

THE WEATHER

Fair and not quite so cold; light to heavy frost tonight; Thursday increasing cloudiness and warmer.

FIVE DEAD AND 300 WOUNDED IN PARIS RIOT

Strikes and Political Difficulties Threaten Government

1,200 LABORERS STAGE 'SIT-DOWN'

Strong Cordons Of Police Ordered Out to Guard Against Political Agitation

Paris, Mar. 17.—(AP)—France's Popular Front government was threatened today by strikes and political difficulties today as the outgrowth of night-long rioting in the workers suburb of Cléchy in which five persons were killed and at least 300 wounded.

The bloody struggle between Communist mobile guards and Rightists brought a one-hour strike of workers at the grounds of the forthcoming Paris exposition, at the Hatcher motor plant and in several clothing stores in protests against the deaths and arrests of Communists, allied with other Left political parties in the government.

Twelve hundred workers in the La Valette construction plant in Saint-Ouen, outside Paris, started a sit-down strike and workers in the whole so-called "red ring" of industrial suburbs were discussing a possible general walkout tomorrow.

Members of parliament filed notices of interpellations of Socialist Premier Leon Blum's administration for its handling of the riot, the most sanguinary in Paris in three years.

Strong cordons of police were thrown about strategic government centers to guard against rising political agitation.

Editor Pays Visit To Local College And City Schools

J. E. Morgan, Journal of Education Official, Making Inspection of Southern States

J. E. Morgan, editor of the Journal of Education, the official organ of the National Education Association, spent today inspecting East Carolina Teachers College and the Greenville Public Schools.

Mr. Morgan commented on the fine spirit he found in the College, saying that he had never seen finer cooperation. He visited the classrooms, made a tour of the campus, took his meals in the dining halls, carefully examined the course of study, and saw many other things in his survey of the College.

He is making a tour through the South visiting schools in order to get a first-hand view of educational conditions in this section and to inspect the schools. This is a part of the plan the N. E. A. has of sending out trained people to every section of the country so that those at headquarters can have correct information about the schools of the country. He and Mrs. Morgan arrived yesterday afternoon from Elizabeth City, where he had visited the city schools.

In explaining his purpose on this tour, he said that the N. E. A. spends each year $150,000 of the fund collected from its 200,000 teacher-member, in sending people out to visit the schools and communities in order to keep in touch with educational conditions and the attitude of people towards the schools.

In a talk before a class this morning, he gave some interesting information about the N. E. A., touching on the high spots in its history, and calling attention to the fact that this year is the Horace Mann centennial.

He made the members of the class realize that heavy responsibility rests upon students who are planning to become teachers. He impressed them with some of the factors of success, and gave them a glimpse of the task ahead of them.

60-YEAR-OLD WHIST CLUB HAS TWO EX-CHAMPIONS

Lisbon, O.—(AP)—Two former national champions are members of the 60-year-old Lisbon Whist club, whose weekly sessions serve to keep alive the once-popular "grandfather" of contract bridge.

Dr. J. F. Steele, a member of the Lisbon club for more than 40 years, claimed championship distinction for five successive years back at the turn of the century, and C. F. Wright, whose membership is of only slightly shorter duration, later gained the title.

The Lisbon club, with 16 members, is believed the oldest between New York and Chicago.

Endorsed

Members of Pitt County American Legion Post No. 39 last night unanimously went on record to support Arthur B. Corey (above) for State Commander of the American Legion and will wage an active campaign to have him selected for the position at the next convention, to be held in Durham.

POST TO BACK ARTHUR COREY

Local Man Endorsed for State Commander of Legion

Pitt County American Legion Post No. 39 last night endorsed one of its members, Arthur B. Corey, for state commander and voted to ask the county and city to dedicate the armory as a memorial to Pitt county soldiers of the World War.

The resolution endorsing by Corey for the state office pointed out that, according to custom, the commander would come from the East this year and referred to his record in Legion circles.

J. H. Rose, another member of the local post who had been prominently mentioned for the office of state commander, asked that his name not be considered. Through a representative, Mr. Rose declared that the local post should concentrate on one man in an effort to have one of its members selected for the position.

The resolution pointed out that Mr. Corey was a charter member of Raleigh Post No. 1, the first organized in the state, and served as the first regularly elected post adjutant and the second regularly elected post commander. Later, upon moving to Greenville, he served for several years as district commander.

Crisis Develops In Condition Of Dowager Queen

Bucharest, Rumania, Mar. 17.—(AP)—A crisis developed today in the illness of Queen Dowager Marie of Rumania and physicians planned an early conference to decide whether a surgical operation were necessary.

The crisis came during the night after two days of apparent recovery from an illness previously diagnosed as gastric hemorrhage.

Doctors administered injections and expressed belief the patient's liver was causing serious trouble.

At least one physician and a lady in waiting were in constant attendance upon the 61 year old queen dowager.

Monument Erected Over State Election Reforms

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 17.—The House election law committee needed only ten minutes to erect a "Rest in Peace" monument over the remains of what started out so proudly this session as "Election Law Reforms."

Committee members present (there were ten, practically all from the western part of the state) listened gravely while representatives of North Carolina's press pleaded that primary day be changed from Saturday to some week day, Tuesday suggested.

Then they went into executive session and in almost less time than it takes to write "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party," they rallied round the standard of the county politicians, the western Democrat who frankly admitted that "if this bill passes we won't send a man down here in the next twenty years" and the usual run of conservatives who oppose any sort of change just because it is change.

STRIKERS DEFY ORDERS LEAVE EIGHT PLANTS

Detroit Chrysler Laborers Ignore Court Injunction

ENCOURAGED BY PICKET PARADES

U. A. W. A. Official Announces Strike to Cease When Causes No Longer Exist

Detroit, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Sit-down strikers held their positions in eight Chrysler corporation plants today in defiance of a court injunction which ordered them to evacuate by 9 a. m. (E.S.T.) Six thousand strikers have been in possession of the plant since March 8.

A band played in front of the Chrysler Jefferson avenue plant. Pickets paraded in front of another plant, carrying placards which said "refuse to move. We'll die before we do."

Half an hour in advance of the 9 a. m. deadline Monner Martin, president of the U. A. W. A., announced neither he nor Richard Frankenstein, organizational director, would meet with a committee appointed by Governor Frank Murphy to seek a solution of the widespread strike.

"The sit-down strikes will cease when the conditions which produced them no longer exist," Martin declared in a telegram to Governor Murphy.

"We are of the opinion such a board (the governor's committee) will not tend to eradicate the evils of job insecurity and low wages. Sit-downs are a symptom of a deeper condition and not the cause." The first meeting of Governor Murphy's committee, comprised of labor leaders, industrialists, church and civic leader, was scheduled for 11 a. m.

Four thousand persons gathered in the streets at the vast Dodge Brothers plant, where 25,000 normally are employed. They sang union songs and shouted encouragement to the men within the plant.

JUSTICES MAY JOIN DISPUTE

Speculation Revived As to Whether Justices To Testify

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Justice McReynolds' indirect reference to the Roosevelt court reorganization proposal revived speculation today over whether any Supreme court justices would testify before the controversy.

The 75 year old justice said at a banquet of his college fraternity "the evidence of good sportsmanship is that a man who has had a change to present a fair case to a fair tribunal must be a good sport and accept the outcome."

McReynolds, who has usually decided against the administration in opinions on major legislation, would be one of those affected by the President's plan to enlarge the court.

