UPPER BRANCH KEPT BUT ON REVENUE BILL

House Passes Free Textbook Measure on 2nd Reading

AWAIT REPORT ON LIQUOR ACT

House Members Vote to Hold One-Day Session at Edenton.

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Senators continued work today on the $75,000,000 biennial general fund revenue bill for 1937-38 as the house again passed on second reading the measure to provide free textbooks for elementary school pupils.

Both divisions awaited a report from the conference committee on the county option liquor bill which scheduled a meeting for this afternoon.

House members voted to have a one-day legislative meeting at Edenton, but did not fix the day, and sent the measure to the senate.

The senate, by an overwhelming oral vote, refused to strike out the three per cent sales tax with basic foods exempted, which is in the revenue bill, but amended the house-approved measure to eliminate reference as to how the levy should be passed on.

Supplementary legislation to provide application of the tax on sales of ten cents or more will be offered, Senator Webb, of Lenoir, announced, and Senator Gay, of Northampton, said he would fight to raise the level to 15 cents. Merchants pay on all retail sales except those of exempted articles.

The senate voted to defer until tomorrow debate on controversial tax sections, such as those on chain filling stations and building contractors, but Senator Webb said he hoped the action would be rescinded at an afternoon session so the bill could be passed on first reading by night.

The textbook bill to issue $1,500,000 in bonds to pay for the books and continue rental texts for high school pupils passed 88 to 0.

Expected Changes In Machinery Act Affect Taxpayers

Proposal to Fix New Listing Date Throughout State Seen as Most Important Feature

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 18.—Probably the most important change in the tax machinery act, now under consideration in the House, is that fixing a new listing date throughout the state. Certainly it is the change which will directly affect the most tax payers.

Under the act, the tax listing date will be January 1st, beginning in 1938. Tax listing this year would begin in April, instead of in May.

In addition to these, there are many other important changes in existing provisions. Among them are:

1. The tax lien would be the listing date.
  2. County boards of equalization, in any year, would have power to reassess property the value of which is out of line with that of other similar property in the county.
  3. All machinery and fixtures would be reassessed annually.
  4. Livestock would be eliminated from the $300 personal exemption now allowed by law.
  5. Any county would be permitted, in discretion of the commissioners, to install a "permanent listing system" for realty.
  6. Unlisted real estate would be listed by supervisor, list taker or clerical assistant to supervisor.
  7. State board of assessment would be permitted to make available to local tax authorities information shown in reports to state.
  8. Compensation of supervisors and list takers would be left in discretion of County Commissioners.
  9. Penalties would be provided on realty taxes during period between May 2 and sale date and on personal taxes after May 2.
- As under the present act, revaluation in 1937, by actual appraisal or by horizontal increase or decrease, is allowed.

BRIDGE DEATHS BEING PROBED

Answers Sought To Several Important Questions

San Francisco, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The question whether scaffolding on the world's longest suspension span, the Golden Gate bridge, had been declared unsafe, stood high today among those for which investigators sought an answer in explaining the 200-foot death plunge of ten workers.

Frank McDonald, state industrial accident commissioner, said Inspector A. F. Mailloux twice made such a protest to several construction officials. McDonald pointed out the commission and bridge authorities were approaching the $35,000,000 structure for another inspection of the 4,200-foot span when the scaffolding collapsed yesterday.

Philip Hart, president of the Pacific Bridge company, which expects to complete the span by May, said last night:

"The details of the construction and the completed scaffolding were at all times visible and accessible to the inspectors of the bridge district and the state industrial accident commission, and no objection was ever made to our use of the scaffold."

Bank Commissioner Again Survives Attacks Of Foes

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 18.—The House committee on Banks and Banking has unanimously recorded itself against abolition of the present banking department and has, in effect, given a clean bill of health to the present department and to its direction by Gurney P. Hood, commissioner of banks.

This action was taken Wednesday after the committee had heard representatives of practically all the banks in the state express themselves thoroughly satisfied with the present setup and after a representative of the Federal Deposits Insurance Corporation has told the committee the federal body has found cooperation of the present supervisory authority in North Carolina "most satisfactory."

Bills technically under consideration were measures introduced by R. A. Patton, Macon, and Troy Barnes, Wilson, providing for abolition of the banking department and transfer of its functions to a com-

MARY ASTOR MARRIES INSURANCE SALESMAN

Yuma, Ariz., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Actress Mary Astor, central figure in the widely publicized "dairy" case was married here early today to Manuel De Campo, Mexico City insurance salesman after a secret plane elopement from Hollywood.

The red haired actress, once widowed and once divorced, identified herself to a county license clerk as Lucille Thorpe, 30. Del Campo said he was 25. Superior Court Judge Henry Kelly performed the wedding ceremony at his home at 4:30 a. m. (mountain standard time).

The couple departed by car for Calexico, Calif., where Del Campo previously had arranged to board a trans-American transport for Mexico City.

