DETROIT AUTO PLANTS FENCED WITH THREATS

All Auto Workers In City May Answer Strike Call

150,000 WORKERS SAID TO BE IDLE

Police Ignore Threats and Rout Sit-Downers from Detroit Printing Company

Detroit, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Ignoring threats of a city-wide automotive strike if raids on striker-held plants continued, police today entered the plant of the Thomas P. Henry print company and evicted strikers who have occupied the place since March 11. The strikers surrendered peacefully.

Fifty policemen entered the printing plant at 9:35 a. m., apparently taking the approximately 30 strikers by surprise.

(By Associated Press) A threatened city-wide strike of automotive workers in Detroit today dominated the nation's far-flung strike front.

Fully 150,000 wage earners were estimated to be idle because of labor disputes, with two major divisions of labor vying for support of employee and recognition of employment.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. chief, ordered leaders of Detroit locals to be ready to call out 175,000 members in protest against forcible eviction of sit-down strikers.

Detroit's 2,200 motor plants employ 300,000 persons.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins was in New York, seeking to promote a conference between Walter Chrysler and John Lewis, head of the C. I. O., which the U. A. W. A. is an affiliate.

The main obstacle of the Chrysler stalemate was the officials' refusal to recognize the union as the sole bargaining agency for their 67,000 employees.

Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organizing committee, announced the C. I. O. would demand today the Bethlehem Steel corporation recognize it as the bargaining agent for all Bethlehem employees.

The C. I. O. polled 400 members in Providence, R. I., who voted in closing 1,405 retail stores in the city.

Leaders of the Chicago striking taxi cab drivers sought to bring the 18-day-old deadlock into conference.

REBEL TROOPS PUT TO FLIGHT

Insurgents Reported To Be Retreating At Rapid Pace

Madrid, Mar. 22.—(AP)—The government's Northeastern army reported today it had pressed the insurgent retreat into a rout, capturing town after town in a rapid advance on the insurgent stronghold, Sigüenza.

The main column of General Jose Miaja, commander-in-chief of the army, reportedly was approaching Almadrones, only 12 miles south of the base of operations at Sigüenza after a 28 mile advance from Guadalupe.

At no point, dispatches from the vanguard of commanders, outside of Almadrones reported, had the pursuing columns been able to contact the fleeing insurgents, routed in the fifth attempt to smash Madrid's defenses.

Launching the drive on Sigüenza, itself, government bombers dropped 28,000 pounds of explosives on insurgent concentrations and supply dumps.

The Nationalist, apparently determined to parade as scheduled, were said to have been assembling on two streets when a police patrol appeared. A Nationalist allegedly fired from the midst of the crowd, wounding a policeman, and general fighting started as police returned the fire.

Taxes For General Fund Estimated at $75,853,400

Raleigh, March 22.—(AP)—Taxpayers will pay an estimated $75,853,400 into the state's general fund during the next biennium.

Appropriations for 1937-39 total $79,005,612.

The anticipated revenue will be swelled by the $3,033,682 surplus expected in the treasury as of June 30, 1937. The net deficit for the biennium, as estimated by A. J. Maxwell, commissioner of revenue, and members of his department, would be $98,530, described as a "safe" condition.

The highway department will expend about $60,000,000 in state funds during the biennium, said Charles Ross, counsel for the State Highway and Public Works commission, and a federal allocation of at least $7,000,000 will be added to that amount. The agriculture department will spend approximately $615,000.

Including permanent improvements, erection of a state office building, special funds, support of the social security program and other items, the state will spend about $147,000,000 during the biennium, according to Frank Dunlap, assistant director of the budget.

Maxwell said he was unable to present any estimate of the state's expenditure during 1937-39.

The state levied three new taxes to meet increased needs of the general fund. Levies were imposed on wines, gifts, and intangibles, but under a stricter collection, the counties are expected to receive $1,000,000 annually—equivalent to that of the State—and approximately the same amount they collected for themselves in the past. The counties, incidentally, will divide the returns with cities thereon on a basis of the ad valorem tax levies.

