Rebels Tighten Rings Of Steel Around Port of Bilbao

SHIP IS SOUGHT BRING SUPPLIES

Basque Government Offers Protection to Any Vessel Which Will Run Blockade

(By Associated Press) Spanish Insurgents tightened rings of steel around the port of Bilbao, Basque capital in Northern Spain, today trying to force surrender by "starving out" government troops and civilians.

The city's hungry population has risen above the 300,000 mark with the influx of refugees. The Basque government offered protection of government ships within 10 miles of the coast to any vessel that would run the insurgent blockade and bring in food.

Insurgents solidified their blockade of Bilbao after Great Britain refused protection to her merchant men within Spanish waters. Bilbao's defenders, however, declared they could withstand a siege for months. They declared the land drive on the city by insurgent armies had been slowed down and a counter offensive begun.

Insurgents consolidated positions South and East of Bilbao. Unconfirmed reports said an Italian flag was seen over the advance line. In the South, at the doorway to Madrid, reinforced Insurgents fought off government troops trying to annihilate 3,000 of General Francisco Franco's men in University City.

The detective captain said he was uncertain whether he and other detectives would be called to the District Attorney's office today for another conference on the possibility of seeking an indictment against Irwin for the slayings of Veronica Geedon, model, her mother, Mary, and their lodger, Frank Byrnes.

ALL FACTIONS SPECULATE ON COURT RULING

Workers and Bosses Alike Consider Epochal Decision

PEACE FORESEEN BY BOARD HEAD

William Green Predicts Upsurge in Union Organization, Death of Co. Unions

(By Associated Press) Thousands of workers and their bosses in the nation's industrial centers speculated alike today on how the Supreme Court's validation of the Wagner Labor Relations Act will affect their positions.

The historic decisions arrested the attention of labor leaders and workers who have been embroiled for weeks in sit-down controversies. Interest turned to the comments by labor leaders on the court's five affirmative decisions. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicted an upsurge in union organization and the end of company unions.

Warren Madden, chairman of the Wagner Labor Board, foresaw greater industrial peace and expeditious settlement of many labor disputes pending in the courts. Secretary of Labor Perkins said the decisions "in the manufacturing cases are of great significance."

Meanwhile labor generally awaited the outcome of the verbal clashes between Henry Ford, second largest automotive producer, and John Lewis, chairman of the C. I. O. Ford had stated he would never recognize "any union."

Lewis replied Ford would, in time, "change his mind."

President Homer Martin, another official of the U. A. W. A., said affirmation of the labor relations act would bring "an era of peace in industry" and it should "give Mr. Ford something to think about."

As a result of the court's action, Speaker Bankhead said in Washington he would not be surprised to see soon a Presidential message on minimum wages, maximum hours and working conditions.

Settlement of the 11-day strike at the plant of the Hershey Chocolate company at Hershey, Pa., was announced last night.

Quiet prevailed at Oshawa, Ont., where 3,700 workers in the General Motors of Canada plant struck last week.

BACKERS PLAN PROCEED WITH COURT REFORM

Leaders See No Reason for Easing Up On Program Now

NO INDICATION OF COMPROMISE

Reorganization Opponents Welcome Supreme Court Decision on Labor Act

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Insistence that yesterday's Wagner Labor act decisions would not alter President Roosevelt's plan for reorganizing the Supreme court came today from several administration leaders.

Chairman Ashurst (D. Ariz.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee said just before that body resumed hearings on the court bill the tribunal's action in upholding the Wagner law in five separate cases afforded "new and additional" reason for enacting the program.

He said for one thing the court "might change its mind" on some future legislation.

Opposition spokesmen have welcomed the Wagner decisions as obviating any necessity for changing the court in order to have so-called liberal laws upheld.

On the House side Speaker Bankhead said the President's bill "is not out of course."

An informed administration official, who declined to be quoted by name, likewise declared there was no indication of a compromise in the court plan.

Federal District Judge John Knox of New York testified before the Senate Judiciary committee "the real issue in the court controversy is whether certain reforms x x x shall be secured in orderly constitutional procedure, or through a program which if not unconstitutional is definitely and positively anti-constitutional."

The Supreme Court Wagner decisions also figured in House Labor committee deliberations on the Senate-approved regulation jointly condemning sit-down strikes and certain "unfair" labor practices of employers.

