END IN SIGHT FOR TIE-UP ON PACIFIC COAST

Maritime Strikers Voting on Peace Proposals

LITTLE DOUBT ON FINAL OUTCOME

Ship Owners Prepare For Release of 240 Ships From Various Blockaded Ports

San Francisco, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Forty thousands Pacific coast maritime strikers started voting today on peace proposals which their leaders freely predicted will end the lone tie-up, possibly by Thursday.

Ship owners, also accepting the strike as virtually settled, prepared for release of 240 ships from blockaded ports.

The owners pointed out, however, the resumption of sailings must necessarily be gradual since a cargo jam must be moved and ships reserved.

Longshoremen, employers said, will get the first call to work as soon as ratification of peace terms by a membership majority of the seven striking unions is completed.

The joint strike committee in ordering the referendum, recommended tentative agreements be approved and points still in dispute be submitted to arbitration.

No returns will be announced, the strike committee said, until votes from all ports are forwarded here and certified. The committee asks for complete returns by noon Wednesday.

The loss from the blockade, now in its 95th day, continued to mount meanwhile at a rate estimated by the Shipping Merchants association at $7,673,660 daily.

Measure Offered Providing Money For 30 Agencies

First Regular Appropriation Bill Reaches House Floor With Barb for Investigators

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The first regular appropriation bill of the session reached the floor of the House today with a new barb for congressional investigators.

The bill appropriates $1,046,757,143 for more than 30 independent governmental agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Reported to the House by the appropriations group it aggregated about $61,250,000 more than the 1937 appropriations but was approximately $6,000,000 smaller than budget estimates after committee pruning.

The committee wrote into the bill a prohibition against executive agencies or departments using regular appropriations for expenses of inquiries ordered by either branch of congress alone.

Dr. Meadows Reviews Meeting At Raleigh

The number of credit hours a student can make in the summer in this state was the principal topic of discussion at the meeting of summer school directors held in Raleigh on Saturday.

Dr. L. R. Meadows, who attended the meeting, reports that they decided that six semester hours, or nine quarter hours, should be allowed for a six weeks' term, and that no school could give less than 30 classroom hours for one semester hour credit.

The directors decided that the cost for the summer school term will be approximately the same in all colleges except the larger universities.

All the summer schools in the state with the exception of two were represented. The conference, which was held in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Clyde Erwin, lasted over three hours.

ORPHANS OF THE FLOOD!

For one thing, the tragic flood in the Ohio Valley furnished this touching illustration of the old axiom—"a man's best friend is his dog." Driven from home by the mad water and lost from his family, this youngster clings to his dog and both seem to find mutual solace. The photographer found them in a boxcar near Cincinnati. Supreme Court Refuses Pass On Social Security

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Supreme Court refused today to pass on litigation challenging constitutionality of the federal social security act and the Massachusetts unemployment insurance law.

The litigation, brought by Howes Brothers Company of Boston, had been dismissed by the Massachusetts Supreme judicial court in Suffolk county. It ruled the federal law did not violate the constitutional right of the petitioners.

Howes Brothers Co., contended the state law was ineffective because the federal statute which it supplements, was unconstitutional.

The court held invalid today a Washington State law imposing a fee on railroads and other public utilities to be used in defraying expenses of regulating them.

The decision was five to four. Justices Roberts, Van Devanter, Sutherland, McReynolds and Butler voted against the law. Justices Cardozo, Brandies, Stone and Chief Justice Hughes dissented from their views.

It was the first opinion this term which Justice Stone participated in since October 13, he returned to the bench today for the first time.

The occupation of the two Fisher body plants at Flint by the strikers since December 26 has been the obstacle blocking state and federal governmental efforts to arrange a peace parley between the corporation and the union.

The petition filed last week, requested the men work no longer in the employ of the company. Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, and 29 other labor leaders, were named defendants.

