IDLE WORKERS CHEERED OVER STRIKE PARLEY

Reports of Progress Constitute Easter Greetings

CONTINUE WITH NEGOTIATIONS

Pres. Emeritus of Harvard Says Growth of Sit-Down Strikes Serious Problem

(By Associated Press) Subsidence of the sit-down strike is underway, Secretary Perkins declared today as Chrysler Motor peace negotiations neared a climax.

(By Associated Press) Reports of progress in negotiations to the Chrysler Motor strike constituted a cheerful Easter greeting to 80,000 idle automotive workers today.

Governor Frank Murphy's statement "not a great deal" separated opposing forces brightened Detroit workers' prospects of getting back to jobs they left almost three weeks ago.

Besides 60,000 Chrysler workers, 20,000 Briggs body plant employees depending on Chrysler orders, were affected by the dispute over the United Automobile Workers union demand for exclusive bargaining rights.

Although Walter Chrysler, corporation chairman, and John Lewis, union chief, made no comment on negotiations, Governor Murphy said they would continue until an agreement was reached.

Secretary of Labor Perkins said last night an inquiry indicated sit down strikes "do not reflect any widespread movement to defy the law."

Vice President Garner said he would present to the Senate Monday a telegram from Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard university, and six other Bostonians.

It said the problem of sit-down strikes is "rapidly growing beyond control" and "armed insurrection—defiance of law, order and duly elected authority—is spreading like wildfire."

Wayne Fire Warden Report Forest Blaze

Goldboro, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Fire Warden E. D. Hamm reported today a forest fire burned over about 200 acres of land in lower Wayne county Wednesday.

Weather For The Week Rain period Tuesday or Wednesday and again at end of week; temperatures below normal practically entire week.

The Man In The Streets Will Not Pay More Taxes

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 27.—The "Man in the Street," John Q. Public, or whatever you may call him, will not feel any big increase in his taxes during the next two years, despite the fact that North Carolina's lately adjourned General Assembly wrote a Revenue Bill which proposes to raise the largest sum ever collected from the state's citizens in a similar period.

This seeming paradox comes about from the fact that the bigger yield is expected to come from generally increased business and from taxes levied on new sources, rather than from increased rates of taxation on previously-existing items.

In fact in some instances the average citizen will pay less taxes, or at least a lesser rate. For example, the cost of automobile license tags has been reduced five cents on the hundred weight, and half a score staple necessities have been exempted from the sales tax.

Chrysler Sit-Downers Vacate In Merry Mood

Cheering and singing, sit-down strikers are shown parading through the streets of Detroit in a driving snow storm after vacating eight plants of the Chrysler Motor corporation in compliance with terms of a truce reached by their leader, John L. Lewis, and Walter P. Chrysler. Sympathizers lining the sidewalks cheered and sang, too. The merry mood of all arose from reliable reports that the strike is in a fair way for quick settlement. SEN. ASHURST SEES VICTORY

Says Court Plan Will Be Enacted If Delayed Until Sept.

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—Senator Ashurst (D-Ariz.) predicted today that if a vote on the President's court reorganization plan would be delayed until September it would pass the Senate by a two-thirds margin.

"The longer it is subjected to examination the stronger it gets," Ashurst said. "I can see the sentiment changing daily and if I can postpone or delay the vote until snow flies I will do so."

Ashurst, chairman of the judiciary committee, now holding hearings on the court bill, told reporters he was opposed to any "compromise."

"I want a clean victory or a clean defeat," he said.

Asked how his committee now stood on the bill, the chairman said his "guess" was "seven to seven, with four undecided."

Officer Asked Aid In Search For Lost Boy

Chief G. A. Clark has been asked to aid in attempts to locate Charlie Lee Tyson, 19-year-old son of C. T. Tyson of Greenville, Route No. 4.

The boy has been missing from his home about two weeks. He is five feet tall, has dark hair and complexion and weighs about 110 pounds, according to information given the police chief by the boy's father.

He was said to be deaf and therefore, did very little talking. His hands are deformed and when he was last seen by his family was shabbily dressed.

His father reported that he had a habit of begging money.

Chief Clark asked that anyone knowing anything of the whereabouts of the boy communicate with him or Mr. Tyson.

Special Easter Services Planned For City Sunday

Despite the fact that the weather man promises nothing encouraging, churches of the city are expected to attract unusually large crowds tomorrow.

Beginning with a special sunrise service at 6:30 at the Immanuel Baptist church, a number of meetings will be held throughout the day, with the union service to bring to a close Each church gatherings.

All of the churches in the city are understood to be planning special Easter music for the morning services. Dr. B. W. Spilman of Kinston, field secretary of the Sunday School Board, Southern Baptist Convention, will deliver the sermon at the morning hour at Memorial Baptist church.

The public is invited to worship in an Easter Sunrise Service at 6:30 in the morning at the Immanuel Baptist church on Eighth street. This service is to be led by the young people of the local chapter of "Christian Youth Building a New World," young people representing six Protestant churches of Greenville.

The group will present Marion Louise Ulmer's "We Would See Jesus," which is a worship service giving the life of Christ in poetry, picture and song. A young people's choir, led by Miss Helen Sawyer, will lead the music. Those participating in the services are: Thornton Ryan, Elsie Simpson, Charles Wooten, Anna Belle Teel, Ethel Gaston, Rossie McGowan, Helen Foley, Sam Deas, and Herbert Wilkerson.

