BRITAIN SENDS MAN OF WAR TO BAY OF BISCAY

Action Taken For Protection of Shipping on High Seas

REFUSE PROTECT FOOD SHIPMENTS

More Than 3,000 Government Troops Reported to Have Been Slaughtered

(By Associated Press) Great Britain ordered her mightiest man-of-war to the Bay of Biscay today to protect British shipping on the high seas against Spanish insurgent vessels blockading Spain's Northern coast.

As the huge battle cruiser Hood, most powerful warship in the world, neared the blockaded waters another British war vessel raced to the rescue of a merchantman reported "detained" by the insurgents. Ship circles said, however, the report probably was only a confusion of name.

The British cabinet hurriedly called Sunday session decided on the reinforced naval guard in the Bay of Biscay, but refused to guarantee protection to British food ships entering Spanish territorial waters. The insurgents are attempting to prevent food from reaching the besieged city of Bilbao and have declared provision cargoes will be regarded as contraband.

More than 3,000 government troops were estimated to have been slaughtered west of Madrid in an insurgent attack against the right flank of the government forces.

As the blockade battle entered its 5th day, an official insurgent communique reported General Jose Miaja's forces routed in one of the severest defeats on the Madrid front.

Government sources said only slight modifications of their lines were necessitated by the heavy insurgent counter attacks after which the Madrid troops attacked again in force near the race track along the Caruna highway in the El Pardo sector.

A blast of dynamite isolated the besiegers' two most formidable garrisons in the University City on Madrid's Northeast and the Case de Campo on its west. It was set off by Government forces on Frenchmen's bridge which connected the insurgent salients across the Manzanares river.

Government cannon bombarded both positions.

Visiting Minister Speaker Here For Evening Services

Selection by Greenville High School Band and Sermon by Rev. H. C. Blackwell Feature Meeting

The union service last night was featured by a selection on the part of the Greenville High School Glee Club and sermon by a visiting minister, the Rev. H. Conrad Blackwell of Richmond, Virginia.

Under the direction of Miss Ona Schindler, the members of the glee club sang "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," as offertory. Mr. Blackwell, a member of the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and who was in the city Saturday in the interests of the nation-wide Emergency Peace Campaign, was invited to deliver the message by the Ministerial Association.

Speaking on the theme, "The Quest for Certainty," Mr. Blackwell reviewed aspects of the "present confusion" but declared that there were three great facts or factors to which people were returning, as they sought their way out of doubtings and bewilderment: the fact of God, the fact of Jesus Christ, and the related fact of the human race as "one family, of one blood-kinship." Using as his text the words, "This is true God, and Him whom Thou hast sent, even Jesus Christ," the speaker concluded with a plea for Christians to eradicate those evils in the world—such as ignorance, poverty and war—which denied the expression in the "human family" of the dual meaning of God and Christ.

Congregational singing was led by Judson Blount, while the Rev. R. C. Grady presided, with the Rev. T. M. Grant leading in prayer.

MUST DIE FOR SLAYING GIRL

West Chester, Pa., Confessed Murderer Sentenced

West Chester, Pa., April 12—(AP)—Alexander P. Meyer, slayer of Helen Meyer, was sentenced today to death in the electric chair. Meyer pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the death of the 16-year-old Coatesville high school girl three weeks ago and placed himself at the mercy of the court.

Judges Butler Windle and Ernest Harvey heard testimony in the case last week. The Commonwealth Attorney asked the death sentence for Meyer after presenting testimony which centered on a statement signed by Meyer. The statements told how Meyer ran the girl down with his farm truck, drove with her body beside him through the country side for 12 miles, attacked her and concealed her body in a well.

Several other cases were heard at this morning's session of the court. John Moore, convicted of drunkenness, was taxed with the costs. Teachie Williams, Negro, was fined $5 and costs upon conviction of engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and assault. W. G. Dunn and Horace Corbin were taxed with the costs upon conviction of engaging in riotous and disorderly conduct and mutual assault.

LEBRUN STIRS RUMOR WITH 'FRSIDIE TALK'

Paris (AP)—President Albert Lebrun of France stirred up a constitutional controversy by following President Roosevelt's example in talking to his nation by radio.

