ROW BETWEEN LABOR UNION MORE SERIOUS

Peace, However, Prevails Along Automotive Front

GREEN AND LEWIS AT LOGGERHEADS

Representatives Of Opposing Unions Join in Attacking Hoffman Statement

(By Associated Press)
Peace prevailed along the automotive front today, but rumblings of discord over industrial union organization continued.

Representatives of both the Committee for Industrial Organization and of the American Federation of Labor, however, joined in attacking the statement of Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey that he would protect property from "sit-down" strikers.

A spokesman for the New Jersey State Federation of Labor called it "deplorable." He said, "we are not going to let ourselves be divided over an issue of this kind."

At a militia-ridden Anderson, Ind., Mayor Harry Baldwin asked the U. A. W. A. to remove Organizer Victor Ruetter and his assistants from the city "for the good of the general community." Colonel Albert Whitcomb of the national guard said these men were under investigation.

Trouble broke out during the week-end between union and non-union workmen. Thirteen men were under arrest and an union attorney was reported rushing to their defense from Detroit.

William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, cried "Hitlerism" at John Lewis' United Mine Workers, who ordered him out of "treason" in opposing the C. I. O.'s motor strike.

Fully 80,000 General Motors Corporation employees were back at work throughout the nation as representatives of the corporation and the union met in Detroit to work out an agreement on six proposals not settled in the pact last week which ended the six weeks' strike.

The conferees, in a two-hour meeting, laid the ground work for negotiations they expect will settle the final points at issue in the recent widespread automotive strike.

The first actual negotiations they decided will be the setting up of machinery nationally and locally for the handling of grievances brought to the attention of corporation officials by union representatives.

Authoritative sources said the union officials had been assured General Motors would move, as soon as necessary arrangements can be made, for dismissal of injunction obtained by the corporation against sit-down strikers.

William Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors, said the conferees had made a preliminary survey of the demand outlined by Homer Martin, union president, in a letter January 4.

The conferees agreed to meet daily at 10 a. m., and 2:30 p. m., each side to be represented by three officials, although others may join the group at times.

Negotiations also were underway for settlement of a "sit-down" strike in the Nash-Kelvinator corporation plant.

The Flint bus strike, 10 weeks old, appeared no closer to settlement.

Dental Clinic In All Pitt Schools Already Underway

Dr. A. D. Underwood, State Board of Health Dentist, to Carry on Work in White Schools

Dr. A. D. Underwood, State Board of Health dentist, has arrived in Pitt county to conduct a dental clinic in the white schools.

The project is being financed by the State and County health departments and is carried on under the supervision of the county department.

The dentist will examine all children and treat those whose parents are unable to pay for treatment. Children whose parents are financially able to take them to a dentist will be advised as to whether they are in need of dental work.

Dr. Underwood has been coming to Pitt county several years, and is popular both with health and school officials.

Dr. J. H. Barnhill, dentist from the State Board of Health, is conducting a similar clinic in the colored schools. During the past week he examined 80 students and treated 60.

The program includes the showing of moving pictures teaching oral hygiene.

DECIDE EXTEND LIMITS OF CITY

Aldermen Approve Resolution Calling For Project

A bill will be introduced in the General Assembly within the near future to provide for extending the corporate limits of the city of Greenville to take in property lying just outside the present limits.

The Board of Aldermen, which has had the matter under advisement for some time, has decided to go ahead with the proposal and a bill is being prepared for introduction in the legislature. Such procedure is necessary under law.

The proposed extension will take in the territory east of the city to a point about half way between the present city limits and Greenwood cemetery. To the south the extension will take in a part of the "Bama" south of the Norfolk-Southern Railroad, tobacco storage plants, the Greenville Oil and Fertilizer Plant, the slaughter house, the cotton mill and territory as far west as the Serve-U-Piling Station. Dropping back to the road in front of the old fair ground the city limits running northward will take in territory at present beyond the western edge of the city to a point beyond the new Negro school on west Fifth street.

The regular monthly maternal and infant welfare clinic will be held at the Pitt General hospital Monday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock under the auspices of the County Health department.

A county physician will conduct the clinic.

Baltic Waters Bedecked With German U-Boats

(By Associated Press)
Trim U-boats with the Nazi swastika fluttering from their flag masts knife the waters of Kiel harbor these days as Adolf Hitler's Third Reich develops an arm of naval warfare that wrought maritime terror in the world war.

But if the protocol for humanization of submarine warfare—joined by Germany, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—holds forth, the war time use of submarines will be shorn of most of its horror.

The pact, signed by the powers last November, would require submarines to conduct passengers, crews and ships' papers to places of safety before sinking merchant ships.

Even so, Kiel's Baltic waters boil white in the wake of German practice maneuvering newborn U-boats.

PROPOSE PLAN TO KEEP WAR WITHIN SPAIN

Proposal Offered By Hands-Off-Spain Sub-Committee

PACT EMBODIES NAVY BLOCKADE

Each Nation Would Ban Voluntary Aid to Either Side of Spanish Civil Strife

(By Associated Press)
The international "Hands-Off-Spain" committee was called into session today to confirm three recommendations to insulate the rest of Europe from the Spanish civil war.