With the above churches having special Easter programs and sermons in the morning, it is expected that this evening service of Easter will give a fitting climax to the celebration of this sacred season.

SECURITY ACT RULING SOUGHT

Supreme Court Decision by June Appears Possible

Washington, Mar. 27.—(AP)—A Supreme court ruling before June on the constitutionality of the Federal Social Security act became possible today when the government joined an Alabama corporation in asking for a quick ruling on the validity of the law.

Solicitor General Stanley Reed, speaking for the government, asked the court to pass on litigation filed by the Charles Steward Machine company, an Alabama corporation, in an effort to recover from the Alabama collector of internal revenue $46 paid as a tax under the Federal Social Security act.

Meanwhile the weekly secret conference of the Supreme court justices furnished a perlude to a possible decision Monday on constitutionality of the hotly-disputed Wagner labor relations act.

The nine justices at their regular Saturday meetings discussed pending litigation and agree on what to do about it. No announcement is made after the conference.

The ruling on the Wagner act, which guarantees collective bargaining to workmen, probably will be the court's major announcement this term, Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, has said the opinion is expected to furnish the key to the policy administration's policy on the current sit-down strikes.

Some observers who expect the tribunal will announce the decision Monday based their opinion on the fact the court has been in recess during the last two weeks. This permitted the justices to devote their entire time to preparing opinions.

LEAGUE TAKES GOOD LICKING

Failed to Secure Passage of Legislative Program

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 27.—The North Carolina League of Municipalities took a sound, thorough legislative licking all along the line of the recently completed General Assembly notwithstanding the fact that it had representatives constantly on the job, lobbying for dear life. In addition it had its attorney, Arch T. Allen, Jr., as a member of the House of Representatives from Wake county.

Yet from the wreckage of its grandiose legislative program it was able to salvage just one thing to soothe its wounded pride—that was defeat of the proposed Home-Steak exemption—and it's extremely doubtful that the league's efforts were anything like the decisive factor in that accomplishment.

After the Assembly had adjourned sine die, Pat Healey, Municipal League secretary, attributed the failure of the League to accomplish anything to the fact that too comprehensive a program was attempted. He indicated that for the 1937 session the organization is likely to concentrate exclusively upon at most two or three projects and let other and minor matters look out for themselves.

What happened this time, many competent observers believe, is that each time the League put its fingers into a particular pie, it made some enemies, and by the time it had injected itself into four or five issues it had so many hostile legislators to face that its support of a proposal was a hindrance rather than a help.

The Bureau of Fisheries says fishermen in the United States spent approximately $500,000,000 in 1936.

POPE IN PLEA TO MEXICANS

Ecclesiastical Letter Appeals Both to Clergy and Laity

Vatican City, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius, XI, in an Easter ecclesiastical letter today appealed to Mexico's clergy and laity for a "greater intensification of the Christian life" so as to have "true peace and prosperity."

The letter was not polemical—argumentative or controversial—but exclusively the pastoral counsel of the Holy Father.

The Pope stated "in every corner the secret and guarantee for true peace and prosperous Christian life is carried on in its multiple works."

This is true in Mexico, the Pope stated, saying therefore the clergy and the people should strive to render ever more intense and effective the Christian life and apostolates.

American Vessel Flashes SOS Call

San Francisco, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Carrying a crew of about 40, the American freighter Volunteer flashed an S. O. S. today as her pumps failed and water gained in her hold. The British carrier Fresno City, 240 miles away, steamed to her aid at 12 knots.

The Volunteer reported she was 840 miles from Yokohama, Japan, and the Fresno City said it would reach the stricken craft about 1 p. m. Pacific Standard Time today.

Coast Guard headquarters in Seattle heard the Volunteer was listing.

Word of the Volunteer's plight was received by Globe wireless here in a relayed message from the liner, President Harrison. The freighter said water was "out of control" in number one hold and the pumps not functioning properly.

Fountain Preparing For Clean-Up Drive

J. H. Moore Pitt County Sanitary Inspector, announced that the town of Fountain will put on a "clean-up" campaign beginning Monday.

For the past few days, Mr. Moore has been in conference with the Mayor and the other town officials. The County Health Department understands that the Women's Club, Parent Teacher Association and other women's organizations as well as the women in general, are doing everything possible to make this clean-up campaign a success.

Garbage is to be disposed of properly (this means that it should be put in a garbage can with a tight cover). Rubbish in the back yards and other parts of the premises is to be removed. Insanitary privies are to be repaired and other insanitary conditions corrected.

The sanitary inspector says that from his contact with the citizens of Fountain, he feels confident that the clean-up campaign will meet with great success.

The Bureau of Fisheries says fishermen in the United States spent approximately $500,000,000 in 1936.

STRIKES OUST ARGUMENTS ON COURT REFORM

Proposal Forced From Spotlight By Sit-Down Situation

SENATOR LINKS TWO PROBLEMS

Robinson Declares Government's Hands Tied Because of Supreme Court Rulings

Washington, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Congressional debate over the President's Supreme court bill gave way temporarily today to White House conferences on the sit down strike situation and possible remedies.

Mr. Roosevelt arranged to meet Democratic leaders of House and Senate a few hours after his return from Warm Springs, Ga.