County Inspector For Health Dept. Takes Up Duties

J. H. Moore Arrives Here From Mississippi; Sanitation Campaign to Be Inaugurated Soon

J. H. Moore today assumed his new duties as sanitary inspector for Pitt county, a post which has been vacant since August 15 when J. P. Stowe resigned to take a similar position for the City of Greenville.

Mr. Moore is a native of Burgaw, but has been working with the Mississippi Health department for the past several years. He came to this county recently recommended by his former superiors.

With the announcement that the County Health department had secured the services of Mr. Moore, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer, declared that a sanitation campaign would be inaugurated shortly after the arrival of the new inspector.

Plans call for surveys of private premises in the county as regard to sanitation conditions. Records will be kept on each home in the county. The plan, of course, will be worked out gradually, but a check will be made every time a health officer has occasion to visit a home. Later on, according to plans, special visits will be made for an inspection.

Orthopedic Clinic Will Be Held Friday

The regular monthly orthopedic clinic will be held in the Pitt County Health Office Friday, Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, health officer, announced today.

Dr. Ennett said he was anxious for all cripples to attend the clinic, irrespective of age or race.

Representatives Consider Child Labor Amendment

MOVE DEFEATED DEFER PROPOSAL

Tobacco Compact Bill Also Set As Special Order For Late Today

Raleigh, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The House debated the resolution this afternoon proposing ratification of the child labor amendment to the federal constitution, taking it up before the tobacco compact bill, which was another special order.

Representative Murphy, of Rowan, sought postponement of action on the resolution, saying 17 of the House members were absent and he wanted all to be present to hear him speak against the proposal.

He was voted down and Representative Lumpkin of Franklin started debate in favor of ratification.

Representative Patton, of Macon, introduced a brief bill to abolish the office of state commissioner of banks and Representative Cooper, of Cherokee, offered one to make it a misdemeanor for engineers or assistant engineers to work on main lines of railroads without having passed examination as required by present statutes.

The House passed three local bills.

BODY OPPOSES ROAD REFUNDS

Raleigh, Feb. 1.—Admitting that some inequities exist between some of the counties and the state in the matter of highways built by the counties at county expense and then either donated to or taken over by the state, no attempt should be made to adjust any of these claims with cash payments, the Commission to Investigate Adjustment of County Highway Claims declares in its report to Governor Clyde R. Hoey and the 1937 general assembly, submitted today by Chairman Carl L. Bailey of the commission.

The commission, appointed late in July, 1936 by former Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, has considered a total of $53,000,000 in claims submitted by 81 counties.

The claims submitted by the various counties involve such a mess and maze of statistics that the commission has not been able to examine and verify many of these figures and that to do so would require an almost unlimited amount of engineering work and accounting, the report of the commission sets forth. The commission also finds that "some inequities probably exist... but does not find them."

The American flier flew his new light monoplane to Lymne from Reading, where he had minor alterations made at the factory.

PAIR INJURED IN BAD WRECK

Two Grifton Men in Hospital; One Badly Hurt

Robert Oakley of the Grifton community is in Pitt General hospital in a critical condition as a result of an automobile wreck Saturday afternoon, and R. T. Bogey of the same community is confined to the institution with less serious injuries.

The two men were hurt Saturday when the car in which they were riding collided with one driven by Morgan Foster of Clinton. The accident occurred on the Winterville highway.

Highway patrolmen who investigated the wreck said that Herbert Lee Ewell of Ayden, with whom the two Grifton men were riding, started to pass a car but met an oncoming automobile and, unable to get back in line, headed for an open field to the left of the highway. The Ewell car did not have time to clear the path of the oncoming car and was struck by the Foster car, in which several college students were going home for the week end. None of the girls was injured, nor was Mr. Foster.

The patrolmen said the two injured were riding on the right side of the car driven by Ewell, who was held responsible for the wreck.

Hospital attaches said today that Oakley, who suffered a fractured skull, was in a critical condition. It was understood Bogey suffered broken ribs, and a possible punctured lung.