The committee approved the resolution, seven to four, and Chairman Connery (D. Mass.) said he would seek to bring it up in the House next Tuesday.

Before the vote was taken the committee defeated, eight to seven, a motion to delay approval until committee had opportunity to study the Wagner act decisions and their effects on labor disputes.

State's Prisoners To Wear Uniforms In Place Stripes

Only Class "C" to Be Forced to Don Old Type of Garb After July 1. Expected to Aid Morale

Raleigh, April 13.—(Reflector Bureau)—The only prisoners in the state who will wear stripes after July 1, will be those in C grade, which designates the lowest grade of prisoners and those which refuse to conform to prison rules and regulations. Oscar T. Pitts, director of the prison division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, said today.

He plans to discontinue the stripes heretofore worn by the prisoners in B grade, in favor of a perfectly plain, brown uniform, Pitts said. The A grade prisoners have worn a plain blue uniform for several years.

The morale of the prisoners has already improved greatly since they earned of the passage of the law abolishing stripes, Pitts said, and they are working harder than ever to get into Grade B or A by July 1st.

"We believe this new, abolishing stripes except in C grade, is going to help us greatly in improving the morale of the prisoners," Pitts said. "For the prisoners hate and fear stripes and are going to do everything possible to keep from wearing them."

22 OCCUPANTS OF MOTOR BUS HURT IN WRECK

All Passengers Accounted for Except Charlotte Woman

ACCIDENT NEAR BRUNSWICK, GA.

Driver Declares He Was Unable to See Because of Fog; Bus Plunges Into Creek

Brunswick, Ga., April 13.—(AP)—Twenty-two persons were injured by the plunge of a Miami-New York motor bus into White Oak Creek, 20 miles South of here, during a fog early today.

Rescued by White Oak boatmen, passengers said a woman they believed to be a Mrs. Stewart of Charlotte, N. C., wife of a bus driver operating between Charlotte and Raleigh, was missing. She boarded the vehicle at Jacksonville, Fla.

The bus left the highway at 3:30 a. m., near a small bridge and turned upon its side in five feet of water.

A rescue force of eight men secured small boats and worked rapidly to extricate the passengers. S. L. Matthews of North Augusta, Ga., driver of the bus, sustained a cut in the face and a head injury and described the accident as follows:

"I had pulled out to pass a car," he said. "Unable to see because of the fog I failed to cut back in the highway sufficiently to strike the center of the bridge spanning the creek."

College To Stage High School Day Here On Thursday

Only Two Schools in Pitt Missing From List of Those Expected to Take Part in Affairs

Only two high schools in Pitt county are missing from the roll of high schools that have sent in acceptance of the invitation to attend and participate in the second, E. C. T. C. High School Day, which will be on Thursday of this week, but these two will probably be on hand when the time comes and make Pitt one of the hundred per cent counties.

Wilson so far is the banner county as it has already sent in one hundred per cent of her eight high schools, with a list of two-hundred and fifty-seven names of those expected to attend. Twenty-one counties so far are on the list and the total number of names sent in is nearing the thirteen hundred mark, and as some schools did not give numbers, this perhaps means somewhere near fifteen hundred. These figures two days ahead of time form a good basis for the number expected estimated at two thousand.

Schools from seven counties that did not send their students to E. C. T. C. on High School Day last year are on the list of those who have accepted this year, but there are a few, on the other hand, who had representatives last year who have not been heard from this time.

On Thursday morning some trucks will come in bringing groups from schools, and even counties that did not notify the College, but they will know there will be a welcome awaiting them and enough barbecue to go around. Some are perhaps waiting to see what the weather will be.

The College students are looking forward to the day with pleasure, not only because many of them will see their home county groups, but because they will get holiday after the second period.

SEX CONTROLS ARE CHEMICAL

Astonishing Discovery Made at Chemical Society Meet

Chapel Hill, April 13.—(AP)—The first isolation of a male sex hormone produced by women and the astonishing discovery that this feminine chemical is a more potent influence toward male characteristics than man's own natural hormone was reported to the American Chemical Society here today.

The discovery was interpreted as meaning many of the aspects are more chemical and less physical than has been believed. The new point of view is that the important controls of sex are chemical reactions instead of the chemicals themselves that terminated the body's tissues.

The report was made by a group of Pennsylvania State University chemists, the same men who last summer succeeded in artificially making the female sex hormone thealin.