Approved by a sub committee with only Portugal dissenting and Germany and Italy in agreement with France, Great Britain and Russia the proposals were:

1. Each nation to ban voluntary aid to either Spanish faction by February 20.
2. The committee also by February 20 to complete a plan to stop shipments of men and guns to Spain.
3. An agreement to put the supervisory plan into operation by March 6.

Portugal's opposition to establishment of an international patrol of her frontiers was ignored by the other powers, which held hopeful of ultimate Portuguese cooperation, determined to police Portuguese entrances to Spain by a naval blockade.

In effect the plan embodies two main points:

1. Establishment of more than 1,000 neutral observers along the Franco-Spanish and Gibraltar-Spanish frontiers to report violations, the committee to make representations to offending governments and its members to share the estimated $2,000,000 cost.
2. Placing a naval cordon around the whole peninsula, Portugal and Spain, with warships of the Great European powers. The naval officers, unauthorized to stop or search suspected violators, would function similar to the land patrol.

Major Raymond Moses of the Mississippi river commission told lower Mississippi valley dwellers there was no ground for fear because the battle to get the Ohio's flood waters down the big Mississippi before possible rises of its other tributaries had been won.

Nearly 3,000 refugees were quartered here and extra high water victims were expected as the crests approached, pushing back waters of the Yazoo river over new areas.

Change Parking Rule On East Fifth Street

A Change in parking rules for East Fifth street went into effect this morning after the Board of Aldermen had accepted a suggestion of Chief George Clark to allow the change.

All cars on the street, from Five Points to the High School, are parking at an angle. At the present they are being parked on the North side, but this rule will be reversed from time to time.

The word "academy" is derived from the olive grove of Academe, where Plato, the Greek philosopher, retired.

Establishment of a new station has been approved by the Coast Guard, but the budget bureau eliminated proposed expenditure for it from the treasury supply bill, reported to the house yesterday.

Warren said in the event funds were made available from other sources, he would seek establishment of the station somewhere along the northeastern coast of North Carolina.

Raids On Liquor Joints Prod Passage Of Control

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—The raids made on "liquor joints" in Mecklenburg county last week-end, resulting in the seizure of $15,000 worth of Federal tax-paid liquor in only four places, is expected to be brought into the debate on the liquor control bill in the senate here this afternoon in support of the contention that "Mecklenburg is the driest voting, wettest drinking county in the state."

Since approximately 1,000 gallons of liquor was seized from only four road houses, it is estimated that a full-sized warehouse would be needed to store all of the liquor actually on hand in the various bootlegging joints and filling stations in Charlotte and Mecklenburg county, if it could all be seized and taken to one place.

For it is assumed that Charlotte and Mecklenburg county are just as "wet" as Raleigh and Wake county and that liquor could be obtained there almost any time of day or night either by driving out to one of the many bootleg "liquor stores" or by merely calling one of several telephonic numbers.

The Mecklenburg county incident is also focusing attention on the contention of those favoring a state liquor control law to the effect that there is no such a thing as prohibition in North Carolina any more and that just as much liquor is being sold and drunk in the so-called "dry" counties as in the "wet" counties.

The only difference at the present time between the "wet" and the "dry" counties is that in the "dry" counties the liquor stores are operated by bootleggers under the guise of dine-and-dance emporiums, party because stands, filling stations, and so forth, while in the "wet" counties the liquor is sold in county operated and supervised liquor stores, it is pointed out.

"It is no longer a question of no liquor or legal liquor, as some of the dries seem to think," a member of the senate said this morning.

"Nor would a state-wide referendum help the situation any. In fact, the only ones who would benefit from a state-wide referendum would be the bootleggers, who would be given just that much more time to ply their trade—and if the 'dries' should win in the election, the bootleggers would be the real winners, since they would then be given a monopoly on the liquor business in the state."

The question now is who shall sell liquor in North Carolina, the bootleggers or the state and counties through carefully regulated and government supervised liquor stores—a lawless, racketeering element, or responsible people in legally established stores."

Dr. advocates of the state liquor control system point out that under

SENATE HEARS ARGUMENTS ON WHISKEY BILL

Amendment Offered to Provide State-wide Referendum

DAVIDSON SOLON PROPOSES MOVE

Measure Offered To Make Child Marrying Unlawful in This State

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The senate vigorously debated on an amendment this afternoon which would provide a state wide referendum on the question of creation of county liquor stores.

The house held a short session, sending the old age assistance and child aid bill to its appropriations committee. It was announced the administration free text book bill passed on second reading by the representatives last night had to go through house committee for approval of its bond issue features.

Senators received a bill to make child marriages unlawful by setting the minimum age limit at 18 years except for girls between 16 and 18 who have consent of their parents. Now girls 14 with consent and girls and boys 16 without consent may marry.

Senator Martin of Davidson offered the liquor referendum amendment and debate was limited to three hours. Taylor of Allison opposed the bill for it demanding the "capable people" of North Carolina be given the right to vote on the liquor question.

Opposition was expressed by Radman of Beaufort who said the bill called dry days have had their change and failed," he said the county had better conditions with liquor stores than it did before.