EXPECT CRISIS MOMENTARILY

Louisville, Cincinnati and Other Upper Ohio River Towns Cheerfully Turn To Rehabilitation Efforts Following The Worst Flood in History

(By Associated Press)

Creeping yellow waters sloshed over the seawalls of Cairo, Ill., prime danger spot in the 1,200 mile battle against the river, as the flood-girt city's army of defenders, 4,500 strong, awaited "zero hour" today behind a barricade 18 inches thick.

Lashed by winds and a swift current around the river's basin, waves broke over the lower ramparts of the 60-foot concrete seawall and drummed ominously against the frail three-foot super-structure crowning the main barrier.

With the Ohio at the all-time record height of 59.50 feet, six inches from the top of the concrete bulkhead, only a mud-bed wall a foot and a half wide remained to stave off the threatened deluge.

All women and children were ordered to leave the city at once. It was the second evacuation, some had drifted back, cheered by reports no immediate danger impended.

Mounting waters warned of an early crisis. Throughout the freezing night in the glare of flood lights levee sentinels patrolled the walls looking for weak spots or leaks.

On the Ohio river below Cairo, Paducah, Ky., temporarily became a ghost town. Complete evacuation was ordered as a health measure.

While Louisville, Cincinnati, and other Ohio river towns, battered and bruised by their worst flood, cheerfully turned to rehabilitation efforts, man-made dykes on the long river front from 50 miles below Cairo to the Gulf, held the flood waters of the Mississippi.

"If vigilance supplies and man power can do it, the levee line will be held at all costs," said Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Raybold, who is directing the vigil of 115,000 men along the Mississippi's dyke system.

Above Cairo, residents of Tammus began evacuation as the river gradually rose in its streets. The only dry spot in Harrisburg, the city of 12,000 Northeast of Cairo, was the business section.

Meanwhile the Red Cross said its goal of $10,000,000 for the flood relief was in sight. Contributions tallied $3,319,000.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOUSIS: Count Vronski, who was blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot to death in Anne's studio. Bigelow, the American from Paris, finds Anne and Karsanoff, the clamorous dancer, starting at the corpse. They hide it during a party, then Bigelow and Dr. Australia, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's rooms. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a wealthy chap who hated Vronski. When Dryden's wife, Lorna, vanishes, Anne and Bigelow determine to find her. Walters, the Phelps butler, seizes Bigelow against Doris, the maid.

Chapter 24 Where Could Lorna Go? BIGELOW considered for a few moments while Walters watched him anxiously. "You had better leave this matter in my hands, Walters," he said finally. "I'll deal with it."

While it may be some time before Greenville has a real park, at least the land for same has been acquired and the work of getting it in shape for use will be carried on as speedily as funds and labor for the project will permit.

The matter of ratification of the Federal Child Labor Amendment is now before the legislature. While we do not feel that our state should countenance exploitation of children for the benefit of manufacturers or other lines of business, we do feel that the state is capable of passing its own laws to restrict or prohibit child labor.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF and CHATTER

Raleigh, Feb. 1.—Speaker Gregg Cherry dug up the "Work on Saturday and Monday" resolution adopted by the House early in the session and had it read to the members Friday.

Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell's reputation as a tax expert is widely acknowledged but few have paid him a higher tribute than a recent correspondent who began a letter to the commissioner thus:

Legislative efforts have begun to nullify Supreme Court decision requiring evidence of "agreement" to support a divorce on the grounds of two years separation.

Representatives B. C. Jones, Swain, and George Uzzell, Rowan, have put in a bill specifically eliminating any necessity of proving any kind of "mutual agreement" in order to get an absolute decree.

The bill is strictly in line with efforts of recent years to liberalize North Carolina's once-strict rules regarding dissolution of the bonds of matrimony.

One member of the Assembly gets his mail when at home, through a South Carolina postoffice, Polk's T. J. McDowell can be addressed on Route 1, Campobello, South Carolina.

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Jan. 30.—The House will Monday adopt a Tobacco Compact measure, probably by an almost unanimous vote, but it's dollars to doughnuts that not more than half a dozen legislators (or a news commentators either, for the matter) will ever be able to give an intelligent explanation of what they voted for.