AMELIA PLANS SECOND TRIAL

Commerce Department Investigating Crash of Saturday

Honolulu, Mar. 22.—(AP)—A commerce department investigation into the crash of Amelia Earhart's $80,000 "flying laboratory" was underway today as the aviatrix and her colleagues sailed to Los Angeles to plan another globe-circling attempt.

Inspector Amul Williams said he was studying the take-off crash, which halted Miss Earhart's projected trip and for a brief moment endangered the lives of the famed aviatrix and her navigators.

Findings will be sent to Washington, where any announcements will be made.

Miss Earhart had ended a speed-smashing 2,400-mile jump from Oakland, Calif. to Hawaii and was taking off at dawn Saturday when the under carriage of her plane gave way as the ship sped down the runway at 50 miles an hour.

OPPOSITION TO COURT REFORM PRESENTS SIDE

Letter from Chief Justice Read Before Committee

WHEELER OPENS ATTACK ON PLAN

Letter From Hughes Says More Justices Would Not Promote Efficiency of Court

Washington, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Chief Justice Hughes, in a letter presented to the Senate judiciary committee today by Senator Wheeler (D. Mont.) said an increase in the number of Supreme Court justices "would not promote the efficiency of the court."

The chief justice made it clear he was commenting on an increase from the standpoint of efficiency of policy which he said "I do not discuss."

Wheeler, opening testimony in opposition to the Roosevelt court bill, began by reading the Hughes letter which the chief justice said was approved by Justice Van Devanter and Brandeis.

The letter created a stir among the big crowd which assembled in the caucus room long before the hearing started to listen to the Montana Democrat open the opposition to the court bill.

Hughes was emphatic in his statement the proposed increase in the number of justices "would not promote the efficiency of the court."

"It is believed," he added, "that it would impair that efficiency so long as the court acts as a unit."

"There would be more judges to hear, more judges to confer, more judges to discuss, more judges to be convinced and to decide. The present number of justices is thought to be a large enough so far as the prompt, adequate and efficiency conduct of the works of the court is concerned."

"As I have said, I do not speak of any other consideration in view of the appropriate attitude of policy in relations to questions of policy."

Elsewhere about Capitol Hill various other committee hearings were in progress.

General Hugh Johnson, former NRA chief appeared before the house military committee to urge "as highly advisable" legislation to take the profits out of war and provide for wartime mobilization of industry.

Both senate and house were occupied with routine appropriations bills.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR ASSEMBLY QUIT TUESDAY

Enrolling Office Is Working With Additional Help

701 NEW LAWS PASSED SO FAR

Number Expected To Reach 1,000 By Time Last of Odds and Ends Cleared

Raleigh, Mar. 22.—(AP)—The legislative enrolling office worked with extra help today trying to complete its task to the legislature can adjourn sine die tomorrow.

The joint resolution adopted Saturday called for the simultaneous speaking of the house and Lt. Governor at 12 noon tomorrow, but at least some delay appeared likely.

"The outlook is bright for adjournment an hour or so after noon tomorrow," said Lt. Governor Horton. "We probably will have to stop the clock at noon."

"I think we will get through around noon or an hour or so later," commented Speaker Cherry of the house.

The enrolling office used extra help from other legislative divisions as it rushed into completed form the 449 bills passed last week.

Between 250 and 300 bills had been copied in the permanent record book and were being proof read this morning in an effort to get them ready for ratification this afternoon.

Veteran legislative attaches said signing of any such number of bills into law in one day would set a new record.

This morning there had been 701 new laws enacted by the 1937 session with the total to go to 1,000 by night if the measure in process of being completed get ratified.

The Health Officer stated that he is much pleased that the pre-school children are to have the advantage of an oral examination by the dentists and further stated that he regards this feature of the work one of the most important parts of the pre-school examination.

Not only will the pre-school child be given a careful physical and dental examination but they will also be vaccinated against smallpox and diphtheria. The smallpox vaccination, of course, is free. The diphtheria vaccination is ten cents for those able to pay but free to all others.

The Health Officer expressed the hope that all children from six months of age up to school age will be brought to the clinics for protection against diphtheria. The Health Department records show that there were 90 cases of diphtheria in the county last year, with four deaths.