The house passed county option liquor bill would permit any of the 82 counties now not having liquor stores to hold referendums on the question. A state board would control the county store system, and no under state supervision. And he revenue bill includes a seven per cent sales tax on liquor. Now the state gets the three per cent sales tax.

Senator Gold of Guilford introduced a bill to increase the pay of the utilities commissioner from $6,600 to $7,500 a year.

The senate passed and sent to the house the Gold bill to provide social security aid to the needy blind.

House members got from Representative Bryant of Durham the important revenue machinery bill under which counties levy and collect taxes.

The Pitt County Board of Health is busy preparing its general sanitation campaign to be carried on in the schools, beginning March 8.

The program calls for a visit to each of the schools at which time a thorough check will be made in regard to sanitary conditions in general.

Security Is Sought For Small American Farmer

Seven Escapees Denied Paroles By State Office

Request Sent to Congress in Presidential Message

Washington, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The President sent to congress today an urgent request for action to restore security to the small American farmer.

With his message went a report of his special committee on farm tenancy. This recommended cooperative measures by federal, state and community governments to solve the problem of farm tenancy.

"Most Americans believe," the President said, "that our form of government does not prohibit action on behalf of those who need help."

The tenancy group suggested a "windfall" tax to check land speculation and a farm security administration and farm security corporation to direct the vast program aimed at solving the tenancy problem.

The files of these prisoners in the paroles office show that their prison records are above the average, with the result that on the basis of their prison records alone, they would have been regarded as in line for parole. But the facts recorded by the paroles investigators with regard to their past lives, records, previous sentences and escapes, likewise their mental attitudes, showed them to be habitual criminals. It was on the basis of these records rather than on their records since they have been in prison that their applications for parole were declined.

Commissioner Gill pointed out that the paroles office often is blamed for those paroled but gets no credit for the thousands of parole applications which are denied.

OFFICERS FIND DESERTED CAR

Officers Throughout Central North Carolina Warned to Be on Lookout for Seven Prisoners Who Escaped Caledonia Prison Farm

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—(AP)—The penal division announced this morning High Point police reported they had located the automobile in which seven desperate convicts who escaped yesterday from Caledonia prison farm in Halifax county had been traveling.

The machine, Warden H. H. Honeoy of State Prison said, was found stuck in the mud about two miles from High Point.

No traces had been found of the convicts between 7 o'clock last night when they released, unharmed, near Vass three hostages they had carried on a wild 200-mile chase, and the discovery of the abandoned automobile.

Prison authorities, however, had expressed the opinion the heavily armed fugitives might turn from Vass in the Pinehurst Southern Pines vicinity, toward Guilford county.

High Point police reported a car bearing license number 243,407 was stolen there last night.

Asheboro police about 11 o'clock notified the Guilford sheriff they had sighted the stolen car and believed it was occupied by the seven convicts.

Oscar Pitts, acting director of the penal division, went to High Point at mid-day to direct the search in that area.

Officers throughout central North Carolina were notified of the developments and asked to cooperate in running down the criminals.

About 7 o'clock last night the prisoners told Captain L. D. Hinton and Steward W. E. Roberts of Caledonia and Walter Willard, 19, of Raleigh, their hostages to "get out and get" on a side road about two and a half miles from Vass.

Fire Warden King Urges Caution In Burning Of Brush

Attention Called to North Carolina Laws Protecting Forests From Carelessness With Fire

R. W. King, Pitt county fire warden, issued a statement today urging farmers to exert every care to prevent forest fires when they begin their spring burning.

Warden King called attention to North Carolina laws protecting forests from conflagrations and asked that all forest fires be reported to the proper officials at once.

The statement in full follows: "We have had a very wet winter. Up to date we haven't had dangers of fire to our forest land. The farmers will have lots of burning to do when weather permits. I am asking all to be careful with your fires, and caution your tenants to be careful.

"It is a violation of the North Carolina Fire laws to intentionally set fire to another's woodlands; to let fire escape from your own lands; to start a woods fire on your lands without having first notified adjoining land-owners of your intention; to build a camp fire without first having cleared all inflammable material around such fire for a distance of 10 feet; to leave a camp fire unextinguished; to burn a stub pile, sawdust pile or any other material without having a watchman with it to refuse to assist a warden in fire fighting when called upon; to interfere with a warden or workmen under him while engaged in fire fighting on anyone's land."

"We hope it will not be necessary to see any one prosecuted for violation of the N. C. Forest laws.

Townsmen will be on duty every day during dry weather. Please report all forest fires to townsmen, phone 2633 or to the county warden, phone 956-W2."

One of the Louisville teachers who did not stop working because the flood closed the schools but who kept on as a relief worker was Miss Bernice Howard, well-known in Greenville as a teacher in the O. D. Model school.

The news came by way of a sister, Mrs. A. B. Alderman, wife of the superintendent of Greene county schools.

A brief item in the News and Observer this morning.

Miss Howard is both a graduate of East Carolina Teachers Training School and East Carolina Teachers College, getting her two-year diploma in 1918 and re-entering in the summer of 1921 with first group to begin work towards the A. B. degree then college. After receiving her A. B. degree, she was made a member of the faculty at the college of the fourth grade.