There a few hours later the three-married actress kissed her new husband good-bye and the handsome insurance salesman, who had aspired briefly to an acting career, left alone. His father died at the Mexican capital of pneumonia yesterday.

The bride said she would return to Hollywood for a film engagement.

Miss Astor said reports of the marriage were "ridiculous." "I simply accompanied Mr. Del Campo to Mexico," she said. "to bid him farewell on his flight South because of the sad tragedy of his father's death."

BATTLE FLOOD NO TRACE YET NEAR NATCHEZ OF SEVEN MEN

Natchez, Miss., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The flood fight in the lower Mississippi valley centered today 23 miles below Natchez on the Louisiana side of the river, where a 35-mile stretch of embankment was reported "cracking and caving."

Hundreds of men struggled to bolster a main line dike between Deer park and Bougere pounded by the river's rising crests.

B. F. Young, president of the Fifth Louisiana levee district, rushed man power reinforcements to the threatened area and said it would be a "hard fight" to hold the earthen bulwark.

Fifty men were added to the work crew last night and young issued a rush call for 600 more to swell the fighting force along the stretch to more than 1,000.

INSURANCE OF CROPS SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

Executive Asks Congress to Underwrite Major Products

PLAN USE WHEAT AS EXPERIMENT

Talk of Court Reorganization Subsides at Capital, But Committees Busy.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 18.—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today that it underwrite the nation's major farm crops.

Advocating a system of crop insurance be applied first to wheat in 1937, he said "legislation should authorize application of similar programs to other commodities when it is established that producers design them, and application of the plan to wheat has provided a backlog of experience in applying the principles of crop insurance."

Under the plan worked out by a special committee of federal officials named by the President last September, the farmers would be protected against 75 per cent of his crop losses due to drought, grasshoppers or other unnatural causes.

The committee estimated $100,000,000 would be needed to establish reserves and pay necessary costs for putting the plan in operation.

Talk of court reorganization quieted around the capital, but a number of committee activities were in full swing.

Chairman LaFollette, (Pro. Wis.) of the Senate Civil Liberties commission, asserted during an investigation of labor relations of the Chevrolet Motor company that approved.

MAN HELD FOR TORCH MURDER

Attorneys Plan Seek Release Through Habeas Corpus

Southport, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Attorneys for Erman Clemmons, 32, held without bond in the torch slaying of Hobson Sellers, 21-year-old truck driver, said today they plan to seek his release on a habeas corpus writ.

The lawyers, Bunn Frink and Robert Davis, said a hearing would be held in Wilmington early next week through an agreement with Solicitor John Burney on the grounds Clemmons is held on a bailable offense.

A coroner's jury which completed an inquest last night ordered Clemmons held without bond for the grand jury. Clemmons has been held in the county jail here since his arrest more than a week ago.

Sellers was fatally burned in front of the home of Buster Robinson, witnesses said, after he went into the yard to lie down, having become ill after drinking two beers and eating some ice cream and bananas.

Move To Divorce Patrol From Dept. Of Revenue

Reflector Bureau.
By J. C. BASKERVILLE
Raleigh, Feb. 18.—The move to divorce the State Highway Patrol from the Department of Revenue and set it up in a special division under a Commissioner of Public Safety appointed by the Governor, is arousing considerable interest here.

The bill to transfer the highway patrol and the highway safety division from the Department of Revenue, and have authority to name other officers.

The reason Governor Hoy favors this change in the setup of the highway safety division and the highway patrol is his desire to make both divisions more efficient, and especially to get the patrol entirely out from under the influence of the Department of Revenue and away from the role of tax collectors, those who have conferred with the Governor concerning this bill say.

"They maintain that the Governor wants the highway patrol to be a real highway patrol, with its own officers."

PARLEYS HELD IN EFFORT END WARS IN LABOR

Negotiators Seek To Consolidate Previous Gains

MACHINISTS ASK BOOST IN WAGES

United Mine Workers Demanding Higher Pay When New Contract is Signed

(By Associated Press)
Negotiators in Detroit and San Francisco tried today to consolidate gains made in agreements ending the automobile and ship yard strikes.

Despite emergency of new differences coincident to General Motors intensive drive to regain production lost by strikes, conferees of the corporation and union succeeded in resuming their discussions of machinery to establish a grievance board in the huge automotive concern.

C. E. Wilson, heading the General Motors negotiators, said after the fifth meeting of the group "I think we are making some progress."

Wyndham Mortimer, union first vice president, confirmed this and added the conferees were succeeding in ironing out the complaints of both union and management that violations of last week's agreement ending the united automobile workers strike had occurred.

"There have been fewer complaints today," Mortimer said, "and things seem to be quieting down."

First, Mich., site of several General Motors factories, resumed work as the last contingents of General Motors employees went back to work and national peace-men prepared to evacuate.

Ship yard machinists in the San Francisco Bay area remained on strike after settlement of a dispute involving 2,600 metal workers. The machinists demanding wage increases and shorter hours, announced they would continue picketing.

