BILL ENACTED TO NAME TWO MORE JUSTICES

Mayor Mount Appears before Appropriations Group

CITIES SEEKING HIGHWAY FUNDS

Senate Agriculture Committee Takes Up Tobacco Compact Legislation

Raleigh, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The legislature voted the addition of two associate justices of the Supreme Court today.

The senate quickly passed the court extension bill already approved by the house. The court after July 1, will consist of the chief justice and six associate justices under a constitutional amendment approved in November after a number of defeats.

Committee activity held the center of the stage throughout the day.

Senator Gold of Guilford introduced a blind aid bill to conform to social security requirements. It would provide an annual state appropriation of $85,180, with counties to match state funds and with the federal government contributing to the aid of the blind.

Representative White of Chowan asked the house to take the Hutchins bill proposing a state-wide referendum on prohibition from its judiciary committee No. 1 and put it on the calendar for action, but the house, on motion of Ward, of Craven, declined to do so.

This morning the judiciary group ordered a sub-committee of three members to draft another liquor bill and present it for study tomorrow. It would replace the Hutchins measure and Hanford bill to put the state in the whiskey-making and selling business with counties operating stores approved by local referenda.

This afternoon the joint appropriations committee heard pleas from the league of municipalities for a ten per cent cut of highway revenues, some $2,500,000 a year instead of the present $30,000 state appropriation to municipalities, to maintain highways within their limits. Mayor Marvin K. Blount, of Greenville, was spokesman for the league of municipalities.

The senate agricultural committee met, with the tobacco compact bill, passed by the house last night, before it. Senator Clark of Edgecombe, asked the senate to set the measure as a special order for tomorrow without further committee study, but Senator Johnson, of Sampson, won on a motion to defer it so he could offer amendments.

Relief Chairman Urges Big Crowd At Benefit Show

Rev. Mr. Ryan Cites Reasons Why Citizens Should Attend Performance Wednesday Night

Rev. W. A. Ryan, chairman of the Red Cross relief drive, today issued a statement in which he urged all public-spirited citizens to attend the benefit performance at the Pitt Theatre a 11:15 tomorrow night. His statement follows in full:

Wanted! Everybody at the Pitt Theatre tomorrow night at 11:15. There are four reasons for your being there. First—It is a Benefit Performance, all receipts going to Flood Relief Funds. Second—A First Run picture "Meet Nero Wolfe." Third—Miss Carolyn Hamrick and Miss Ramona Staples in dance numbers. Fourth—All persons given their time, talent and facilities gratis.

The Pitt Theatre management is furnishing the film and the theatre and all employees are giving their services free. Miss Staples and Miss Hamrick are gladly giving their talent. All that you have to do is pay the admission fee of 35 cents and enjoy the show.

A dollar show for thirty-five cents and the whole thirty-five cents goes to Flood Relief. The Pitt Theatre should be filled to overflowing tomorrow night at 11:15. Remember: On the stage, Miss Ramona Staples and Miss Carolyn Hamrick. On the screen, "Meet Nero Wolfe." Here's a glorious chance to have a good time and do a good deed at the same time.

Horse and dog racing devotees who picked winners at Florida tracks last season collected $33,830,818.90; track operators received $3,830,529.14 and the state $1,164,783.96 in taxes.

REFUGEES SAVE THEMSELVES AND CATTLE TOO

Unwilling to abandon their cattle to the swirling flood water, these negroes loaded the beasts on a crude raft and poled the craft 12 miles to safety. The rowboat attached to the rear of the raft carries the women of the family. They are shown landing near Whitehall, Ark. (Associated Press Photo)

PLAN PROGRAM FIGHT LIQUOR

To Show Moving Pictures in County, City Schools

An educational program showing the effects of alcohol will be conducted in the county and city schools in the immediate future under the sponsorship of the ABC board and officials of the two school units.

The ABC board has purchased a moving picture machine at a cost of approximately $700 and pictures will be shown in each of the schools. A picture entitled "Ethyl Alcohol" has been loaned by the New York Y. M. C. A. motion picture bureau and additional films may be borrowed, rented or purchased in the future.

The picture is a treatise on uses and effects of alcohol in industry and in relation to the central nervous system of the human body. It is made in accordance with the principles of modern pedagogical practice.

Provisions of the act under which the ABC board operates set aside sums for educational purposes. Last year the local board purchased booklets to be studied in the various schools.

The moving picture idea was decided on following a conference of board members with D. H. Conley, superintendent of county schools; J. H. Rose, superintendent of the city schools; Dr. L. R. Meadows, president of the college; and Dr. N. Thomas Ennett, county health officer.

Mr. Conley announced today the three-reel film would be shown in Pitt county school auditoriums at 7:30 o'clock on the following designated nights:

Falkland, Feb. 2; Bethel, Feb. 3; Stokes, Feb. 4; Pactolus, Feb. 5; Grifton, Feb. 8; Chocod, Feb. 9; Winterville, Feb. 10; Ayden, Feb. 12; Arthur, Feb. 13; Fountain, Feb. 16; Farmville, Feb. 17 and Belvoir, Feb. 18. The picture was scheduled to have been shown in the Belvoir school last night, but the showing was postponed because of the condition of the roads.

