

British Freighter Runs Blockade Of Spanish Rebels

Week's Supply Food Delivered At Port of Bilbao

OWNER REPORTS REACHING CITY

International Patrol In Effect to Keep Volunteers and Munitions From Spain

(By Associated Press) A British freighter today ran the Spanish Insurgent attempted blockade and carried a week's food supply to the inhabitants of Insurgent-besieged Bilbao, capital of Northern Spain's, Basque provinces.

The international patrol of Spain's coastal waters and boundaries went into effect last night, but it was designed only to keep volunteers and munitions from Spain.

The British ship, The Seven Seas Spray left St. Jean de Luz, France, an hour before the control scheme went into operation. The vessel's owner reported she had reached Bilbao safely despite the British government's refusal to protect British craft going all the way into the port. The British officials have contended the harbor was dangerously mined.

For the ninth consecutive day Madrid felt the force of steady insurgent shelling which government authorities said took "many victims." Projects smashed into buildings along a principal thoroughfare and scattered masonry and glass along the streets. Before today's shelling 150 had been killed in the city in eight days of bombardment.

At Hendaye, France, Insurgent sources reported an Insurgent war ship had seized a merchant vessel trying to take airplanes and war materials to Bilbao and Santander on the Northern Spanish coast. The vessel came from a Mexican port. It was said, but its name and nationality were not disclosed.

Insurgents halted a Norwegian steamer carrying salt in the Straits of Gibraltar and took her to Spanish Morocco, the Norwegian government reported.

Another Scandinavian nation, Finland, ordered an investigation of a charge of a British marquis that $10,000,000 worth of munitions had been stored in Finland by two Englishmen who planned to run it to Spain.

To Hold Forums In Connection With Fine Arts Affair

Monah Leide-Tedesco, Composer and Educator, to Lead Discussion At Woman's Club Thursday

The regular Public Forum scheduled for Greenville this week will be held on Thursday night, as usual, but the discussions will be held in the Woman's club building, sponsors having decided to hold the meeting in connection with the Fine Arts Festival. The Rotary club also is joining in sponsoring the discussion.

Monah Leide - Tedesco, composer and conductor, is scheduled to lead the discussion. Since the Public Forum topic is so closely related to the Fine Arts Festival, it was decided to hold the two jointly.

Mr. Leide-Tedesco was educated at the University of Naples. His musical training was from the very beginning imparted by several of the greatest living masters. His musical experience was invaluable enriched by his personal contacts with such musical figures as Strauss and Weingartner.

From 1922 to 1932 he conducted many of the leading symphony orchestras of Central Europe. While in Czechoslovakia, Mr. Leide-Tedesco was a guest of President Masaryk at his summer seat, an honor shared by only a few foreign musicians.

Mr. Leide-Tedesco conducted the new Chamber Symphony of New York City from 1932 to 1935. The first performance of his own compositions were broadcast during this time over the NBC chain from Rockefeller Center. At present he is engaged in completing several symphonic works which are scheduled for early performance in the East. For several years Mr. Leide-Tedesco was the head of the music departments of the University of Illinois. He is also lecturing before the Colleges of the Board of Education of the City of Chicago.

MAN TAKEN IN KINSTON CASE

Chris Henderson Is Questioned in Death of Lenoir Citizen

Cris Henderson, Greenville man was taken in custody here last night by officers investigating the death of a man missing from his home in Kinston since last November.

The man was taken by city officers, who turned him over to city and county officers from Kinston.

The man whose death the officers are investigating was found in the Neuse river a few days ago. One of his legs was broken and officers immediately began investigating his actions immediately before he was reported missing.

Chief G. A. Clark said Henderson admitted being with the man the night he disappeared, but denied any foul play on his part.

The name of the dead man was not known here by local officers, who declared they arrested Henderson at the instigation of the Kinston officers.

To Open Books For Registration In City

The registration books for the coming city election, to be held May 3rd, for voting precinct No. 1, which comprises Wards Nos. 1, 2 and 3, will be held open at the court house for 10 days beginning April 21st and closing May 1.

Books for precinct No. 2, comprising Wards 4 and 5, will be open during the 10-day period April 21st to May 1st at the Water and Light offices.

Persons living in either of these precincts who are not already registered, should do so if they care to vote in the election. If any person has moved from one precinct to the other since he last registered, he should call on the Registrar and have the transfer made.

Precinct No. 1 includes the territory between East Fifth street and the river to Five Points and between Dickinson Avenue and the river to the western limits of the city. This precinct will vote at the court house.

Precinct No. 2 includes the remainder of the city not included in the limits of Precinct No. 1, and voters will cast their ballots at the Water and Light office.

Mrs. Loraine Horne Tyson is registrar of Precinct No. 1; Mrs. Sallie Jackson Evans registrar Precinct No. 2.

BOY RECEIVES $600 AWARD AS WAR CASUALTY

San Francisco (AP) - San Francisco is paying $600 for a World War casualty - to a child who was not even alive during the conflict.

In the patriotic days that saw "hamburger steak" changed to "liberty steak," this city changed the name of Berlin street to Brussels street. The name "Berlin" was chiseled out of the cement sidewalk and the hole never filled up.

A few weeks ago Robert Breuck, a school pupil, stepped in the depression and broke his leg. His parents put in a claim for damages and the $600 award followed.

Milk cows in the United States reached a five-year low of 25,040,000 at the beginning of this year but an increase is expected in the next three years.

Rearing Costs To Boost Taxes

London, April 20. - (AP) - Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain told a House of Commons today that British income taxes would be increased 2.5 per cent to 25 per cent to pay the nation's rearmament bills.

Gasps of astonishment greeted the Chancellor's declaration, made as he read his sixth budget message before a parliamentary assembly packed to the roofs.

The tax will provide an expected 275,000,000 pounds sterling (about $1,375,000,000), Chamberlain said. Britain's armament bill eventually will be $7,500,000,000.

Censor Bars Speech Against Court Plan

The Kansas Board of Motion Picture Review, headed by Chairman Mae Clausen (above), caused political tongues to wag furiously by censoring a news reel so as to delete comment by Senator Wheeler of Montana against President Roosevelt's court plan.

ROOSEVELT TO COME TO STATE

Agrees to Made Address at Roanoke Island Aug. 18th

Washington, April 20. - (AP) - Rep. Lindsay Warren of Washington, N. C., said today President Roosevelt had agreed to make an address August 18 on Roanoke Island, N. C., commemorating the 250th anniversary of the birth of the first child of English parentage on the American continent, Virginia Dare.