She had leave of absence for study at Columbia University but after receiving her M. A. degree, instead of returning to Greenville she went to Louisville, to be a supervisor of the elementary grades.

Miss Howard is from Greenboro. Her father, Mrs. Adelman, who was Bernice Howard, is also a graduate of East Carolina Teachers Training School.

Mr. Harding speaks in A. A. U. W. In a most inspirational talk to the Greenville A. A. U. W. last night in the high school library, Hon. F. C. Harding discussed the suggested topic, "Shall we Support Federation Insuring a Co-ordinated Social Security Program?" and answered for himself and the group of listeners with an unequivocal "Yes!"

The answer to such a question, said Mr. Harding, will vary according to the individual, to his outlook on the meaning of life and the responsibility of the individual for the welfare of the masses.

"If I believe that I should be allowed to gain and keep all the genius within me allows us to gain, regardless of the unhappy circumstances of my neighbor, then my answer would be in the negative," Mr. Harding said.

He cited Cal's negative attitude expressed in his question of God—"Am I my brother's keeper?"

Today, even the political world is querying, with a different intonation, "Am I my brother's keeper?" It is asking the question seriously because of the pressure of public opinion.

Mr. Harding went back to show the source of the change in attitude—Christianity. Answering the question as to what a Christian is, he said the answer is simple: the two-fold requirement being to love God with heart and soul and to love one's neighbor as himself. "Social security had its beginning there," he said.

If man were only human, contended the speaker, we might not feel the need to support such a program. But being also divine, men recognize in others the divine side also, and feel that each human being should have a chance to develop fully.

Particular cases were cited by the speaker to show the need right here for support of such coordination between state and federal governments in social security.

The program was in the hands of the legislative committee, of which Miss Maude Adams is chairman. Dr. Lucille Turner introduced the speaker with reference to a talk she remembered hearing him give ten years ago.

"The Mikado"
Music lovers are sure to enjoy the high school club's production of "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan's renowned opera, which will be presented in the high school auditorium tonight at 7:45, under the direction of Miss Olga Standler.

Robert Musselwhite portrays the Mikado of Japan; Edward Conway, Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner; Mary Lorraine Horne, Kalisha, an elderly lady; Robert Earl Clark, Lord High Everything Else; Earl Dunn, Fish Tush, a lord; Claire Brown, Nanki-Pook, the Mikado's son; Belva Dare Harris, Yum-Yum, Kio; Foley Pitt, Sime, and Mattie Lawrence Holiday, Peep-Bo; the last three wards of Ko-Ko.

The story is set in Japan and involves the love affairs of Kalisha, Nanki-Pook, Yum-Yum and Ko-Ko. The plot offers many complications which are straightened out in the last act.

Miss Deanie Boone Hasket and Miss Evelyn Rogers are helping Miss Standler with the make-up and other necessary jobs.

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 14, 1937.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 62:1. "Truly my soul waiteth upon God: from him cometh my salvation."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Many there be which say of my soul, There is no help for him in God. But thou, O Lord, art a shield for me; my glory and the lifter up of mine head." (Psalms 3:2,3).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Sci-

Victory Dinners Set For March 4th To Be Big Events

Affairs to Be Real Celebration of New Deal Administration's Four Years of Power

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—The Victory Dinners which are to be held in practically every county of North Carolina (as well as throughout the nation) on March 4th are going to be the "biggest party events of the year," to quote A. D. (Lon) Folger, Democratic National Committeeman from Tar Heels, who is in charge of arrangements.

"With no election or primary of any real interest to the Democratic party in 1937, says Mr. Folger, every effort is to be centered on making the Victory Dinners real celebrations of the New Deal Administration's years of power.

In addition, of course, Mr. Folger hopes that the party deficit can be completely wiped out by proceeds of the dinners and thus all financial worries done away with.

At his headquarters here in Raleigh things are humming, Mr. Folger has named a committee to assist him in state-wide activity for the dinners.

EXPECT ALTER ELECTION LAW

Legislature Likely To Abolish Judicial Primaries in State

Reflector Bureau.

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—A great deal was said both pro and con at the public hearing this morning, but when the Senate Committee on Election Laws had finished the business it seemed more than likely that this legislature will abolish primaries as applied to judgeships and solicitorships and returned these court positions to conventions to select nominees.

First reason for this probability is the action of the Democratic state committee in recommending it by an overwhelming majority. Too, there is the general feeling common to this and other legislative bodies that a convention gives more real thought to the qualifications of candidates than does the electorate as a whole.

It seems to be the consensus that when the primary system is used there is scant attention paid to the ability or fitness of the candidates for judge and solicitor. It's their chairman and chief aide to Mr. Folger, Wallace Winborne, Mar. on state chairman; Mrs. W. B. Murphy, Snow Hill, state vice chairman; and Mrs. Mae Oliver, Sanford, vice president of the state's young Democrats.