When President Lebrun spoke into a microphone for 15 minutes March 11, the opposition press protested that the president, traditionally a non-political figure, elected for seven years to serve as a stable arbiter over changing ministries, surpassed constitutional limits in pleading for People's Front government bonds.

Conservative newspapers warned he would expose himself to public opinion if he repeated this course. No further presidential talks were arranged.

MINE CENTERS LATEST LABOR DISPUTE AREA

Lead and Zinc Mine Sections Gripped With Tenseness

NINE KILLED IN GALENA, KANSAS

Another G. M. Strike Threatened in U. S. Unless Union is Recognized in Canada

(By Associated Press) New threats of unrest rumbled across the nation's labor front today.

Tenseness gripped the lead and zinc mine centers of Oklahoma, Missouri and Kansas as workers paraded back to their jobs after a turbulent week-end in which eight men and a 15-year-old boy were felled by gunfire.

The nine, watching with many others in behalf of an independent union, were shot down at Galena, Kas., in a clash at organization headquarters of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

At Oshawa, Canada, where 3,700 workers picketed the closed General Motors plants, Premier Mitchell Hepburn refused to confer with a strike committee and peace negotiations were suspended.

Labor leaders meanwhile were concerned over the statements of Hugh Thompson, C. I. O. representative, and Homer Martin, International Union president, that another General Motors strike might be called in the United States unless demands in the Canadian plant are met.

"If they don't make cars in Canada under union conditions, they won't make them in the United States," Martin told a mass meeting.

In refusing to meet a strike committee, Premier Hepburn described Thompson as a "foreign agitator" and not a representative of the workers of Canada.

At Picher, Okla., President F. W. Evans posted a statement opposing C. I. O. organization at the headquarters of the tri-state Mine Metal and Smelter Workers union which claims 8,000 members.

Truculent lead and zinc workers at Picher returned to their jobs today.

"All mines and smelters will be opened as usual Monday," Evans' statement said. "All men will go back to work. We will continue our attempts to prevent C. I. O. unionization of the territory."

Sunday shootings and floggings at Galena climaxed a parade to a C. I. O. office by members of the Tri-State union swinging pick handles. They had previously gathered at Picher to oppose an announced C. I. O. meeting.

Number Citizens Hear Rev. H. C. Blackwell

A hundred people from Greenville and other parts of Pitt County who are interested in peace gathered to sit together around the luncheon table in the Episcopal Parish house here Saturday and hear an address by the Rev. H. C. Blackwell of Richmond, Va., area director for the Emergency Peace Campaign.

To do the best work against war, declared the speaker, all who oppose it—whether pacifist, who would see complete disarmament initiated at once, or military-minded peace supporter who would keep a strong enough army and navy to discourage attack—all should join hands to cultivate a sentiment for peace.

This drawing together of people of all shades of opinion concerning means of preventing war, is the reason for the formation comparatively recently of the Emergency Peace Campaign to crystallize opinion and influence good legislation.

Though inaugurated by the Quakers, this organization now has the support of men of every denomination, such men, the speaker reminded his listeners, as Bishop Paul Kern, Dr. Harry Emerson Fordick, and North Carolina's Dr. Frank Graham and Josephus Daniels.

The Emergency Peace Campaign Mr. Blackwell believes, influenced the type of neutrality that we are to have. Though the new law is not definitely fixed yet, whatever it is, it will be better than the old being mandatory, at least. It will, it appears, still have dangerous weaknesses. It allows American citizens still to travel in war zones and carry on trade which could draw this country into war, and it does not definitely give up the claim to a right to freedom of the seas during war. But it will be better than the old law.

Mr. Blackwell spoke of the value of the "No Foreign War Campaign," a part of the E. P. C. work now being carried on in the state.

Labor Relations Measure Declared Constitutional By U. S. Supreme Court

APPOINTMENTS TO BE DELAYED

Governor Not to Make Any Announcements During Week

Raleigh, April 12—(AP)—Governor Hoey said today he did not expect to make any major appointments this week.

The Chief Executive said he had announced he would hear delegations make recommendations up until April 15 and as he had several engagements for Friday he doubted if he would "get things in line for announcement until next week."

First on the list of major appointments are the members of the new liquor commission and new highway and public works commission, the Governor has indicated.

