TIGHTER LINES TAKE FORM ON COURT BATTLE

Reported Roosevelt Anxious for Changes As Suggested

LEADERS SWARM TO WHITE HOUSE

Post Master General James A. Farley Is Sworn Into Office For Second Term

Washington, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Report that President Roosevelt wants congress to enact his court reorganization program unchanged spread today in administration headquarters.

Battles lines over the court issue gradually were becoming more clearly drawn. Opposition senators claimed they had 32 "sure" votes lined up. About 30 have come out for reorganization.

More and more senate leaders called at the White House to discuss the situation with President Roosevelt.

Among senators in today's discussions were Pittman of Nevada, Wagner of New York and McAdoo of California.

Coincident with formal settlement of General Motors strike in Detroit the LaFollette civil liberties group here dug deeply into relations between the huge corporation and the labor espionage service of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency.

Postmaster General Farley was sworn in for his second term. President Roosevelt desire to find out whether a proposal for court changes fitted into his reorganization program slowed congressional argument.

Revenue Measure Causes Lobbyists Flock To Raleigh

Representatives of Big Companies Pouring Into Capital to Oppose Various Sections

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—Lobbyists are pouring into the hotels here now that the revenue bill has been reported to the house and is under consideration.

Heretofore the lobbyists have confined their efforts largely to committee members. But now that the revenue bill is out of committee and before the house, they must extend their activities to the entire membership of the house. They are not bothering the senate as yet, since if they can get what they want while the bill is in the house, they will not need to pay any attention to the senate.

Among the most recent arrivals and additions to the force of lobbyists already here have been several additional representatives of the large gasoline and oil companies.

It is understood that the big gasoline companies are especially concerned about the new chain filling station tax section in the revenue bill, also the Barker bill to permit pipe line companies to have the right of eminent domain. Indications are that the gasoline companies and their lobbyists are again prepared to fight to the limit against both of these proposals.

It is expected that the railroad lobbyists, as well as representatives of the motor truck industry will join with the gasoline and oil companies in fighting the pipe line proposal, since it is admitting that a gasoline pipe line would eat deeply into the profits of the gasoline companies, railroads and bus lines.

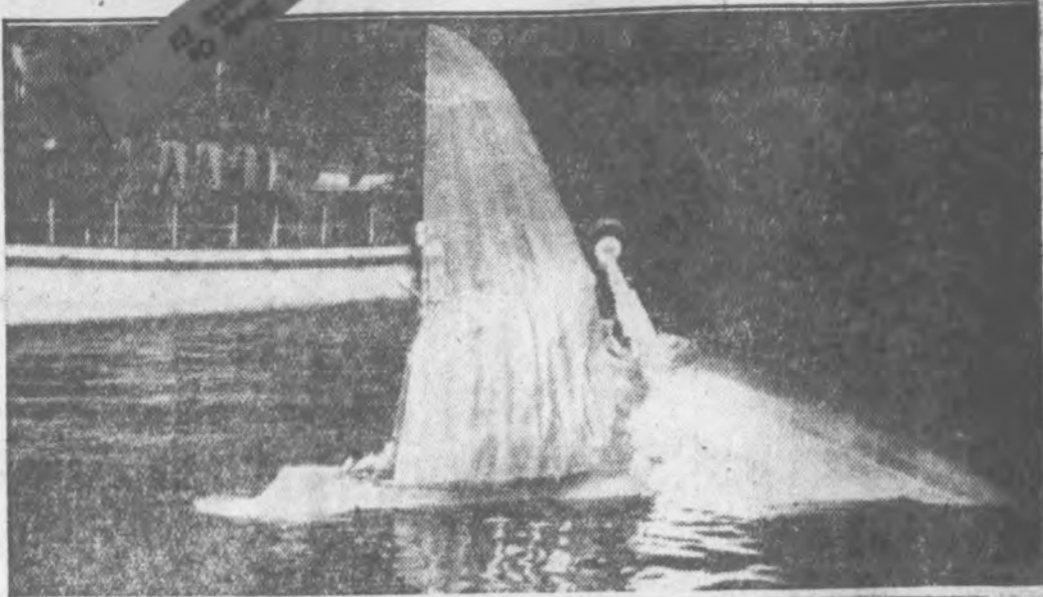

Estimates are that gasoline could be transported by pipe line from either Wilmington or Morehead City to Greensboro or Winston-Salem for only one-fourth of a cent a gallon as compared to the present cost of about two cents a gallon by rail or truck.

The lobbyists opposing highway fund diversion, representing chiefly the highway contractors, road materials manufacturers and road machinery people, are also here and getting ready to make their big fight to defeat the section in the revenue bill designed to divert $2,100,000 a year from the highway fund into the general fund.