Local chairmen are being named as rapidly as possible and each of them will be assisted by a local committee composed of the county chairman and vice chairman and the county president and vice president of the Young Democratic club of the county.

popularity with the "deer people" and the amount of money they spend in hiring workers at the polls which decide the issues.

On the other hand, the "deer people" in conventions only those who are reasonably well qualified for the post are considered at all. It's a general free for all into which anybody can inject himself who had cash enough to pay the small primary entrance fee.

Of course, this view is opposed by many who feel that a convention thwarts the will of the people and puts selection of judges and solicitors in the hands of unscrupulous politicians who will be even less concerned about qualifications than will the voters.

NOVEL ROTARY PROGRAM HERE

Ayden Club Has Charge of Regular Club Meeting

Three members of the Ayden Rotary Club—Frank Kilpatrick, Hal Edwards and Frank Peterson had charge of the program at the regular meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club last evening. Their program was in return for one given at Ayden some time ago by members of the Greenville club.

The program consisted of a group of miscellaneous questions asked by Frank Peterson, educational and vocational teacher at Ayden and the score was recorded by Hal Edwards. The Greenville club rated a total score of 84 as compared to Ayden's score of a week ago of 82. The program was different and unusually interesting and it was greatly appreciated by the Rotarians.

At the conclusion of the meeting Dr. Robert Lee Humber was called by President J. B. Kittrell for a few remarks.

Dr. Humber, basing his talk on international affairs, declared the war situation in Europe was being relieved. The Spanish situation has crystallized and focused attention on the approach of war and every move now made is a careful effort not to precipitate the whole of Europe into war.

In Dr. Humber's interpretation, "Western Europe is married to peace." It has no desire for territorial expansion, no need for greater resources, but East of the Rhine there is a different picture. Here religious freedom, habes corpus personal initiative do not exist. There is an acceptance of the prevailing power of Hitler. Hitler, his rise as a semi-god, his renunciation of every German obligation, has behind him the solidarity of the masses and his program is to expand into the Ukraine, where there are great natural resources, where Germany's excess population may emigrate, where he may obtain a foothold on the Black Sea. Ultimately his plan calls for the control of Europe.

Dr. Humber declared that the moment was now approaching when there must be a mobilization of powers into an international government that could clear the international highway of gangsters, those who do not respect the rights of other nations. There must be a common security; there must be conceived a family of common interests. To do this America, in this world of changed industrial complexities and common relationships, must submerge or modify her nationalism to meet the needs of today.

In conclusion Dr. Humber stated he believed the end of the Twentieth Century would be heralded as the end of barbarism. To use Canning's words in the mouth of George III, "I've called the New World into existence to re-balance the Old."

K. W. Cobb won the attendance booster prize given by Lebram Spence.

Guests of the club were as follows: Fay Davis of Chattanooga, Tenn., Dr. Robert Zee Humber of Paris, France, and Wayland J. Semons of Greenville.

Mrs. Tomlinson and Shelia are shown sobbing in each other's arms as Judge Daniel Bird announces the decision. Just behind them stands Tomlinson. "Don't take my baby from me. ### Bitter Fight Looms Over Contractor's Sales Levy Bellevue, Wis., Feb. 15—Adjournment of the legislature by April 1 is being predicted by practicing real estate brokers, but before any additional action is taken there is being one of the hottest and bitterest battles in the state—and it will not be over until the end of the year.

The proposition which may hold up the works is that sales tax on building planning and electrical contractors be added into the Revenue bill at the eleventh hour and fifty-ninth minute by the Finance committee and put through the House despite a stubborn opposition by Representative J. C. Hobbs, of New Hanover.

Beaten in the lower branch, foes of this extension of the sales tax into new fields to battle it out of the bitter end when the Revenue bill comes up in the Senate.

Already John Sprunt Hill, of Durham, has threatened to "take for a week" on the subject and it is admitted on all sides that the Senator from the Blue City is quite able to make good his threat. Some cynical Senators have even said that he is talking for a week, and so he might just as well be talking about one thing or another.

The opponent of this contractor's tax claim a number of things are wrong with it in principle. Tax payers claim they "can't be done right" in the methods used in getting it into the Revenue bill. They intend to let the Senate and the world at large know all about their intentions once they get a chance on the floor.

First, they say it is dangerous to the taxpayers of the state as an extension of the sales tax into contractors' territory in that it is the first sales levy made on wholesale transactions for production purposes.

Second, they declare it is discriminatory in that it singles out a particular class of wholesalers upon whom to impose the tax. There are some of them who plan to carry the matter into the courts in the event they fail in the legislature.

Third, they assert it was put in at the last minute in order to make up for the loss of $300,000 annually which went by the boards when meals were exempted in accordance with the Democratic platform and the campaign pledges of Governor Hoey. They intimate that there is no reason for exempting meals except the fact that somebody with a facile fountain pen wrote the "meals" into the party platform when every principle of justice is against exempting meals.

Fourth, they allege that Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell has been carrying a stick around for them for some time. Mr. Hoebbs in the House termed the proposal "a belt of lightning aimed directly and designedly at one class—the contractors."

NO COMPACT THIS YEAR

As had been expected by some, word now comes from Georgia to the effect that there is little chance that the tobacco compact bill will be passed by the legislature of that state, which means that the tobacco compact plan is dead for the time being.