While one member of the Senate judiciary group holding hearings on the President's plan said the justice was "within his rights" to refer to the controversy and another called (Continued on page six)

BOMBS HURLED AT INSURGENTS

Government Sources Report Two Rebel Centers Destroyed

Madrid, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The government reported today its massed bombing fleets had virtually demolished two important towns behind the insurgent front lines in the Guadaluajara sector.

Outlining the success of its campaign of terror to demoralize what was derided as Italian peasant soldiery, the government declared eight tons of bombs were dropped and 1,000,000 machine gun bullets were fired into the retreating ranks of the disorganized insurgents on the Northwestern front.

Some 25 bombers and 60 pursuit planes were reported to have been massed into one gigantic fleet for the raids.

The returning fliers reported they could see from the sky the towns of Sigüenza and Brihueva were only wastes of smoking ruins after the terrific bombardment.

The insurgents, in retaliation for their reported defeat on the Guadaluajara front northeast of the capital, opened the heaviest bombardment in weeks against the heart of the city.

Salesman Injured In Rocky Mount Wreck

Rocky Mount, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Freeman Early, 32, of Powellville was reported in a critical condition at a hospital here today from head injuries received in a car crash last night.

Early's machine was completely demolished. Highway Patrolman T. R. Burdette said, as in taking a curve it smashed into a concrete bridge abutment on the Leggett highway about three miles from here.

Early, salesman for an Aleskie wholesale company, was reported traveling alone.

Barclay To Address Chicod Public Forum

Dr. John Barclay, minister of the Christian church in Wilson, will conduct a public forum on the subject, "What Can We Do to Keep America Out of War?" at the Chicod High School Thursday night at 7:30.

Director of the Seven-County Public Forum, Dr. Barclay is a Kentuckian by birth and has an A. M. degree from Columbia University. He was a fellow at the Union Theological Seminary and also studied in London. He was an infantry captain during the World War.

Only One Case Tried At City Police Court

Another small city court was held today, only one defendant being tried at the regular session. Adrian Smith, white man, was convicted of drunkenness and given a 30-day suspended road sentence.

IL DUCE SAYS ITALY FORCED REARM NATION

Declares Threat Of Other Countries Caused Action

DIRECTS ADDRESS TO HUGE THROG

Premier Refers Scathingly to British Nervousness Over Italian Program

Tripoli, Libya, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini, referring scathingly to British nervousness over Italy's ascendancy in the Mediterranean, told a cheering throng of 100,000 today the Italian empire had been forced to rearm to meet the rearmament threat of others.

While the guns of the mass Italian battle fleet bombed in the harbor of the province's capital, Il Duce shouted:

"We re-arm on sea, in the sky and on land because it is our imperious duty in the face of the armament of others."

Declaring such reports disturbed the peace of all peoples, Mussolini said "an alarmist campaign has been evident in the more or less great democratic countries over my trip to Libya."

This neuroptic alarmism, this sowing of suspected dangers does not enhance the cause of peace because it profoundly disturbs relations between peoples."

The Premier, paying his first visit to the Italian colony on the Southern shore of the Mediterranean in 10 years, spoke from a huge pavilion erected high in front of the government's palace on gigantic Il Duce rods, symbol of fascism.

The Arabs in the immense throng beat a wild acclamation on his desert drums and yelled when Il Duce promised them "Moslems may be sure that from Italians they will get peace and well-being and above all their religious usages will be rigidly respected."

LITTLE DONE IN COURT SESSION

Several Defendants Called Fail Appear This Morning

Because of the failure of defendants or witnesses to appear, very little was accomplished at this morning's session of Pitt County Superior court. Captives were used for a number of defendants who were called and failed to appear.

A case charging Quentin Cox, Jr., Quentin Cox Sr., Robert Bruce Cox and Eldora Cox, Negroes, with drunkenness and damaging property went to the jury just before the luncheon recess.

Other cases tried this morning or yesterday afternoon follow: Ed More and Walter Vines, Negroes, withdrew appeals and accepted judgment of the lower courts. They were charged with driving careless and reckless.

G. Bryant Walters was convicted of operating an automobile in a careless and reckless manner, but judgment was not passed immediately.

Clifton Williams, Negro, was given two years upon conviction of (Continued on page six)

May Set Up School For Foreign Officers

Warm Springs, Mar. 17.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said at his first vacation press conference here today he had been discussing possible creation of a government academy in Washington for training of foreign service officers.

He said he talked about the school during his conversations here with William Bullitt, American ambassador, but said they had only skimmed the edges of the subject.

RELIGION TAKES TO ROADS IN TRAILER CHAPELS NOW

Seattle, Wash.—(AP)—Bishop Gerald Shaughnessy said this Roman Catholic diocese will take the church to communications in remote Puget Sound districts by means of a motorboat and chapels installed in auto trailers. The diocese is larger than the State of Ohio.

Except for a so-called "Showboat Chapel" on the Mississippi, the traveling chapels are said to be unique in the United States.

Candidate

H. H. Duncan (above), present mayor pro-tem and member of the Board of Aldermen, today announced his candidacy for the office of mayor at the election May 3. Mr. Duncan was the first to publicly announce for the position.

DUNCAN SEEKS HIGH POSITION

Member of Board of Aldermen Announces for Mayor

H. H. Duncan, member of the Board of Aldermen and mayor pro-tem, today announced his candidacy for mayor at the city election May 3.

M. K. Blount, appointed to serve the unexpired term of the late Mayor R. C. Flanagan, has not publicly announced his candidacy, but it is expected he also will seek election.

Mr. Duncan has been active in city affairs for a number of years. He was elected to the Board of Aldermen in 1931 and entered service on July 1 of that year. On July 1, 1932, he was named mayor pro-tem and during the illness of the late Mayor Flanagan served as acting mayor.

Upon the death of Mr. Flanagan he continued on in this capacity for 20 days, until the position was filled by appointment. (Continued on page six)

Duncan Selects Important Dates Make Decisions

If H. H. Duncan believes that his success depends on selecting the right date for important decisions, he should have all the confidence he needs to win his campaign for mayor.

Today—March 17—Mr. Duncan announced his candidacy for the post. Today is the eleventh birthday anniversary of his daughter, Mary Ann Duncan.

May 3 is election day for the city and also the birthday of Mrs. Duncan.

July 1 is the day the mayor will assume office for the term, and if Mr. Duncan is successful in his campaign he will be sworn into office on his own birthday.

Any way you figure it, several dates this year will go down in history for Mr. Duncan in more ways than one.

Huge Sums Provided For Poorer Classes In State

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 17.—This general assembly has provided almost $70,000,000 for the assistance of the poorer classes in North Carolina during the next two years, most of this to be expended directly by the state for their aid and benefit, according to figures just compiled.

Representative Victor S. Bryant, chairman of the house finance committee—the committee whose job it was to levy the taxes needed to obtain this money.

Of this total sum of $69,930,574 set aside for charitable and educational purposes during the next two years, $35,076,072 will be expended the first year of the biennium and $34,753,502 during the second year. These figures include the appropriation for schools, amounting to $23,793,545 the first year and $24,986,160 the second year, which represents the extent to which property owners have been relieved of taxes during the last ten years for the support of schools.

Ten years ago, virtually the entire cost of supporting the public schools was borne by the property owners in the counties, cities and towns. For the past six years, the state has borne the entire cost of the schools, and for the past four years has borne the cost of a state-wide eight months school term. Before that, it paid the cost of only six months of school cost, the local units bearing the cost of everything over that amount.