The celebration, to run about two months from July 1, also will mark the 350th anniversary of the discovery of Sir Walter Raleigh's lost colony.

Warren said the President also had approved a special stamp for the occasion.

Sees No Shortage In New Leaf Crop Due To Blue Mold

Agriculture Commissioner Scott Declares Situation Not as Serious as Some Have Believed

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, April 20. - While blue mold in tobacco beds is rather serious in some sections of the state, it is not as serious as some people have thought and is not likely to have any effect whatever upon the total acreage planted to tobacco this spring, in the opinion of Commissioner of Agriculture W. Kerr Scott. As a result, he sees no reason to become alarmed over the situation.

"Every spring there is always a lot of talk about the possibility of a short tobacco crop as the result of the blue mold getting into the plant beds, but when planting time comes, all the farmers usually manage to get all the plants they need," Commissioner Scott said. "Accordingly, I am not becoming alarmed at the blue mold scare this spring. For when planting time comes, there will be plenty of good plants for every one, since many more beds are planted each year than are actually needed. Hence the farmers who are not able to get plants from their own beds will be able to get them from someone else."

While it is too early to obtain any definite estimate as to the number of acres which will be planted to tobacco in the state this year, indications are that the acreage this year will be at least ten per cent more than last year, according to Frank Parker, statistician in the crop reporting service. The total tobacco acreage in the state last year was 607,000 acres while in 1935 it was 618,000 acres. The five-year average ending with 1936, is 678,000 acres. It is expected that approximately 640,000 acres will be planted to tobacco this year.

The total yield of tobacco last year was 465,000,000 pounds, while in 1935 the yield was 577,000,000 pounds. It will be impossible to estimate the yield of this year's crop until after the growing season is well advanced, since weather conditions are a big factor in the yield.

Half of the nation's farm lands and a large majority of its farmers are partly or wholly occupied in supplying the nation's meat.

ALL FACTIONS TAKE PART IN LABOR PARLEY

Capital, Labor And Government Represented at Meet

MAY ESTABLISH NATIONAL POLICY

Rival Labor Unions Gather in Washington to Study Unionization Campaigns

Oshawa, Ont., April 20. - (AP) - General Motors of Canada agreed today to resume negotiations with a committee of its 3,700 striking employees this afternoon.

(By Associated Press) Representatives of capital and labor sat down with government officials at Washington today in an unprecedented conference that was considered a possible forerunner to formulation of a national policy on strikes and lock-outs.

At the same time two rival labor groups met in the capital to study unionization campaigns which have been intensified since Supreme court validation of the Wagner Labor Relations act.

Informed observers predicted one of the groups, the American Federation of Labor executive council, would consider expulsion of 10 unions already under suspension for supporting the John Lewis, C. I. O.

The second group, the executive committee of the U. A. W. A., weighed a demand from striking General Motor employees of Oshawa, Ont., for a sympathy strike in the corporation's United States plant.

The U. A. W. A. committee was expected also to consider its campaign to organize workers of the Ford Motor company, Homer Martin, president of the union, said formal charges of discrimination would be filed soon with the National Labor Relations board.

Imposition of greater legal responsibility upon labor organizations in view of the concessions gained by the Wagner act was believed one objective of some industrialist at the conference called by Secretary Perkins.

The General Motors Canadian strike persisted as the major active industrial dispute.

PARROT DRINKS LIKE OLD SOAK, BOSS SALOON

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP) - Jimmy, a pint-sized parrot that spends his days and nights perching up and down the bar of a saloon, must have his nip of beer every few minutes.

For three years Jimmy has been virtual boss of Jimmy's bar, a side-street saloon here.

Jimmy drinks like an old soak, and rarely gets drunk nowadays. When he first began his iniquitous career, he used to fall off the bar and fly into the big mirror behind, knocking glasses and bottles from the shelves.

Jimmy often takes a nip from a customer's beer or cocktail with or without invitation. He climbs upon shoulders, and likes to explore overcoat pockets.

One tipsy customer carried Jimmy away in his overcoat pocket a couple of years ago. Maynard Cadmus, the proprietor, traced Jimmy and his escort from one saloon to another. When he finally caught up, they were both drunk.

Jimmy is about 15 years old and once toured the country with a magician who pulled him out of a high silk hat every night.

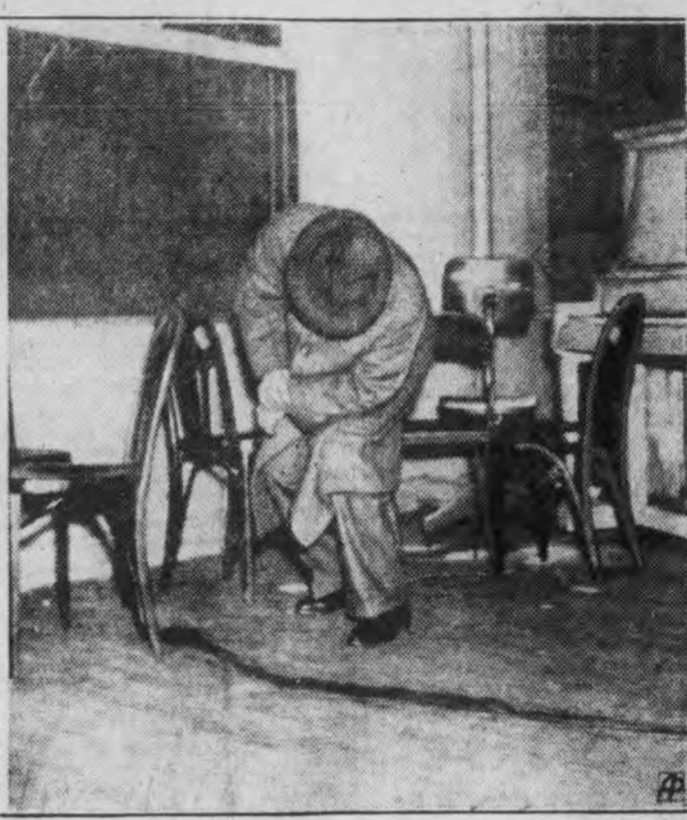

Much Involved In Contest Over N. C. Highway Post

Reflector Bureau. Raleigh, April 20. - Much more is involved in the contest for the chairmanship of the State Highway and Public Works Commission than the public generally realizes, since the basic factor involved is whether the chairmanship shall henceforth be made a political football and depend upon which way the chairman uses his political influence in campaigns, or whether the highway department shall fundamentally remain a road building organization rather than a political machine, those who have been studying the situation closely are convinced.