Miss Elliot Here For Several Talks
Miss Harriett Elliott, dean of Women at the Woman's College of the greater University, is a guest of honor in Greenville today, but she is having a full day, making three speeches before three different groups. The College students this morning, the A. A. U. W. and others at the Sheppard Memorial Library this afternoon, and the Woman's College Alumnae tonight at the home of Mrs. J. H. Blount.

Her talk to the College students rang with optimism. Freedom of speech and press, the right to discuss ideas freely, a political democracy on which to build an economic democracy, and a national economic unit are three important things the present generation inherits from the past on which it can build for the future.

She emphatically disagrees with the idea that the older people have made a mess of things and that the world and the younger generation will have to clean it all up before they can start to do anything. The weight of the world is not on their shoulders, and much has been done in the past, says this wise student of history and political science.

The reason we are moving as fast as we are towards social justice is that we have liberty of speech and press. It is inspiring to hear opponents intelligently discussing issues. Nothing is more important, she believes, than our national economic unity, but she had time to touch on only the high spots of the subject. She showed that what is done in North Carolina is not at all, but depends on what is done in other states. This unity that makes the different parts of the country exchange goods she believes to be the greatest achievement of the past thirty years.

Such problems as the textile and cotton problems, tenant farmers, wages, and labor are no longer local but have become national issues. The international situation, to her, is the most discouraging of all to youth, but she is not completely pessimistic about that. She believes that in spite of the failures and discouragement that we see now, that people all over the world will be gradually attempted to abolish war, although it may be yet a means untried.

"The youth of the country have decided that war is no decent, nor intelligent way to solve problems, and as she has great faith in the future, she believes that this generation of young people will work out that problem. The prevention of war is the big task she would put on their shoulders.

She closed with the idea that each generation makes its contributions which are added to those already laid in the foundation upon which we are to build.

Partial List Of Greenie Baseball Team Is Announced

National Issues Object Of Gridiron Club Satire

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—Official Washington laughed today over the Gridiron Club's latest satirical thrusts at national issues centered this time on the Supreme Court and sit-down strikes.

The club's fun-making over current issues reached new heights of fantasy at its spring dinner Saturday night. Skits portrayed the Republican party capturing the government by a sit-down strike, John L. Lewis taking over the presidency and 15 rubber-stamp warring Supreme court justices approving a foot-high stack of laws without reading them.

President Roosevelt, Chief Justice Hughes, Justices McReynolds and Stone, Lewis, Vice-President Garner and Speaker Bankhead were among the guests of the newspapermen's organization.

Others included Secretaries Hull, Morgenthau, Woodring, Wallace and Roper, Attorney General Cummings, Postmaster General Farley, many high in the administration and representative groups from Congress, industry and foreign diplomats.

The President spoke his mind to the diners, and Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corporation, also addressed the club. Their speeches, however, were unreported in accordance with the club's tradition that no reporters are present at its dinners.

The scene for the skit depicting the C. R. O. (Committee for Republican Organization) capturing the government in 1941 with a sit-down strike represented the East Room of the White House.

There, Chairman John Hamilton of the Republican party, Alf M.

London, Herbert Hoover and other Republican sit-downers received word their forces had sat down in all departments of the government. Some Republicans scowled as Hamilton proclaimed Lewis as president, but Lewis said:

"Why shouldn't I be your president? Ain't I the man that showed you how?"

The rubber-stamp Supreme Court justices, each depicted as Caspar Milquetoast, swung their stamps to the song:

"One, two, better get through, x x x nine, ten, stamp 'em again. Gee, but we get a thrill. In our judicial mill, When we're working for you."

Other skits tossed barbs at Senators who endorsed cigarettes, at the President's government reorganization plan, at Secretary Wallace's ever normal granary plan and at government manufacture of rum in the Virgin Islands.

Joseph E. Davies, ambassador to Russia, received a ribbing in a ballet in which the prima ballerina was "the Angel Davies" who showered gold on W. Forbes Morgan, Democratic treasurer, and received an appointment as ambassador to Russia.

FARLEY NAMES NINE PLAYERS

Complete Roster Expected to Be Announced Soon

Manager Bo Farley today announced a partial list of players who will try out for places on the Greenville entry on the Coastal Plain baseball league, to be operated this year a Class D professional unit.

At least 20 prospective members of the team are expected to be on hand next week when practice is expected to get under way.