Sherriff's Aid Rewarded

San Jose, Calif. (AP)—Five years ago Sheriff George W. Lyle came to the rescue of 85-year-old Mrs. Eleanor Cantua when a mortgage holder was about to foreclose on her 300-acre ranch. He lent her $150 and a horse, which were paid back when she harvested her next crop. Recently the sheriff was called to the Cantua ranch to take the aged owner to a hospital. She died there, but not before making a will leaving the ranch to Sheriff Lyle.

AIRLINER CRIES ELEVEN TO DEATH IN BAY

FLOOD WATERS BEGIN RECEDE

River Valley Dwellers Hail Victory Over Mississippi

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 11.—(AP)—Dwellers along the mid-Mississippi hailed victory over the flood monster today when the lower valley awaited confidentially for passage of baffled crisis now lumbering into that sector.

Cautious army engineers maintained a sharp watch on levees from Memphis down, but the jubilation of women and children returning to unharmed homes in Cairo, Ill., set the tone for a feeling of relief all along the river.

The Mississippi began a slow recession here after standing for two days at a record peak of 49.67 feet and the danger zone shifted southward where the pick and shovel brigade confidentially manned the levee line.

Observers agreed the fall probably will be as gradual as the rise, but with the line of earthwork holding thus far, United States engineers saw final victory ahead over the "supper" flood.

This Adds Up Wrong!

Van Alstyne, Tex. (AP)—Van Alstyne firemen are wondering whether it was worth the effort. A call to extinguish a fire in an automobile cost the department $4 and a tank of chemical. The automobile of early-day model, had cost the owner $1.50 and was only slightly damaged by the fire.

Governor Lends Efforts To Remove Tax On Meals

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—The peculiar gyrations of the Finance committee in its consideration of the sales tax on meals are being laid in large measure to intervention by Governor Clyde R. Hoey, who is said to have insisted that the Democratic party's campaign pledge to remove this tax be redeemed.

The committee set something of a record in the matter of aboutfacing, reversing itself no less than three times in the same day, finally winding up just exactly where it started out—that is with meals exempt from the three per cent levy which has caused more discussion and controversy than all North Carolina's other tax laws put together.

To begin with there will practically be no sentiment against exempting meals. The party platform specifically named them among the things from which the tax was to be taken. Then the committee members began to consider the $363,000 which

Investigate 'Frisco Bay Plane Crash

San Francisco, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Four groups of investigators tried to learn from torn and twisted wreckage today why a giant air liner, only seconds away from its destination, plunged 11 persons to death Tuesday night in San Francisco bay.

Two theories—too sharp a banking of the plane and misjudging of altitude—were advanced unofficially by expert pilots as seachers dragged muddy waters for the bodies of seven victims. Of the four already recovered, Millionaire Mark Fontana, appeared to have drowned despite a struggle to swim after the sleek, twin-motored ship sank three miles off shore in 26 feet of water.

The shattered bulk of the 21-passenger plane, lifted from the bay yesterday, offered no immediate prospects of solution of the bay area's worst air plane tragedy.

WARDEN'S AWAY. PRISONERS PLAY HOOKEY

Eric, Pa. (AP)—There's an air of apprehension about the jail because Warden Matt Hess has announced he plans a week's vacation.

The last time Hess enjoyed a few days away from his work, eight of his "guests" escaped.

The only other time the warden took a vacation a prisoner was stricken with amnesia and the entire prison was quarantined.

Watch Other Fellow, Advice Of Motorist

Houston, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Jack Donnelly, who drove fire engines, limousines and police patrol wagons hundreds of thousands of miles without an accident in the thirty-five years before he retired to become a traffic director, gives this rule for safe driving:

"I always looked for the other fellow to be either drunk or crazy and gave him the road."

Donnelly drove the first motor fire engine in Houston, was chauffeur for seven mayors and piloted such notables as General John J. Pershing and Marshal Ferdinand Foch on visits here.

"Never even scratched a fender in all that time," says the aging little Irishman. "If people wasn't in such a helluva hurry, they'd live longer and have less accidents."

"I never drive more than about 35 miles an hour and don't argue with anybody over who's got the right-of-way. That's probably why I never get the city out one nickel for repairing wrecked cars."

REBEL FORCES RENEW ATTACK

Insurgent Troops In Drive East Along Mediterranean

(By Associated Press) Conquering Spanish Fascists drove eastward today along the Mediterranean in what was considered development of a full force campaign against Valencia, temporary seat of the Socialist government.

From Paris the French, irked by reported Italian assistance last week-end in the Fascist seizure of Malaga, took up again their threats to intervene in the war on behalf of the Valencia government.

Madrid echoed the roar of artillery and the chatter of machine gun and rifle fire as her insurgents besieged launched one of the fiercest attacks of weeks against a village on the capital's northern border. Insurgent air squadrons bombed the capital's outskirts.

At Barcelona, 310 miles northeast of Madrid, the autonomous state of Catalonia unified its regular army to insure that Socialist stronghold against insurgent attacks.