The cost item is also involved, since it is conservatively estimated that it costs the state at least $1,000,000 every time there is a change in the chairmanship of the state highway commission, due to the inexperience and lack of road building knowledge by any new chairman.

The reappointment of Chairman Capus M. Wayne as the present commission is being urged by the people of the state who do not want

Night Club Girl Victim Of Hammer Murder

SMALL PAPERS MODERN CRIER

J. L. Horne Named Director of Publishers Association

New York, April 20. - (AP) - The small town newspaper, with its year-by-year fundamental content of births, marriages and deaths was translated into personality today as small town publishers met in convention.

The smaller daily was limited as a modern town crier as the problems it presented were laid for study before a part of the annual convention of the American newspaper publishers association.

New directors elected by the membership of the Associated Press at the annual meeting yesterday are: Clark Howell, Jr., of the Atlanta, Ga. Constitution; William J. Pape of the Waterbury, Conn., Republican; Houston Harbo of the San Angelo, Texas Standard; and J. L. Horne of the Rocky Mount, N. C. Telegram.

Charlotte Resident Victim Of Accident

Beaufort, S. C., April 20. - (AP) - Floyd McCullough of Charlotte, N. C., was killed and his brother, Kermit, seriously injured in a grade crossing wreck near here early today.

Kermit was taken to a Walterboro hospital and was identified after communications with relatives. Floyd had been identified by his driver's license.

Name Of Candidate Burnette, Not Barnes

R. Troy Burnette is a candidate for the aldermanic seat from the Fifth Ward in the city primary election of May 3, opposing the incumbent, A. E. Hobgood.

In a campaign story yesterday the name of "R. Troy Barnes" was used in place of R. Troy Burnette. In fairness to all, The Reflector gladly states correctly the name of the candidate.

Suspect Held In New York Death Of Entertainer

New York, April 20. - (AP) - Trembling and close to collapse, Misha Rosenbaum, 36, musician and Broadway booking agent accused of the hammer slaying of Julia Nussenbaum, 25, night club violinist and dancer, was arraigned in homicide court today.

His face was gray and unshaven as he faced Magistrate Alexander Brough. He wore shags a policeman had let him have and clothes other policemen had handed him when his own, stained with blood, were turned over to a city police laboratory.

Rosenbaum was arrested in Mountaiddale, N. Y., yesterday and police said he confessed he attacked Miss Nussenbaum, after a quarrel. Samuel Leibowitz, his attorney, denied such a confession was made.

LEAF GRADING CHANGE ASKED

Would Make Act Voluntary Instead of Compulsory

Washington, April 20. - (AP) - Amendment of the federal tobacco grading act, to make its provisions voluntary instead of compulsory, appeared likely today.

Publication of House appropriations committee hearings on the 1938 agriculture department supply bill showed M. G. White, agriculture department solicitor, already has given an opinion that the service could be made voluntary under the 1935 inspection act.

The act as now enforced, requires compulsory government grading on tobacco markets where two-thirds of the growers vote in favor of it. Because of this feature the constitutionality of the act is being contested in the courts of North Carolina and South Carolina, where growers on a number of markets voted for government grading.

Rep. William Umstead of Durham, N. C., the committee hearings disclosed, suggested the possibility of voluntary grading.

Thirty-Pound Bob Cat Killed By Local Man

M. T. Bradshaw, local agent for the Norfolk Southern railway, ran over and killed a bob cat weighing about 30 pounds Sunday night on the New Bern-Morehead City highway.

Mr. Bradshaw was returning from his camp in Craven county when he struck the animal. He is having the cat mounted to show his friends who may be somewhat skeptical of his story.

Factory employment in the United States during the last year was 40 per cent higher than in 1932 and weekly factory payrolls were 80 per cent greater, according to the United States Department of Labor.

AGENT REPLIES TO CRITICISM

Necessity for Secrecy Explained by Federal Official

Kansas City, April 20. - (AP) - The necessity for secrecy was the answer today of a Federal Bureau of Investigation official to criticism growing out of the slaying of a Federal agent in a gun battle Friday at the crowded Topeka, Kan., post office.

Two New York gunmen, Alfred Power and Robert Sulay, escaped the trap set for them there, but later were captured in Nebraska and are held here on a charge of murdering the agent, W. W. Baker.

Topeka's Chief of Police, Frank Stone, Sr., declared Federal officers "should have taken up into their confidence," pointing out had his men been present the gunman, wanted for bank robbery, "wouldn't have known whom to have fired upon."

Taking cognizance of similar criticism in a Topeka newspaper, W. H. Lester, administrative assistant to Edgar Hoover, said last night at Winfield, Kas.:

"The national guard might have been helpful, too, but such a plan would not be conducive to secrecy." Then he added, "we couldn't get to first base without the help of local officers."

Delegates Named for Education Asso. Meet

President L. R. Meadows, Dr. H. J. McGinnis and Misses Jenkins, Hyman, and Wahl were elected delegates to the E. C. T. C. Unit of the N. C. E. A. Education Association, which will meet in Durham the latter part of this week.

The alternates were Miss Spangler and Miss Adams. Miss Elizabeth Hyman is chairman of the E. C. T. C. Unit which has one hundred per cent membership from the faculty.

Miss Eunice McGee is secretary and treasurer.

President Meadows, Dr. McGinnis and Misses Spangler and Jenkins are the four who will represent the College in one of the episodes of the pageant giving the history of education in North Carolina to be presented in the Duke Stadium on Friday night.

Railroad Shows Greater Profits

Richmond, Va., April 20. - (AP) - The net operating income of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad increased 71.24 per cent during 1936 over the preceding year, the board of directors of the road reported to the annual meeting of stockholders here today.

From an operating deficit of $2,529,455.35 in 1935, the road's net income rose to $1,915,155.66 above total expenses in 1936. The directors' report attributed the increase to improved economic conditions in the southeastern states.

Officers were re-elected, including Director F. K. Borden of Goldsboro.