Senator Robinson (D Ark.) indicated before the late afternoon conference the administration attitude toward the Supreme court could be attributed in part to the tribunal's views about labor laws.

"I don't see much we can do about the strike," he said, "because the court has held that neither the federal government nor the states can deal with labor problems."

His comment provided one of the highlights of a tense week at the capital.

Opponents of the President's court bill declared there was no connection between the sit-down strikers and argument over the judiciary.

A letter to Senator Wheeler (D Mont.) from Chief Justice Hughes declared to add members to the bench would "impair" the court's efficiency if it continued to sit as a unit.

The Chief Justice questioned the constitutionality of a suggested law to permit the court to sit in several panels.

Congress itself transacted little important business this week and was in recess today for the Easter week-end.

Young Boys Charged With Robbing School

Two young boys were placed in the hands of County Welfare Officer K. T. Futrell this morning after having been haled in City court on charges of breaking into the High school building.

The two, Steve Sikas and Dave Johnson, Jr., were said by Chief G. A. Clark to have admitted entering the building on several occasions, but denied having taken any money. Some money was stolen from the office on one occasion, but Chief Clark said he believed the boys were telling the truth about not being responsible. Final disposition of their case was not made immediately by Mr. Futrell.

L. W. Gaylord was fined $10 and costs on a drunkenness charge. Roger Smith was taxed with the costs for hanging a sign across the street.

On last Wednesday, the previous City court day, E. G. Mason, white man was sent to the roads for 30 days on a charge of drunkenness, and Offie Sugg, Negro, was fined $5 and costs on an assault charge.

Only Slight Damage In Fire Here Today

Dr. B. W. Spilman of Kinston, field secretary for Baptist Education in North Carolina, will deliver the sermon at the morning hour at Memorial Baptist church tomorrow morning.

COLD WEATHER MARS HOLIDAY

Easter Gowns To Be Covered with Heavy Winter Coats

Charlotte, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Shivering Carolinians watch thermometer uncomformably near the freezing point today and in some spots passers-by got their glimpses of Easter lilies in florist shops through flurries of snow flakes and sleet.

And the weather man forecast more freezing temperatures tonight and little hope that Easter gowns would not be covered by heavy coats tomorrow.

Fayetteville reported snow flurries this morning, while Wilmington was visited by snow and sleet which did not stick. The temperature dropped to 31 here this morning, typical of unseasonable cold from Virginia to Georgia. Raleigh also had a low reading of 31, and Beaufort, N. C. reported snow was falling all along the North Carolina coast.

Meeting Set Tuesday For Stokes Farmers

Farmers of the Stokes community have been called to a meeting to be held in the school building there at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, at which time representatives of the agriculture department are expected to be on hand.

C. C. Hilton of the local F. C. X. also is expected to be present. Special music has been arranged by residents of the Stokes community.

In addition to reports of county officials, Rev. P. A. Keller, State Grange deputy of Jonesboro, and Harry B. Caldwell, lecturer of the State Grange, will discuss farm problems.

New Child Labor Law Is Effective July 1st

Raleigh, Mar. 27.—(AP)—A. L. Fletcher, labor commissioner, said today the new child labor law, "one of the best in the whole country," becomes effective July 1 and at the same time the new industrial 48-hour week for women and 56-hour week for men becomes effective under another law enacted by the 1937 legislature.

Scheduled air lines operating in the United States carried 46,012 passengers in January of this year.

School Laws About Same Except Boost In Salary

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, Mar. 27.—With the exception of the 10 per cent increase in teachers' salaries granted by the 1937 general assembly—which was only half as much as the teachers had asked—the school teachers got "less out of this general assembly than in years, most observers here agree.

No concerted effort was made by the leaders of the school forces to get more than the 10 per cent salary increase recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission and agreed to by the joint appropriations committees, although a group of class room teachers in Durham did make a vigorous fight for a larger salary increase. But it had little effect, and they were rebuked by the North Carolina Education Association for "battling in."

Nor were the school forces, as represented by the North Carolina Education Association and the State Department of Public Instruction, able to get anywhere with their campaign to change the school laws relative to the allotment of the school appropriation and to the

SHELLS BURST IN STREETS OF CAPITAL CITY

Insurgents Reply To Smashing Government Victories

ITALIAN ENVOY ASSURES BRITAIN

Declares Italy Does Not Intend to Send More Volunteers to Spanish Civil War

Rome, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Informed Italian sources said today count Dino Grandi, Rome's ambassador to London, has assured Great Britain Italy does not intend to send more volunteers to the Spanish civil war.

Madrid, Mar. 27.—(AP)—Shell shrapnel burst among crowds to Madrid's Gran Via and insurgent air bombs showered on important Alcala de Henares today in reply to smashing Spanish Government drives on three sides of the capital.

Several persons were reported wounded at the noon hour when the insurgent cannonade sent showers of debris into the main thoroughfare, twenty miles to the east of Alcala, vital point on the road to the Guadalupe front. Insurgent bombers caused unestimated damage.

A new government offensive to the Northwest and new victories in the important mercury mining lands to the South followed, however, upon the government's Guadalupe success Northwest of Madrid.

May Increase Patrol With Federal Funds

Raleigh, Mar. 27.—From 15 to 20,000 more men will be added to the State highway patrol if Congress enacts the bill introduced in the U. S. Senate by Senator Russell of Georgia to appropriate $2,000,000 a year with which to assist these states which already have state highway patrols and highway safety organizations, it was pointed out today by Director Arthur Pulk of the Highway Safety Division.