These figures were cited by Representative Bryant in the course of the debate in the house over the retraction of the Machinery Act which would have granted all property owners a $300 exemption in listing taxes. It was the contention of Rep. Bryant and others that the general assembly had already done as much as it could afford to relieve taxpayers and that the granting of the $300 exemption would only serve to increase local property taxes, in that it would decrease (Continued on page four)

SENATE ACTION COMPLETED ON BIG PROBLEMS

All Hope of Adjourning Sine Die Tomorrow Vanishes

DECIDE CHANGE HOURS OF VOTING

Upper Branch Ends Work on School Machinery and Motor Vehicle Code Bills

Raleigh, Mar. 17.—(AP)—The Senate completed its work on the school machinery and motor vehicle code bills today and returned them to the house for concurrence in amendments as the legislature pushed ahead at a fast clip.

Members and officers gave up final hope of adjourning sine die tomorrow, as called for by a resolution passed two weeks ago, but did not ease up the drive to wind up all business as quickly as possible.

After the Senate also passed the amended message to reorganize the highway and public works commission, Pres. Horton said the legislature could adjourn sine die at midnight Saturday if no material changes were made in other major bills and if the House would accept Senate changes in the proposals sent back today.

The Senate enacted into law the Vogler bill to limit hours of voting between 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. provided no polls shall be opened after sunset.

The school machinery act as approved by the Senate limits votes on school supplements to whole counties of special charters districts and eliminates provision for an executive committee of the school commission. It passed 41-0.

Licenses or private cars would have a minimum of $7 and a rate of 25 cents a licensed pound, under the Senate draft of the motor vehicle act compared with a $9 minimum and 20 cent rate voted by the House.

An act making the state's statutes conform closely to federal laws for motor carriers was enacted into law by the Senate.

The revenue machinery act, which provides means for levying and collecting local taxes reached the Senate and was placed on the calendar for immediate consideration. It must be passed before the legislature can adjourn, leaders said.

The Senate killed a bill which would have allowed Windsor to have a liquor store regardless of whether Bertie county voted on the question or not.

Germany Prepares To Register Protest To Secretary Hull

Reich Ambassador Understood to Have Instructions to Complain Against LaGuardia Remarks

Washington, March 17.—(AP)—Responsible persons said today German Ambassador Hans Luther intended to lodge new representations with the American government over references made to Adolf Hitler by Mayor LaGuardia of New York.

The ambassador made an appointment to confer with Secretary Hull this afternoon.

A previous protest that LaGuardia's remarks were insulting drew from the State Department an apology accompanied by an explanation the government had no control over the remarks of the New York mayor.

It was understood the German envoy had been instructed by his government to complain against the New York mayor's speech at an anti-Nazi meeting in Madison Square Garden March 15. Reportedly he referred to the German chancellor as a "man without honor."

Gov. Murphy Suggests Board of Mediation

Detroit, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Governor Frank Murphy, acting as thousands of sit-down strikers defied an injunction ordering them from Chrysler automobile plants, proposed today the establishment of mediation groups to deal with labor disputes.

While an estimated 20,000 union sympathizers demonstrated in the streets outside striker-held factories the Governor brought together in a down town building 23 representatives of capital, labor, state government and the general public.

Absent from the conference were two leaders of the U. A. W. A. who defied Murphy's invitation with an assertion "sit-down strikers will cease when the conditions which produced them no longer exist."

Ten for Miss White
Miss Helen Forbes White, whose wedding to Dr. James Beebe Hawes of Huntington, W. Va., will be solemnized on April 26th, was honored yesterday when Mrs. George B. W. Hadley, Mrs. Rose Hadley Moyer and Miss Jane Hadley were hostesses at a lovely tea at the home on Mrs. Hadley on Evans street.

The entire lower floor of the house was beautifully decorated in profusions of snapdragons, gladioli, saffrons, carnations, trailing ivy and ferns in a color scheme of yellow and green. Yellow candles in candelabra and shaded lights cast a mellow glow over the entire scene.

As guests arrived they were met by Mrs. Rosamond Flanagan Nicholson and Mrs. W. F. Young.

Mrs. C. S. Forbes and Mrs. J. L. Little were at the door to the music room and introduced guests to the receiving line. Receiving with Mrs. Hadley, Mrs. Moyer and Miss Hadley, were Miss White, Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. George F. Hadley and Mrs. Charles C. Skinner, Jr. Showing guests to the dining room were Mrs. L. G. Cooper and Mrs. W. E. Hooper.

The table was covered with an imported cloth of lace, centered with a silver bowl of daffodils, yellow snapdragons and ferns, flanked by silver candelabra holding yellow candles. Seated at opposite ends of the table, Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. O. G. Guiley poured tea. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Selma Carson Moore and Miss Agnes Wadlington. Passing dainty sandwiches, cheese rings, wafers, salted nuts, potato chips and mints were Mrs. Jack Spain, Mrs. W. P. Evans, Jr., Miss Sue Barrett, Miss Ada James and Miss Helen McClinton.

Passing into the hall guests were greeted by Mrs. Edward Batchelor, Mrs. K. B. Pace and Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb, and were registered by Mrs. Thomas McGee and Mrs. J. Vance Perkins.

In the library, Mrs. W. L. Best and Mrs. J. B. Kitzler introduced guests to a second receiving line composed of Mrs. Aubrey Shackell, Mrs. C. W. Synnum and Mrs. James S. Jenkins, recent brides; Mrs. W. D. LaRoque, Mrs. Emmett Wooten, Mrs. Julian Ross, Mrs. Henry Walker, of Kingston; Mrs. John T. Campbell, Mrs. James Ellison, Washington; Mrs. W. I. Skinner, Jr., Williamson; Mrs. Alex Allen, Farmville; Mrs. R. R. Daughttridge, Rocky Mount and Mrs. H. Frederick Jones, Baltimore, Maryland.

From the library Miss Jesse Moyer and Mrs. J. L. Winstead directed the guests to the living room, where Mrs. Burke Stancill, Mrs. G. B. Stirling, Mrs. W. J. Bundy and Mrs. Battle Cosby served orange ice from a punch bowl placed on a lace covered table with bowls of daffodils and yellow candles in silver holders. They were assisted in serving by Miss Lillian Jones, Miss Louise Dalton, Miss Mabie Glenn Best, Miss Mattie Moyer Gaylord and Mrs. Minnie Holliday.

Goodbyes to the three hundred and fifty guests calling during the tea hour from four to six, were said by Mrs. M. L. Wright and Mrs. J. B. White.

For the tea Miss White wore a lovely gown of white imported net embroidered in sequins, and a corsage of red roses.

Pianist and Lecturer Coming
Jerold Frederick, the pianist who has been creating a sensation by his brilliant playing that is compared to that of Liszt, and who was the "boy wonder" of a few years ago, will give a concert at East Carolina Teachers College on the night of April 2. In Veterans' Hospital
D. L. Hardee left today for Norfolk, Va., where he will enter Keough Veterans' hospital for an operation. Mrs. Hardee accompanied him and will return this evening.

A. A. U. Meet in Savannah
Art and artists in the American community are coming in for consideration by the American Association of University Women at the tenth national meeting of that organization which is now meeting in Savannah. Discussion of the status of art and artists is part of the program in art education as a community project which has met with exceptional response in many of the several hundred branches of the American Association of University Women during the past year.