At all events, out of the welter of discussion, and conjecture, and assertion, and statistics, and debate the House Agriculture committee has evolved a substitute for the bill as originally introduced—a substitute which the committee members honestly and sincerely believe takes care of the "Little Man" (so dear to the heart of the politician) and establishes a system of acreage control which will benefit the tobacco grower of both large and small estate, raise the price of tobacco to the growers to a point where all will be prosperity and in general bring about a near-millennium in the farm belt.

This happy solution, they believe, will follow enactment of a bill which pledges North Carolina to meet with other tobacco growing states in order to allocate acreage quotas to each, and empowers the farmers of North Carolina, through a somewhat cumbersome system of meetings and elections, to name a state commission which shall have almost despotic power in allotting most unintelligible to the ordinary mortal but whose title announced that it was to take care of the small farmer. This purpose, too, was reiterated at great length in the veritable host of "Whereases" which predated the body of his amendment.

Passage of the Compacts Bill would have taken place Friday but for the fact that no printed copies of the bill were available and many legislators balked at proceeding to enactments without having had time to study the Committee Substitute which is being proposed to take the place of the original measure.

Craven's Libby Ward led in a plea for delay until the substitute can be printed so that each member might have a copy. Chairman W. E. Fenner of the committee did not press hard for immediate action, but did express the opinion that there was no real reason for waiting.

It remained for Representative Thomas E. Royster, of Granville, to put into words the feelings of what many believe is a majority of the house.

He said, in effect, "I come from a tobacco raising county and I am earnestly interested; but if I had a copy of the bill and could study it for six weeks I still wouldn't know any more about it than I do now. I am ready to rely upon the good judgment of these gentlemen on the committee and to vote right away. And that's how most house members are—bused if not completely befuddled."

Recent high tides swept so much sand from the beach at Santa Cruz, Calif., that seekers for coins around the amusement pier reached a good harvest.

Y. W. C. A. Vesper Service "The Way of Life" was the theme of the message brought to the College Y. W. C. A. vesper services by Rev. R. E. Schuler of Fremont, last night.

Jesus, he said, did not think about death, but was concerned with the way of life more than with actual life and his conception of life was to get all out of it we can.

Students, Mr. Schuler believes, should have pleasures, and nations should seek power, but they should be careful what they do with these when they get them. The world today has lowered its standing by war, he stated.

The people who get the most out of life, he pointed out, are those who give their lives for something good. He urged the students to live the best they could day by day and cooperate with Jesus.

The following account of the wedding was taken from the Eastern Reflector (a weekly publication) of February 9, 1887:

Brown-Moore On last Wednesday evening two of Greenville's most popular young people stood before Hymen's shrine and took to themselves, before God and witnesses, the solemn conjugal vows, pledging their troth one to the other, to go hand in hand through life's journey, each sharing the other's joys and helping to bear and lighten one another's burdens until arriving at death's dark stream, God in His wisdom shall see fit to sever the ties that on earth held two lives as one. At the residence of Mr. McG. Ernul, uncle of the bride, Mr. James Brown and Miss Elvira S. Moore were married, Rev. F. A. Bishop officiating. After the ceremony was over a reception was held and many friends called to tender their congratulations, and express wishes for a long life of conjugal bliss and happiness. Both of these young people are well known by the entire community, and deservedly popular. Jim, as his associates familiarly call him, always enjoyed the highest esteem of every one. Methodist Pastor Delivers Sermon At Night Services

Rev. T. M. Grant Explains "The Meaning of Discipleship" at Joint Evening Meeting

"We like to draw circles and say Jesus loves this or that group, but Jesus gave men to understand that they must have no divisions if they were to be religious and be His disciples," declared Rev. T. M. Grant, in his sermon on "The Meaning of Discipleship" at the union service held last night in the local Methodist church.

Speaking on Jesus words, "by this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another," the minister declared that Jesus was not speaking of any "sticky sentimentality or transitory emotion, but of something that could move grandly into a man's life and give him character and poise."