The bill giving the Governor authority to transfer the highway patrol and drivers license division from the Department of Revenue to his office also contained a provision authorizing the state to participate in this fund if and when it should become available.

"The Russell bill has not yet been enacted, setting aside $2,000,000 a year to be apportioned to the states to assist them in maintaining highway patrols, but our information from one or two members of the North Carolina delegation in Washington, is that the outlook for its enactment is very good," Dr. Pulk said. "If it is enacted, it will enable us to add a number of additional patrolmen to the highway patrol."

TOMORROW IS EASTER
 Tomorrow is Easter Sunday, a day that should bring joy to the heart of every person. Easter Sunday is the anniversary of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ, giving to the world the assurance of life after death to all who believe on Him. In the churches throughout the city tomorrow the story of the Resurrection will be retold in story and song. If possible attend one or more of the church services tomorrow, but if it is impossible for you to attend a service, we urge you to take the time during the day to meditate upon the story and true meaning of Easter and the hope it holds out to the world.

Chapter 27
Denny Comes Back
 "You're telling all to Denny, aren't you?" Peter demanded. They still traced her a little about Denny. "Personally, I think they're a boon in this wilderness. But to have not only the little boy next door but his papa, setting up with you four days out of seven—"
 "They're probably thinking of eloping together with Marilyn," Eve retorted. "As a matter of fact, I had a letter from Denny not long ago, and he said I suppose you're flirting with old Peter."
 They both laughed. Peter was so obviously his wife's adorer.
 "All is discovered!" he said. "Well, if I ever did fall for anybody but Marilyn, I promise it would be you, Eve."
 "Very handsome of you," said Eve. "She thought she heard the front bell jangling. You could hear it from the rear porch."
 She ran in, through the center hall, threw the door open.
 There he stood, casual as if he had come only yesterday.
 Denny, unchanged: The suitcase, the gray-suited long slim body, the smiling green eyes, the boyish thrilling clutch of his arms as he cried out with joy at seeing her after so long!
 "It can't be real—it doesn't seem real!" he murmured, kissing her thirstily. "Oh, Eve, I got to feeling maybe you were just something I'd dreamed—"
 They stood holding each other close in the sunshiny long hall. Denny presently glanced about and said, "Where's the army? Any hope of our being left alone?"
 "Oh, darling, they're all as ceremonially in hiding as if you were the princess in Aladdin. Marilyn and Peter even volunteered to get dinner."
 "That's the way to treat your boarders. Gosh, precious, I simply couldn't bear the idea of your drugging away in this big house. But you look as fresh and smart and lovely as if you hadn't turned a finger. How did you manage?"
 "It hasn't been bad," Eve said. "Peter insists on a cleaning woman twice a week for the sweeping and scrubbing. The blessed Dividends turn up in a minute or so now, you know, and he's going to pay me for all the cleaners himself, they say. For the rest of it, Uncle Henry does twice too much of the cooking and cleaning. Breakfast and lunch aren't anything, of course, except for him and Judge, and they do their own. We take turns about dinner. Isn't your girl friend the little organizer?"
 "She's the bravest thing on earth—"
 Denny said feebly as they went up to the room she had prepared for him. Eve was puzzled by his attitude of extravagant pity; she had liked it in the country except for his being away! She sat in the old "patent rocker" while he admired everything.
 "You went and dug it all out for me, you blessed child!"
 "Well, I had to dig something, and you said you liked it."
 "She won't admit her devotion. Well, I'm not like that. I'd dig subways if you said you liked 'em."
 "There's some draining Uncle Henry was talking about in the meadow-piece," said Eve mischievously. "The minute supper's over..."
Together And In Love
 THEY were together. They were in love. It didn't matter what nonsense they talked excitedly. After six weeks of separation, they were in the same house.
 "You know, it's worse for me than for you, Eve, because you aren't at the office. When I went by your cubicle today, I thought you were going to be there, and then it was Miss Hart, with her plump piece and her neat gray bob, like an ad in the subway. I wanted to strangle her!"
 "That's no excuse for strangling me instead."
 She disentangled herself, flushed, and retreated to the doorway. "Come on, I want to show you the lawn and the fruit garden. There will be simply millions of strawberries."
 Denny, decanting a suitcase on the bed, said, "My own, don't say you're going rural on me!"
 She was dashed for a minute. Then she realized that she had been getting ridiculously wrapped up in her house and garden.
 She laughed, returning and perching on a chair arm. "I had to do something to occupy my mind, with you off in the wilds hunting for fame and fortune! Denny, did you get it?"
 His face darkened in the old quick boyish way.
 "No darn 'em, I didn't! Bill had to get well and strong and I'm back on the old meaty job," Eve stared at him

EVE'S ORCHARD
 BY MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Summersfeld goes back to her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut after five years in New York. She plans to rent, marry gay city-bred Denny and return to Manhattan. "Uncle" Henry moves in to help run the place. Then come Peter the penniless artist, his lewd little Marilyn and their serious young son Judge. Eve's neighbor, calm, practical George Cleveland, who loves her, comes over evenings with his steel magnate father. As weeks pass, Eve grows to love her old home. Suddenly Denny is due after weeks on the road selling.