Supt. Rose is expected to announce plans for showing the film in the City schools at an early date.

Goat Eats Check For Monthly Pay

A resident of the Stokes community in the employ of the State has little love for goats, or at least one goat in particular.

And with the explanation of the facts behind this hate, no one can hardly blame him.

A Mr. Laughinghouse had just received his pay check through the mail and as he opened the envelope the check dropped to the ground. A goat standing nearby grabbed it up and began making away with it. Neither coaxing nor threats succeeding in forcing him to give it up.

The check will be replaced, no doubt, but there will be a necessary delay, during which time Mr. Laughinghouse must wait.

Allow No Food Taken In Plant

Flint, Mich., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Colonel Joseph Lewis, national guard commander of the strike area, said this morning the United Automobile Workers of America would not be allowed to take food through the military lines to "stay-in" strikers in the Chevrolet Motor company plant.

Union leaders said they had planned to seek permission from Colonel Lewis this morning to carry food to the strikers who have occupied plant number four, the motor assembly plant, since yesterday afternoon.

Circuit Judge Paul Godola announced this morning he would defer his decision on General Motors corporation's petition for an injunction against sit-in strikers until during the afternoon.

BATTLE RAGES DESPITE RAIN

Government Militiamen Capture Important Factory

Madrid, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The din of an incessant bombardment on Fascist positions resounded in Madrid today as government cannons roared in retaliation for the insurgent shelling of a southwestern suburb yesterday.

Despite a heavy rain storm, soaked militiamen captured an important factory near La Balaitosa, south of the capital, a war communication said.

Madrid's defenders said Fascist attacks to regain lost territory along the western edge of the city were repulsed, along with onslaughts in the West park area, flanking the city and on the road to the northwest.

Total Of Three Dead In Boiler Explosion

Autreville, N. C. Feb. 2.—(AP)—The death toll of a boiler explosion at the Vinson saw mill near Marshall Hall today stood at three.

Marshall Hall and Leamon Draughon died of scalds in a Fayetteville hospital last night nearly 24 hours after the blast. Thomas Williams, 58, was killed instantly. Feet Tanner, another worker, was severely scalded and physicians said he might not recover.

The boiler burst just as the steam was turned on to begin the day's work.

Wilson Man Fatally Injured In Virginia

Newport News, Va., Feb. 2.—(AP)—R. A. Allen of Newport News awaited a trial justice's hearing today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Ben F. Nolley of Wilson, N. C.

Nolley was struck and fatally injured while walking along route 60 near Newport News last night. Allen police said, reported the man "either stumbled or staggered" into the path of his machine.

LINDYS ARRIVE IN ROME, ITALY

Rumors of Accident Set at Rest With Safe Arrival

Rome, Italy, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh landed at Littorio airport at 4:58 p. m. today (10:58 a. m. eastern standard time) after a flight from Pisa.

Pisa, Italy, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The flying Lindberghs paused for sight-seeing in famous Pisa today after a round-about flight to avoid a "terrible storm" over the Italian Alps.

The manager of the Hotel Vittoria, where Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh registered under their own names, quoted the American flier as saying they landed at Pisa last night when their gasoline supply ran low during a long detour which they took to avoid a storm in the mountains.

"Lindy and Anne" went directly to the hotel after landing last night while beacons burned in practically every country in Europe to guide them after absence of reports of their landing caused fears they might be in danger.

A report officials here respected their wishes for silence and consequently when their safe arrival was unreported as the time passed for their gasoline supply to be exhausted rumors of accidents similar to rumors concerning other private flights of the couple were heard.

All County Schools Again In Operation

Two Pitt county schools were forced to cease operations yesterday on account of heavy rains during the week-end, but both were in session today after the brief interruption.

The Falkland and Belvoir schools closed down the first school day of the week when it was discovered the roads were so bad the busses were unable to make their trips.

The Arthur school was forced to halt operations last Friday, but it resumed activities yesterday.

School officials welcomed the sun today and expressed hopes there would be no further interruptions. Only three schools have missed one day each this year on account of the weather and bad roads, while last year activities were frequently interrupted.

County Contributes Total Of $4,548.01 To Sufferers

Donations by Pitt county citizens of $92.38 to the Red Cross flood relief fund since yesterday's published report brought the county's total cash contributions to $4,548.01.

Today's contributions were made up of additional contributions from the Winterville community, two additional $25 contributions from Greenville citizens and several smaller contributions.