In New York representatives of the soft coal industry and the United Mine Workers settled down to a tuck of war over a new contract for 400,000 coal miners. Operators declared they could not meet the union demands for wage increases and shorter hours. A joint committee will be charged with drafting an agreement before expiration of the existing contract March 31.

Bland-Brendle
 Goldsboro, Feb. 13.—Miss Katherine Roberta Brendle and David Henry Bland, Jr., both of Goldsboro, were married Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the First Baptist church in a ceremony of beauty and dignity. Rev. A. J. Smith, pastor of the church, of which both the bride and groom are members, was the officiating minister.

Long leaf pine massed back of the pulpit and ferns furnished a background for tall white cathedral candles which burned in white seven-branched candelabra and for pink tulips and yellow jonquils, which centered the front of the pulpit. Smilax entwined the candelabra and the choir rail, back of which white candles in white candelabra also burned.

Preceding the ceremony A. E. Little, sexton, and Mrs. J. C. Pate, organist, gave a musical program. Mrs. Pate played Nevin's "Vestibular Love Song" and Mrs. Little sang Cidman's "A Dawning" and Carole Jacobs-Bond's "I Love You Truly." Mrs. Pate played the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's opera, "Lohengrin" as the professional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recreational.

Guests for the wedding were Messrs. Powell and Thomas Bland, brothers of the groom, David H. Bland, Sr., father of the groom, served as his best man. The bride was given away by her father, O. M. Brendle, of Alta Vista, Va. The minister used a ring ceremony in pronouncing the solemn vows, during which Mrs. Pate at the organ softly played Liszt's "Liebestraum."

The bride, a pretty brunette, wore for the wedding a powder blue ensemble of crepe with bridal bouquet of pink roses showered with white ribbons and tied with long streamers of pink tulle. Her hat was of navy straw and her shoes and gloves were also navy.

An unusual feature of the wedding was that a group of friends and relatives of the young couple who sat on the front pews during the musical program formed a semicircle that enclosed the immediate wedding party during the ceremony. In this group were Miss Helen Brendle, Alta Vista, Va., sister of the bride, Miss Mildred Rawlings Parker and Griffin Lynch, Miss William Harrison, Esfield; and Mrs. Ray Scoggins, Miss Eunice Sonora Bland, with Clarence Peacock, Jr., Mrs. W. Manila, P. I. (AP)—Stating that there is a growing demand for government action on labor problems, including a minimum wage plan, Commonwealth Labor Secretary Ramon Torres has recommended to President Manuel L. The board, Torres said, is necessary if the government intends to regulate wages and the relationship between capital and labor.

WOULD LIMIT MARRIAGE AGE

Quick Enactment of Measure Predicted By Backers

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh Feb. 18—Child marriages in North Carolina will be definitely banned as soon as the senate and house pass the bill already on the senate calendar with a favorable report which prohibits the marriage of any persons less than 18 years of age without the consent of parents or guardians, and provides that no one may marry in the state under 16 years of age, even with the consent of parents or guardians. The bill was introduced several days ago by Senators J. D. Larkins of Jones county and L. M. Abernathy of Caldwell. It was reported favorably by senate Judiciary Committee Number One, of which Senator T. J. Gold of High Point is chairman. This bill is regarded as having been indirectly suggested by the Charlie Johns-Eunice Winstead marriage in Tennessee recently, in which Johns, 22 years old, married Eunice, only nine years old, and stirred up a national sensation that has focused attention on marriage laws in almost every state. This incident resulted in almost immediate revision of the marriage laws in Tennessee as well as in other states. The immediate reason for the introduction of this bill here, however, is regarded as being the publicity North Carolina received last week when a 14 year old Norfolk girl and her preacher-lover came down from Norfolk to Elizabeth City to get married because the Virginia marriage laws prohibited such a marriage, even with the consent of the parents. For as the law stands in North Carolina, persons between the ages of 14 and 16 may

Legislative Chaff and Chatter

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—Despite the fact there are so few Republicans in the House that picking on them is something like pushing little corks in the water, Democratic representatives just won't let them alone.

Wednesday, for instance, Representative Oiles, of McDowell, introduced a bill increasing the county board of commissioners of Madison county from three to seven members and providing a districting of that county for the election of commissioners. It is clearly and, no doubt, admittedly, an effort to gerrymander control of the county away from the G. O. P.

Along the same line was the effort to return Avery county to the units from which it was formed. This project, however, failed because the other counties probably didn't want too many Republicans in their borders.

Senator L. A. Martin, of Davidson, has received more than a little praise for the manner in which he led the losing prohibition forces in their battle against the county option liquor bill, but not all observers were entirely complimentary in their remarks. His reference to his own daughter, seated in the aisle during the debate, smacked a bit too much of the old courtroom trick of parading female relatives of the deceased during a murder trial, it seemed to some.

Not all members of the House are impressed with the dignity of the Senate, and many of them think there is entirely too much "courtesy" in the upper branch.