"But all that's left, I am sure," cried old Miss the minute I landed and she's been working the old rabbit's foot, it seems, right along, about the Cleveland publicity job. You should have seen the dinner party she pulled last night! Fourteen people and an extra butler in to wait. She put me next George Cleveland's mamma again and I think I made a hit." He began to laugh.
 "And what grandeur! Different wine with every course like a novel; and after dinner she sent me out to unlock the wine closet for more whiskey; and what I did see sitting up but one of those printed trays that give you good advice—brand new! It said Hock with Soup, Sauterne with Fish, Champagne with Welsh Rabbit, Whisky with Baked Beans and so on. And here were all the glittering guests sitting round impressed as anything and Mittie-May had just mugged it up that P. M."
 Before Eve could say, "But Mr. Cleveland comes here nights and over most weekends—" Marilyn and Peter, avid for news of the city, were on them.
 "We're starved for gossip," Marilyn said, kissing Denny and settling down on the bed by him. "Don't hold out on us; Den, here in the wilds. Has Herndon's secretary still a hopeless pash for him and is Dick Mitgett's little Russian still a princess, or did she turn out to be a Red?"
 And that was Eve and Denny's last moment alone.
 Dinner was hilarious, if you could call it dinner. Peter was an expert on stew; they had that, baked potatoes, and baked apples with whipped cream.
 "Too bad we didn't ask George and Georgie," said Marilyn.
 "Gosh, I wish you had asked the old man over," said Denny. "Eve says he's quite settling in."
 "Weekends, George is the original settler."
 "Grand!" said Denny. "Maybe they'll be here tonight and I can vamp old Cleveland."
 "The first night with Eve, when we were going to clear out of the parlor so tactfully? Oh, for shame!" said Marilyn mischievously.
 "Well, we need him," said Eve, laughing across at Denny.

George Interrupts A Song
 THE Cleavelands did drift over in their innocent and accustomed way. Mr. Cleveland had been playing off a tournament; he detailed it at length to Peter, that most beguiling of listeners. George went into the back parlor as usual, where the piano and the radio and the little center table and Judge and Uncle Henry were. He was hard at work presently on mysterious sheets of calculations, while the old man and child played checkers.
 The Featherstones and Mr. Cleveland and Denny in the front room by the fire went at contract Denny was a good player. Eve deliberately left them alone and returned to the checker players. Denny would have his chance with Mr. Cleveland—and a better chance, he must see, than Mittie's elaborate maneuvers could arrange for him.
 "What are you at, George?" she asked idly, a hand on his shoulder. George, pencil in hand, looked up at her, smiled briefly and kindly and said "Mathematics of genetics."
 "Will it disturb you if Eve sings a bit, George?" Uncle Henry asked mildly, as he asked two nights out of three, when Judge had triumphantly won a game and was obviously too bright-eyed for chances of sleep. "She won't sing loud."
 "No, it won't disturb me," George said. He laid aside his papers and leaned his head back in the old-fashioned chair. Eve knew what Uncle Henry wanted—the old Scotch songs and the Stephen Foster songs her aunt used to sing when she was small. She set down at the tiny green piano, installment-bought, that had been the pride of her city apartment. Uncle Henry behind her turned out the lamp. The half-light from the other end of the rooms was enough to show her to them, her head drooping a little, murmuring songs she knew by heart, her green dress flowing round her. Judge came over and nestled against her on the floor.
 In spite of the disappointment about Denny's job, she sat there among people whom she loved and who loved her; she was in the house she had always loved, she realized now. She went on singing softly, there in the half-light. Denny was here, Denny would see tomorrow, that he must go straight to old Mr. Cleveland in spite of Mittie's specious bullying arguments. . . . Spring, young—in love—Eve's voice swelled a little, sweet and clear and happy, in one of the old songs Uncle Henry liked. . . .
 I love you truly—truly, dear,
 Life has no sorrow—life has no fear. . . .
 George's chair made a noise on the floor as he rose abruptly.
 "Look here, Dad, you have to be starting your tournament match to night tomorrow," he said, crossing to the front room, while Eve's hands dropped to the keys in surprise. George wasn't apt to do this sort of thing; he loved her singing.
 "Yes, yes," Mr. Cleveland said a little ruefully; he never liked to be hurried. But golf was sacred; and presently the two were gone.

NORTH CAROLINIANS IN NATION'S CAPITAL
 By PAUL BARKLEY

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—A sudden avalanche of petitions favoring the Townsend pension plan is descending upon members of congress from North Carolina. The petitions began to come in shortly after Dr. Francis M. Townsend, originator of the plan, was reported to have gone to Southern Pines, N. C. for a rest.
 Dr. Townsend recently was convicted of contempt of a house committee for walking out on a hearing, but appealed a 30-day sentence and a $100 fine.
 It was after he left Washington that the petitions started coming in to the North Carolina representatives, and whether by coincidence or not, the majority of the petitions have been received by Representative Walter Lambeth of Thomasville, in whose district Southern Pines is located.
 Representative William B. Umstead of Durham, whose district adjoins that of Lambeth, has received more than a score.
 The petitions are all the same—printed forms with above 20 names to the page.
 The Townsend plan was a serious issue in only one of North Carolina's 11 congressional districts last year. It was raised in the third district, where Representative Graham A. Barden of New Bern, was renominated by a close margin.
 Representative Lindsay C. Warren of Washington, D. C., who recently put himself forward as the state's premier booster of North Carolina shad, demonstrated this week he has similar feelings as to the superiority of North Carolina oysters.
 He had a group of friends as his guests to eat steamed North Carolina oysters recently, and between leading the way in devouring the delicacy and expounding his views of their superiority, he was kept rather busy.
 A half-barrel of oysters was the total consumed at the informal luncheon.
 Hugh Mitchell of Statesville, testified before the house immigration committee this week on the bill of representative Strovich (D-NY) to allow aliens who entered the country illegally to remain if they have been five years and have not been convicted of moral turpitude.
 Mitchell, president of the patriotic order, Sons of America, opposed the proposal, contending it would condone a crime.
 Snap guesses among some members of the North Carolina congressional delegation are that the present congress will be in session until September or later.
 A decision on President Roosevelt's court proposal is not expected until the summer months.