The list of contributions follows: Previously Reported $4,455.63; W. H. Woolard 25.00; Friend (additional) 25.00; Cash 1.00; Theatre offering (additional) 1.53; L. W. Tucker (additional) 2.00; W. M. Moore 2.00; Miss Leckie McLawhorn, Winterville 3.00; Stokes Methodist Sunday School 3.00

STRIKES HOLD ATTENTION ON CAPITAL HILL

John Lewis Leaves Washington For Detroit

SENATORS PUSH RELIEF MEASURE

Independent Offices Appropriations Bill Slated For House Consideration

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, whose movement for industrial organization of labor has meant a crucial test in the General Motors strike, decided today on a personal trip to the strike zone.

His office said he would leave here at 4:40 p. m. for Detroit, having decided to go after studying reports of rioting yesterday in the strike front at Flint, Mich.

Already at Flint was James Dewey, Department of Labor conciliator, dispatched there after the outbreak of trouble.

For the time being Edward McGrady, the department's ace peacemaker, remained in Washington. He conferred with Lewis this morning.

At the capital the House completed action on a resolution creating a joint committee of nine representatives and nine senators to study President Roosevelt's government reorganization proposals.

Senate leaders pushed consideration of the $900,000,000 relief deficiency bill while the principal business of the House state was further action on the billion dollar independent offices appropriations measure introduced yesterday.

The Senate leaders tried to keep the deficiency relief appropriation at $790,000,000 and to get enactment before the flood-gassed WPA has spent its last dollars.

A group of 31 House members proposed today immediate enactment of a cash and carry neutrality plan with partial nationalization of the munitions industry and legislation to take the profits out of war.

The thirty-one, chiefly members of the House liberal bloc, said in a statement: "War or peace at this time is the most important subject before the American people."

Absolute neutrality legislation, they declared, should include, among other things:

A mandatory embargo on exports of all materials that might be used for war purposes, applicable both to belligerent nations and to factions engaged in civil strife.

Reading Conference To Be Held Feb. 13th

All principals and teachers of Pitt county have been invited to attend a conference on reading to be conducted by Miss Hattie S. Parrott, State Department of Public Instruction official, at East Carolina Teachers college February 13.

Each teacher is requested to bring with her a list of difficulties her pupils have in learning to read; a statement of major problems she has met in teaching children to read intelligently; and a list of detailed troubles she has encountered in teaching children to read.

The teachers are requested to make two copies of the difficulties, leaving one at the registration desk.

A decrease of 34 per cent in South Dakota's 1936 fall pig crop, foreshadowing less production in 1937, was reported by agricultural statisticians.

Kansas State college is giving a course in the training of cooperative managers.

OHIO SEEPING UNDER LEVELS

Vessels Standing By To Evacuate City's 6,000 Defenders If Ohio River Breaks Through; Pounding Assault of Waves Stirs Fresh Apprehension

(By Associated Press) Dread "sand boils" bursting up in the heart of beleaguered Cairo, Ill., forewarned of deeply undermined barriers guarding the Good sized city today.

Emergency squads rushed to the danger spots dumping hundreds of sand bags on the miniature "eyers" boiling through the thin strata of protective surface over the city's foundation of sand.

Major R. D. Burdick, United States army engineer, estimated

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt proclaimed an "emergency" today to permit the importation, duty free, of foreign donations of food, clothing, medical and other supplies for flood sufferers.

Officials said several foreign countries, particularly Canada, had sent and were sending relief supplies to the flood zone. The President acted under a provision of the 1936 tariff law.

there were 50 "boils" scattered throughout the city.

The eruptions, he explained, spring from the terrific pressure of the Ohio river waters, slowly eating their way beneath the man-guarded levees and seeping under the city to make it, in time, a virtual "floating island."

In the mounting emergency, 40 extra coast guard boats arrived to evacuate the city's army of 6,000 defenders if the river breaks through.

In all 55 vessels and nine barges were tied up at the river wall.

All along the lower Mississippi, below Cairo the pounding assault of waves stirred fresh apprehension among army engineers and the 120,000 pick and shovel workers toiling day and night to save the cotton kingdom from the $600,000,000 scourge that has already blighted the Ohio river valley in the north.

The fight along the Arkansas side of the Mississippi became hourly more desperate today. The Melwood levee below Helena, Ark., was being hard-pressed by the enormous weight of the yellow tide.

There was no immediate threat of a major collapse, but military authorities hurriedly conscripted 1,000 able-bodied refugees in the martial law area and prepared to dispatch them to Melwood.

As the flood waters gradually receded in the north with the Ohio sullenly cresting past the evacuated "ghost town" of Paducah, Ky., on its descent into the deep South it became apparent today the damage toll has been far under estimated.

Available estimates from five of the 11 flood stricken states revealed a total damage of at least $27,000,000.

Available estimates from five of the 11 flood stricken states revealed a total damage of at least $27,000,000.

COUNTY COURT RIVER CLIMBS RESUMED HERE TO 18.1 FEET

Second Session of Only Three Clear Year Started This Morning

The Tar river here was standing at 18.1 feet at 8 o'clock this morning, one foot higher than at the same time yesterday morning, and was still rising rapidly.