Premier Leon Blum's newspaper declared "If Italy and the Reich do not cease the sabotage immediately and if international control is not established as an irresistible movement of Democratic opinion in this country" undoubtedly France would be obliged to "resume action with regard to Spain."

BOYS 'BROUGHT FLOODS' BY KILLING LIZARDS

San Angelo, Texas (AP)—Mexican boys taught by Miss Ruth Rich believe they know what caused the disastrous floods here this fall.

They killed too many green lizards, the teach said the boys confided in her.

The boys, having faith in the old belief that killing lizards and turning their bellies up to the sun will cause rain, staged a wholesale slaughter of lizards when the community needed rain badly. The next day rain started falling and didn't stop until the city was flooded.

DRYS PRESENT ARGUMENT FOR VOTE OF STATE

Public Hearing Held By Senate Judiciary Committee

CAM MORRISON FINAL SPEAKER

Crowd Estimated At 500 Jam Halls of Upper Branch for Hearing on Liquor

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Reorganized drys of North Carolina launched a vigorous new assault on the house-passed county option liquor bill this afternoon as Senator West predicted the measure would be enacted into law.

The drys asked for a state wide referendum on prohibition.

A crowd estimated at upwards of 500 persons jammed every possible standing and sitting space in the senate chamber as Dr. W. L. Poole, United Dry Forces president and president of the Baptist State convention, opened the attack.

Interested persons could not get near the doors of the chamber the crowd was so big.

The prohibitionists turned down by a house committee two weeks ago when they sought approval of a bill for a state wide prohibition referendum decided to have Cameron Morrison close their case for them.

The white haired silver orator has fought liquor consistently throughout his political career when saw him become governor of the state and United States senator.

Cale Burgess, vice president of the United Drys, handled the presentation of the case.

HOUSE ARGUES REVENUE BILL

Amendment After Amendment To Measure Rejected

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The senate passed the old-age assistance and child labor bill today as the house debated the revenue measure to finance social security and other state functions.

Only Senator Bell, of Mecklenburg, who opposed the proposal last night, voted against the old-age measure as it was approved 45 to 1 and sent to the house.

The house voted down amendment after amendment offered to change the provisions of the committee-approved revenue bill to raise more than $75,000,000 for the general fund during the 1937-39 biennium. Highway funds are covered in other legislation.

Representative Horner of Lee sought to put in a two per cent sales tax with basic food exempted to replace the suggested three per cent tax with exemptions. He lost.

Members of the senate judiciary committee No. 1 said they expected to vote on reporting the county option liquor bill as soon as the public hearing was completed this afternoon. The measure passed the senate last week and wets in the senate claimed a certain victory as the drys continued to fight hard.

Senators Gold of Guilford, Abernathy of Caldwell, and others inroduced a proposed constitutional amendment to fix the terms of all sheriffs in the state at four years.

Revenue Bill Fireworks Delayed For Time Being

By HENRY AVERILL (Reflector Bureau Writer)

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—There will undoubtedly be legislative fireworks before the Revenue Bill is finally enacted into law, but these pyrotechnic displays have been delayed until after the House has had an opportunity to go over the entire bill as recommended by Chairman Victor S. Bryant's committee.

Sitting as a committee of the whole House for the first time yesterday the legislators made rapid progress—progress so rapid as to suggest the calm before the pre-emptive storm—principally by reason of the fact that it was unanimously agreed that only committee amendments should be considered at this time, and further because it was agreed that certain sections should be considered as adopted tentatively only.

But just the same, the Finance committee's unprecedented action in bringing in the Revenue bill so early in the session has brought unstinted praise from every side

Hot Suspect In Kidnap Is Interrogated

KIDNAP-KILLER?

Seattle, Feb. 11.—(AP)—A report that an arrested ex-convict once used the name "Tim" with which the kidnaped killer of 19-year-old Charles Mattson signed the ransom note prompted renewed questioning today by federal, state and city officers.

A detective, refusing use of his name, said the prisoner, booked as H. A. Post, 32, seaman, must clarify "conflicting points" about his movements during and after the kidnaping of the boy at Tacoma December 2.

State police said Post registered as "Tim Donovan" at a hotel where he was arrested Tuesday. They pointed out "Tim" was the signature used on the $20,000 ransom note left in the Mattson home, and was the name under which the kidnaper negotiated before the boy's frozen body was found, between Seattle and Everett, January 11, nude, beaten and stabbed in the back.

PLAN RESUME WORK AT ONCE

Pact Understood To Provide for Recognition of U. A. W. A. as Bargaining Agency for Members of Union Only

Detroit, Feb. 11.—(AP)—The costliest strike in American automotive history ended formally today with the signing here at 11:46 a. m. of a peace agreement between General Motors Corporation and the United Automobile Workers Union.