Both yesterday and today there were sectional discussions on possibilities of suitable American Association of University Women study and activity program in arts education. Miss Lura Beam, chairman of the Committee on the Arts of the A. A. U. W., presided at these meetings in the Telfair Academy of Arts and Sciences in Savannah.

A concert and demonstration of Dance and Art will tonight feature the Doris Humphreys—Charles Weidman group of dancers as the high light of the night programs. International relations and social studies shared the round table hours with fine arts and education, both yesterday and today.

Sight-seeing trips around historic Savannah and Charleston, arranged by the hostesses groups, for the delegates and visitors attending the national meeting, have been greatly enjoyed. With some of the world's most beautiful gardens in adjacent territory, and the spring season to add to their charm, the lure of the outdoors is vying with the stimulation of the formal convention program in its appeal to the hundreds of women from afar.

College "High School Day"
The second E. C. T. C. High School Day will be observed on April 15, and this year it will also be Campus Day as the College students will be released from classes a part of the day to be hosts and hostesses and to participate in the activities of the day.

Preparations are being made to entertain at least 2,000 high school students. This figure is set as the minimum number expected because last year there were more than 1,200 from 54 schools and 22 counties. It is believed that the success of last year will insure even greater success this year and that the number will be almost double.

Invitations will soon be sent to county superintendents and the principals of high schools. The program will be featured by a rally in the morning in the Robt. H. Wright auditorium, a barbecue luncheon, and such entertainment features as a baseball game, a movie and dancing in the afternoon.

Winterville News
The P. T. A. held its meeting on Friday night at 8 o'clock. After a short business session, the president turned the meeting over to the program committee. The program consisted of several short speeches by the young Tar Heel farmer-men, members of the agriculture class; then Mr. James presented some of his tap dancers.

Fred Broadwell entertained the audience with a "Carl Goerch Man on the Street" feature.

Tom Brown of Raleigh gave a very interesting talk on Vocational Education.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Williams and Sam Oglesby of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Manning Sunday afternoon.

Dr. J. S. Liverman left Monday morning to enter a hospital in Kingston for treatment.

Herman J. McLawhorn left Tuesday morning for Keocoughton, Va., to enter the government hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Lloyd Allen was in Greenville Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oglesby and Mrs. Mary Oglesby and Miss Catherine Oglesby went to Kinston Sunday.

Mrs. Willie Beddard was a Greenville visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. O. W. Rollins, Mrs. R. H. Brown went to Durham and Rocky Mount Monday.

Mrs. J. D. Buck was hostess to the Ladies' Auxiliary Circle of the Methodist church. Seven members and one visitor were present.

After the business meeting, officers for the coming year were elected, after which Mrs. Ray Oglesby, Mrs. Lloyd Allen and Mrs. R. H. Brown gave readings.

Mrs. Buck then served refreshments.

Those attending the Victory Dinner in Raleigh last Friday night from here were: Ray Oglesby, O. W. Rollins, J. L. Rollins, John R. Carroll, L. N. Donnelly, L. B. Hill, Roy T. Cox, Oscar Speight, Roy Davenport, R. L. Worthington, G. L. Rouse and Jerry Gaylord.

The Big Bend area in Texas contains what is believed to be the largest tree in the state. It is a section of a petrified tree trunk 10 feet in diameter and 40 feet long.

Co-Ed Club Teaches 'Graceful Smoking'

NO, NO, PATRICIA THIS IS THE WAY

Columbus, O.—(AP)—The W. S. G. A. Society is taking in hand co-eds who smoke incorrectly (demonstrated by Patricia Fisher, left) and educating them until they possess a technique like Ann Williams (right). Now that their right to smoke is no longer debatable, Ohio State university co-eds have formed the "We Smoke Gracefully and Aesthetically" society—and are conducting a campaign among the girls for just that. Courses are prescribed where needed.

When the heart and its large blood vessels are involved, chest pains are usually brought on by exertion or excitement. Pains arising from disease of the lungs or the lung coverings are usually made worse by breathing or coughing. Tuberculosis of the lung but rarely produces chest pains. When it does it is likely that the lung coverings or pleura is involved.

In gall-bladder disease and in certain forms of intestinal indigestion in which there is a good deal of fermentation which the production of gas, pains may be felt in various parts of the chest.

Neurotic individuals frequently complain of an excessive sensitiveness of the skin over the chest. They describe their symptoms in terms of burning or prickling sensations. They will complain of pain even when the skin is but lightly touched or stroked. These symptoms may be the result of some underlying organic disease, but where no such disease process is found, the condition is a neurotic symptom. The muscles between the ribs may suffer an inflammatory condition called fibrositis, the result of focal infection, strain, injury or chilling. In such condition the chest movements and deep breathing are painful. This inflammation closely resembles pleurisy (an inflammation of the membranes covering the lung). It can be differentiated from pleurisy by careful examination, and, presumptively, by the absence of cough, temperature and what the physician calls friction sounds. These arise from the rubbing of the roughened area of inflamed or diseased pleura against the chest wall. In health the pleura is smooth and moves

The Sportsman

Pioneers in the American Southwest found a bird they called "fool quail" because it was so confounding it could almost be caught by hand. This grotesque and comical fellow is the Mearns quail. Perhaps the queer plumage of the cock had something to do with earning its common name. Anyway, the appellation now seems a misnomer for the bird is as wary as the Bobwhite.

The Mearns quail is reported by wildlife authorities to be growing scarce over its former range, and it is listed among fauna that would be assured preservation by establishment of the Big Bend national park in Texas.

This bird should not be confused with the Texas Bobwhite, sometimes called "Mexican quail," which has been introduced for restocking of southwestern and eastern states. The latter is smaller and lighter in color than the eastern Bobwhite.

Some interesting notes about the osprey are contained in a recent issue of Biological Survey report devoted to a study of wild turkeys in the Ozark range. The old ridge-runner appears full of tricks for the naturalist.

Relative sizes of the turkey egg and the osprey's mouth have been noted as a method of carrying the egg away from the nest. Late one afternoon, an osprey was observed carrying one down a steep slope in the crook of its tail. Shifting the observer, it released the egg and played dead as it lay on the ground.

The animal carried eggs 50 feet to 150 yards from the nest, broke holes in the shells and sucked them dry. Ever Tomson also was caught red-handed taking restocked birds from the roost.

The red fox is a favorite with hunters who run their hounds for sport because it is superior to the grey species in animal intelligence and stamina.

One peat warred on another when crowd killed and ate hunger-weakened rabbits in Kansas during the coldest part of the winter.

Increasing numbers of small game animals and fur-bearers are killed annually by highway traffic.

COUCH ADDRESSES GEORGIA PROGRESS CONFERENCES

Chapel Hill, Mar. 17.—W. T. Couch, Director of the University of North Carolina Press, has just returned from Collegeboro, Georgia, where he participated in the program of the third annual Georgia Progress Days held at South Georgia Teacher's College. The theme of the year was "Georgia's Wealth and Poverty."

He also led a discussion of an address by George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News, who spoke on "A Program for Rural Rehabilitation in Georgia."

Mr. Couch addressed the conference on "Poverty or Abundance in Georgia," and presided over a panel discussion of this subject.

Freshmen Girls Win Over Sophomores

The girls' basketball tournament of the high school continued with two games Tuesday.

At the home room period Tuesday morning the freshmen defeated the sophomores by the score of 39 to 12.

Betty Tyson, with her left-handed crisp shot, scored high for the freshmen with 11 points. Jane Scoville ranked second with 14 points.