The local weather station here, headed by B. T. Clark, has predicted the stream would reach a high of at least 19 feet by Wednesday or Thursday. The prediction was made before the heavy week-end rains, however, and there is a possibility it will go even higher before it starts to recede. The estimated 19 feet will set a record of several years' standing.

As the river rose here the temperature dropped. At 8 o'clock this morning the mercury was standing at 38 degrees, but continued to drop during the morning and at 10 o'clock was down to 35 degrees. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning the mercury was at 46 degrees, 10 higher than the low of last night.

During January only three clear days were recorded here. The sun did not appear at all on 17 days, it was partly cloudy on 11, leaving only three clear days.

Cloudy weather prevailed almost as much during the month of December, 17 days—the same as in January—having failed to provide any sun.

Ernest Reeves, convicted of possession of illegal whiskey, was fined $25 and costs.

Jim Thorn was fined $50 and costs and had his license revoked for 12 months upon conviction of driving drunk.

Principals Of County Meet Next Monday

Pitt county principals will hold their regular monthly meeting at the Regular dining room here next Monday night at 6 o'clock.

A number of routine matters will be taken up at the session, which will be chiefly a business meeting.

Bad Weather Due Forty More Days

The ground hog only had to poke his head out this morning before he saw his shadow, which, according to legend, scared him back into his hiding place for 40 more days, during which time bad weather will be in evidence.

But regardless of the old saying, Greenville residents appeared to be agreed in welcoming such a pretty day and were willing to take their chances on bad weather for such a day as this.

They seemed to feel that this section has been visited by so much rainy, bad weather for the past two months that the ground hog could cause it to be worse during the next 40 days.

Score Of Prisoners Held In County Jail

Twenty-eight prisoners were in the county jail when County court got underway this morning, and while this number was considered large, it compared with approximately 60 on various occasions before recent terms of Superior court.

The jail was held to be insufficient in a recent report of the Grand Jury, which recommended that a new, modern jail be erected. The term of County court disposed of a number of cases in which defendants had been held in jail, thereby reducing the population of the jails.

Man Hurt In Wreck Shows Improvement

Robert Oakley of the Grifton community, who was critically injured in an automobile accident near here Saturday afternoon, was reported by Pitt General Hospital attaches this afternoon to be "better."

His condition, however, remains serious. R. T. Boyce, also injured in the collision, but less severely, remained in the hospital today.

County Teachers To Hold Meeting Here On Saturday

All Officers of Various Local Parent-Teachers Associations Invited To Attend Session

A county-wide teachers meeting will be held at the Austin building of the college here Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time all teachers in the county schools are expected to be present.

In addition to the general meeting, which will be addressed by Rev. T. M. Grant, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, six departmental sessions will be held. Miss Mary Hoover Boyd will have charge of the musical features of the program.

A county-wide council of the Parent-Teacher Association was organized here recently and all officers of the various local organizations are invited to be present at the teachers meeting, at which time plans will be discussed for broadening the activities of the county council.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN
 BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Count Vronski, who sneezes blackmaling Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot to death in Anne's studio. Bigelow, the American from Paris, finds Anne and Karanokoff, the glamorous dancer, staring at the corpse. They hide it during a party, then Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move to Vronski's rooms. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a wealthy chap who hated Vronski. When Dryden's wife, Lorna, vanishes, Anne and Bigelow determine to find her and set out on a tour of the night spots to check up.

Chapter 25
Checking Up At Madge's
 THEY arrived at Madge's place about 11 and got a ringside table for two. But there were reserved for somebody else. But miracles like that happened for Anne. And they had scarcely got seated when Madge Forrester joined them.

"She was a haggard looking woman, very heavily made up, and she spoke a listless drawl as though the effort were almost too much for her strength. She could never have been a beauty, but she was amusing and she had undeniable charm."
 "D'ring," she said, dragging a chair from the next table and joining them. "I hoped you'd come in—sit down, young man. I know this seat belonged to somebody—but that's his trouble. He's nobody we know. Don't notice him and he'll go away. You might introduce me to your friend before he's rude to me—?"
 "Mr. Bigelow—Mrs. Forrester," said Anne, laughing. "And he's never rude to ladies."

"Oh! Disappointing. I like 'em rude sometimes. Remind me to show you my bruises. But not here. What do you make of all this business—Vronski getting himself all shot to pieces and Lorna taking to cover? Not covers, darling, cover. . . . And apparently it all started at my place, too. I wanted to come over and talk to you that night but I was suffering with a couple of drinks that might have got out of hand if I'd left them and they didn't pass out for hours. Tell me about it!"
 "I don't know any more than you've seen in the papers," said Anne.
 "Honestly? If that bobunk bumps me once more I'll turn around and give him a look. I know I'm sticking out on the dance floor but a lady has to stick somewhere. . . . Do you think Dryden really did it? I can't imagine it myself. In this town you can get somebody really important wiped out for the price of a bottle of wine. And some people don't like wine. So why pack a rod? Will you tell me that in words of one syllable? I met a fellow once who had a printed list complete with prices. Union rates. He didn't care who he killed but Russians were the cheapest. And talking about Russians, that was a Russian who was on your party that night, wasn't she? What war did she start?"

