COMMITTEE ON COURT REFORM ASKS FOR DATA

Clerk Requested To Furnish Information On Docket

CHIEF JUSTICE MAY TAKE STAND

Opponents Express Hope Hughes Will Testify Before Judiciary Committee

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—The Senate judiciary committee turned today to the Supreme court itself for aid in studying President Roosevelt's plan to revamp the tribunal.

While speculation over whether one or more justices might appear to testify was intensified by talk among opponents of the President's program, the committee voted to ask the court clerk to furnish information on the condition of its docket from 1925 to date.

Proponents of enlarging the court unless justices over 70 retire have charged congestion of cases and an increasing burden of litigation have hampered the tribunal in recent years.

In the opposition camp some leaders expressed hope Chief Justice Hughes might consent to be a witness at the judiciary committee hearings next week. There was a belief should the Chief Justice take the stand at least one other justice also would testify.

William Lewis, director of the American law institute, told the committee today the President's program actually was "conservative." Inaction in the court situation, he said, would invite "radical and regrettable action."

The school house explosion in which hundreds of children were killed at New London, Texas, yesterday was called officially to the Senate's attention by Senator Connally (D. Tex.) who said "The heart and sympathy of the people of Texas are profoundly moved by this stupendous calamity."

The Red Cross said it was ready to need large number of trained disaster workers to the Texas town should the necessity for them arise. Government officials took under advisement a proposal to advance the date for Philippine independence.

Another clash of legislators appeared likely over the neutrality bill. The House passed, 374-12, yesterday a measure giving the President discretion in applying a "cash and carry" policy to trade with warring nations. In doing so it rejected a mandatory bill previously passed by the Senate.

Campaign Against Tin Cans in City Set For Saturday

Boy Scouts to Make Tour of City Early Tomorrow Morning Gathering Up Cans From Homes

The annual clean-up campaign in Greenville will be completed tomorrow and Boy Scouts will occur the city, picking up all tin cans piled in front of various homes by the residents.

The Scouts will begin their tour at 8 o'clock and are scheduled to be on hand promptly at noon with their "findings" at the ravine on Fifth street side of the High school. Theatre tickets will be given the two patrols doing the best jobs. The winners will be guests of T. Y. Walker at the Pitt theatre tomorrow night.

The city has been divided into two divisions and patrols will be assigned to various sections. Any persons who have tin cans and the like lying about their premises and who have not done so, can get them in a pile in front of their homes by 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and have them removed by the Scouts.

The campaign is being carried on by the Boy Scouts, under the supervision of the City Street department, headed by E. G. Lynch. After the cans have been gathered and the winners declared, they will be hauled out of the city by the city's garbage trucks.

Missionary Of India To Preach on Sunday

Dr. E. C. Davis, for more than thirty years missionary at Jubbalpore, India, will be the guest preacher at the morning service of the Eighth Street Christian Church Sunday. Members and friends of the congregation are cordially invited to hear Dr. Davis' message.

To Run Again

J. S. Moore, one of Pitt County's representatives in the General Assembly, announced yesterday that he would seek reelection for the 1939 legislature. Representative Moore made his announcement on the floor of the House of Representatives while defending the city extension bill.

MOORE TO RUN AGAIN IN 1938

Announces Candidacy In Defending City Extension Bill

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Mar. 19.—Representative J. S. Moore, of Bethel in Pitt county, yesterday became probably the first avowed candidate for a seat in the 1939 General Assembly.

Mr. Moore made his announcement during a speech on the floor in which he pleaded with his House colleagues not to recall from the committee office a bill extending the city limits of Greenville; a measure which was introduced by Senator Ed. Fitzgerald, of Greenville, which had passed the Senate and House.

The plea was successful and all the extension measure needs to become a law is formal ratification by Lieutenant Governor Wilkins P. Horton and Speaker Greg Cherry. Defending the bill Mr. Moore said:

"Don't do this to me. (Referring to the motion to recall). If you do, how can I go back home and face my constituents and ask them to send me here again. I am going to be a candidate for the House in 1939."

The debate was caused by motion of Representative T. C. Stone, of Rockingham, who is said to have injected himself into Pitt county's private fight by reason of friendship for a large stockholder in a mill, which would be taken into the city limits of Greenville.

During all the tumult and shouting, Pitt's other Representative John Hill Paylor, Farmville, preserved a complete silence until Representative C. C. Abernathy, of Nash, read a telegram from Mayor Blount, of Greenville, asking him to "back Mr. Moore." Then Mr. Paylor rose to inquire of the "Gentleman from Nash" whether any mention of him (Mr. Paylor) was made in the telegram. Mr. Abernathy said there was none, whereupon Mr. Paylor again lapsed into impressive inaction.

Scrap Tobacco Bill Only Effective Weed Measure

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Mar. 19.—A bill imposing a prohibitory license fee upon sellers of "scrap" tobacco is likely to be the only really effective bit of "weed" legislation enacted by the present session of the General Assembly.

This, however, is no fault of the North Carolina law makers who loyally and sincerely sought to pass—and so far as they were concerned did pass—Compact laws which would prove as great a boon to the tobacco farmer as did the late-lamented A. A. A.

A fertilizer bill, already through the House and almost certain to go through the Senate is expected to be of considerable aid to tobacco farmers as well as other agriculturists of the state.

At this session it has been sought to remedy the defects in the 1935 act as pointed out by the court; and W. W. Eagles, of Edgecombe, a legislator probably as conversant with tobacco laws as any man in the Assembly has expressed the opinion the new bill will meet the test of Constitutionality. It defines "scrap" in clear, concise language and imposes the $1,000 per county tax without discrimination, Mr. Eagles believes.

The fertilizer bill imposes upon manufacturers the duty to show clearly the analysis of their fertilizers. Mr. Eagles pointed out that purchasers are often unable to understand whether the product they are buying is "acid" or "basic" and with a view to clearing up any doubt in the mind of a buyer, the bill specifically requires the manufacturer to display prominently the percentage of various important

JUDGE ISSUES ARREST ORDER FOR STRIKERS

Sheriff Awaits Reinforcements to Execute Writ

ORDER INCLUDES UAWA OFFICIALS

Launching of Unionization Drive Among Textile Workers Is Watched

Detroit, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Circuit Judge Allan Campbell today ordered the issuance of writs of attachment calling for arrests of 8,000 sit-down strikers who have occupied eight Chrysler corporation automotive plants for 12 days.

The corporation indicated it would not proceed immediately against high U. A. W. A. officials, who were made respondents by the strikers in the injunction which Judge Campbell issued last Monday.

Since 9 a. m. Wednesday the sit-down strikers have been in violation of the injunction. Sheriff Thomas Wilcox said he would make no attempt at ejection of the strikers until he gets additional deputies or the aid of National Guard.

(By Associated Press) The launching of a unionization drive among 1,250,000 textile workers shared attention today on the nation's industrial front with the impending crisis in Michigan's major automotive strike.

A meeting in New York today of the Textile Workers organizing committee signaled the beginning of the campaign ordered by the C. I. O.

Labor leaders said the decision of textile firms to raise wages for more than 47,000 workers in Virginia, the Carolinas, and Georgia and 35,000 in New England would not deter them from organizational activities. Among the objectives were a minimum wage of $18 weekly and a 35-hour week.

