Many Slain During Counter Offensive On Part Of Loyals

Defenders Reported To Have Suffered Bitter Defeat

BATTLE RAGES AT DOORS OF MADRID

Fresh Italian Troops To Bolster Insurgent Lines Said to Have Arrived in Spain

Madrid, April 10.—(AP)—The second day of the government's major counter offensive to break the insurgent grip in Madrid province brought terrific combat today at the very doors of the city.

While 3,000 of General Franco's Franco's men were reported isolated by a machine gun trap in University City, the Northern suburb, the government's a deafening artillery and aerial strafing of the whole array of besieged lines.

An Associated Press correspondent saw General Jose Miaja's government artillery plant five out of six six-inch shells squarely on the roof of one strategically located building on a hillside overlooking the Casco de Campo sector to the West.

Insurgents who attacked Thursday night as though they anticipated the government drive launched yesterday, found themselves today with a more serious defense problem.

With Insurgents at the Madrid front—the long-awaited government offensive from Madrid was reported shattered today against the wall of General Franco's Franco's stepped lines and 2,000 attackers slain.

An insurgent communique estimated that number were lost in one of the most terrific battles of the civil war. A large body of prisoners, mostly Russians, Czechoslovakians and Austrians, from Northern Spain were taken.

General Jose Miaja flung crack units of his force 14 times against insurgent lines on the Western front of the city. They were reportedly hammered back.

Audujar, Spain, April 10.—(AP)—Fresh Italian troops to bolster an army of 15,000 Insurgents, which the government already has described as predominately of that nationality, was reported by the Pebas (official Spanish) news agency to have reached the Cordoba province front.

Order Defendants Held Under Bond

Three Negro men were bound over to County court and a Negro woman was ordered held for the higher court following preliminary hearings in City court this morning.

Jesse Langley, Payton Atkinson and Tobe Mayo were the three men ordered held. They are charged with engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and mutually assaulting each other. Bond for each was set at $200.

Emma Langley, Negro woman, was ordered held under $200 bond on a charge of possessing illegal whiskey for the purpose of sale.

Junior Dixon, Negro, was fined $10 and costs upon conviction of engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct. Failure to pay the fine and costs would result in a 30-day road sentence.

Willie Williams, Negro, was taxed with the costs on a charge of trespassing. If the defendant fails to pay the costs he, too, will have to serve a 30-day sentence on the roads.

RELIEF GROUP DRAGGED FROM OHIO CAPITOL

Force Used to Remove Persons from Governor's Office

MANY INJURED DURING MELEE

Band of 100 Defiant Relief Seekers Occupy Church as Haven From Officials

Columbus, Ohio, April 10.—(AP)—A defiant group of 100 relief seekers occupied a church today as a haven from the office of Gov. Martin Davey, from which they were dragged and carried by sheriff's deputies.

Six of their organizers were in jail for investigation, cut off from all but attorneys.

A committee of the Ohio Workers Alliance took over the leadership and declared they would stay in the state capital until their demands were met.

Many nursed bruises made by officer Macey; nearly all went without food for nearly 12 hours from the time the National Guard stopped feeding them until they could take up a collection for supplies.

"The demonstration will continue," was the final declaration in a statement issued by temporary leaders. They declined to say if they would try to re-enter the governor's office, which they held from late Wednesday until yesterday evening.

Screaming, kicking, and cursing the marchers, mostly from the Toledo area, struggled for several minutes before ejection was completed.

Commendation Of Road Commission Proves Big Shock

Accustomed to Hearing All Sorts of Kicks, Body Startled When Delegation Comes to Praise

Raleigh, April 10.—The chairman and members of the State Highway and Public Works Commission are still suffering from shock as a result of the appearance before it here Friday of a one-man delegation from Wilmington to thank the commission for what it had done and to commend its work in the past.

For while the commission is accustomed to hear all sorts of complaints and kicks it is very seldom that any one ever tosses it any flowers. In fact, sick tomatoes are more the rule.

The one man delegation was former Senator Harris Newman of Wilmington, who made the trip here for the sole purpose of appearing before the commission to commend the work it is doing and especially to thank it for the highway it is building up the sound side of Wrightsville Beach.