Persons who undertake part time farming with a view to financial gain "are likely to be disappointed," says a bulletin of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

HOLD INQUIRY GETS $500 IN BOLD ROBBERY

Charged Gas in Radiators Piped Without Permission

Unmasked Bandit Holds Up Surry Loan & Trust Co.

New London, Texas, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Whether the titanic force which blasted 455 pupils and teachers to horrible death was gas piped without permission brewed a heated controversy today.

In this rich East Texas oil region, now dotted with hundreds of little freshly sodded graves, a military court of inquiry summoned board members of the ill-fated consolidated school, one of whom stormed feelingly, "we aet not stealing any gas."

On the records was the assertion of an oil company foreman the gas used in heating the school was piped without his knowledge from his employer's residue line and, he felt certain, without any proper authority.

In the background was the theory of explosion experts radiators without proper vents caused accumulated gas which let go last Thursday in the nation's worst school disaster.

Dispectacled Superintendent W. C. Shaw, who saw the institution blown to bits, killing his own son, was one of those called to testify.

Large Attendance Hear Army Leader At Union Service

One of the Largest Congregations to Attend Joint Meeting on Hand to Hear Edgar Hoe

One of the largest congregations yet to attend the union Sunday evening services was on hand last night to greet Lt. Commissioner Edgar Hoe of the Salvation Army and to hear a gripping and dramatic sermon from his lips, as he based his remarks upon a background of 25 years of service in the East, India and Ceylon. Having retired in 1927 from active organizational work with the Salvation Army, he is now devoting his time to an extensive tour of the United States and Canada, visiting posts.

Preaching on "The Supreme Vision," and using as his text, "the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ," Commissioner Hoe asserted that "a man thinks truly, feels fitly and acts rightly only as a result of seeing, of vision." He concluded with an appeal for his hearers to catch a vision of the Man of Calvary, bringing to Him one's problems, difficulties and sins, "for if we go to that Tree in penitence, on that Tree we shall find direction for our lives."

The service was presided over by the Rev. Wm. A. Ryan, Eighth St. Christian church, who introduced the guest speaker in terms of appreciation of the great work of the Salvation Army here in Greenville and throughout the world. The evening lesson was read and prayer offered by the Rev. Clarence Parrish, newly-elected minister of Immanuel Baptist church. Congregational singing was under the direction of H. A. McDougal. The choir gave as offertory selection, "Sweet Peace."

SLOT MACHINE CROWD STILL FIGHTING

The General Assembly is scheduled to adjourn sine die tomorrow and it is to be hoped that the end of the session will come without the anti-slot machine bill being resurrected or reconsidered. It was hard enough job to get the Flanagan bill enacted into law over the powerful slot machine lobby and since the bill was passed it has been a continual fight on the part of its supporters to keep it from again being brought to the floor of the House. When the opponents of the bill were unable to block its passage they made a desperate effort to keep it from being enrolled, and failing in this move they have been trying ever since to get the bill back to the floor of the House in order to try to kill it or so amend it as to keep it from being effective. Senator Flanagan has rendered the state a good service in this matter of providing for definitely ridding the state of the slot machines and it is to be hoped that the session will end without backtracking on the issue.

Legislative Chaff and Chatter

Raleigh, Mar. 22.—Closing days of the current Assembly session have brought about a great deal of fuss and confusion in both branches. There has been more than a little marching up the hill and backtracking down again, but on the whole the legislators have kept on an even keel and have dispatched a great deal of important business in a remarkably short time. It now remains to be seen whether or not any grave mistakes have been made in an effort to make unusual haste, and whether or not much of the last-minute legislation is "half-baked."

Unanimity with which the Senate passed a bill allowing appointment of another assistant Attorney General was rather surprising to many observers. Not even Appropriations Chairman James A. Bell, of Mecklenburg, opposed the measure.

Efforts are still being made to rescue the Alien bill in the House setting up a new and thoroughly revised method of tax lien foreclosures in the state. The bill got an unfavorable committee report, but was taken to the floor during one of the moments when the House was in one of its periods of taking everything off and putting it on somewhere else, Saturday the bill went back to the Calendar Committee after opponents showed plenty of disposition to dispute its passage.