At Detroit fire departments of two suburbs were fighting a fire early today at the Chrysler corporation's main Dodge automobile plant in Hamtramck. The factory is one of those occupied by sit-down strikers, about 2,500 U. A. W. A. members having been in the plant since March 8.

A strike of 300 union printers left Indianapolis without a daily paper. A final settlement of the Remington Rand, Inc., strike was believed imminent.

ADVICE TO STATESMEN: TRAMPLE CUTWORMS

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Fiercely culturalist Franklin J. Ruedel of Oklahoma A. and M. college believes belligerent statesmen should use their energies fighting garden pests.

"If a dictator finds himself impeded to override some lowly people," Ruedel insists, "he would do much for the betterment of the world if he stepped instead on a cutworm."

PATH CLEARED FOR MARRIAGE

Mrs. Simpson to Get Divorce Without Any Difficulty

London, Mar. 19.—(AP)—The last apparent barrier to Mrs. Wallis Simpson's absolute divorce and her marriage to Edward of Windsor, was cleared today when a charge of "collusion" was dismissed by the president of the British divorce court.

Sir Boyd Merriam, president of the court, directed the charge stricken from the record after the king's proctor informed the court, treating the case as any other, he had made a careful investigation and failed to find any grounds to prevent the absolute divorce of Mrs. Simpson and Ernest Simpson.

His action, following the Proctor's surprise move in asking "for instructions" in the case, removed all legal obstacles, except the technical granting of the final decree April 27.

Criminal Session Removing Number Cases From Books

Docket in Much Clearer Condition As Result of First Five Days of Two Weeks' Court

A large number of cases have been removed from the docket during the past five days of the two weeks' session of Pitt Superior court has been underway here, but there still remains much work to be done tomorrow and next week.

Several cases were disposed of this morning and yesterday afternoon. Tom Langley was acquitted of a charge of manufacturing whiskey.

Johnnie Dennis was given 12 months, Elmer Jones six months and Bennie Jones 12 months on a larceny charge, but all sentences were suspended upon condition the defendants pay H. S. Hancock $5 and also pay the costs of court.

The court sustained a motion for a verdict of not guilty in a case charging Ben Clark with refusal to pay a dog tax.

James Darden, negro, was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death last January of Roy Braxton, another Negro, but the jury recommended mercy and he was given a two year sentence. Darden was convicted of killing Braxton with a spade on January 13 in Ayden township.

A case charging M. E. Dixon with driving drunk was remanded to Ayden Recorder's court for final disposition.

Bruce Tripp was given 12 months for possessing illegal whiskey. A case charging Cecil Jones with abandonment was remanded to County court for final disposition. Chester Nobles was given two years on a charge of possessing whiskey.

The case in which Hal Edwards was the defendant was remanded to Ayden Recorder's court for final jurisdiction, but he was not charged with possessing whiskey, as stated in yesterday's paper and as appearing on the official record, but only with infraction of a minor ordinance. Court Clerk J. H. Harrington said today.

Equipoise—not the stallion that holds the world record for the mile, but the all-but-forgotten brood mare that produced the famous Whitew mare, Equality—was the dam of 10 foals.

TWO BRANCHES PUSH WORK ON ODDS AND ENDS

House Okays Change In Permanent Improvement Bill

SLUM CLEARANCE BILL CONSIDERED

Many members Still Have Hopes of Sine Die Adjournment Tomorrow Night

Raleigh, Mar. 19.—(AP)—The House accepted minor Senate changes in the $2,344,000 permanent improvements bill for state institutions today and ordered it ratified into law.

The legislative machinery moved slowly as odds and ends were cleared up. Many members still hoped for sine die adjournment tomorrow night, but the enrolling office was more than a day behind in its work, which must be ended before the legislature can quit.

The "Tokes" or "PWA" bills to facilitate corporation in PWA housing and slum clearance projects and permit issuance of revenue bonds, still reposed in the Senate calendar committee, but Chairman Taylor said "we will report them and every other bill we have to the Senate before the legislature quits."

Federal officials told the Senate group $10,000,000 in federal funds for public works projects in North Carolina depended upon the measures.

Senators accepted House changes in a bill to create a state bureau of identification and ordered it ratified.

The Senate also enacted measures to amend the 1933 fertilizer law and tax scrap tobacco and scrap tobacco dealers.

A joint committee started work on a compromise bill to regulate wine making in the state.

The House revived measures it had killed which would require bonds of all peace officers, provide for payment of teachers in 12 equal monthly installments and clarify tax foreclosure laws.

Senator Flanagan Loses In Efforts Ban 'Bank Nights'

Fitt Solon Maintains That Idea Not Only Detrimental to Morals, But Encourages Gambling

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Mar. 19.—The effort made by Senator Ed G. Flanagan of Greenville, Pitt county, to pass a bill prohibiting moving picture theatres in the state from holding "bank nights" at which prizes ranging from $25 to $250 in cash are given away to the holders of the "lucky" ticket numbers, failed by an overwhelming vote in the senate Thursday.

But it resulted in producing the most highly entertaining session the senate has held so far this year and in bringing about a "true confessions" meeting which sounded more like a Methodist prayer meeting than a session of a law-making body.

Senator Flanagan maintained that the "bank nights" held by some moving picture theatres, are not only detrimental to the morals of the younger people by developing a taste for gambling, but that they have become nuisances by attracting so many people to the towns and theaters on these "bank nights" as to impede if not to actually block traffic. Another senator asked Senator Flanagan if these crowds were not composed of good people, and the Senator from Pitt replied:

"Yes, they are—I have been in them some time. But just the same, I think these bank nights should be stopped."

In the course of the discussion of Senator Flanagan's motion, some senator mentioned the fact that a good many of the senators had been given season passes to most of the Raleigh moving picture theatres and hinted that this might be a reason for the opposition to Senator Flanagan's motion to recall the anti-bank night bill from the unfavorable calendar and pass it.

There was an almost immediate scramble on the part of senators who had received these complimentary passes from theatre lobbyists to "confess" they had received these passes—among these being Senator Flanagan—but to say emphatically that the acceptance of these passes had in no way influenced their views with regard to the motion picture theatres or "bank nights."

SUPREME TEST FACING FLIERS

Will Be Required To Find Tiny Sand Bar in Pacific Ocean

Honolulu, Mar. 19.—(AP)—A supreme test in navigation, finding a tiny sand bar 1,532 miles ahead in the vast Pacific, awaited Amelia Earhart and her crew, poised today for a take-off on the second leg of her 27,000 mile world flight.

The aviatrix, who set a speed record on her flight here from Oakland yesterday, said she probably would start for the distant speck of land, Howland Island, late today. Army fliers pointed out a night flight would facilitate the perfect navigation required to hit the two-mile long island, for Navigators Capt. Henry Manning and F. J. Noonan will have charts to guide them. The landing itself could be accomplished after dawn.

"There is every possibility of a take off late today," said Miss Earhart. She delayed an immediate start because of weather conditions and to permit a check of the plane's motors.

Israel Caravan Dies; Last Rites Tomorrow

Israel Manning Carawan, 74-year-old employee of the Greenville Cotton Mill, died suddenly Thursday afternoon as he entered his home in the Mill village. He had been in ill health for some time.