After control advocates had declined to apply the "clinch" when they defeated the referendum amendment, one indignant House member fairly snorted: "They're just rank amateurs at this game. And there's a whole lot too damn much senatorial courtesy used. What's the use letting your opponents kill more time when you know you've got him beat?"

Cynical, perhaps, but entirely practical.

Senator H. P. Taylor, of Anson, described the blessing which the Lord has bestowed upon Eastern North Carolina, listing fine tobacco crops, fine cotton crops and many other features. He concluded thus: "He has also given you very few Republicans to deal with."

As expected, the House's Judiciary Committee No. 1 quite promptly turned thumbs down on the bill by Republican Representative Dellinger of Avery who sought to prohibit the sale of beer and wine in his county.

It is very doubtful that any member, Republican or Democrat, will be able to get such a measure enacted into law.

Even the best are not infallible. Speaker Gregg Cherry seldom goes wrong, but he was picked up in an error Wednesday by Representative J. E. Hask of Ashe. The member sent up a bill and remained standing. The Speaker snapped "For what purpose does the gentleman now arise?" Back came the answer, "Because the Chair has previously requested that members remain standing until their bills are disposed of."

"The gentleman has properly corrected the Chair," observed Mr. Cherry.

LEGISLATORS ROW OVER AX-HANDLE PARKING Oklahoma City, Okla. (AP)—AX handles — adopted symbols of legislative economy — are causing rows in the Oklahoma legislature. Because several legislators carried the hickory implements on the floor of the house, Representative Tom Knight of Claremore demanded they be barred from the room.

Representative Sandy Singleton has conferred with a proposal of place a race in the lobby and requested that the ax handles be parked.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: A pistol cracks in Anne Phelps' studio, killing Count Anton Vronski, who had been blackmailing her with love letters. Nearby are Anne, Clarke Bigelow and Karsanokoff, the exotic dancer, who hide the corpse during a party. Later Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, move to Vronski's rooms. Police arrest Dryden, who hated Vronski and threatened to kill him. Finally confronted, Karsanokoff coolly admits she killed Vronski (nee Cienkowski) and tells how he slew her father and brother in the revolution.

Chapter 39 'I Picked Up The Gun'

DIGELOW gasped. Karsanokoff nodded at him. "It was my brother's name that Cienkowski took when he turned traitor and fled from Russia. He had secreted the Vronski jewels among others for his own. Can you imagine, then, how startled I was on the ship when you asked me if I knew Count Anton Vronski? I did not know what to think. I was certain my brother had died that night under my eyes. But I began to hope against hope that by some miracle he had recovered and been spared. So I wanted to see the man who called himself Anton Vronski—and you brought me my brother's murderer."

Karsanokoff sat up restlessly and beat at her pillows. Then she hunched up her knees and clasped her long slender hands about them. Her crimson nails gleamed out from the white fur of the robe. She had grown paler and her dark eyes were smoldering.

"I had warned myself over and over that the man calling himself Vronski must be an impostor. Mariushka, too, said nothing else was possible. But neither she nor I had guessed that it would be that man. As he stood smiling at me, my heart seemed to stop beating altogether and I could feel the blood thundering in my ears. Then my heart began to beat again wildly—wildly—and I could hardly catch my breath. But somehow I managed to smile. He did not recognize me. How could he? I was a child that night that he came leading the mob into my father's hall. But his face I could never forget! It was burned into my memory. For years I waked screaming—because I had dreamed it all again—and Mariushka had come to comfort me. . . . For years I had walked in the Paris streets—gazing fearfully into the faces that passed me—terrified of seeing his. . . .

"I had lived in terror of him all the time that I was growing up. But when at last he stood before me—and stooped to kiss my hand without suspecting who I was—that old horror left me. And I was overwhelmed with such a feeling of joy that I could hardly bear it. Here he was, thinking himself safe and the past too far behind him to trouble him any more; unwarned and unarmed. If I wished, I could strike him down and avenge the slaughter of my father and my brother and he would be as helpless before me as they were before him."

'The Moment Had Come'

SHE reached for another cigarette. Bigelow leaned forward to light it for her. "Thank you," she said, glancing at him. "It is so kind of you. . . . I must not forget that tonight I must dance. . . . But I want to tell you everything now. . . . Well—we went to dine. He thought me charming, fascinating. I laughed at him and mocked him. He thought it was only my way of leading him on. I did not mind. I wished him to believe that I should be an easy conquest. I meant no doubt of me to cross his mind. I danced with him. I encouraged him to drink. It was all too easy. But still, I had no plan. That sooner or later, I should kill him. I knew. Nothing else was possible. But I did not know when. . . . Then he suggested the party at the studio and we went on there and you and Anne left us alone together."

Her glittering eyes were fixed on Bigelow's face, now; he caught his breath sharply. "He was at the telephone—ordering food. I went into the bedroom to smooth my hair. At the restaurant, several hair-pins had fallen out and my hair is very heavy." She tossed her head, throwing the dark silken waves back against the pillows.