A number of the players trying out for the local team have been in training at the big league camps in Florida and elsewhere. Several of them fell a little short of measuring up to big league calibre. The team this year will be composed chiefly of young players anxious to make a good showing and go on up.

The season will open on May 6, with Greenville meeting Ayden in that place. The opening date has been definitely decided and a proposed schedule sent to all clubs in the league. Tonight is the deadline for making protests and unless some club objects, the schedule will be adopted as drawn. Greenville and Ayden will be paired in holiday games.

Several new rules will be followed this year, the league being bound by regulations of organized baseball.

The partial roster of the local club announced today by Manager Farley follows:

Durwood Stowe of E. C. T. C.; Walter Latham of Bethel; John Ours, pitcher of Arlington, Va.; Fred Caligiuri, outfielder, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Bill Wheeler, shortstop, Washington, D. C.; Thurston Smith, pitcher, Brockport, N. Y.; Tillie Muto, second baseman, Harrisonburg, Pa.; Tucker Joiner, pitcher, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Bill Zapp, shortstop, Detroit, Mich.

Manager Farley said several others were being sent from Utah by Card, member of last year's team, but that he was not ready to announce their names and for what positions they will try out for. Card is now the property of the Chattanooga, Tenn. club of the Southern league.

With the season only a short while off, local fans are exhibiting much interest in the team.

tured in the ways and means of golf.

Many have risen to fame under his guidance. Best known among them are the Durras, Morrie and Olin, and the Espinosa, a flock of them—Abe, Al, Romie, Henry and others.

Olin Dutra, now one of the ranking professionals, has held the National Open crown. He once packed clubs for Peter. So did the others as rig-tailed youngsters, all looking up to Hay as the biggest man of the time.

GAME SET FOR ROCKY MOUNT

Boston Red Sox To Meet Cincinnati Reds Tomorrow

Rocky Mount, April 13.—Eastern North Carolina's top baseball attraction of the season will be staged at Brile's park here Wednesday when the Boston Red Sox of the American League meet the Cincinnati Reds of the National League in an exhibition game starting at 2:30 o'clock.

Some of baseball's leading stars will appear in the lineups of both teams. Such famous players as Lefty Grove, Wes Ferrell, Rick Ferrell, Jimmy Fox, Joe Cronin, Pinky Higgins, and Eric McNair will be here with the Red Sox while the Reds will present such outstanding performers as Ival Goodman, Kiki Cuyler, Ernie Lombardi, Paul Derringer, and Wild Bill Hallahan.

Reports from their Florida training camps indicate that both clubs have improved over last season.

Each is hailed as the "dark horse" in its respective circuit. Cincinnati has gained the reputation of being one of the most colorful teams in the majors with its "roughhouse" style of play which Manager Chuck Dressen has ordered for this season.

HEADQUARTERS FOR BETTER LIVING AT LOWER COST

After watching the passing parade of golf for more than 25 years Peter Hay, world-famous professional instructor of the Del Monte course, oldest in California, has come to this conclusion:

"It's just as hard to make a Birdie in this age of streamlining and speed as it was in the days of the gutta-percha ball."

Hay, 265 pounds of joviality, the burr of Scottish highlands in his voice, gurgatively was born with a club in his hand. He first saw the light of day in 1885, in Aberdeen.

At the age of 13 he set out to make his own living. It was only natural that he should turn to caddyding at the nearby Bulgownie club, later to be known as the Royal Aberdeen.

Golf was the hub around which the entire community revolved. There are to municipal courses where golf was absolutely free.

On One-Third Of A Club.

From carrying clubs it as but another step to swinging them. It wasn't as easy then for a caddy to acquire clubs as it is now, however. Golfers of Peter's youth didn't junk their sticks as freely as U. S. linksmen of today.

"You've heard about Sandy, who quit golf because he lost his ball?" questions Hay. "Well, that was closer to being fact than fiction."

Hay and two boyhood chums learned to play with one club between them. The modern pro would sniff at the set of clubs carried by his colleague of the '90s. A rally large set consisted of a driver, balfy and spoon, mid-iron, lofting iron, mashie, niblick, putting cleek and putter.

It was the day of the solid gutta-percha ball. It was made by pouring hot water on the gutta-percha and squeezing it in a press. The mightiest swat-smith's could get 220 yards.

George VI Visited Him.