Funeral services will be conducted from his late home Saturday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. Clarence Baptist church, Interment will be made in the family cemetery in Lowlands.

Mr. Carawan moved to Greenville from Lowlands 17 years ago and has been employed by the cotton mill since that time.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Allen Carawan and one sister, Mrs. Paul Morris, both of Greenville, also five grandchildren.

Cafe Operator Held In Murder Warrant

Asheboro, Mar. 19.—(AP)—A formal charge of "killing and slaying one Babe Yow" was placed against Arthur Hasty, Asheboro cafe owner, this morning in connection with the death of Yow, 35, who died last night as a result of wounds said by officers to have been inflicted by Hasty.

Savannah Channel Nears Completion August 8. (AP)—Transport boats again will ply the historic Savannah river route soon from Augusta to Savannah.

The $1,780,000 lock and dam project at New Savannah bluff, 12 miles below Augusta, is nearing completion. It will assure a six-foot river channel the year around.

The lock, 360 feet long and 56 feet wide, is designed to accommodate a vessel drawing 14 feet.

Milk contains three of the four vitamins.

$16,000,000 Provided For Needy Aged And Children

Raleigh, N. C., Mar. 19.—(AP)—North Carolina's indigent aged, its dependent children and needy blind will be beneficiaries to the extent of $16,000,000 during the next biennium under Social Security legislation enacted by the 1937 General Assembly.

The Federal government will match the $4,000,000 to be provided annually by the state and counties, equally divided, in the program to provide assistance for more than 22,000 persons over 65 years of age, unfortunate children and the blind.

Figures supplied by Mrs. W. T. Bost, chairman of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, itemize the State's share in the program as follows:

Needy aged, $1,000,000 annually; dependent children, $5,000,000 annually; blind, $85,000 annually; contingency fund (not matched by counties) $185,000 annually—a total of $1,770,000 a year.

Administration costs are set at $80,000 a year for the State and $150,000 for the counties.

For distribution of surplus commodities, which would become a State responsibility if continued, the figure set by Mrs. Bost is $35-

Durham Woman Holds Ticket On Winner Of Race

New York, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Eight Americans held tickets on Royal Mail, winner of today's Aintree Grand National steeplechase.

Each winning ticket is worth $150,000, besides the $3,070 which the lucky ticket holder were awarded when their coupons were first drawn.

Mrs. S. W. Shields, 911 Holloway street, Durham, N. C., was one of those holding tickets on the winner, Royal Mail.

1ST PLACE WON BY ROYAL MAIL

One of Favorites Cops Grand National Steeplechase

Aintree, England, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Royal Mail, one of the favorites, owned by Lloyd Thomas, today, won the 99th running of the Grand National steeplechase before an estimated crowd of 500,000 including the king and queen.

J. Rank's Coolen, an outsider, was second and E. Bailey's Pucka Belle third in the field of 33, six of them American-owned, that started the four and one-half journeymen, Golden Miller, the favorite, dropped out early in the race.

Royal Mail, well up with the leaders from the start finished three lengths in front of Coolen, which held on to save runner-up honors by a head from Pucka Belle.

The winner was held at 100 to 6 in the betting, with Coolen quoted at 33 to 1 and Pucka Belle at 100 to 6.

Only six of the starters finished the course. Ego, also well backed, was fourth, followed by Crown Prince and Penrith.

Flying Minutes, one of the two American-bred horses in the race, made a gallant challenge, but fell after showing the way with Royal Mail the second time over the treacherous Becher's brook jump. The other American bred horse, What Have You, was left at the post.

An Accident Connoisseur Columbus, O. (AP)—When Mrs. Catherine Court pulled herself out of the bottom of a state office building elevator shaft the other day she said it "was the best elevator accident I've ever been in." She spoke with authority, too, because it happened to be the sixth elevator accident she has experienced. Fortunately, no one was injured in this mishap.

Sued For 81 Cents Jasper, Texas. (AP)—After S. N. Fowler of Newton failed to pay his 1935 school taxes, the school board sued him for 81 cents, which, Fowler thinks, is some kind of a record in "putting the law" on the taxpayer.

RESCUE CREWS CEASE SEARCH

Some Estimates Put Ultimate Death Toll In Excess of 600 As Rescue Workers Search Ruins of New London, Texas, Consolidated School

New London, Texas, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Laborers ceased digging into the ruins of the London consolidated school this afternoon and weary rescuers said "the job is finished" after 425 bodies had been removed from the pile of debris.

Workers admitted it was under that pile that they had expected to find many more bodies. How many more, no one could say.

The recovered bodies, comprising virtually all of the countryside's younger generation and their teachers, were distributed among widely scattered morgues. Estimates of these ranged from Highway patrol Captain Walter Elliott's "more than 500" downward to the 388 figure of the troops enforcing martial law.

The school house was a dismal, drizzling scene, dotted with frenzied red-eyed parents and determined investigators.

Austin, Texas, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Walter Elliott, Texas highway patrol captain, notified authorities here today 500 bodies, 17 those of teachers, had been recovered from the ruins of the London consolidated school at New London, wrecked by an explosion late yesterday.

New London, Texas, Mar. 19.—(AP)—Tomb bodies of more than 350 high school students and teachers were counted as known today today while activities torch and tagging cranes were sent South to uncover more victims in the blast-shattered ruins of the luxurious school that it built.

It was the worst school house disaster in the nation's history. Some estimates of the ultimate death toll ranged above 600.

Cause of the blast was sought as one official advanced the theory gas accumulating in the building from the nearby East Texas oil fields, one of the world's richest, was responsible. Oil derricks are on the campus.

There were 700 students and 40 teachers in the two story London consolidated school when an explosion yesterday near dusk almost "line showered" brick and steel upon screaming victims.

Eight hours after the blast a junior high school boy and girl were rescued alive from the ruins "more than 1,000 men from the rich East Texas oil fields attacked the wreckage.

Dance halls, roller skating rinks, churches, hotels, hospitals and morgues in six nearby towns were filled with dead.

Forty-five minutes proved the difference between life and death for the students.

Burial Rites For Mrs. Hyman To Be In City Saturday

Interment to Be in Cherry Hill Cemetery at 2 o'clock; Funeral Will Be Held in Erwin

Burial services for Mrs. B. Hyman, former resident of this city who died in Miami, Fla., yesterday morning, will be held in Cherry Hill cemetery tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The body was taken to Erwin, where Mrs. Hyman had lived for past two years with her daughter, Mrs. John F. Lynch, for funeral services, which will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Immediately after the services, the cortege will leave for this city. Upon arriving here at 2 o'clock the procession will go direct to the cemetery for interment. Burial will be beside her first husband, Joseph A. DuPre.

Mrs. Hyman died from pneumonia in the Florida city, where she was visiting a son, T. O'H. Dupree. Up until about two years ago she lived in this city.

She is survived by her second husband, one daughter, Mrs. Lynch; three sons, T. O'H. Dupree of Miami, Alvin D. DuPre of Columbia, S. C., and William B. DuPre of Petersburg, Va.; and several grandchildren.

Bridge Party for Miss White
Miss Helen White, bride-elect of April, was honored yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Marvin Sugg and Mrs. J. H. Harrell were hostesses at a very attractive bridge party at the home of Mrs. Sugg.