"She's Karanokoff, the dancer."
 "Yes? She must be something if she got all those jewels dancing. She's over in a corner with Woody Taylor, now wearing more pearls than you can put beans in soup. Don't go away—I'll be back."
Chet Quotes the Baroness
 SHE rose with an exaggerated sigh and moved off to join some people who were talking to her from another table. A waiter swooped down on the chair in which she had been sitting and bore it after her.
 "Does she always go on like that?" asked Bigelow curiously.
 "More or less. She's really a professional entertainer in a way, you see. She's earned a living this way since the crash—for herself and her husband and four dogs."
 "Doesn't her husband do anything?" asked Bigelow.
 "Drinks," said Anne laconically. "Shall we dance? I want to see who else is here and one can get a better view from the dance floor. It's plain that Madge doesn't know anything about Lorna."
 The dance floor was crowded as usual, but they pushed in and managed to remain on the outside edge. Some little way toward the center, Woody Taylor was dancing with Karanokoff, holding her in the collegiate manner. Mirabelle Barney was also dancing with an amiable looking very fat young man.
 "That's Tommy Tuttle. He writes society news and always knows everything before anybody else. God knows how he does it. We'll have a word with him," said Anne.
 Halfway around the dance floor, they discovered Chet Harrison, also at a ringside table, but it was set for four. He was with a short, slight young man rather sulky looking.
 "That's Nickie MacKann, the jockey," said Anne. "There seem to be two vacant chairs. Probably Mirabelle is with them. Let's stop."
 They stopped and were warmly welcomed by Chet who introduced Bigelow to MacKann. Then he turned to Anne, grinning.
 "Was't the baroness something?" he cried. "I mean at the Colony. I don't know why it is, but whenever the girls see her like making a scene, they wait until they have a date with me. Nothing will satisfy her but your head in the basket, my precious."

 "What has she got against me?" asked Anne. "I've always been particularly nice to her."
 "She swears you rubbed out her boy friend," grinned Chet.
 "What?" cried Bigelow angrily to give Anne time to cover. Chet and MacKann glanced at him, which was what Bigelow had intended. Chet nodded understandingly.
 "I know. I felt like that, too. The woman is certainly screwy."
 "She must be," breathed Anne.
 "She Loved the Man"
 SHE admits she has no grounds for her suspicions," went on Chet, "but she says her intuition is never at fault. She says because you are rich, people are shielded, you, but the truth will come out—I am to mark her words! She says in this country the only crime is to be poor. She says the rich can do as they please. She says that moment she stepped into the studio that night, she knew something was wrong. She felt it in the air. Oh, I had a merry little session with her at the Colony after that. And even Dryden's arrest hasn't shaken her conviction. She says now that Dryden is shielding you and that Lorna's why Lorna has disappeared. She's found it out and she has left him."

 Anne sat gazing at him speechlessly.
 "But if he goes about saying these things, she can be prosecuted," cried Bigelow.
 "She'd probably like that," said MacKann.
 "You don't suppose anyone will believe her?" protested Chet. "It's obvious enough—she is in love with the man and jealous of our Anne. That's all. Weren't we all together there when Vronski telephoned? It was about a quarter to four then and the police say he was killed about that time. And Anne was still there when the party broke up which was long after that. No, the woman is just suffering from frustration."
 "Just the same, I don't like it," murmured Anne. "A lot of people who don't know me as well as you do might hear her talk and think there's something in it."
 "It might not be a bad idea to have your lawyer get in touch with her and warn her," admitted Chet.
 "I will," said Anne, determinedly.

Madge drops a helpful hint about Toppy, tomorrow.
 Jerry Martell stopped the show with his rendition of "The Man on the Flying Trapeze" and for an encore he gave his impression of a singer murdering a popular song, and still the audience applauded for more.
 The orchestra leader (we can't for the life of us recall his name) gave several splendid impersonations of stage radio and screen stars.
 Henri Thieriet, painter of songs, who possesses one of the most beautiful voices ever heard on any stage, rendered several popular and semi-classical numbers—but the audience refused to let him leave the stage. For an encore he sang his own arrangement of "Chapel in the Moonlight" and "Nevins' Roary" and "My Kingdom for a Kiss" dedicated to Mrs. Wainwright Simpson. For a second encore he sang "Indian Love Call" from Rose Marie was given. Just to hear Mr. Thieriet sing one number was worth the price of admission.

 "Swing-Time Varieties" will always be received with open arms anytime it passes our way.

LEGISLATIVE CHAFF and CHATTER

Raleigh, Feb. 2—Chercke's Harry Cooper is well aware of the value of publicity and loses no chance to get into the limelight.
 Recently the gentleman from Murphy requested leave of absence from the House, to which Speaker Gregg Cherry laughingly remarked "That comes under the head of public improvements."
 Meeting the representative sometime later Mr. Cherry somewhat apologetically said he hoped Mr. Cooper did not mind the little joke.
 "That's all right, say anything you want just so you have something to say about me," came back the dapper former secretary of "Our Bob" Reynolds.