Despite this information our farmers need not feel excited about the situation this year for if they will hold their production down to the same level as if the compact or the AAA were in force and take advantage of the government soil conservation program, they will out all right on the year's operations.

It seems almost impossible to get the tobacco growing states together on a state compact plan but we still believe there is a way that the federal government can take care of the situation through its soil conservation plan and with congress now in session steps looking toward such federal legislation for the 1938 crop should be taken. In the meantime we urge all our farmers to go right ahead with their plans for a small crop this year and take advantage of the present soil conservation program under which the government will pay them so much per acre for every acre retired from the production of tobacco and planted in crops that will conserve the soil.

GROWING OPPOSITION TO COURT CHANGE

It took conviction on the part of Senator Josiah W. Bailey to oppose the President's Supreme Court reforms in the face of the President's popularity as evidenced by the overwhelming vote he received in the recent November election, but judging from the comments we hear on the streets Mr. Bailey's stand is becoming more popular as the issue is discussed. It appears there are large numbers of citizens who do not wish to see politics creep into the Supreme Court and its operations, and that is what seems to be most feared once there is any tinkering with the present set-up of the court.

The Supreme Court, separate and apart from the other departments of our government, is a very necessary balance wheel for the preservation of Democracy in our nation and there is a growing belief that changing the set-up of the court at this time would set a precedent that in the end

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: A pistol cracks in Anne Phelps' studio, killing Count Vronski, who had been black-manding her with love letters. Nearby are Anne, Clarke Bigelow and Korsanokoff, the exotic dancer, who hide the corpse during a party. Later Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move it to Vronski's room. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, who hated Vronski, and seek a woman in mink who visited Vronski's place the fatal night. Baroness Dormstatt accuses Anne of the murder. Anne, determined to face her world, goes to Madge's night club with Bigelow.

Chapter 37

The Baroness Makes A Scene

ANNE gazed out at the lighted entrance of Madge's place as they drew up to the door. "Thank you, Edward Goodnight," she said with a smile to the chauffeur as she stepped out. "You don't mind my sending him away? He's been driving me all day," she said as they went in.

"Of course not." The head waiter saw her and slipped off the cord to let them in, greeting Anne with his usual deferential bow, and himself conducting them to a choice table. They did not observe the baroness until they were seated. She was across the dance-floor from them, sitting with Tommy Tuttle and she was dressed all in black.

"That awful woman!" murmured Anne, under her breath. "Ignore her," advised Bigelow. "If I can," said Anne. "But look at the way she is glaring at me. I can see her out of the corner of my eye. I rather wish, now, I hadn't come here."

"We can't," he'll think I'm running away because I'm frightened of her." "Didn't you know she would be here?" "No, I've seen her here only once before—that night, you know." Madge bore down upon them, followed by the waiter with her chair.

"So Vronski wasn't Vronski, after all, but Cienkowski," she sighed as she sat down. "The only difference between people and vegetables is that you can't fool anybody by calling an onion an avocado. And speaking of onions, as I certainly was, this charming little piedaterre of mine seems to have them boiled and stewed. And that reminds me of Arthur, I can't think why, I was saying to him the other day that my idea of perfect bliss is to retire to the country and keep a cow and he said a lot of men he knows are doing it right here in town. Not bad for Arthur, was it? I told him if I could snap 'em out like that, I'd get drunk, too. Have you noticed Nemesis opposite you in black? Don't look now."

"If you mean the Baroness Dormstatt, I've had that treat," answered Anne. "She seems to have a fixed idea that I killed her late boy friend and nothing will persuade her that I didn't." "I know. But you must be very kind and very patient no matter how much it hurts. We all get rather odd at her age. At least so I've heard. I'm much too young myself to know about such things yet. Hold fast; she seems to be heading this way to speak her little speech."

"I hope she isn't going to make a scene!" cried Anne anxiously. "If she does," said Madge, "she'll go out pronto on her noble posterior." Accusations THE baroness advanced. Her face was very white, her lips were moving soundlessly and her eyes were shining. Bigelow leaped to his feet not knowing exactly what to expect. Anne sat holding her breath and steeling herself. Madge raised warning, watchful eyes. "So you've bought Strong, too, have you?" cried the baroness leaning across the table toward Anne. "Don't try to deny it! The facts speak for themselves! Last night I told him to search your studio and he'd find evidence to prove that the murder was committed there and today you got workmen in to remove any trace that remained! You won't try to deny that, will you? I was watching! I expected it!" Her voice rose hoarsely and at the nearby tables, several heads turned to discover the cause of the disturbance.

"Quiet please," said Madge. "Only loud conversation is permitted here, madame."

"Oh, you want to dip your hands into the money bags, too, do you?" cried the baroness. "Everybody's ready to shield her just because she's got the 'helpful millions.' A man can be shot down in cold blood and the police do nothing! The newspapers print what they're paid to print..." Madge caught the head waiter's eye. He came swiftly, beckoning several waiters. The orchestra began a lively rumba.

