.

But those who have been digging into the background seeking the underlying motives of the growing dissatisfaction at State College and the Women's College with conditions as they have been and now are under the rule of President Graham, are convinced that by no means the cause of this feeling, but merely the incident which brought it to a focus.

There is far more resentment out at State College here, for instance, over the action taken by President Graham in overruling the faculty and Administrative Dean in purely scholastic matters than in his overruling of the faculty council and athletic council by refusing to approve the new contract given Hunk Anderson by the athletic council. It is generally agreed. Both faculty members and students generally know that a number of months ago, when a new department was created at State College, President Graham disregarded completely the recommendations of the faculty and named a faculty member as dean of the new department who had received only ten votes for the post from the faculty. The faculty member who had received 80 votes for the deanship and another who had received 30 votes, were completely disregarded by President Graham, despite the fact that he presented the three names to the faculty and asked them to indicate their preference.

This has had a demoralizing effect upon the faculty members and made them feel that they are being completely ignored and disregarded in the administration of the college. It is also reported that in frequent cases President Graham has ignored the views and recommendations of Administrative Dean J. W. Harrelson, although alumni and faculty members both maintain that Dean Harrelson, who lives on the State College campus and who has been a member of the faculty for almost 30 years, is far more familiar with its conditions and problems here at State than its absentee President in Chapel Hill.

Jan Garber to Play In Wilson January 16

Wilson, Jan. 23. — The annual Winter Dance of the Green Parrot Club of Wilson will be given at the Watson warehouse here on Tuesday, February 16. It was announced today by officers of the club.

Jan Garber and his radio orchestra will play for the gathering this year and a huge crowd from all over Eastern Carolina is expected to attend the affair.

This will be Garber's second appearance here at a Greene Parrot annual affair in the last 12 months. He played for the annual Spring Ball of the local club last April at one of the largest dances that Eastern Carolina has ever witnessed.

Garber is a favorite with audiences in this section of the country. One of the reasons may be the fact that he lived here for a time several years ago, and is known personally to hundreds of Carolinians all over the state.

Sponsors for the Ball will be from all over the state, many coming from Raleigh and points even further west.

"The Idol of the Air Lanes" now has a full sized organization and while featuring the sweet-melodious tunes, both classical and popular, he still manages to inject some of his humorous escapades into the entertainment.

Captain John A. Nelson of Morehead City, State Commercial Fisheries Commissioner, was here this week conferring with Director Bruce Etheridge of the Department of Conservation and with members of the appropriations committee, explaining the need for the increased appropriation.

For the past two years or more the commercial fisheries division has not had an appropriation large enough to do any patrol work in the ocean in an effort to keep steam trawlers outside the three-mile limit, Captain Nelson said. As a result, a larger and larger

By JOHN DAVID BRIDGERS (Staff Correspondent) Wilson, Jan. 23.—Rallying in the last quarter of their most exciting and interesting game of the season, the Green Phantoms of Greenville High School edged out the basket ball quint of the Charles L. Coon High School of Wilson here last night by a score of 21 to 19.

Near the end of the game the score was continuously threatened and neither of the teams were ahead more than four points.

The Greens were led by Marjorie Sugg, who tallied for 8 points. Betty Tyson, fresh star, also played very good game. Madeline Woolard led the defense, aided by Merrill and Whitehurst.

Several Members Of ECTC Faculty Attending Session

One in Series of Conferences Held in Rocky Mount Today For Discussion of Reading Problems

Several members of the Education Department of the College are attending a one day conference on reading problems being held in Rocky Mount today which is one of five to be held on consecutive Saturdays in eastern North Carolina.

The final one will be held in Greenville on February 13. The first one, held in Goldsboro last Sunday, was attended by approximately 300 teachers and principals. Teachers who plan to attend these conferences are requested to bring a written outline of the reading problems they have encountered in their actual teaching, with lists of the difficulties of the pupils and the major troubles they have met in teaching reading and detailed notes of special troubles. Discussion of these at the meeting will give each teacher practical assistance that they can apply immediately.

There are also other valuable features of the program, such as curriculum study, an evaluation of materials of reading and methods of teaching it, and a reading clinic in which there will be a demonstration with the children and an exhibit of special equipment for testing reading.

Dr. C. L. Adams, Dr. H. L. Haynes, Misses Wahl, Charleston and Newell were the college teachers who attended the meeting today.

The conferences scheduled for the next two weeks are in Wilmington and Elizabeth City. Definite information about the one to be held at the college three weeks from today will be announced later.

ATTEMPT SEEN TO PASS BUCK

Proposal Would Provide Study on Tax Exemptions

Raleigh, Jan. 23.—Advocates of exemption of $1,000 homes from taxation and of classification of property see a concerted movement to "pass the buck" in the bill introduced by Rowan's George Uzell requesting the Governor to name a commission to study the questions and report to the next General Assembly.