LARGE SUM FOR RELIEF ASKED BY ROOSEVELT

Requests $1,500,000,000 Be Made Available by June

LARGER DEFICIT SEEN IN BUDGET

Talk Aroused As To Whether Additional Taxes Will Be Requested This Term

Washington, April 20. - (AP) - President Roosevelt recommended today Congress appropriate $1,500,000,000 for work relief for the fiscal year 1938.

He asked the money be made available early in June so its use may be planned before the start of the fiscal year, July 1.

In a special relief message to Congress, Mr. Roosevelt reviewed the national budget situation in the light of lower returns from income taxes than were expected when the last previous budget estimates were made in January.

He figured the deficit at the end of this fiscal year would be $2,527,000,000, an increase of $509,000,000 over the January forecast.

He estimated also at the end of the 1938 fiscal year there would be a net deficit of $418,000,000. His statement aroused talk as to whether additional taxes might be called for in the next session of Congress. Administration leaders generally look for new taxes at this session.

While principal interest in Congress was on the President's message, this was a busy day generally both on capitol Hill and downtown. Senator Borah (R. Idaho) announced a group of his colleagues withdrew insistence on a mandatory "cash and carry" policy in the proposed permanent neutrality bill, thus leaving the way open for assignment of discretionary authority to the President.

In an effort to clarify the relationship between capital and labor, 27 representatives of workers and employers met with Secretary Perkins, who personally appealed for agreement on a national policy to reduce strikes and lock-outs.

The Senate Civil Liberties committee resumed its investigation of conditions in Harlan county, Ky., with testimony by a mountain preacher who said deputies sheriff had once driven striking miners back to work at gunpoint.

William Eddy, president of Hobart college, and Colonel Frederick Allen of Charleston, S. C., director of the constitutional Democracy association, criticized the Roosevelt court bill at Senate hearings.

Benefit Payments Received In Pitt Highest In State

More Than $400,000 in Soil Conservation Payment Checks Already Received in This County

Pitt county farmers already have received $409,680.55 in 1936 Soil Conservation benefit payments, a sum is now on hand to be paid out and other batches of checks are expected any time. R. R. Bennett, county farm agent, reported today.

The checks went to 4,384 farmers, tenants and landlords, and represented 1,682 applications for participation in the federal farm program for 1936.

In all $437,149.60 has been received at the county agent's office, but part of it is still on hand to be distributed. This amount is greater than that received by any county in the state.

Agent Bennett said today Pitt would receive the greatest amount when all payments are in. He estimated that farmers in this county would receive a total of $608,418. Robeson county probably will receive the next largest amount of benefit payments, he said, estimating that $601,046 would go to that cotton producing section. Johnston and Wake also are expected to receive a large amount.

The comparative amount received in Pitt is shown by the fact that payments in most of the counties have amounted to less than $100,000 in each.

Agent Bennett said he hoped this year's payments coming at this time would encourage farmers not already participating in the Soil Conservation program for 1937 to sign applications.

The total sum received by farmers throughout the state was stated at $9,516,970.00. The checks were sent to 157,585 land owners and tenants and represent 11,561 contracts, or applications filed for participation in the federal program.

First Church of Christ, Scientist "Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientists, on Sunday, April 18.

The Golden Text was from John 1:29—"John seeth Jesus coming unto him, and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And the Lord called unto Moses, and spake unto him out of the tabernacle of the congregation, saying, Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, If any man of you bring an offering unto the Lord, ye shall bring your offering of the cattle, even of the herd, and of the flock. If his offering be a burnt offering of the herd, let him offer a male without blemish: he shall offer it of his own voluntary will at the door of the tabernacle of the congregation before the Lord, and he shall put his hand upon the head of the burnt offering; and it shall be accepted for him to make atonement for him." Leviticus 1:1-4.

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We acknowledge Jesus' atonement as the evidence of divine, efficacious Love, unifying man's unity with God through Christ Jesus the Way-Shower; and we acknowledge that man is saved through Christ, through Truth, Life, and Love as demonstrated by the Galilean Prophet in healing the sick and overcoming sin and death. (Page 497).

From states as widely separated geographically and in their customs and ideas as Texas and Virginia, Oklahoma and South Carolina, Kentucky and Florida, these paintings are believed to give a fair cross-section of the art of the South today as can be found.

To live the people of these Southern communities the opportunity to see what Southern artists are painting, in this time of change and new ideas, and how they are expressing the South of the Twentieth Century is the avowed purpose of these traveling shows, according to President Woodward, who expresses the hope that they will stimulate fresh efforts among local artists and art groups, and find new admirers for the artists of this section.

Three prize-winning pictures and two which were awarded honorable mention, are included in the exhibit of oil paintings. Ten other artists represented in the group have won prizes in previous years and are represented by one or more canvases.

Nearly all of these pictures are for sale and this affords an opportunity for the communities visited to acquire characteristic examples of Southern art for their museums, schools, or libraries, as well as for their homes.

Headquarters of the League are at 7321 Panola St., New Orleans, La., where the secretary-treasurer, Miss Ethel Hutson, keeps the archives and a file of information on art in the South.

The Seventeenth Annual Convention was held in the High Museum of Art, Atlanta, Ga., April 1 and 2, and the Exhibition will remain on view through April 25.

MUCH INVOLVED IN CONTEST OVER N. C. HIGHWAY POST (Continued from page one) all of whom have had experience in former highway administrations, it is known that hundreds of the substantial business men of the state are backing Waynick.

The opposition to the reappointment of Waynick, however, is regarded as being almost entirely on political grounds, and to be divided into the following groups: 1. The E. C. (Deacon) Green faction of Asheville, Buncombe county and western North Carolina politicians, who for years have been wanting to get a foothold in the highway department, so they could use it in local as well as state elections in the western part of the state.

2. The George Ross Pou and old State Prison faction, composed largely of the group associated with Pou when he was superintendent of the State Prison system prior to its consolidation with the highway department, many of whom have either been fired outright or demoted in position and importance under the Waynick regime.

3. The crushed stone, highway materials dealers, highway contractors and machinery manufacturers who have opposed Waynick almost from the first, on the grounds that he has been "too hard boiled" but in reality because he has refused to play politics with them.

4. The small local politicians in the counties and towns, who have become peeved because Waynick and the commission would not build all the roads they wanted them to.