"An innocent man is arrested just to keep people from suspecting!" the baroness raved on. "And his wife got out of the way so that she can't clear him! But nobody cares! Nobody tries to find out the truth! I've always heard you can commit any crime in this country if you have money enough—and it's true!... She's bought the police with the Phelps money. She's bought the newspapers—!"

The headwaiter seized the baroness gently but firmly by one arm as one of his assistants seized her by the other, and they began to propel her toward the door. She struggled, screaming, "I'll make her pay!... I'll make her pay!..."

"Act Don't-Give-A-Damnish!" "DOPE, I'm afraid," said Madge. "Loud enough to be heard at the nearby tables." "She was in love with Vronski, you know, and she's got delusions, poor thing." She moved Anne's glass nearer to her and Anne drank. She sat there white and shaken. "Times like this," said Madge, "you wonder afterward how you ever lived through. But they never seem so terrible to other people as they do to ourselves. I had the belliffs in London once. When you owe money that you can't pay, your creditors obtain a claim on your household goods and put two grubby Cockneys in badly fitting suits in your house to watch that you don't pawn or sell anything of value. Well, I was so mortified and humiliated that I thought I would never be able to look anyone in the face again. But a week later I went to a dinner party at a very smart house and a dowager coquette, my dear, most distinguished, told everyone that she'd got the belliffs in and what amusing men they were. And everybody thought it such fun! And she had a tea the next day so that everyone could meet them. And I realized I'd really missed my great opportunity, because mine were gone by that time."

She smiled and patted Anne's hand lying so listlessly on the table and rose. "Dance a bit and act don't-give-a-damnish!" she advised as she moved off, followed by the waiter with her chair. "We must do something about that woman!" said Anne to Bigelow. "Yes, I'll talk it over with Austrelitz tonight after I leave you."

Anne nodded and finished her drink. "Let's dance," she suggested, trying to smile. "Do you feel up to it?" "I must," said Anne, simply. They got up to dance. A few people glanced at her curiously but the majority of those present had been too absorbed in their own concerns to become aware of the disturbance and the others had already lost interest in it....

Meeklenburg, Wake, Durham, Guilford, Forsyth and most of the 83 so-called "dry" counties, liquor may be obtained day or night—but principally at night—from hundreds of "joints" or may be ordered by telephone, with fast delivery service to virtually any address, even hotel rooms.

Here in Raleigh, for instance, there are at least four big-time bootleggers who maintain delivery service anywhere in the city, while it is estimated that there are 25 or 30 others both inside and outside the city limits who do a cash-and-carry business at somewhat lower prices. Most of these "liquor stores"

Legislative Chaff and Chatter

Raleigh, Feb. 16. — It is quite doubtful that the huge appropriations measure will make the same speed in the Senate as it did in the House, where it took the law makers exactly four minutes and thirty seconds to authorize $79,000,000 of spending during the next two years.

Senator Lee Gravelly is believed to be determined to offer an amendment increasing the appropriation for the North Carolina Tuberculosis Sanatorium, and when the Nash man gets his mind set on something he doesn't give up without a battle.

Representative D. F. Giles, of McDowell county, wanted the worst way to send up amendments to the spending bill in the House. When Chairman Lobby Ward called up the matter the roly poly westerner even-arsed to object to its immediate passage, but after an appeal by the Cravenite, he contented himself with saying he had intended to offer an amendment.

Speaker Gregg Cherry was in his best form of the session during Saturday night's meeting of the House. Serious when seriousness was necessary he let himself go in between times and kept the floor and galleries in a gale of laughter.

At one stage during the Friday night session Representative B. C. Jones, Swain, engaged in a prolonged debate with Guilford's Phil Beta Kappa Pickens. So involved did the subject become (they were talking about a divorce law) that at one point the Swain man said in all seriousness: "I don't know whether I was talking or whether he was."

It is a noticeable fact that most of the talking in the House is done either by committee chairmen, who have to talk, or by first termers, who feel they need to talk to make their presence known.

One veteran of many legislatures, Gaston's Dave Dellinger, recently remarked: "I used to do ten times as much talking on the floor as I do now, and I didn't get one-tenth as much done."

sell-only government, tax-paid liquor and hold Federal retail liquor dealers' licenses, since very few take any chances with the Federal government by attempting to sell "hoochies," or non-tax paid liquor. The demand is almost entirely for the government tax-paid liquor.

"I know that conditions in my county are very similar to those in Mecklenburg county, in that I know of at least four places which sell liquor just outside the city limits of the city in which I live and I am told there are many more," another Senator from a Piedmont county said yesterday. "That is why I am convinced that liquor control is worth trying, at least. It certainly cannot be any worse than the present bootlegging system in effect in to vote for the liquor control bill." most of the dry counties. I intend

Game to Be Called at Campus Building Tonight

A game that is expected to be the best of the season will be played at the Campus building tonight at 8:00. High Point College, which has never been defeated by a Pirates team in basketball, will be the opponent. Coached by Vergil Yow the Pointers have good teams from year to year. Basketball is the major sport at High Point; the school does not participate in football.

The Pirates, who seem to scale the heights, when playing at home, can be counted on to put up a fierce battle.