A green and yellow motif was carried out in jonquils and hyacinths. Five tables were placed in this setting for the game.

After a number of games were played Mrs. A. E. Shackell was awarded a double deck of cards for high score. Miss White's gift was a lovely Sunday night plate.

Miss Ada Jones assisted Mrs. Sugg and Mrs. Harrell in serving a delectable salad course to those playing and to Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. J. E. James, Mrs. W. E. Hooker and Mrs. H. C. Sugg who joined the other guests for the tea hour.

Mrs. Alex Allen of Farmville was an out of town guest.

Inter Se. Club Organizes

On Thursday afternoon, March eleventh, a group of young women gathered at the home of Mrs. W. E. Hooker for the organization of a book club. Twelve charter members attended this meeting. Mrs. William Taft was elected president and Mrs. Wyatt Brown vice-president. Mrs. R. L. Coloman was made secretary-treasurer. Mrs. W. E. Hooker and Mrs. J. H. Blount were elected advisers for the club.

Plans for the completion of the organization were discussed and carried over to a call meeting which was held yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Vance Perkins.

Each member presented a name for the club. A name made up of two Latin words, "Inter Se," suggested by Mrs. Sam Northrop, was selected.

The following committees were appointed:

Book committee — Chairman, Miss Alice Lee Hooker, Mrs. Joe Taft, Mrs. R. L. Coleman.

Constitution committee — Chairman, Mrs. M. K. Blount, Mrs. A. B. Stallworth, Mrs. Sam Northrop.

Program committee — Chairman, Mrs. Wyatt Brown, Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, Mrs. B. H. Stancill, Librarian — Mrs. J. S. Harvey.

After the transaction of several other items of business, the meeting adjourned.

The club will hold the first regular meeting at the home of Mrs. M. K. Blount on March 31st.

Annual Poppy Day

Indianapolis, Ind., March 18.—The greatest Poppy Day in American Legion history, to correspond with the greatest membership, is being planned for 1937.

To this end more than 12,000,000 of the red memorial flowers will be offered for sale by the thousands of volunteer workers from the American Legion Auxiliary on Saturday, May 29, when most of the departments will observe Poppy Day.

In some departments and localities, due to local conditions, Poppy Day will be observed on Saturday, May 22.

Already poppies by the millions are blooming in veterans' hospitals and convalescent workrooms in every part of the country as disabled veterans of the World War are busily at work making the flowers with which America will honor its dead again this year by helping its disabled. The work is being done in 65 hospitals and work-rooms in 49 states. The flowers are shaped from crepe paper and wire in replica of the poppies that grew in such brilliant profusion on the battlefields of the World War.

The manufacture of the memorial poppies gives employment each year to hundreds of disabled veterans who are drawing little or no government compensation and who are unable to do other work. Men with families to support are given preference in this work. They get a penny for each flower. Last year they earned more than $100,000 in this manner. The program is directed by the state organizations of the Auxiliary and coordinated through the national organization.

The proceeds obtained from the street sales of these poppies are used to pay these disabled veterans and to finance the various child welfare and veteran rehabilitation activities of the Legion and its Auxiliary. Throughout the country on Poppy Day the volunteer workers of the Auxiliary sell these poppies on street corners. The poppies are worn in coat lapels as a remembrance of the sacrifices of the nation's heroic dead and as an aid to the living victims of the great war.

While hundreds of disabled veterans are turning out these memorial poppies by the thousands every day, school children throughout the United States are drawing posters to depict the spirit and purpose of Poppy Day. The posters will compete in the annual poppy poster contest of the Auxiliary, held for all pupils of the fourth to twelfth grades. Local contests will close on May 10 and the posters will be displayed prior to Poppy Day. Local winners will then compete in state contests to be held during the department conventions of the Auxiliary this summer. The state winners will enter the national contest held during the national convention in New York City in September.

Awards are being offered in three groups: first, for 4th, 5th and 6th grades; second for 7th, 8th and 9th grades; and third, for 10th, 11th and 12th grades.

Senate McCarran of Nevada proposes in a bill to extend the law to all livestock.

It grows out of a cattle rustling racket of real proportions out west, helped by development of fast trucks. Long ago the new cattle rustling took hold in a petty way. Country jakes heading Fourth of July money would drive a truck out on the range, knock off and haul the calves to market, probably to be kept them at cut rates for resale at little risk.

But big time operators soon stepped in, pool for stolen stock was formed. Water regular, although clandestine, auctions were held. The cattle, butchered or sold, was taken off to large market centers either within the state or outside. Several western states passed laws for brand inspection and tag inspection without creating the racket.

Nevada, where cattle mean money, found its stock snatched in California or other nearby states in spite of diligent local efforts. The state farm bureau asked McCarran to put through a Federal cattle-snatching act without any clear idea of what help it would be except to make Federal officials share responsibility.

estimate that 200,000 bottles a year are lost to Canada, mostly via Detroit.

Once the bottles cost only a nickel to manufacture in this country it does not pay milk dealers to gather them up, even from the Canadian customs house where smuggling tactics give them up. American bottle makers do not want the tariff protection removed. It is all right with them if the bottles remain in Canada so the milk dealers will buy new ones. Dondoro says Detroit dairymen es-

YOUR CHILD

Every parent wants his child to have the advantages of a college education, but how many of them are doing anything about it?

While the children are young is the time to prepare for the financial demands of an education. For safety and convenience, an excellent plan is to save with the Home Building and Loan Association. To join is very simple. You set aside a certain amount each week or month. The amount does not have to be a large one, but saved regularly, it soon mounts into a sizeable total. Every week you delay is a week wasted. Visit our offices today. We will be happy to discuss the plan with you.

FLAYS ACTION OF DEMOCRATS

Majority Party Continues Pursue Short-sighted Policy

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Mar. 19.—Treatment of Republican members of the current General Assembly by the huge Democratic majority indicates that the Democrats have not learned the lesson of history that political, as well as religious, organizations thrive on persecution, and that nothing short of annihilation has ever been successful as a repression measure.

In this session, as in those of previous years, the majority party has proceeded upon the theory that if no Republican is ever allowed to get anything done for his people at home his county will eventually learn the folly of sending G. O. P. nominees to Raleigh. Their hope is that this sort of thing will result in the election of Democrats from these Republican strongholds.

The theory is full of holes as a Spanish Loyalist after a date with a rebel firing squad, but the Democrats still don't seem to think so, and have continued to defeat ruthlessly and often without rhyme or reason practically every proposition, even when it has been purely local, but forward by any one of the light sprinkling of Republicans in the House or Senate.

Only the most brilliant speech of the entire session, delivered by the one and only "Pete" Murphy, of Rowan, saved the Democrats from committed the sublime blunder of taking away all pretense of local self-government in Madison county in which the majority party has already nullified the popular vote to such an extent that the elected county commissioners have little more than nominal authority. It was proposed to stack that body so that Democrats would be in command.

Young J. M. Baley, Jr., the Madison representative, has been the target of almost a score of venomous and unwarranted attacks by western Democrats in the legislature because he very shrewdly put the House members somewhere in the vicinity of the well-known "spot" by introducing a resolution endorsing the stand of Senator Josiah W. Bailey against the President's court proposal.