The signing occurred as the strike, estimated to have cost 10,000,000 in wages alone to General Motors employees, entered its 44th day.

Shortly before the agreement was signed General Motors announced a five-cent hourly wage increase for all its employees effective February 15, estimated to amount to about $25,000 a year.

Under the terms of the agreement:

1. The corporation recognizes the union of the collective bargaining agency of those employees belonging to the union.
2. The corporation and the union agree to start collective bargaining negotiations February 16 with regard to the issues set forth in the letter of January 4 of the union of the corporation.
3. The union agrees to end the present strike and evacuate all plants now occupied by strikers.
4. The corporation promises to resume operations on all strike-bound or idle plants as rapidly as possible.
5. All employees are to return to work and without discrimination against strikers.
6. The union agrees pending negotiations there will be no other strikes or interference with production.
7. During existence of the collective bargaining agreement contemplated, all opportunities to negotiate shall be exhausted before any other strike or production interference is tried by the by the union.
8. After evacuation of the plants the corporation agrees to dismiss the injunction proceedings started by the corporation against the union of any members in Flint, Mich.

The terms of the agreement, signed at 11 a. m. were withheld until it becomes effective but sources close to the peace party that settled the 42-day "sit-down" strike, said the principal point at issue had been decided.

An informant added minor questions would be negotiated in a forthcoming conference after work has been resumed.

Machine To Test Visual Sensation To Be Tried Here

Apparatus Will Be Demonstrated at Meeting Saturday of Teachers From Wide Territory

Teachers from a wide territory are expected here Saturday to attend the conference on Reading Problems to be held at The Training School on the College campus, beginning with the registration at 9:30 and closing at 3:30 in the afternoon.

One of the most interesting pieces of equipment for testing the reading abilities is a new machine to test the visual sensation and perception of children so as to discover whether or not their eyes are functioning properly. This is the Betts "Keynote Ophthalmic telebinocular" machine, with which tests devised by Emmett Albert Betts, Oswego, New York. There are several hundred of these machines now in use in this state.

In the testing there is no diagnosis of the causes of irregularities of the eye and not remedies suggested and when trouble is found the parents are advised to send the child to an oculist.

Demonstrations of the machine will be given by an expert, and it will be used in the reading clinic in the afternoon.

This is only one of the interesting pieces of equipment that will be seen by the teachers on Saturday.

commissioners has the right to examine every list and to enter an objection in any case. Since the county must bear one-fourth of the cost, the belief is that now both the welfare board and the board of county commissioners will be careful to investigate every applicant and to see that none gets on the list not entitled to be there. But if the state and Federal governments bore all the cost and the counties none, many feel certain that some of the counties might take advantage of the pension plan and load the lists down with persons—perhaps political persons—who were really not eligible.

SENATE VOTES PENSIONS BILL

Measure Hurdles Opposition in Upper Branch

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—The old age pensions bill, which also provides for state participation in aid to dependent children, has successfully gotten by the senate and will be taken up by the house as soon as that body completes its work on the revenue bill.

Indications are that the old age pensions and children's aid bill will have somewhat harder sledding in the house, due to the greater opposition there to county participation in the payment of pensions.

But the belief in most circles is that the bill will eventually pass the house in virtually the same form it passed the senate.

Virtually the only objections to the bill in the senate came from a small group of senators who opposed the provision requiring the counties to bear one-fourth the cost of the pensions from county funds and also requiring the counties to levy a special tax of 10 cents on the $100 valuations to provide the necessary revenue for meeting the pension payments.

Senator L. M. Abernathy of Caldwell county offered an amendment Wednesday afternoon, which if adopted, would have required the state to bear half the cost of the pensions and the Federal government the other half, leaving the counties with none of the burden of this cost. Senator S. Gilmer Sparger of Stokes county was inclined to favor this move, as were several others. But in the end, the amendment was defeated and the bill passed as written.

A number of clarifying amendments were presented by Senator W. B. Rodman, Jr., of Beaufort county. Most of the credit for the able manner in which the bill was steered through the senate is given to Senator L. L. Gravelly of Rocky Mount, the introducer of the bill. He was assisted by the fact that the bill had the full support and blessing of Governor Clyde R. Hoey.

One of the features of the bill inserted into it by the committee on public welfare of which Senator (Mrs.) E. L. McKee was chairman, which made it more acceptable to the smaller counties, was the section setting up an equalization fund of approximately $200,000 a year, to be used in assisting those counties which cannot raise all the revenue they need for pensions from a 10 cent tax levy in the county.

The bill provides that any difference between the amount needed in any county as its share towards the cost of pensions and the yield from the ten cents levy, shall be paid from this equalization fund, provided such portion does not exceed three-fourths of the total revenue from the 10 cent tax. The $200,000 equalization fund is set aside from the amount which the state will provide.