Nearest approach to personal encounter on the floor of either branch of the Assembly came Friday when Tom Copper, New Hanover, and Libby Ward, Craven, became embroiled in a bitter exchange of personalities during Mr. Copper's attempt to revise Assembly utility measure. No bones were broken or blood shed by the would-be combatants.

Senator J. H. Hutchins, Republican from Madison, sat silently through the entire session until Friday night when he sought to revive a measure, killed by the Calendar committee, setting up a new sinking fund commission in his home county. In his brief address he expressed

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersheld, back in her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut after working five years in New York, plans to rent, marry, gay, slim Denny and return to Manhattan apartment life. Uncle Henry, an old family friend, moves in to help Eve run the place. Peter, the penniless artist, his wife, Marilyn, and their serious young son, Judge, come to board with Eve, promising to pay later with George Cleveland, Eve's calm, practical neighbor, wants her for his wife but she is in love with absent Denny.

Chapter 22 Singing at Breakfast EVE ran downstairs next morning, her heart absurdly light. It was that sort of a heart by nature for one thing; but also the sun shone through the windows newly washed by Adriano, she smiled coffee and Ellen was staying till the afternoon train. And, most exciting, most delightful of all, Denny was going to telephone her extravagantly from New York the minute he got a chance. She ran into the kitchen, bright-eyed, laughing and shivering and outbouncing her cardigan light over her undersweater against the draft, from the open kitchen door, where Judge stood doing conscientious deep breathing under Uncle Henry's eye.

"Mmmm," said Eve, "that smells good enough to eat." "That's enough, son," Uncle Henry said from where he was frying bacon. "Shut the door. Morning, Eve, you look cheerful!" "Mmm," said Eve, "that smells good enough to eat. I don't know why I feel so grand, but I do. Love setting houses and eating on the edge of the kitchen table!" She swung Judge round in a wild dance, her blue wool skirt and bright curls flying out. "Love not having to lend English authors around in a melancholy train! Love not having to worry about the people below telephoning up that you can't prance on the floor!" Oh, give me a home, Where the buffalo roam And the deer and the antelope play— Where seldom is heard A discouraging word— Uncle Henry joined in with an accurate bass, having been reared on that song himself, and Judge added a delighted treble, after which they sat down to bacon and coffee, and flapjacks because the bread was all out. It appeared presently that Judge thought the song was about home and the range—in honor of having a whole stove to cook on instead of a small burner. Judge was hilarious over his own mistake; and thrilled over the prospect of private possession of a bantam hen and rooster, to be paid for by weeding the prospective truck garden. Eve teased them about their grand plans till they were all laughing foolishly; Ellen, in her smart black satin with a bunched-up apron over it, appeared smooth-haired and smiling, and presently contributing a burlesque rendering of "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight" between her own moderate bites (for she never quite stopped dieting) of flapjack and maple syrup.

"For the Right Man" THEY were all exhausted with laughter by the time breakfast was over. Uncle Henry said, "Well, I do know I've laughed so much; good to have fool young folks round."

some of the bitterness Republicans feel over the manner in which Madison county has been treated by the legislature. He hinted no words in saying that the treatment has been "unfair" and asked that the bill, which he said named two Democrats and a Republican be brought to the floor. He referred to a "paid lobbyist" who, he said, has been in Raleigh throughout the session to work against Madison county bills. The best he could accomplish was a successful motion to take the bill from the unfavorable calendar and re-refer it to the calendar committee. Whereupon he called up the measure and move that it "do lie upon the table," evidently preferring sudden death for the bill to a lingering one in the committee.