"I think this highway commission and its chairman have done a very fine job all over the state, and I wanted to tell them so," Senator Newman said. "But especially did I want to thank the members for the road now being built up the sound side of Wrightsville beach. It is one of the finest pieces of engineering I have ever seen and the work is moving along very fast. The road is being built on a fill dredged up from the sound, and composed mostly of white sand. This dredging, incidentally, is building a splendid beach of white sand on the sound side of Wrightsville beach and will make it possible for people to bath in either the sound or the ocean. Indications are that with this fine, new white sand beach on the sound side, that it will be just as popular for bathing as the ocean side has been."

At one time there was considerable opposition to the building of this highway on the sound side of Wrightsville beach, but now that it has been started and the people can see what an improvement it will make, they are more than pleased with it, Senator Newman said.

'FORD'S PLANT IS AN ARSENAL'

ACCUSED MAN VESSEL SINKS; ALLOWED BOND EIGHT ABOARD

White Follower Of Father Divine Refutes Charges

Los Angeles, April 10.—(AP)—John Hunt, portly white follower of the Harlem Negro, Father Divine, prepared today to prove himself innocent of the charge he betrayed a 17-year-old girl, telling her she was to be "Virgin Mary," mother of a new redeemer.

Free under $10,000 bond, doubled because of the delay in his appearance, the 33-year-old Hunt said he would plead not guilty at his arraignment on April 22 on charges of violating the Mann act by transporting Delight Jewett here from Denver for immoral purposes.

He emphasized Father Divine was not to be linked with his troubles and that the Harlem "god" had taught him to live after the spirit, not after the flesh.

"That's the way I try to do," he explained, "since I've felt his great influence for good upon my life." The chubby self-named, John the reveler, surrendered unexpectedly to Federal authorities late yesterday after a two weeks' search for him.

Deny Any Changes In French Money Policy

Paris, April 10.—(AP)—Despite denials in Washington and Paris of any change in monetary policy, the franc continued weak on today's unofficial market.

The dollar opened at 22.20 francs (4.504 cents to the franc) which was slightly lower than yesterday's closing, but buyers apparently decided to stand by their positions over the week-end and at the close it was at 22.30 francs to the dollar (4.484 cents to the franc), the level reached in unofficial trading after the close of the Bourse yesterday.

NEGRO HAD HIS FUN BUT IT DIDN'T LAST

Will Griffin, Negro handyman about town, probably had the best time of his life yesterday. With his pockets crammed with money he went about the county frequently imbibing in strong drink and acting the part of a real sport.

But today Will is resting, recuperating and sobbing over his escapade.

Another amusing incident happened in connection with the case this morning when a Negro man and woman asked to be allowed to talk to him in jail for a few minutes. Officers let them in and "allowed" them to stay much longer than the two desired. Yells of "let us out of here" finally moved officers to unlock the jail and allow the pair to leave.

TAX RECEIPTS FALL SHORT OF EXPECTATIONS

Another Worry Added to Those Already Before Congress

SUGGESTION OF CUTTING RELIEF

Law Makers Do Not Relish Choosing Between Retrenchment and Increased Taxes

Washington, April 10.—(AP)—Failure of tax receipts to meet treasury estimates added this week to the worries of members of congress already restless over constitutional questions and sit down strikes.

Members of the Senate and House alike showed little relish for choosing between retrenchment or increased taxation. Fire warning came from Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader at a time when blocs were formed to demand continued heavy demand for spending for relief, farm tenant loan's low cost housing.

"At this juncture," he said, "I don't see any new taxes. The President doesn't want them but there are some proposals for new expenditures that might require additional funds."

There were suggestions at the capital that relief may be reduced, but some state officials yesterday asked more relief than even the $1,500,000,000 the administration was originally expected to allow. The President will address a message to Congress on the problem.

Mr. Roosevelt, recommending appropriation of $300,000,000 to put the CCC on a permanent basis, was declared against abandonment of the attempt to approach a balanced budget.

As another evidence of financial realities that must be faced, the House Agriculture Committee approved a $470,000,000 bill for aid to farm tenants. Loans to enable purchase of farms would be made at the rate of $50,000 a year. Whether new taxes would be sought to foot the expense was not announced.