In 1913, strapping Peter Hay set foot on the Del Monte links, first to be laid out in the Golden State. He's been there since, hobnobbing with notables from many lands. The present King of England visited the famed resort as a prince, incognito. Indian potentates, oriental royalty and the pillars of American wealth, society and industry have laughed at the anecdotes of California's oldest pro in point of service.

Because of his own early start, a sa bag-toter over Scottish fairways, Peter has regarded the oddities of the district as his own special charges, to be watched over and

Washington Daybook
 By Preston Greer

Washington — Somebody high up the line has let slip a word or two about plans for getting the government out of the silver buying business. But the reaction upon Capitol Hill was so abrupt as to indicate it would not be smart to do much about it until the court fight is over.

For a long time it has been known that Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury and Governor Eccles of the federal reserve have opposed continuation of the silver buying program, which was started three years ago upon the demand of belligerent western congressmen.

But whether the recent very private talk of scuttling the program came from them cannot be said. Certainly several of their underlings denied quickly enough that they knew anything about it.

Silver congressmen advocated the purchase plan on several grounds. They wanted to help silver mines in western states by increasing the price. They wanted to give silver a permanent place in the sun, like gold, at which it would always draw a fixed high price. They argued that the benefit to the miners was only incidental, that their real aim was an increase in the monetary metal supply of the world by the addition of silver to gold, and at the same time to bring about an increase in the purchasing power of the Orient where silver is much in use.

Whether the idea would work, if carried out as the silver men wished, has been and will be argued for many weary days in congress. But the fact is the treasury and Mr. Eccles think it won't work. Moreover, the treasury is so disillusioned about the idea that it has neither bought all the silver the act called for, nor adopted the other alternative of pushing the price up to $1.29 an ounce.

Nevertheless silver mines have benefited from the program even as carried out, because a price of about 77 cents an ounce has been fixed for all domestic silver and the world price was once forced even higher, although now it ranges in the mid-40's. Before advent of the act the price was 25 cents.

This is what was when talk was heard of a plan to end the program it developed possibilities of real trouble. For the administration to seek to end it now would antagonize Senators Pittman of Nevada and Thomas of Oklahoma — right when their support is needed in the court fight.

Senator Wheeler of Montana, one of the staunchest supporters of the silver buying program, bluntly asserted that any move to renounce silver buying would look like an effort to punish him for opposing the President's court plan.

There is congressional sentiment, outside the administration, to repeal the silver buying act, but at least one such move is being held up because its author wants Wheeler's continued support against the court plan.

The behind-the-scenes talk continues, but it seems likely now that any move to end silver buying will be withheld.

Wars vs. Highways

In six major wars in which the United States engaged in during a period extending over 150 years the total loss of life was 244,357. In the past 15 years 415,977 men, women and children have been killed in automobile accidents. In the past two years, accidental deaths in the United States numbered 211,000.

At this time there are organized movements underway throughout our country seeking to keep America out of another war. Naturally none of us want to see the United States engaged in another war, but while we are giving so much attention to preventing the slaughter that would come with another war, why aren't we likewise just as interested in preventing the slaughter on our highways that is taking the lives of thousands of our men, women and children annually?

There will never be safety on our highways until our people as a whole become safety conscious and this will not come about until public opinion and sentiment is aroused to the extent that the careless and reckless persons will be considered public enemies and driven from the highways. We have a war that must be waged here at home if this unnecessary slaughter on our highways is to be curbed.

NORTH CAROLINIANS IN NATION'S CAPITAL
 By PAUL BARKLEY

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Representative Lindsay C. Warren of Washington, N. C., advanced his reputation in the house this week as a "watch-dog" of congressional spending.

Partly through his efforts, the House voted against authorizing investigations into sit-down strikes and anti-Nazi activities in this country.

Warren's chairman of the House accounts committee which controls appropriations for such congressional spendings. He took the view the investigations would be useless and a waste of money.

President Roosevelt's court proposals took a back seat during senate and house discussion of the sit-down strike situation, but word came from North Carolina that "rank and file" in that state are with the president.

A. D. Folger of Mt. Airy, Democratic national committeeman for North Carolina, brought this news to the capital.

"The rank and file in North Carolina favor the President's plan," he said, "but strong opposition is coming from lawyers, big business and the industrialists."

Representative Robert L. Doughton of Laurel Springs, has a new secretary.

He is Milton Cooper from Salisbury, who succeeded Sidney Gambill of Sparta, who is now an associate counsel in the treasury department.