"What did Jesus mean by discipleship?" asked the speaker. At least four things: He meant "that life and religion are identical. What a man is his religion! A man's religion is not wrapped up in dogma and creed. Move out of your decorative, ornamental religion, Jesus is saying. Also, Jesus had in mind a religion that believed passionately, unreservedly in men. More, if we have that passion for men it will mean also that we will believe in those possibilities resident within their natures, and give encouragement thereof! When we see that which is good in other men, we are thus following the Man of Galilee. Further," concluded Mr. Grant, "we will serve people if we love them. Then we'll not only be Jesus' disciples but children of God, and the power of joy will be resident in our own spirits."

Preceding the sermon a trio from the college, composed of Misses Helen Sawyer, Rosalind Messer and Edna Earle Perry, under Miss Gusdine Kuykendall's direction, sang "Send Out Thy Light."

Last night's service was presided over by the Rev. Wm. A. Ryan, with the Rev. R. C. Grady reading the Scripture and leading in prayer. Congregational singing of familiar Gospel hymns was under the direction of June Rose and the inter-church choir which is being used in these services.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing GAS, indigestion and many restless, sleepless nights.

If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adierika. Adierika contains SEVEN cathartic and carminative ingredients which act on the stomach and bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only.

Adierika's DOUBBLE ACTION gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months.

Adierika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually removes bowel congestion in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 25 years. Take Adierika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed.

Ratification Of Child Labor Bill Said Have Chance

Proposed Amendment Skillfully Managed In Course Through Legislature by Attorney

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Feb. 1.—The Federal Child Labor amendment may or may not be ratified by the House at today's legislative session, but whatever the outcome may be, congratulations on the skill with which they have managed their campaign will be due proponents of ratification.

For it is conceded on all sides that the amendment, which seemed hopelessly doomed when North Carolina's lawmakers first met, has practically an even chance to get by the House and an outside chance to make the grade in the Senate.

Observers are giving most of the credit for this change in prospects to William C. Lassiter, Raleigh attorney who took over management of the ratification campaign just when its fortunes were at their lowest ebb.

He brought into the fight an activity and a determination which had previously been missing and he trained his batteries of propaganda for ratification on the breastworks of its foes with telling effect.

Masterly maneuvering, most observers agree, was necessary to get even a "without prejudice" report from the House committee, even though its chairman, Willie Lee Lanpkin, was an advocate from the start. Mr. Lassiter, by personal contacts and by a steady stream of pressure, so thoroughly convinced a majority of the committee (that the matter was one to be decided on the floor that the group went even beyond his fondest hopes and brought in a favorable report, 11 to 6.

Meanwhile action in the Senate was quietly but effectively stayed. Before Mr. Lassiter got into the game somebody blundered in starting a ratification resolution on that side.

It is generally agreed that no tide of sentiment has been as swift and completely changed as has been the case with regard to the Child Labor ratification resolution.

Another Question About CARDUI Mothers Recommend It

"Why do so many MOTHERS recommend Cardui to their daughters?" Isn't it but natural that any good mother should tell her daughters about Cardui if the mother herself felt that she had been benefited by this medicine?

It is impressive that so many women report having taken Cardui on the advice of their mothers.

Cardui has been found to benefit women when weakened by malnutrition (poor nourishment); and it helps to relieve much discomfort at monthly periods.

Thousands of women testify Cardui helped them. Of course, if it does not help you, consult a physician.

CELLO TROUBLE KEEPS MUSICIAN WORRIED

New York (AP)—Like Atlas and the Earth, Emanuel Feuermann, the Austrian cellist, goes forever burdened with a cello too precious to let out of his sight, and too cumbersome to carry conveniently.

So Feuermann always, when on tour in the United States, books two berths. The lower is for himself; the upper is for the cello. Feuermann thinks it would be a smart crook who could get a cello out of an upper berth without waking him.

The cello is, incidentally, famous as the last made by Stradivarius and is valued at $3000.