Ford Declares Aim Boost Wage After 'Strike Mess Over'

Warns Strikers

Plan Announced Along With Denunciations of Unions

DISPUTES REACH ACROSS BORDERS

UAW Concentrating In Canadian Plants, Where Work Partially Resumed

(By Associated Press) Henry Ford couped a denunciation of labor unions today with a declaration the Ford Motor Company would demonstrate unprecedented wages when "this strike mess is over."

The Detroit manufacturer's statement on wages was his first since circulation of reports a $10 daily minimum would be the company's reply to demands for union recognition.

Ford said there would be "wages, production and competition such as never seen before." He declined comment on announced plans of the U. A. W. A. to unionize Ford plants despite his recent statement he would never recognize any union.

Meanwhile the U. A. W. A. concentrated its efforts across the Canadian border in Ontario, Ont. where General Motors of Canada is in partial operation of its plants, despite a strike of 3,500 workers. The union recognizes.

There 60 men and women members of the strike closed plant without negotiation through a picket line today and went back to work in the parts department.

This situation was the U. A. W. A.—affiliated automobile workers union, the company and government officials all had feared might break into open trouble passed peacefully—with no more incident than the prolonged strikes of the 100 plants.

Police reserves had been held in readiness at nearby Toronto in the event strikers intimated. Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario province planned to confer separately with company officials and strikers' representatives.

At Detroit a union official said an attempt to ship automobiles to Canada would result in protest strikes in the company's United States plants.

Industrial conflict also prevailed across the Southern border. Eight persons were killed and more than a score hurt when government troops battled workmen in San Martin Tzeltelucan, Puebla state, Mexico.

Announce Speaker For Joint Service

In connection with this week's twentieth anniversary of America's entrance into the World War, and acting upon suggestion of the "No-Foreign-War-Crusade" phase of the Emergency Peace Campaign, chairman by Admiral Richard E. Byrd and Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, the local Ministerial Association at its recent meeting designated tomorrow as "No-Foreign-War-Sunday" to be observed by local congregations which will cooperate.

The Greenville churches are thus sharing in an emphasis being made by thousands of ministers, priests and rabbis and their congregations throughout the nation this week.

The union service—to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the local Methodist church—is expedited to make a similar emphasis, with appropriate music and message as part of the service.

Rev. H. Conrad Blackwell of Richmond, Va., who is in the city today in the interests of the city-wide Emergency Peace Campaign, will deliver the sermon at tomorrow's union service.

Visitors to the city are especially invited to these services.

Winston-Salem Negro Accused Of Murder

Winston-Salem, April 10.—(AP)—Police Chief Water Anderson announced early today he had taken into custody a Negro suspect in the slaying of Herman Pogelman, insurance man clubbed and held to death Monday night in a hotel.

Pogelman was killed as he stepped into his car after a round of collecting for his company. A witness told officers two Negroes were the attackers.

Police Chief Says Insane Man Can Not Be Prosecuted

New York, April 10.—(AP)—John Lyons, Assistant Chief Police Inspector, in effect issued this appeal today to Robert Irwin, suspect in the Beekman Hill triple murders: "An insane man can not be prosecuted for murder. Give yourself up."

Two weeks ago tonight Veronice Gedeon, artist's model, her mother and a roomer in their home were killed by an unidentified assailant. In the fortnight that has elapsed a half dozen suspects have been named with police finally concentrating on Irwin.

"The man is stark mad," commented Lyons. "In my opinion he will be judged insane and placed in an institution. It makes no difference whether he committed three or 300 murders as far as the state is concerned."

Negro Here Awaiting Removal To Virginia

Willie H. Wilkes, Negro, remained in county jail here today awaiting arrival of officers from Suffolk, Va., to take him back to that city to face a charge of abandonment.

The man was picked up by county officers several days ago and Governor Hoey already has granted extradition papers for him.

Negro Bound Over By Federal Court

Wilson, April 10.—(AP)—LeRoy Atkins, Rocky Mount Negro WPA worker, was bound over to Federal court in default of $1,000 bond after a hearing here today on a charge that he obtained from the Rocky Mount postoffice and cashed a WPA check belonging to James Leonard.