Only two games remain on the home schedule after tonight. Friday night the Naval Apprentice School from Newport News will be here with a team that is a top heavy favorite to cop the Virginia A. A. U. championship. On March first the Collegians play the last game of the season against William and Mary.

Fred Astaire keeps a working supply of 30 pairs of dancing shoes.

Paul Robbin stand-in for Eric Blore, speaks eight languages. He used to be with the department of immigration.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington—John L. Lewis' favor probably went two or three degrees up or down, whichever way he likes it best, when the new was brought to his sick bed in Detroit that the strike was ended and his outfit was given a good track position.

In effect, the peace agreement gave the United Automobile Workers, affiliated with Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization, six months in which to line up a majority to deal with General Motors as a bargaining agent under the Wagner act. To a labor leader, nothing could be sweeter except perhaps company surrender. And that might pass.

Meantime, unless Governor Frank Murphy sees some other employe group is getting an unnecessary hot end of the poker, no other labor organization will be given the right to deal with the company. That was a company concession of no mean proportion since it was contrary to what its representatives long had been holding out for.

The armistice provided a breather for Washington, which in these latter few days has found scarcely enough untarnished air to go around.

One ready surmise that the company sought to show that the business-labor machine would work in orderly fashion and there was no necessity for changing the Supreme Court so special remedies could be legislated and applied.

If it can be accepted that labor successes ebb and flow in the manner of tides, business cycles and influenza epidemics, labor now might be seen as on the upswing. Encyclopedia Britannica says this about the down trend:

"The years 1923-33 were characterized by an ebb both of union strength and of strike activity. It was an era of employer domination. Led by such great industries as steel, automobiles, meat packing and textiles, and resorting sometimes to force and in other circumstances to welfare capitalism, the employers came close to driving unions out of manufacturing. The activity of communists and socialists in trying to capture control of the labor movement forced the unions to divert much of their fighting strength to resist his 'boring from within'."

Lewis, at his recent Washington press conferences exuberated confidence that his big hour has come. Incidentally that strike was no penny ante game. Estimates were that the cost to workers alone in lost wages was $1,000,000 a day, or $44,000,000 for the period of the strike. They received wage increases from General Motors amounting to $25,000,000 a year at the time of settlement of the strike, but it will take nearly two years of that increase to write off the lost wages.

Once upon a time Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts settled a policeman's strike in Boston, made himself famous and grew up to be president. Once upon a time Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan settled an automobile strike, made himself famous and, well, four years a fairly long time and there's the Supreme Court.

HIGHS TO MEET BABY DRAGONS

Greenville Champs to Play at Wake Forest Tonight

The Green Fantoms, Eastern Class A Champs, will travel to Wake Forest tonight to play a return game with the Dragons' Freshman quint.

When the two teams first met here the locals were badly soundly and received their only defeat, but tonight they are expected to make a better showing.

Although the Baby Dragons took their first game with the Greens by a good margin it was an interesting contest, and tonight's game is expected to be a still better one for the Greens.

CABINET ROUGHTY AND $309, NOW YIELDS 25%

Malta, Mont. (AP)—It was a pleasant surprise for E. McFarland of Cole, Mont., when the drawer of an old kitchen cabinet he had purchased at auction for $3 fell open and disclosed $650 in currency.

McFarland bought the cabinet when administrators auctioned the belongings of James Williams, an eccentric reclus who died last spring. There were rumors he had money hidden in nooks and crannies of the building he occupied but officers had searched and failed to find it.

McFarland turned the $650 over to the administrators.

SPORT SLANTS

by PAP

For more than 35 years Johnny McHugh has been making away with the game. And when Johnny starts playing you should see 'em running. They're not frightened by any kind of opposition, but they're not afraid of the toughest either. He has been up, as a long-time and well-known, and a good game, but he's never been out of the crowd since he was a kid.

Johnny McHugh is the U.S. No. 1 starter. He has been starting track meets since he was a kid. In the years that have rolled by he has seen it all in sports—the great, the near great, the bad, the not just for fun and exercise. He knows most of them.

"All Champ" Always ready with a warm smile, he is a real sportsman. He has been in the game since he was a kid. He has been in the game since he was a kid. He has been in the game since he was a kid.

STATES DUTIES OF PATROLMEN

Force Must Cooperate With Other Peace Officers

Raleigh, Feb. 16.—The State Highway Patrol must cooperate with all existing law enforcement agencies whenever called upon to do so, although its primary job is to patrol the highways and enforce the traffic laws, Captain Charles D. Farmer, its commander, pointed out today.

highway patrol "shall" cooperate with any of these officers whenever called upon. It is being intimated here that the reason the Mecklenburg county solicitor called on the highway patrol to make these liquor raids instead of the sheriff or Mecklenburg county rural police, was because the county officers were not in sympathy with the raids.

"Not only do highway patrolmen have the status of peace officers at all times, with the power to make arrests for any law violations, but Chapter 324, Section 3, 4 and 5 of the Consolidated Statutes, further makes it mandatory for patrolmen to assist other law enforcement officers, including solicitors and judges, whenever called upon for any specific duty."