Tonight the Governor will participate in Masonic exercises here. Friday he will speak at the dedication of a new court house at Lenoir and that night he will speak at the Kennedy home near LaGrange.

Summer Schools Again To Feature Safety Education

Dr. Amos E. Newhart of University of Pennsylvania Will Be One Main Speakers in State

Reflector Bureau, Raleigh, April 12—Safety education among both school children and adults, is the most effective means of reducing and preventing automobile accidents, and will be featured again in the various summer schools of the state this coming summer, Director Arthur Fulk of the highway safety division of the Department of Revenue, said today.

Dr. Amos E. Newhart of the safety education department of the University of Pennsylvania and also connected with the safety division of the American Automobile Association, will be one of the speakers who will address the various summer schools on safety education and tell teachers how to teach safety in the schools. Director Fulk said.

"Dr. Newhart was one of the principal speakers at the safety conference in Atlanta last week and I regard him as the most interesting and most important speaker of the program," Fulk said. "In teaching teachers to teach safety in the schools, he not only gives them the theory of safe driving and safe walking, but actually teaches them how to drive automobiles. He is convinced that children must be taught the rudiments of safe driving and of the traffic laws before they become old enough to drive cars."

"And that is what we are trying to do here in North Carolina. In fact, we have found that one of the best ways to educate the older people with regard to safety and traffic laws is to tell the children about these things, since the children then go home and tell their parents. We also know that there is not much we can do to reform the older drivers and teach them new driving habits. But we can train the younger generation to be more safely conscious."

The highway safety division is making plans to carry on a more widespread safety education program than ever before that will reach into every section of the state, Fulk said.

Supreme Court Rulings Shade Other Activities

Washington, April 12—(AP)—The Supreme Court, declaring the Wagner Labor Relations Act did not abridge freedom of the press, ruled the law was constitutional as applied to the United States.

Acting on a hunch that the Wagner decisions might be forthcoming the House Labor Committee deferred consideration of the Senate-approved resolution condemning both sit-down strikes and certain industrial labor relations practices.

Elsewhere on Capitol Hill, activity was slight as principal interest was focused on the court session.

Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) said the House Ways and Means committee probably would defer until the next congressional session any revision of the new tax on undistributed corporation profits.

Democratic leaders, confident the House would agree to take up another anti-lynching bill, set aside Tuesday and Thursday to debate it.

Opposition developed among some Southerners and supporters of a bill, by Rep. Mitchell (D. Ill.), only Negro in Congress. The House refused last week to consider his measure.

The bill itself was introduced by LRep. Gavanagh (D. N. Y.). It would punish with heavy fines and prison terms state and county peace officers who allow prisoners to be lynched. Similar penalties would be inflicted on mob members.

The Senate considered routine business, but its judiciary committee began its fifth week of hearings on the President Court bill.

The April term of Pitt county Superior court got underway here this morning and faced with a comparatively small criminal docket moved forward at a steady pace.

Billie Register entered a plea of guilty to larceny and was given a 12-months' sentence, suspended upon condition he pay the costs and remain of good behavior.

Alonso Dell tendered a plea of guilty to involuntary manslaughter, but judgment was continued until the August term.

Irvin Eklers entered a plea of guilty to operating a gambling machine, but judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs.

Luther Hunter was given a 12-months' sentence, suspended upon provision he pay the costs and remain of good behavior.

Arthur Scott withdrew his appeal from a conviction of driving drunk and judgment of the County court was ordered in effect.

ANOTHER WIN FOR NEW DEAL

Speculation Stirred Immediately As To Whether President Will Push For Enactment of Proposed Court Reorganization Bill

Washington, April 12—(AP)—The Supreme Court gave the government a major victory today by upholding constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations Act as applied to all business engaged in interstate commerce.

Speculation was stirred immediately as to whether the president's decisions in five cases would give President Roosevelt's fight for reorganization of the tribunal.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, had described the Wagner act as "the magna charta of labor."

It guarantees collective bargaining to workmen in negotiating with employers on wages, hours of work and other labor conditions.

Four of the Supreme Court's decisions, involving the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation of Pittsburgh, the Fruehauf company of Detroit, the Federal Harry Martin clothing company, Richmond and the Associated Press, were five to four decisions.