Henry Thomas, Jr., agent in charge of the secret service office at Charlotte, which brought the case against Atkins, said more than 100 similar instances were being investigated.

In New Bern alone, Thomas said, 45 checks had been cashed by others than the rightful payees.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

SYNOPSIS: Eve Mannersfield manages to forget pay Denny when she learns he is to wed wealthy Mitzl. Resuming her aunt's baking business she finds contentment in her beloved old house and orchard.

Chapter 39

Fire At George's

WHAT'S those words mean, Eve? Judge asked as Eve hummed the old French tune that Uncle Henry invariably whistled at work.

"It's French: 'The joy of love it lasts only an hour. The pain of love forever and a day.'"

"I'm going to learn French," Judge informed her. "I'm going to be a highly educated supreme court judge like my grandfather. I was named for George says I can if I want to hard enough."

She wished he wouldn't talk about George. George, so near, engaged to Ellen, loving her; going to be happy with her. Good kind little Ellen, splendid stable George.

No. She couldn't be glad of that. The knife that went through her at that was too sharp.

Uncle Henry came in, whistling still under his breath:

Plaisir d'amour ne dure qu'un moment... Chagrin d'amour dure toute la vie!

Well, perhaps it didn't. Perhaps it wouldn't. Aunt Linda had her love affair that didn't end happily, but she'd gone on, she'd lived, been content with her life.

"These are for Mrs. Hickson to take to the Congregational church supper tomorrow night," she told Uncle Henry cheerfully. "Grand for me she was too lazy to bake. Nine dozen, and a nice little batch left over for us."

"You're a good girl, Eve," Uncle Henry said irreverently, washing his hands at the sink.

But all the evening, doing accounts at the old secretary, chasing Judge up to bed, planning with Uncle Henry, the vague, silly terror of what Lance Seymour might do to George, persisted. She lay awake watching the moonlight out her window.

Her bed was so placed that she could glimpse one upper pane of glass just above the next rise, down the road, and knew it was the window of George's bedroom. Suppose Lance should climb through. Or shoot, or attack. You read dreadful things in the papers.

She rose and stood close to her own window, watching the moonlight on the pane far off. She thought vaguely how Mitzl or Marilyn, those phantoms from a past time, would laugh over a girl who watched a man's window, in moonlight, because she loved him. And did not care.

Eve Sees Flames

AS she watched she saw something that was not moonlight. She thought it was imagination, and then knew it was real. The faint pinkness of reflected flame. A leftover bonfire, maybe. George was careful, he would wake and see it, or Adriano or John, for the matter of that.

Suddenly she realized that the window she watched was not George's window, now, at all. On his mother's last brief descent she had managed to move to the other side of the house to be nearer her. He had not troubled to move back. That side of the house was empty.

No use telephoning. Mattie did conscientiously what her mistress had always done, pressed a disconnection button when the family went to bed. It might be a bonfire halfway between, or Lance Seymour setting the house on fire. It was silly. But she couldn't take a chance. And she saw the color deepen.

She thrust her dress and shoes on; hurried down and called the village fire department—amateur, and slow as amateur fire companies always are.

"Then she ran across the lawn, and through the orchard in the moonlight. The quarter-mile seemed eternal. She remembered all sorts of terrible things. Lance had been suspected of setting the Clark's barn afire because old Clark struck him. There was a fire in Weston linked up with a Weston boy who had teased Lance.

She came out on the Cleveland lawn, and saw she was right. She could smell gasoline. She could see the thin ragged figure working earnestly, piling kindlings against the most vulnerable part of the old house, where the old shingles were. Already there was a big charred place, and the flames licked high.

She forgot to be afraid of Lance; she ran at him. "Lance, stop it! How dare you!" she called as if he were one of the small boys she used to chase and scold for cruelties and depredations. He straightened with a scream, and ran.

There was no time to do anything more than try to beat out the fire, first, and waken the household next. She snatched up a piece of canvas flung over some bulbs; it beat out the actual flames. Then she raced to the front porch, dashing open the French windows with a porch chair when they proved to be locked, running upstairs, calling as she went. She hammered at the door she knew was George's. She heard his bare feet strike the floor. He flung open the door, scarcely awake.