There were two reasons for the failure of the amendments designed to put the entire cost of the pensions on the state and Federal governments, and thus relieve the counties of any expense. One was the conviction of most of the members of the senate that the state simply cannot raise any more revenue—it has not yet provided the $2,000,000 a year needed for the old age pensions on the basis of county cooperation.

The second was the belief that the only way to hold the cost of these pensions down within a reasonable limit and to prevent counties from loading the pension lists with those not strictly entitled to them, was by requiring the counties to bear a portion of the cost.

As the law now stands, each county board of welfare must determine those who are to receive pensions and the amount each is to receive, while the board of county representative R. E. Sentelle of Brunswick county, the Baptist minister in the house who two years ago led the fight for the "drys" but who now is for liquor control and voted for the present bill in the house, said today that he had received scores of letters commending his position and not a one criticizing him.

So while the senate committee is expected to listen courteously today to the "drys," it is expected to report the house bill favorably.

EXPECT LITTLE BY ARGUMENT

Drys Offer Barrage of Oratory Against Liquor Control

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Feb. 11.—The arguments being presented by the "drys" here this afternoon in opposition to the now before the Judiciary Committee county option liquor control bill Number One of the senate, are not expected to do any more good than the same arguments did when they were presented to the house committee several weeks ago.

A few days later the house committee rejected both the state-wide referendum bill favored by the "drys," and the Hanford liquor bill unfavorably, reported the county option liquor control bill favorably and then proceeded to pass on it on all three readings.

This is the bill now before the senate committee, of which Senator Thomas J. Gold of High Point is chairman. The drys are today asking that this bill be killed and that a state-wide referendum bill be brought out instead.

But the senate committee cannot bring out a state-wide referendum bill, due to the fact that the house has already refused to consider such a bill, it is pointed out by senate members.

It would also defeat the present bill if it should be amended so as to provide that it shall not go into effect until approved in a state-wide election, since those who know anything at all about legislative procedure know that it would require a two-thirds vote in the house to get a reconsideration of a similar amendment which was defeated when the bill was in the house.

The only question before the senate now is whether to enact this county option liquor control bill or defeat it and leave the set-up in the state as it now is, with only 17 counties having liquor stores and with the bootleggers having a monopoly on the sale of liquor in the other 83 counties. Senator T. W. M. Long of Halifax county pointed out this morning, "But the drys do not seem to realize this and apparently still think there is a chance to enact a state-wide referendum bill or to dry up the state entirely."

Indications are that this same view is shared by a majority of the other members of the senate, also that they are inclined to believe that the other 83 counties should be given an opportunity to hold elections and decide if they also want to have liquor stores, since it is certain that the 17 counties now having liquor stores will keep them if this new bill is not enacted.

"The trouble with most of the drys is that they do not understand the present legislative situation nor the situation in the state as a whole," Senator Gold, chairman of the judiciary committee, said this morning. "What they want is total prohibition or at least a state-wide referendum, but they do not realize that neither of these is a possibility at the present time."

He agreed that the action of the house in passing the present liquor control bill indicated that it will not be possible to enact either a state-wide referendum bill or a bill repealing the present laws under which 17 counties now have legal liquor stores. Other members of the senate pointed out that it was their business to consider facts and possibilities, rather than theories and what the "drys" think should be done.

The pressure on the members of the senate for defeat of the house liquor control bill from "drys" over the state has been much less than has been expected, it was learned today. Several senators said they have been getting just about as many letters favoring the control bill as opposed to it, many of the letters disparaging the bill coming from former "drys." Senator Gold said he had received "only about 15 letters" opposing the bill and had received about the same number favoring it. He said that virtually none of those opposing the bill showed any understanding of the issues involved and that their letters were most "just against the sale of liquor" in any manner whatsoever.

Representative R. E. Sentelle of Brunswick county, the Baptist minister in the house who two years ago led the fight for the "drys" but who now is for liquor control and voted for the present bill in the house, said today that he had received scores of letters commending his position and not a one criticizing him.

So while the senate committee is expected to listen courteously today to the "drys," it is expected to report the house bill favorably.

Legislative Chaff and Chatter

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—Legislators are just about maintaining their average for introduction of bills—two per member per month. On Tuesday the count stood at 265 in the House and 109 in the Senate, approximately two for each member.

House Appropriations Committee Chairman Libby Ward took a dig at the Senate Tuesday.

After Speaker Gregg Cherry had complimented committee on cleaning up their work and had remarked that "If you keep this up nothing can hold us up," the gentleman from Craven rose to declare:

"I hate to differ with the Chair, but there's one thing that's holding us up right now—the Senate."

A voting machine company has flooded the legislature with a pamphlet advertising the virtues of the concern's wares. It seems that the complete outfit can be purchased for a mere trifle—$200.00 or $300.000 or such a matter—or can be rented for next to nothing at all—say about $1,400 annually.