Others scoring were Helen Campbell and Janis Gollie. The sophomore guards played a good defensive game.

Tuesday afternoon the juniors and seniors met in a fast game. The juniors came out "on top" with the score of 18 to 11.

High scorer for the winners was Frances Clark, who led with 12 points. Marjorie Sugg scored 6 points.

Good defensive playing was done by the junior guards, Dorothy Merritt, Lula Mae Whitehurst and Nancy Roberts. Mary Eakes, scoring high for the seniors, led with 9 points.

Although they were defeated, all the seniors played a very nice game.

The freshmen and the juniors meet Wednesday afternoon to play for the championship.

Carpenter, as painters recently began reconditioning Buffalo stadium, 9-year-old home of Houston's Texas league baseball club. Cost of the job was estimated at $7,500.

Conversation drifts around to cinder tracks—what sort of tracks are best suited to distance runners, anyway? It is surprising that the lads who run the longer races—two miles and up—prefer the moist, spongy track to the harder, faster surface.

"Everyone was astonished when Don Lash broke the 2-mile record on the Princeton track after it had been thoroughly drenched," says McCuskey. "The track did look slow and soggy because of the many pools of water. But, as a matter of fact, the footing was ideal for the 2-mile run."

"It was spring and saved Don's legs at the way. That's why he was able to run the fastest two miles on record. The track at New Orleans when Wayne Rice beat Lash in something better than 9:04 was in just about the same condition—soft and spongy—too wet for sprinting, but ideal for distance men. The track that would be ideal for all distances has not been built, and likely never will be, for each type of running demands a different track."

U. N. C. LIBRARY DISPLAYING EXHIBIT OF 50 BOOKS OF YEAR

Chapel Hill, Mar. 17.—The University Library is now displaying the annual exhibition of fifty books of the year, selected by the American Institute of Graphic Arts. These fifty books for 1936 were selected as most attractive in appearance, the format as most suitable to the purposes of the book and as most successfully designed.

Represented in the collection is the work of some of the best known book designers, printers, and bookbinders of the United States. The exhibition will be shown until March 23.

U. S. Department of Agriculture reports show that lower Rio Grande Valley citrus is being carried by truck to 26 states beyond Texas.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

I hereby announce my candidacy for the office of Mayor of Greenville subject to the primary election to be held May 3.

For six years I have been a member of the Board of Aldermen during which time I have missed only one regular meeting of the board. During five of these six years I have been Mayor-Pro Tem and as such have filled the office of Mayor a considerable number of times. I believe this service has given me experience that qualifies me to render valuable service as Mayor should I be elected.

The following are some of the things for which I stand and if elected will try to put into effect:

- 1-Safety through a better traffic control system.
- 2-Lower electric light rates for our city.
- 3-A progressive city with economic operation.
- 4-More adequate playgrounds in Greenville with a public recreation program.
- 5-A cleaner and a more beautiful city in which to live.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS. Eve Mannersfeld goes back to her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut after five working years in New York. She plans to rent or sell, marry, get a Denny and return to Mountain apartment life. But the tendency to stay in her beloved old home grows.

Chapter 18—George Proposes
PETER spoke gently behind Marylin, as Eve hesitated. "We love you whether you want us or not. After all, I don't know why you should want us."

Judge, always responsible, had heard the horn and was in the room by now, overcoated to go. He said nothing. Judge never asked for anything. But his eyes, his whole hunched little face, beseeched by its very intensity of effort not to ask anything.

Eve thought quickly. After all, as with Uncle Henry, it would only be till she rented. The house was big enough, certainly the money would help out; but, more than anything else, she couldn't stand down. It would mean everything in the world to the child—"like a dog on a chain," as George had said. The air of tenseness, the undernourished look that came of late hours and little fresh air, would disappear with a country vacation.

"You understand I may rent in a fortnight, even," she said. "But I'd love to have you till then."

"Darling!" Marylin embraced her. "Even for a week it would give us a chance to get our breaths. And anyway, you mayn't rent for ages. The wanderers have a heaven!"

Peter also hugged her. "And now that our crime is revealed, I'll go carry the suitcases up," he said.

As for Judge, who never kissed anybody, he came up and stood very still beside Eve.

"I'm obliged, Eve," he said. Then he ran out of the room. Eve knew he was hunting for somewhere to cry without being seen.

Ellen, behind her, said nothing at all in a way that Eve well knew meant disapproval.

"Ellen, what else could I do? And after all, I live a household and it will help with expenses in the most wonderful way," she said, moving with Ellen to the other end of the room and speaking in a low voice.

"Why, yes, dear, if you're glad to go," Ellen said. "I'll come up and help you hunt them up before it did they bring it."

Since everybody knew that for years the Featherstones had told everyone that they were the best slaves to things, and had reduced life to four suitcases, Eve wondered if Ellen was being sarcastic. But it wasn't like Ellen, and seeing her sweet little pointed face, so anxious always to be kind, Eve was ashamed of herself for thinking so.

"No, you wouldn't know where the sheets are," she said. "I'll get them when the rest have gone."

But Ellen slipped out of the room. Killian had vanished somewhere. Dillard Betz had stolen out of the darkness, shamefaced, but not sufficiently so to walk to the station. Denny came close and took her hand. He bent and kissed her gently. The presence of Marylin never counted. Marylin kissed everyone. The rest were at the car.

"My own darling! I've scarcely had a minute alone with you. I'll be out next weekend if it's humanly possible," Denny whispered before he went.

"Oh," Marylin cried suddenly. "Florence Willett's handbag! I promised she should have it back yesterday—she's sailing tomorrow! Where did I put it? Denny, Denny, tell Jean to wait!"

Killian is Obnoxious
I've remembered where it was. She ran upstairs to get it from the middle of the bed in the front room. She found it shook out its contents on the counterpane and turned to run back with it.

Jack Killian was coming into the room, his impudent bright eyes on hers.

"Here, take it down," she said, waving it. She felt that kindness toward him which one feels for parting guests because they are parting.

"No hurry," said Jack, with a smile. He slid the inevitable arm around her.

"Oh, don't," Eve said as casually as she could for the shiver of repulsion she felt. She would have been sharper, but for remembering how she had let him kiss her for Denny to see. "Must you do that sort of thing?"

"Oh, say, why make an exception of me?"

This wasn't funny. He was grabbing her again, and he was stronger than she was.

"Stop! And go away!" she shouted to herself like a frightened small girl. She struggled to get loose.

HUGE SUMS PROVIDED FOR POORER CLASSES IN STATE

valuations and hence make higher tax rates necessary. The $300 exemption proposal was defeated, largely as a result of the figures cited by Rep. Bryant.

But regarding the amount being provided for schools and for pensions for Confederate veterans and their widows, this general assembly is providing relief amounting to $10,783,545 the first year and to $9,171,622 the second year, the figures compiled by Rep. Bryant show. These figures could have been increased $4,000,000 a year if Rep. Bryant had included the $4,000,000 a year the state will get from the Federal government for old age pensions and aid to dependent

"I really would stop, Killian," said George's unhurried baritone behind her. "I don't think she likes it."

Jack Killian released his grip, looked foolish, then recovered himself and managed a grin. "Always butting in, Cleveland. Eve and I didn't want you."

"Better take this down with you," said George, handing his friend the handbag Eve had come for. And Killian, so matter-of-fact was George, actually went.

"See you soon!" he said to Eve. He tried to be jaunty, but his air was rather crestfallen.