"Eve," he said sleepily, smiling at her, his hair tousled like a small boy's. Then, more alertly, "What's wrong?" She told him quickly. He was practical and steady as always in emergencies.

"Go on up and waken John and Mattie," he said. "I'll call Adriano."

They were all out and down in a swift excited nightmare. Adriano shoveled earth on the foundation where the fire had taken most hold while George played the garden hose on the higher places, and the others beat desperately to keep the flames from spreading beyond. Presently it seemed forever—they stepped back from the conquered blaze.

"Go home now, Eve—" George was beginning, when she cried out and gestated. The flames were bursting from around the corner of the house. And the fire company had not come. Without stopping to see if she had obeyed him, George and the other two men ran to beat that down also. It had gained what looked like fatal headway.

Eve thought suddenly of the valuables within. It was still safe to enter the house. The silver, Mrs. Cleve's and sealings, Lizette, the Stuart portrait of old Lancelot Seymour, George's records.

"I'm going after the valuables in case the house does burn down," Eve said to Mattie. Mattie trotted resolutely after her; she had lost her head, but not her sense of duty.

Together they unhooked the old portrait, with its alert scholarly eyes under the turban, so-like-Lance's in shape and size. They put it outside the front door and carried out the drawers of silver and linen and dragged out the priceless Sheraton sofa.

"I guess that's all we can manage," Mattie said. But Eve remembered something more precious still. George's records, his trays of seeds and seedlings. Lizette, the Stuart portrait of old Lancelot Seymour, George's records.

Both State And Counties Curtailing Expenditures

By J. C. BASKERVILL Staff Correspondent

Pinehurst, April 10.—The state of North Carolina, also the counties, cities and towns, have been spending less borrowed money during the past four years than ever before in their history.

State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson told the delegates to the Southeastern Group Convention of the Investment Bankers of America, in an address before them this morning.

One reason for this, of course, was the depression and the fact that it made it almost impossible for governmental subdivisions to borrow money for any purpose. But this is no means the only reason, Johnson pointed out.

The principal reason is that the Local Government Commission, through the authority given to it by the legislature, has refused to approve bond issues by subdivisions except for urgent and necessary projects.

"We expect to continue this policy and approve bond issues only when they are absolutely necessary," State Treasurer Johnson said—he is also Director of Local Government. "In that way we are going to be certain that the indebtedness of the subdivisions decreases instead of increases every year. And the city and county officials are just as anxious for this as are the members of the Local Government Commission."

For the past two years the Local Government Commission has spent more of its time assisting subdivisions in refinancing their obligations than in anything else, and with remarkable success, Mr. Johnson pointed out. He also outlined the legislation which had been enacted to help the commission work out refunding plans. One of these newer acts gives the Director of Local Government authority to approve or disapprove the budget of any unit which has put through a refinancing operation, also gives him authority to require the proper allocation of revenue to insure bondholders that the bonds and coupons will be paid when due. Johnson pointed out that the enactment of this legislation was necessary before any large scale refinancing could be undertaken, since bondholders would not agree to accept refunding bonds at lower rates of interest unless assured that these bonds would be paid when due.

No state in the United States has done as much to meet the changed conditions brought about by the depression and to aid the local governments meet their financial problems, as has North Carolina, Johnson pointed out. For not only did it reduce its operating expenses more than any other state between 1931 and 1937, but it also reduced its indebtedness by more than $50,000,000 within this period. In fact, the state paid off more than $25,000,000 of indebtedness between January 1, 1933 and December 31, 1936 and during this entire period did not have to borrow one cent on short term notes for operating expenses, met all obligations when due and will complete this fiscal year with a surplus of at least $4,500,000, the State Treasurer said. Some estimates are that the surplus will amount to $7,000,000 or more.