On the floor of the House, Representative Bob Patton, of Macon, charged that one of the Madison county commissioners is a "murderer," making so bitter and vindictive a speech that even Democratic members were severe in their criticism of his outburst.

Only recently the House overwhelmed a bill by Representative T. M. Jenkins, G. O. P. member from Graham, abolishing the absentee ballot in his county, although a large number of Democratic counties have been so exempted without any appreciable opposition.

These are just a few examples taken at random from records and recollections of the current session. They are highly illustrative of the policy pursued by the majority members.

It should be said that not all Democratic members have approved this policy numbers of them having openly charged their colleagues with following an unwarranted and unjust course in their dealings with the Republican.

SEES INCREASE IN SPUD CROP

Expected Acreage in Potatoes Far Above That of 1936

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Mar. 19.—Acreage planted to Irish potatoes will probably be increased 30 per cent this year, Randall B. Etheridge, chief of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture division of Markets, announced today. A total of 82,000 acres was planted to Irish Potatoes last year while the price averaged $1.65 per bushel in the state.

"In view of the relatively high prices received by growers for potatoes last season, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics has estimated a sharp increase in the crop," Mr. Etheridge said. "An increased acreage with average yields would naturally result in a larger production and a lower price."

"However, it is generally understood that the buying power has been greatly increased and the consuming public will tend to increase the demand for some of the surplus that will be created by the increased planting. But with many factors such as weather conditions and disease affecting the produc-

Cherokee, bluntly informed the House he was tired of letting a "few disgruntled Democrats" run the affairs of counties which have shown by their popular vote that they are overwhelmingly Republican.

There are more than a few observers who fear that the arrogant methods of the majority will in time be followed by a reaction which will put more counties in the Republican column. These observers believe that a conciliatory policy would win more recruits to Democracy than the present harsh one.

VOTE CHANGES IN SCHOOL ACT

Senate Would Allow Local Units Name Own Teachers

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Mar. 19.—The district committee and the principals of the various schools will have the chief say-so in the nominating and electing of teachers, if the house approves the amendment added to the school machinery bill by the senate Thursday, after recalling the bill from the house to amend the section dealing with the election of teachers. The house is expected to concur in this amendment.

As passed by the house, the school machinery bill provided that the county superintendents should nominate and the district committees elect the teachers for each school, subject to the approval of the county boards of education, with the county boards having full author-ty to make a selection in case of any disagreement between the superintendents and the local committees.

Strong opposition to this plan was expressed when the bill was in the senate, with the result that it was recalled and amended so that the local committees will select the principals, then the principals will nominate and the local committees elect the teachers, subject to the approval of the county or city superintendent and the county or city board of education. If the principal and school committee for any school are unable to agree, the question of selecting the teachers shall be appealed direct to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in Raleigh, who will then name and certify the teacher or teachers to be employed.

The first part of the new section is virtually as the law now stands, but the provision for the appeal, to be taken to the State Superintendent in cases of disagreement between principals and local committees, is new. In the past, any differences have been settled by the county superintendent and the county board

EVE'S ORCHARD By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Annemfield goes back to her 200-year-old home and orchard in Connecticut after five working years in New York. She plans to rent, marry, and then return to Manhattan apartment life. But the tendency to stay in her beloved old home grows.

Chapter 20 No Free Boarders JUDGE gave a yell, hastily muffled. Of small-boy laughter, Ellen, trimly wrapped in Eve's calico apron, her sleeves turned back, pulled Eve down into the empty chair, "Sh-h-h!" she said.

"Now, son," said Uncle Henry. Judge squealed and said: "Oh, I forgot! But now she knows, can't I tell? Can't I tell?" Uncle Henry looked at Judge with mild reproach.

"Well, daughter, there isn't much to tell, except that I wasn't sure whether Bill Keeler would have got around to havin' old Belle butchered. I havin' no place to keep her when at Emily's. But you have a tight cowshed, and there's plenty pastureage. So Oliver and I just walked down and found out Belle was still in the land of the living, and led her home, I tell you," said Uncle Henry gently.

"I guess you're right," he said. "I just didn't think. But . . . you tell, then." "Yes, confess all, Uncle Henry! Did you bring the cow over in your suitcase?" Judge giggled again, and started to speak and put a hand over his mouth desperately.

"Well, daughter, there isn't much to tell, except that I wasn't sure whether Bill Keeler would have got around to havin' old Belle butchered. I havin' no place to keep her when at Emily's. But you have a tight cowshed, and there's plenty pastureage. So Oliver and I just walked down and found out Belle was still in the land of the living, and led her home, I tell you," said Uncle Henry gently.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

Hollywood — Barbara Stanwyck was doing a scene with Robert Taylor. She looked very slim and fetching in a black sequined party gown of the 'nineties, all frilly and fluttery.

Well, it seemed Margaret had notions that this character wasn't her type, and for four days she wouldn't go near the projection room to see her horribly miscast self. On the fourth day she went—and after that Setter had trouble keeping her out. She now felt that she wasn't doing the character broadly enough! As it turned out, it was one of Sullivan's best pictures — and Setter had good words for the way she buckled down to work nursing the flu victims during that two weeks on snowy location at Truckee.

That Hollywood restaurant line, "Meet and eat with the stars," wouldn't work there. On Jane Withers' picture, "Angel's Holiday," is a veteran vaudevillian, Al Lydell, who works under one of the oddest contracts on record. The contract calls for the services of Mill Wood, at an equal salary, although Wood does nothing in the picture.

Lydell and Wood have been a vaudeville team these many years, singing and dancing over the circuits. Now in their fifties, the boys are in Hollywood and available for the "high" income taxes, and the kidnapers, and other inconveniences over here.

BALL PLAYERS GIVEN CHANCE

Trial Camp to Be Operated at Durham During April

Durham, March 19.—A trial camp for aspiring ball players between the ages of 17 and 22 will be held by the Durham Baseball club at Durham Athletic park starting the week of Monday, April 5.

Any player whose age qualifies him for entrance will be eligible to enter the camp and the most promising of the aspirants will receive professional contracts from one of the clubs affiliated with the Durham organization.

Several managers of the Cincinnati minor league system will be on the scene to pass on the merits of the players, and in addition, Scout Bobby Wallace of the Cincinnati Reds will be there to aid the minor league men in their selections. Wallace, one of the greatest shortstops ever to play, is regarded as one of the best judges of ball players in the country.

The camp will be in direct charge of Paul Florence, new president of the Durham club. However, it is expected that he will be aided in his operation by Frank Lane, now assistant to the general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, and last year head of the Durham club.

Some of the finest prospects now playing ball have come out of similar camps. Many of the players now in the majors have received their chance through the same channels. Durham fans will remember Frank McCracken, last year's batting champion of the Piedmont league. Frank broke into baseball in 1934 when he appeared at a trial camp at Beckley, W. Va., and made a favorable impression.

All aspirants should bring their own uniforms, gloves, shoes, etc. Any player who shows enough to be offered a contract, and who signs, will be refunded the expenses incurred by his camp attendance. All other aspirants must pay their own expenses.

"Does it look as though there were anything wrong with it?" he asked. "It's actually bigger than my right wrist. That's because of the exercise I've been giving it."