Blue Mold Damages Georgia, Florida Beds
 A report from Valdosta, Ga., appearing in the current issue of The Western Tobacco Journal states that 60 per cent of the plant beds in Georgia and Florida had been destroyed by blue mold.
 The article, signed by C. C. Giddens, follows:
 "It might be of interest to you to know and to publish that blue mold has destroyed practically 60 per cent of the plant beds in South Georgia and North Florida.
 "Our acreage in Georgia cannot possibly be more than 50 per cent of what it was last year and this depends to a very great extent on weather conditions from now until the first of April.
 "Normally I grow approximately 350 acres of tobacco every year, and if I am successful in procuring enough plants from my beds to transplant 100 acres I shall be greatly pleased.
 "The blue mold seems to be a much more virulent type than we had in 1932 when it proved so disastrous to our plants. At that time we suffered a severe freeze to which we attributed a lot of our trouble, and not so much to the blue mold.
 "We have had some blue mold during 1933-34, '35 and '36 but it was not anything like as destructive as the type we have this year."

He Had To Rise From The Dead
 If Christ had not risen on the third day, He would not have fulfilled the prophecies. He would not have kept His promise. He would not have proved His Godhead—and on the fourth day Christianity would have been dead and forever buried.
 He HAD to rise from the dead! And He did. On the third day the doubly-guarded tomb was empty and then He, Whom they had seen dead on the cross, appeared to hundreds during the next forty days—talked with them, ate with them, and finally, before their eyes, ascended into Heaven.
 In those days nobody doubted that He had risen. The enemies of Christ dared not deny it. The Apostles by preaching it converted 8,000 in two days, and they and their successors established the Church throughout the entire civilized world in three centuries.
 Today the unbiased must accept these things as historic facts. The Resurrection is told and retold by the most attacked, and therefore most proved, history of all times—the Scriptures. It is attested also by the non-Christian historian of the first century, Flavius Josephus, who, in reporting Christ's death and burial, says, "He appeared alive again on the third day."
 The humanly-impossible conversion of the pagan world from its cult of pride, hate, greed and lust, to the religion of humility, love, self-denial and chastity, is written down by accepted pagan historians of those centuries. And reason tells us that this would not have been and could not have been, had not Christ risen from the dead to prove His Godhead.
 Easter is the Feast of the Resurrection—the Feast of the proof that Christ is God and His religion divine. A glorious day, a joyous day, a vital day for him who has his creed secured by fact as well as faith!
 Facts! The Christians of the early centuries had them and used them to convert the world. Christians of today have these self-same facts which, if used in the same way, would put to flight the false prophets of whom Christ warned, and finally bring this world of ours back to the feet of Him Who rose from the dead to prove Himself the Way, the Truth and the Life for every man.

Entertain at Bridge
Mrs. J. B. James and Miss Nina James were hostesses at a lovely bridge party yesterday afternoon, honoring Miss Ann Lee Hooker, who is at home from Boston, Mass., for the holidays, and her house guest, Miss Mary Hawkes, of York Village, Maine.

Spring flowers in the pastel colors were used for decorations in the sun room, where tables were placed, and throughout the home. The places were marked with Easter bunnies.

For high score Miss Ruth Horne was given bridge cards and Miss Maria Garrett a bridge set for low score. Miss Hooker and Miss Hawkes were remembered with embroidered linen towels.

The hostesses served a delicious salad course. The tables were centered with pretty baskets of mints in the pastel shades.

Mrs. W. E. Hooker joined the other guests for the tea hour.

Mrs. Bachelor Club Hostess
On Wednesday afternoon at her home on East Fifth street, Mrs. Edw. Bachelor was hostess at a very delightful meeting of her bridge club.

At the conclusion of the game, Mrs. J. J. White was awarded a potted plant for high score.

A delectable salad course was served to club members and the following guests: Mrs. J. L. Little, Mrs. H. L. Hodges, Mrs. J. R. Hodges, Mrs. R. C. Merritt, Mrs. B. S. Warren, Mrs. K. B. Pace, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell and Mrs. J. C. Lanier.

Spring flowers in lovely shades were used for decorating the home.

Bradshaw, Conference Secretary of Christian Education, will instruct the class in "Christian Education in the local Church. All workers in the community are invited to join one of these classes. Credits will be issued for work accomplished, but all of the classes will be of interest to anyone who may desire to attend at any time. The Woman's Missionary Society will receive credit for the work of its members in the study of "The Teachings of Jesus."