The Senate Calendar committee, according to its chairman, at Taylor of Anson, is struggling hard with the six so-called "Ickes Bills" which are designed to enable cities and counties to carry on WPA projects. It seems some claim there are parts of these bills which then when you threw up your position and dashed out here to the wilds I supposed it was a break; but when he came here Saturday, I saw it couldn't be. Just how are things, Eve? You know I won't tell anybody anything. "I never occurred to either of us it would look like that," Eve said, startled. "Yes, I know you're safe—she poured it out to Ellen. Denny's last job, her own too-hasty resignation, and now the tangle about Mitzel and the all-co-romantic Mrs. Cleveland. She felt better when it was all told. She made it sound light and amusing. "So he may hear any minute that Mitzel has arranged a contact for him with George's father and it's worked; and then we let Uncle Henry caretake till the renters come, and get married and live happy ever after!" she ended. "Personally I'd be more inclined to ask George to handle it," Ellen commented. "No, I can't," was all Eve could say. How on earth could she ask a man who wanted to marry her to further her marriage with somebody else, even if Denny hadn't made her promise to let Mitzel handle it? "Anyway," Ellen summed up as she put away the last dish, "I'd want to be sure George's father really was as much under Mitzel's control as she says. We know Mitzel!" She was interrupted by the telephone, and ran excitedly. Only a Mrs. Stewart of Weston, who could not be convinced that Eve wouldn't make her four dozen cloverleaf rolls for a bride. If you lived in the Mannersheld house you automatically produced breadstuffs, that was her idea—and that of other women who were destined to bother Eve on the telephone for some time to come. She went back to finish her sentence to Ellen when it rang again. This time it really was Denny. [Copyright, 1937, Margaret WiddeMER]

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, Mar. 22.—With virtually every one of the hundreds of bills before them either passed or killed and with nothing to do except wait for the enrolling office to copy the bills so they can be ratified by Lieutenant Governor W. P. Horton and Speaker R. Gregg Curry, members of the house and senate convened here in perfunctory sessions this afternoon to get ready for the big "love feast" sessions to be held tonight at 8 o'clock. It has been customary for years for each house to hold a "joy session" and "love feast" the last night before final adjournment. At these sessions the members who have frequently fought each other tooth and nail during the session and stabbed each other with bills in the back, tell each other what high regard they have for each other and how much they love each other. The speaker turn the blowers on full speed and pull out all the stops and tears frequently flow freely in these mutual admiration sessions. The speakers are entirely sincere in their remarks, since it is a fact that the members who are thrown together ultimately for almost three months, form many fine and firm friendships among their colleagues. But these speeches are only a part of the proceedings. It is also customary for the members to present a handsome present to the Lieutenant Governor and Speaker, the principal clerk of each house and his assistants, while the legislative employees also present gifts to the presiding officers and the chief clerks. A more or less flowery speech always, accompanies each presentation. Adjectives are strewn about with the utmost abandon, every one relaxes and has a good time. Lobbies and galleries are always packed to capacity with on-lookers, since to outsiders the "love feast" sessions are among the most interesting and entertaining of the session.

Although a resolution was adopted Saturday setting adjournment for noon Tuesday, present indications are that it will be late Tuesday afternoon perhaps even Tuesday night before all the bills can be engrossed and ratified. Then the 1937 session of the general assembly will pass into history.

office in the State will have an increased responsibility and a new opportunity of service to the community. Blue Mold Feared By Pitt Tobacco Growers R. R. Bennett, county farm agent, said today Pitt county farmers are becoming alarmed over the blue mold situation in this section, but added the condition of the weather from now on would govern the effects on the plant beds. Reports from Georgia, South Carolina and the border belt of North Carolina express fear that the disease is causing widespread damage. It also is feared by many that blue mold may wipe out half the tobacco plants now growing in North Carolina. The farm agent pointed out the best way to fight the disease is to stimulate the plants to rapid, thrifty growth so they will have greater resistance. Small, weak plants seldom survive blue mold attacks. Farmers also are being urged to keep a close watch on their plant beds for small black flies under the canvass. These flies indicate the presence of larvae that root up and kill young plants.

Employment Service Has Many Vacancies

The State Employment Service which has filled more than 400,000 positions in public and private industry in North Carolina during the three years of its existence, is now offering more positions within its own organization. Not only will there be jobs available with the Employment Service but opportunities for professional careers in Employment Service work. On April 16 and 17, the State Employment Service will become the first State agency in North Carolina to adopt the Civil Service principle. According to the terms of its affiliation agreement with the United States Employment Service, Merit Examinations will be held for members of the present personnel of the State Employment Service, as well as to persons interested outside of the Service to establish eligible lists from which all future appointments to the State Service will be made. The written examinations will be held on April 16 and 17, in eight centers throughout the State: Asheville, Charlotte, Edenton, Greensboro, Kinston, Raleigh, Wilmington and Winston-Salem. Applicants may apply for as many examinations as they wish and will be accepted or rejected on the basis of minimum qualification requirements as to education and experience. All applications must be submitted before midnight, March 31, 1937. The positions the State Employment Service for which Merit Examinations will be given, and the salary range for each position, are shown below:

Don't Sleep When Gas Presses Heart

If you want to really GET RID OF GAS and terrible bloating, don't expect to do it by just doctoring your stomach with harsh, irritating alkalies and "gas tablets." Most GAS is lodged in the stomach and upper intestine and is due to old poisonous matter in the constipated bowels that are loaded with H2-causing bacteria. If your constipation is of long standing, enormous quantities of dangerous bacteria accumulate. Then your digestion is upset. GAS often presses heart and lungs, making life miserable. You can't eat or sleep. Your head aches. Your back aches. Your complexion is sallow and pimply. Your breath is foul. You are a sick, grouchy, wretched, unhappy person. YOUR SYSTEM IS POISONED. Thousands of sufferers have found in Adierka the quick, scientific way to rid their systems of harmful bacteria. Adierka rids you of gas and cleans foul poisons out of BOTH upper and lower bowels. Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adierka. Get rid of GAS. Adierka does not grip— it is not habit forming.

Linen Shower for Miss White

On Saturday afternoon at three o'clock Mrs. W. T. Lipscomb and daughter, Mrs. W. I. Skinner, Jr., were gracious hostesses at a linen shower honoring Miss Helen White, whose marriage to Dr. James Beebe Hawes of Huntington and Charleston, West Virginia, takes place in April.

Receiving at the front door were Mrs. Lipscomb, Mrs. Skinner, Miss White and her mother, Mrs. S. T. White.

The entire lower floor of the Lipscomb home was beautifully decorated in snapdragons, gladioli, carnations and sweet peas, where bridge was played at nine tables. After several games Mrs. Lewis Cooper was given potted hyacinths for scoring high and Mrs. Alex Allen cocktail napkins for low score. Mrs. C. W. Bynum and Mrs. James Jenkins, recent brides, were remembered with gifts of linen.

Soft lights from burning tapers on each table made a lovely setting for the delicious salad course served from plates tastefully decorated in pastel shades and bridal favors.

Miss White was then presented an old-fashioned nosegay which bore the following message:

"Just an old-fashioned nosegay, Like many you've seen before, But if you will follow this ribbon To the dining room door, There you will find in gay effect, Many gifts for the bride-elect."

The dining room was indeed beautiful. From the center light hung a graceful shower of wedding bells and green tulle over the table where a few cunning bunnies guarded an Easter nest laden with many lovely and useful gifts tied in bright colored cellophane of various hues, gifts from the party guests.

The honoree was remembered with a lovely cut work bridge set by the hostesses.

Joining the other guests for refreshments were: Mrs. George B. W. Hadley, Mrs. Hortense Moye, Mrs. W. L. Best, Mrs. Nannie White, Mrs. J. L. Fleming, Mrs. J. B. James and Mrs. Larry James. Miss Anna and Pat Holderness of Tarboro and Mrs. Alex Allen of Farmville were out of town guests.

Dr. Crane Speaks

The lecture at the Woman's club by Dr. Harry W. Crane of the Department of Psychology, University of North Carolina, on March 18th, was attended by a representative group of teachers, administrators and parents. The Pitt Council Branch of the Association for Child, Food Education, and the Student Branch of East Carolina Teachers College, jointly sponsored Dr. Crane's visit to our community. It is the prime object of the Association for Childhood Education to keep before the public the needs of the young child.

Dr. Crane's subject, "The Emotional Health of our Children," was well presented and should prove of benefit to those interested in providing the proper environment to develop our children into well-rounded individuals. The part played by the emotions in child development has been overlooked to a great extent in the past.—Reported.

Jerold Frederic Here April 2

The noted pianist, Jerold Frederic, will give his concert at the College on the Friday night after Easter, immediately after the students return from the spring vacation and at the beginning of the spring quarter. This pianist has been a sensation ever since he made his debut as a child and was known as "the boy wonder." He is one infant prodigy whose reputation increased as he reached manhood. He is still young enough to interest youth.