Cooper reports for work at 7:30 A. M., the opening hour at Doughton's office.

Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins pointed today to construction or repair of 1,150 miles of North Carolina roads and highways as evidence of WPA progress in that state during the past 12 months.

Of this total, 81 miles consisting of new construction and 1,068 miles of repairs and improvements to existing facilities.

Hopkins also reported another development of the WPA program was the repair or construction of 408 public buildings, including 278 educational buildings with a capacity of 67,553 pupils.

There are now 95,000 motion picture theaters in the world, an increase of about 8,000 in the last year. Soviet Russia accounted for 4,290 of this increase.

CLUB PROGRAM MOST UNUSUAL

Self-Help Students At College Entertain Rotary Members

By BILLY NESBIT
 (Club Reporter)

"The most unique we've had in a long time," commented President J. B. Kittrell on the program presented by four self-help East Carolina Teachers College students at the Monday night meeting of the Rotary Club.

The program was in charge of Dr. A. M. Schultz who presented Dr. Howard McGinnis of the College and his guests.

Introductory to the program Dr. McGinnis told of the fine work being done by the self-help students and the service they are rendering not only to the college but to themselves. He pointed out that there were now two hundred and fifty students at East Carolina Teachers College who are engaged in work that helps defray their expenses.

The students, Clifton Britton and Misses Gladys Ipeck, Margaret Eakes and Ruth Kiker, introduced themselves in a short skit of "what takes place when college students are asked to put on a program at the Rotary Club." The skit was admirably presented and thoroughly enjoyed by members of the Rotary club.

At the last meeting of the club, the entire membership of the club was nominated for the Board of Directors and at this meeting six members were elected from the club-at-large for Directorships. They were J. H. Blount, H. L. Ormond, J. C. Gaskins, R. V. Keel, T. M. Grant, J. L. Winstead and the retiring president, J. B. Kittrell.

Following the meeting the Board met to elect a president and other officers for the coming year.

President J. B. Kittrell urged the attendance of all who could at the District Conference to be held at Pinehurst, Sunday and Monday, May 9 and 10, respectively. President Kittrell stated that District Governor Edmund Harding of Washington had arranged a fine program there. He also called attention to an Inter-City meet to be held in Farmville, Tuesday night, April 13.

On April 22nd the Rotary Club will sponsor a program at the Women's Club during the Fine Arts Festival.

Guests of the club at the meeting included the victorious Greenville High School Triangular debaters, John David Bridges, Louis Mayo and Misses Marjorie Sugg and Marjorie Spivey, their Coach, T. C. Bryan of the Greenville High School faculty; Rev. Steve Gardner and G. R. Hodges of Washington, N. C., and J. B. Kittrell was the winner of the attendance booster prize given by T. Y. Walker.

ROOSTER SETS FOWL EATING RECORD

Tulsa, Okla. (AP)—A husky little Rhode Island Red rooster belonging to Bill Eschbach recently set a mark for other roosters by striving for eating 692 grains of corn to win a contest with four other fowl gourmets.

The rooster was still eating when judges closed the contest because corn ran out for the second time. More corn was obtained and the rooster ran his number up to 751 before he was led away looking hungry.

MANY DRIVERS LOSE PERMITS

Nearly 14,000 Now Barred From Driving Cars in State

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, April 12.—A total of 13,654 persons are now barred from driving automobiles in North Carolina as a result of the operation of the Drivers' License Law enacted by the 1935 general assembly and which was not changed in any detail by the 1937 assembly. It was revealed today in the report for the month of March made public by Director Arthur Falk of the highway safety division. For the period ending April 2, the licenses of 9,494 drivers had been revoked, the licenses of 1,706 had been suspended, while the applications of 2,654 drivers had been refused, either because of bad previous driving records or because they failed to pass the examinations required in order to obtain drivers' licenses, the report shows.

There are at present 773,834 licensed drivers in the state, of which 117,951 have been licensed since November 1, 1935, when the period for securing drivers' licenses without charge ended. Since that time, a charge of $1 has been made for each driver's license issued. During the month of March the division issued 7,304 new licenses out of a total of 7,491 paid applications.

The licenses of 522 drivers were revoked during March, chiefly following convictions for drunken driving, while the licenses of 243 drivers were suspended, the report shows. The safety division now makes it a practice to suspend the licenses of all drivers who take appeals to higher courts on drunken driving charges or other charges which make the revocation of a driver's license mandatory in case of conviction. The division also refused to issue licenses to 246 applicants in March.