"I opened the drawers of the dressing-table to look for hair-pins, but there were none there. Then, through

'SPECIMEN' CHECK BOUNCES LONG WAY

Charlotte, Mich. (AP)—When Kenneth Brown gave his Charlotte High School bookkeeping class a little lesson in check writing he also gave several local merchants headaches.

Brown passed out blank checks and told the students how to fill them out. After class all checks except one for $2 were returned to him. The $2 check, signed by one of the pupils, was lost. It turned up at a bank.

Investigation showed that the check was presented to a bakery by an unidentified boy. The baker gave it to a Battle Creek truck driver. The truck driver passed it along and after going through several hands the check returned to the bank for payment.

SEEK IRON OUT WHISKEY BILL

Little Trouble Expected to Be Encountered on Act

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—The county option liquor bill is now in conference between House and Senate with a view to ironing out differences which arose by reason of the amendments added in the upper branch.

No definite statement has been made by leaders, but it is generally regarded as likely that the House conferees will readily agree to all Senate amendments except that inserted by Senator W. I. Halstead requiring magistrates and enforcement officers to make reports on control in every county which may elect to open liquor stores.

It is objected that this will entail entirely too much useless work on many people, particularly in some of the counties which have a large number of magistrates.

"The amendment would be all right in the small counties where there are only two or three magistrates," said Representative Tom Cooper, New Hanover, "But in my county, for example, there are five magistrates named from the police department of Wilmington just so that they will be able to issue warrants. It's foolish and unnecessary to force them to make a report every term of court."

Mr. Cooper, along with Representative Victor S. Bryant and Representative Sam Blount, will work out the Conference report with Senate members to be appointed by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Horton.

The four amendments tacked on by Senator L. A. Ballentine, of Wake, will probably be included in the bill as finally adopted, inasmuch as most House members appear to feel they do not change the liquor bill in so material a way as to warrant refusal to accept them.

chief job the prevention of highway accidents and the enforcement of the highway laws, but with the right to use the patrol as state police in cases of emergency. For the new highway patrol bill, creating the new Highway Safety Commission, does not change the law as it now stands, making the patrol at all times subject to the orders of the Governor in virtually any way that he sees fit.

Nor does it change the status of patrolmen as general peace officers, subject to call by sheriffs, judges, solicitors and other officers of the law for special duty. Thus the patrol may be used by the Governor on special call for duty in cases of strikes or any other disorder. It is also pointed out that Governor Hoyt feels that the present patrol is not large enough and that it should be composed of at least 300 patrolmen.

Those inclined to look at things from a political point of view, however, point out that if the bill is passed, it will make it possible for the Governor to hand out some more choice patronage. It is believed that the salary of the new proposed Commissioner of Public Safety will not be less than $5,000 a year, while the jobs as director of the highway safety division and of commander of the patrol also will be choice plums for others if the Governor and new Commission should decide not to retain these now holding these positions.

At the present time Arthur Fulk is director of the highway safety division, which administers the drivers' license law, while Captain Charles D. Farmer is commander of the highway patrol. Some observers seem to think that this bill, if enacted, will mean that both Fulk and Farmer will either be dismissed or demoted.

There are those, however, who feel that the enactment of this bill and the creation of a new highway safety commission will in no way affect the status of either Fulk or Farmer and that they are likely to be retained, even though the appointment of a new Commissioner of Highway Safety is expected.

Some frankly maintain that if the safety division and highway patrol heads can be freed from the present influence, if not domination, of the Revenue Department, that they could and would show they could do more than they have been able to do in the past. There is no denying the fact, however, that the introduction of this bill is causing a nice case of jitters in both the highway safety and the highway patrol offices.

It is not believed this new bill has the approval of Commissioner of Revenue A. J. Maxwell, although being an administration measure, it is not believed he will oppose it.

Reveals Methods For Payments By Federal Program

Division Benefits For All Crops Explained in Statement by State Extension Expert

Raleigh, Feb. 18.—The method of dividing 1937 payments under the soil-conservation program in North Carolina were announced today by J. F. Criswell, of State College.

The cotton and peanut diversion payments will be divided among landlords and tenants as follows: To the producer who furnishes the land 37 1-2 per cent; to the producer who furnishes workstock and equipment 12 1-2 per cent; the remaining 50 per cent to be divided in the same proportion that the crop is divided.

The diversion payments for tobacco and general soil-depleting crops will be divided in this way: Fifteen per cent to the producer furnishing the land, 15 per cent to the producer furnishing workstock and equipment; the remaining 70 per cent to be divided as the crop is divided.

Payments for carrying out soil-building practices will be divided among the producers according to the amount of work and expense incurred by each in carrying out the practices.

The division of soil-building payments are the same as used last year, but a change was made in the method of dividing diversion payments, with a view to making the division more equitable and less complicated. Criswell pointed out.