"During this same period, the state helped to lighten the tax load of the counties, cities and towns by taking over the cost of maintaining the eight months public school term without levying any ad valorem taxes, and also took over the maintenance and construction of all the roads in the state, including 48,000 miles of county roads," Johnson

London Speeding Traffic London (AP)—Traffic signals costing about $28,000 will be installed at Piccadilly Circus in time for the coronation crowds. The signals, designed to regulate the fast flow of 4,000 vehicles an hour, are expected to release a dozen policemen now controlling the seven junctions that pour traffic into the Circus.

said. "This is something which had not even been thought of, much less undertaken by any other state. All the other states require all the local units to raise all of the revenue to maintain county roads and all or a large part of the money to maintain the schools. So looking back to 1931 and 1933, one is impressed with the realization that out of the distress and difficulties of the depression, then at its height, the outstanding problem before the state was to avoid bankruptcy and to continue to provide the services for the public which it expected and which its welfare demanded, and that it met this problem squarely and solved it."

Johnson pointed out that by 1933 the state was running a deficit of approximately $7,000,000 a year, due to the shrinkage in tax collections and had a total accumulated deficit of $14,000,000, of which $12,300,000 was in notes at 6 per cent interest. But the 1933 general assembly balanced the budget and in June, 1934, bonds were sold to take up the deficit at an interest rate of 3.56 per cent, while one year later bonds were sold to retire the balance not yet funded at a rate of 2.72—the lowest interest rate in the history of the state. Since 1935 the state has had no unfunded debt, has showed a surplus at the end of each fiscal year, Johnson pointed out.

The wedding of Miss Helen Elizabeth Russ, of this city, and John Burwell Dunn of Enfield, was solemnized at high noon today in Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, with the Rev. T. McM. Grant officiating.

The church was decorated with palms and ferns interspersed with large floral baskets of mixed flowers banked in the chancel, and tall candelabra holding burning cathedral tapers.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Virginia Branch, of Enfield, rendered a program of nuptial music including Schubert's "Serenade," "To an Evening Star" from Tannhauser, Mrs. A. L. Hogan, of Kingston, sang "At Dawning," and "Because," "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Sampson and Delilah was played during the ceremony. Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was used as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional.

Ushers for the wedding were C. N. Payne of Richmond, Va., Sam Pierson and P. W. Joyner of Enfield; R. E. Kimball, H. H. Cassada, and J. C. Williams, of Roanoke Rapids.

Bridesmaids were Miss Iris Stith of Winston-Salem and Miss Teel Jones of Edenton. They wore floor-length gowns of aquamarine taffeta weave gowns with short puff sleeves, and full swinging skirts corded to make them circle. The gowns were trimmed with diminutive bunches of forget-me-nots caught in the cords encircling the skirt in back and front. They wore aquamarine Mary Queen of Scots hats made of the same material as their dresses, silver slippers and carried old-fashioned nosegays.

Miss Ann Russ, of this city, attended her sister as maid of honor. Her gown of orchid taffeta weave was fashioned identically with the dresses of the bridesmaids. She wore an orchid Mary Queen of Scots hat, silver slippers, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

The bride entered the church with her father, C. L. Russ, by whom she was given in marriage. Her bridal gown of white point d'Alencon lace, was fashioned on princess lines, over a Duchess satin slip, with orange blossoms caught at the neck and waistline. The full-topped sleeves extended into a point over the hand. The skirt of the gown extended into a long graceful train. Her braided halo of net caught at the neck with orange blossoms extended into a full length veil of illusion. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses showered with valley lilies.

The bridegroom was attended by Joe Bryant, of Roanoke Rapids, as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Russ entertained at a wedding breakfast for members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

HOEY BACKERS TO FILL JOBS

Reports Say Applicants Must Have Supported Gov.

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, April 10—In order to be in line for an appointment to any job by Governor Clyde R. Hoey, an applicant must first of all be an original Hoey supporter—that is, must have supported him in the first primary last spring as well as the second, according to reliable reports that have been in circulation here for some time.

This means, of course, that those who supported Lieutenant Governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham in the first primary and who then switched to Hoey in the second, are virtually out of the running in the contest for Hoey appointments, except in a few exceptional cases. This rule is reported to be making a good deal of difference in several of the contests for appointments.

In addition to having to be a Hoey supporter in both primaries, the applicant must also have the indorsement of the Hoey county chairman in both primaries and of Hubert Olive, Mr. Hoey's state campaign manager. It is also understood, indications are that these general rules are being applied to applicants for positions as clerks and stenographers in some of the new and old state departments, as well as for those seeking the more important jobs as division and department heads. Reports for many weeks have been that this is the procedure required in the new Unemployment Compensation Commission and it is expected to prevail in a good many of the other state departments in the employment of new or additional personnel.