"Thank you," Eve said, scarlet. Then, "I hate your friend. He's horrible."

"Not my friend!" said George. "Here, sit down, you poor child." He was talking rather faster than usual, and more angrily. "I happened to go to Groton with him, and he came prancing and wagging up to me when Mother dragged me to Mrs. Power's; that's all. And Mizzi's tried to tear us ever since. I know he's a bounder. Thank heaven, I came up for the bag too."

She took a long breath. Things were less important suddenly, at his steady coolness. She stood, forgetting to move or speak, leaning against the door. Downstairs the front door slammed. The car started up outside, stalled in the distance. The party was gone, all but the Featherstones. A group of spectators spilled down over the old house. There was no sound except the normal country ones; a sleepy hen remarking that she had laid an excellent egg, the creak of a tree outside the window if the wind.

Eve sat down on the bed. She did not know how piteously and wearily she looked up at George, nor why she suddenly came and stood over her with his hand, resolutely behind him, and said, "Eve—" and stopped, and then said, "Eve—" again. He said it a third time, and then:

"I can't stand it any longer. You're so sweet and beautiful and plucky and alone, with not a soul to look after you. I mean to keep quiet for a long time, but I can't. Brutes like this—being able to jump at you, because they think you have nobody to fight them off—"

She stared up at him, scarcely able to believe what she heard; she was too tired to move. She put her hands flat on each side of her and leaned on them, and listened helplessly.

"Please don't look frightened at me," George said desperately. He sat down opposite her on a small stiff chair. "I won't rush you. There's nothing to do about it for a month, if you like. I tried to prepare you a little yesterday for what I thought I'd be saying maybe in a month or two—about what my life is and the sort of things it would have."

"I thought you understood a little. I always know what I want out of life immediately. I don't ask like it or look like it. I know, but it's the way I am about everything. My profession, getting this Seymour house, my university. I knew that first night with Power, and I've been over to your party, where I didn't at all want to come—I knew when I saw you and talked to you, that I wanted you for my wife."

He stopped talking. He had flushed, but aside from that, he seemed perfectly collected. He waited to hear what she would say, as if he had been asking her to go for a walk.

Her Inevitable Answer
I've continued to sit on the edge of the spare-room bed. She was too astonished to answer, George immediately. He was by no means the first man who had wanted to marry her, but he was the first who had ever surprised her when he said so. There he sat, quite motionless in the little wicker chair he had pulled up before her. His steady bright blue eyes were on hers; his lips were shut close. She felt afraid, suddenly, of the strength she sensed behind that seemingly unimpassioned waiting. And she realized suddenly, with a sinking heart, what loss her inevitable answer might mean, how much, in spite of short-lived anger, she had come to depend on this strength and kindness. Few men were friends if they once had wanted to be lovers. And Eve did want him for a friend!

"I can't, George."

"I don't mean now. I mean—think about it."

"I can't even think about it."

"You don't know that," he said. "So long as there isn't anybody else, you might want me after awhile. If I worked hard at it, I don't think you liked me when you met me. I think you do now. You might—care for me enough to marry me—after awhile."

She shook her head.

"George, I can't."

"Not ever?"

"Not ever."

He said firmly: "You don't know that. And so long as there isn't anybody else, I'm going on thinking you will. Except," he said naively, "that I'm crazy over you, we scarcely know each other yet."

His eyes never wavered, but she saw that his hands, those broad strong hands laid flat on his knees, were trembling.

amounts appropriated for the various state institutions of higher learning are not included in these figures given by Rep. ### Legislative Chaff and Chatter

Raleigh, Mar. 17.—The bill introduced by Representative William T. Hatch and which stirred up so much excitement among newspaper owners and employes has been laid peacefully to rest with the Committee on Propositions and Grievances. Chairman "Dave" Dellinger made no bones about saying that the measure will be embalmed along with other dead matter in the committee.

And so the argument about whether or not it really would have infringed upon the liberty of the press will never be settled. Mr. Hatch claimed it was not aimed at the press and said that no legitimate newspaper should fear it.

Most journalistic circles regarded it as dangerous in the extreme as throttling free expression for fear of inadvertent "misleading" or "false" statements which would result in criminal prosecution.

"Light Horse" Harry Cooper, of Cherokee, opened the current Assembly session with a flood of local file giving his county the right to enjoy such devilish things as pool, baseball and motion pictures on Sunday.

He has just remembered that he forgot to include dog racing and so, some days after the technical deadline for introduction of bills, he secured suspension of the rules and mouth disease. The band was infected with the disease several years ago, and medicine was placed in salt in the hope it might cure the animals. The band was very wild and tourists caught only distant glimpses of it.

Inspection of the official records showed the bill passed the Senate last Friday and was ratified Monday. Confronted with this, Senator Bell refreshed his memory and recalled what had happened.

Meanwhile back in home-county Mecklenburg the commissioners were yelling their heads off and swearing they'd never consent to giving the city of Charlotte any part of liquor profits if stores are legalized. And all the time the division bill was already part of the crazy quilt laughingly called the laws of North Carolina.

Efforts to revive the Hanford bill permitting the state to manufacture its own cement have failed in the Senate. Senator L. A. Halstead led a forlorn hope in an attempt to get the measure off the unfavorable calendar where a committee report landed it.

THE MODERN RURAL KITCHEN

In most photographs of modern kitchens electric equipment is illustrated. There are about five million farm homes in this country where electricity is not available. This photograph shows that these homes beyond electric lines have not been overlooked so far as modern equipment is concerned. The modern oil range shown here is as attractive as any stove to be found in a city kitchen, and the refrigerator, which harmonizes with it in line and color, also is operated by the heat from kerosene, requiring no outside connection of any kind.

Tuesday there was a question about whether or not the bill providing for division of liquor profits in Mecklenburg county had been passed. Representative J. B. Vogler said it had passed the Senate and had probably been ratified. Senator J. A. Bell said the measure had not come up in the Senate and that he was preparing to have action on it deferred when it did.

The new "60" Ford V-8 (illustrated) is the thriftiest car in all Ford history! Drive it all day on a tankful of gas—owners report 22 to 27 miles per gallon. And it carries the lowest Ford price in years.

Yet the new thrifty "60" V-8 is as big and roomy, as well engineered as the "85." You get the same all-steel body with safety glass throughout. The same new quietness and beauty. The same easy-acting, quick-stopping new Ford brakes. The same large luggage compartments.

And it's a real performer! Like most cars it bows a bit to the brilliant "85" Ford V-8 in pickup and top speed but you will be amazed at what it will do just the same. The thrifty "60" V-8 is a car you will own with pride and drive with pleasure. A car that will save you not just pennies but dollars! A car that's built so fine and priced so low you will have to drive it to believe it exists. Your Ford dealer invites you to drive this car yourself. Call him today.

MANY SCHOOLS ENTER DEBATE

Triangular Contests Scheduled To Be Held for April 2

Chapel Hill, Mar. 17.—Two hundred and thirty-five high schools have already enrolled in the North Carolina High School Debating Union for participation in this year's State-wide debating contest, it was announced here today by E. B. Rankin, who is in charge of arrangements. Greenville is among the schools entered.

The triangular debates will be held throughout the State on April 2, and the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup will be held at Chapel Hill on April 21 and 22.

The query to be discussed in this year's debating contest is "Resolved, That the government should own and operate all electric light and power utilities."

The question of government ownership and operation of electric utilities is the national high school debate topic of this year. Thirty-five State high school debating leagues will discuss this subject in their spring contests.