So far as can be learned the Assembly isn't on the point of either purchasing or leasing.

President Roosevelt certainly started something with his plan to increase the Supreme Court from "Nine Old Men" to "Fifteen Not-So-Old Fellows." First Kerr Scott fired in a bill to double membership of the Board of Agriculture and now comes Republican Representative Dellinger of Avery with a bill to add three members to his county's board of commissioners. The measures will pass, too.

What's the old saying about more ways than one to kill a cat? Anyhow, Representative J. C. Hobbs of New Hanover, has learned something from it.

Not so long ago the Wilmington solon slipped in a bill making it mandatory that the plumbing inspector of his county be "a plumber with at least ten years practical experience." It was generally agreed he was shooting at R. M. (Bob) Kerman who has held the post for a dozen years, but who couldn't qualify under the "experience" test.

Bob stirred up the plumbers down home to such an extent that they moved on Raleigh virtually en masse to protest at a Senate committee hearing. They impressed that august group so much that an unfavorable report loomed.

But Mr. Hobbs knows a trick or two. Quickly disclaiming any desire to "get" Mr. Kerman (who was a Hobbs opponent in the legislative primary of 1936), he readily agreed to strike out the "ten year" clause, but at the same time he insisted on striking out another section which would have permitted the P. I. to be a part time employee.

Who could object to that? Well, Mr. Kerman would like to, because he has a lawyer as well as the inspector and he has no desire to give up a reasonable, lucrative professional practice in order to give all his time to looking at pipes.

Now Mr. Kerman is definitely "out," yet who can say that Mr. Hobbs did it for spite? For could Mr. Kerman qualify for the post as it now stands just as well as anybody else?

Shrewd folks these politicians.

The sales tax on meals is now about like the famous Finney denied train. The food levy is "out" again in again gone again, just as was the case with the literary locomotive.

New Uses Developed For Sweet Potatoes

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—New uses developed for sweet potatoes in manufacturing processes gives promise of opening a larger market for this farm commodity.

Experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that sweet potato starch can be used to advantage in producing adhesive, laundry starch, and sizing for yarns and paper.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: When Count Vronski, who is blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters is shot dead in her studio, at least three persons are nearby: Anne, Clarke Bigelow and Karanakov, the glamorous dancer. They hide the corpse during a party, then Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's room. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a wealthy chap who hated Vronski, and Lorna Dryden, his wife, disappears to make the police suspect her. Anne and Bigelow locate Lorna and check her off their list of suspects which still includes Karanakov and Baroness Dormstadt.

Chapter 33 Bluffing The Baroness

"COME now," said Bigelow as they returned to Anne's car. "You know your New York better than I do. Where can one find good French cooking? I'm just a little tired of unseasoned American dishes. I know the food is fresh and wholesome, but it doesn't somehow tickle my palate."

Ann reflected. "There's Savignin's," she suggested. "I think you'd like the food there. And it's quiet and they won't mind our not being dressed."

So they headed for Savignin's, and as the stout proprietor himself conducted them to a table in the corner, they discovered the baroness and Lyman L. Strong dining together at a table that they passed en route. They had their heads together and were obviously absorbed in earnest conversation.

"Did you see—?" asked Bigelow under his breath as they sat down. "Yes. She's with Thorne Dryden's lawyer. What do you suppose that means?"

"She's probably pouring her tale into his willing ears," said Bigelow. "Did you call up your lawyer, by the way, and ask him to issue a warning?"

"No I had no chance to do it as we made such an early start this morning. Besides—on thinking it over—I wondered if I would dare start a suit against her for slander. She might like me to do just that on the chance that things would come out."

"No harm to threaten," said Bigelow. "The good old American game of bluff, you know?"

"But if she calls my bluff, won't it be tantamount to a confession that I have something to hide—if I don't sue?"

"It's tantamount to a confession if you don't even threaten," Bigelow pointed out.

"Yes, I suppose that's true."

"And a bluff might work."

"Yes, of course."

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover
Washington—If President Roosevelt is permitted to expand the supreme court by six members and then gets the type of decision he wants from the new court, he will have better luck than his predecessors.

Many Presidents have been tormented by decisions which threw out policies they felt imperative to national welfare. It started with Jefferson, who saw Chief Justice Marshall steadily shape up a stronger national government over the state-rightist views of the President. Justices named by Jefferson, once sharing his views, soon were voting against him under leadership of Marshall.

Jackson and Van Buren, who between them had named seven of the nine members of the court, found them anything but obedient. Critics of Jackson called the court "the sheet anchor of our government," an emergency refuge.

Charles Warren, profound writer in supreme court history, said this of the Jackson - Van Buren period: "The expectations of the politicians were unfulfilled. The court continued to decide its cases without regard to party. . . uncontrolled by the political views of its members or by the desires of officials at whose hands the individual judges had received their appointments."