This feeling, however, is by no means the legislative consensus, the majority of both houses apparently feeling that these important questions have not been sufficiently studied to merit a satisfactory solution.

The sub-committee designated Monday for hearings on intangibles, increased taxes on chain stores and the sales tax. The state organizations of county commissioners, building and loan associations, tax supervisors, Grange, bankers and league of municipalities were invited to attend the intangibles hearing to show cause why revenue from intangibles should not be taken from counties. The State Grange recommended a system whereby tax on intangibles would be collected by the state and shared equally with counties.

Legislators who described the measure providing a six-day working week for the General Assembly as "something to fool the folks back home," pointed out that little business was transacted at last Monday's early sessions, that the senate considered only "local bills" at its 11 o'clock session today and adjourned to meet Monday night at 8 o'clock, according to custom of previous years.

SOLONS CONTINUE TO SPEED DUTIES

Varied arguments were presented to the sales tax sub-committee. The State Retail Merchants Association and the state Fair Tax Association asked flat removal of the "nuisance measure," while the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce urged the adoption of a two per cent measure. Proposal to limit the present three per cent measure to purchases other than necessities starting at 15 cents was discussed in the committee session, while automobile dealers asked removal of the tax on used vehicles. The dealers said the state would realize more revenue by increasing the $10 minimum to $15. The Carolina Bakers Association asked that bread and rolls be exempt from the tax.

A bill ratifying a proposed federal constitutional amendment, prohibiting the labor of children less than 18 years of age, is slated to be voted upon by the house constitutional amendments committee Wednesday. Two hours of debate centered around the measure Thursday night with 12 state-wide organizations and law professors of the Greater University of North Carolina and Duke University urging its adoption. The National Grange and private citizens asked that it be reported unfavorably.

A "model" bill to regulate the labor of children under 16 and the hours of working children under 18 was introduced in the senate by Mrs. E. L. McKee, senator from Jackson, under the sponsorship of the state department of labor. Governor Hoey in his inaugural address indicated his approval of a similar measure.

The bill was referred to the public welfare committee, of which Mrs. McKee is chairman. Measures which would eliminate the death penalty and provide for old age assistance hit the house hopper.

Schools asked for $2,000,000 a year more than recommended by the advisory appropriations committee, the highway and public works commission for $2,000,000 a year more and the Greater University of North Carolina $150,000 a year more, exclusive of a request for $2,000,000 for permanent improvements.

All requests will be considered in executive session by the committee next week.

A bill to increase the membership of the state supreme court from five to seven, was passed by the house and sent to the senate, where it was referred to committee.

With increases in public school teachers' salaries provided in the budget, a measure introduced in the senate would cause the teachers to receive their salaries in 12 monthly installments.

More Interest Shown In Improved Poultry

Renewed interest in poultry is leading Pitt County to contribute toward the poultry improvement plan by blood testing of flocks from which eggs are secured for hatching purposes. R. R. Bennett, county agent, declared today.

L. J. Fourie, under the supervision of Dr. Moore, of the Agricultural Department in Raleigh, has just completed the testing of flocks for the following poultrymen; E. F. Dennis, L. H. Ellis, W. P. Laughinghouse, J. B. Tucker, C. K. Beatty, J. C. Parker, L. D. Wall and the Vanceboro Farm Life School.

The testing is done under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture, for those producers who sell eggs to hatcherymen who use eggs only from blood tested flocks and who use sanitary methods and equipment.

Mr. Fourie worked in cooperation with Will Quinerly of Ayden who is building his hatchery on an accredited basis. Through this method Mr. Quinerly expects to produce quality chicks that will live and perform.

Huge Increase In Number Of Pupils Attending School

Three Times as Many Children Now Attending Eight-Months' Term Than Did in 1922-23

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Jan. 23.—Tremendous increase in the number of school children attending schools having terms of eight-months or more is shown in statistical tables published in "State School Facts," one-sheet information publication of the State Department of Public Instruction.

Observers agree that the great benefits conferred on rural children by state operation of eight-months school is reflected in these tables which show that three times as many county children now attend 8-month schools as did so in 1922-23. The increase in attendance of city children at such schools is much less marked, reaching only about thirty per cent.

Exact figures show that in 1922-23 156,180 county and 126,608 city children attended schools having terms of 8 months or more, while in 1935-36 the totals had grown to 466,214 county and 166,676 city children.

These figures are for whites, the increase being even more impressive for colored children, again particularly with reference to those in the rural sections. In 1922-23 only 17,268 colored county children were attending schools which operated for eight months or more, while in 1935-36 there were 185,865 such children, an increase of practically one thousand per cent. For the city colored children the figures showed 40,492 in 1922-23 against 74,854 in 1935-36.

For all white schools the total increase was 46.6 per cent, while for colored schools the percentage reached 71.7 per cent.