The contest of this year will be the 25th in the history of the North Carolina High School Debating Union. The first contest was held in the spring of 1913, and annual contests have been held since.

Membership in the High School Debating Union is open to all high schools of the State. Participating schools have been grouped in triangles for the contest on April 2.

All schools which win both of their triangular debates will send their teams to Chapel Hill to take part on April 21 and 22 in the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup, the trophy which has been donated to the High School Debating Union by the Intercollegiate Debaters of the University of North Carolina.

Since the annual State high school debating contests were inaugurated in 1913, sixteen schools have won the Aycock Memorial Cup for one or more years each.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Hollywood — The time was three years ago, the scene a barber shop. Two customers in adjoining chairs were talking. A third customer, his face hidden by a towel, was listening.

"I'll give you odds they don't get married," said the first.

"And if they do, I'll give you odds it won't last six months," said the second.

The third, his face burning under the towel, said nothing. He had heard that so often he knew it did no good to jump in. It was just Hollywood's way, this betting on marriages involving film folk.

When your fiancée happened to be an actress, you learned to expect that. . . He said nothing, and soon he smiled, under the towel. In a few days he, Maurice Hill, and Fifi Dorsay would be married. The odds-givers were due for a beating.

Here the curtain is lowered briefly to denote a time lapse of three years. Rising again, it discovers Morgan Hill (new title) at a booth in a small Culver City restaurant telling me about it. He looks like a new man, to coin a phrase. What I mean is he's trim and clear-eyed. Before he married Fifi, he phrased right under Winchel's nose, used to mix considerable play with his study of medicine. He had money, and while he denies coming under the "wealthy playboy" category, he admits he got around. Marrying Fifi, the supposedly volatile up-tendency of temperament, was the steady influence.

Fifi had been doing a movie, "Three Legionnaires," on the same lot where her husband had just completed "23 1/2 Hours Leave" for Douglas McLean. And everything seemed to be rosier than ever, doubtless because — at long last — both halves of the family were in the movies now. Fifi, as Morgan expressed it, was simply "popping buttons" with pride, because from the first she had wanted him to try pictures. Hill had not been particularly interested; in college he had been nominated as a "typical college athlete" and offered a screen test, but he preferred brain surgery as a career. Later he discovered his choice was a great career — for somebody else.

While Fifi kept on the stage, her husband was dropping $50,000 into Broadway shows, enjoying some little success as a radio producer and what not. Back in Hollywood, their friend Marie Bercevic, writer, asked him to do a part in a little theater show.

"The disappointed leading man that is in all of us cropped out," he says, "and I did it. But then I went back to New York, and the next time I thought about acting was when Marie wired me to drop everything and come out for tests for the McLean picture. I tried for the lead; fortunately for me James Ellison got that, and I drew the second lead.

"The only times I'd been before the cameras had been for news-reels at horse and dog shows — and where people asked which was the horse."

And here's a tip for prospective film testees: McLean signed Hill on what the test showed after it was officially done and he had stopped "acting."

Although she never has known want, Lily Pons knows what it means to miss meals. She doesn't

Talks To Parents

By Brooks Peters Clark

Natural Phase — "Have you seen any of Harry's drawings? He is only eight, but seems cut out for an artist. We are looking for a good teacher to give him lessons in perspective, and how to use paint. We want to give him the best training as early as possible, so that he will not lose any time. He really seems to be something of a genius."

If Harry is a genius, he will express himself in some way with no help from anyone. Time enough to help him when he begins to look for help. Meanwhile he had better be left alone and not confused by instruction. If he has only a thin flame of talent or ability, he may, except with the wisest teacher, who will let him alone, simply end up like the centipede who was happy until asked "Which leg comes after which?" Then he was unable to move.

Many, one might almost say most, children at some time show skill, or at least ability, in drawing. It seems to be a natural mode of expression. If the parents, who are impressed by their child's artistic talent, would glance back over their own old school books, they probably would find the fly leaves and margins decorated with their youthful attempts at illustrating and would be surprised to find that they too, had been able to draw pictures.

Picture-writing seems to be a part of the natural development of mankind. If the child has an extraordinary gift, he may some day profit by an artist's criticism. Meanwhile he should have the necessary material — pencils, paper, crayons, paint — and be permitted and encouraged to make his own experiments.

Even if he never becomes a professional artist, he will always have an interest which is like an extra window opening on the world.

Church Meeting Held In Elizabeth City

The eleventh Eastern Regional Baptist Training Union Convention was held at the First Baptist church of Elizabeth City, North Carolina Friday and Saturday, March 12-13.

Regional president Rev. James H. Smith of Williamson acted as presiding officer throughout the convention. Many other outstanding State workers in Baptist young people's work contributed to the convention including State B. T. U. Secretary Rev. Nathan C. Brooks, formerly of Greenville, and Associate Secretary Miss Mable Starnes, of Raleigh, and the State B. T. U. president Dr. John Wayland, of Durham.

The six counties of the Roanoke Association were represented by forty-three delegates. Ten of these were from the newly organized B. T. U. of the Memorial Baptist church of Greenville. Those in attendance were E. R. Conway, Jr., Deacon sponsor; Ralph H. Moss, director; Miss Margaret Humphrey, pianist; Miss Rachel Blanchard, senior president; Miss Betty Fleischman, Intermediate president; Misses Elizabeth Holliday, Lena Mae Smith, Mattie Lawrence Holliday; Mrs. Ralph H. Moss, Junior Leader and Eustace Conway, III, Junior vice president.

The Sunday evening assembly was devoted to the reports of these delegates.

SHANGHAI ENDS YEAR'S HOMAGE TO RAT HORDES

Shanghai, China (AP)—The Year of the Rat has ended. It will be twelve years before China's rats enjoy the honor of having another year named for them and the protection given them by families.

Many Chinese still hold it is bad "joss" for those who have children born during the Year of the Rat to kill the rodents.

As Shanghai is a seaport, the rat population is numerous and cosmopolitan health authorities have only freed the city from the bubonic plague in the last 12 years and even now have to keep on the alert for it.

Coolies employed by the health department pay periodic visits to the rat-infested districts to lay traps and there are scores of privately owned exterminating companies. It is estimated more than 100,000 rats were killed in Shanghai last year.

This year only butchers born in the Year of the Cow have any worries, for in 1937 the cow takes the throne.

News!—Fish Bites Man — Prairie Du Chien, Wis.—(AP)—Archie Mann cut a hole in the Mississippi river ice and was scooping out fragments when a large garpike bit his hand and held on until Mann jerked him out on the ice. The fish had taken a chunk out of his hand.

John Ford, who is Irish, has adopted an English custom. He has tea served on the set every afternoon—for the crew as well as the actors.

Warren Hull rests between pictures by playing tennis, hiking two miles, riding horseback, playing golf and singing—every day. It took 6,000 feet of maulin to make turbot for 200 Hindus employed as extras in "Wee Wee Winkle."

BOYS WILL BE BOYS

How Major Leaguers Train

PASADENA, Cal. — Horseplay begins at 40. Jimmy Dykes, Chicago White Sox manager, is that old. His exuberance knows no bounds as he goes up for the throw, but Pitcher Italo Chelini of the Pale Hose appears safe. With the White Sox, the boss man leads the march of the merry-makers. Veterans, rookies, and even spectators fall in line at every training camp.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — These boys are trying to make this look like a serious thing. Pat Malone is working on Monte Pearson. Both are New York Yankee twirlers.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — Well, you've heard about the St. Louis Cardinals! Pitcher Paul Dean (center) is victimized by Pitcher Mike Ryba (left), Outfielder Johnny Rizzo (right).