U. S. Senator Gerald P. Nye says: "I enjoy the comfort a light smoke gives my throat"

"I have smoked Luckies off and on ever since my first term in the Senate 11 years ago, and I have always enjoyed their taste and the feeling of comfort and safety a light smoke gives my throat. I have done a great deal of public speaking, on the floor of the Senate, over the radio and at conferences. Necessarily this results in a strain on the voice. So naturally, in smoking, I have to think of my throat—and I have found that a light smoke is suitable to my throat."

HON. GERALD P. NYE U. S. SENATOR FROM NORTH DAKOTA

In a recent independent survey, an overwhelming majority of lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc., who said they smoked cigarettes, expressed their personal preference for a light smoke.

Senator Nye's statement verifies the wisdom of this preference and so do leading artists of radio, stage, screen and opera, whose voices are their fortunes, and who choose Luckies, a light smoke. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on your throat.

Green Phantoms Win Over Washington Team 21-11

By JOHN DAVID BRIDGERS (Staff Correspondent)

The Eastern Class A champs, of Greenville High School shellacked their oldest rivals, Washington, playing on the Pam Pack's court, by a score of 21 to 11. Although the game was rather close for one of the Greenies' contest the first team traveled most of the route. The Pam Pack boys were playing good ball last night and their plays clicked well, but when the Green Phantoms turned loose their bag of tricks they weren't easily retarded.

Carl Pierce started off the action for the Greenies by tossing two double-pointers at the beginning of the game. Lautares was high man for the Phantoms, collecting 9 points. Simpson and Pierce followed up scoring 4 points apiece.

The Washington outfit was led by Hodges and Halloman who tallied for 4 points each.

FINAL BATTLE MONDAY NIGHT

High School Boys To Meet Danville In Last Home Game

Monday night the champion Green Phantoms will play their last home game of the season when they engage the strong George Washington High School quint of Danville, Va., in the final gym at 7:30. Danville boasts one of the best teams in the Old Dominion, winning the state title last year and being in the thick of the fight for it this year. These two teams met two weeks ago in Danville, and the Greenies came out on the long end of a 30-27 score.

The George Washington Cardinals will be led by the flashy Earl Wynn, one of the best high school forwards in the entire South. This boy has averaged 16 points per game for this season's playing, and during the Christmas holidays scored 14 points on Ken Podger, captain of Duke's varsity team. Fans will want to watch him in Monday's contest.

The Danville team brings a well-rounded and well-coached group of boys to this city, and the game should be one of the best, if not the best, of the entire season. Since it is the first time that a top-rated Virginia school has played in Greenville in ten years, the fans should be all the more interested in the outcome.

High School officials are expecting a record-breaking crowd in view of the fact that this is the last home game, and the fans of this city certainly want to wish the boys good luck on their last game before playing for the state title.

The game will start promptly at 7:30.

Washington - Abraham Lincoln has left his place over the Roosevelt cabinet. Thomas Jefferson has the job.

Why the change was made just at this time could not be immediately learned, but Lincoln's picture, after hanging for years as the only portrait in the cabinet room, was replaced by Jefferson's a few days back. (By the way, this is a scoop.)

We made the discovery while prowling about the executive wing of the White House. Powling is perhaps not the word. Nobody moves about that building without having a secret service eye on his shoulder blades. Call it a scouting trip.

The place is compact, handy for the President, and safe. The President's office overlooks the wide, hedged-in White House grounds and is shielded from the nearest street by a high rise of ground.

The President can pass between P's office and the White House proper either within the building or along a runway sheltered overhead but open to the sunny south grounds. Mostly he takes the open way.

The executive offices are not pretentious. Any metropolitan law firm would have better. The Supreme Court offices abate it a mile. All the offices lead off from a large center room.

Comfortable black-leather couches and chairs are arranged along the walls, occupied for the most part by secret service men and news reporters. The former hope nothing will happen. The latter yearn for plenty to happen, in a sane way, of course, to break the monotony of "no news."

Visitors, except those the President shuffles out a side door to escape detection, must pass through the center room going and coming, to run the gamut of reporters. It is a polite sort of business, mostly chat, with an occasional story for the half dozen news men who spend their whole time there. Tuesdays and Friday's bring press conferences and a hundred or more reporters.

Immediately on the right, on entering the executive wing, is the press room. Farther along on the right is Assistant Secretary Jimmy Roosevelt's office. Opposite it, on the left, is that of Steve Early, assistant secretary and a principal source of routine White House news.

In the far left corner is Assistant Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre's office, which connects directly with the President's. Off to the left is an aimless sort of room, sheltering the mounted tarpon caught by the President and a cluster of WPA paintings; not very exciting. Nobody uses it except visiting delegations from somewhere or other who gather there to get in marching order before moving in on the President.

Other offices to the right, and rear - along the street side - are occupied by office and stenographic help. The White House stenographers congregate to the pretty side, exceptions noted.

You will be taken on tours to the capital hot spots from time to time, in this sort of way. No charge.