Carr, will take notice that an action as above entitled has been commenced in the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C., and that a summons in the above entitled action was issued against said defendants on the 9th day of December, 1936 by the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, and a complaint day asking judgment against said defendants in the sum of $347.93 for and on account of labor performed for said defendants and for peanuts sold them, for a part of which they gave their check, which is worthless or it as not been paid. And the defendants will further take notice that they are required to appear in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C., on the 8th day of February, 1937, or within 20 days thereafter, and answer or demur to the complaint of the plaintiff, or the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

A local bill somewhat unique in its nature was recently passed by the House and sent to the Senate for action. It was put in by Representative McNair, of Richmond, and provides for creation of the Richmond Flying Club, a non-stock, non-profit club to encourage aviation. Under terms of the bill members of the club are protected from action on almost any conceivable grounds.
 The tendency to establish boards and bureaus to regulate all sorts of industries is illustrated in House Bill 145, introduced by seven Representatives recently. Under it the cleaning and pressing business would be definitely and specifically regulated.
 The measure would create a commission of 5 members, appointed by the governor, and to consist of three men having had experience in the business and two laymen. The commission would have power to examine and license operators, with persons now engaged in the trade to be issued license without examination.
 The whole thing is right in line with the efforts of every established trade, business or profession to make it harder for others to get in and complete, most observers agree.

Many legislators have arrived at the point where they dread going home over the week-ends for fear of the public officials in their counties who want their salaries raised by legislative enactment.
 Chances of the Child Labor amendment were very much brightened at this session, most observers felt, by the sagacity of somebody who had sense enough to keep the women fanatical in check.

 At the 1935 session, it is said, many legislators became thoroughly disgusted with the tactics of these women, who used to infest the lobby of the hotel and who often resorted to the expedient of calling the solons by telephone at such ghastly hours as 6 o'clock in the morning. Naturally this sort of thing turned into a perfect boomerang. At the current session none of it has been observed.

defendants, for the purpose of having the same condemned and sold, and the proceeds of the same applied to the payment or part payment of the claim of the plaintiff herein, and the said defendant will further take notice that they are required to appear in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, N. C., on the 8th day of February, 1937, or within 20 days thereafter, and file answer and show cause, if any they have, why said attachment should not be declared valid and why said McKay trailer should not be condemned and sold and the proceeds applied to the payment of the claim of the plaintiff, which claim will be reduced to a judgment.

Magazine Exhibit A collection of leading magazines carefully arranged and classified is on exhibit in the English Club room in the College all this week and is open to the public.

The exhibit is not only of interest to members of clubs who have charge of making up magazine lists, to teachers and to librarians, but to any person who selects magazines for the family. Among the magazines for the general reader are two groups, some of marked literary merit and others of more popular nature. The magazines on current events, current opinion, and problems of the day, ranging from "current history" to the new pictorial magazine, "Life," form one of the most interesting groups.

In the art group will be found magazines for music, poetry, and the theatre. The home and home-making section contains the most popular household journals as well as such beautifully illustrated magazines as "House and Garden." There are others on miscellaneous subjects and a group of University quarterlies, also there are a number of technical or professional magazines of interest to special groups.

The English Club room number 203 on the second floor of the Austin building, will be open to the public throughout the day. Guides and typed classified lists will be of great assistance to visitors who come to examine the magazines, which are conveniently arranged on tables. The exhibit is sponsored by the English Club of the College.

Little Theatre Players Actors and producers of experience and not mere amateurs, comprise the personnel of the Rocky Mount Little Theatre Players, who will present "She Stoops to Conquer," one of their most successful recent productions, in the Austin auditorium of the College on Friday night of this week.

Archie Amos, the director, who has been connected with the stage in one way or another as long as he can remember, taught dramatics in William and Mary College, and was very active in Little Theatre circles in Richmond, where he was president of the Richmond Drama Guild. He has played with a number of famous actors, among them George Arliss and Mrs. Fiske.

Cy Eason, teacher of dramatics in the Rocky Mount High School, has been associated with the Tampa Little Theatre, with Carolina Play-Prakers, with the Meringside Players of Columbia University, and has also had extensive experience in radio dramatic work. He trained the choral choir that appeared here in the Education pageant last fall.

Leon Barton played with the William and Mary Players while a student in that College and later with the Richmond Little Theatre. James Eggleston came to Rocky Mount recently from Boston where he has been an outstanding member of the Tavern Players, the well known New England group and he has had extensive experience with Summer Theatre groups in New England.

Sam Whitehead is an experienced radio actor. Mrs. W. H. Skeels, who was connected with the Province Town Players, and has taught dramatics in the Goddard School and in Riverside College, in California, also is a singer of note, having appeared on the concert stage frequently.