Indications are that quite a number seeking appointments as supreme court, superior court or special judges, also as solicitors, may find themselves automatically barred from consideration because they cannot meet all of these qualifications or cannot get all of the routine indorsements said to be regarded as contingent to consideration. For while Governor Hoey is not expected to make politics paramount to ability, the proper political background must go along with WE GUARANTEE WATCH REPAIRING—JEWELRY REPAIRING Engraving—Reasonable Price LAUTARES

Carnival a Success
A carnival spirit ran high and everything ran true to carnival form at East Carolina Teachers College Science club carnival last night.

A huge crowd filled up with peanuts, soft drinks, hot dogs, were in a general spirit of "joie de vivre" before starting on a plunge of fun and gaiety.

Two clowns and a make-believe monkey mingled with the crowd to add touches of color and fun to the occasion.

The crowning of the beauty queen, and the stage show formed the climax of the evening's entertainment. This part of the program began at 9:30 with the grand entrance of the beauty queen, Miss Christine Harris, escorted by Joe Braxton, and preceded by her maids of honor, Misses Grace Freeman, Mary Louise Britton, Ruth Kiker, Miriam Sawyer, Rebecca Williams and Marjorie Watson. Miss Harris was crowned queen by Joe Braxton and after this the stage show began.

Misses Josephine Wade and Dorothy Woodard, James Dudley Simpson and Ralph Hutchinson sang popular songs, and Miss Alice Hobbard danced. A little colored boy ended the program with one of his tap-dance interpretations.

A cake-walk, which was the closing event of the evening, was won by Carole Evans and Robert Pittman, leaving disconsolate about fifty other couples.

CHINESE DRAWER AIDS BABY ABANDONERS

Shanghai, China, (AP) — Anyone who wants to abandon a baby in Shanghai can tuck him into a drawer built in the wall surrounding a Chinese charity institution and go away, knowing that the child will be brought up conscientiously by the Home for Unclaimed Babies.

The child mortality rate in Shanghai is staggering; each year some 30,000 new-born babies are picked up dead where they have been deserted in alleyways and ash cans. The home was designed to lower this number by providing a place where families, too poor to bring up a child, could dispose of him and the big drawer was built in the wall surrounding the institution so that timid people, afraid of the authorities, could leave their babies and no one would be the wiser.

When a child is put into the drawer, an automatic bell rings in the home. From then until he is old enough to earn his living, the institution is home to the baby, who is given a name by the caretakers of the place and never knows his own.

RADIO MAY SUPPLANT 'MOCCASIN TELEGRAPH'

Windowrock, Ariz. (AP) — "The box that talks too loud" (Indian for radio) soon may replace the "moccasin telegraph" as a means of communication between isolated outposts of the huge Navajo reservation.

Superintendent E. R. Fryer has submitted plans for a 250-watt transmitter at the central Indian agency and three smaller stations at distant points.

There is a telephone system between the main points of the reservation, but Indian couriers still are used in remote corners.

New York Cotton

New York, April 10—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, one to three higher. Influence of improved Liverpool cables was partly offset by continued nervousness over the French monetary uncertainty. After prices had changed a point or so further, the market responded to moderate trade and commission-house buying with prices easily influenced by few orders. The market was cooperatively quiet, July had recovered from 13-92 to 13-92 and shortly after the first hour was selling at 13-91 when the market showed net gains of four to seven points. Futures closed steady, three to seven lower. Spots quiet, middling 14.53.

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 10—(AP)—A few specialties managed to crawl forward in today's stock market, but the list as a whole was unable to get any place in particular. Although selling prices were lacking in most instances, buying forces found little in the news to inspire a wide extension of commitments. Closing trends were indefinite. Dealings were on the quiet side throughout. Transfers were around $50,000 shares.