Two Important Cage Battles on Week's Schedule

With two important cage battles, East Carolina Teachers College enters a heavy card in local competition this week as Coach Bailey Farley sends his club against a host of major foes.

Opening the week's card against Guilford College here Tuesday night when they play the Atlantic Christian College quartet. Guilford game Tuesday night is a return engagement, the Quakers having defeated the Pirates on last Friday night on their home court by the score of 44 to 36. According to Coach Farley the boys just had hard luck and after having a nine-point advantage at the half lost in the final half.

As being greater than must of necessity have been created in the administration of the road affairs of the state by any highway commission which could have served it. The recommendations made by the Commission, in brief, are as follows:

1. That no cash refunds be made in adjusting any of the inequalities.

2. That the State Highway and Public Works Commission is better fitted to adjust any inequalities than this or any other commission that might be appointed to study the matter.

3. That if given the proper authority by the general assembly, the highway commission can adjust any such probable inequalities from time to time as opportunity may arise.

4. That the highway commission should be granted the power to make any refunds it might think proper and be charged with responsibility of continuously seeking in the program of maintenance and reconstruction to gradually eliminate and adjust all such inequalities as may exist, resorting to cash refunds only when the exigencies of a particular situation demand.

5. That neither the members of the present or any past highway commission are to be blamed for any of these inequalities and that the present highway commission has shown that it is trying to work out adjustments of alleged inequalities.

6. That if permitted to continue this program, the highway commission can and will, over a reasonable period of time, eliminate all roads for just complaint.

7. That the debt adjustment commission does not wish to impugn the good faith of any county in submitting its claims, but that it is its opinion that a large number of these claims filed, should not be paid. That of those which possibly have some merit, few, if any, have merit which extends to the whole amount of the claim.

8. That the commission, while not desiring to shirk its duty, is convinced that the lack of time to investigate claims and check the data presented, that it cannot recommend any cash refunds.

Commissioner Bailey, W. B. Campbell and J. K. Warren, as a minority group, go on record as being of the opinion that some inequalities exist, the working out of which would probably require refunds to be made to certain of the claiming counties, but add that because of the changes in the highways and the difficulty of determining the value of such highways, "it is extremely difficult and would be very expensive to ascertain the apparent inequalities."

Little or no uniformity was used in submitting the claims, the report points out, saying that:

"Many claims were filed merely upon the basis of the outstanding bond bonds. Certain of them were filed for a stipulated percentage of the road bonds, a large portion of these claims represented expenditures on roads which have never been made a part of the state highway system and therefore could not be considered. Numbers of them included expenditures upon the state and county systems prior to 1921. Many were based upon the cost of roads built by the counties which later became parts of the state highway system."

Minor Auto Accident Reported By Officers

Highway patrol today reported a minor wreck at Flemings Cross Roads over the week end, in which no one was injured.

A small truck said to have been driven by John Turner, and which had been parked on a side road, started to drive off and pulled in front of an oncoming automobile, officers declared.

The car with which the truck collided was said to have been driven by A. D. Baker.

Turner is being held on a charge of careless and reckless driving.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Rubbers, coppers and specialties received a substantial upward shove today in the stock market.

Many issues, however, were indifferent and there were a few splits in evidence. Trading turned somewhat slow after a fast first hour, and near the fourth period trends were a bit uneven.

Bonds held their own as did a majority of the commodities.

When we say Chesterfields are Milder and Better Tasting it means something...

Ageing..

like fine wines

THOUSANDS of casks of mild, ripe tobacco are stored away in these modern Chesterfield warehouses, where for three long years they become milder and mellow. Ageing improves tobacco just like it improves fine wine. Nothing else can take the place of mild, ripe tobacco. Nothing can take the place of three years of ageing if you want to make a cigarette that is milder and better-tasting.

Mild, ripe home-grown and aromatic Turkish tobaccos . . . aged three years . . . make Chesterfield an outstanding cigarette . . . milder and better-tasting.