Friends of Waynick, however, are pointing out that he and the highway department did just as much for Hoey in the east- and in the Piedmont as the Green forces claim to have done for him in the west, also that the highway forces must be given some of the credit for the support Hoey got in the primaries in the west. For the Waynick backers are maintaining that Waynick's refusal to make political trades with either the McDonald or Sandy Graham forces in the primaries, resulted in the bulk of the highway votes and influence going to Hoey, which in turn made his nomination possible. They also maintain the reason that both Dr. McDonald and Sandy Graham assailed the highway department in the campaign was because Waynick had definitely refused to "play ball" with them and openly espoused Mr. Hoey. So if the Governor fails to reappoint Waynick, he will be kicking overboard the man who gave him as much help in the campaign as any other one man, despite the fact that he refused to let some of the Hoey campaign managers use the highway organization as they would have liked to use it, many observers here are convinced.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

SYNOPSIS: A storm breaks and queer things start happening as Michael and I (Jim Wells) reach his aunt's home, Farrington Bluff, for a February weekend. After a dismal dinner, smooth Jude Blinshop gets Mike alone in the garage, and Gay Palmer, Mike's red-headed sweetheart, returns in a huff. The Skipper, Mike's tall and toeddy younger aunt, urges me to keep Mike and Jude apart. In the night, Mike awakens me as a chimney crashes, shouting that Jude and the Skipper have disappeared. Martha Farrington, the stout, Victorian aunt, and the four servants gather in the dining room.

Chapter Four

Into The Churning Surf

"YOU'RE rather damp yourself," Gay said to Mike. "Do you take strolls in February, too?"

Right there I think it began to dawn on Michael that the course of true love can be lumpy. He stared at her. "I went down to see if the bridge was all right."

"Without a coat?"

"In a topcoat. It's raining. What the devil—"

But Gay turned her back on him and peked me for a cigarette. She didn't appear to enjoy asking me

"Higgins says, sir, that it ain't never shot wind yet, but it might if you was quick about it." William was grinning.

Michael pocketed the gun and opened the front door. A blast of icy wind and rain shrieked up to meet us. "Keep the light ahead of you, William."

"Yes, sir. But don't you think if we was to stand on the steps here and flash it around, Miss Barbara might see it and sing out or head in this direction?"

"No," said Michael.

There was something in his tone that I didn't like, and neither did William. His "Yes, sir," was surly.

We started down the drive. That night reminded me of one of my kid nightmares in which the world came to a sudden end with trees crashing, houses tumbling down, and souls in long white nightgowns shrieking all over. Aside from the chimney, the house gave no signs of tumbling and there were certainly no souls in evidence. But the old clims creaked and clashed horribly; the rain came in slashing torrents; and the roar of the wind was both deafening and breath-taking. The light was of little use, for it was impossible to see more than 10 feet ahead of you. No, there was no contradicting Michael's statement that nobody had gone out for a casual stroll that night.

We went down the drive rapidly, fairly blown along by the wind at our backs. The light disclosed nothing but mud, water and broken branches.

We had a horrible picture of what might be lying at the foot of those rocks.

either, but she wasn't quite up to asking Higgins. My cigarettes, however, were in my coat and my coat was in my room. A few hours later I might have dashed outside clad only in my trousers, but at the moment I hadn't reached that stage. I made for the door, and my example was followed by Higgins, Annie, and Cook. I took one fleeting glance over my shoulder as I went.

Gay was standing at the window, her back to Michael, and poor Mike was wearily trying to pacify M. Farrington. I took the stairs three at a time, the idea bouncing about in my head. Did Mike know anything about this performance, and did his knowledge in any way hinge on his talk with Jude? I remembered something that caused me to sit down hastily and hard—the Skipper standing on the stairs saying, "Keep him away from Jude Blinshop. I count on you."

"Michael's voice cut short my ramblings. "Are you waiting for warm weather?"

At the foot of the stairs we found William in cislkins, armed with an enormous searchlight.

"Ready, sir," he said.

Michael looked at him. "Have you a gun?"

"A gun?" I echoed.

Michael snarled. "You've heard of them? Well?"

William's mouth closed with a snap. "No, sir," he said. "Begging your pardon, we ain't likely to need it. However, Higgins—"

"Then get it," ordered Michael sharply.

As soon as the chauffeur's back was at a safe distance, I delivered myself of a few well chosen words.

"Look here, Mike, don't be a damn fool. There's nothing to get so worked up about. Probably—"

"Isn't there? His voice was savage. "Well, get this. Those two women didn't go out in this mess for their health!"

The Gun Goes Along

I HAD an inspiration. "Maybe Jude got a call from home and asked the Skipper to run her into town."

"Nobody went anywhere. That bridge was down at 10 o'clock, because I saw it."

"Ten o'clock? But you couldn't—"

"But I did," he said, very quietly. "They might be in the cellar—"

"Sitting cinders? They're not. We looked."

William appeared, waving an efficient looking revolver.

Mitchell County Man Produces Cattle Feed

Bakersville, April 19—S. L. Phillips of the Snow Creek community in Mitchell county is seeding six acres to alfalfa this year and will use the hay for feeding out beef cattle next winter, reports County Agent J. C. Lynn. Lime was applied to the land last fall in preparation for this seeding.

Mr. Phillips says, "I have been feeding beef cattle for several years and the biggest problem has been winter feeding. With the six acres of alfalfa and a larger corn acreage Mr. Phillips hopes to produce plenty of hay and silage to feed the beef cattle and also to feed a number of dairy cows that he is adding to his herd, says Lynn.

Davis, Calif. (AP)—In an effort to discover why wool on the hind quarter of a sheep is better than that on the shoulder, J. F. Wilson, University of California expert, is transplanting the animal's skin.

The experiments, performed under anesthesia, are intended to show whether the difference is nutritional or hereditary.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

Hollywood—Trial and error: Milton Berle of comic renown makes his screen bow in a protracted and difficult scene of "New Faces Of 1937." He has a long speech to make, and Jerome Cowan and Patricia Wilder and Parkyakarkus also have speeches, all of them have to be perfectly timed.

It is Berle's first day on the set. This is the office of a penniless promotion enterprise. The phone rings, and Berle, Cowan, and Patricia each seize an instrument and as one voice say "Hello." Parkya-karkus, lounging idly, says: "You need a boss."

There follows rapid-fire talk. The caller is a collection agency, and there is business of passing the buck. Wilder to Cowan to Berle. If it isn't fast it isn't funny.