The revocations of 290 drivers' licenses expired during March, while a 735 revocations have expired to date, the report shows. New chauffeur licenses were issued to 500 applicants in March, bringing the total number of chauffeur's licenses issued to date to 13,170.

Five Contests Listed On UNC Sports Card

Chapel Hill, N. C., April 12.—Spring holidays which began Saturday at the University of North Carolina will give Tar Heel athletic teams a comparatively light program this week.

Carolina's varsity baseball team figures in three of the five engagements. The Tar Heel nine was to open its Big Five campaign against Davidson in the Wildcat stronghold and will meet Wake Forest's state champions at Wake Forest Thursday afternoon.

Coch Bunn Hearn's charges will play host to V. M. I. Friday in a return contest in Carolina's lone home attraction.

The varsity track team is the only other active squad. Coach Bob Frazier's boys will swing northward for engagements with the University of Virginia at Charlottesville Wednesday afternoon and Navy at Annapolis Saturday.

Scout Troop Planned For Greenville Girls

At the regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Memorial Baptist church, Monday afternoon, it was unanimously voted that the society would sponsor a Girl Scout Troop.

After many continued requests by the girls that a Troop be organized and after failures to have it sponsored by other women's groups in the community, a representative went before the women of the Missionary Society and explained briefly what the duties and opportunities were in the local girls work. The Society will elect the Troop Committee and the Troop officers in the very near future.

A meeting will be held Friday evening at 7:30 at the Memorial Baptist church to lay the plans of organization by the girls, with Mrs. Ralph Mozo acting as temporary leader, or captain. All girls from 10 years of age through 18 that are interested are invited to be present.

There will be no attempt to make this a Baptist Troop. Girls with any church preference are welcome.

WOMEN SIT-DOWNERS PIONEERED IN SALOON

Mooreville, Ind. (AP)—The current wave of sit-down strikes is nothing new here. Back in 1831 the women of this town staged such a siege in a saloon until the bartender quit.

The women objected to having a saloon in Mooreville. They took their knitting and rocking chairs and planted themselves before the bar. They worked in shifts so several women were always present.

The bartender muttered to himself, then he chewed his nails and swore. His patrons balked at drinking before the knitters—in fact they refused even to enter the place. This went on for days until the bartender admitted defeat and moved out of town.

LINT FARMERS SAVE ON RATES

Cotton Growers To Get 15 Per Cent Cut On Insurance

Reflector Bureau.
Raleigh, April 13.—North Carolina cotton growers will be given the benefit of a 15 per cent decrease in fire insurance premiums on bales stored in 1938. Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott announced today.

"Under the new deal" for the farmers in this state, a reduction in fire insurance costs on cotton stored in warehouses under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture will result in lower storage rates in some cases and in most cases the producer or depositor of cotton will be assured of no increase in storage rates," Commissioner Scott said.

A. B. Fairley, superintendent of the state warehouse system, pointed out that "even though the price of cotton has advanced more than 20 per cent during the past 60 days, the reduction obtained by the Department of Agriculture will offset the natural increase in storage rates which are based upon the value of cotton."

The warehouse superintendent estimated that there are approximately 200,000 bales of cotton in the state-licensed warehouses of North Carolina today.

"Farmers are recognizing the value of storing their cotton in state-licensed warehouse more and more each year," Mr. Farley said. "During the past four years, about two-thirds of the cotton produced in the State has been housed under Department of Agriculture supervision. The increased demand for receipts issued by state-licensed warehouses during the past decade has resulted in an increased floor space from 1,400,000 square feet in 1927 to 4,200,000 feet in 1937.

"The state of North Carolina guarantees the integrity of receipts issued by warehouses licensed under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture, thereby insuring the farmers against loss by fire, theft, and water damage. For losses, the farmers will be paid for his cotton based on the then-current market prices."

N. Y. Stock Market

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Buying forces took over the helm in the stock market and reading industrial's rode the stride for gains of fraction to three or more points. Dealings were livelier than usual. Near the fourth hour there was a little profit selling but advances were well maintained. Traders seemed much relieved the long-awaited Supreme court decisions had been received calmly by markets generally. Bonds were slightly mixed and commodities displayed diverse trends.