The entertainment committee could not have chosen a better artist for pleasing both the musician and the general public. His playing is vividly imaginative and brilliant. This will be the first time the public will have the opportunity of hearing a guest pianist give a concert on the new grand piano.

Y. W. C. A. Vesper Services

The beauty of nature and from whence it comes was the theme of the message brought to the College students at Y. W. C. A. vesper services last night by Harry Wood, a teacher in the Washington High School.

He read a portion of the Song of Solomon which poetically portrays the beauties of nature and showed that through his appreciation of the beauties of nature one should look deeper and see that nature is God's work. From this he spoke of three types of love: the love one has for nature, the love for fellow beings and the love for God, which should be the greatest of all.

Ralph Hutchinson sang a solo.

Haddock-McLawnhorn

Mr. and Mrs. Heber McLawnhorn of this city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Alice, to Mr. J. Alton Haddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Haddock, of Cox Mill, on Saturday, March 20th, in Emporia, Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Haddock will make their home in Washington, D. C. where he has been employed for some time.

They were accompanied to Emporia by Mrs. McLawnhorn, mother of the bride.

"Love Pirates of Hawaii"

"Love Pirates of Hawaii," a light opera in two acts by Otis M. Carrington, was presented Friday night by the Junior High School choruses, under the capable direction of Misses Mozelle Jones and Ona Shindler.

From the opening ensemble until the finale an appreciative audience marveled at the tonal quality displayed by the junior singers. Especially good were the soloists chosen for the operetta. Dorothy Davernport, with poise, charm and voice quality, played the part of the plantation manager's daughter. Miss Primer, teacher in a private school for girls, was enthusiastically and humorously acted by Rosalie Brown.

As lieutenant of the U. S. Cruiser Tennessee, H. R. Goodall gave a splendid account of his vocal abilities. The heartless pirate was played by John Anderson, who was at his best in the scene of tantrums. George Aheyounis played the role of Scary, another pirate. His enunciation was especially good.

Daughters of the rich plantation owners were Ruby Duncan, Frances Swindell, Betty Tyson and Peggy West.

The costumes of the Hawaiian girls were effective in every detail, including grass skirts and leis. This chorus was composed of Jean Harrington, Rubelle Harris, Mary Sue Moore, Julia Anne Bland, Jane Scoville, Lucy Clyde Blount, Elizabeth Sugg, Emmie Lou White, Viola Waters and Jeanne Fleischmann.

The chorus of pirates, dressed in colorful pirate uniforms, included George Tyndall, Ward Williams, Russell Rogerson, Jim Ficklen, John Ray Hardy, Marvin Turner, Benny Thigpen and Billy Horne.

Between acts two special guitar numbers were given by Emmy Lou White and Roswald Daly.

Lighting effects, make-up and stage scenery contributed to make the complete effect artistic and delightful.

The backstage chorus was composed of:

Morris Lee Aheyounis, Audrey Allen, Ida Lynn Allen, Kathleen Allen, Louvinia Allen, Mabel Ames, Dennis Bailey, Marie Baker, Virginia Barton, Pauline Bell, Ronald Berry, Elizabeth Bridgers, James Briley, Leonard Briley, Doris Broadhurst, R. New York, Mar. 22.—(AP)—The stock market was again in retreat today many issues losing one to four points at the first.

The encouraging feature of the performance from the standpoint of traders was dealings turned unusually slow after a fast opening. Extreme losses were substantially reduced near the fourth hour.

U. S. government securities improved early, but soon went into a fresh decline. Corporate loans slipped with stocks. Wheat and cotton futures soared on reports of heavy foreign selling.

Legislature Brings Out Usual Crop Of Candidates

Raleigh, Mar. 22.—The usual crop of potential candidates for various offices ranging from Governor on down, is coming out of this general assembly, now that the actual work is about over and the members are getting time to talk long-range politics again.

Some of the members of the assembly franking admit they expect to be candidates for various offices, others say nothing at this time but are perfectly willing to have their names used in the speculation about who will run for what and when.