By the fourth take the buck gets passed as far as Berle, who leaps in with this: "This hecklin' got to stop. Remember—but I didn't."

And that's the cue for another trial, from the beginning. Parkyakarkus, meanwhile, has changed his line to "You need a baritone," so there'll be no mistaking the musical implication. Finally, after I think eight attempts, the scene is perfect.

But the camera has run out of film!

They were doing a taxicab sequence for "Make Way For Tomorrow." Victor Moore and Beulah Bondhi were the passengers in one of those cutaway cabs the movies use to get the camera's eye inside the vehicle.

After several takes a perfect one was obtained—perfect with one exception. Director Leo McCarey's secretary had her father on the set as a guest. During the take, much to his embarrassment, the father

"NOW WE'VE GOT A GREAT BIG NASH—AND IT COST ME ONLY A FEW DOLLARS MORE* THAN ONE OF THOSE SMALLER CARS!"

NASH

Actual photograph of Nash LaFayette "400" 4-Door Sedan with trunk

*FOR AS LITTLE AS $1 OR $2 A MONTH EXTRA YOU CAN GET OUT OF THE "ALL THREE" CLASS. A check-up recently made in ten representative cities shows that the Nash LaFayette "400" 4-Door Sedan with trunk DELIVERS for just a FEW dollars more than the similarly equipped 4-door sedans of the "All Three" small cars. In many places, the SLIGHT difference in price amounts to just $1 or $2 a month extra on your time payments.

SUGG MOTOR CO., 118-120 E. 3rd St., Greenville, N. C.

"I had an idea a Nash was about $200 out of my reach," said Mr. Schlanser. "When I checked on delivered prices... found the 117-inch wheelbase Nash sedan delivered for only a few dollars more than the same model of one of the 'All Three' small cars. I could hardly believe my eyes."

Yes, people are astonished when they check up on DELIVERED prices. The Nash LaFayette "400"—much bigger than any of the "all three" small cars—DELIVERS for just a FEW dollars more.

You get a more powerful six cylinder motor, much larger hydraulic brakes, stronger steel body, wider seats, more headroom and legroom. A really big car. A car anybody can be PROUD of. And the difference in price? Just a few dollars—that's all.

$25 A MONTH! Ask about the convenient terms and low rates available through the Nash C. I. T. Budget plan. In most places, you can... as little as $25 a month on your time payments. Automatic Cruising Gear now available on all Nash Models at slight extra cost.

Down there he had to do some boating, taking photographs from the choppy sea. "I was a very bad sailor," he recalls gingerly. "I had to cling to the rail with one hand and my camera with the other, while becoming ill in a most undignified fashion."

For all his current affluence, Whitcomb doesn't plan to become careless. Three bad illustrations, and you're through — just as a bad picture or two will kill an actor.

Whitcomb is a driving worker with an almost sadistic passion for fidelity in detail — even the smallest, most unimportant matters. Hence his rush jaunt to Florida.

Now that he is occupied so heavily, his recreation is limited to midnight rides in the park, and to playing the piano in his Beaux Arts apartment, for his own amusement, which he does ravenously but well. Washington Daybook

Washington.—There may have been reason none for those famed four irreconcilable, conservative justices refusing to retire, but there isn't any more.

When they had Justice Roberts with them they could feel that they were standing against President Roosevelt and his economic and social predilections. But Roberts now has sided with the invading savages from the north and the bridge head is already taken. Rome, as far as Justice McReynolds and his three associates are concerned, has fallen.

Retirement? In Washington there are rumors that Justices McReynolds, Sutherland and Van Devanter will retire at the end of the present term, which will be the last Monday of May or the first Monday of June.

They, with Justice Butler, are now the minority instead of the majority, since it is unlikely Justice Roberts will hover back their way. Moreover, even if they consider themselves as voices crying in the wilderness, the country has heard the cry repeatedly without paying more than impudent attention to it. They have suffered a fate worse than death, by being rendered futile.

A bill has been passed under which they can retire without danger of loss of pay and it is a fair guess that before long they will seek its sanctuary.

McReynolds reputedly has tired of the fight, which anyone will admit has been long and hard. Sutherland's health has been poorly in recent years and summers have found him spending weeks at German spas.

Van Devanter's friends have hinted he would like to spend more time with members of his family.

Hold-Out. As to Butler, it is understood he would prefer to continue the fight even if the court is loaded to the guard rails with liberal souls and retirement pay means nothing to him since he has ample of the world's pelf.

And another thing: Undoubtedly the scuffle over the President's court bill will continue long after the first Monday in June unless something extraordinary happens. And while the elderly justices may be powerless where they are, by resigning they could deliver a final knockout to the court enlargement plan. It would be like putting poison in your executioner's soup, but even that would provide some satisfaction.

Experiments are under way in three Texas counties to determine the relationship between the southern tenant system and soil productivity.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION State of North Carolina, Department of State. To All to Whom These Presents May Come—Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Pitt Supply Company, Incorporated, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated in the Town of Greenville, County of Pitt, State of North Carolina; (J. A. Bunting being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served) has complied with the requirements of Chapter 22, Consolidated Statutes, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution.

Now Therefore, I, Thad Eure, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 12th day of April, 1937, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

How's Your Health? By Dr. Iago Goldston. Feeling Tired? The cure for thirst is a drink of water, and the cure for fatigue is rest.

that all he needs is additional rest. The remedy then is self-indicated. Add two hours to the daily rest period and take a rest cure during one or more week-ends; that is spend 24 to 36 hours in bed. If this does not avail (the rest remedy having been given fair trial) a systematic search for the cause of the fatigue must be undertaken.

Begin with a check on personal hygiene. Inadequate exercise, poor food, lack of fresh air, working and living in an overheated, dry atmosphere, excessive mental work, too much and too vigorous play after the day's work, all will contribute to "that tired feeling."

Correct whatever faults are discovered and see whether the tired feeling does not disappear. Special diet. A diet which is inadequate in attention should be paid to nutritional vitamin content and in its mineral salts may contribute to a sense of fatigue.

Therefore, check on the diet. Does it contain an adequate supply of milk and milk foods, eggs, vegetables, citrus and other fruits, meat and fish? Is the diet too rich calorically? Are you carrying around an excess of body weight? Compulsion of itself will contribute to and intensify fatigue.