For Shrimp Aches

Galveston, Tex. (AP)—Dolph Rogers, veteran fisherman, thinks he has found a solution to a problem that long has baffled expert salt water fishermen—how to keep live shrimp bait alive and healthy. He has learned, he says, that the life and general well-being of shrimp are prolonged by administering a dose of monochlor ester of acetyl salicylic acid—aspirin to you. He is not sure, however, how many tablets should be used in a given quantity of water and is pursuing further research.

HIGHS TO PLAY CITY GOLFERS FAYETTEVILLE BEAT TARBORO

Conference Game Scheduled For Tuesday

On Tuesday, April 13, the Greenville High school baseball team will play Fayetteville here.

The Greensies will be after their second win in the class A Conference and their third win of the season. Rain caused a postponement on Friday with Wilson, but the game will be arranged at a later date.

The Greensies are improving more and more as the season goes on and with the addition of George Clark and Carl Pierce back in the line-up they will be a stronger club than when they played Raleigh and Kinston.

There is not much known about Fayetteville but it is believed that they have a stronger club this year than last and Coach Rusty Bloomington expects to use his strongest lineup. The game will start promptly at 3:45.

Geishas Ready For War

Tokyo (AP)—Military drill will be part of the routine soon of some 5,000 of Tokyo's prettiest geisha girls, who have just become a chapter of the Japan Women's National Defense Association. Not to be outdone, some 6,000 of the capital's waitresses also have joined up, pledging to contribute part of their tips and earnings toward the purchase of war material.

Scouts To Invade Haunts Of Indian Braves' Ghosts

Big Event To Be Held In Rocky Mount April 30-May 1

Rocky Mount, April 10.—Ghosts of Indian braves, who once roamed the section, will be forced to take a back seat when a modern tented city, which will be occupied by more than 500 youths who are emulating in many respects the red-man's program, arises this month on an old Indian Reservation.

The site is "Panther Island," located in Tar River below the spectacular "falls," and it will be occupied by Boy Scouts from all over Eastern Carolina, who will gather here on April 30-May 1 for the Annual Patrol Camporee of the East Carolina Council.

Once again, the smoke signals will rise as modern "braves" communicate with one another, and once again the campfires will burn brightly upon the soil which is filled with Indian relics and which probably has not had a tent pitched upon it since the redskins made way for the inroads of the white man's civilization.

It was because of the towering rocks and the jagged cliffs of Battle Park, adjacent to Panther Island, that Rocky Mount—flat as a table everywhere else—that the Nash-Edgecombe city drew its name "Rocky Mount."

Scout Executive John J. Sigwald of the East Carolina Council announced today that registration for the two-day encampment were rapidly pouring in and that the best sites on historic Panther Island were being reserved for those who register first. The closing date for registrations has been set for April 23.

Rocky Mount, preparing to declare a holiday in honor of its youthful guests on April 30, has caused a waterline to be laid to the island and the undergrowth has been removed; so that the Boy Scout's bed will be a bit more comfortable and the music of the gigantic pines, the creaking of lordly oaks and the roaring of the Falls will not be wasted upon campers who are too busy removing saplings from their bunks to listen.

Events which will be held during the two-day encampment will include the following: cooking, fire building, compass, drills, whittling, signaling, tracking, pioneering, nature study, knot tying, map making, cliff rescues and judging.

The Camporee will be opened officially at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, April 30, with registration, pitching camp and the first medical inspection, while at 5 o'clock the patrol units will prepare their evening meal and participate in a retreat ceremony. A mass campfire on a separate island, "Treasure Island," will take place at 8 o'clock that night. This island is just large enough to accommodate the campers in the center with a natural rim above being provided for the spectators. Many stunts are on the program.

On Saturday, May 1, the Program will begin with breakfast, of course, after which the tents, grounds and projects will be prepared for inspection. At 9 a. m. the patrols will prepare for their noon-day meal at 12 o'clock. A parade through the streets of Rocky Mount will be held at 2 p. m. and the camp will break up at 4 p. m.

Counties comprising the East Carolina Council and from which patrols are eligible to enter the Camporee are as follows: Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe, Pitt, Beaufort, Lenoir, Greene, Halifax, Northampton, Bertie, Martin, Hertford, Tyrrell, Washington, Craven, Jones, Dare, Hyde, Onslow, Carteret and Pamlico.