The court was unanimously in the Washington, Virginia and Maryland coach company case.

Justice Roberts, who has held the balance of power in some five to four decisions, delivered the five to four opinion holding the Wagner act did not violate freedom of the press and could be applied to the Associated Press. He also delivered the unanimous decision in the coach company case.

Chief Justice Hughes, who was 75 years old yesterday, delivered the opinions in the other three cases.

A large crowd of sightseers packed the Supreme Court chamber and extended in a long line down the corridor as the decisions were being read.

They will camp together for a ten-day period as the guest of the President of the United States in the shadow of the National Capital. Special tours and other educational opportunities will be provided for in the registered fee.

Funeral Held Sunday For Greenville Man

Noah Stanell Cox, 59, died suddenly from a heart attack at his home on 4th Street at 6:13 o'clock Saturday night. Prior to the fatal attack Mr. Cox was in the best of health and had just returned from his farm when he was stricken.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by the Rev. T. McM. Grant, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Except for four years, from 1919-1923, during which time he resided in Cary, Mr. Cox lived in Pitt county. He was actively engaged in farming and did much for the advancement of agriculture in the county.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Daisy Dean Cox, four daughters, Mrs. L. M. Taylor, of Beaufort, Mrs. Harvey Eggleston, of Lancaster, S. C.; Misses Irma and Jane Cox of Greenville; three sons, Marshall, Julian, and Thomas Cox of Greenville; two brothers, W. O. Cox of Ayden, and J. M. Cox, of Cox's Mill.

Among the out-of-town persons here for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Miller and Carl Miller of Tarboro, Harvey Eggleston of Lancaster, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Taylor of Beaufort.

Warrants Sworn Out Against Auto Owners

Warrants charging local citizens with owning and operating motor vehicles without a city license tag have been sworn out by W. L. Patrick, assistant city tax collector, and placed in the hands of officers to be served.

The action was taken as a final resort of force automobile owners to purchase the license plates, and came only after repeated warnings and been made.

Approximately 15 warrants were sworn out Saturday afternoon and officers probably will be issued this week unless the car owners purchase the tags.

Washington Daybook

By Preston Grover

Washington — Brewing in the congressional "third house" is one of the grandest romps over foreign policy that congress has witnessed in some seasons.

Some weeks ago this column recorded that there would be a growing White House and State department pressure to give the President greater discretion in administration of the arms embargo machinery.

Nevertheless by a vote of 62 to 6 the senate passed a bill to continue indefinitely the present law under which the President must embargo arms, ammunition and implements of war from recognized belligerents.

But the house felt the pressure and responded wholly in the other direction. It passed a bill by a 347 to 12 vote giving the President discretionary authority as to whether arms embargoes should be imposed, and discretionary in most other particulars in which the senate bill had been made mandatory.

In that manner the question was committed to a conference of representatives of both houses.

Now the conference committee, the congressional "third house" can recommend acceptance of either bill and report it back to the two houses for a vote on the recommendation.

Eve Admits Her Love

EVE was lying in the shelter of the trees near the pool when she became conscious again, her head on a rolled up coat. George's coat, under her cheek. She opened painful eyes to see him in his drenched shirt sleeves, anxiously bending close, wetting her forehead.

"Your work..." she said vaguely. "I got all the records for you!"

"Eve, Eve, you might have been killed!"

each other, they could not bear to live side by side.

Even if she had wanted to sleep, there was no chance of it for the rest of the night. Mattie, John and Adriano had to be put up; there was coffee to make for hysterical Mattie and exhausted Adriano, there were the beds to make, the salvaged valuables and furniture to be piled on their porch by tramping firemen.

"Lance Seymour's dead!" she told Eve, coming back after a word with a last burden-bearing fireman.

They Loved Each Other. At another time Eve would have been shaken by pity and grief and excitement, as Mattie was.

He caught her close to him. "Eve, you love me."

"Might I?" she said it dreamily. "But you're safe, and the records. That's all I care about."

"Eve, you love me. You love me." She could not pretend any longer, she was too tired. She said weakly, "Yes, I do love you. You shouldn't have made me tell you."

"We mustn't. There's Ellen." "I'll break with Ellen. I love you and by a miracle you love me, that's all that matters. You said you did."