"Try squeezing this rubber ball for a few minutes and you'll see how tired your hand gets. Feet that pull on the tendons in your wrist? That gives you some idea of what exercise can do for you if practiced religiously."

Greenberg learned ball-squeezing from Gene Tunney. The retired heavyweight champion used it to develop his wrists. So did many another boxer. Tommy Gibbons was the first fighter we ever saw squeezing a rubber ball. Tommy swore by the exercise, insisting it the secret of the snap that made his punches so effective.

What Happened
But to get back to Greenberg. The tall Detroit first-sacker, who was out most of last season with his wrist fractured, was itching to get back into harness. He insisted the injury was fully healed. On the few occasions this winter when he had swung a bat the wrist had felt perfectly supple and strong.

Hank laughed at the suggestion the injury to his wrist might be traced to his failure to get the full benefit of training sessions, because he had held out for more money.

"There's nothing to that," Hank insisted. "The injury was an accident, pure and simple. It could have happened anytime, to anybody."

"Here's how it came about. There was a late throw that faded over to the baseline. My arm was taut at the elbow. My gloved palm was turned upward. Jake Powell ran into my arm and there was no give to it. The bone snapped in my wrist. Condition had nothing to do with that."

Greenberg Picks Tigers.

Hank entered training full of hope. "The '37 American league race? Don't think the New York Yankees will make a runaway of the race this year," he commented. "As a matter of fact, I'm not even picking them to repeat. The Tigers are going to have something to say about that."

"Batting? Last year Detroit tried to get along without its No. 3 and No. 4 hitters—Mickey Cokcrane and myself. Naturally, they could not match the Yankees who came up with Joe DiMaggio.

"Pitching? What Yankee can be compared to Bridges and Rowe? Ruffing, yes, but who beside Ruffing. Lefty Gomez was lucky to win as many games as he did last year. His luck held out during the World Series, too. But I can't see how Lefty is going to be much of a threat this season. The Tigers will be the team to beat."

The Sportsman

By Larry Bauer

Impossible stories have been woven around the eagle, the mountain lion and the wolf. Just why these three should bear the brunt of nature faking is hard to understand. Probably those who started the original tales were pioneers with queer senses of humor, or persons without knowledge of the creatures.

Of the three, only the eagle has natural courage. Any predatory animal hunter will tell you the lion (also known as cougar, panther, etc.) seldom attacks man, except when cornered. The wolf is cowardly, and a skulker. A modern naturalist once remarked that the only wolves to fear were those wearing tailored raiment instead of fur.

The old moth-eaten yarn about the eagle attacking children has been batted around until it has become threadbare. There is no reliable evidence the bird ever attacked a human being except in the case of a person poking about the nest. Even a small song bird will fight to protect its home.

During the past 20 years our assignments included investigation of two versions of the tale. Both were without foundation. One family was surprised the story had spread. The family's home being in a sparsely-settled area, chickens ranged far from the house. An eagle picked up a fowl near where a small child was playing. The father later recounted the incident to a neighbor. When the story reached the outside it had been greatly magnified. Such is the origin of many a widespread rumor.

You see, it is difficult to believe the "wolves et grandpa" out on the frontier. Or was it a panther for which he provided the piece of resistance?

At present the lonely coyote seems a greater menace to game animals than does the wolf. Coyote depredations near the Arctic circle have been reported in recent years. Paid trackers in the West are keeping the lion in check. One of these, J. S. Hunter, once said: "I would hate to see the animal extinct. It is too interesting."

All but ten states have laws protecting the eagle, yet it is shamelessly killed. Let a single eagle be reported and every gunner in the section is on the alert. The eagle is rare. Thousands of Americans have seen the bird only through the bars of a cage. There is something sad about a broken-spirited specimen surrounded by pop-eyed spectators.

The eagle deserves a better fate.

Only Small Group Kills Bond Issue To Improve Roads

House Calendar Committee Buries Proposal to Sell $5,000,000 Worth of Highway Bonds

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 19.—A small group, not exceeding five and possibly as small as three, on the House Calendar committee killed any prospect for a $5,000,000 bond issue to improve and maintain the state's secondary roads.

This small group reported unfavorably the Halstead bill, passed by the Senate, to authorize such an issue. A House vote of 55 to 42 was not sufficient to override the committee report, as a two-thirds majority was required.

After the result there was more than a little private discussion among members over the advisability of revising House rules so that only a majority vote is needed to secure consideration of a bill unfavorably reported by the Calendar (or any five-member) committee. The present rule is based upon the principle that a big margin ought to be required in the case of bills which have not secured even a minority report from committee. It is pointed out, however, that it requires the signature of three committee members to get a minority report. And three is a majority of the Calendar committee, from which, consequently, there can be no minority report.

While it is generally conceded that some of the 55 who voted to put the Halstead bill on the calendar may have done so only because they knew they would lose while at the same time giving themselves an "out" with constituents who favor a bond issue, it is also the conce-

ss that a real majority of the House was and is for the bill.

The motion to place the bill on the calendar was made by the Road Committee, Chairman Con C. Johnston, of Irredell, whose groups would normally have considered the measure had it been passed earlier by the Senate.

JUNIOR GIRLS WIN FAST ONE

Defeat Fast-Stepping Freshmen by Close Margin

The high school juniors defeated the freshmen in the fastest game of the season Thursday night by the score of 25 to 23. The freshmen led at the half with an apparent safe margin.

In the second half the juniors came back with a rally that tied the score at 23 all with 2 minutes to play. During the closing minute of the game Frances Clark, for the juniors, broke the tie with a field goal.

The game was the hardest fought and peppest of the year. The action never slowed up, from the first throw-in to the last whistle. The auditorium was divided into two sections, one for the freshmen rooters and the other for the junior rooters, each containing a banner with the name of the team in its team's colors. Both teams had special cheer leaders and between halves the leaders led the rooters in snake dances.

Frances Clark led the juniors to their victory with 13 points. Myra Blount and Marjorie Sug scored 6 points each. Nancy Roberts, Dorothy Merritt and Lula Mae Whitehurst were the junior guards and played an excellent game.

Betty Tyson scored high for the freshmen team with 12 points. Joy Planagan was runner-up with 7 points followed by Jane Scoville with 4. Doris Roberts, Elizabeth Wells and Jane Harrison, freshmen guards, played as fine a game as has been seen on the local court this year.

The juniors will play the Grimesland girls in the first game of a doubleheader here Tuesday night. The freshmen will play Grimesland's runner-ups in the second game.

Colored Scout Troop Organized For City

The initial meeting for the organization of a new colored Boy Scout Troop, in Greenville, was held Wednesday evening at the Sycamore Hill Baptist church. Several members of the colored board of review were in attendance and the meeting was presided over by Rev. J. A. Nimmo, minister of that church.

At this meeting a nucleus of the Scout Troop membership were in attendance and C. C. McGibone was selected as Scoutmaster and W. D. Miller was chosen as Assistant Scoutmaster. The Troop committee is to be Rev. J. A. Nimmo, chairman, Rev. J. L. King and R. A. Payton as Troop committeemen. The Board of Review for the colored Scout with J. B. Taft as chairman and Dr. J. A. Battle, vice

While it is generally conceded that some of the 55 who voted to put the Halstead bill on the calendar may have done so only because they knew they would lose while at the same time giving themselves an "out" with constituents who favor a bond issue, it is also the conce-

LITTLE EFFECT BY ROLL CALL

Record Vote Secured on Election Law Reform Bill

Raleigh, Mar. 19.—Advocates of election law reforms mustered a majority upon a roll call vote in the House Thursday, but the majority not being two-thirds nothing tangible was accomplished except to get a black and white record which cannot be wiped out or explained away.