President Roosevelt has not intimated that he intends to load the court with minds that bend to every breeze. But it would not be surprising if some of his most earnest supporters, upon finding themselves within the seclusion of the court, should temper their attitude when taking the long-time, impersonal view.

There is first-hand information upon the views of at least one justice as to whether expanding the court really eases the labor of the members, as the President suggested.

The court had been expanded from seven to nine under Jackson, Justice Story deplored it. It is to be recalled he was bitterly critical of Jackson. In a letter commenting on the change, he said: "You may ask how the judges got along together. We made very slow progress, and did less in the same time than I ever knew."

The addition to our number has most sensibly affected our facility as well as rapidly of doing business. Many men of many minds require a great deal of discussion to compel them to come to definite results, and we found ourselves often involved in long and very tedious debates. I verily believe if there were 12 judges we should do no business at all, or at least very little."

the man with the million dollar throat insists on a light smoke

"My voice is my career. It has inspired more than five million people to confide in me their personal problems. During 25 years, first on the lecture platform and then on the air, I have never missed a single engagement because of my throat. I am a steady smoker, and because my throat and voice are vital to my career I insist upon a light smoke. In Luckies I find a light smoke plus the enjoyment of fine tobacco . . . and that's why Lucky Strikes have been my choice for 14 years."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

"The Voice of Experience" verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". PHANTOMS WIN OVER OLD FOE

Defeat Washington Pam-Pack by Score of 39 to 12

By JOHN DAVID BRIDGERS
Playing their oldest rivals, Washington High School, the Greenville Phantoms of the Greenville High School defeated the Pam-Pack by a score of 39 to 12. Most of the action saw action last night in the High School gym and the game was fairly free from fouls.

The locals were led by DuBose Simpson, who collected the total of 17 points. Howard Hodges also played a very nice game on both the defensive and offensive.

The losers were led by Hodges, who tallied 7 points.

The Phantoms played very well last night and showed none of the over confidence which often results from the victory in a major game.

This business of promoting a heavyweight championship bout has its headaches. Witness the difficulties that make the proposed Braddock-Louis fight in Chicago a tangled mess.

The Chicago promoters made Braddock's manager, Joe Gould, the tempting offer of a flat $500,000. Gould readily agreed to repudiate his contract calling for a championship bout between Braddock and Max Schmeling. The threatened boycott against the German promised to cut the gate to a pittance, so Gould was receptive. He was ready to break any and all previous contracts to go where he could pick up a substantial sum.

And just when things appeared to be going along as smoothly as could be expected the prospect of law suits and injunctions loomed as a barrier, but one not impossible to hurdle; the question of the site of the proposed bout in Chicago cropped up.

Twenty Rounds? When the fight was first proposed to Gould, Soldier field was mentioned. Later, when difficulties arose over the rental of the stadium where Gene Tunney successfully defended his title against Jack Dempsey, it was proposed that Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, be used. Gould would have none of that. It must be Soldier field or nothing.

Then, up popped John Roxborough with the announcement that the Braddock-Louis bout would be held in Detroit and there would be no fight. Detroit promoters promise Braddock $500,000. Twenty-round bouts are permitted in Michigan, so the flatbuffs would be over that route. Detroit promoters would stage the fight during the latter part of June, when a Shrine convention will bring 250,000 visitors to the city.

Stamped to Centre. Very likely, the Detroit offer had much to do with Gould's laying down the law to the Chicago outfit. The champion's manager is shrewd, and likely is stalling for time hoping that more points will be heard from. He won't sell Braddock short. Braddock needs money badly. Gould realizes this is likely to be his only chance.

Meantime, the Madison Square Garden folks, who held Braddock's contract to meet Schmeling in New York, are doing nothing officially. As long as Gould merely considers they offers there is little that can be done. You can't hang a man for thinking. But the moment the champion signs for an-

Tomorrow night the Greenville High school cagers will entertain Raleigh's strong quint in probably the most important game of the season as far as the Greenies are concerned.

The Greens must win this game if they are to be rated as Class A champions. They have not won the championship yet and two defeats at the hands of Raleigh would demolish them with Durham and necessitate a play-off.

The game will start promptly at 7:30 and an hour later the Greenville crew will play Kingston. The game should be very close. The Greens can not be under-estimated even though they have lost three games in the Class A Conference. Coach Gregson has some big

SIMPSON TOPS TEAM SCORING

Statistics Compiled For All Games Prior to This Week

Statistics compiled on the Greenville high school basketball squad show that DuBose Simpson, who has played in all the games this season, is leading his teammates in scoring.

The figures include all games played prior to this week only. DuBose is probably one of Coach May's mainstays in the firing line and is one of the prettiest basketball players to be seen on the local high school court in many a day.