Should such a study still fail to reveal the source of the tired feeling, and should the correction of the defects discovered not relieve one of it, further search is indicated. Anemia may cause fatigue. Orthopedic defects and postural disorders may cause fatigue. Foci of infection, such as diseased teeth, infected tonsils and infected head sinuses may "sap" one's strength. There also one must check on the possible existence of such infectious and organic diseases as tuberculosis, kidney disease and heart disease.

Of course, among the first things one will check on, is the abuse of stimulants such as alcohol, tobacco, tea and coffee.

"Watch the other driver and stop if you are uncertain as to what he is going to do," is the advice of an Oklahoma driver who has driven for seventeen years without even a minor accident. This is good advice and the wreckless record of this driver is evidence that most accidents can be prevented if motorists will use common sense in driving.

Pitt County farmers' part of the soil conservation payments received in this state total more than $400,000. No doubt these payments coming at this time are welcomed by the cooperating farmers and should be an incentive to others to cooperate to the fullest extent in the government's soil conservation program.

At one time yesterday five trucks and three automobiles were parked on the "No-Parking" side of Evans street in the business section, and a traveling dime museum 55 feet long occupied the parking space of seven cars at one point on the street all day long. This is what is happening on our busiest business street and yet some are wondering why we have traffic congestion on this street. So long as trucks are permitted to stop at will anywhere they please to load and unload, we are going to have traffic congestion in our business section. There is no reason why the trucks should be permitted privileges that are denied other motorists and it seems to us that it is about time our city administration began to do something about this matter.

Man About Manhattan By George Tucker New York—Jon Whitcomb is one of New York's more energetic illustrators. He doesn't sit around in his studio until he is visited by a sure-fire idea. His chief enemy at the moment is the clock, because there are only 24 hours to each day, and his growing problem is an endeavor to crowd more work into the seemingly decreasing working hours. He is, in the parlance of the day, riding high just now. Art editors can't get enough of his stuff. The other morning we were discussing a recent trip to Florida, and the telephone jangled so insistently that he answered it himself. The editor of a great monthly magazine wanted him to illustrate a special story. Whitcomb said, "wait a minute," consulted his book, and went back to the phone. "I'm sorry," he said, "but I can't touch it until May 15th." Thus he dismissed an assignment that would have run into the hundreds of dollars. However, the ones occupying him now are worth just as much — as, for instance, "Castle Key," in Collier. This is a long continued story, and in the midst of his illustrations, Whitcomb found it necessary to hurry down to Florida for some accurate landscape stuff. Being an Ohio boy, he wasn't familiar with Ap 26, 27; My 4, 11

ALL HONOR TO A GREAT ATHLETE LARRUPING LOU GEHRIG OF THE WORLD'S CHAMPION NEW YORK YANKEES. 1. A DOUBLE YESTERDAY! A HOMER TODAY—YOU'RE DOING ALL RIGHT! 2. WHO SAID THIS GUY WAS ONLY A ROOKIE? 3. Gehrig's follow-through is shown above. It takes healthy nerves to connect with one, and, as Lou says: "Camels don't get on my nerves." 5. BASEBALL'S "IRON-MAN" When Lou steps out on the field—he'll be playing his 1,809th consecutive game. Injuries never stopped "Iron-Man" Gehrig. Once he chipped a bone in his foot—yet knocked out a homer, two doubles, and a single next day. Another time, he was knocked out by a "bean ball," yet next day walloped 3 triples in 5 innings. Gehrig's record is proof of his splendid physical condition. As Lou says: "All the years I've been playing, I've been careful about my physical condition. Smoke? I smoke and enjoy it. My cigarette is Camel." 6. HERE'S LOU'S FAVORITE BAT and his favorite first baseman's mitt. His bat is especially made. It weighs 37 ounces — is 35 inches long. He wears out two mits a season. 7. CLEAN-UP MAN for the most sensational slugging aggregation ever known. Pity the pitcher who faces the Yankees' starting lineup. Three heavy hitters to face—then Gehrig steps up to the plate! ## Spring Swing Music

Sport Slants

With the major league clubs at the barrier, the question of the moment seems to be: Which National League contender will face the New York Yankees in the 1937 World Series.

The St. Louis Cardinals have caught the eyes of most experts, just as they did last spring. The pennant-winning New York Giants are figured to do no better than runnerup.

Some even relegate the Giants to third behind Chicago. Pittsburgh appears to have a fight on its hands in the first division. Charlie Dressen has whipped his Cincinnati Reds into a formidable machine. Some optimists think the Reds will make trouble for the leaders. But that's largely because of the showing the Red Raiders made in training tilts when they play for "keeps"—spikes riding high and everything.

Phillies Hopeless.

Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia do not figure in the picture. Manager Burtleigh Grimes had headaches with injuries interrupting his efforts to decide on a lineup. Boston has one of the smartest managers in the game in Bill McKeehan. But what can a skipper do without a crew. Philadelphia is slated for the cellar again. Even the Phillies will not be offended by this. They know they do not rate with the contenders.

In the American league, the Yankees figure to repeat, all reports that the Detroit Tigers are certain to cause trouble now that Manager Mickey Cochrane and Hank Greenberg are back on the firing line notwithstanding. The Yankees' Murderer's Row has shown no disposition to ease up. If anything, the lads in Yankee suits see no being having the time of their lives trying to undo each other in a healthy competition that would hardly leave one to suspect them of overconfidence. It isn't likely they expect the rest of the American League to roll over and play dead when called on to face the Yankee. They have confidence that goes with the crown they wear—but they still love the baseballs, too.

Cleveland May Click.

Cleveland may be in the fight, but even the Indians' staunchest supporters are none too optimistic. They have been fooled before—too many times. Bob Feller should prove quite a gate attraction and may give the team the momentum it needs.

The Boston Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox should fight it out for the other first division berth. Washington may challenge either for fourth place, but the Senators will have to show unexpected strength to do so. Rogers Hornsby's Browns seem to have the edge over the Athletics. There is little hope for Connie Mack to come back in '37.

EXPERIMENT ON ACRE FOR 44 YEARS

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—On the Oklahoma A. and M. campus is an acre which the college experiment station staff calls "the most important piece of land anywhere."