Necessity for a two to one margin came from unfavorable report by the elections law committee upon the bill embodying practically all the recommendations of the Democratic state executive committee. Representative Jennings King, of Scotland, moved that it be taken from the unfavorable calendar and placed upon the favorable calendar. Inasmuch as there was no minority report from committee, two-thirds were needed under House rules.

Representative Bob Patton, of Macon, moved to table the King motion and it was upon the tabling motion that the first roll call vote was had. Mr. Patton lost, 53 to 45, and so the motion of Mr. King, upon which the "Ayes and Noes" were demanded, was put. Vote on this motion was announced as 49 to 49, with Speaker Gregg Cherry later recording his vote as "No" although there was in fact no tie when the two-thirds provision was taken into consideration.

Argument on the matter followed expected lines with a majority of eastern representatives wanting a chance to consider election law reforms, while a tremendous majority of the western Democrats favored the status quo. Some easterners, such as Blount of Beaufort, Hobbs of New Hanover, Rouse of Lenoir and Rasberry of Green, joined with the mountaineers while a sprinkling of western or Piedmonters like Caffey and Pickens of Guilford voted with the east. Strangely enough one Republican—McDuffie of Wilkes, voted for the Patton tabling motion and against King's motion to put the bill on the calendar. The other G. O. P. members followed the course to be expected from members of their party. Representative Harry Cooper, of Cherokee, voted for the Patton motion frankly on the grounds that it might "mess up" his local bill to abolish absentee voting in Cherokee.

PREPARE OPEN GULF STATION

Favors to Be Given Ladies at Formal Opening Saturday

The opening of the new Gulf Super Service Station located on the corner of Dickinson Avenue and Washington Street is announced today by Gulf Oil Corporation. It is one of the most expensive business locations in the city, and no expense has been spared by Gulf in the erection of a building that would be in keeping with the purchase price of the location. The latest and most modern type of equipment has been installed, and it is a mark of confidence the Gulf Oil Corporation has in the future growth and expansion of Greenville.

The station will be under the personal supervision and management of Tommy H. Knox, Jr. who has been associated with the Proctor Hotel for the past 8 years and has made many friends here. He will be assisted by Berry Dail, popular young man of Greenville, who will be glad to welcome his friends in his new connection.

In celebration of the formal opening tomorrow there will be favors for all the ladies who visit the station.

HELPS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Try covering potato chips with thin coats of minced ham and pickle relish, sardine paste, lobster (chopped and mixed with celery and mayonnaise), broiled bacon (chopped and mixed with onion juice and chili sauce). Each combination makes a delicious canape.

Approximately two cups of stuffing are required for a four-pound shoulder of ham, veal or pork.

Adjust the washing machine to your height for added comfort. Although many machines come with adjustable legs, other do not. If your machine does not have adjustable legs, place small pieces of wood under them to raise the tub to a working level that is comfortable for you.

Paprika gives a pungent flavor and also a dash of color to many foods.

Honey mixed with grapefruit and seeded white cherries makes a refreshing appetizer.

JUSTICE REYNOLDS FIRES BACK

The first retort from any member of the Supreme Court since President Roosevelt opened his criticism of the tribunal came from Justice James C. Reynolds during a speech he made at a banquet of his college fraternity in Washington. Said he: "The evidence of good sportsmanship is that a man, who has had a chance to present a fair case to a fair tribunal, must be a good sport and accept the outcome." 'OUTS' ATTACK FISCAL RECORD

Anti-Administration Forces Describe Action as 'Dismal'

Raleigh, Mar. 19.—The fiscal record established by the current General Assembly is "dismal," in the opinion of the anti-administration forces of the legislature.

A general summary of the alleged faults and failings was given Thursday by Willie Lee Lumpkin, recognized spokesman of the "outs," during discussion of the Halstead bill proposing to issue $5,000,000 in bonds for improvements of secondary roads.

Four "cardinal sins" were laid against the Assembly record by the Franklin county representative who fought side by side with Ralph W. McDonald in the famed sales tax battles of the 1935 session and who has this session inveighed both in season and out of season against the iniquities of the administration and all its works. They were:

- (1) Continuation of the sales tax, despite the fact that it was originally enacted as an "emergency" measure and despite the fact that the state has been enjoying a period of prosperity for at least two years.
 - (2) Imposition of an ad valorem tax for statewide purposes, despite the fact that opposition to such a tax has been for years one of the fundamental policies advocated by the Democratic party.
 - (3) Diversion of approximately $4,250,000 from highway funds to the general fund in order to balance the state's budget for the coming biennium.
 - (4) Issuance of bonds for road purposes, something made necessary by the diversion of road money to other agencies; this despite the prosperity already mentioned.
- Defeat of the effort to revive the Halstead bill made the last charge purely academic, as there is no possibility of issuing bonds for road purposes.
- Mr. Lumpkin said he would vote for the bond issue, although he would be forced to "hold my nose" while doing so.

BAILEY STATES HIS INNOCENCE

Declares He Had No Objection to Second Victory Dinner

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, Mar. 19.—Senator Josiah W. Bailey maintains that he had "nothing" whatsoever to do with the plans for the second Victory Dinner held in Raleigh last week, that he had "no objection to the dinner" and infers that he thinks those who have been holding him responsible for inviting Senator Millard F. Tydings as the speaker for the first so-called Victory Dinner and for whom Senator Tydings said, are doing him a great injustice, in a letter received by this bureau from Senator Bailey.

The opening paragraph of Senator Bailey's letter says:
"I am inclosing a clipping in which you have misrepresented me and I desire you to make a correction."

The letter closes with a postscript which says:
"I have misplaced the clipping."

In connection with the second Victory Dinner held here last week, at which Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes took as his subject "Glad Tidings—and who was not invited by Senator Bailey—in order to correct the record and erase the effects of the previous Victory Dinner at which Senator Tydings made an anti-Roosevelt and anti-New Deal speech, Senator Bailey said:

"I did not go to Raleigh with the view of having anything to do with the proposed second victory dinner. I had not been home since January 3rd, and I went at the time I did mainly because my little daughter was sick. However, I wished to go. While there, I had nothing whatever to do with plans for the second dinner. Certainly I had no objection to the dinner. I think Democrats might celebrate victory in as many ways and as often as possible. The more we celebrate, the happier we are and perhaps the more money we raise. Why should I object?"

Evidently referring to a story or stories which said that Senator Bailey was the person who invited Senator Tydings to be the speaker at the first Victory Dinner, Senator Bailey said:

"In this connection, let me say that I am very often called upon to invite speakers to North Carolina on occasions. Of course, I invite these speakers without expecting to be held responsible either for what they say or for what they do not say. I should think this would be self evident. I invited Mr. Farley to Chapel Hill. I invited Mrs. Roosevelt to Goldsboro and to Wallace. I invited the President to Edenton. I have invited Secretary Roper, Senator Logan, Senator Connally and Madam Secretary Perkins to North Carolina. I received last week a letter from Secretary Wallace saying he was going to deliver the Well Lecture at our University. I invited him.