He is followed closely by George Lautares, forward, with a total of 72 points for the ten game he has participated in this season. Next in line is Tom Parrish with 52 points, who plays guard position. Tom is perhaps one of the best defensive players on the team and is one of Coach May's steady players. Carl Pierce, who plays the other forward position with George Lautares, ranks fourth in the number of points scored this current season, with a total of forty points.

The following is the list of basketball players on the Greenville High squad with a record of each player. Only players who have scored during the season are listed.

The table shows the number of games in which the player has participated, field goals made, foul goals and the total points accumulated for:

ed the bill will raise. He pointed out that there is no provision in it for Social Security, but explained that this feature will be taken care of later.

The bill is reported, he said, will balance the budget for the biennium, if the assumption that there will be a surplus of $3,000,000 in the state treasury as of June 30, 1937, proves correct.

He stressed the fact that committee estimates of revenue were, in every case, conservative and indicated that perhaps the bill will yield more revenue than is now anticipated.

He deplored any tendency, however, to create a huge surplus for the state, although expressing the opinion a slight margin of safety is desirable.

"As for a deficit," he said, "There can't be any under the budget law of 1929."
When Mr. Bryant announced that the bill was ready for consideration, Representative Walter Murphy, Rowan, rose to make a commendatory motion, lauding Mr. Bryant and his committee colleagues for their splendid work in breaking all records for speed in preparing the Revenue Bill for consideration by the House.

NEWTON READY START DRILLS

Winter Training Held Up Two Days By Bad Weather

College Station, March 11.—Winter training drills at N. C. State College have been held up for two days because of weather conditions, but Coach Doc Neuharth said this morning that he hopes to start the 1937 cadet drill tomorrow, a short outdoor drill, this afternoon.

The drill for cadets was to start Monday and 75 men were equipped, but rain prevented a practice. Additional men were equipped Tuesday and because of wet grounds there was no outdoor drill.

"We had planned to get down to real work on Monday and continue for six weeks but if this weather continues there is no telling when we will get started on what we will be able to do next week," Coach Neuharth said today.

A number of varsity nonogram winners of the 1936 team have not yet drawn equipment, but most of them are expected to be in town by the end of the week. There are several, however, who may not take part at all because of low grades. Newton has instructed these men to keep their minds on their studies.

With the completion of the winter sport program additional candidates will report as several football men are on the winter sport teams. The list includes Connie Mac Berry, lanky end and one of the best pass receivers in the South, and Eddie Burlinski, ace halfback. Berry is jumping center on the basketball team and leading the Southern Conference scoring. Burlinski is a reserve basketball forward.

4-H FARM BOYS PRODUCE CORN

Contestants Raise Three Times Average Acre Yield

Raleigh, Feb. 11.—North Carolina farm boys who competed in the State corn-growing contest last year produced three times as much corn per acre as the average adult grower.

The 1869 boys who completed their records in the contest got an average yield per acre of 54.37 bushels. The State average corn yield per acre is 18.5 bushels.

They planted 2166.5 acres and produced a total of 117,592 bushels valued at $1 a bushel.

Since their average production was 35.9 bushels more per acre than the State average, L. R. Hurrell, 4-H club leader at State College, they made $39.90 more profit from each acre.

Although he could not give the average cost per bushel for growing all the corn, Hurrell stated that the average production cost for the county winners was 33 cents a bushel. This gave them a profit of 47 cents on each bushel.

The figures were announced here today by Hurrell after he had tabulated all the reports sent in from over the State.

He said three new records were established: The average yield per acre, the total number of boys competing, and the largest corn show ever put on at the State Fair by 4-H club members.

The highest individual yield per acre was secured by Howard Martin, 16, of Clay County who produced 130.8 bushels on a measured acre of land. He was awarded a four-year scholarship to State College.

AGREEMENT SIGNED ENDING AUTO STRIKE AFTER 41-DAY SIEGE

An agreement was signed this morning by the U. A. W. and the bargaining agency for its members, with the corporation, moving the date of the strike to the 15th of the month.

The agreement was understood to provide for extension of "sit down" strikes from three plants at Flint, Mich., as soon as the agreement has been signed.

General Motors, it was reported, would resume operations as soon as possible after the plants have been evacuated.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Spurred by news of the General Motors price buyers swarmed over the stock market today and bid up leaders one to three or more points to new post depression peaks.
In an exciting first hour the ticker tape was as much as five minutes behind. Activity dwindled later and profit selling reduced or cancelled many extreme advances near the fourth hour.
It required a governor of the exchange and 16 minutes of waiting time to open General Motors. The first block of 10,000 shares changed hands at 70, up two and one half points.
Bonds and commodities were about uneven.

New York Cotton

New York, Feb. 11.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, three to seven points advance on higher Liverpool cables and settlement of the General Motors stock strike.
Prices after the first half hour showed net advances of two to five points. May eased from 12.57 to 12.53.
By midday May had recovered to 12.54 and prices generally were two to six points higher. The volume of business was limited.