Miss Claude Aycock, a member of the High School faculty, who has been one of the most popular actors of the Players for several years, has taken part in radio plays and other skits put on by the Players in recent months. Mrs. Jamison Bunn Dowdy, president of the Little Theatre group, did dramatic work throughout her school career at Fessenden School, at Kirk School, and in Bryn Mawr. Miss Frances Walker, who has been very successful in high school dramatics for several years, has just joined the group.

following from the Bible. "Thou shalt not avenge, nor bear grudge against the children of thy people, but thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself: I am the Lord." (Leviticus 19:18). The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When the human element in him struggled with the divine, our great Teacher said: 'Not my will, but Thine, be done'—that is, Let not the flesh, but the spirit, be represented in me. This is the new understanding of spiritual Love. It gives all for Christ, or Truth. It blesses its enemies, heals the sick, casts out error, raises the dead from trespasses and sins, and preaches the gospel to the poor, the meek in heart." (Page 33).

Byes-Manning Latta, S. C. Feb. 1.—Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Manning announce the marriage of their daughter, Lizzie Rebecca, to John Gary Hayes, January 30, 1937. The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Manning, of Latta, S. C., formerly of Red Oak community, near Greenville, N. C. She received her education at Winterville High School. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ann Hayes and the late Stephen Hayes of Oak Grove, S. C. He is an extensive farmer and is also connected with other industries at Oak Grove. After a short wedding trip they will make their home with the groom's mother, at Oak Grove.

AUTO SUPPLY STORE TO OPEN HERE SOON Another indication of the forward progress of Greenville is the announcement today by Banks Cozart, Jr., of plans for opening a complete and up to date auto supply store soon at 206 E. Fifth street. Extensive remodeling operations are already under way. The most modern display tables and other fixtures designed to provide the greatest ease and convenience for the patron's shopping are being installed. In addition, an entirely new and unique lighting system is being installed in the store room.

"We believe the people of Greenville and vicinity will welcome a modern store where they can buy just about everything for their car and radio at popular prices," says Mr. Cozart in making his announcement. "We have made arrangements for purchasing more than 1600 items through a nationwide Group Buying Organization of Automotive Stores. Savings made possible through this arrangement will permit us to sell our merchandise at prices as low or lower than the car owner would have to pay in Raleigh, Wilmington, Richmond, or other large cities."

The new store is being rushed to completion as quickly as possible and Mr. Cozart hopes to be open for business within a few days.

High School Students Hear Wilson Pastor Dr. John Barclay of Wilson, Director of the Sevier-County Forum this morning at the Assembly Hour of the school. The topic of the discussion was "The Spanish Revolution."

Dr. Barclay talked for twenty minutes and then for thirty minutes the members of the student body shot questions at him. When the first questions were called for there was a bit of hesitancy on the part of the students to propound their questions, but once they got started it seemed that every one had a question to ask. Careful checking proved that the boys asked 36 questions, the girls 17, and teacher 7 a total of 60. According to the speaker this was the largest number asked by any high school visited so far, the number topping the assemblies of Raleigh, Wilson, Goldsboro, Kinston, and Raleigh.

The student body of the high school thought this the best assembly of the year.

DEFEAT MOVE ON LABOR ACT

Ratification of Proposed Amendment Loses 58 to 47

By HENRY AVERILL

Raleigh, Feb. 2.—The federal Child Labor amendment is dead as an issue in this session of the North Carolina legislature. The House disposed of it yesterday, voting 58 to 47 to lay upon the table a resolution ratifying the amendment. It would require a two-thirds majority to take the resolution from the table and no one sees the remotest possibility of such action. Even the clincher of reconsideration and tabling the motion to reconsider was put on with the aid of a very dubious parliamentary ruling by Speaker Greg Cherry, who declined to recognize Representative Willie Lee Lumpkin's efforts to move an adjournment of the House, a motion which House rules state, in very plain language is in order at any time.

Small doubt exists, however, that the House would have voted against adjournment as the sentiment was clearly hostile to the amendment, and if the test vote had been on the straight out question of ratification or rejection, it is very probable that the majority against the resolution would have been even greater than the 11 votes shown on the tabling motion of Representative Con Johnston, of Tredell.

With the death of the federal amendment prospects are thought bright for enactment of the State Child Labor bill recently introduced in the Senate by Mrs. E. L. McKee, of Sylva.

Certainly the McKee bill should pass if opponents of the federal amendment were sincere in their protestations that they are against child labor as much as anybody. Several of the bitterest foes of ratification said they would vote for a state bill, but there is some belief that this was more of a smoke screen than anything else.

It has generally been the history of such legislation that the group which opposed federal regulation as an infringement on state's rights turns completely about and opposes state regulation on the grounds that it puts the state at a disadvantage in competition with other states which have not such strict labor provisions.

Principal stated grounds for death of the federal amendment this time was fear that under its terms farmers of North Carolina would be unable to work their children in any capacity. Foes of ratification drew vivid pictures of federal "scoopers" preventing 17-year old Mary from washing the dishes or 16-year old Jack from feeding the cows.