Easter Dance

Sponsors of the Little Jack Little Easter dance here Monday night declared that everything was in readiness today for the big event, which will be held in Gorman's warehouse.

The advance sale of tickets indicate a large crowd will attend the dance. Cities and towns in all parts of Eastern North Carolina are expected to send a good number here for the event.

A group of Eastern Carolina's most popular girls have accepted invitations to serve as sponsors and will attract a number of young folks from their respective communities.

The warehouse has been decorated and an improvised stage erected in preparation for the dance, which has been publicized over a wide area.

London-born Little Jack Little, "radio's cheerful little earful," will arrive here over the week-end with his noted group of musicians. The orchestra has been featured at some of the county's most famous resort centers and hotels. He is noted as a singer and composer and has turned out some of the country's most popular tunes. He turned out such outstanding melodies as "After I've Called You Sweetheart," "I Promise You," "Hold Me," "Baby Parade," "Shanty in Old Shanty Town," "Tinga-a-Ling," "My Missouri Home," and "Because They All Love You."

Club women are urged to make their plans early for the Williamsburg bus trip May 1 and 2. Husbands and friends of the club women are also invited to go.

REV. W. A. RYAN CLUB SPEAKER

Program Last Night of More Serious Nature

The program at the regular bi-weekly meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis club last night was more of a serious nature.

Speaking of the some 200 Protestants groups, Rev. W. A. Ryan, pastor of Eighth Street Christian church said "The things which unite us are greater than the thing which divide us."

The topic was recommended by headquarters of Kiwanis International. Mr. Ryan said it was the first time a program of such a nature had been recommended by the headquarters.

He welcomed it as an opportune theme for the club's Easter meeting.

Rev. Mr. Ryan said theologians and preachers were responsible for so many Protestant groups, but added that the laymen were responsible for perpetuating the situation.

He recounted efforts for six years on the part of local ministers to inaugurate union services here each Sunday night. He declared that the plan was finally adopted and added that despite the bad night a large crowd had attended each of the services. He declared that it was encouraging to the ministers of the city to see the laymen joining together to such an extent. He said the ministers would support an foster every movement which tend to unite the members of the various Protestant groups.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor sang a solo, "Voices Triumphant," an appropriate Easter selection. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Tyeor, club pianist. H. A. McDougle led the club singing.

Robert Bruce Arthur was accepted as a new member of the club. Dr. James welcomed him into the club.

Colored News

Dr. J. H. Barnhill has just completed a six-weeks dental clinic in the colored schools of the county, which was provided for jointly by the county and state health departments.

The clinic was carried on in Bruce, Fountain, Post Oak, Farmville, Ayden and Grimesland schools.

Of the 900 examined, 600 were treated, showing that 70 per cent were in need of dental attention. The teeth of all children were cleaned.

Dr. N. Thomas Ehnert, health officer, expressed himself as being pleased over the results derived from the clinic and said it was one of the most important projects undertaken recently to improve the health of school children.

LEAGUE TAKES GOOD LICKING (Continued from page one) This feeling was strikingly exemplified by Representatives T. C. Stone, of Rockingham, who called the Muni League the "Liberty League of North Carolina."

Here's how the League fared legislatively.

counties and municipalities dividing the other half on a proportionate basis according to ad valorem valuations. As a matter of speculation, it is believed that municipalities will now receive about as much from these sources as they ever did, on account of the expected increase in yield.

The League sought to have ten per cent of the gasoline tax "returned" to the municipalities, basing this request on the assertion that approximately 65 per cent of the total gasoline tax is collected from dwellers in the municipalities.

On this issue the League did nothing better than keep what it already had, an annual allowance of $500,000 for use on city streets. This half-million amounts to approximately two per cent of the gasoline sales tax.

The League sought to prevent any further encroachment by the state in the field of Schedule "B" license taxes, and was more or less successful, the state taking exclusive right of taxation only in the case of real estate auctioneers and reducing the city's rights to tax in a few minor instances.

Under League auspices a brand new tax foreclosure law was introduced, a plan which league officials claimed would eliminate much confusion in the present law and which would simplify it no little.

This bill was killed by the House, in which it was introduced by Mr. Allen and others.

The League advocated a statewide law enabling cities and towns to set up pension systems for retired municipal employees. It contended that these employees are not included in the general Social Security program and that, therefore, there should be a separate plan for taking care of them.

A measure establishing such a plan was killed.

The League has for years fought for exemption of counties, cities and towns from payment of the state gasoline tax on gasoline used for municipal purposes. At the late session of the Assembly defeat for such an effort was so obvious that no measure was even introduced.

The League fought for a measure authorizing municipalities to levy a one per cent tax on receipts of telephone companies for the privilege of using city streets. It lost.

The League stood out for a provision in the County Option liquor law definitely giving municipalities a right to a percentage of profits from county A. B. C. stores. It sought to have the proportion of profits definitely set in the statewide bill.

The liquor measure, as enacted, gives all profits to the counties, though thereafter approximately thirty local bills were passed giving certain municipalities in certain counties designated shares of liquor profits.

The final fight lost by the League was that waged for enactment of the six so-called Ikes or PWA bills, which would have enabled counties, cities and towns to receive large sums from the Federal government. Opposition to these bills came largely from the power interests of the state and League officials are unhesitant in blaming these interests for final defeat of the bill, which will result, they declare, in loss to North Carolina's municipalities and counties of something like $10,000,000 they might have secured from PWA.