It is believed to be the oldest experimental plot west of the Mississippi River. Dr. Horace J. Harper, professor of agronomy, says it has been planted in wheat continuously for the past 44 years, with records kept of all results. It was first divided into two portions called "treated" and "untreated," but is now in 10 plots, each of which receives different treatment to test the effects on the wheat yield and quality.

More than 30,000 different kinds of rubber articles are in general use in the United States, the manufacture of which gives direct employment to 150,000 workers.

Quite A Bit Of Dynamite Left In Tarboro Manager

Fred (Snake) Henry To Pilot Coastal Plain Entry

Although he has been playing professional baseball since 1914, there is still quite a bit of dynamite in Fred (Snake) Henry, recently appointed as playing manager of Tarboro's entry in the Coastal Plain League of 1937.

Snake held down the first corner for Portsmouth of the Piedmont loop last summer, and pitchers around the loop held him in the highest esteem. They had every reason to do so. He was mighty tough to pitch to, crouching up there at the plate and looking them over with an eye trained by years of experience in the game.

Snake Henry never offered at any bad pitches. He played a waiting game, and while not a slugger, he was a fellow who could punch the most damaging singles over the infield at critical times. Get Henry up at the plate with needed runs in scoring position and it was a very uncomfortable setting for the opposing pitcher.

The records will bear that out. The Piedmont averages of 1936 show that Henry batted .290. Now, that's not a figure that would cause your grandmother to drop any stitches in her knitting, but a glance at the RBI column shows that he drove in 162 runs for the Portsmouth cause.

That shows just how effective his batting was. There were a handful of Piedmont sluggers who passed the century mark in runs batted in and they included such batting luminaries as Frank McCormick, the stick leader, now with Cincinnati, Junior Gallagher and Jim Bryan of Norfolk, George Ferrell of Richmond and Hal Maggett of Rocky Mount.

Time has taken its toll, of course, and Henry is not as fast as he was when he broke in with Greensboro in 1914. But he knows the right thing to do at the right time and that means a lot in a league of youngsters.

Henry is not new to the managing game. He has led the Omaha club of the Western League and Hartford of the New England circuit. He is a left-handed batter and thrower, and as late as 1934 he was named the first baseman on the all-star team of the New England loop. native Tar Heel, he is an alumnus of Atlantic Christian College and has had big league trials with the Chicago White Sox, Phillies and Boston Nationals.

His selection as Tarboro manager appears to be a happy one, for he has plenty of experience and is still a good player. Connections with the Portsmouth Cubs and other clubs in the minors should prove valuable to him in lining up talent for the coming race.

TEACHERS WIN IN HIGH POINT

Defeat Panthers 8 to 7; Play Again Today

High Point, April 20.—(AP)—Timely hitting interspersed with Panther bobbles gave the East Carolina Teachers College baseball team an 8-7 victory over High Point College here yesterday. The clubs meet today in the second of the series.

Rudisill homered for High Point.

Shelton, H. Hinton, and Smith made two hits each for the Teachers. Koonitz, Dorsett, Towery, and Hampton did the same for the Panthers.

PIEDMONT SET TO OPEN PLAY

Rocky Mount to Meet Winston-Salem Thursday P. M.

Rocky Mount, April 20.—Play in the Piedmont League for 1937 gets started here at Bries Park at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon when the local Red Sox meet General Alvin Crowder's Winston-Salem Twins.

The baseball game is one of the features of the annual Gallopade which will attract thousands of visitors from all over the eastern part of the state.

Officials of the Red Sox club are preparing to handle a large crowd of baseball fans who will turn out to see organized baseball make its bow in North Carolina. Last year Rocky Mount won the league trophy for the largest opening day attendance when 4,300 spectators filled Bries Park to capacity.

Baseball fans here are of the opinion that Nemo Leibold's team this year is stronger than the 1936 outfit which was managed by George Toporcer, who is now skipper of the Hazleton club in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Winston-Salem, the visiting team, is new to the Piedmont League this season. General Crowder, famous big league pitcher, is owner and manager of the Twins. The game Thursday will be the first in a series of four played this week with Winston-Salem.

Burke Farmer Profits With Poultry Flocks

Morganton, April 20.—Three farmers in Burke County made an average net profit of $64.66 from their poultry flocks last month, reports County Agent R. L. Sloan. The three flocks contained 716 birds which laid a total of 11,366 eggs or an average of 15.8 eggs per hen. The eggs were valued at $358.92 and cost $164.94 to produce. This leaves a profit of $193.98 to be split among the three flock owners as payment for the labor of feeding the hens and gathering the eggs.

An increasing number of American tourists are visiting the "Land of the Midnight Sun." It is estimated 15,500 American travelers visited Sweden last year compared with 9,700 in 1935.

Miss Lucille Rose Addresses Rotarians On Communism

By BILLY NISBET (Club Reporter)

"Communism is one of the most powerful forces in the world today," declared Miss Lucille Rose of the East Carolina Teachers College as she spoke at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday evening.

"Stalin, the dictator of the Communist party in Russia, and also head of the third International is the most powerful man in the world today."

Miss Rose pictured Communism as the plan for an ideal society. Under this plan every worker in the world would do his share of the work and also receive his just share of the profits. But Miss Rose further pointed out the weakness of this excellent as it would seem plan was human nature. Are not people naturally competitive; are there not people who are greedy and just for power she asked.

Russia under the rule of Communism has come a long way, Miss Rose asserted. The first five-year plan was too harsh; the present is easier she said. In Russia today the means of production are in the hands of the government. No individual holds anything that will produce wealth.

At the beginning of the first Five Year plan the peasants long under servile rule were unable to accept the responsibilities the plan called for, but they have been given needed education and management by the present government declared Miss Rose.

Miss Rose stated that though the plan was seemingly democratic, two per cent of the Russian people of voting age made up the Communist party there—and they ruled the remaining ninety-eight per cent. She explained though that any worker had the right to vote in the election of about two per cent, but as the Communists controlled the radio, the newspapers and the schools, they could hardly vote for anything but Communism.

Miss Rose told of the world-wide influence of the third International Communist world-wide organization. The future aims and the success of Communism depends upon its acceptance by the world and by example in Russia they hope to convert the world to their cause. However, by means of propaganda, they have convinced to cause discontent in other countries, even our own, so that the workers will overthrow their present government, and accept the ideals of Communism, she concluded.

Miss Rose was introduced by F. C. Harding, chairman of the International Service Committee in charge of the program. Miss Rose