In the open there was no opposition by industrial units, but it was a noticeable fact that representatives from centers where textile mills are numerous were allied strongly with representatives from the purely agricultural counties in opposition to the amendment.

Whether this was a matter of coincidence was not revealed in any of the debate on the subject. Failure of the amendment closed a fight which opened this session with practically nobody conceding advocates even an outside chance. But an aggressive, intelligent campaign was waged for the resolution—a fight which all but culminated in success, the closeness of the vote surprising many observers.

Principal weapon used by proponents was the open advocacy of President Roosevelt and the support of the state Department of Labor.

On the other hand, foes of federal regulation were heartened by the reported hostility of Governor Clyde Hoey to the amendment. He never opened his mouth during the battle, but every advocate and opponent of the measure listed the chief executive as against North Carolina's ratification.

DESIGNS BILL REVAMP BOARD

Charities and Public Welfare Office Faces Changes

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 2.—The State Board of Charities and Public Welfare will become of much greater importance than heretofore under the terms of a bill which will be introduced in the senate Monday night by Senator Lee I. Gravelly of Rocky Mount, which will provide for the reorganization of the board of public welfare in every county in the state. The bill leaves the making of the board as it now is, with seven members, but provides that the chairman of the board shall be appointed by the Governor instead of being elected by the board, as at present.

The bill provides that the Commissioner of Public Welfare shall be selected by the board, as at present, and that the commissioner shall continue to be the executive director of the various welfare activities now under the direction of the board. It is not believed that the bill will in any way affect the status of Mrs. W. T. Bost, the present welfare commissioner.

The bill does greatly enlarge the importance of the chairman of the board, however, since it is expected that the chairman will, if the bill is enacted, have much closer supervision over the administration of the welfare and old age pensions divisions than has been the case heretofore and almost become the active administrative head of both the welfare and pensions divisions. For under the administration of old age pensions bill, the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare will appoint the Director of Public Assistance, who will be head of the new Division of Public Assistance in the Department of Public Welfare and thus administer both the old age pensions and the aid to dependent children. The chairman of the board is also an ex-officio member of the State Board of Appeals and Appeals, the final court to which applicants for pensions or aid can take their claims.

The first public indication that a bill of this sort had been prepared, came out in a committee meeting Friday morning when Senator John Sprunt Hill of Durham objected to turning over the administration of the old age pensions and children's aid bill to the State Board of Charities as now constituted and maintained that a stronger set-up was needed to oversee and supervise the expenditure of the $4,000,000 a year which will probably be required for pensions and aid to children. For several weeks there has been considerable speculation as to whether the Board of Charities in its present form, heretofore considered largely an honorary board composed of the most part of women politicians, was strong and capable enough to administer the old age pensions law. As a result of this talk and the fear that the welfare department as now constituted was not strong enough to administer the old age pensions and aid to dependent children, there were some who thought these activities should be set up under an entirely new agency.

Senator Gravelly believes, however, that with the revamping of the State Board of Charities and the welfare department as provided for in the bill which he will introduce Monday night, all of the objections now raised will be met and that the new board, with a strong chairman appointed by the Governor, will be fully able to handle both the pensions and welfare divisions without any difficulty. It is fully expected that both the chairman of the board and the new Director of Public Assistance will be men.

PUBLIC FORUM IS SCHEDULED

First Official Meeting Is Set For Thursday Night

The Public Forum, about which the public has heard so much recently, will have its first official meeting on Thursday night of this week in the High School Library at eight o'clock. The speaker or discussion leader for this first forum will be Dr. Edith Larsen of the Rockefeller Foundation. The topic to be discussed is "Juvenile Crime, Causes and Some Suggested Remedies."

Dr. Larsen is an authority in this field, and the public in general is vitally interested in the topic because at the present time, there seems to be a noticeable increase in juvenile delinquency throughout America. Dr. Larsen was a member of the staff of Dr. Thompson of Yale University under whose direction a survey of the mental institutions of the State of North Carolina was made.

This survey was ordered by the legislature of two years ago and the facts brought to light in this survey are now being used in formulating a state program. Due to the fact that Dr. Larsen has spent several months in North Carolina studying conditions in this state, it will be possible for her to speak with some authority. The plan of the forum is for the speaker to discuss the topic for about thirty minutes and then there will be questions from the floor for an equal time. There is no charge for admission and all interested people are invited to be present and participate.

Claudette Colbert says: "My throat is safest with a light smoke"

"An actress' throat is naturally very important to her. After experimenting, I'm convinced my throat is safest with a light smoke and that's why you'll find Luckies always on hand both in my home and in my dressing room. I like the flavor of other cigarettes also, but frankly, Luckies appeal most to my taste."

Claudette Colbert
STAR OF PARAMOUNT'S FORTHCOMING "MAID OF SALEM" DIRECTED BY FRANK LLOYD

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Colbert verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen, and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat!