Safety officials estimate there are 44,000,000 automobile drivers in the United States.

Church Has No Foundation London (AP) - Craftsmen of nine centuries ago have left a puzzle for modern architects here, with the revelation that the massive Norman structure of St. Alban's Cathedral, in Hertfordshire, has no foundations at all.

Nothing but wet clay and chalk support the lofty arches and huge buttresses of the north transept. It was disclosed when trenches were dug at the base of the walls in an attempt to find the source of water flowing into the church.

The walls have stood since the twelfth century, with no signs of cracking.

The letter "A" has stood at the head of the alphabet during the whole of the period that it can be traced historically.

Favoritism

The Browns seemed to have used up all their theories and discipline on their son Joe before little Polly appeared nine years later.

The boy was strictly, even severely, brought up. He was trained by Spartan methods, and punished for the least misdemeanor.

When Polly came along, she received very different treatment. The fact that she was a girl was made the excuse for spoiling her. Mr. Brown had long wanted a daughter, and indulged himself when he indulged her. She was permitted to ride rough-shod over everyone, her brother included. Every decision was made in her favor. Everything she did was right and admirable.

Naturally Joe grew to dislike his little sister. She destroyed his belongings and interfered with his actions, and no redress was obtainable. When, out of revenge, she went into his room and smashed his camera, he was scolded for leaving it where she could reach it. Because she was a girl, he could not discipline her himself.

What such partiality did to Joe's nature was bad, but what it did to Polly's was even worse. It ruined any chance of affection between the children, and spoiled the brother-sister relationship which can be of such value to children. Polly both disliked and feared Joe.

She grew self-centered and dominating, traits which interfered with her friendships and social contacts. Physically and spiritually she was dependent upon her parents, to whom she clung like a limpet.

What will happen to her when she starts to lead her own life, or when her parents die, is already worrying her father and mother. By their ill-advised partiality, they have cut her off from even her own brother.

GIRLS TO PLAY TUESDAY NIGHT

To Renew Hostilities With Washington in Local Gym

Next Tuesday night, February 23, Washington and Greenville girls will renew their hostilities in the local gymnasium. The game between these two teams is always a stand-out attraction to sport-lovers of the two towns, and the girls will have things all to themselves next Tuesday night. There will be no boys' game preceding this one, as this game is a classic in itself.

Will fans of this city ever forget the game between these two clubs last year? The Washington girls journeyed over to Greenville with a string of 29 consecutive victories and were doped to win by a lopsided score, but Miss Corinna Mial's girls rose to the occasion and played super-basketball in turning back their rivals by a 30-21 count. The two teams have met once this year, and Greenville won a closely-fought contest 20-18.

The game Tuesday should be equally as thrilling. The Greenville girls have come along fast since their opening engagements, and fans should show their appreciation by turning out Tuesday to see them play their old rivals in their last game of the season.

Carolina Dairy Defeats Blount-Harvey 1861 to 1847

The third renewal of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap promises to be a real race. More than the ordinary highly-ballyhooed contest with countless "big names" - most of which fail to go to the post.

In the 1935 inaugural field every outstanding eligible thoroughbred was entered. Twenty Grand was brought out of retirement to lend color to the richest race in the world. Calvacade was shipped to the Coast even though it was known that there was little chance of the colt starting. With many other advertised entries, it was the same. Result was that only the fact that a huge lump of gold awaited the winner made the race unusual.

Azucar, a 1-year-old reformed steeplechaser owned by Fred M. Alger, Jr. outlasted the field and won $108,400 for his owner. Ladyman was second; Time Supply, third. Many big names were strewn along the stretch.

Quieter Cannon

The ballyhoo guns boomed less loud the following year. But once more Calvacade was trundled across the continent to make copy for the press agency. Of course, Calvacade did not start in the 1936 handicap either.

The 1936 running had its thrills. Most were supplied by the rough riding of Wayne Wright on Top Row, the winner. There was bumping and roughing enough to make the annual jam at the start of the Kentucky Derby seem tame.

In true cowboy fashion, Wright bumped his opposition out of the way and booted the Little Napoleon of the Baroni stables home to first money.

Perhaps the size of the purse justified such tactics. At any rate, little was done about it. A. A. Baroni pocketed the $104,650 that was all there was to it. Time Supply moved up one notch, taking the place money; Rosemont took show.

Some Good Ones

Scanning the list of eligibles this year one is impressed by several. They may not be great horses but they are mighty good thoroughbreds. Time Supply is back in hopes of again improving his position and taking first money.

ROW RAGES ON LIQUOR RAIDS

Mecklenburg Officials Resent Arrests By Patrolmen

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 18.—A storm is still raging beneath the surface in political circles here as well as in Mecklenburg county as a result of the liquor raids made by the highway patrol in the vicinity of Charlotte last week.