The only member of either house who has actually announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1940, is Representative W. E. (Bill) Fenner of Rocky Mount, in the course of his speech opposing the supplementary budgeting bill, in which he announced that he would select Representative W. C. Spruill of Bertie as his campaign manager. But everyone believes that this announcement was purely facetious and all in fun, although many believe Fenner would make a fine race and an excellent Governor if he really should decide to run. Another potential candidate for Governor is believed to be Representative W. L. Lumpkin of Franklin county, who was campaign manager for Dr. Ralph W. McDonald and regarded by many as likely to be the candidate of the McDonald or Liberal Democrats in the 1939 primaries.

A good many observers also regard Representative Victor S. Bryant of Durham and Representative D. L. (Libby) Ward of New Bern, Craven county, as strong potential candidates for Governor either in 1940 or 1944. Since the candidate for Governor in 1940 is due to come from the east, either Ward or Bryant might run, although Ward would probably be in a stronger position due to the fact that he comes from a far-eastern county. Durham county, however, is also regarded as being in the east, for political purposes. Those who observed Bryant and Ward in action during the last two sessions of the general assembly agree that rarely has there been two young men who have shown such profound knowledge of the business of state government and as much executive ability and real leadership in any legislative session as these two. It is agreed that Bryant has performed a very difficult job as chairman

HORTON MAKES GOOD OFFICER

Speaker Cherry Not Only Official To Get Praise

Raleigh, March 22.—Speaker Gregg Cherry has gained much notoriety at the current session by his constant stream of wisecracks while acting as one of the state's most dictatorial presiding officers; but over in the Senate the work of handling legislative business has been directed in even more efficient, though not spectacular, fashion by Lieutenant Governor Wilkins P. Horton, of Chatham county.

While Mr. Cherry has played the Simon Legree role to the entertainment of news gatherers and galleries and often to the irritation and vexation of House members who felt his verbal lash, the Lieutenant Governor has gone quietly and calmly along, never deviating from his even course; and has secured equally good results without the attendant unfavorable reaction.

While the House speaker has frequently allowed his personal opinion to show all too clearly, the Senate's boss has never showed the slightest bias one way or another on any question.

While Mr. Cherry has made certain individual members repeated victims of his stinging "asides", the Lieutenant Governor has never by word or deed indicated that he entertained animosity for any member of the Senate.

Both presiding officers have secured results. Both have come out of this legislative session, Representative D. F. Giles of Marion, McDowell county, has already announced he will be a candidate for the Senate on a "dry" platform in the 1938 primary. But members of the general assembly are far more interested in the talk to the effect that Speaker R. Gregg Cherry, the "Iron Major" from Gaston county, may decide to seek a seat in the U. S. Senate and hence to oppose Senator Reynolds in 1938.

Many other members of the assembly are being mentioned as possible candidates for less important offices.

BATTLE LOOMS ON TERMINALS

Several Port Cities Expected to Offer Locations

Raleigh, Mar. 22.—A terrific fight to secure location of state owned gasoline terminals is certain to break out soon among the sea ports of North Carolina, now that the bill authorizing the Governor and Council of State, in their discretion, to construct such terminal and storage facilities has been enacted into law.

Wilmington, Morehead City, Southport and Fayetteville are sure to bring every available bit of pressure to bear in efforts to pick the business plum now dangled before their eyes.

It is not highly probable, however, that any terminals will ever be built, despite passage of the permissive statute.

Most — or at least many — well-informed observers are inclined to view the law as a club which the state can and will hold over the heads of gasoline companies selling products to the state. There will never, these observers think, be any real necessity to use the club, and the bitterness which would attend a wild scramble for location of the terminals is certainly not going to hasten decision of the Council of State actually to construct the terminals.

In debate on the measure, it was stated that even the investigation of the gasoline problem and the state's purchases from oil companies brought about a perceptible reduction in the price at which North Carolina has been buying its gasoline.

Opposition to the bill was based on the theory that it put the state into a business in competition with its citizens. Senator Henry Ingram, of Randolph, himself an oil and gasoline distributor, led the attack. An amendment naming Fayetteville as site of the terminals "when and if" they are built was overwhelmingly beaten after a humorous debate in which High Point, Winston-Salem, Charlotte, South Mills, Rocky Mount, and Asheville were suggested as possible "ports."