They will not get enough relief from the sales tax exemptions to do much bragging about, but they will not have to pay the vexing levy on flour, meal, meat, lard, milk, molasses, salt, sugar, coffee, bread, rolls, ice, or medicines sold on prescription or compounded by the druggist selling them.

Otherwise they will have to pay the same sales tax rates as in the past. The minimum sale on which a tax is to be levied was retained at ten cents but the maximum collectible on one article was raised to $15 from $10.

Franchise taxes on corporations were unchanged, and are of small concern to the ordinary taxpayer, anyhow.

Inheritance taxes and the Schedule "B" license taxes were left about as in the past, only a few minor changes being made in either.

The income tax payer will continue to pay the same as in the past unless he happens to be an individual with a net income of more than $10,000 annually, and there are very few of those. In this top bracket, the rate has gone up from 6 to 7 per cent, with other brackets as follows: $2,000 to $4,000, 4 per cent; $4,000 to $6,000, 5 per cent; $6,000 to $10,000, 6 per cent.

The new taxes on wines impose substantial levies on manufacturers, distributors and sellers, as well as gallonage taxes. There will be a 7 per cent gross sales tax on distilled liquors sold by county ABC stores.

Intangibles to be taxed are money in bank, money on hand, matured insurance policies, stocks, notes and bonds.

Here's how North Carolina proposes to raise $75,853,400 during the next biennium:

Inheritance Taxes, $2,550,000;
Schedule "B" (Business Licenses) $4,950,000; Franchises, $16,550,400;
Income, $19,750,000; Beer, $2,000,000;
Wine, $300,000; Gift, $400,000; Liquor, $1,300,000; Gasoline (Highway Division), $4,200,000; Sales Tax, $17,000,000; Meals, $724,000; Building Material, $400,000; Miscellaneous, $20,000; Non-Tax Revenue, $2,800,000.

Here are the rates per $100 and items on which the new taxes on intangibles will be levied.

Money in Bank ($100 exempt), 10c; Money on hand ($300 exempt) 20; Matured Insurance Policies, 25c; Bonds, notes, etc, 40c; Shares of Stock, 30c.

man and the executive secretary, who would have been appointed by the chairman, it was pointed out. This would have had the effect of putting the allotment and spending of the school appropriation of almost $25,000,000 a year almost exclusively in the hands of the State Superintendent, which is regarded as being exactly what the State Superintendent and the 168 county and city superintendents who dominate the N. C. Education Association wanted.

The house refused to even consider this section, however, sent the bill to the finance committee where it was removed in short order. The section was re-written so as to leave the Lieutenant Governor chairman of the school commission and leaving the commission the authority to select its own executive secretary and personnel. The State Superintendent was left on only with the status of a member and as vice-chairman in the absence of the Lieutenant Governor.

The house agreed to the creation of an executive committee, to consist of the State Superintendent, the State Treasurer and three members of the commission. This amendment was so worded that if it had been adopted, the school commission would have had authority only to make rules and regulations, the executive committee having the authority to execute and enforce these rules and regulations, thereby becoming more powerful and important than the commission.

But this amendment was soon spotted and chloroformed when the bill reached the senate, where it was amended to provide that the Lieutenant Governor should be a member of the committee and its chairman and where the powers of the executive committee were limited to merely "advising with the executive secretary" between meetings of the school commission.

The second main objective of the school forces was to secure the adoption of Section 14 of the bill as reported into the house and passed by it, giving school districts with a school population of 1,000 pupils or more the right to hold elections and levy supplemental taxes. This would have made it possible for numerous small districts to hold elections and levy supplemental taxes with which to have a ninth month, increase teachers' salaries above the state salary schedule, add a twelfth grade and otherwise increase the spending for school purposes.

A majority of the members of the senate, however, took the view that this provision would nullify the effect of the state-wide school plan, in that it would make it possible for the wealthier districts to have de luxe, "streamlined" schools, while the schools in the poorer districts, especially in the rural sections, would have no chance of raising their standards. It was also maintained that if authorization was given to these smaller districts to levy supplemental taxes, it would be a breaking of faith with the property owners who were told in 1931 and 1933 that the state-wide system would forever eliminate property taxes for school maintenance. So this section was effectively killed by the senate, which in its place reinserted the section as contained in the 1935 law which provides that supplemental elections may be held and supplemental taxes levied only in administrative districts—that is, only on a county-wide or city-wide basis.

Thus the organized school forces and school politicians lost decisively on the only two things they made fights for—the control of the spending of the school appropriation of almost $25,000,000 a year and the right to levy supplemental taxes with which to augment the state appropriation in smaller districts and thus go back to the system in effect prior to 1931, it is pointed out.

The school leaders made no concerted fight for more than a 10 per cent increase in salaries, for a tenure law, for pensions for teachers, for sick leave with pay, for a nine months school term, for a 12 grade school system or for any material increase in the appropriation for vocational education. They staked their entire fight on getting control of the spending of the school appropriation, by getting control of the spending machinery, and on getting more money for schools through supplemental taxes in the smaller districts—and lost on both. Both of these moves were designed more to increase the political power and prestige of the superintendents than to promote the welfare of the teachers. It is also generally agreed.

Again the class room teachers have been made the goats and left holding the bag, it is maintained.