It is no secret that some have already gone to Governor Clyde R. Hoey demanding the official heads of Captain Charles D. Farmer of the patrol and Lieutenant R. Fisher, commander of the patrolmen who made the raids. It is also known that others, including at least one member of the Mecklenburg county delegation here, have gone to the Governor and commended the action of Lieut. Fisher for making these raids.

While some of the Mecklenburg county politicians are reported to be almost frothing at the mouth because the highway patrol dared to make some liquor raids within the jurisdiction of the sheriff and of the county highway police, reports indicate that the rank and file of the people both in Charlotte and in the county are much pleased at these raids and are commending the highway patrol, even if it has made some of the county law enforcement officers and agencies appear in a slightly bad light.

There is already talk here that a bill may be introduced to abolish the Mecklenburg county highway police as a result of what has happened. The prevailing belief in most circles here is that the highway patrol was called upon to make the recent raids on Mecklenburg county "liquor stores" because the local law enforcement officials were not interested in drying up these wet spots.

Those who are complaining that the highway patrol exceeded its authority in making these raids are mistaken, since the law gives highway patrolmen all the powers of peace officers at all times, although it designates their principal duty as the enforcement of the highway laws.

Officials here, however, maintain that Lieut. Fisher and his men were striking at the root of the large amount of drunken driving on the highways radiating from Charlotte in seeking to remove the source of the liquor on which so many drivers have been getting drunk and are commending him for his action. There is much more tendency in political and official circles here to commend the patrol rather than condemn it for its Mecklenburg county raids.

The farm credit administration announced $50,000,000, provided by Congress for 1937 emergency crop and seed loans, would be made available this week.

Secretary Wallace started his farm program through Congress today after declaring parts of it might be invalidated unless the President's court reorganization proposals were adopted.

Wallace, before testifying in support of farm tenant legislation, said he believed most farmers would approve of increasing the Supreme court as a matter of "democratic processes."

French Beer Sales Drop

Paris (AP)—French breweries sold 15 per cent less beer last year than in 1933 and 18 per cent less than in 1931, they report. A good many tankards were drained in 1935 despite the decrease, however, for production for the year equaled about 37 gallons for each Frenchman, the brewers' figures show.

TEN WOUNDED IN INDIANA STRIKE FIGHTING

Ten men were wounded at Anderson, Ind., when union and non-union automotive workers engaged in a furious fight in which shots were fired and stones were hurled. Order was restored after national guardsmen with fixed bayonets were called out to patrol the streets. Numerous sympathizers, who came from Flint, Mich., to bolster union forces, were sent back by authorities. The sympathizers are shown (top) having their automobiles filled with gasoline under supervision of policemen for the return trip. Below, officers are shown searching cars to prevent other union men from entering the city. (Associated Press Photos)

Bowling Green, O. (AP)—Police got a lesson in stubbornness when a bulldog engaged in a sit-down strike in the middle of the main street here. For no reason at all, the dog sat in the street, creating an ever-growing traffic jam, and refused to budge.

After all blandishments failed and nearly an hour had gone by, Patrolman Tom Vall got out the patrol wagon and hoisted the dog bodily into it.

RODMAN GAINS WIDE REPUTE

First Term Recognized for Ability in Senate

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Feb. 18.—No freshman member, and few old-timers for that matter, has gained more recognition for ability and general all round worth in this session than has Senator William B. Rodman, Jr., serving his first term from the district of which his home county, Beaufort, is a part.

As a newcomer he naturally was not assigned chairmanship of an important committee. In fact not one single, solitary bill has so far been referred to the group he heads—Congressional Districts. Thus opportunity to achieve unusual things was not thrust in his path, and it was up to him to clear his own path.

He lost no time in doing it. Most important activity of the first days of the session was the work of the joint finance committee, wrestling with the tremendous task of raising more than $75,000,000 to meet increased spending planned for the next two years. Senator Rodman was assigned a post on this committee, just as were some two score other Senators and Representatives.

It wasn't long, however, before the Beaufort man was taking a leading part in preparation of the Revenue measure. His keen, lucid analyses of sales tax figures aided Chairman Victor S. Bryant and his Administration supporters no end in turning back assaults of the anti-sales taxers on this levy and on their efforts to cut the rate to two per cent, without exemptions.

Then after the Revenue bill had been reported out by the committee, there came the liquor debate in the Senate. Rocky Mount's Lee Gravelly was slated to lead the controllers, but influenza downed him at the last moment. Senator Rodman stepped into the gap with perfect success. His opening argument for the county option plan is unanimously classed as a masterpiece. His former partner was A. W. McLean, who dominated many a legislative. He bids fair to equal Mr. McLean achievements.

MAN FINDS GAS WELL IN HIS OWN BACKYARD

Norwalk, O. (AP)—Dan Smith says he doesn't expect to pay a gas bill for years to come—he has his own gas well right in his backyard. Smith was drilling in the yard of his residential-district home a month ago when he found gas in a limestone formation at a depth of about 300 feet. He piped the gas to his furnace and cookstove. Smith says the supply is about right for family needs, but too small for commercial use.