"I raised no question about a man's views when I invite him to make a speech and it never occurred to me that anyone would hold me responsible for any speaker's views. Least of all did I suspect that I would be held responsible for what a speaker did not say. It would be bad enough to hold a man responsible for what a speaker said. So I shall go on inviting people to occasions to North Carolina whenever I am asked to do so. I believe in a little while everybody will realize that when I do this I am not to be held responsible, either for what they say or for what they do not say. If I am to be held responsible, then I would be under the necessity of reading all their manuscripts and very often they do not even prepare their manuscripts in time. And what would they say if I undertook to determine their speeches?"

"I have a very high regard for Senator Tydings. He made a great record as a soldier in the world war. He is a life long Democrat. He canvassed for President Roosevelt last fall. His standing as a Democrat has never been questioned. He is one of the leaders of the Democratic party in Maryland. His standing as a Democrat in the United States Senate is unquestioned.

"I will be very glad if you will print this statement.
"P. S. I have misplaced the clipping."

State Showing Short On Social Security

The way in which the unemployment insurance plan works is clearly explained in a Pathe short subject showing at the State theater today and tomorrow.

Entitled "Today's Frontiers," the talking picture reviews the early days and struggles of this nation. Beginning with the landing of the Pilgrims, it traces the expansion from New Amsterdam and the Coastal Plain to the West.

Leading up to the unemployment situation before and during the depression, it shows the need of insurance to protect laborers thrown out of work on account of so fault of their own, and points to the establishment of Social Security on August 14, 1935.

The picture then takes three examples. Workers by the names of Brown, Smith and Jones lost their jobs when their employers saw that their services were no longer necessary to operate business.

The three immediately went to the State unemployment office and received courteous attention and one was immediately placed in another position. Another received a letter within three weeks advising him to report for work at a certain place, but no work was found for the third and after three weeks he began receiving unemployment insurance returns. The worker is allowed one-half of his average pay, not to exceed $15 weekly. It was pointed out that each state has its own regulations and an unemployed worker may be paid more in one state than another.

The picture concludes that, with this form of security in effect, a worker does not have to fear his wife and children will go hungry if the industrial situation becomes such that he can not secure a position. The employer and employee pay for this insurance cooperatively.

Plants
If you have not already started your plant bed you can now sow an outdoor bed for tomato, pepper, and sweet potato plants. For tomatoes, Marglobe, Pritchard and Bonny Best are all good varieties. California Wonder, World Beater and Ruby King are good varieties of peppers. If the hot varieties are preferred, plant some Long Red Cayenne or Red Chili. The Porto Rico sweet potato is the most satisfactory.

Cantaloupes
Plant cantaloupes just as soon as danger of frost has passed. If planted late the melons are apt to be seriously damaged by the pickle worm. Among the best varieties are: Hale's Best, Honey Rock, Hearts of Gold, and Superfecto.

Beans
Snap Beans can be safely planted in most sections the first of this month. Bountiful, Stringless Greenpod, and Tendergreen are good varieties. Of the Lima beans, the Carolina Lieva or small-seeded pole butter bean is among the best for our conditions. Make planting about every two weeks in order to have a steady source of nice tender beans.

Okra
Plant Perkins Mammoth or White Velvet varieties about the same time you plant cotton. Other crops that can be planted at this time are: field peas, squash, sweet-corn, egg plant and water-melons.

SCRAP TOBACCO BILL ONLY EFFECTIVE WEED MEASURE
(Continued from page one) elements such as sulphur and calcium contained in the fertilizer. While no mention of tobacco is made in the fertilizer bill, Mr. Eagles said that it will be of considerable benefit to the tobacco farmer. The measure was sponsored and pushed largely by Assemblymen interested in the weed industry.

History of Compact legislation is so well known as to need little review. Early days of the General Assembly's current session were enlivened by prolonged and at times somewhat acrimonious discussion of the problem. Eventually, however, the farmers, warehousemen, farm experts and legislators of North Carolina came to substantial agreement upon a Compact bill which passed both Houses almost unanimously. It provided for a workable, efficient method of tobacco acreage control and everyone except a few irreconcilables conceded that it took care of the "Little Man" (a chap who developed an enormous group of defenders).

Its operation, however, was contingent upon cooperation by Virginia, South Carolina and Georgia, and when the last two named failed to enact substantially similar legislation the entire Compact plan collapsed like a pin-pricked toy balloon. The Fenner warehouse bill drew fire from every section except the immediate neighborhood of Rocky Mount, and was snowed under by legislators who saw in it an attempt to get a strange hold.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, Mar. 19.—(AP)—A speedy rally in carrier stocks after a hesitant start encouraged general recovery in today's market.

Gains of fraction to a point or more were widely distributed near the fourth hour. For a brief period the ticker tape was in arrears. Activity closed later and extreme advances were shaded.

Bonds and commodities displayed uneven trends with wheat and cotton futures.

VEILS UNVEIL NEW CHIC IN SPRING'S HAT STYLES

A tall pheasant feather sets an exclamation point of chic on this black straw Paris toque. The lip-length veil of crisp black horsehair reflects the vogue for veils. Design by Eneley Seours.

Jane Blanchot of Paris makes an Easter bonnet shaped like a shallow flower pot set upside down on the head. The rolling brim is yellow faille and the crown black panama trimmed with yellow roses. Its veil is sheer and frivolous.

Here's a new note in veils—a dotted diamond mesh drawn smoothly over the face and tied in a bow in the back. The dark blue straw toque has a crown massed with forget-me-nots and centered with two pink roses. (Design by Howard Hodge).

He Knows His Cities
San Jose, Calif. (AP)—When W. S. Parks, 64, returns from his travels he probably has a more accurate idea of where he has been than any other sojourner. He is a professional map-maker. For 20 years his job has been to move in to various cities and bring their maps up to date.

NUMBER BODIES FOUND IN SCHOOL EXPLOSION ESTIMATED UP TO 500

Plans had been made originally to dismiss the entire student body that early for a track and field meet. Later it was decided to release only the participants early. They were among the few survivors.

It's News: Man Bites Horse!

Riga, Latvia (AP)—A farmer near Pernau retaliated when bitten by his horse.

He was attempting to harness the animals when it turned and grabbed his hand in its teeth.

The farmer, like the man who bites a dog, made news by nipping a piece off the horse's nose.

'Misfortune' Pays Profit

Omak, Wash. — (AP)—When Crumbacher lake began to dry up, Phil L. Pfarr was down-hearted. Then, as the waters gradually revealed an unusual lime formation, he grew curious. Now he's delighted. The deposit proved to be marl, valuable as a fertilizer for over-acid soils, and Pfarr has leased the tract to a corporation at a good royalty.

Train Rail Tongue-Ties Boy

Utica, N. Y. (AP)—The frost on a railroad guard rail looked so tempting that 8-year old Jerome Steates sought to taste it. His tongue stuck fast.

It took several minutes for firemen, summoned by Jerome's frightened companions, to heat the rail enough for the boy to pull his tongue away.