"Lance Seymour's Dead!" THE pool's full. Get some water off the pool! A man shouted, close behind the trees. She stood up. A group of firemen were forcing a length of hose through the thick windbreak of pines.

"No hope?" George answered her and added savagely. "I'm glad." She knew what he meant. And she was glad too. Knowing that they loved the conference knowing he must win acceptance of the senate bill or come back to face one of the most notorious arguments of his career.

Yet the amazing thing is that, knowing the battle ahead, both senate and house conferees have postponed coming to blows until now they are face to face with a dangerous deadline.

Chairman Pittman of the senate foreign relations committee, head of the senate conferees, goes into

"The Furniture Style Show attracts more and more people from here every year," said Mr. Taft. "Held in the great Tomlinson Exhibition building, it gives lovers of fine furniture an opportunity to see a diverse showing of beautiful pieces, ranging from the old masters of the 18th century down to the most modern types."

"Many of our patrons who attended the show last year have said they want to go again, and many more who have heard of this event, have expressed a desire to attend. So we have arranged to secure a block of courtesy admission cards to take care of a considerable number of Greenville parties."

"Now, when everyone is so interested in fine furniture, it is particularly fitting that this famous show should choose to feature the Victorian era which was unique in its sumptuous furnishings and lavish hospitality. Returning prosperity in America has focused attention on better living and this annual display at High Point offers such a variety of furniture types that everybody is sure to find the kind he likes best of all."

In the Pictorial Review annual contests for the woman who have done the most significant work of the year, Miss Elliott's name has been near the top of the list in more than a year.

She is an attractive, interesting speaker, never failing to arouse her audience. Some years ago she spoke in Greenville at a district meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs.

The public is invited to hear her tomorrow afternoon. Special invitations were sent to all the women's clubs and the faculties of the High School and College, but there are many others in town who would enjoy hearing her who could not be reached through an organized group. She will speak to the College students at the assembly hour tomorrow at noon, and tomorrow night to the alumnae of the Woman's College, who will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. H. Blount.

TEACHERS WIN IN LATE RALLY

Three Runs Scored In Ninth Inning To Triumph, 8-6

East Carolina Teachers college drove in three runs in the ninth inning in Wilson Saturday to defeat Atlantic Christian college 8 to 6. The Teachers piled up a 5 to 1 lead by the sixth inning but the Bulldogs scored twice in the seventh and three times in the eighth to take the lead.

Outfielder, Bulldog first baseman, had a perfect day at bat with a home run, a double and two singles, accounting for five of his team's runs. A home run by Smith, batting for Hinton, gave the Teachers the winning margin in the final inning rally.

The Chief Justice read rapidly and vigorously, frequently looking up to glance at the chamber.

Hughes asserted in the Jones and Laughlin decision:

"Employees have a clear right to organize and select their representatives for lawful purposes as the respondent has to organize its business and select its own officers and agents."

The question of collective bargaining upheld by the court in business engaged in interstate commerce has been the major point of disputes in the recent series of sit-down strikes.

Under the decisions the legislation is applicable to all businesses held to be in interstate commerce.

HOME BATTLES SET THIS WEEK

The Greenville High school baseball team will engage with Fayetteville here tomorrow in its second conference game of the season. The game is scheduled to start promptly at 3:45 o'clock.

Little is known of Fayetteville as to its strength but it is believed that they will attempt to jolt the Greensies from first place in the Class A Conference. The Greensies will make every attempt to continue their winning streak in the Conference as well as for the season.

Coach Bloomingdale has no definite lineup announced but he will probably start Polly Williams behind the bat in his regular catching position. Cass Futrell at first base; Ford McGowan, at second (Case; George Laulares covering shortstop and Forrest Minges at third. In the outfield will probably be Harold Forbes. Bill Taylor, George Clarke or Jack Forbes. It is not definitely known who will start on the mound but either Way-lan Tucker, DuBose Simpson or Harold Forbes might get the call. It was hoped that Karl Pierce, star of last year's team, might see action this week but it is understood that he will be unable to play for a time.

On Friday, April 16, the Greensies will play Raleigh high school. It should be remembered that the Greensies and Caps played an exciting game over a week ago and Greenville came out on top by the score of 13-10.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest, your stomach gets congested. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only mal-whiffs. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.