MACKSICO CITY. — Here are three—pardon us, two—of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics. Left to right: Rookie Outfielder Clarence (Ace) Parker; a friend, who doesn't want to play; First Baseman Gene Hanson.

ORLANDO, Fla. — These lads are merely following orders. Owner Clark Griffith told Washington American infielder Cecil Travis (left) he would have to be more aggressive. Travis picked a fight with Teammate Shanty Hogan, catcher, biggest guy he would find. Travis will have to learn to pick on boys his own size.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed.
How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.
Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.
Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

New York Cotton

New York, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, three lower to three higher. Liquidation and hedge selling were absorbed by trade and commission house buying.

May sold up from 14.42 to 14.49 and after the first hour was 14.46 with prices generally two to 11 points net higher.

May eased to 14.38 and prices generally were two points net lower to 11 higher at midday. During the March contract it had sold from a low of 10.17 a year ago to a seven-year high of 14.87 yesterday.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Mar. 17.—(AP)—Carrier stocks scattered the market, ticker tape with gains of fractions to two or more points today, but slight selling pressure was evident in many other sections of the list.

Trading volume contracted substantially after a fast start and near the fourth hour trends were indefinite.

Spurring the rails to another climb, was over night news of a "complete agreement" on pensions reached by the roads and unions.

U. S. government securities fell sharply in the bond division and corporations loans were erratic. Commodities were uneven.

DECLINE DEED TITLE TO PARK

Senators Refuse Turn Over Highway To U. S. Gov't.

Raleigh, March 17.—(Reflector Bureau)—This general assembly is not going to deed away its title to Route 107, the state highway which runs from Cherokee to Indian Gap on the Tennessee line, and most of which lies within the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, despite the fact that the National Park Service is almost demanding that this be done.

The Senate said "no" very emphatically Monday night when it tabled the bill which would have deeded this road to the Federal government, despite the fact that the National Park Service will maintain this miles of highway and probably improve it and widen it, if the state will deed it to the Government.

Two factors were largely responsible for the defeat of this bill. One was the fear that the National Park Service would make a toll road of it and charge a toll of from $1 to $2 a car, as it indicated last summer it intended to do as soon as the park was officially opened. The other was the fear that the park service might close the road to trucks or greatly limit the size of trucks that might travel over it, as it intends to do with traffic on the Blue Ridge Parkway. It is understood that the park service will not permit any trucks to use the parkway after it is completed, or if so, only light trucks of certain sizes and weights.

As a result of these fears, the people in Swain, Cherokee, Haywood, Jackson, Graham and surrounding counties are greatly opposed to turning this state highway over to the Federal government, since it is their most direct outlet into eastern Tennessee and an important artery of truck commerce between these two sections.

Bitter opposition to the bill was voiced by Senator Kelly Bennett of Swain county, who pointed out these facts to the senators. His speech against the bill is regarded as the main factor in its defeat.

breaking and entering. Nelson Bryant, also a Negro, was given the same sentence on a similar charge.

Will Eiks, who appealed from a six months sentence meted out in lower court upon conviction on a whiskey charge, had his sentence doubled, being given 12 months.

V. W. Whitehurst was ordered to pay the costs of court and the amount of a bad check when tried on a charge of giving the worthless check.

Senate Okays Bill To Put Patrolmen Under $1,000 Bond

Measure Aimed to Make State Highway Officers Post Security For Faithful Performance

Raleigh, Mar. 17.—Citizens who are illegally arrested and sent to jail without being allowed to give bond will have a fund to satisfy any judgment they may obtain against peace officers employed by the state of North Carolina, if a bill introduced by Senators Larkin and Webb, and passed by the Senate wins House approval.

The measure is aimed definitely and directly at state highway patrolmen, according to Senator Larkin, who explained it on the Senate floor. He pointed out that under supreme court rulings the state is not liable for illegal arrests made by its officers and he added that most of the patrolmen are "execution-proof" if judgment is secured against them individually.

The bill would require every peace officer of the state to give bond in the sum of $1,000 conditioned upon "faithful performance of his duty." Senator Larkin explained that this meant that a citizen illegally arrested by a patrolman could recover against the bondsman in the event of securing a verdict and judgment against the officer.

The Jones county action indicated he believes that many illegal arrests have been made by patrolmen. He declared that every person arrested on a minor charge should be permitted to give bond without being committed to jail and deplored the fact that this is not the case at present.

An interesting amendment was added by Senator Tom J. Gold, an amendment which carries out the arguments so frequently advanced by counsel for persons accused of liquor law violations. The Gold amendment would make it a misdemeanor for any officer to issue a search warrant except after examination and oath of a complaining witness and would ban use as evidence of anything discovered by officers using anything other than a properly issued and executed search warrant, recent court rulings in North Carolina permit use of illegally discovered evidence, no matter how gross the officers' abuse of legal formalities.

JUSTICES MAY JOIN DISPUTE

his remark "appropriate," Chairman Ashurst said if any justice even hinted he wanted to be heard formally he would be invited to appear.

Professor Edward Corwin of Princeton University, appeared in behalf of the proposal today, saying most of the men of the Supreme court bench had "forgotten their supreme obligation" to interpret the constitution as a broad document written for "an undefined future."

The house turned from the major question of how to insure American neutrality in foreign wars to take up minor bills.

Artful Maneuvers Block Record Vote On Backing F.D.R.

Artfulness in Passing Resolution Compared With That of Concealing Pea in Circus Shell Game

By HENRY AVERILL (Reflector Bureau Writer)

Raleigh, March 17.—The House has passed the resolution endorsing President Roosevelt's court proposals after a series of parliamentary maneuvers notable for the artfulness with which a record vote was dodged. It now remains to be seen whether Senate leaders are as adept at the great game of duck and dodge.

While a large portion of the public prints has heralded passage of the endorsing resolution as a great victory for the President's adherents, there are numerous canny observers who believe the real story is the success of the President's opponents and of the great army of "fence straddlers" in keeping the pages of the House Journal snowy white as far as any roll call vote is concerned.

These opponents and straddlers are now in position to avow or disavow their support of the Chief Executive as the spirit moves them and there is not a written line to say them nay.

Not even locating the little pea in an old circus shell game was ever as difficult as it has been to follow the devious course of the resolution, and its attendant maneuvers.

Referred to the calendar committee, the resolution was reported unfavorably. On motion of Representative C. W. Sprull, Bertie, it was taken from the unfavorable calendar and placed on the calendar, Speaker Gregg Cherry baldly ignoring a demand for the "Ayes and Noes" by Mr. Sprull, who was prevented from complaining greatly by the fact that Mr. Cherry declared the Bertie man's motion carried.

Then, last Saturday, with Mr. Sprull out of the chamber, the resolution was taken off the calendar, again without a record vote, and re-referred to the calendar committee. The Bertie representative and some others went to Monday nights House session all cooked and primed to demand a showdown in black and white, but the House leadership beat them to the draw. Representative Sam Blount, Beaufort, hopped up as soon as the House convened, and moved to take the bill from committee, then pass it. He stood fast, holding the floor, until this procedure was followed and the resolution adopted with a "whoop and a holler." Again the Roosevelt supporters were followed in their efforts to get a roll call.
